Hello there Pam! I hope you and your family are well.

Thank you, again, for your wonderful presentation at Food 3000. Regarding your payment, we initiated processing of the invoice as soon as you sent it. We actually initiated an inquiry to that department last week to see where it was in the process. We will check with them again to see if we can determine any additional information including dates, etc.

Again, your Food 3000 presentation was fabulous. Food and nutrition professionals are "hungry" for more information on this very hot topic of biotechnology. Overall, they are extremely interested in agriculture's connection to food and community. I wanted to share the session evaluations with you for your reference (quick take-a-ways below with full evaluation attached); we received this information at the end of March. I am open to your feedback as well so please do not hesitate sharing your thoughts.

Session Highlights (see full post-session evaluation information - excel spreadsheet - attached):

- Overall score for the session and presenters is a 4.9 (out of 5)-fantastic! I received one hand-written thank you note saying "Your session was the best session at Food 3000."
- Many attendees found presentations by Pam Ronald and Natalie DiNicola "most informative," although most unanimously agreed "all presenters" were informative.
- When asked where Monsanto could have devoted more time, many wanted the entire session itself to be extended. And keep in mind, this shared sentiment comes after two days of sessions and activities, and another one and a half days more of them to go; I think it says a lot about the quality of the session we pulled together and the attendees' interest in being informed on this topic.
- What is the first thing attendees felt they would share? "Biotechnology has a much-needed place." "We have to have biotech to help feed the world."
- Everyone learned quite a bit, many felt "all of it" was new information.

Once again, thank you for your time and expertise. We will follow-up regarding the payment. And finally, if you have any feedback you would like to share, please do not hesitate to let me know. I respect your perspectives and insights.

Best regards,

Wendy
