Dear Foundation BOD,

Thank you all for your patience. So many people have contacted me directly to inquire about the plans and how they can reach out to Pat and her family with their support. I have passed all of these comments along to her and she is truly touched. I have received more details from her regarding the funeral plans and I'm happy to share this information with you.

According to Lou's wishes, there will be no visitation. A funeral mass will be held on Friday, May 1 at 11:30 AM at St. Mary's Church, 126 Herrick Road in Riverside, Illinois. Many of you have inquired about donations. These can be sent to the Esophageal Cancer Awareness Association, ecaaware.org. There is a donate button on the website or you can mail checks to ECAA, P.O. Box 55071 #15530, Boston, MA. 02205-5071. If you would like to send Pat and her family a personal note of support, her mailing address is 3017 Buckingham Ave., Westchester, IL. 60154.

Pat and Lou enjoyed 42 years of marriage. They proudly raised two wonderful daughters Lauren and Catherine. Many of you have watched these girls grow up. It will be a new normal for Pat and her family. She is fortunate to have such a supportive Academy family as well to help her through these difficult times.

Dear Foundation BOD,

We are proud to announce that we have achieved a new membership record! As of today we have 75,614 members, marking our tenth consecutive year of membership growth. Few professional associations can claim such sustained membership success, a testament to our value proposition. We are celebrating completing the fiscal year with this positive momentum!

Annual CDR Profile Review

The Commission on Dietetic Registration (CDR) is asking that you take a few minutes to review your Profile at www.cdrnet.org to make sure your mailing address, email address* and primary contact telephone number are correct ( If your company has a firewall that will block emails from eatright.org, you may wish to change your primary email address to your personal email*). To access your record, you will need your login and your Web password.

Date of Birth (DOB) and Mothers Maiden Name (MMN) - The Academy and CDR will no longer be maintaining social security numbers (last 4 digits) for database security verification. To protect your security, we are transitioning to the use of your Date of Birth (DOB) and Mothers Maiden Name (MMN). This information will only be requested one time. If we do not already have this information, when you login, you will be prompted to add your DOB and MMN.

Update Contact Information - Once you have logged into your record, you will be on My CDR page, please click on the Profile tab which is located on the navigation bar. If you need to make updates, click on the link Update Contact Information. Please make any necessary changes as soon as possible to insure the delivery of important future CDR emails and/or mailings.

We are unable to change mailing address and email address based on a verbal request.

Name Changes - If you have a name change, please click on the link below for CDRs Change of Name/Address Policy: <http://cdrnet.org/news/change-of-name-address-policy>

Please call CDR at 800/877-1600, ext 5500 (8am to 5pm Central time), if you have additional questions, or use the CDR LiveChat option on www.cdrnet.org

Thank you for your cooperation.

Hi Paul and Donna. Is there a gathering Tuesday evening?

On Thu, Apr 23, 2015 at 4:43 PM, Paul Mifsud <PMifsud@eatright.org> wrote:

All,

We have posted all of the information to the Academy portal. We are still “tweaking” the FY16 budget package and it may change. That being said, I would not expect the overall financials to change at this time. The “tweaking” would be more around the narrative and potential typos!! Yes, even with this being reviewed 9 million times, there could be a typo. In any event, there is information in the FY16 budget package, albeit high level, that is very sensitive. It could generate a great deal of concern with the staff. Therefore, I ask that you consider this confidential and not to be discussed outside of the Finance and Audit Committee. Once it goes to the Board, we can expand that to the Board of Directors as well.

The list of the documents that have been loaded to the portal are as follows;

1. Agenda
2. Minutes for the March meeting.
3. Insurance overview from Rob Wessel
4. Investment overview from Al Bryant.
5. FY15 Audit and tax plan provided by Plante Moran
6. Preliminary March Financials.
7. FY17 Dues increase proposal.
8. FY16 budget package.

You can access the portal at <https://eal.webauthor.com>. If you need any assistance, please let me know. Evelyn, the FY16 budget information did not get into the package sent to your home today. It will go out to you tomorrow.

If there is anything that anyone would like to make sure we discuss, but, is not listed, please let me know.

Paul

Milton,

Sorry I missed this. I had not planned anything since people were coming in at different times. Send out an email to the group to see who would be available for dinner tonight? You might get some takers.

Hi Paul and Donna. Is there a gathering Tuesday evening?

On Thu, Apr 23, 2015 at 4:43 PM, Paul Mifsud <PMifsud@eatright.org> wrote:

All,

We have posted all of the information to the Academy portal. We are still "tweaking" the FY16 budget package and it may change. That being said, I would not expect the overall financials to change at this time. The "tweaking" would be more around the narrative and potential typos!! Yes, even with this being reviewed 9 million times, there could be a typo. In any event, there is information in the FY16 budget package, albeit high level, that is very sensitive. It could generate a great deal of concern with the staff. Therefore, I ask that you consider this confidential and not to be discussed outside of the Finance and Audit Committee. Once it goes to the Board, we can expand that to the Board of Directors as well.

The list of the documents that have been loaded to the portal are as follows;

1. Agenda
2. Minutes for the March meeting.
3. Insurance overview from Rob Wessel
4. Investment overview from Al Bryant.
5. FY15 Audit and tax plan provided by Plante Moran
6. Preliminary March Financials.
7. FY17 Dues increase proposal.
8. FY16 budget package.

You can access the portal at <https://eal.webauthor.com>. If you need any assistance, please let me know. Evelyn, the FY16 budget information did not get into the package sent to your home today. It will go out to you tomorrow.

If there is anything that anyone would like to make sure we discuss, but, is not listed, please let me know.

Paul

Subject:Academy Membership - 10th year of growth

Dear Foundation BOD,

We are proud to announce that we have achieved a new membership record! As of today we have 75,614 members, marking our tenth consecutive year of membership growth. Few professional associations can claim such sustained membership success, a testament to our value proposition. We are celebrating completing the fiscal year with this positive momentum!

We are proud to announce that we have achieved a new membership record! As of today we have 75,614 members, marking our tenth consecutive year of membership growth. Few professional associations can claim such sustained membership success, a testament to our value proposition. We are celebrating completing the fiscal year with this positive momentum!

We did not have a quorum for the Foundation during the joint April 23rd call so need two action items (minute approval) via email.

Our bylaws stipulate that every member (other than Pat because she is ex-officio) need to respond in order for it to be valid.

Attached are the minutes, please approve or oppose, we need 100% participation on emails per our bylaws. I am requesting a vote by Friday, May 1. Thanks.

Hi Martha,

Could you send this to the Foundation Board? Thank you!

Terri

Hi all!

It was a good call today but as I mentioned I am a little worried that we may not be hearing from a large segment of our membership who are supportive of sponsorships/partnerships/collaborations with industry. I was checking my emails after the call and received this message from an RDN who I have worked with through the WM DPG...she is a young member and I see her as a rising superstar within the Academy. She just completed her Masters in Nutrition Communications at Boston University. I'm not sure if she has even turned 30 yet and she is completing her year as President of the Virginia Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and during the last year became the internship director at UVA. She also just saw Denice at the NDEP meeting!

Terri...I have been having trouble forwarding emails to your BOD so if you could send this to them I would appreciate it!

Hi Paul and Donna. Is there a gathering Tuesday evening?

On Thu, Apr 23, 2015 at 4:43 PM, Paul Mifsud <PMifsud@eatright.org> wrote:
All,

We have posted all of the information to the Academy portal. We are still “tweaking” the FY16 budget package and it may change. That being said, I would not expect the overall financials to change at this time. The “tweaking” would be more around the narrative and potential typos!! Yes, even with this being reviewed 9 million times, there could be a typo. In any event, there is information in the FY16 budget package, albeit high level, that is very sensitive. It could generate a great deal of concern with the staff. Therefore, I ask that you consider this confidential and not to be discussed outside of the Finance and Audit Committee. Once it goes to the Board, we can expand that to the Board of Directors as well.

The list of the documents that have been loaded to the portal are as follows;

1. Agenda
2. Minutes for the March meeting.
3. Insurance overview from Rob Wessel
4. Investment overview from Al Bryant.
5. FY15 Audit and tax plan provided by Plante Moran
6. Preliminary March Financials.
7. FY17 Dues increase proposal.
8. FY16 budget package.

You can access the portal at <https://eal.webauthor.com>. If you need any assistance, please let me know. Evelyn, the FY16 budget information did not get into the package sent to your home today. It will go out to you tomorrow.

If there is anything that anyone would like to make sure we discuss, but, is not listed, please let me know.

Paul

All,

I have put onto the portal a memo from Pat to the Finance and Audit Committee. It is under the FY2016 budget overview section. I am attaching it here for your review as well. Please do not forward at this time. We don't have much in the way of additional information regarding Lou's funeral. Early indications are it may not be until Friday. Pat is working on the arrangements. As soon as we have something more tangible, we will let you know.

If you have any additional questions, please let me know.

Paul

All,

Hopefully, all of you have looked at the information posted to the portal last week. I know it is a great deal of information. I look forward to your questions and comments. On a sad note; We were informed that Pat's husband, Lou, passed away this morning. I know Pat has been very appreciative of everyone's thoughts, prayers and support throughout this difficult period. We don't have any information at this point. As soon as we do, we will pass it along. Since all of us have known Pat a long time, I know we would want to pay our respects if given the opportunity. So, if the Committee meeting coincides with any arrangements, we could alter our agenda if it is the wish of the Committee. Again, as soon as we have the information, I will pass it along.

Now onto the financial results.

I. February Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary February results.

II. Investments

The investment market continues to fluctuate. In February, the combined portfolios lost approximately $142,700. This brought the total FY15 investment returns to nearly $3,611,000. This is still very strong and nearly $1,241,000 above the budget. So far, through April, the combined portfolios have gained $1,130,000. The markets are up again this morning. So, with the month ending on Thursday, it looks promising that April will be another strong month for the investment returns.

III. Academy preliminary March Financials (A10)

The Academy did not have a good month in March. The explanation is well known at this point; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $170,272. This was $182,856 higher (worse) than the budget. Considering the investment losses for the month of $31.4K, the Academy had a Net deficit of $201,652. This was $326,831 higher (worse) than the budget. Not a good month.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $2,131,735 through March. This is $212,844 smaller (better) than the budget. So, even after a bad March, the Academy is still beating the overall Operating Deficit budget. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.3M in income. This is $175.8K higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $829,950. This is $388,679 smaller (better) than the budget. I am still optimistic that the Academy will achieve the FY15 operating deficit budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $1,046 in March and is over budget by $865 for the year. The over-run in March is being driven by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $7.8K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $6.8K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $8,890 in March and is under budget by $438,720 for the year. The under-run March is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.

c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $33,749 in March and is under budget by $120,910 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $14.9K), lower Journal (down $4.3K), lower List Rental (down $12.8K), and lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), offset by higher Traditional Publications (up $2.0K) and higher across all other (up $0.8K).

d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $49,582 in March and is under budget by $312,898 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $8.5K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.0K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).

e. Advertising – This area is over budget by $7,411 in March and under budget by $1,285 for the year. The over-run in March is entirely due to advertising revenue not recognized for the FNCE program book. Accounting discovered this oversight in March and the revenue was

f. All grants - This area is under budget by $296,836 in March and is under budget by $319,591 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research (down $272.5K), Guides for Practice (down $10.0K), lower Abbott Malnutrition (down $13.9K) and lower ConAgra (down $3.2K) and other (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Carry the Flame project (up $4.8K).

g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $23,905 in March and is under budget by $74,384 for the year. The under-run in March is higher than in February. Since the Kraft agreement was canceled, money anticipated for the remainder of the year had to be removed. This reflects a portion of the shortfall due to Kraft and will continue for April and May.

h. Other – This area was under budget by $10,259 in March and is over budget by $89,737 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program (down $5.2K), lower Journal (down $8.1K) and lower Brand Promise (down $3.0K). This is offset by higher Traditional Publications licensing (up $4.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.9K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $34,364 in March and is under budget by $187,017 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $848 in March and is under budget by $97,505 for the year. The under-run in March is not due to any particular program.

c. Travel – This area is under budget by $88,806 in March and is under budget by $396,297 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research projects (down $39.7K), Lower Quality Management (down $19.3K), lower Nutrition Services (down $22.8K), lower PR and Marketing (down $7.2K), lower Affiliate Management (down $4.1K), lower administration (down $4.0K), and lower across all other (down $7.7K). This was offset by higher Public Policy (up $16.0K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $84,409 in March and is under budget by $266,654 for the year. The under-run in March is being driven by lower Research (down $82.6K), lower IT/web (down $2.3K), lower Guides for Practice (down $3.0K), lower List Rental (down $1.3K), lower National Nutrition Month (down $2.0K), lower Quality Management (down $1.8K) and lower Membership retention and recruitment (down $8.1K). This is offset by higher Corporate Relations (up $6.6K) and higher Brand Promise Marketing (up $9.8K) and higher across all other (up $0.3).

- e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $12,236 in March and is under budget by $100,685 for the year. The under-run for March is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $4.7K), lower Membership Recruitment and Retention (down $6.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.8K).
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $1,016 in March and is under budget by $17,946 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower copy supplies (down $0.7K), and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K).
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $1,263 in March and is under budget by $63,353 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower costs within our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher maintenance costs associated with work done in Chicago (up $0.4).
- h. Telephone and communications – This is under budget by $1,205 in March and is under budget by $3,969 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower telecom charges in Chicago and Washington.
- i. Commissions – This area is on Target in March and is over budget by $1,151 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine’s advertising sales. Even though Advertising revenue was higher in March, it was not due to Food and Nutrition Magazine. Therefore, no commissions were incurred.
- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $174 in March and is under budget by $51,859 for the year. There isn’t any material variance in March.
- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $4,116 in March and is under budget by $47,912 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $3.7) and lower across all other (down $0.4K).
- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in March and is under budget by $7,667 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation – This area is under budget by $4,233 in March and is under budget by $3,980 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in March and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $3,882 in March and is over budget by $7,729 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower credit cards fees.
- o. Other – This area is under budget by $1,329 in March and under budget $50,449 for the year. The under-run in March is not specific to any one project.
- p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,142 in March and is unfavorable to budget by $70,797 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $4,669 in March and is under budget by $165,128 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Affiliate Leader Training (down $3.4K), lower Corporate Relations (down $5.6K), lower Research (down $1.6K), lower Quality Management (down $2.5K), lower Nutrition Services (down $4.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.7K). This is offset by the timing of higher Board expenses (up $13.1K).
- r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $7,427 in March and is under budget by $23,231 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower legal expenses. However, the expenses for the Kraft legal support has not yet been included. This may result in over-runs in legal expenses in April and May.
- s. Printing – This area is under budget by $538 in March and is over budget by $13,943 for the year. The under-run in March is across all areas of the business.

Overall, not a good month for the Academy. I will stop here. Hopefully, this will help provide to you a overall variance for the Academy. If you break it down; Research accounted for $316,000 of the total revenue under-run; $122,600 of the total expense under-run and $193,000 in the operating deficit variance. If this was pulled out of the equation, the Academy would have performed better than the operational for the month of March. I know the Research team is working diligently to increase revenue and reduce expenses to offset the shortfalls.

I see the markets have turned a little. I generally expect this around lunch time. So, it may bounce back. We will keep watching in the hope that it does. If you have any questions, please let me know. We will start the meeting on Wednesday at 8:10. We will provide a hot breakfast for all.

Aida,

It just occurred to me that I did not answer the questions raised before the two questions I did answer. Please accept my apologies.

1. Vice Chair Orientation - This was eliminated by Harold. I believe he thinks it can be handled another way.
2. Student Advisory Committee- This was addressed by Barbara. I know the FNCE reception was eliminated due to the Nashville. We felt it would tough to compete with the "strip". I think Barbara feels she can handle the orientation another way; similar to Harold.

As for money saving ideas we discussed, some follow;

1. Reduce or eliminate face to face meetings – Work with technology to achieve the objective
2. Reduce staff travel
3. Reduce or eliminate salary adjustments
4. Reduce 401K contributions (done once already)
5. Adjust medical plan to save costs (done once already)
6. Reduce or eliminate cell phone reimbursement
7. Reduce food service for meetings

8. Reduce comped registrations for FNCE and PPW.

This is in addition to the structural changes Pat has discussed. There are probably more that don't hit be immediately. Let me know if this helps.

Subject: A couple of Qs Re: Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Wednesday, April 29th and Thursday April 30th

Thank you Paul!

Elise talked to Pat yesterday and she told her that the funeral was going to be a small family-only affair. Not sure if this is still the plan.

On another note, I have briefly looked through the info on the portal. I know how thorough you are and below are some questions I will have when we meet. And please know that I realize that you have all worked countless hours on alternatives to make our budget fit our needs.

I was disappointed to see two of the options to cut back expenses were to do away with Vice-Chair orientation, as well as not having a f2f meeting for the student advisory committee.

Having just completed vice-chair orientation (Evelyn and I led this), I found it incredibly helpful to the vice chairs. With the reorganization of committees, making sure that they work with each other and do not remain working as "silos" is important. The VC orientation was a tremendously helpful kick off for this collaboration.

About the student advisory committee- I wish they could have an opportunity to meet F2F since these are our future leaders.... but I am less sad about this than the VC orientation.

Can you provide some input on other money saving ideas that have likely been talked about in the past?

Below are 2 questions I have that relate specifically to BOD expenses -

1. The BOD retreat- do we have a cost comparison of holding the retreat in Chicago to save costs, versus somewhere else? I hate to cut down on a meeting of other Academy leaders if there is anything the BOD can do to cut back on costs. I don't have a comparison readily available. However, we do a cost comparison versus each city to which would be a more cost effective location. As you can imagine, Chicago in the Summer does get expensive. We also worked with New Orleans to get very low rates on the hotels. So, I believe our analysis indicated that this would be much cheaper than Chicago. Naturally, that will also depend on the number of staff attending.

2. I realize the Academy has really great deals with area hotels for all of us who travel to Chicago often. Has there been any cost comparison between the hotels that we stay in, and perhaps a chain hotel that may offer breakfast? And I am sure this sounds like blasphemy and I may be the ONLY person who would ever consider this, but I am a penny pincher. We have done this before. Last year I believe we chose the LaQuinta hotel in Chicago. It was not well received. If we can get a hotel that provides a breakfast, then we will do it if the rate is still lower. The hotel for the FAC meeting has a pretty low rate for Chicago this time of year.

Again, I can't recall all of the specifics. However, we do go out to bid to get the lowest rates possible. I hope this helps.

I paid my way last year to go to an ACEND workshop in Chicago, and I stayed at the Fairfield Inn (Marriott) and I had free breakfast, and it was within walking distance to the Academy.

This is the one where I stayed: <http://www.marriott.com/hotels/travel/chift-fairfield-inn-and-suites-chicago-downtown-river-north/>

Thanks so much for all you and your team does! I am always blown away by the thoroughness!

Now onto the financial results.

I. February Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary February results.

II. Investments

The investment market continues to fluctuate. In February, the combined portfolios lost approximately $142,700. This brought the total FY15 investment returns to nearly $3,611,000. This is still very strong and nearly $1,241,000 above the budget. So far, through April, the combined portfolios have gained $1,130,000. The markets are up again this morning. So, with the month ending on Thursday, it looks promising that April will be another strong month for the investment returns.

III. Academy preliminary March Financials (A10)

The Academy did not have a good month in March. The explanation is well known at this point; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $170,272. This was $182,856 higher (worse) than the budget. This is $388,679 smaller (better) than the budget. I am still optimistic that the Academy will achieve the FY15 operating deficit budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $1,046 in March and is over budget by $865 for the year. The over-run in March is being driven by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $7.8K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $6.8K).

- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in March and is under budget by $7,667 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation – This area is under budget by $4,233 in March and is under budget by $3,980 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in March and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.
- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $3,882 in March and is over budget by $7,729 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower credit cards fees.
- o. Other – This area is under budget by $1,329 in March and under budget $50,449 for the year. The under-run in March is not specific to any one project.
- p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,142 in March and is unfavorable to budget by $70,797 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $4,669 in March and is under budget by $165,128 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Affiliate Leader Training (down $3.4K), lower Corporate Relations (down $5.6K), lower Research (down $1.6K), lower Quality Management (down $2.5K), lower Nutrition Services (down $4.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.7K). This is offset by the timing of higher Board expenses (up $13.1K).

r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $7,427 in March and is under budget by $23,231 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower legal expenses. However, the expenses for the Kraft legal support has not yet been included. This may result in over-runs in legal expenses in April and May.

s. Printing – This area is under budget by $538 in March and is over budget by $13,943 for the year. The under-run in March is across all areas of the business.

Overall, not a good month for the Academy. I will stop here. Hopefully, this will help provide to you a overall variance for the Academy. If you break it down; Research accounted for $316,000 of the total revenue under-run; $122,600 of the total expense under-run and $193,000 in the operating deficit variance. If this was pulled out of the equation, the Academy would have performed better than the operational for the month of March. I know the Research team is working diligently to increase revenue and reduce expenses to offset the shortfalls.

I see the markets have turned a little. I generally expect this around lunch time. So, it may bounce back. We will keep watching in the hope that it does. If you have any questions, please let me know. We will start the meeting on Wednesday at 8:10. We will provide a hot breakfast for all.

Thank you Paul!

Elise talked to Pat yesterday and she told her that the funeral was going to be a small family-only affair. Not sure if this is still the plan.

On another note, I have briefly looked through the info on the portal. I know how thorough you are and below are some questions I will have when we meet. And please know that I realize that you have all worked countless hours on alternatives to make our budget fit our needs.

I was disappointed to see two of the options to cut back expenses were to do away with Vice-Chair orientation, as well as not having a f2f meeting for the student advisory committee.

Having just completed vice-chair orientation (Evelyn and I led this), I found it incredibly helpful to the vice chairs. With the reorganization of committees, making sure that they work with each other and do not remain working as "silos" is important. The VC orientation was a tremendously helpful kick off for this collaboration.

About the student advisory committee- I wish they could have an opportunity to meet F2F since these are our future leaders.... but I am less sad about this than the VC orientation.

Can you provide some input on other money saving ideas that have likely been talked about in the past?

Below are 2 questions I have that relate specifically to BOD expenses -

1. The BOD retreat- do we have a cost comparison of holding the retreat in Chicago to save costs, versus somewhere else? I hate to cut down on a meeting of other Academy leaders if there is anything the BOD can do to cut back on costs. I don't have a comparison readily available. However, we do a cost comparison versus each city to which would be a more cost effective location. As you can imagine, Chicago in the Summer does get expensive. We also worked with New Orleans to get very low rates on the hotels. So, I believe our analysis indicated that this would be much cheaper than Chicago. Naturally, that will also depend on the number of staff attending.

2. I realize the Academy has really great deals with area hotels for all of us who travel to Chicago often. Has there been any cost comparison between the hotels that we stay in, and perhaps a chain hotel that may offer breakfast? And I am sure this sounds like blasphemy and I may be the ONLY person who would ever consider this, but I am a penny pincher. We have done this before. Last year I believe we chose the LaQuinta hotel in Chicago. It was not well received. If we can get a hotel that provides a breakfast, then we will do it if the rate is still lower. The hotel for the FAC meeting has a pretty low rate for Chicago this time of year. Again, I can't recall all of the specifics. However, we do go out to bid to get the lowest rates possible. I hope this helps.

I paid my way last year to go to an ACEND workshop in Chicago, and I stayed at the Fairfield Inn (Marriott) and I had free breakfast, and it was within walking distance to the Academy.

This is the one where I stayed: <http://www.marriott.com/hotels/travel/chift-fairfield-inn-and-suites-chicago-downtown-river-north/>

Thanks so much for all you and your team does! I am always blown away by the thoroughness!

All,

Hopefully, all of you have looked at the information posted to the portal last week. I know it is a great deal of information. I look forward to your questions and comments. On a sad note; We were informed that Pat's husband, Lou, passed away this morning. I know Pat has been very appreciative of everyone's thoughts, prayers and support throughout this difficult period. We don't have any information at this point. As soon as we do, we will pass it along. Since all of us have known Pat a long time, I know we would want to pay our respects if given the opportunity. So, if the Committee meeting coincides with any arrangements, we could alter our agenda if it is the wish of the Committee. Again, as soon as we have the information, I will pass it along.

Now onto the financial results.

I. February Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary February results.

II. Investments

The investment market continues to fluctuate. In February, the combined portfolios lost approximately $142,700. This brought the total FY15 investment returns to nearly $3,611,000. This is still very strong and nearly $1,241,000 above the budget. So far, through April, the combined portfolios have gained $1,130,000. The markets are up again this morning. So, with the month ending on Thursday, it looks promising that April will be another strong month for the investment returns.

III. Academy preliminary March Financials (A10)

The Academy did not have a good month in March. The explanation is well known at this point; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $170,272. This was $182,856 higher (worse) than the budget. Considering the investment losses for the month of $31.4K, the Academy had a Net deficit of $201,652. This was $326,831 higher (worse) than the budget. Not a good month.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $2,131,735 through March. This is $212,844 smaller (better) than the budget. So, even after a bad March, the Academy is still beating the overall Operating Deficit budget. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.3M in income. This is $175.8K higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $829,950. This is $388,679 smaller (better) than the budget. I am still optimistic that the Academy will achieve the FY15 operating deficit budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $1,046 in March and is over budget by $865 for the year. The over-run in March is being driven by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $7.8K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $6.8K).
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $8,890 in March and is under budget by $438,720 for the year. The under-run March is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $33,749 in March and is under budget by $120,910 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $14.9K), lower Journal (down $4.3K), lower List Rental (down $12.8K), and lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), offset by higher Traditional Publications (up $2.0K) and higher across all other (up $0.8K).
- d. Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $49,582 in March and is under budget by $312,898 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $8.5K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.0K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).

e. Advertising - This area is over budget by $7,411 in March and under budget by $1,285 for the year. The over-run in March is entirely due to advertising revenue not recognized for the FNCE program book. Accounting discovered this oversight in March and the revenue was recorded.

f. All grants - This area is under budget by $296,836 in March and is under budget by $319,591 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research (down $272.5K), Guides for Practice (down $10.0K), lower Abbott Malnutrition (down $13.9K) and lower ConAgra (down $3.2K) and other (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Carry the Flame project (up $4.8K).

g. Sponsorships - This area is under budget by $23,905 in March and is under budget by $74,384 for the year. The under-run in March is higher than in February. Since the Kraft agreement was canceled, money anticipated for the remainder of the year had to be removed. This reflects a portion of the shortfall due to Kraft and will continue for April and May.

h. Other - This area was under budget by $10,259 in March and is over budget by $89,737 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program (down $5.2K), lower Journal (down $8.1K) and lower Brand Promise (down $3.0K). This is offset by higher Traditional Publications licensing (up $4.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.9K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel - This area is under budget by $34,364 in March and is under budget by $187,017 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b. Publications - This area is under budget by $848 in March and is under budget by $97,505 for the year. The under-run in March is not due to any particular program.

c. Travel - This area is under budget by $88,806 in March and is under budget by $396,297 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research projects (down $39.7K), Lower Quality Management (down $19.3K), lower Nutrition Services (down $22.8K), lower PR and Marketing (down $7.2K), lower Affiliate Management (down $4.1K), lower administration (down $4.0K), and lower across all other (down $7.7K). This was offset by higher Public Policy (up $16.0K).

- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $84,409 in March and is under budget by $266,654 for the year. The under-run in March is being driven by lower Research (down $82.6K), lower IT/web (down $2.3K), lower Guides for Practice (down $3.0K), lower List Rental (down $1.3K), lower National Nutrition Month (down $2.0K), lower Quality Management (down $1.8K) and lower Membership retention and recruitment (down $8.1K). This is offset by higher Corporate Relations (up $6.6K) and higher Brand Promise Marketing (up $9.8K) and higher across all other (up $0.3).
- e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $12,236 in March and is under budget by $100,685 for the year. The under-run for March is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $4.7K), lower Membership Recruitment and Retention (down $6.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.8K).
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is under budget by $1,016 in March and is under budget by $17,946 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower copy supplies (down $0.7K), and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K).
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $1,263 in March and is under budget by $63,353 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower costs within our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher maintenance costs associated with work done in Chicago (up $0.4).
- h. Telephone and communications - This is under budget by $1,205 in March and is under budget by $3,969 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower telecom charges in Chicago and Washington.
- i. Commissions - This area is on Target in March and is over budget by $1,151 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. Even though Advertising revenue was higher in March, it was not due to Food and Nutrition Magazine. Therefore, no commissions were incurred.
- j. Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $174 in March and is under budget by $51,859 for the year. There isn't any material variance in March.
- k. Advertising and Promotion - This area is under budget by $4,116 in March and is under budget by $47,912 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $3.7) and lower across all other (down $0.4K).
- l. Insurance - This area is under budget by $534 in March and is under budget by $7,667 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation - This area is under budget by $4,233 in March and is under budget by $3,980 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in March and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

n. Bank and trust fees - This area is under budget by $3,882 in March and is over budget by $7,729 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower credit cards fees.

o. Other - This area is under budget by $1,329 in March and under budget $50,449 for the year. The under-run in March is not specific to any one project.

p. Expense allocation - This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,142 in March and is unfavorable to budget by $70,797 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the "normal" expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $4,669 in March and is under budget by $165,128 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Affiliate Leader Training (down $3.4K), lower Corporate Relations (down $5.6K), lower Research (down $1.6K), lower Quality Management (down $2.5K), lower Nutrition Services (down $4.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.7K). This is offset by the timing of higher Board expenses (up $13.1K).

r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $7,427 in March and is under budget by $23,231 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower legal expenses. However, the expenses for the Kraft legal support has not yet been included. This may result in over-runs in legal expenses in April and May.

s. Printing - This area is under budget by $538 in March and is over budget by $13,943 for the year. The under-run in March is across all areas of the business.

Overall, not a good month for the Academy. I will stop here. Hopefully, this will help provide to you a overall variance for the Academy. If you break it down; Research accounted for $316,000 of the total revenue under-run; $122,600 of the total expense under-run and $193,000 in the operating deficit variance. If this was pulled out of the equation, the Academy would have performed better than the operational for the month of March. I know the Research team is working diligently to increase revenue and reduce expenses to offset the shortfalls.

I see the markets have turned a little. I generally expect this around lunch time. So, it may bounce back. We will keep watching in the hope that it does. If you have any questions, please let me know. We will start the meeting on Wednesday at 8:10. We will provide a hot breakfast for all.

Thanks for indulging me! I knew you had it covered!

By the way, my hotel reservation was changed by the Governance team because I am there until next Tuesday, since the HOD meeting is later this week. It was changed to the Burnham, so I am not staying with the rest of the group. I know how to get to the Academy so I'll just meet the group there on Wednesday morning.

Subject: A couple of Qs Re: Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Wednesday, April 29th and Thursday April 30th

Thank you Paul!

Elise talked to Pat yesterday and she told her that the funeral was going to be a small family-only affair. Not sure if this is still the plan.

On another note, I have briefly looked through the info on the portal. I know how thorough you are and below are some questions I will have when we meet. And please know that I realize that you have all worked countless hours on alternatives to make our budget fit our needs.

I was disappointed to see two of the options to cut back expenses were to do away with Vice-Chair orientation, as well as not having a f2f meeting for the student advisory committee.

Having just completed vice-chair orientation (Evelyn and I led this), I found it incredibly helpful to the vice chairs. With the reorganization of committees, making sure that they work with each other and do not remain working as "silos" is important. The VC orientation was a tremendously helpful kick off for this collaboration.

About the student advisory committee- I wish they could have an opportunity to meet F2F since these are our future leaders.... but I am less sad about this than the VC orientation.

Can you provide some input on other money saving ideas that have likely been talked about in the past?

Below are 2 questions I have that relate specifically to BOD expenses -

1. The BOD retreat- do we have a cost comparison of holding the retreat in Chicago to save costs, versus somewhere else? I hate to cut down on a meeting of other Academy leaders if there is anything the BOD can do to cut back on costs. I don't have a comparison readily available. However, we do a cost comparison versus each city to which would be a more cost effective location. As you can imagine, Chicago in the Summer does get expensive. We also worked with New Orleans to get very low rates on the hotels. So, I believe our analysis indicated that this would be much cheaper than Chicago. Naturally, that will also depend on the number of staff attending.

2. I realize the Academy has really great deals with area hotels for all of us who travel to Chicago often. Has there been any cost comparison between the hotels that we stay in, and perhaps a chain hotel that may offer breakfast? And I am sure this sounds like blasphemy and I may be the ONLY person who would ever consider this, but I am a penny pincher. We have done this before. Last year I believe we chose the LaQuinta hotel in Chicago. It was not well received. If we can get a hotel that provides a breakfast, then we will do it if the rate is still lower. The hotel for the FAC meeting has a pretty low rate for Chicago this time of year. Again, I can't recall all of the specifics. However, we do go out to bid to get the lowest rates possible. I hope this helps.

I paid my way last year to go to an ACEND workshop in Chicago, and I stayed at the Fairfield Inn (Marriott) and I had free breakfast, and it was within walking distance to the Academy.

This is the one where I stayed: <http://www.marriott.com/hotels/travel/chift-fairfield-inn-and-suites-chicago-downtown-river-north/>

Thanks so much for all you and your team does! I am always blown away by the thoroughness!

All,

Hopefully, all of you have looked at the information posted to the portal last week. I know it is a great deal of information. I look forward to your questions and comments. On a sad note; We were informed that Pat's husband, Lou, passed away this morning. I know Pat has been very appreciative of everyone's thoughts, prayers and support throughout this difficult period. We don't have any information at this point. As soon as we do, we will pass it along. Since all of us have known Pat a long time, I know we would want to pay our respects if given the opportunity. So, if the Committee meeting coincides with any arrangements, we could alter our agenda if it is the wish of the Committee. Again, as soon as we have the information, I will pass it along.

Now onto the financial results.

I. February Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary February results.

II. Investments

The investment market continues to fluctuate. In February, the combined portfolios lost approximately $142,700. This brought the total FY15 investment returns to nearly $3,611,000. This is still very strong and nearly $1,241,000 above the budget. So far, through April, the combined portfolios have gained $1,130,000. The markets are up again this morning. So, with the month ending on Thursday, it looks promising that April will be another strong month for the investment returns.

III. Academy preliminary March Financials (A10)

The Academy did not have a good month in March. The explanation is well known at this point; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $170,272. This was $182,856 higher (worse) than the budget. Considering the investment losses for the month of $31.4K, the Academy had a Net deficit of $201,652. This was $326,831 higher (worse) than the budget. Not a good month.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $2,131,735 through March. This is $212,844 smaller (better) than the budget. So, even after a bad March, the Academy is still beating the overall Operating Deficit budget. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.3M in income. This is $175.8K higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $829,950. This is $388,679 smaller (better) than the budget. I am still optimistic that the Academy will achieve the FY15 operating deficit budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $1,046 in March and is over budget by $865 for the year. The over-run in March is being driven by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $7.8K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $6.8K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $8,890 in March and is under budget by $438,720 for the year. The under-run March is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.

- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $33,749 in March and is under budget by $120,910 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $14.9K), lower Journal (down $4.3K), lower List Rental (down $12.8K), and lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), offset by higher Traditional Publications (up $2.0K) and higher across all other (up $0.8K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $49,582 in March and is under budget by $312,898 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $8.5K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.0K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).
- e. Advertising – This area is over budget by $7,411 in March and under budget by $1,285 for the year. The over-run in March is entirely due to advertising revenue not recognized for the FNCE program book. Accounting discovered this oversight in March and the revenue was recorded.
- f. All grants - This area is under budget by $296,836 in March and is under budget by $319,591 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research (down $272.5K), Guides for Practice (down $10.0K), lower Abbott Malnutrition (down $13.9K) and lower ConAgra (down $3.2K) and other (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Carry the Flame project (up $4.8K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $23,905 in March and is under budget by $74,384 for the year. The under-run in March is higher than in February. Since the Kraft agreement was canceled, money anticipated for the remainder of the year had to be removed. This reflects a portion of the shortfall due to Kraft and will continue for April and May.
- h. Other – This area was under budget by $10,259 in March and is over budget by $89,737 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program (down $5.2K), lower Journal (down $8.1K) and lower Brand Promise (down $3.0K). This is offset by higher Traditional Publications licensing (up $4.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.9K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $34,364 in March and is under budget by $187,017 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.
- b. Publications – This area is under budget by $848 in March and is under budget by $97,505 for the year. The under-run in March is not due to any particular program.

- c. Travel – This area is under budget by $88,806 in March and is under budget by $396,297 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research projects (down $39.7K), Lower Quality Management (down $19.3K), lower Nutrition Services (down $22.8K), lower PR and Marketing (down $7.2K), lower Affiliate Management (down $4.1K), lower administration (down $4.0K), and lower across all other (down $7.7K). This was offset by higher Public Policy (up $16.0K).
- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $84,409 in March and is under budget by $266,654 for the year. The under-run in March is being driven by lower Research (down $82.6K), lower IT/web (down $2.3K), lower Guides for Practice (down $3.0K), lower List Rental (down $1.3K), lower National Nutrition Month (down $2.0K), lower Quality Management (down $1.8K) and lower Membership retention and recruitment (down $8.1K). This is offset by higher Corporate Relations (up $6.6K) and higher Brand Promise Marketing (up $9.8K) and higher across all other (up $0.3).
- e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $12,236 in March and is under budget by $100,685 for the year. The under-run for March is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $4.7K), lower Membership Recruitment and Retention (down $6.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.8K).
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $1,016 in March and is under budget by $17,946 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower copy supplies (down $0.7K), and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K).
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $1,263 in March and is under budget by $63,353 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower costs within our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher maintenance costs associated with work done in Chicago (up $0.4).
- h. Telephone and communications – This is under budget by $1,205 in March and is under budget by $3,969 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower telecom charges in Chicago and Washington.
- i. Commissions – This area is on Target in March and is over budget by $1,151 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine’s advertising sales. Even though Advertising revenue was higher in March, it was not due to Food and Nutrition Magazine. Therefore, no commissions were incurred.
- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $174 in March and is under budget by $51,859 for the year. There isn’t any material variance in March.
- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $4,116 in March and is under budget by $47,912 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $3.7) and lower across all other (down $0.4K).

- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in March and is under budget by $7,667 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation – This area is under budget by $4,233 in March and is under budget by $3,980 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in March and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.
- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $3,882 in March and is over budget by $7,729 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower credit cards fees.
- o. Other – This area is under budget by $1,329 in March and under budget $50,449 for the year. The under-run in March is not specific to any one project.
- p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,142 in March and is unfavorable to budget by $70,797 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $4,669 in March and is under budget by $165,128 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Affiliate Leader Training (down $3.4K), lower Corporate Relations (down $5.6K), lower Research (down $1.6K), lower Quality Management (down $2.5K), lower Nutrition Services (down $4.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.7K). This is offset by the timing of higher Board expenses (up $13.1K).
- r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $7,427 in March and is under budget by $23,231 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower legal expenses. However, the expenses for the Kraft legal support has not yet been included. This may result in over-runs in legal expenses in April and May.
- s. Printing – This area is under budget by $538 in March and is over budget by $13,943 for the year. The under-run in March is across all areas of the business.

Overall, not a good month for the Academy. I will stop here. Hopefully, this will help provide to you a overall variance for the Academy. If you break it down; Research accounted for $316,000 of the total revenue under-run; $122,600 of the total expense under-run and $193,000 in the operating deficit variance. If this was pulled out of the equation, the Academy would have performed better than the operational for the month of March. I know the Research team is working diligently to increase revenue and reduce expenses to offset the shortfalls.

I see the markets have turned a little. I generally expect this around lunch time. So, it may bounce back. We will keep watching in the hope that it does. If you have any questions, please let me know. We will start the meeting on Wednesday at 8:10. We will provide a hot breakfast for all.

Paul

This was offset by higher Public Policy (up $16.0K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $84,409 in March and is under budget by $266,654 for the year. The under-run in March is being driven by lower Research (down $82.6K), lower IT/web (down $2.3K), lower Guides for Practice (down $3.0K), lower List Rental (down $1.3K), lower National Nutrition Month (down $2.0K), lower Quality Management (down $1.8K) and lower Membership retention and recruitment (down $8.1K). This is offset by higher Corporate Relations (up $6.6K) and higher Brand Promise Marketing (up $9.8K) and higher across all other (up $0.3).

e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $12,236 in March and is under budget by $100,685 for the year. The under-run for March is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $4.7K), lower Membership Recruitment and Retention (down $6.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.8K).

f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $1,016 in March and is under budget by $17,946 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower copy supplies (down $0.7K), and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K).

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $1,263 in March and is under budget by $63,353 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower costs within our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher maintenance costs associated with work done in Chicago (up $0.4).

h. Telephone and communications – This is under budget by $1,205 in March and is under budget by $3,969 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower telecom charges in Chicago and Washington.

i. Commissions – This area is on Target in March and is over budget by $1,151 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. Even though Advertising revenue was higher in March, it was not due to Food and Nutrition Magazine. Therefore, no commissions were incurred.

j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $174 in March and is under budget by $51,859 for the year. There isn't any material variance in March.

k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $4,116 in March and is under budget by $47,912 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $3.7) and lower across all other (down $0.4K).

l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in March and is under budget by $7,667 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.

m. Depreciation – This area is under budget by $4,233 in March and is under budget by $3,980 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in March and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $3,882 in March and is over budget by $7,729 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower credit cards fees.

o. Other – This area is under budget by $1,329 in March and under budget $50,449 for the year. The under-run in March is not specific to any one project.

p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,142 in March and is unfavorable to budget by $70,797 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the "normal" expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $4,669 in March and is under budget by $165,128 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Affiliate Leader Training (down $3.4K), lower Corporate Relations (down $5.6K), lower Research (down $1.6K), lower Quality Management (down $2.5K), lower Nutrition Services (down $4.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.7K). This is offset by the timing of higher Board expenses (up $13.1K).

r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $7,427 in March and is under budget by $23,231 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower legal expenses. However, the expenses for the Kraft legal support has not yet been included. This may result in over-runs in legal expenses in April and May.

s. Printing – This area is under budget by $538 in March and is over budget by $13,943 for the year. The under-run in March is across all areas of the business.

Overall, not a good month for the Academy. I will stop here. Hopefully, this will help provide to you a overall variance for the Academy. If you break it down; Research accounted for $316,000 of the total revenue under-run; $122,600 of the total expense under-run and $193,000 in the operating deficit variance. If this was pulled out of the equation, the Academy would have performed better than the operational for the month of March. I know the Research team is working diligently to increase revenue and reduce expenses to offset the shortfalls.

I see the markets have turned a little. I generally expect this around lunch time. So, it may bounce back. We will keep watching in the hope that it does. If you have any questions, please let me know. We will start the meeting on Wednesday at 8:10. We will provide a hot breakfast for all.

Paul

This is a very well done article summarizing the issues with science and pseudo-science regarding nutrition. It mentions both Kraft and Monsanto and I thought people may want to read it before today's call if they can.

Thanks.

As a follow-up to our conversation at the joint board meeting, we are providing you with one very concise talking point to be used regarding the Monsanto grant as well as any other new Academy sponsorships and/or Foundation grants. This is based on a recommendation from our communications consultant Levick . They are discouraging us from referring to any company by name and encouraging us to respond, if asked, with the following statement.

All new Academy industry sponsorships and Foundation grants are on hold pending the sponsorship discussion taking place at the HOD in May and the follow up recommendations from the Academy Sponsorship Task Force.

This statement supports our promise to the membership to give them a voice before we move forward. We have nothing to hide. We simply have nothing to report at this time. Thank you.

Subject:RE: Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Wednesday, April 29th and Thursday April 30th

All,

Hopefully, all of you have looked at the information posted to the portal last week. I know it is a great deal of information. I look forward to your questions and comments. On a sad note; We were informed that Pat's husband, Lou, passed away this morning. I know Pat has been very appreciative of everyone's thoughts, prayers and support throughout this difficult period. We don't have any information at this point. As soon as we do, we will pass it along. Since all of us have known Pat a long time, I know we would want to pay our respects if given the opportunity. So, if the Committee meeting coincides with any arrangements, we could alter our agenda if it is the wish of the Committee. Again, as soon as we have the information, I will pass it along.

Now onto the financial results.

I. February Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary February results.

II. Investments

The investment market continues to fluctuate. In February, the combined portfolios lost approximately $142,700. This brought the total FY15 investment returns to nearly $3,611,000. This is still very strong and nearly $1,241,000 above the budget. So far, through April, the combined portfolios have gained $1,130,000. The markets are up again this morning. So, with the month ending on Thursday, it looks promising that April will be another strong month for the investment returns.

III. Academy preliminary March Financials (A10)

The Academy did not have a good month in March. The explanation is well known at this point; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $170,272. This was $182,856 higher (worse) than the budget. Considering the investment losses for the month of $31.4K, the Academy had a Net deficit of $201,652. This was $326,831 higher (worse) than the budget. Not a good month.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $2,131,735 through March. This is $212,844 smaller (better) than the budget. So, even after a bad March, the Academy is still beating the overall Operating Deficit budget. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.3M in income. This is $175.8K higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $829,950. This is $388,679 smaller (better) than the budget. I am still optimistic that the Academy will achieve the FY15 operating deficit budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $1,046 in March and is over budget by $865 for the year. The over-run in March is being driven by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $7.8K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $6.8K).
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $8,890 in March and is under budget by $438,720 for the year. The under-run March is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $33,749 in March and is under budget by $120,910 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $14.9K), lower Journal (down $4.3K), lower List Rental (down $12.8K), and lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), offset by higher Traditional Publications (up $2.0K) and higher across all other (up $0.8K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $49,582 in March and is under budget by $312,898 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $8.5K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.0K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).
- e. Advertising – This area is over budget by $7,411 in March and under budget by $1,285 for the year. The over-run in March is entirely due to advertising revenue not recognized for the FNCE program book. Accounting discovered this oversight in March and the revenue was recorded.
- f. All grants - This area is under budget by $296,836 in March and is under budget by $319,591 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research (down $272.5K), Guides for Practice (down $10.0K), lower Abbott Malnutrition (down $13.9K) and lower ConAgra (down $3.2K) and other (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Carry the Flame project (up $4.8K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $23,905 in March and is under budget by $74,384 for the year. The under-run in March is higher than in February. Since the Kraft agreement was canceled, money anticipated for the remainder of the year had to be removed. This reflects a portion of the shortfall due to Kraft and will continue for April and May.
- h. Other – This area was under budget by $10,259 in March and is over budget by $89,737 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program (down $5.2K), lower Journal (down $8.1K) and lower Brand Promise (down $3.0K). This is offset by higher Traditional Publications licensing (up $4.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.9K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $34,364 in March and is under budget by $187,017 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.
- b. Publications – This area is under budget by $848 in March and is under budget by $97,505 for the year. The under-run in March is not due to any particular program.

- c. Travel – This area is under budget by $88,806 in March and is under budget by $396,297 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research projects (down $39.7K), Lower Quality Management (down $19.3K), lower Nutrition Services (down $22.8K), lower PR and Marketing (down $7.2K), lower Affiliate Management (down $4.1K), lower administration (down $4.0K), and lower across all other (down $7.7K). This was offset by higher Public Policy (up $16.0K).
- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $84,409 in March and is under budget by $266,654 for the year. The under-run in March is being driven by lower Research (down $82.6K), lower IT/web (down $2.3K), lower Guides for Practice (down $3.0K), lower List Rental (down $1.3K), lower National Nutrition Month (down $2.0K), lower Quality Management (down $1.8K) and lower Membership retention and recruitment (down $8.1K). This is offset by higher Corporate Relations (up $6.6K) and higher Brand Promise Marketing (up $9.8K) and higher across all other (up $0.3).
- e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $12,236 in March and is under budget by $100,685 for the year. The under-run for March is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $4.7K), lower Membership Recruitment and Retention (down $6.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.8K).
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $1,016 in March and is under budget by $17,946 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower copy supplies (down $0.7K), and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K).
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $1,263 in March and is under budget by $63,353 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower costs within our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher maintenance costs associated with work done in Chicago (up $0.4).
- h. Telephone and communications – This is under budget by $1,205 in March and is under budget by $3,969 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower telecom charges in Chicago and Washington.
- i. Commissions – This area is on Target in March and is over budget by $1,151 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine’s advertising sales. Even though Advertising revenue was higher in March, it was not due to Food and Nutrition Magazine. Therefore, no commissions were incurred.
- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $174 in March and is under budget by $51,859 for the year. There isn’t any material variance in March.
- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $4,116 in March and is under budget by $47,912 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $3.7) and lower across all other (down $0.4K).
- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in March and is under budget by $7,667 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation – This area is under budget by $4,233 in March and is under budget by $3,980 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in March and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $3,882 in March and is over budget by $7,729 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower credit cards fees.

o. Other – This area is under budget by $1,329 in March and under budget $50,449 for the year. The under-run in March is not specific to any one project.

p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,142 in March and is unfavorable to budget by $70,797 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $4,669 in March and is under budget by $165,128 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Affiliate Leader Training (down $3.4K), lower Corporate Relations (down $5.6K), lower Research (down $1.6K), lower Quality Management (down $2.5K), lower Nutrition Services (down $4.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.7K). This is offset by the timing of higher Board expenses (up $13.1K).

r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $7,427 in March and is under budget by $23,231 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower legal expenses. However, the expenses for the Kraft legal support has not yet been included. This may result in over-runs in legal expenses in April and May.

s. Printing – This area is under budget by $538 in March and is over budget by $13,943 for the year. The under-run in March is across all areas of the business.

Overall, not a good month for the Academy. I will stop here. Hopefully, this will help provide to you a overall variance for the Academy. If you break it down; Research accounted for $316,000 of the total revenue under-run; $122,600 of the total expense under-run and $193,000 in the operating deficit variance. If this was pulled out of the equation, the Academy would have performed better than the operational for the month of March. I know the Research team is working diligently to increase revenue and reduce expenses to offset the shortfalls.

I see the markets have turned a little. I generally expect this around lunch time. So, it may bounce back. We will keep watching in the hope that it does. If you have any questions, please let me know. We will start the meeting on Wednesday at 8:10. We will provide a hot breakfast for all.

Thank you Paul!

Elise talked to Pat yesterday and she told her that the funeral was going to be a small family-only affair. Not sure if this is still the plan.

On another note, I have briefly looked through the info on the portal. I know how thorough you are and below are some questions I will have when we meet. And please know that I realize that you have all worked countless hours on alternatives to make our budget fit our needs.

I was disappointed to see two of the options to cut back expenses were to do away with Vice-Chair orientation, as well as not having a f2f meeting for the student advisory committee.

Having just completed vice-chair orientation (Evelyn and I led this), I found it incredibly helpful to the vice chairs. With the reorganization of committees, making sure that they work with each other and do not remain working as "silos" is important. The VC orientation was a tremendously helpful kick off for this collaboration.

About the student advisory committee- I wish they could have an opportunity to meet F2F since these are our future leaders.... but I am less sad about this than the VC orientation.

Can you provide some input on other money saving ideas that have likely been talked about in the past?

Below are 2 questions I have that relate specifically to BOD expenses -

1. The BOD retreat- do we have a cost comparison of holding the retreat in Chicago to save costs, versus somewhere else? I hate to cut down on a meeting of other Academy leaders if there is anything the BOD can do to cut back on costs. I don't have a comparison readily available. However, we do a cost comparison versus each city to which would be a more cost effective location. As you can imagine, Chicago in the Summer does get expensive. We also worked with New Orleans to get very low rates on the hotels. So, I believe our analysis indicated that this would be much cheaper than Chicago. Naturally, that will also depend on the number of staff attending.

2. I realize the Academy has really great deals with area hotels for all of us who travel to Chicago often. Has there been any cost comparison between the hotels that we stay in, and perhaps a chain hotel that may offer breakfast? And I am sure this sounds like blasphemy and I may be the ONLY person who would ever consider this, but I am a penny pincher. We have done this before. Last year I believe we chose the LaQuinta hotel in Chicago. It was not well received. If we can get a hotel that provides a breakfast, then we will do it if the rate is still lower. The hotel for the FAC meeting has a pretty low rate for Chicago this time of year. Again, I can't recall all of the specifics. However, we do go out to bid to get the lowest rates possible. I hope this helps.

I paid my way last year to go to an ACEND workshop in Chicago, and I stayed at the Fairfield Inn (Marriott) and I had free breakfast, and it was within walking distance to the Academy.

This is the one where I stayed: <http://www.marriott.com/hotels/travel/chift-fairfield-inn-and-suites-chicago-downtown-river-north/>

Thanks so much for all you and your team does! I am always blown away by the thoroughness!

All,

Hopefully, all of you have looked at the information posted to the portal last week. I know it is a great deal of information. I look forward to your questions and comments. On a sad note; We were informed that Pat's husband, Lou, passed away this morning. I know Pat has been very appreciative of everyone's thoughts, prayers and support throughout this difficult period. We don't have any information at this point. As soon as we do, we will pass it along. Since all of us have known Pat a long time, I know we would want to pay our respects if given the opportunity. So, if the Committee meeting coincides with any arrangements, we could alter our agenda if it is the wish of the Committee. Again, as soon as we have the information, I will pass it along.

Now onto the financial results.

I. February Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary February results.

II. Investments

The investment market continues to fluctuate. In February, the combined portfolios lost approximately $142,700. This brought the total FY15 investment returns to nearly $3,611,000. This is still very strong and nearly $1,241,000 above the budget. So far, through April, the combined portfolios have gained $1,130,000. The markets are up again this morning. So, with the month ending on Thursday, it looks promising that April will be another strong month for the investment returns.

III. Academy preliminary March Financials (A10)

The Academy did not have a good month in March. The explanation is well known at this point; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $170,272. This was $182,856 higher (worse) than the budget. Considering the investment losses for the month of $31.4K, the Academy had a Net deficit of $201,652. This was $326,831 higher (worse) than the budget. Not a good month.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $2,131,735 through March. This is $212,844 smaller (better) than the budget. So, even after a bad March, the Academy is still beating the overall Operating Deficit budget. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.3M in income. This is $175.8K higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $829,950. This is $388,679 smaller (better) than the budget. I am still optimistic that the Academy will achieve the FY15 operating deficit budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $1,046 in March and is over budget by $865 for the year. The over-run in March is being driven by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $7.8K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $6.8K).

- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $8,890 in March and is under budget by $438,720 for the year. The under-run March is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $33,749 in March and is under budget by $120,910 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $14.9K), lower Journal (down $4.3K), lower List Rental (down $12.8K), and lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), offset by higher Traditional Publications (up $2.0K) and higher across all other (up $0.8K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $49,582 in March and is under budget by $312,898 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $8.5K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.0K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).
- e. Advertising – This area is over budget by $7,411 in March and under budget by $1,285 for the year. The over-run in March is entirely due to advertising revenue not recognized for the FNCE program book. Accounting discovered this oversight in March and the revenue was recorded.
- f. All grants - This area is under budget by $296,836 in March and is under budget by $319,591 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research (down $272.5K), Guides for Practice (down $10.0K), lower Abbott Malnutrition (down $13.9K) and lower ConAgra (down $3.2K) and other (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Carry the Flame project (up $4.8K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $23,905 in March and is under budget by $74,384 for the year. The under-run in March is higher than in February. Since the Kraft agreement was canceled, money anticipated for the remainder of the year had to be removed. This reflects a portion of the shortfall due to Kraft and will continue for April and May.
- h. Other – This area was under budget by $10,259 in March and is over budget by $89,737 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program (down $5.2K), lower Journal (down $8.1K) and lower Brand Promise (down $3.0K). This is offset by higher Traditional Publications licensing (up $4.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.9K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $34,364 in March and is under budget by $187,017 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

- b. Publications – This area is under budget by $848 in March and is under budget by $97,505 for the year. The under-run in March is not due to any particular program.
- c. Travel – This area is under budget by $88,806 in March and is under budget by $396,297 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research projects (down $39.7K), Lower Quality Management (down $19.3K), lower Nutrition Services (down $22.8K), lower PR and Marketing (down $7.2K), lower Affiliate Management (down $4.1K), lower administration (down $4.0K), and lower across all other (down $7.7K). This was offset by higher Public Policy (up $16.0K).
- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $84,409 in March and is under budget by $266,654 for the year. The under-run in March is being driven by lower Research (down $82.6K), lower IT/web (down $2.3K), lower Guides for Practice (down $3.0K), lower List Rental (down $1.3K), lower National Nutrition Month (down $2.0K), lower Quality Management (down $1.8K) and lower Membership retention and recruitment (down $8.1K). This is offset by higher Corporate Relations (up $6.6K) and higher Brand Promise Marketing (up $9.8K) and higher across all other (up $0.3).
- e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $12,236 in March and is under budget by $100,685 for the year. The under-run for March is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $4.7K), lower Membership Recruitment and Retention (down $6.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.8K).
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $1,016 in March and is under budget by $17,946 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower copy supplies (down $0.7K), and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K).

Even though Advertising revenue was higher in March, it was not due to Food and Nutrition Magazine. Therefore, no commissions were incurred.
- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $174 in March and is under budget by $51,859 for the year. There isn’t any material variance in March.

- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $4,116 in March and is under budget by $47,912 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $3.7) and lower across all other (down $0.4K).
- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in March and is under budget by $7,667 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation – This area is under budget by $4,233 in March and is under budget by $3,980 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in March and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.
- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $3,882 in March and is over budget by $7,729 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower credit cards fees.
- o. Other – This area is under budget by $1,329 in March and under budget $50,449 for the year. The under-run in March is not specific to any one project.
- p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,142 in March and is unfavorable to budget by $70,797 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $4,669 in March and is under budget by $165,128 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Affiliate Leader Training (down $3.4K), lower Corporate Relations (down $5.6K), lower Research (down $1.6K), lower Quality Management (down $2.5K), lower Nutrition Services (down $4.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.7K). This is offset by the timing of higher Board expenses (up $13.1K).
- r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $7,427 in March and is under budget by $23,231 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower legal expenses. However, the expenses for the Kraft legal support has not yet been included. This may result in over-runs in legal expenses in April and May.
- s. Printing – This area is under budget by $538 in March and is over budget by $13,943 for the year. The under-run in March is across all areas of the business.

Overall, not a good month for the Academy. I will stop here. Hopefully, this will help provide to you a overall variance for the Academy. If you break it down; Research accounted for $316,000 of the total revenue under-run; $122,600 of the total expense under-run and $193,000 in the operating deficit variance. If this was pulled out of the equation, the Academy would have performed better than the operational for the month of March. I know the Research team is working diligently to increase revenue and reduce expenses to offset the shortfalls.

I see the markets have turned a little. I generally expect this around lunch time. So, it may bounce back. We will keep watching in the hope that it does. If you have any questions, please let me know. We will start the meeting on Wednesday at 8:10. We will provide a hot breakfast for all.

> On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $2,131,735 through March. This is $212,844 smaller (better) than the budget. So, even after a bad March, the Academy is still beating the overall Operating Deficit budget. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.3M in income. This is $175.8K higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $829,950. This is $388,679 smaller (better) than the budget. I am still optimistic that the Academy will achieve the FY15 operating deficit budget.

Paul, Thanks so much for letting me know. I am in DC and have very limited access to respond to email. I can read it, but cannot respond easily. Mary Pat came to my presentation and we talked about Lou's death. She said that Pat had a very hard time a weekend ago. I cannot even imagine how hard this is.

All,

Hopefully, all of you have looked at the information posted to the portal last week. I know it is a great deal of information. I look forward to your questions and comments. On a sad note; We were informed that Pat's husband, Lou, passed away this morning. I know Pat has been very appreciative of everyone's thoughts, prayers and support throughout this difficult period. We don't have any information at this point. As soon as we do, we will pass it along. Since all of us have known Pat a long time, I know we would want to pay our respects if given the opportunity. So, if the Committee meeting coincides with any arrangements, we could alter our agenda if it is the wish of the Committee. Again, as soon as we have the information, I will pass it along.

Now onto the financial results.

I. February Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary February results.

II. Investments

The investment market continues to fluctuate. In February, the combined portfolios lost approximately $142,700. This brought the total FY15 investment returns to nearly $3,611,000. This is still very strong and nearly $1,241,000 above the budget. So far, through April, the combined portfolios have gained $1,130,000. The markets are up again this morning. So, with the month ending on Thursday, it looks promising that April will be another strong month for the investment returns.

III. Academy preliminary March Financials (A10)

The Academy did not have a good month in March. The explanation is well known at this point; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $170,272. This was $182,856 higher (worse) than the budget. Considering the investment losses for the month of $31.4K, the Academy had a Net deficit of $201,652. This was $326,831 higher (worse) than the budget. Not a good month.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $2,131,735 through March. This is $212,844 smaller (better) than the budget. So, even after a bad March, the Academy is still beating the overall Operating Deficit budget. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.3M in income. This is $175.8K higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $829,950. This is $388,679 smaller (better) than the budget. I am still optimistic that the Academy will achieve the FY15 operating deficit budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $1,046 in March and is over budget by $865 for the year. The over-run in March is being driven by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $7.8K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $6.8K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $8,890 in March and is under budget by $438,720 for the year. The under-run March is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.

c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $33,749 in March and is under budget by $120,910 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $14.9K), lower Journal (down $4.3K), lower List Rental (down $12.8K), and lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), offset by higher Traditional Publications (up $2.0K) and higher across all other (up $0.8K).

d. Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $49,582 in March and is under budget by $312,898 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $8.5K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.0K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).

e. Advertising - This area is over budget by $7,411 in March and under budget by $1,285 for the year. The over-run in March is entirely due to advertising revenue not recognized for the FNCE program book. Accounting discovered this oversight in March and the revenue was recorded.

f. All grants - This area is under budget by $296,836 in March and is under budget by $319,591 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research (down $272.5K), Guides for Practice (down $10.0K), lower Abbott Malnutrition (down $13.9K) and lower ConAgra (down $3.2K) and other (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Carry the Flame project (up $4.8K).

g. Sponsorships - This area is under budget by $23,905 in March and is under budget by $74,384 for the year. The under-run in March is higher than in February. Since the Kraft agreement was canceled, money anticipated for the remainder of the year had to be removed. This reflects a portion of the shortfall due to Kraft and will continue for April and May.

h. Other - This area was under budget by $10,259 in March and is over budget by $89,737 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program (down $5.2K), lower Journal (down $8.1K) and lower Brand Promise (down $3.0K). This is offset by higher Traditional Publications licensing (up $4.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.9K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel - This area is under budget by $34,364 in March and is under budget by $187,017 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.
- b. Publications - This area is under budget by $848 in March and is under budget by $97,505 for the year. The under-run in March is not due to any particular program.
- c. Travel - This area is under budget by $88,806 in March and is under budget by $396,297 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research projects (down $39.7K), Lower Quality Management (down $19.3K), lower Nutrition Services (down $22.8K), lower PR and Marketing (down $7.2K), lower Affiliate Management (down $4.1K), lower administration (down $4.0K), and lower across all other (down $7.7K). This was offset by higher Public Policy (up $16.0K).
- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $84,409 in March and is under budget by $266,654 for the year. The under-run in March is being driven by lower Research (down $82.6K), lower IT/web (down $2.3K), lower Guides for Practice (down $3.0K), lower List Rental (down $1.3K), lower National Nutrition Month (down $2.0K), lower Quality Management (down $1.8K) and lower Membership retention and recruitment (down $8.1K). This is offset by higher Corporate Relations (up $6.6K) and higher Brand Promise Marketing (up $9.8K) and higher across all other (up $0.3).
- e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $12,236 in March and is under budget by $100,685 for the year. The under-run for March is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $4.7K), lower Membership Recruitment and Retention (down $6.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.8K).
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is under budget by $1,016 in March and is under budget by $17,946 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower copy supplies (down $0.7K), and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K).
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $1,263 in March and is under budget by $63,353 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower costs within our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher maintenance costs associated with work done in Chicago (up $0.4).
- h. Telephone and communications - This is under budget by $1,205 in March and is under budget by $3,969 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower telecom charges in Chicago and Washington.
- i. Commissions - This area is on Target in March and is over budget by $1,151 for the year.

Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. Even though Advertising revenue was higher in March, it was not due to Food and Nutrition Magazine. Therefore, no commissions were incurred.

j. Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $174 in March and is under budget by $51,859 for the year. There isn't any material variance in March.

k. Advertising and Promotion - This area is under budget by $4,116 in March and is under budget by $47,912 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $3.7) and lower across all other (down $0.4K).

l. Insurance - This area is under budget by $534 in March and is under budget by $7,667 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.

m. Depreciation - This area is under budget by $4,233 in March and is under budget by $3,980 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in March and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

n. Bank and trust fees - This area is under budget by $3,882 in March and is over budget by $7,729 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower credit cards fees.

o. Other - This area is under budget by $1,329 in March and under budget $50,449 for the year. The under-run in March is not specific to any one project.

p. Expense allocation - This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,142 in March and is unfavorable to budget by $70,797 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the "normal" expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $4,669 in March and is under budget by $165,128 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Affiliate Leader Training (down $3.4K), lower Corporate Relations (down $5.6K), lower Research (down $1.6K), lower Quality Management (down $2.5K), lower Nutrition Services (down $4.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.7K). This is offset by the timing of higher Board expenses (up $13.1K).

r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $7,427 in March and is under budget by $23,231 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower legal expenses. However, the expenses for the Kraft legal support has not yet been included. This may result in over-runs in legal expenses in April and May.

s. Printing - This area is under budget by $538 in March and is over budget by $13,943 for the year. The under-run in March is across all areas of the business.

Overall, not a good month for the Academy. I will stop here. Hopefully, this will help provide to you a overall variance for the Academy. If you break it down; Research accounted for $316,000 of the total revenue under-run; $122,600 of the total expense under-run and $193,000 in the operating deficit variance. If this was pulled out of the equation, the Academy would have performed better than the operational for the month of March. I know the Research team is working diligently to increase revenue and reduce expenses to offset the shortfalls.

I see the markets have turned a little. I generally expect this around lunch time. So, it may bounce back. We will keep watching in the hope that it does. If you have any questions, please let me know. We will start the meeting on Wednesday at 8:10. We will provide a hot breakfast for all.

Thank you Paul!

Elise talked to Pat yesterday and she told her that the funeral was going to be a small family-only affair. Not sure if this is still the plan.

On another note, I have briefly looked through the info on the portal. I know how thorough you are and below are some questions I will have when we meet. And please know that I realize that you have all worked countless hours on alternatives to make our budget fit our needs.

I was disappointed to see two of the options to cut back expenses were to do away with Vice-Chair orientation, as well as not having a f2f meeting for the student advisory committee.

Having just completed vice-chair orientation (Evelyn and I led this), I found it incredibly helpful to the vice chairs. With the reorganization of committees, making sure that they work with each other and do not remain working as "silos" is important. The VC orientation was a tremendously helpful kick off for this collaboration.

About the student advisory committee- I wish they could have an opportunity to meet F2F since these are our future leaders.... but I am less sad about this than the VC orientation.

Can you provide some input on other money saving ideas that have likely been talked about in the past?

Below are 2 questions I have that relate specifically to BOD expenses -

1. The BOD retreat- do we have a cost comparison of holding the retreat in Chicago to save costs, versus somewhere else? I hate to cut down on a meeting of other Academy leaders if there is anything the BOD can do to cut back on costs.

2. I realize the Academy has really great deals with area hotels for all of us who travel to Chicago often. Has there been any cost comparison between the hotels that we stay in, and perhaps a chain hotel that may offer breakfast? And I am sure this sounds like blasphemy and I may be the ONLY person who would ever consider this, but I am a penny pincher.

I paid my way last year to go to an ACEND workshop in Chicago, and I stayed at the Fairfield Inn (Marriott) and I had free breakfast, and it was within walking distance to the Academy.

This is the one where I stayed: <http://www.marriott.com/hotels/travel/chift-fairfield-inn-and-suites-chicago-downtown-river-north/>

Thanks so much for all you and your team does! I am always blown away by the thoroughness!

e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $12,236 in March and is under budget by $100,685 for the year. The under-run for March is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $4.7K), lower Membership Recruitment and Retention (down $6.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.8K).

f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $1,016 in March and is under budget by $17,946 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower copy supplies (down $0.7K), and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K).

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $1,263 in March and is under budget by $63,353 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower costs within our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher maintenance costs associated with work done in Chicago (up $0.4).

h. Telephone and communications – This is under budget by $1,205 in March and is under budget by $3,969 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower telecom charges in Chicago and Washington.

i. Commissions – This area is on Target in March and is over budget by $1,151 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. Even though Advertising revenue was higher in March, it was not due to Food and Nutrition Magazine. Therefore, no commissions were incurred.

j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $174 in March and is under budget by $51,859 for the year. There isn't any material variance in March.

k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $4,116 in March and is under budget by $47,912 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $3.7) and lower across all other (down $0.4K).

- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in March and is under budget by $7,667 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation – This area is under budget by $4,233 in March and is under budget by $3,980 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in March and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.
- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $3,882 in March and is over budget by $7,729 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower credit cards fees.
- o. Other – This area is under budget by $1,329 in March and under budget $50,449 for the year. The under-run in March is not specific to any one project.
- p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,142 in March and is unfavorable to budget by $70,797 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $4,669 in March and is under budget by $165,128 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Affiliate Leader Training (down $3.4K), lower Corporate Relations (down $5.6K), lower Research (down $1.6K), lower Quality Management (down $2.5K), lower Nutrition Services (down $4.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.7K). This is offset by the timing of higher Board expenses (up $13.1K).
- r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $7,427 in March and is under budget by $23,231 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower legal expenses. However, the expenses for the Kraft legal support has not yet been included. This may result in over-runs in legal expenses in April and May.
- s. Printing – This area is under budget by $538 in March and is over budget by $13,943 for the year. The under-run in March is across all areas of the business.

Overall, not a good month for the Academy. I will stop here. Hopefully, this will help provide to you a overall variance for the Academy. If you break it down; Research accounted for $316,000 of the total revenue under-run; $122,600 of the total expense under-run and $193,000 in the operating deficit variance. If this was pulled out of the equation, the Academy would have performed better than the operational for the month of March. I know the Research team is working diligently to increase revenue and reduce expenses to offset the shortfalls.

I see the markets have turned a little. I generally expect this around lunch time. So, it may bounce back. We will keep watching in the hope that it does. If you have any questions, please let me know. We will start the meeting on Wednesday at 8:10. We will provide a hot breakfast for all.

All,

Hopefully, all of you have looked at the information posted to the portal last week. I know it is a great deal of information. I look forward to your questions and comments. On a sad note; We were informed that Pat's husband, Lou, passed away this morning. I know Pat has been very appreciative of everyone's thoughts, prayers and support throughout this difficult period. We don't have any information at this point. As soon as we do, we will pass it along. Since all of us have known Pat a long time, I know we would want to pay our respects if given the opportunity. So, if the Committee meeting coincides with any arrangements, we could alter our agenda if it is the wish of the Committee. Again, as soon as we have the information, I will pass it along.

Now onto the financial results.

I. February Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary February results.

II. Investments

The investment market continues to fluctuate. In February, the combined portfolios lost approximately $142,700. This brought the total FY15 investment returns to nearly $3,611,000. This is still very strong and nearly $1,241,000 above the budget. So far, through April, the combined portfolios have gained $1,130,000. The markets are up again this morning. So, with the month ending on Thursday, it looks promising that April will be another strong month for the investment returns.

III. Academy preliminary March Financials (A10)

The Academy did not have a good month in March. The explanation is well known at this point; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $170,272. This was $182,856 higher (worse) than the budget. Considering the investment losses for the month of $31.4K, the Academy had a Net deficit of $201,652. This was $326,831 higher (worse) than the budget. Not a good month.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $2,131,735 through March. This is $212,844 smaller (better) than the budget. So, even after a bad March, the Academy is still beating the overall Operating Deficit budget. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.3M in income. This is $175.8K higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $829,950. This is $388,679 smaller (better) than the budget. I am still optimistic that the Academy will achieve the FY15 operating deficit budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $1,046 in March and is over budget by $865 for the year. The over-run in March is being driven by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $7.8K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $6.8K).
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $8,890 in March and is under budget by $438,720 for the year. The under-run March is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.

- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $33,749 in March and is under budget by $120,910 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower National Nutrition Month (down $14.9K), lower Journal (down $4.3K), lower List Rental (down $12.8K), and lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), offset by higher Traditional Publications (up $2.0K) and higher across all other (up $0.8K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $49,582 in March and is under budget by $312,898 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $8.5K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.0K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).
- e. Advertising – This area is over budget by $7,411 in March and under budget by $1,285 for the year. The over-run in March is entirely due to advertising revenue not recognized for the FNCE program book. Accounting discovered this oversight in March and the revenue was recorded.
- f. All grants - This area is under budget by $296,836 in March and is under budget by $319,591 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research (down $272.5K), Guides for Practice (down $10.0K), lower Abbott Malnutrition (down $13.9K) and lower ConAgra (down $3.2K) and other (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Carry the Flame project (up $4.8K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $23,905 in March and is under budget by $74,384 for the year. The under-run in March is higher than in February. Since the Kraft agreement was canceled, money anticipated for the remainder of the year had to be removed. This reflects a portion of the shortfall due to Kraft and will continue for April and May.
- h. Other – This area was under budget by $10,259 in March and is over budget by $89,737 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program (down $5.2K), lower Journal (down $8.1K) and lower Brand Promise (down $3.0K). This is offset by higher Traditional Publications licensing (up $4.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.9K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $34,364 in March and is under budget by $187,017 for the year. The under-run in March is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

- b. Publications – This area is under budget by $848 in March and is under budget by $97,505 for the year. The under-run in March is not due to any particular program.
- c. Travel – This area is under budget by $88,806 in March and is under budget by $396,297 for the year. The under-run in March is primarily due to lower Research projects (down $39.7K), Lower Quality Management (down $19.3K), lower Nutrition Services (down $22.8K), lower PR and Marketing (down $7.2K), lower Affiliate Management (down $4.1K), lower administration (down $4.0K), and lower across all other (down $7.7K). This was offset by higher Public Policy (up $16.0K).
- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $84,409 in March and is under budget by $266,654 for the year. The under-run in March is being driven by lower Research (down $82.6K), lower IT/web (down $2.3K), lower Guides for Practice (down $3.0K), lower List Rental (down $1.3K), lower National Nutrition Month (down $2.0K), lower Quality Management (down $1.8K) and lower Membership retention and recruitment (down $8.1K). This is offset by higher Corporate Relations (up $6.6K) and higher Brand Promise Marketing (up $9.8K) and higher across all other (up $0.3).
- e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $12,236 in March and is under budget by $100,685 for the year. The under-run for March is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $4.7K), lower Membership Recruitment and Retention (down $6.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.8K).
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $1,016 in March and is under budget by $17,946 for the year. The under-run in March is due to lower copy supplies (down $0.7K), and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K).
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $1,263 in March and is under budget by $63,353 for the year. As a follow-up to our conversation at the joint board meeting, we are providing you with one very concise talking point to be used regarding the Monsanto grant as well as any other new Academy sponsorships and/or Foundation grants. This is based on a recommendation from our communications consultant Levick . They are discouraging us from referring to any company by name and encouraging us to respond, if asked, with the following statement.

All new Academy industry sponsorships and Foundation grants are on hold pending the sponsorship discussion taking place at the HOD in May and the follow up recommendations from the Academy Sponsorship Task Force.

This statement supports our promise to the membership to give them a voice before we move forward. We have nothing to hide. We simply have nothing to report at this time. Thank you.

>>Hi Pat,

>>I wanted to share my thoughts related to the Kraft issue that many >>members have been posting about. I have not signed the petition to >>remove the Kids Eat Right logo and don't plan to. With my experience >>in working with over 3000 overweight and obese children and their >>families, 50-75% of which are on Medicaid and are of low socioeconomic >>status, I can see the value of using Kraft cheese packets as a >>billboard per se to advertise the Kids Eat Right program. None of my >>patients have asked about sponsorship or this logo, and I don't see >>any of them questioning the Academy because of it. I hope they see the >>logo and visit the website to find more information. If this move >>helps to share the phenomenal nutrition information available on the >>KER website, then I see it as a success.

>>I'm a Kids Eat Right volunteer and a huge supporter of the program.
>>While I don't 100% agree with this move, I don't necessarily disagree >>with it either. I know there are very intelligent people making >>decisions in the Academy and Academy Foundation and I 100% trust that >>they have our members' best interest at heart. I fear that the low >>turnout with voting in Academy elections and running for leadership >>positions are examples of our members not exercising their voices and >>sharing their insights and wisdom with our leaders until they disagree >>with something. The level of hostility and disrespect of some members >>related to this issue has been very frustrating to read and has caused >>me to not want to respond on the EML for fear of attack by some >>members. I worry that others may feel the same, and therefore, their >>voices may not be heard.

>>I feel we need to be working with industry partners to ensure that >>healthier options are available to consumers and that nutrition >>messages are communicated accurately. Not working with them only hurts >>us and our patients. In my opinion, we need to build collaborations >>and provide clear communication about the purpose, process, and >>proceeds of these. I fear that members won't read this communication >>and will jump on opportunities to criticize once again, just like the >>media does. I think we are our best advocates.

>>I don't believe this 'Kraft cheese debacle' has harmed my credibility.

>>I feel my credibility isn't based primarily in what the media says, >>but rather in how I help patients to eat healthier and lead healthier >>lives. I feel that members jumping on the bandwagon and criticizing >>the Academy without having full information only hurts our profession >>further. I wish I had an easy answer to this, but I don't. I wanted to >>make sure to share my thoughts in the appropriate way that will lead

With my experience in working with over 3000 overweight and obese children and their families, 50-75% of which are on Medicaid and are of low socioeconomic status, I can see the value of using Kraft cheese packets as a billboard per se to advertise the Kids Eat Right program. None of my patients have asked about sponsorship or this logo, and I don't see any of them questioning the Academy because of it. I hope they see the logo and visit the website to find more information. If this move helps to share the phenomenal nutrition information available on the KER website, then I see it as a success.

I know there are very intelligent people making decisions in the Academy and Academy Foundation and I 100% trust that they have our members' best interest at heart. I fear that the low turnout with voting in Academy elections and running for leadership positions are examples of our members not exercising their voices and sharing their insights and wisdom with our leaders until they disagree with something. The level of hostility and disrespect of some members related to this issue has been very frustrating to read and has caused me to not want to respond on the EML for fear of attack by some members. I worry that others may feel the same, and therefore, their voices may not be heard.

available to consumers and that nutrition messages are communicated accurately. Not working with them only hurts us and our patients. In my opinion, we need to build collaborations and provide clear communication about the purpose, process, and proceeds of these. I fear that members won't read this communication and will jump on opportunities to criticize once again, just like the media does. I think we are our best advocates. I don't believe this 'Kraft cheese debacle' has harmed my credibility. I feel my credibility isn't based primarily in what the media says, but rather in how I help patients to eat healthier and lead healthier lives. I feel that members jumping on the bandwagon and criticizing the Academy without having full information only hurts our profession further. I wish I had an easy answer to this, but I don't. I wanted to make sure to share my thoughts in the appropriate way that will lead to action, and I appreciate your work as our WM DPG Delegate to share our voices.

Re: 2015 Corporate Award Committee

One of my responsibilities as Foundation Chair is to appoint a committee to select the 2015 recipient of the prestigious Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation Corporate Award. The Corporate Award is given to an organization that has demonstrated meaningful support to Foundation programs and projects. The award is presented each year at the Foundation's Gala during the Academy's Food & Nutrition Conference & Expo.

I am requesting your service on this committee. As a committee member, you are responsible for reviewing four prospective organizations and participating in a discussion during a conference call to select a candidate for approval by the Academy Foundation Board of Directors. Prior to the conference call you will receive a copy of the Corporate Award criteria and prospect list.

Please let Amy Donatell know if you are able to serve on the committee and which potential conference call dates will work for you by Thursday, March 19th. Amy can be reached at adonatell@eatright.org<mailto:adonatell@eatright.org>. If you have any questions or need additional information, please contact Amy at 800-877-1600 x4767. Thank you for your consideration.

One of my responsibilities as Foundation Chair is to appoint a committee to select the 2015 recipient of the prestigious Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation Corporate Award. The Corporate Award is given to an organization that has demonstrated meaningful support to Foundation programs and projects. The award is presented each year at the Foundation's Gala during the Academy's Food & Nutrition Conference & Expo.

I am requesting your service on this committee. As a committee member, you are responsible for reviewing four prospective organizations and participating in a discussion during a conference call to select a candidate for approval by the Academy Foundation Board of Directors. Prior to the conference call you will receive a copy of the Corporate Award criteria and prospect list.

Please let Amy Donatell know if you are able to serve on the committee and which potential conference call dates will work for you by Thursday, March 19th. Amy can be reached at adonatell@eatright.org. If you have any questions or need additional information, please contact Amy at 800-877-1600 x4767. Thank you for your consideration.

All,

We have posted all of the information to the Academy portal. We are still “tweaking” the FY16 budget package and it may change. That being said, I would not expect the overall financials to change at this time. The “tweaking” would be more around the narrative and potential typos!! Yes, even with this being reviewed 9 million times, there could be a typo. In any event, there is information in the FY16 budget package, albeit high level, that is very sensitive. It could generate a great deal of concern with the staff. Therefore, I ask that you consider this confidential and not to be discussed outside of the Finance and Audit Committee. Once it goes to the Board, we can expand that to the Board of Directors as well.

The list of the documents that have been loaded to the portal are as follows;

1. Agenda
2. Minutes for the March meeting.
3. Insurance overview from Rob Wessel
4. Investment overview from Al Bryant.
5. FY15 Audit and tax plan provided by Plante Moran

6. Preliminary March Financials.
7. FY17 Dues increase proposal.
8. FY16 budget package.

You can access the portal at <https://eal.webauthor.com>. If you need any assistance, please let me know. Evelyn, the FY16 budget information did not get into the package sent to your home today. It will go out to you tomorrow.

If there is anything that anyone would like to make sure we discuss, but, is not listed, please let me know.

Paul

Paul, I think all of us are pretty aware of what is going on with Pat. You will not get any argument from me on what we have to do to adjust for what all she is dealing with. It is the least we can do on our end. Just so you know I will be in DC Sunday through Tuesday talking to the House of Representatives about our Farm to School Program. I am taking a vacation day tomorrow because of that golf tournament that my son plays in with my husband. We have his in laws coming in for the tournament also. That is why I cannot ever have our F2F meeting for FAC this week. It is a fun weekend, but not good timing with everything else going on. FAC will roll with whatever we have to roll with.

You do what you have to do and I will support you 100%.

This is a very well done article summarizing the issues with science and pseudo-science regarding nutrition. It mentions both Kraft and Monsanto and I thought people may want to read it before today's call if they can.

Thanks.

Good morning. Thank you for participating in yesterday's call. As discussed we have some changes in dates for upcoming Board Meetings. An updated calendar is attached.

A significant amount of time for the in person meeting will be dedicated to a facilitated strategic planning discussion for the Foundation, particularly around the Second Century Concept. Much of the concept survey testing and fundraising capacity research that will take place over the summer will help inform this dialogue. Therefore, we are rescheduling the June Board Meeting to a three hour call on June 18th and scheduling the face to face in September. This will allow us to do this prep work, including surveys and also identify potential Board Members for participation in the face to face meeting.

Please also fill out the following doodle poll <http://doodle.com/svryzw64ge4y4p4p> that was previously sent to let us know your availability for the Foundation Board Call to approve the FY16 Budget. Your response by April 27th is appreciated. Please let me know if there is additional information I can provide. Thank you for your flexibility.

>>>Susan Burns <Sburns@eatright.org> 4/23/2015 8:59 AM >>>

Good morning. Thank you for participating in yesterday's call. As discussed we have some changes in dates for upcoming Board Meetings. An updated calendar is attached.

A significant amount of time for the in person meeting will be dedicated to a facilitated strategic planning discussion for the Foundation, particularly around the Second Century Concept. Much of the concept survey testing and fundraising capacity research that will take place over the summer will help inform this dialogue. Therefore, we are rescheduling the June Board Meeting to a three hour call on June 18th and scheduling the face to face in September. This will allow us to do this prep work, including surveys and also identify potential Board Members for participation in the face to face meeting.

Please also fill out the following doodle poll <http://doodle.com/svryzw64ge4y4p4p> that was previously sent to let us know your availability for the Foundation Board Call to approve the FY16 Budget. Your response by April 27th is appreciated. Please let me know if there is additional information I can provide. Thank you for your flexibility.

Hello Superstar Reviewers!

Thank you so much for your contributions to this morning's call, resulting in the successful selection of 50 deserving Champions for Healthy Kids grantees! Attached are three documents for your information: project descriptions, grantee list, and grantee demographics.

For those unable to remain on the call for the 50th applicant decision, the group decided to approve the Minnesota Spark! project and place the Wisconsin Growing Green Thumbs project as the #1 alternate. If we happen to need more alternates than one, we will reach out to you at a later date.

All applicants have been notified through our online grants management system and public announcements will begin May 4, where the grantees will be listed in the Kids Eat Right Monday Message and posted to the webpage www.eatrightfoundation.org/foundation/championgrants. We ask that all public promotions begin May 4.

As always, we like to improve each year and welcome your suggestions about the review process and final selection call. I made note of a few comments mentioned on the call (double the scoring system, provide applications we will discuss on the call to reviewers in advance and ask reviewers to be prepared to discuss the applications they reviewed, develop a system to apply weights to identified criteria, and make it extra clear to applicants that weight treatment programs are not eligible.) Please email me with any other suggestions you have.

We can't thank you enough for the time and expertise you have devoted to this project! The hundreds of applicants truly deserve the best system of reviews and I think we can all feel good about the decisions made. And of course, huge thanks to the General Mills Foundation for awarding $1 million to programs in 23 states, reaching 57,652 children and youth!

Thank you!

Donna,

In case it comes up. The financials for the foundation have softened a little in March. Net income dropped to $1,900,622 from the $2,133,764 in February.

Reserves at the end of March are $24.3 million. Down a little.

Finally, investments have risen $300,000 in April through yesterday and today the markets are up.

So, with the bequest of $250,000 the news looks like it will continue to improve over what you see here in February.

Hi Paul,

I've made a reservation under your name at Greek Islands for 12 people @ 6:30 p.m. on Wed. 4/29/15. We all agreed it's our favorite Greek restaurant in Greektown... they also have a 2nd location in Lombard that I frequent a couple of times a year. No special room, no courses, just order off the menu (prices are very reasonable).

Paul, I like all, but we have never done Greek. Mary mentioned that we are kind of in a Greek neighborhood, so that might be fun.

Chiraq always does a great job in this arena, so I will support whatever he decides. I just didn't want to do a fixed 5 course menu that would cost a fortune.

I have Chirag looking into it. There are some moderately priced restaurants not far from the hotel. Do you have preference; Italian, Greek, etc. Let me know and we will get the options.

Paul, I have talked with Mary and we both agree that she does not need to be doing dinner at her house. Although, I know we would have enjoyed it! I really think the best option would be for us to schedule a dinner meal for all of us at some reasonably priced restaurant. We can let the committee know about the option to go to the lakefront events. We can make them feel comfortable in attending that event if that is their choice. Mary has offered to try and come up with some restaurant ideas and get back in touch with you. There are 9 on the committee, and depending on who on the Headquarters team wanted to come, it could be as many as 12. I think with those numbers we could still be accommodated without having to do a fixed expensive menu. I really like the networking time at dinners we all do as a committee, but if people want to do something else then they would be free to do just that. I always worry that someone would be left out, if we just all do our own thing. That is probably a female mentality thing, and I will just go ahead and own up to it! Thanks for starting the conversation

Donna,

Given the demand on Mary, I would recommend you don't go her place. I can only imagine what it would be like for her to work like crazy, pulled in multiple directions and then have people over to her home. Too exhausting. She is kind to offer, but, I would not want to do this to her. It would be your call. If you like, I can reach out to her.

That being said, I can find a restaurant for the FAC or we can leave it open. It will be crazy in Chicago since the NFL draft begins on the 30th. I think the FAC might get a kick out of the activities that are planned over by the lake front. So, my recommendation would be to let people go and have fun; especially if the weather is nice.

Let me know.

Subject: FAC meeting next week

Hello Donna, Kay and Paul,

Hope you all are well-hard to believe this meeting is right around the corner!

I need to mention a couple of conflicts, only one of which affects (for a short time) my participation in the actual FAC meeting.

On Wed 4/29 from 9-11am, a call is scheduled about a key program that I'm involved with at work. I don't believe that I'll need to be present for the entire call but will need to be on for at least the first hour. I had no control over the timing of the call, which includes about 10 others (many with impossible schedules). So I will step out of the room during this time and return ASAP.

Wed 4/29 from 6-7 pm, I'll also need to be on a call with an Australian group we're working with. For them it'll be 9 am!

I still would be glad to host a casual meal for the FAC at my place, it would just need to start after 7 pm. There are plenty of local places that would be glad to cater in some tasty items.

Sorry to have to make a few waves with this last meeting.

Mary

ON THE PULSE OF PUBLIC POLICY

Attend PPW 2015: World's Largest Food and Nutrition Advocacy Summit

The Academy will host its annual Public Policy Workshop June 7 to 9 in Washington, D.C. Nearly 500 Academy members will attend the world's largest food and nutrition advocacy summit. PPW offers top nutrition leadership and communications training, professional connections with nutrition experts and face-to-face conversations with members of Congress. Academy Supports Improved Nutrition Standards for Child Care Facilities

The Academy offered its general support to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service for proposed revisions to the Child and Adult Care Food Program, which provides funding for low-income and at-risk infants and children and certain disabled adults. The new nutrition standards ensure meals more closely align with National School Lunch Program and WIC standards, balancing consistency with recognition of the need to keep costs low. The Academy made several recommendations for improving the standards and implementing best practices to assist providers and program operators in meeting the new rules.

New Mexico Licensure Renewal Signed Into Law

Gov. Susana Martinez signed into law SB 318, renewing New Mexico's process for licensing dietitians and nutritionists. The bill, sponsored by Sen. Carlos Cisneros, ensures consumers in New Mexico will be protected and keeps high standards for licensure. Congratulations to the New Mexico Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics on their success.

'Doc Fix': Congress Averts 21 Percent Medicare Pay Cut

In a historic act on April 14, Congress passed the Medicare Access and CHIP Reauthorization Act of 2015, eliminating the negative update for the Medicare Physician Fee Schedule of 21 percent that was scheduled to take effect April 1. President Obama signed the legislation into law on April 16, and the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services will immediately begin work to implement its provisions. Learn more about the "doc fix." An upcoming issue of the Academy's MNT Provider newsletter will contain a complete analysis of this legislation and its impact on registered dietitian nutritionists. Thanks to all Academy members who responded to the Action Alert urging your senators to pass this bill.

New Report Examines Public Health Funding in the States

Trust for America's Health has released its 10th annual report, "Investing in America's Health: A State-by-State Look at Public Health Funding and Key Health Facts." The report examines public health funding and key health facts for each state. Such reports are valuable when speaking with legislators and other policymakers, to provide them with detailed information about their constituencies.

Updated Feeding America Study on Mapping the Meal Gap

What does food insecurity and hunger in your county look like? Feeding America released its annual "Map the Meal Gap" report, containing state, county and congressional district data on overall and child food insecurity rates. The report also includes data on food cost variation by county and congressional district and the percent of food-insecure populations who are likely eligible for federal nutrition programs. Reports like this are helpful when speaking with legislators and policymakers.

Surgeon General Headlines Forum on Strategies to Combat Obesity

The Healthcare Leadership Forum, which partners with the Academy on the Diabetes Advocacy Alliance, hosted a Capitol Hill forum to discuss strategies for curbing obesity and its related health outcomes. U.S. Surgeon General Vivek Murthy, MD, spoke on the importance of "community involvement and teaching sound nutrition and lifestyle choices at an early age."

House Examines Nutrition Assistance Programs

The House of Representatives held simultaneous hearings examining the impact of nutrition assistance programs, which included SNAP, school meals, summer foodservice program and farm to school, among others. The House Education and the Workforce Committee looked at how effectively child nutrition programs are delivering healthy foods to children and the impact on health and educational attainment. The House Agriculture Committee examined the role of the charitable sector - primarily food banks and pantries - and its relationships with SNAP in providing enough nutritious food to hungry Americans. The Academy advocates for policies that promote strong nutrition programs that effectively deliver healthy food to those who are food-insecure and hungry.

Improvements in School Lunches Result in Healthier Options for Millions of Children

A research brief from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation finds that elementary school lunches have been consistently improving since 2006-2007, with more schools offering healthier items like whole grains, vegetables, and fruits, and fewer offering items like french fries and higher-fat milks or pizza. The brief also shows all elementary schools are giving students more, and a greater variety of, fruits and vegetables. The Academy continues to support our members implementing these changes in schools.

EatrightPRO.org and Mozilla's New Firefox Release

Some users of Mozillas Firefox web browser may have experienced recent difficulties logging in to the Academy's member website eatrightPRO.org. This is the result of a newly released version of Firefox that created security vulnerabilities. The current versions of Google Chrome, Internet Explorer and Safari are not experiencing these issues, and members using the newest version of Firefox are encouraged to use one of these alternatives while development of a resolution is underway.

New Video Message from Academy President

April is National Preceptor Month - the annual opportunity to raise awareness of the need for preceptors, and to recognize and thank practitioners who are willing to serve. A new video message from Academy President Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD, FAND, contains information about becoming a preceptor; the Academy's Council on Future Practice's three-year visioning process; and news about planning for the celebration of the Academy's 100th anniversary in 2017.

Recognize Importance of Preceptors

While showing your appreciation for preceptors, make a difference today for tomorrow's practitioners: Sign up for the Academy's Find-a-Preceptor database.

Promote Academy Membership and Win

Help the Academy grow by participating in the 2015 Promoter Program: Share the value of membership with friends and colleagues. The more new members you recruit by September 1, the better your chances are of winning a free Academy membership for 2016-2017. To get Promoter credit, make sure your recruit enters your name in the "Did someone recommend Academy membership to you?" section of the 2015-2016 membership application. Email membership@eatright.org with questions.

Membership Renewal Now Open

Now is the time to renew your Academy membership and remain a part of the world's largest organization of food and nutrition experts. Renewing your 2015-2016 membership is easy: You can renew online, by phone at 800/877-1600, ext. 5000 (Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Central Time) or by mail with the application materials you were recently mailed.

Get Connected with Academy's eMentoring Program

Join the Academy's award-winning eMentoring program to enhance your professional connections, gain and share knowledge and earn free continuing professional education. Free and open to all members, eMentoring matches you with a mentor or mentee who best fits your areas of interest, communication style and availability. As a mentor, use this opportunity to give back to the profession and enrich your network. As a mentee, connect with an experienced professional and take your career to the next level.

Legislative Messages for PPW Webinar

Join the PPW messaging webinar on Tuesday, April 21 from 2:00 - 3:00 p.m. (Eastern Time) to hear the Academy Policy Initiatives and Advocacy team share the three key legislative priorities for PPW 2015: Treat and Reduce Obesity Act, Older Americans Act, Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act

The PPC/PAL or alternate PPC/PAL registration scholarship recipients are expected to participate in the live event or listen to the recording.

Congress Averts 21% Medicare Pay Cut

In a historic act, in the evening hours of April 14, 2015, Congress passed the Medicare Access and CHIP Reauthorization Act of 2015; the President is expected to sign it shortly. This law eliminates the negative update of 21% scheduled to take effect as of April 1, 2015, for the Medicare Physician Fee Schedule. CMS will immediately begin work to implement these provisions.

What does this mean for RDNs who are Medicare providers?

For the present moment, reimbursement rates for Medicare Part B MNT and DSMT services will continue at the pre-April level. If you have already submitted claims to the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) for MNT or DSMT services on or after April 1, 2015, you do not have to do anything. CMS has been holding these claims for 10-business days in an effort to minimize financial effects on providers as they were waiting to see if this legislation was passed. While the Medicare Administrative Contractors (MACs) have been instructed to implement the rates in the legislation, a small volume of claims will be processed at the reduced rate based on the negative update amount. The MACs will automatically reprocess claims paid at the reduced rate with the new payment rate. On July 1, payment rates will increase by 0.5%, followed annually by the same percentage increase through 2019.

The rest of the good news.

In addition to reconfiguring Medicare payments for the next decade-plus, the bill includes two years of funding for the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) and an additional $7.2 billion for community health centers over the next two years.

Stay tuned to the MNT Provider newsletter for a more complete analysis of this historic legislation and its impact on RDNs working in a wide variety of practice settings. Thanks to all Academy members who responded to the Action Alert urging your Senators to pass this bill.

The House Takes a Special Interest in Nutrition

The House held simultaneous hearings examining the impact of nutrition assistance programs, which included SNAP, school meals, summer food service program and farm to school, among others. These hearings were really interesting, as experts from food security and hunger, as well as administrators of federal nutrition assistance program testified before two House committees.

The House Education and the Workforce Committee looked at how effectively child nutrition programs are delivering and healthy foods to children and the impact on health and educational attainment. A recap of the hearing can be found here (<http://www.edworkforce.house.gov/calendar/eventsingle.aspx?EventID=398630>).

One building over, the House Agriculture Committee was examining the role of the charitable sector, primarily food banks and pantries, and its intersection with SNAP to provide enough nutritious food to hungry Americans A recap can be found here (<https://agriculture.house.gov/hearing/full-committee-agriculture-%E2%80%93-public-hearing-snap>).

Ending Last Week on a Good Note.a very busy week on Capitol Hill

Congresswoman Michelle Lujan Grisham called to tell us how impressed she is with the Academy's Legislative and Public Policy Committee (LPPC) member Patty Keane's expertise and knowledge on child nutrition and food security. As a research scientist, Patty translates her work into understandable findings to help show nutrition gaps for children. She commended the Academy on giving our members the confidence to provide Congress with the science and evidence to help craft quality legislation.

A very important Hill hearing on schools meals was the platform for well-deserved kudos for Academy Board of Directors member Donna Martin on her very successful Farm to School program. Studies have shown the effectiveness of this program introducing school age children to healthy foods to develop lifelong habits. Enjoy the recognition here (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ca58C-aEtbg&feature=youtu.be>). Forward to 2:14 minutes into the video to hear the start about Donna's program.

Close the Deal

Meeting with Congress is just one step in a longer process of engagement and relationship building. As you know, more opportunities may come for interaction (and consultation) between constituent groups and Members of Congress. And to be ready, you must have a well thought-out plan to optimize them.

Ask yourself: Is following-up with Members of Congress after a meeting a regular practice amongst your membership? Does your membership consistently provide information on your topic for staffers to refer to? Are you aware of the Congressional calendars, hearing schedules, and committee votes, in order to communicate in a timely manner?

Data obtained by the Congressional Management Foundation (CMF) shows that the answers to these questions for many constituent groups is, "No." But, there's always work to be done after visiting the Hill. CMF says, if you want to successfully engage with Congress, you must CLOSE THE DEAL.

Here's what congressional staffers had to say..

In Fall 2014, CMF used an online survey to ask House and Senate legislative directors (LDs) and legislative aides (LAs) for feedback on: 1) citizen advocate meetings; 2) materials to leave behind; and 3) best practices for meeting follow-up. To give us more insight into relations with constituent groups after meetings, we asked several questions.

One of them was, " Do constituents (or their organization) generally follow up with you in a helpful and timely manner?"

The survey results showed that 40% of the staffers answered, "No," and 38.5% answered, "Yes, timely but not helpful." These points were further explained in the comment section. Staff shared that some groups don't contact them back at all, but when constituents do, the office is more likely to answer an ask.

Following up can be the difference between a "yay" or "nay" vote, and can be a quick act to do. Consistently providing information with staff in a timely manner can also make you or your constituents a great resource on the Hill. So, after you depart the steps of the Capitol, remember to follow-up. Remember to CLOSE THE DEAL.

We hope you will begin the process of scheduling your meetings with your Senators and Representatives. If you are having difficulty getting appointments or have questions, please let me know.

We are requesting that once you have set the meetings and identified who will be the lead person for each meeting that you forward a copy of your affiliate Hill Day schedule to Teresa (<mailto:tnece@eatright.org>). We would like a copy of by Friday May 22, 2015. Watch for more information as we get closer to PPW.

We will posted two sample Hill Day meeting schedule forms on the COIs (<http://pia.webauthor.com/>) , one is an Excel file and the other is a Word document. The samples will be available in the PPW2015 folder and the Tool Kit subfolder later this week. Each sample has an example meeting shown. You may edit, add additional items or change the documents to meet your affiliate needs. For example, you may want add a column to identify the name of the staff member(s) you will be meeting with or you may wish to identify legislation that the member of Congress has supported in the past. If you need assistance, please let me know.

Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee Scientific Report

As you are aware, the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee (DGAC) Scientific Report, upon which the 2015 Dietary Guidelines for Americans will be based, was released and is open for comment. The Academy has been working to examine numerous aspects of the report and welcomes input from our members through a process by which DPGs (through their DPG Policy and Advocacy Leader, or PAL) collect and compile responses to send to Regulatory Affairs for drafting. We are also coordinating an effort for Academy members to individually comment on the Scientific Report to USDA.

If your DPG is interested in contributing to the Academy's formal comments, please contact Pepin Tuma, Director of Regulatory Affairs. Please note that regulatory comments are time sensitive. Comments are due to Pepin by Wednesday, April 29.

Below are a number of questions from each chapter of the Scientific Report. The page and line numbers correspond to the document here (<http://www.health.gov/dietaryguidelines/2015-scientific-report/PDFs/Scientific-Report-of-the-2015-Dietary-Guidelines-Advisory-Committee.pdf>).

When answering the yes/no questions, please offer the rationale/reason for your response. It is also important to provide cited support whenever possible in your answers to enable the Academy to use your responses most effectively. Please note that although reviewers had many questions reviewers when reading the report, it is not important that you specifically answer any or all of them. Combined, the questions try to arrive at answers to the following questions: Do you support the approach taken by the DGAC, specifically with regard to looking at dietary patterns and food categories actually eaten, rather than focusing on specific nutrients? Why or why not? If you could determine the charge and scope of the DGAC (unencumbered by existing limitations), what would be included? To what extent is the question of where Americans choose to eat relevant to the Dietary Guidelines? The DGAC examined food on a broader scale than previous DGACs, going from production to processing to purchase to consumption; is this an appropriate scope for the DGAC? Is the research methodology sound? Is their interpretation of the research sound?

Academy Work Group Child Nutrition Reauthorization (CNR) Recommendations

Child Nutrition Reauthorization (CNR) is a broad piece of legislation that includes school meals, farm to school, child and adult care food program, fresh fruit and vegetable program, summer food service program, and WIC. These programs employ many members who are leaders in this area, and impact millions of children on a daily basis.

The Academy's CNR workgroup was comprised of representatives from all of the programs addressed during CNR. Their leadership, and vision for child nutrition programs is extraordinary, and their time and efforts are greatly appreciated. We would like to thank and recognize the members of this work group: Ethan Bergman, PhD, RD, CD, FADA, Marilyn Briggs, PhD, RD, SNS, Meg Bruening, PhD, MPH, RD, Sue Foerster, MPH, RD, Beverly Girard, PhD, MBA, RDN, Stephanie Heim, MPH, RD, Geri Henchy, MPH, RD, Dianne Lollar, MPH, RD, LD, Clare H. Miller, MS, RD, Patty Keane, MPH, RD and Lisa Eaton Wright, MS, RDN, LDN.

On behalf of the CNR work group, Patty Keane and Jennifer Folliard would like to present the Academy's recommendation for Child Nutrition Reauthorization. The documents are attached.

These recommendations are the foundation of the Academy's advocacy and legislative strategy on Capitol Hill, as well within coalitions inside and outside DC.

Meeting with Congress is just one step in a longer process of engagement and relationship building. As you know, more opportunities may come for interaction (and consultation) between constituent groups and Members of Congress. And to be ready, you must have a well thought-out plan to optimize them.

Ask yourself: Is following-up with Members of Congress after a meeting a regular practice amongst your membership? Does your membership consistently provide information on your topic for staffers to refer to? Are you aware of the Congressional calendars, hearing schedules, and committee votes, in order to communicate in a timely manner?

Data obtained by the Congressional Management Foundation (CMF) shows that the answers to these questions for many constituent groups is, "No." But, there's always work to be done after visiting the Hill. CMF says, if you want to successfully engage with Congress, you must CLOSE THE DEAL.

Here's what congressional staffers had to say....

In Fall 2014, CMF used an online survey to ask House and Senate legislative directors (LDs) and legislative aides (LAs) for feedback on: 1) citizen advocate meetings; 2) materials to leave behind; and 3) best practices for meeting follow-up. To give us more insight into relations with constituent groups after meetings, we asked several questions.

One of them was, "Do constituents (or their organization) generally follow up with you in a helpful and timely manner?"

The survey results showed that 40% of the staffers answered, "No," and 38.5% answered, "Yes, timely but not helpful.” These points were further explained in the comment section. Staff shared that some groups don’t contact them back at all, but when constituents do, the office is more likely to answer an ask.

Following up can be the difference between a “yay” or “nay” vote, and can be a quick act to do. Consistently providing information with staff in a timely manner can also make you or your constituents a great resource on the Hill. So, after you depart the steps of the Capitol, remember to follow-up. Remember to CLOSE THE DEAL.

We hope you will begin the process of scheduling your meetings with your Senators and Representatives. If you are having difficulty getting appointments or have questions, please let me know.

We are requesting that once you have set the meetings and identified who will be the lead person for each meeting that you forward a copy of your affiliate Hill Day schedule to Teresa. We would like a copy of by Friday May 22, 2015. Watch for more information as we get closer to PPW.

We will posted two sample Hill Day meeting schedule forms on the COIs , one is an Excel file and the other is a Word document. The samples will be available in the PPW2015 folder and the Tool Kit subfolder later this week. Each sample has an example meeting shown. You may edit, add additional items or change the documents to meet your affiliate needs. For example, you may want add a column to identify the name of the staff member(s) you will be meeting with or you may wish to identify legislation that the member of Congress has supported in the past. If you need assistance, please let me know.

Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee Scientific Report

As you are aware, the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee (DGAC) Scientific Report, upon which the 2015 Dietary Guidelines for Americans will be based, was released and is open for comment. The Academy has been working to examine numerous aspects of the report and welcomes input from our members through a process by which DPGs (through their DPG Policy and Advocacy Leader, or PAL) collect and compile responses to send to Regulatory Affairs for drafting. We are also coordinating an effort for Academy members to individually comment on the Scientific Report to USDA.

If your DPG is interested in contributing to the Academy’s formal comments, please contact Pepin Tuma, Director of Regulatory Affairs. Please note that regulatory comments are time sensitive.

Comments are due to Pepin by Wednesday, April 29.

Below are a number of questions from each chapter of the Scientific Report. The page and line numbers correspond to the document here.

When answering the yes/no questions, please offer the rationale/reason for your response. It is also important to provide cited support whenever possible in your answers to enable the Academy to use your responses most effectively.

- Please note that although reviewers had many questions reviewers when reading the report, it is not important that you specifically answer any or all of them. Combined, the questions try to arrive at answers to the following questions:
- Do you support the approach taken by the DGAC, specifically with regard to looking at dietary patterns and food categories actually eaten, rather than focusing on specific nutrients? Why or why not?
- If you could determine the charge and scope of the DGAC (unencumbered by existing limitations), what would be included?
- To what extent is the question of where Americans choose to eat relevant to the Dietary Guidelines
- The DGAC examined food on a broader scale than previous DGACs, going from production to processing to purchase to consumption; is this an appropriate scope for the DGAC?
- Is the research methodology sound? Is their interpretation of the research sound?

Academy Work Group Child Nutrition Reauthorization (CNR) Recommendations

Child Nutrition Reauthorization (CNR) is a broad piece of legislation that includes school meals, farm to school, child and adult care food program, fresh fruit and vegetable program, summer food service program, and WIC. These programs employ many members who are leaders in this area, and impact millions of children on a daily basis.

The Academy's CNR workgroup was comprised of representatives from all of the programs addressed during CNR. Their leadership, and vision for child nutrition programs is extraordinary, and their time and efforts are greatly appreciated. We would like to thank and recognize the members of this work group: Ethan Bergman, PhD, RD, CD, FADA, Marilyn Briggs, PhD, RD, SNS, Meg Bruening, PhD, MPH, RD, Sue Foerster, MPH, RD, Beverly Girard, PhD, MBA, RDN, Stephanie Heim, MPH, RD, Geri Henchy, MPH, RD, Dianne Lollar, MPH, RD, LD, Clare H. Miller, MS, RD, Patty Keane, MPH, RD and Lisa Eaton Wright, MS, RDN, LDN.

On behalf of the CNR work group, Patty Keane and Jennifer Folliard would like to present the Academy's recommendation for Child Nutrition Reauthorization. The documents are attached.

These recommendations are the foundation of the Academy's advocacy and legislative strategy on Capitol Hill, as well within coalitions inside and outside DC.

PPW 2105 Training for PPC and PAL

The recording of the April 7th training webinar is now available. To listen to the recorded webinar, click here .

Once you have listened to the recording, please send an email to me at tnece@eatright.org. The certificate and an evaluation survey will be sent to you.

Register for PPW 2015 Today!

The PPW2015 registration and housing information is available. For more information on registration, hotel and travel simply click, PPW 2015 . This year we will once again be offering a group registration discount. Groups must consist of members from one cohesive organization, such as a Public Policy Panel, State Affiliate Board, DPG, Company, Hospital or Community Center. Please note: Students paying a reduced student rate are not eligible for the group discount.

PPW 2015 Boot Camp Training Registration

PPC, PAL, alternate PPC and alternate PAL registration scholarship recipients will be expected to attend a PPW Boot Camp Training scheduled on Saturday, June 6, 2015 from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. These sessions will prepare the PPC to lead the team through the workshop, onto Capitol Hill and in the affiliate.

A separate registration is required for PPW 2015 Boot Camp Training. To register for the PPW Boot Camp Training simply complete the registration survey.

Important Note: If the PPW registration scholarship is accepted and the PPC/PAL doesn't attend the boot camp, he/she will be billed for the registration fee.

Re: 2015 Corporate Award Committee

One of my responsibilities as Foundation Chair is to appoint a committee to select the 2015 recipient of the prestigious Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation Corporate Award. The Corporate Award is given to an organization that has demonstrated meaningful support to Foundation programs and projects. The award is presented each year at the Foundation's Gala during the Academy's Food & Nutrition Conference & Expo.

I am requesting your service on this committee. As a committee member, you are responsible for reviewing four prospective organizations and participating in a discussion during a conference call to select a candidate for approval by the Academy Foundation Board of Directors. Prior to the conference call you will receive a copy of the Corporate Award criteria and prospect list.

Please let Amy Donatell know if you are able to serve on the committee and which potential conference call dates will work for you by Thursday, March 19th. Amy can be reached at adonatell@eatright.org. If you have any questions or need additional information, please contact Amy at 800-877-1600 x4767. Thank you for your consideration.

We are aware that packages of Kraft Singles regular and 2% with the Kids Eat Right message are now appearing on retail shelves. Talking points to use as needed follow.

- The Academy and Kraft have mutually agreed to terminate the consumer education initiative. The on package elements of the program are already in motion and cannot be changed.
- Packages of Kraft Singles with the Kids Eat Right messaging are now appearing on retail shelves and will continue through mid-July 2015.
- Through on-package messaging identifying Kraft Singles as a “Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right,” the goal of the program was to send millions of consumers to the Kids Eat Right website for trusted, science-based information and recipes developed by registered dietitian nutritionists.

- As we shared previously, we launched this initiative to raise consumer awareness about the importance of having vitamin D and calcium as essential nutrients in children's diets. Consumers will be able to access unbranded, educational resources on calcium and vitamin D at KidsEatRight.org/CheesyFacts through the end of this year.
- We will engage with the Academy House of Delegates and with all Academy members on future initiatives to promote healthful foods and nutrition in the most professional, ethical and transparent manner possible.

Re: 2015 Corporate Award Committee

One of my responsibilities as Foundation Chair is to appoint a committee to select the 2015 recipient of the prestigious Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation Corporate Award. The Corporate Award is given to an organization that has demonstrated meaningful support to Foundation programs and projects. The award is presented each year at the Foundation's Gala during the Academy's Food & Nutrition Conference & Expo.

I am requesting your service on this committee. As a committee member, you are responsible for reviewing four prospective organizations and participating in a discussion during a conference call to select a candidate for approval by the Academy Foundation Board of Directors. Prior to the conference call you will receive a copy of the Corporate Award criteria and prospect list.

Please let Amy Donatell know if you are able to serve on the committee and which potential conference call dates will work for you by Thursday, March 19th. Amy can be reached at adonatell@eatright.org. If you have any questions or need additional information, please contact Amy at 800-877-1600 x4767. Thank you for your consideration.

Hi Paul,

I've made a reservation under your name at Greek Islands for 12 people @ 6:30 p.m. on Wed. 4/29/15. We all agreed it's our favorite Greek restaurant in Greektown. they also have a 2nd location in Lombard that I frequent a couple of times a year. No special room, no courses, just order off the menu (prices are very reasonable).

Paul, I like all, but we have never done Greek. Mary mentioned that we are kind of in a Greek neighborhood, so that might be fun.

Chiraq always does a great job in this arena, so I will support whatever he decides. I just didn't want to do a fixed 5 course menu that would cost a fortune.

Donna,

I have Chirag looking into it. There are some moderately priced restaurants not far from the hotel. Do you have preference; Italian, Greek, etc. Let me know and we will get the options.

Paul, I have talked with Mary and we both agree that she does not need to be doing dinner at her house. Although, I know we would have enjoyed it! I really think the best option would be for us to schedule a dinner meal for all of us at some reasonably priced restaurant. We can let the committee know about the option to go to the lakefront events. We can make them feel comfortable in attending that event if that is their choice. Mary has offered to try and come up with some restaurant ideas and get back in touch with you. There are 9 on the committee, and depending on who on the Headquarters team wanted to come, it could be as many as 12. I think with those numbers we could still be accommodated without having to do a fixed expensive menu. I really like the networking time at dinners we all do as a committee, but if people want to do something else then they would be free to do just that. I always worry that someone would be left out, if we just all do our own thing. That is probably a female mentality thing, and I will just go ahead and own up to it! Thanks for starting the conversation

Donna,

Given the demand on Mary, I would recommend you don't go her place. I can only imagine what it would be like for her to work like crazy, pulled in multiple directions and then have people over to her home. Too exhausting. She is kind to offer, but, I would not want to do this to her. It would be your call. If you like, I can reach out to her.

That being said, I can find a restaurant for the FAC or we can leave it open. It will be crazy in Chicago since the NFL draft begins on the 30th. I think the FAC might get a kick out of the activities that are planned over by the lake front. So, my recommendation would be to let people go and have fun; especially if the weather is nice.

Let me know.

Subject: FAC meeting next week

Hello Donna, Kay and Paul,

Hope you all are well-hard to believe this meeting is right around the corner!

I need to mention a couple of conflicts, only one of which affects (for a short time) my participation in the actual FAC meeting.

On Wed 4/29 from 9-11am, a call is scheduled about a key program that I'm involved with at work. I don't believe that I'll need to be present for the entire call but will need to be on for at least the first hour. I had no control over the timing of the call, which includes about 10 others (many with impossible schedules). So I will step out of the room during this time and return ASAP.

Wed 4/29 from 6-7 pm, I'll also need to be on a call with an Australian group we're working with. For them it'll be 9 am!

I still would be glad to host a casual meal for the FAC at my place, it would just need to start after 7 pm. There are plenty of local places that would be glad to cater in some tasty items.

Sorry to have to make a few waves with this last meeting.

Mary

Hi CHK 2nd round reviewers,

Thank you all so much for completing your reviews and giving such thought and concern over each application! Each application was reviewed by two 2nd round reviewers and scores were averaged. Of the 104 applications assigned to 2nd round reviewers, 35 of them scored in the highest tier and if everyone is in agreement, these 35 will be approved. There were 40 applications that scored in the lowest tier and have been eliminated. That leaves 15 out of the 29 remaining applications to approve on our webinar Wed, April 22 8am-11:3am CST (webinar link is on your Outlook Invite).

The 35 projects that scored in the highest tier included the following:

22 applications with both 2nd round reviewers who "strongly" recommended the application

13 applications scoring 35 or higher with one reviewer who "strongly" recommended the application and the other who "possibly recommended" the application

The 40 applications that scored in the lowest tier included the following:

23 applications with total scores under 30

6 applications with scores under 33 with both reviewers who "possibly" recommended the application

8 with one reviewer who "possibly" recommended the application and the other who "did not"

recommended the application

3 applications with both reviewers who "did not" recommend the application

Attached is a zip file of the 35 applications of approved projects and a pdf file that includes the breakdown of the 35 projects, including target audience, ethnicity, setting, state represented, and project descriptions. Please keep this information confidential.

Thank you once again for your time commitment to conducting the reviews and your expertise--I look forward to our webinar on Wednesday!

I've made a reservation under your name at Greek Islands for 12 people @ 6:30 p.m. on Wed. 4/29/15. We all agreed it's our favorite Greek restaurant in Greektown... they also have a 2nd location in Lombard that I frequent a couple of times a year. No special room, no courses, just order off the menu (prices are very reasonable).

Paul, I like all, but we have never done Greek. Mary mentioned that we are kind of in a Greek neighborhood, so that might be fun.

Chiraq always does a great job in this arena, so I will support whatever he decides. I just didn't want to do a fixed 5 course menu that would cost a fortune.

I have Chirag looking into it. There are some moderately priced restaurants not far from the hotel. Do you have preference; Italian, Greek, etc. Let me know and we will get the options.

Paul, I have talked with Mary and we both agree that she does not need to be doing dinner at her house. Although, I know we would have enjoyed it! I really think the best option would be for us to schedule a dinner meal for all of us at some reasonably priced restaurant. We can let the committee know about the option to go to the lakefront events. We can make them feel comfortable in attending that event if that is their choice. Mary has offered to try and come up with some restaurant ideas and get back in touch with you. There are 9 on the committee, and depending on who on the Headquarters team wanted to come, it could be as many as 12. I think with those numbers we could still be accommodated without having to do a fixed expensive menu. I really like the networking time at dinners we all do as a committee, but if people want to do something else then they would be free to do just that. I always worry that someone would be left out, if we just all do our own thing. That is probably a female mentality thing, and I will just go ahead and own up to it! Donna,

Given the demand on Mary, I would recommend you don't go her place. I can only imagine what it would be like for her to work like crazy, pulled in multiple directions and then have people over to her home. Too exhausting. She is kind to offer, but, I would not want to do this to her. It would be your call. If you like, I can reach out to her.

That being said, I can find a restaurant for the FAC or we can leave it open. It will be crazy in Chicago since the NFL draft begins on the 30th. I think the FAC might get a kick out of the activities that are planned over by the lake front. So, my recommendation would be to let people go and have fun; especially if the weather is nice.

Let me know.

Hello Donna, Kay and Paul,

Hope you all are well-hard to believe this meeting is right around the corner!

I need to mention a couple of conflicts, only one of which affects (for a short time) my participation in the actual FAC meeting.

On Wed 4/29 from 9-11am, a call is scheduled about a key program that I'm involved with at work. I don't believe that I'll need to be present for the entire call but will need to be on for at least the first hour. I had no control over the timing of the call, which includes about 10 others (many with impossible schedules). So I will step out of the room during this time and return ASAP.

Wed 4/29 from 6-7 pm, I'll also need to be on a call with an Australian group we're working with. For them it'll be 9 am!

I still would be glad to host a casual meal for the FAC at my place, it would just need to start after 7 pm. There are plenty of local places that would be glad to cater in some tasty items.

Sorry to have to make a few waves with this last meeting.

Mary

Evelyn,

We will be more than happy to send the information to your home. Naturally, the quickest way to get the information would be on the portal. Right now, the information I mentioned yesterday has been posted. Since this is coming in pieces, it would be cheaper as well to get it off of the portal. However, it won't be a problem.

If anyone else would like the information sent to their home, please let me know. The information I mentioned yesterday is currently on the portal. The only things missing are;

1. FY16 budget package (I am expecting this to be posted tomorrow)
2. Christian's February narrative (he hopes to have it later today)
3. Auditor's tax and audit plan (They hope to have it tomorrow)

If you have any questions or concerns, please let me know.

Hi CHK 2nd round reviewers,

Thank you all so much for completing your reviews and giving such thought and concern over each application! Each application was reviewed by two 2nd round reviewers and scores were averaged. Of the 104 applications assigned to 2nd round reviewers, 35 of them scored in the highest tier and if everyone is in agreement, these 35 will be approved. There were 40 applications that scored in the lowest tier and have been eliminated. That leaves 15 out of the 29 remaining applications to approve on our webinar Wed, April 22 8am-11:3am CST (webinar link is on your Outlook Invite).

The 35 projects that scored in the highest tier included the following:

22 applications with both 2nd round reviewers who "strongly" recommended the application

13 applications scoring 35 or higher with one reviewer who "strongly" recommended the application and the other who "possibly recommended" the application

The 40 applications that scored in the lowest tier included the following:

23 applications with total scores under 30

6 applications with scores under 33 with both reviewers who "possibly" recommended the application

8 with one reviewer who "possibly" recommended the application and the other who "did not" recommended the application

3 applications with both reviewers who "did not" recommend the application

Hi CHK 2nd round reviewers,

Thank you all so much for completing your reviews and giving such thought and concern over each application! Each application was reviewed by two 2nd round reviewers and scores were averaged. Of the 104 applications assigned to 2nd round reviewers, 35 of them scored in the highest tier and if everyone is in agreement, these 35 will be approved. There were 40 applications that scored in the lowest tier and have been eliminated. That leaves 15 out of the 29 remaining applications to approve on our webinar Wed, April 22 8am-11:3am CST (webinar link is on your Outlook Invite).

The 35 projects that scored in the highest tier included the following:

22 applications with both 2nd round reviewers who "strongly" recommended the application

13 applications scoring 35 or higher with one reviewer who "strongly" recommended the application and the other who "possibly recommended" the application

The 40 applications that scored in the lowest tier included the following:

23 applications with total scores under 30

6 applications with scores under 33 with both reviewers who "possibly" recommended the application

recommended the application

3 applications with both reviewers who "did not" recommend the application

Attached is a zip file of the 35 applications of approved projects and a pdf file that includes the breakdown of the 35 projects, including target audience, ethnicity, setting, state represented, and project descriptions. Please keep this information confidential.

Sounds great. Please invite Christian and Maria to come to eat. Pat would be welcome to come also, but I am sure she would prefer to go home. Obviously we would love for you to come, but understand if you need to go home also. We can adjust the number when we know how many can attend!

Donna,

I think Greek is the right choice. This is a good restaurant. Let me know if there is another you would prefer.

Hi Paul,

I've made a reservation under your name at Greek Islands for 12 people @ 6:30 p.m. on Wed. 4/29/15. We all agreed it's our favorite Greek restaurant in Greektown. they also have a 2nd location in Lombard that I frequent a couple of times a year. No special room, no courses, just order off the menu (prices are very reasonable).

Chiraq always does a great job in this arena, so I will support whatever he decides. I just didn't want to do a fixed 5 course menu that would cost a fortune.

Paul, I have talked with Mary and we both agree that she does not need to be doing dinner at her house. Although, I know we would have enjoyed it! I really think the best option would be for us to schedule a dinner meal for all of us at some reasonably priced restaurant. We can let the committee know about the option to go to the lakefront events. We can make them feel comfortable in attending that event if that is their choice. Mary has offered to try and come up with some restaurant ideas and get back in touch with you. There are 9 on the committee, and depending on who on the Headquarters team wanted to come, it could be as many as 12. I think with those numbers we could still be accommodated without having to do a fixed expensive menu. I really like the networking time at dinners we all do as a committee, but if people want to do something else then they would be free to do just that. I always worry that someone would be left out, if we just all do our own thing. That is probably a female mentality thing, and I will just go ahead and own up to it! Thanks for starting the conversation

Donna,

Given the demand on Mary, I would recommend you don't go her place. I can only imagine what it would be like for her to work like crazy, pulled in multiple directions and then have people over to her home. Too exhausting. She is kind to offer, but, I would not want to do this to her. It would be your call. If you like, I can reach out to her.

That being said, I can find a restaurant for the FAC or we can leave it open. It will be crazy in Chicago since the NFL draft begins on the 30th. I think the FAC might get a kick out of the activities that are planned over by the lake front. So, my recommendation would be to let people go and have fun; especially if the weather is nice.

Let me know.

Hello Donna, Kay and Paul,

Hope you all are well-hard to believe this meeting is right around the corner!

I need to mention a couple of conflicts, only one of which affects (for a short time) my participation in the actual FAC meeting.

On Wed 4/29 from 9-11am, a call is scheduled about a key program that I'm involved with at work. I don't believe that I'll need to be present for the entire call but will need to be on for at least the first hour. I had no control over the timing of the call, which includes about 10 others (many with impossible schedules). So I will step out of the room during this time and return ASAP.

Wed 4/29 from 6-7 pm, I'll also need to be on a call with an Australian group we're working with. For them it'll be 9 am!

I still would be glad to host a casual meal for the FAC at my place, it would just need to start after 7 pm. There are plenty of local places that would be glad to cater in some tasty items.

Sorry to have to make a few waves with this last meeting.

Mary

Paul, I have talked with Mary and we both agree that she does not need to be doing dinner at her house. Although, I know we would have enjoyed it! I really think the best option would be for us to schedule a dinner meal for all of us at some reasonably priced restaurant. We can let the committee know about the option to go to the lakefront events. We can make them feel comfortable in attending that event if that is their choice. Mary has offered to try and come up with some restaurant ideas and get back in touch with you. There are 9 on the committee, and depending on who on the Headquarters team wanted to come, it could be as many as 12. I think with those numbers we could still be accommodated without having to do a fixed expensive menu. I really like the networking time at dinners we all do as a committee, but if people want to do something else then they would be free to do just that. I always worry that someone would be left out, if we just all do our own thing. That is probably a female mentality thing, and I will just go ahead and own up to it! Thanks for starting the conversation

Donna,

Given the demand on Mary, I would recommend you don't go her place. I can only imagine what it would be like for her to work like crazy, pulled in multiple directions and then have people over to her home. Too exhausting. She is kind to offer, but, I would not want to do this to her. It would be your call. If you like, I can reach out to her.

That being said, I can find a restaurant for the FAC or we can leave it open. It will be crazy in Chicago since the NFL draft begins on the 30th. I think the FAC might get a kick out of the activities that are planned over by the lake front. So, my recommendation would be to let people go and have fun; especially if the weather is nice.

Let me know.

Paul

Hello Donna, Kay and Paul,

Hope you all are well-hard to believe this meeting is right around the corner!

I need to mention a couple of conflicts, only one of which affects (for a short time) my participation in the actual FAC meeting.

On Wed 4/29 from 9-11am, a call is scheduled about a key program that I'm involved with at work. I don't believe that I'll need to be present for the entire call but will need to be on for at least the first hour. I had no control over the timing of the call, which includes about 10 others (many with impossible schedules). So I will step out of the room during this time and return ASAP.

Wed 4/29 from 6-7 pm, I'll also need to be on a call with an Australian group we're working with. For them it'll be 9 am!

I still would be glad to host a casual meal for the FAC at my place, it would just need to start after 7 pm. There are plenty of local places that would be glad to cater in some tasty items.

Sorry to have to make a few waves with this last meeting.

Mary

Paul, I think I will call Mary and see what she wants to do. I do not want to hurt her feelings, and I think she will be honest with me about her preferences would be. I do like to have networking opportunities for the board on the one evening we are all together, so I will just run things by her! Will let you know the outcome!

All,

I hope you are having a great day. I just want to remind you of our meeting next week. The information for our meeting will begin to be loaded onto the portal this afternoon. I won't get into the March financial narrative at this point since there is a lot of information to discuss. I hope to have this later in the week. We will be providing the following information;

1. Agenda
2. Minutes for the March meeting.
3. Insurance overview from Rob Wessel

4. Investment overview from Al Bryant. He has provided both the Foundation's and the Academy's information. For this meeting, I will have him focus on the Academy. However, I will leave both for your review. If you feel otherwise, please let me know.
5. FY15 audit and tax plan from Plante Moran. This may not be available today. We have not yet received the information. We will post it as soon as we receive it.
6. Final February Financials. The final financial statements will be posted today. However, the narrative from Christian may not be available until later in the week.
7. Preliminary March Financials. Financial Statements will be posted today
8. FY17 Dues increase proposal. Yes, it is "that" time again. We are accelerating this decision a little. Barbara Visocan has put together an overview for a potential dues increase in FY17.
9. FY16 budget package. This will come a little later in the week. We are "tweaking" the information. I hope to have this to you no later than Thursday.

If there is anything that anyone would like to make sure we discuss, but, is not listed, please let me know.

Paul

Thank you Mary Beth and Pat

I will review over the weekend more thoroughly

How can we make this info more accessible to members?

On a spinoff -

I was thinking of this issue like the little towns than ban tall buildings and neon billboards - the local mom and pop store is just as prominent as the CVS next door - not sure how to accomplish it all but I am listening to all views

Have a great weekend and thanks again for the fast reply!

Hi Denice.

Pat shared with me your message and I'm happy to respond. You are correct that our website lists the Academy's top level sponsors, national and premier levels. It also includes background on each company and a statement explaining how/why we work with them including their Corporate Social Responsibility efforts. In addition to posting on the website, which we have done since we have had a website, we run a list of the sponsors in an acknowledgment six times per year through Eat Right Weekly and also publish the printed list in our Journal (six times per year) as well as Food and Nutrition magazine (two to four times a year). All of the Academy and Foundation sponsors are identified in our Academy Annual Report which is also available on our website and promoted each year in Eat Right Weekly. The Foundation uses multiple channels and touch points to communicate/announce our sponsorships as well that includes a combination of Eat Right Weekly, the Donor Report, Kids Eat Right Monday Message, etc. What we don't do (and should really begin to include to further enhance transparency) is provide a list of all the Dietetic Practice Group sponsors (see attached list). These lists are contained within the individual DPG communications and don't reach the broader membership. We should disclose these comprehensive lists with the same kind of detailed information that we provide regarding our Academy and Foundation sponsors. This will both inform our members and show the benefits of these types of support.

We are exploring creating our own Academy Social Responsibility Report, that can highlight all of these actions and be a readily available resource to members and consumers published electronically for easy updates and access. It can really help tell our story of who we work with, our review processes, the outcomes of these activities and how it moves forward our mission and vision.

You asked for a three-year snapshot of KER. I'm sure we can put that together. We do have a three year snapshot of all the Foundation activities in an infographic format. This has also been shared with members through Eat Right Weekly, to donors and to KER volunteers through the KER Monday message.

Hello,

I agree, this is a great summary - more thoughts

Since KER started in 2010 - is there a way to show in a graph format what was done annually?

I am hear members say they want transparency - what other companies are sponsors - website lists top 5 - is there a comprehensive list

My sentiments exactly. However, we did go to LEVICK and asked them to view the presentation and give their feedback. They suggest we not send it out to all members and strongly recommend we focus on moving forward.

The presentation is important to capture and we are therefore recording it. We can make decisions when and where to use it, if warranted.

This is exceptionally documented and well done....reading it, for me, was far less effective than seeing/hearing Katie Brown herself--who is, in my experience, among the best professional presenters I have ever heard....soooo, any chance of this getting into a video, "by popular demand"....acknowledging when it was first delivered (transparency) and that it was subsequently taped in response to member (Board members') request as Foundation resource for all members???

Such a video could get blow back and appear to some as "pushing the sponsorship agenda against members' views" or something---with all honesty and humility, I'd just love to capture Katie delivering this to all members somehow. Really invaluable, a virtual documentary that otherwise has been/could get lost.

my 2 cents

Hi Evelyn,

Thank you for your email. I agree, Katie Brown's presentation clearly articulates the purpose of the KER initiative and the original plan for communications. Attached is the information she presented to Academy Spokespeople this weekend. It contains a Foundation update and KER/KRAFT education initiative timeline. Since Katie's presentation is an hour long, I have attached the information so that you may review it before the call. Please feel free to forward any questions.

LEVICK provided a risk assessment report during the last conference call and we will have them provide updates on a monthly basis. As mentioned in my March 28 email to the Board, LEVICK's contract required an initial deposit of $45,000, which they are billing against on an hourly basis. We have not exceeded the amount. We have not been billed by Barnes & Thornburg for any additional legal expense at this time, and as soon as we have that information I will let you know.

Best regards,

Pat

Pat could we hear the report that Katie Brown gave on Saturday at the Spokespersons training me? Will we also get a report of the Risk Assessment Plan from Levick? What about an updated financial report of the cost of their services and that of the additional legal help.

Hi Denice.

Pat shared with me your message and I'm happy to respond. You are correct that our website lists the Academy's top level sponsors, national and premier levels. It also includes background on each company and a statement explaining how/why we work with them including their Corporate Social Responsibility efforts. In addition to posting on the website, which we have done since we have had a website, we run a list of the sponsors in an acknowledgment six times per year through Eat Right Weekly and also publish the printed list in our Journal (six times per year) as well as Food and Nutrition magazine (two to four times a year). All of the Academy and Foundation sponsors are identified in our Academy Annual Report which is also available on our website and promoted each year in Eat Right Weekly. The Foundation uses multiple channels and touch points to communicate/announce our sponsorships as well that includes a combination of Eat Right Weekly, the Donor Report, Kids Eat Right Monday Message, etc. What we don't do (and should really begin to include to further enhance transparency) is provide a list of all the Dietetic Practice Group sponsors (see attached list). These lists are contained within the individual DPG communications and don't reach the broader membership. We should disclose these comprehensive lists with the same kind of detailed information that we provide regarding our Academy and Foundation sponsors. This will both inform our members and show the benefits of these types of support.

We are exploring creating our own Academy Social Responsibility Report, that can highlight all of these actions and be a readily available resource to members and consumers published electronically for easy updates and access. It can really help tell our story of who we work with, our review processes, the outcomes of these activities and how it moves forward our mission and vision.

Donna,

You are so welcome! Yes, he was able to ask one of your questions and I think he did a really great job. Ms. Bauscher and Congressman Allen both talked about your great work!

Thank you SO much for your help and insight on this hearing. You are a ROCKSTAR in child nutrition!

I think you will enjoy watching the clip from today:

Kaite, Thanks so much for reaching out to me. I was off for Master's week so I am sorry it took me awhile to get back to you. I am attaching a document that has "Findings from a Survey on School Nutrition Among Parents in Georgia" that has some great information for background information for Congressman Allen to use at the hearings. The questions I would most like him to ask are:

1. I recently saw a poll (attached) that indicated that 93% of parents in my state think school foodservice SHOULD serve a fruit or vegetable with every meal. Are there strategies we could be using to increase consumption of these fruits and vegetables?

For example in one of my district's (Burke County) they are having a lot of success with their farm to school program. They are serving locally grown collard greens, sweet potatoes, cabbage, broccoli, strawberries, whole grain grits, blueberries, locally milled whole wheat flour and many other local products.

Do you think programs like Farm to School or Smarter Lunchroom funding have been helpful?

2. What are the current recommendations in terms of whether or not we are going to stay with the Target 1 sodium levels or will we continue to decrease the sodium content of meals to levels that the students might find very unacceptable? The current recommendations seem feasible, but the Target 2 levels are going to create a tremendous burden on school districts and manufacturers. (See attached sodium targets)

Let me know if he has any questions. Hope it goes well. I would love to hear some feedback from you on what his take is on the hearings.

Hi Donna!

Just wanted to let you know that the Education and Workforce Committee is holding its first hearing on child nutrition programs on Wednesday, April 15.

I was just wondering if there was anything in particular you would like Congressman Allen to highlight or ask a question about? Obviously, I can't guarantee he will bring up your question or point because sometimes he gets inspired and asks entirely different questions. J But I still wanted to give you an opportunity to share your experiences or highlight concerns with the committee through Congressman Allen.

All the best,

Hi Donna,

If you open the documents I just sent you, you will see that your application is one of the 35 proposed pre-'awarded' based on being in the highest scoring tier. Congratulations, informally of course! I wanted to ask that you please keep this information to yourself and not share with your colleagues as you have an unfair advantage of being privy to this knowledge before any other applicant. Please do not say anything to anyone until you receive the formal email announcement (which we have told all applicants will be before May 31). It will be your little happy secret! :)

Thank you--have a great weekend!

I was just wondering if there was anything in particular you would like Congressman Allen to highlight or ask a question about? Obviously, I can't guarantee he will bring up your question or point because sometimes he gets inspired and asks entirely different questions. J But I still wanted to give you an opportunity to share your experiences or highlight concerns with the committee through Congressman Allen.

All the best,

Katie

My sentiments exactly. However, we did go to LEVICK and asked them to view the presentation and give their feedback. They suggest we not send it out to all members and strongly recommend we focus on moving forward.

The presentation is important to capture and we are therefore recording it. We can make decisions when and where to use it, if warranted.

This is exceptionally documented and well done....reading it, for me, was far less effective than seeing/hearing Katie Brown herself--who is, in my experience, among the best professional presenters I have ever heard....soooo, any chance of this getting into a video, "by popular demand"....acknowledging when it was first delivered (transparency) and that it was subsequently taped in response to member (Board members') request as Foundation resource for all members???

Such a video could get blow back and appear to some as "pushing the sponsorship agenda against members' views" or something---with all honesty and humility, I'd just love to capture Katie delivering this to all members somehow. Really invaluable, a virtual documentary that otherwise has been/could get lost.

my 2 cents

Hi Evelyn,

Thank you for your email. I agree, Katie Brown's presentation clearly articulates the purpose of the KER initiative and the original plan for communications. Attached is the information she presented to Academy Spokespeople this weekend. It contains a Foundation update and KER/KRAFT education initiative timeline. Since Katie's presentation is an hour long, I have attached the information so that you may review it before the call. Please feel free to forward any questions.

LEVICK provided a risk assessment report during the last conference call and we will have them provide updates on a monthly basis. As mentioned in my March 28 email to the Board, LEVICK's contract required an initial deposit of $45,000, which they are billing against on an hourly basis. We have not exceeded the amount. We have not been billed by Barnes & Thornburg for any additional legal expense at this time, and as soon as we have that information I will let you know.

Best regards,

Pat

Pat could we hear the report that Katie Brown gave on Saturday at the Spokespersons training me? Will we also get a report of the Risk Assessment Plan from Levick? What about an updated financial report of the cost of their services and that of the additional legal help.

Preceptor Month and more: A video message from the Academy's President

April 16, 2015

To all Academy members:

April is National Preceptor Month. It's our annual opportunity to raise awareness of the need for preceptors, and to recognize and thank practitioners who are willing to serve. The Academy's preceptor recruitment activities take place throughout the year.

Please view this video, that was recorded in February 2015, to learn more about becoming a preceptor; the Academy's Council on Future Practice's three-year visioning process; and news about planning for the celebration of the Academy's 100th anniversary in 2017.

Hi Compensation Committee – Glenna, Evelyn, Mary, Donna and Kay,

All of the Board members have completed the CEO evaluation. The summary data are attached. Pat is being asked to also complete the evaluation as she does every year.

I have also attached the CEO 2014-15 Performance Evaluation Form updated as of today (4-14-15):

- Part I. Performance Objective Evaluation (pages 1-6) – I have provided updated information.
- Part II. Competency Evaluation pages 7-10 – this is the section just completed by the Board
 - o For each competency, I put the percentage who indicated “Demonstrates” and the percentage who indicated “Needs Improvement.” I also selected comments from the summary data that reflect the comments for that competency as well as the percentages for that competency, I also made sure each Board member who made specific comments for the competencies was represented in the comments. Please, as you review the summary data and the comments I selected to provide any and all suggestions for changes.
- Part III. Overall Evaluation (pages 11-12).
 - o Part B. Competency Rating. I added the average percentages for “Demonstrates” and “Needs Improvement” (page 11)
 - o Part D. Compensation Committee Comments. Please review the comments for question 7 in the summary data document as well as considering the comments for each competency and let me know what you would like for the Board to say to the CEO with regard to her major strengths and on those areas in which performance needs to be improved over the next period (2015-2016).

I am in contact with Carrolyn who is in contact with Lynn from PRM who will help guide us through this CEO evaluation. The plan is to do the evaluation with Pat at the Board retreat as we will not have all of the information until after the end of the fiscal year (May 31, 2015).

It would be lovely if you could have your responses to me by April 27.

Many thanks as always!

CAREER RESOURCES

Sports Nutrition Care Manual Updated

The annual update to the Sports Nutrition Care Manual will be published April 13. New sections include Common Gastrointestinal Issues in Athletes; Eating Disorders; and Athletes with an Impairment, among many others.

April 23-24 Workshop: Envisioning the Future of Health Professional Education

The Institute of Medicine will hold the Global Forum on Innovation in Health Professional Education April 23 and 24 in Washington, D.C. The Academy has a successful alliance relationship with the Forum, which regularly brings together stakeholders from nations and professions to network, discuss and illuminate issues within health professional education. Academy members can attend the free workshop in person or via webcast.

April 30 Webinar: Integrative Sports Nutrition and Supplements

Join the re-launch of the Academys Professional Development webinar series and earn unlimited group learning opportunities. As the sports nutrition field continues to evolve, new programs and theories arise for achieving optimal performance levels through nutrition and supplementation. Are these programs safe, effective and legal? Lisa Dorfman, MS, RD, CSSD, LMHC, FAND, will share her knowledge as a 30-year sports nutrition leader in an April 30 webinar, "Integrative Sports Nutrition and Supplements: Efficacy, Safety and Practical Guidelines." The webinar will outline practice strategies and appropriate and effective supplement use; and identify certification agencies, their standards and seals of approval.

Updated Position Paper: Developmental Disabilities and Special Needs

The Academys updated position paper "Nutrition Services for Individuals with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities and Special Health Care Needs" was published in the April Journal of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics. It is the position of the Academy that nutrition services provided by registered dietitian nutritionists and nutrition and dietetics technicians, registered, who work under the registered dietitian nutritionist's supervision, are essential components of comprehensive care for all adults with intellectual and development disabilities and children and youth with special health care needs.

PHILANTHROPY, AWARDS AND GRANTS

Infographic for Food and Nutrition Professionals: 'U.S. Farming 101'

The Foundation's infographic "U.S. Farming 101" helps to increase awareness about who grows our food, how food is grown and how food and nutrition professionals can get involved. The infographic was developed through an educational grant from Elanco.

New Future of Food Toolkit: 'Smart Choices. For a Healthy Planet.'

The Foundation's new toolkit is now available. The toolkit - in English and Spanish - includes a presentation for adult and mature teen audiences, with leader notes, a suggested five-minute group activity and a coordinating handout.

May 1 Application Deadline: Future of Food Mini-Grants

To support the use of the new "Smart Choices. For a Healthy Planet." toolkit, 25 grants of $200 are available. Recipients agree to give two presentations from the new toolkit (for parents and/or mature teens) between May 11 and June 30. Applications are due May 1 and recipients will be announced May 11. The toolkit was developed by content experts who are registered dietitian nutritionists and farmers. The new toolkit and mini-grant opportunity are made possible through an educational grant from Elanco.

May 1 Application Deadline: Healthy Aging DPG Community Based Applied Research/Best Practice Award

This $4,000 award encourages applied research projects that improve the nutritional status, well-being and independence of community-residing older adults. Ideally, the award will be used to identify and solve problems pertaining to dietetic practice, program administration, service/care coordination or behavioral practices of older adults.

I couldn't agree more with the comments from Donna and Diane -- the presentation by Katie Brown at the Nutrition News Forecast this past weekend really helped communicate the true intent and tremendous potential of this missed opportunity. As we prepare for the HOD discussion, I am sharing with you a perspective from a long-time Academy member and RDN, Barbara Beck, who is making her membership contingent on the Academy continuing its collaborations with industry.

Can you tell me if the issues of corporate sponsorship will be resolved and communicated to members prior to the June 1 membership renewal deadline? I think that working together with corporate sponsors can do so much to promote good nutrition messages to consumers and benefit the image of the Academy. I would really like to know the direction AND plans to take before renewing my membership. I've been a member for over 35 years and have valued the partnerships we have had with industry.

Hi Evelyn,

Thank you for your email. I agree, Katie Brown's presentation clearly articulates the purpose of the KER initiative and the original plan for communications. Attached is the information she presented to Academy Spokespeople this weekend. It contains a Foundation update and KER/KRAFT education initiative timeline. Since Katie's presentation is an hour long, I have attached the information so that you may review it before the call. Please feel free to forward any questions. LEVICK provided a risk assessment report during the last conference call and we will have them provide updates on a monthly basis. As mentioned in my March 28 email to the Board, LEVICK's contract required an initial deposit of $45,000, which they are billing against on an hourly basis. We have not exceeded the amount. We have not been billed by Barnes & Thornburg for any additional legal expense at this time, and as soon as we have that information I will let you know.

Best regards,

Pat

Hi Elise,

We can do produce a video but a webinar would be preferred because it is more cost effective, the presentation is easier to download and view on many different devices, and the slides can accompany the audio. We will certainly do whatever you prefer, so please let us know and we will work with Katie to produce it.

Thank you very much.

Subject: RE: KER Initiative Post Assessment Survey

I couldn't agree more with the comments from Donna and Diane -- the presentation by Katie Brown at the Nutrition News Forecast this past weekend really helped communicate the true intent and tremendous potential of this missed opportunity. As Evelyn and Lucille can attest, the spokespeople articulated that the presentation and slides should be available for all members.

As we prepare for the HOD discussion, I am sharing with you a perspective from a long-time Academy member and RDN, Barbara Beck, who is making her membership contingent on the Academy continuing its collaborations with industry.

Subject: Membership question

Can you tell me if the issues of corporate sponsorship will be resolved and communicated to members prior to the June 1 membership renewal deadline? I think that working together with corporate sponsors can do so much to promote good nutrition messages to consumers and benefit the image of the Academy. I would really like to know the direction AND plans to take before renewing my membership. I've been a member for over 35 years and have valued the partnerships we have had with industry.

Thanks.

Pat, This is such an excellent recap of all we did and a great resource for all of us on the board to have. It does make you so sad when you look at what we did and what could have been, that it did not work out. Lessons learned!

Hi Evelyn,

Thank you for your email. I agree, Katie Brown's presentation clearly articulates the purpose of the KER initiative and the original plan for communications. Attached is the information she presented to Academy Spokespeople this weekend. It contains a Foundation update and KER/KRAFT education initiative timeline. Since Katie's presentation is an hour long, I have attached the information so that you may review it before the call. Please feel free to forward any questions.

LEVICK provided a risk assessment report during the last conference call and we will have them provide updates on a monthly basis. As mentioned in my March 28 email to the Board, LEVICK's contract required an initial deposit of $45,000, which they are billing against on an hourly basis. We have not exceeded the amount. We have not been billed by Barnes & Thornburg for any additional legal expense at this time, and as soon as we have that information I will let you know.

Best regards,

Pat

Subject: Membership question

Can you tell me if the issues of corporate sponsorship will be resolved and communicated to members prior to the June 1 membership renewal deadline? I think that working together with corporate sponsors can do so much to promote good nutrition messages to consumers and benefit the image of the Academy. I would really like to know the direction AND plans to take before renewing my membership. I've been a member for over 35 years and have valued the partnerships we have had with industry.

Thanks.

Barbara Beck

Hi Evelyn,

Thank you for your email. I agree, Katie Brown's presentation clearly articulates the purpose of the KER initiative and the original plan for communications. Attached is the information she presented to Academy Spokespeople this weekend. It contains a Foundation update and KER/KRAFT education initiative timeline. Since Katie's presentation is an hour long, I have attached the information so that you may review it before the call. Please feel free to forward any questions. LEVICK provided a risk assessment report during the last conference call and we will have them provide updates on a monthly basis. As mentioned in my March 28 email to the Board, LEVICK's contract required an initial deposit of $45,000, which they are billing against on an hourly basis.

We have not exceeded the amount. We have not been billed by Barnes &Thornburg for any additional legal expense at this time, and as soon as we have that information I will let you know.

Best regards,

Pat

I couldn't agree more with the comments from Donna and Diane -- the presentation by Katie Brown at the Nutrition News Forecast this past weekend really helped communicate the true intent and tremendous potential of this missed opportunity. As Evelyn and Lucille can attest, the spokespeople articulated that the presentation and slides should be available for all members.

As we prepare for the HOD discussion, I am sharing with you a perspective from a long-time Academy member and RDN, Barbara Beck, who is making her membership contingent on the Academy continuing its collaborations with industry.

So true! You both responded positively so I am writing to you. Again, it absolutely pains me because this was a great initiative, even if Tracey to this day says it's not cheese--she wrote me that just last week before the all member message went out. Responding to all may make me look defensive, especially in light of Glenna highlighting Denice's sentence re communications. What is shown in Katie's presentation is that there was a plan and it was culminating in April when the slices were appearing on shelves. And yes, we were aware of the perception of endorsement, but highlighting this is not an endorsement would have been a lightning rod for those who either hate the brand, sponsorships and industry. We also could have turned the tide had we been only responding to members. The initiative was doomed once it went external in such a public and negative way, with some of our own members feeding it. This is now going to be our reality due to social media, especially since members know we can be bullied. Any controversial issue we deliberate in the future will need to be assessed by not only what will our members say but will we stay the course when there is push back and emotion. Katie, by the way, has done a great job presenting to the Affiliates.

Thanks for all of your support!

Since Katie's presentation is an hour long, I have attached the information so that you may review it before the call. Please feel free to forward any questions.

LEVICK provided a risk assessment report during the last conference call and we will have them provide updates on a monthly basis. As mentioned in my March 28 email to the Board, LEVICK's contract required an initial deposit of $45,000, which they are billing against on an hourly basis. We have not exceeded the amount. We have not been billed by Barnes & Thornburg for any additional legal expense at this time, and as soon as we have that information I will let you know.

So true! You both responded positively so I am writing to you. Again, it absolutely pains me because this was a great initiative, even if Tracey to this day says it's not cheese--she wrote me that just last week before the all member message went out. Responding to all may make me look defensive, especially in light of Glenna highlighting Denice's sentence re communications. What is shown in Katie's presentation is that there was a plan and it was culminating in April when the slices were appearing on shelves. And yes, we were aware of the perception of endorsement, but highlighting this is not an endorsement would have been a lightning rod for those who either hate the brand, sponsorships and industry. We also could have turned the tide had we been only responding to members. The initiative was doomed once it went external in such a public and negative way, with some of our own members feeding it. This is now going to be our reality due to social media, especially since members know we can be bullied. Any controversial issue we deliberate in the future will need to be assessed by not only what will our members say but will we stay the course when there is push back and emotion. Katie, by the way, has done a great job presenting to the Affiliates.

Thanks for all of your support!

3316. Benchmark Your Cost Of Bank Services

From: Phoenix-Hecht <statements@phbluebook.com>
To: Dmartin@eatright.Org
Sent Date: Apr 15, 2015 06:51:16
Subject: Benchmark Your Cost Of Bank Services
Attachment:

Dear Donna:

I would like to introduce you to a unique and free bank fee analysis from Phoenix-Hecht[®] based on our Bank Price Study. The Blue Book Compensation Review[™] (BCR) is an individualized analysis of treasury management fees which provides insight into how your overall pricing compares to other companies. Many companies use the BCR to avoid the frustration of doing their own analysis and some have even used it to avoid the lengthy RFP process just to verify that their pricing is competitive.

To receive your free BCR you simply need to send your March 2015 account analysis summary statements from your major providers to us by Thursday, April 30th, using our secure online submission program at:

<http://phbluebook.com/Donna.Martin>

For over 27 years, Phoenix-Hecht, as an independent research firm, has been conducting the Bank Price Study based on actual prices from account analysis statements. You can be assured that Phoenix-Hecht adheres to strict confidentiality standards. No individual company information is identified as part of this study.

Click here to view a sample BCR. I encourage you to take advantage of obtaining this unique, no-cost analysis. It will only take a few minutes of your time and your BCR(s) will be sent by July 31st.

Sincerely,

David A. Bochnovic

Executive Vice President

P.S. The free Blue Book Compensation Review[™] and optional The Blue Book of Bank Prices[®] publication are only available to companies who submit their account analysis statements for this study.

Subject: Re: KER Initiative Post Assessment Survey

Pat could we hear the report that Katie Brown gave on Saturday at the Spokespersons training me? Will we also get a report of the Risk Assessment Plan from Levick? What about an updated financial report of the cost of their services and that of the additional legal help.

Hello,

I am going to provide a more formal summary but wanted everyone to know that I worked into my presentation the type of quick summary that I did the NE call. Right before my presentation, someone in the audience made reference to the greatest PR blunder of the association. I discussed KER/Kraft saying that I want to acknowledge this - here is a brief recap and status - and then said that sponsorship is being addressed at the HOD - that they can contact their delegate or they can contact me.

I added slides on the Nutrition Services Payment Committee and I had questions asking for more details - I plan to provide some additional web links -(the real ? they asked is -What is the Academy doing to help RDs be reimbursed?)

Lisa Meadow did the Foundation presentation as the final speaker (so end of the next day) - I think it would have been better to have her and my talk together. Her presentation was well received, featuring the focus on agriculture and the food banks.

On the second day, I made a point to do more mingling with other to get input - will expand on that too Something that I have mentioned - there was concern expressed regarding the Wt Mgt Interdisciplinary certification - "what are we doing - giving away our jobs?" "I have not heard about that before" etc We need to immediately improve communication on hot issues that may be considered controversial.

The group also mentioned that they were glad that Chris and Mary were present for the discussion on the ACEND topics. This was my first NDEP meeting - I thought it went well. I felt my slides could be more targeted for this audience, e.g. overview of the BOD structure, show the live links on the new web site and where to find resources, etc.

New topic - NE update: I wrote a short article for the online monthly chair chat for the NE DPG and featured my role as a BOD member and focused on the new web site, links to review for free items linked to MNT and info graphics, etc.

Have a great week!

Pearlie, I deleted a lot of information off my slides because we were told to make them "less wordy" so some of the answers to these questions were verbally stated in the session, but not specifically on the slides. Some of the answers to these questions came from the pre-reading also. I am attaching a document that addresses where the answers are found. Please feel free to have the participant contact me for more help. I thought they were supposed to synthesize what they learned and put it to use on the post test? I was not aware that the exact wording for the questions were to be in the slides. I will revise my slides for future presentations.

Hi Donna, one of the participants from the March 12-14, 2015 Childhood Program is challenging her post-test score. Can you please verify that you covered the content of following questions in your presentation and if possible identify the slide numbers where the content can be located.

The Healthy Hunger Free Kids Act of 2010 will:

- a) Update the nutrition standards for school meals based on expert recommendations from the Institute of Medicine.
- b) Require more funding for school nutrition to be generated at the school district level
- c) Limit the meals offered in afterschool programs.
- d) Remove the requirement for school wellness policies to be in place at the school level.

Which of the following items are required to be served daily in the National School Lunch program as of Fiscal Year 2014?

- a) Fresh fruit
- b) Fresh vegetable
- c) Whole grain
- d) Fruit juice

Thank you.

April 14, 2015

Come and join your fellow colleagues on June 4-6, 2015 at the Certificate of Training in Adult Weight Management program in New Orleans. Don't miss this opportunity to earn a certificate of training in adult weight management, earn 35 CPE hours, network with other dietetic practitioners and enjoy the great city of New Orleans. New Orleans is one of the world's most fascinating cities. Steeped in a history of influences from Europe, the Caribbean, Africa and beyond, it's home to a truly unique melting pot of culture, food and music. The Big Easy is home to some of the finest jazz and blues in the world. In addition to music, the city has much to offer, including delicious Creole dining, and such attractions as The Aquarium of the Americas, the Superdome, the National World War II Museum, and many more must-see sites.

The program will be held at the Astor Crowne Plaza which is located in the heart of the legendary French Quarter.

I discovered I had transposed the 2014 membership number for performance objective 4. The corrected info is attached.

Hi Compensation Committee – Glenna, Evelyn, Mary, Donna and Kay,

All of the Board members have completed the CEO evaluation. The summary data are attached. Pat is being asked to also complete the evaluation as she does every year.

I have also attached the CEO 2014-15 Performance Evaluation Form updated as of today (4-14-15):

- Part I. Performance Objective Evaluation (pages 1-6) – I have provided updated information.
- Part II. Competency Evaluation pages 7-10 – this is the section just completed by the Board
 - o For each competency, I put the percentage who indicated “Demonstrates” and the percentage who indicated “Needs Improvement.” I also selected comments from the summary data that reflect the comments for that competency as well as the percentages for that competency, I also made sure each Board member who made specific comments for the competencies was represented in the comments. Please, as you review the summary data and the comments I selected to provide any and all suggestions for changes.

- Part III. Overall Evaluation (pages 11-12).
 - o Part B. Competency Rating. I added the average percentages for “Demonstrates” and “Needs Improvement” (page 11)
 - o Part D. Compensation Committee Comments. Please review the comments for question 7 in the summary data document as well as considering the comments for each competency and let me know what you would like for the Board to say to the CEO with regard to her major strengths and on those areas in which performance needs to be improved over the next period (2015-2016).

I am in contact with Carrolyn who is in contact with Lynn from PRM who will help guide us through this CEO evaluation. The plan is to do the evaluation with Pat at the Board retreat as we will not have all of the information until after the end of the fiscal year (May 31, 2015).

It would be lovely if you could have your responses to me by April 27.

Many thanks as always!

Donna,

Thank you for meeting with me this morning to record the Treasurer's report to the HOD. You did great! I am including the link to the video, which will be shared with the HOD on Thursday:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=P5WuO2IqXPE&feature=youtu.be>

As we discussed, I will call attention to the fact that sponsorships only made up 5% of the Academy's budget in FY 15. Our fact sheet indicated that funding from sponsorships does not exceed 10% of the Academy's budget. Let me know if you think anything else needs to be highlighted.

Thanks again, and have a great afternoon.

Hi Evelyn,

Thank you for your email. I agree, Katie Brown's presentation clearly articulates the purpose of the KER initiative and the original plan for communications. Attached is the information she presented to Academy Spokespeople this weekend. It contains a Foundation update and KER/KRAFT education initiative timeline. Since Katie's presentation is an hour long, I have attached the information so that you may review it before the call. Please feel free to forward any questions.

LEVICK provided a risk assessment report during the last conference call and we will have them provide updates on a monthly basis. As mentioned in my March 28 email to the Board, LEVICK's contract required an initial deposit of $45,000, which they are billing against on an hourly basis. We have not exceeded the amount. We have not been billed by Barnes & Thornburg for any additional legal expense at this time, and as soon as we have that information I will let you know.

Best regards,

Pat could we hear the report that Katie Brown gave on Saturday at the Spokespersons training me? Will we also get a report of the Risk Assessment Plan from Levick? What about an updated financial report of the cost of their services and that of the additional legal help.

Hello,

I am going to provide a more formal summary but wanted everyone to know that I worked into my presentation the type of quick summary that I did the NE call. Right before my presentation, someone in the audience made reference to the greatest PR blunder of the association. I discussed KER/Kraft saying that I want to acknowledge this - here is a brief recap and status - and then said that sponsorship is being addressed at the HOD - that they can contact their delegate or they can contact me.

I added slides on the Nutrition Services Payment Committee and I had questions asking for more details - I plan to provide some additional web links -(the real ? they asked is -What is the Academy doing to help RDs be reimbursed?)

Lisa Meadow did the Foundation presentation as the final speaker (so end of the next day) - I think it would have been better to have her and my talk together. Her presentation was well received, featuring the focus on agriculture and the food banks.

On the second day, I made a point to do more mingling with other to get input - will expand on that too Something that I have mentioned - there was concern expressed regarding the Wt Mgt Interdisciplinary certification - "what are we doing - giving away our jobs?" "I have not heard about that before” etc We need to immediately improve communication on hot issues that may be considered controversial.

The group also mentioned that they were glad that Chris and Mary were present for the discussion on the ACEND topics. This was my first NDEP meeting - I thought it went well. I felt my slides could be more targeted for this audience, e.g. overview of the BOD structure, show the live links on the new web site and where to find resources, etc.

New topic - NE update: I wrote a short article for the online monthly chair chat for the NE DPG and featured my role as a BOD member and focused on the new web site, links to review for free items linked to MNT and info graphics, etc.

Have a great week!

Hi Donna, one of the participants from the March 12-14, 2015 Childhood Program is challenging her post-test score. Can you please verify that you covered the content of following questions in your presentation and if possible identify the slide numbers where the content can be located.

The Healthy Hunger Free Kids Act of 2010 will:

- a) Update the nutrition standards for school meals based on expert recommendations from the Institute of Medicine.
- b) Require more funding for school nutrition to be generated at the school district level
- c) Limit the meals offered in afterschool programs.
- d) Remove the requirement for school wellness policies to be in place at the school level.

Which of the following items are required to be served daily in the National School Lunch program as of Fiscal Year 2014?

- a) Fresh fruit
- b) Fresh vegetable
- c) Whole grain
- d) Fruit juice

Thank you.

All,

These are for the 2014 Fiscal Year and the 2013 Tax year. It is just another "odddity" of the IRS.

Paul, You are correct. We are enjoying the Masters. What a great tournament so far. We are heading out for round three as soon as I finish this email. I am set for the HOD presentation. I decided to just pretty much use your script. I am afraid with all this "sponsorship" back and forth going on to stay away from that area right now. I have set up a time to record the presentation, so all should be good. My phone will not allow me to respond to email, so this week is hard to keep up with email. We rent our house and stay at my mothers, so I am using her computer to respond to email. I will be back in the swing of things come Monday though. Thanks for checking. Hope things are calming down at headquarters a little.

New piece in the 'French paradox' diet and health puzzle: Cheese metabolism

(Figuring out why the French have low cardiovascular disease rates despite a diet high in saturated fats has spurred research and many theories to account for this phenomenon known as the 'French paradox.' Most explanations focus on wine and lifestyle, but a key role could belong to another French staple: cheese. The evidence, say scientists, is in cheese metabolism)

Great video and publicity for an area of nutrition and dietetics that many students want to be a part of. This will inspire and motivate future practitioners to get the CSSD credential and make a difference from little league to the pros. Way to go!

Importance: High

Based on additional feedback we received that members may not respond positively to one of the questions, we have revised the all-member email. We don't want to over simplify their concerns regarding sponsorship. Question number three has been deleted and following the House dialogue, we will address the bigger issues surrounding sponsorship in a future email communication to members.

The email that will go out tomorrow morning follows. Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you.

Dear Academy Members,

Since our last communication on March 30 regarding the Kids Eat Right pilot initiative with Kraft, we have received a number of follow-up questions about the program and our next steps. In an effort to keep all Academy members apprised of the latest developments, I will be sending out regular e-mails to address the most prevalent questions and keep everyone up to date.

I appreciate the passion and interest of all members who have taken the time to share their thoughts. Following are comments on some of the most common questions.

Why wasn't the termination more immediate?

The process for termination of the contract with Kraft will require some legal discussions between the Academy's attorneys and Kraft's legal department. We are moving forward diligently to finalize the termination of the contract, and we will immediately notify the entire membership when the final legal process is complete.

How is the Academy going to move forward?

Kids Eat Right is one of the Foundation's and Academy's most important and rewarding initiatives. We will continue to work to provide educational resources and positive messaging through Kids Eat Right to empower families to shop, cook and eat healthy.

Both Boards are opening a constructive dialogue with members nationwide, and we plan to have an open discussion about sponsorships at the upcoming House of Delegates meeting in May. If you have not done so already, please share any concerns or suggestions that you have regarding sponsorship with your Affiliate or Dietetic Practice Group delegate. In addition, members of the Academy's leadership will be at many Affiliate meetings over the next few weeks including Arkansas, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

I encourage all members to continue providing input and feedback that contributes to this dialogue in the days, weeks and months to come.

Sincerely,

Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD, FAND

Subject: RE: 2014 Foundation Tax Returns
Attachment: image001.png

Constance,

I apologize for not getting back to you on question number 4 sooner. I took a close look at the information. I think that the $500,000 increase in expenses you are referring to below is actually for the "Other Expense" category of expenses; First page of the 990, line 17. These went down from $1,919,993 in 2013 to $1,413,381 in 2014 ($506,612). The increases and decreases of any expense category really depend on how the money came in and how it goes out. As you can see, the expenses change across the various line items as you gravitate back to page 10 (part IX; Statement of Functional Expenses).

The $506,613 reduction is made up of a few areas; the largest of which were the EB4K (down $218K) and MetLife (down $168K). So, I was partially right. I forgot about the MetLife change. If you stay on page 10, you might notice that there was a large increase on line 1; Grants. This primary driver of this increase is the increase of the General Mills Grants the Foundation was able to secure in FY14 (and in FY15!!).

In any event, I hope this helps. As I read your responses below, I am happy to see that they "make sense" or appear "ok". The Tax returns are an interesting animal. In many cases, they really are not logical. Each year, we develop the data, create the reports and I go through and ask the same questions or map each item on the tax return to a correlating item on the audited financial statement (when applicable). There are many times I am left to shake my head at the inconsistencies required by the IRS!! We keep the tax accountants busy.

If you need anything else, please let me know.

Have a great day.

Paul

Subject: RE: 2014 Foundation Tax Returns

Constance,

I don't have all of the answers in front of me. However, I think the following should be correct. If not, I will let you know tomorrow. I put the answers below in red. As for the percentage of the budget in reserves; the policy for the Academy indicates 50% of budgeted expenses should be in reserve. The Foundation is a little unique in that it has a great deal of money associated with Temporarily and Permanently restricted programs. However, it does have over a year in reserve in the unrestricted assets. Thank you.

Yes the organization's have run deficits. I know Donna may want to provide input. The reserves for the various groups were rising. It was determine by the FAC and Board that the Academy would use reserves to invest in new programs and initiatives as long as there wasn't a risk of the reserves declining to an uncomfortable level. I have attached the financial planning policy that may help. Paul, this document is helpful.

I hope this helps. I know the Tax returns can be a little odd. They are a recount of the audited financial statements with a little more information. Some things may make sense; some don't. Let me know if you need anything else. I can have the tax accountants attend the next foundation board meeting if you like. Paul, this may be useful. I will that up to Terry and Jean. I will also verify tomorrow the answer to question 4 below.

Have a great night.

Subject: RE: 2014 Foundation Tax Returns

Thank you Susie for sending these forms for the Foundation's tax returns. I do think it would be instructive to review these in further detail at our April 22nd meeting—especially the financial connections between the Academy and Foundation. I have a few questions for Paul for clarification.

1) The request for extension was for Jan 2015. We now are filing on April 15. Why was there a need for 2 extensions? What information was not available that was needed?—Form 8868, p.2

Answer: The tax returns cannot be done until after the audit is completed and accepted by the Board. Since that does not happen until FNCE in October, we automatically file for an extension because the returns have to be filed by October 15th. Naturally, by default, we need the first extension of 90 days just to be able to begin the process. The process requires a great deal of “give and take” between staff and the tax attorneys. In addition, the reviews required along with holiday season and the requirement for the Board to have the documents before filing requires us to file a second extension. This gives us to April 15th to finalize the returns. This is not an issue since the Foundation does not pay any taxes. In the case of the Academy, we would estimate any taxes that may be required and pay those in order to not pay any penalties. The time line for this process also allows us manage the staffing requirements internally. Thank you Paul, this makes sense.

2) On the 990: who is the non-independent voting member?

Answer: Pat is considered a non-voting member of the Foundation board. Thank you.

3) Why is the number of employees 0 for the Foundation, Form 990 p.1 , line 5, while salaries on line 15 are $737,215?

Answer: This is one of oddities of the IRS. The IRS has ruled that people are considered the staff of the organization that provides the payroll or who provides the W2s. Even though the employees, like Susan Burns, Beth Labrador, Katie Brown, Mary Beth, etc., work for the Foundation, they are not considered employees of the Foundation. This is a change from previous years. The expenses of $737,215 are the true expenses paid by the Foundation for the work provided by the staff. It is kind of like a “transfer” from one entity to another; The Academy pays the payroll and the Foundation reimburses the Academy for the expense.

4) Why are the expenses ~$500,000+ less than the previous year?

Answer: I will have to get back to you on this one. However, I think it has to do with EB4K initiative. It may have ended in 2013.

5) What are considered membership dues for the Foundation?—Part VIII, p. 9—approx $1.2 million. They are reported as revenue.

Answer: Even though this may not sound logical , this really is membership contributions. Given the definitions provided by the IRS, member contributions go onto this line (even though it says membership dues). The Foundation had $1.2 million in member contributions in 2014. OK. That makes sense.

6) For Schedule A—why does the Academy have contributions of approximately $2.2 million to the Foundation?

Answer: Again, even though this may not sound logical, this number is for the total contributions provided to the Foundation by the Academy, CDR, DPGS, MIGS for the past five years. The primary contributor is probably CDR with the scholarships that they provide. I believe they are $1.8 million of the total. The remainder would come from the DPGS (approximately $300,000) and the Academy (approximately $100K). Again, I would have to verify the exact amounts, but, I should be close. OK

7) For Schedule B, part 1, with the exception of Martha Snavelly, why do the amounts for total contributions differ from Schedule A?

Answer: Again, the IRS is not logical; Schedule B, part 1 is just for the current fiscal year. So, Martha Snavelly is consistent because it came in the 2014 Fiscal year. The other amounts on Schedule B, part 1 would be one year's worth of contributions of the five years included in Schedule A. OK

I may be reading these incorrectly, but for the consolidated statements, specifically p. 23 and 25, it appears that the Academy, CDR, and the Foundation are running in a deficit position without the addition of return of investments to their budgets. The Academy appears in a deficit even with the returns on Investments. It has been awhile since I have been on the Board, so I may not remember, but is there a certain percentage of returns on investment that are "allowed/safe" to use for operating costs? What is the percentage of operating costs that we should have in reserve? I realize these may have been mentioned at a previous ANDF Board meeting, but somehow I may have missed them. Thank you for attaching the policy.

Thank you for your patience with these questions. I appreciate your consideration.

With kind regards,

Constance

A Message from the Academy President to Academy Members

April 9, 2015

Dear Academy Members,

Since our last communication on March 30 regarding the Kids Eat Right pilot initiative with Kraft, we have received a number of follow-up questions about the program and our next steps. In an effort to keep all Academy members apprised of the latest developments, I will be sending out regular e-mails to address the most prevalent questions and keep everyone up to date.

I appreciate the passion and interest of all members who have taken the time to share their thoughts. Following are comments on some of the most common questions.

Why wasn't the termination more immediate?

The process for termination of the contract with Kraft will require some legal discussions between the Academy's attorneys and Kraft's legal department. We are moving forward diligently to finalize the termination of the contract, and we will immediately notify the entire membership when the final legal process is complete.

How is the Academy going to move forward?

Kids Eat Right is one of the Foundation's and Academy's most important and rewarding initiatives. We will continue to work to provide educational resources and positive messaging through Kids Eat Right to empower families to shop, cook and eat healthy.

Both Boards are opening a constructive dialogue with members nationwide, and we plan to have an open discussion about sponsorships at the upcoming House of Delegates meeting in May. If you have not done so already, please share any concerns or suggestions that you have regarding sponsorship with your Affiliate or Dietetic Practice Group delegate. In addition, members of the Academy's leadership will be at many Affiliate meetings over the next few weeks including Arkansas, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

I encourage all members to continue providing input and feedback that contributes to this dialogue in the days, weeks and months to come.

Sincerely,

Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD, FAND
Academy President 2014-2015

Subject: RE: 2014 Foundation Tax Returns

Constance,

I don't have all of the answers in front of me. However, I think the following should be correct. If not, I will let you know tomorrow. I put the answers below in red. As for the percentage of the budget in reserves; the policy for the Academy indicates 50% of budgeted expenses should be in reserve. The Foundation is a little unique in that it has a great deal of money associated with Temporarily and Permanently restricted programs. However, it does have over a year in reserve in the unrestricted assets. Thank you.

Yes the organization's have run deficits. I know Donna may want to provide input. The reserves for the various groups were rising. It was determine by the FAC and Board that the Academy would use reserves to invest in new programs and initiatives as long as there wasn't a risk of the reserves declining to an uncomfortable level. I have attached the financial planning policy that may help. Paul, this document is helpful.

I hope this helps. I know the Tax returns can be a little odd. They are a recount of the audited financial statements with a little more information. Some things may make sense; some don't. Let me know if you need anything else. I can have the tax accountants attend the next foundation board meeting if you like. Paul, this may be useful. I will that up to Terry and Jean. I will also verify tomorrow the answer to question 4 below.

Have a great night.

Paul

Subject: BOD call w NE DPG

Hello All,

I am sharing feedback from participating - for 15 minutes - on the NE DPG board of directors call last night - the NE Chair invited BOD members to send me questions and I will be doing a leadership focused article in their newsletter.

I only had 1 question submitted in advance on understanding what the process is for making these decisions - which Joan and Doris provided me with an answer - That the Foundation BOD with feedback from the Academy BOD approved this to raise visibility of KER - having the potential to reach 80% of all households and promote the KER website.

One of the board members then commented that she posted a supportive statement on the listserv and felt that she was attacked but that many other RDs contacted her privately.

I used that as an opportunity to mention that on our state, more seasoned leaders like Judy Dodd also posted in support - because they understand what it takes to fund the many services offered through KER.

Since they did not have other ?s — I expanded on how the board takes these decisions seriously, evaluates the many pros and cons that were expressed on the listserv, and that it was a pilot to potentially reach many consumers.

I also mentioned that Sonja's video announced that this would be happening - and thousands of RDs viewed the video w positive comments - but that the NYTimes article and misinformation resulted in a downward spiral.

Since this is a legal issue -it will take time to resolve, but the Board is listening and interested in their suggestions.

As a forever NE member - and they nominated me for Director at Large - I told them that I personally feel we need to work with corporations to make improvements - and if we do not, others will step in like chefs, nurses and others.

One person state that we need to see more comments on the listserv like this - but I replied saying I am always unsure w being on the BOD - how active I should be on the listserv.

I closed with saying that we need to find a solution that works for our members, requested that the chair send a letter on behalf of the DPG with their top issues, and to know that I, as Director at Large, represent them - and can be contacted by phone or email at any time.

I feel like we are moving forward... leaving for Area 6/7 NDEP meeting next - so I hope we have made a turn!

Hi Denice,

Thanks for your great observations. I agree with the person who said,

“One person state that we need to see more comments on the listserv like this - but I replied saying I am always unsure w being on the BOD - how active I should be on the listserv.”

We need to figure out ways to do this in the future.

Dear Donna:

I would like to introduce you to a unique and free bank fee analysis from Phoenix-Hecht[®] based on our Bank Price Study. The Blue Book Compensation Review[™] (BCR) is an individualized analysis of treasury management fees which provides insight into how your overall pricing compares to other companies. Many companies use the BCR to avoid the frustration of doing their own analysis and some have even used it to avoid the lengthy RFP process just to verify that their pricing is competitive.

To receive your free BCR you simply need to send your March 2015 account analysis summary statements from your major providers to us by Thursday, April 30th, using our secure online submission program at:

<http://phbluebook.com/Donna.Martin>

For over 27 years, Phoenix-Hecht, as an independent research firm, has been conducting the Bank Price Study based on actual prices from account analysis statements. You can be assured that Phoenix-Hecht adheres to strict confidentiality standards. No individual company information is identified as part of this study.

Click here to view a sample BCR. I encourage you to take advantage of obtaining this unique, no-cost analysis. It will only take a few minutes of your time and your BCR(s) will be sent by July 31st.

Sincerely,

David A. Bochnovic

Executive Vice President

P.S. The free Blue Book Compensation Review[™] and optional The Blue Book of Bank Prices[®] publication are only available to companies who submit their account analysis statements for this study.

It sounds like a very productive call.

You may want to encourage DPG and NDEP members to send comments to their Delegates too. For the upcoming HOD meeting (May 2 & 3) we will be spending both days on the Sponsorship discussion topic.

Good luck at Area 6/7.
Thanks for representing us.

Dear Academy Members,

Since our last communication on March 30 regarding the Kids Eat Right pilot initiative with Kraft, we have received a number of follow-up questions about the program and our next steps. In an effort to keep all Academy members apprised of the latest developments, I will be sending out regular e-mails to address the most prevalent questions and keep everyone up to date.

I appreciate the passion and interest of all members who have taken the time to share their thoughts. Following are comments on some of the most common questions.

Why wasn't the termination more immediate?

The process for termination of the contract with Kraft will require some legal discussions between the Academy's attorneys and Kraft's legal department. We are moving forward diligently to finalize the termination of the contract, and we will immediately notify the entire membership when the final legal process is complete.

How is the Academy going to move forward?

Kids Eat Right is one of the Foundation's and Academy's most important and rewarding initiatives. We will continue to work to provide educational resources and positive messaging through Kids Eat Right to empower families to shop, cook and eat healthy.

Both Boards are opening a constructive dialogue with members nationwide, and we plan to have an open discussion about sponsorships at the upcoming House of Delegates meeting in May. If you have not done so already, please share any concerns or suggestions that you have regarding sponsorship with your Affiliate or Dietetic Practice Group delegate. In addition, members of the Academy's leadership will be at many Affiliate meetings over the next few weeks including Arkansas, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

I encourage all members to continue providing input and feedback that contributes to this dialogue in the days, weeks and months to come.

Sincerely,

Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD, FAND

Hello All,

I am sharing feedback from participating - for 15 minutes - on the NE DPG board of directors call last night - the NE Chair invited BOD members to send me questions and I will be doing a leadership focused article in their newsletter.

I only had 1 question submitted in advance on understanding what the process is for making these decisions - which Joan and Doris provided me with an answer - That the Foundation BOD with feedback from the Academy BOD approved this to raise visibility of KER - having the potential to reach 80% of all households and promote the KER website.

One of the board members then commented that she posted a supportive statement on the listserv and felt that she was attacked but that many other RDs contacted her privately.

I used that as an opportunity to mention that on our state, more seasoned leaders like Judy Dodd also posted in support - because they understand what it takes to fund the many services offered through KER.

Since they did not have other ?s — I expanded on how the board takes these decisions seriously, evaluates the many pros and cons that were expressed on the listserv, and that it was a pilot to potentially reach many consumers.

I also mentioned that Sonja's video announced that this would be happening - and thousands of RDs viewed the video w positive comments - but that the NYTimes article and misinformation resulted in a downward spiral.

Since this is a legal issue -it will take time to resolve, but the Board is listening and interested in their suggestions.

As a forever NE member - and they nominated me for Director at Large - I told them that I personally feel we need to work with corporations to make improvements - and if we do not, others will step in like chefs, nurses and others.

One person state that we need to see more comments on the listserv like this - but I replied saying I am always unsure w being on the BOD - how active I should be on the listserv.

I closed with saying that we need to find a solution that works for our members, requested that the chair send a letter on behalf of the DPG with their top issues, and to know that I, as Director at Large, represent them - and can be contacted by phone or email at any time.

I feel like we are moving forward... leaving for Area 6/7 NDEP meeting next - so I hope we have made a turn!

Wednesday, April 8, 2015

Dear Academy Members,

Since our last communication on March 30 regarding the Kids Eat Right pilot initiative with Kraft, we have received a number of follow-up questions about the program and our next steps. In an effort to keep all Academy members apprised of the latest developments, I will be sending out regular e-mails to address the most prevalent questions and keep everyone up to date.

I appreciate the passion and interest of all members who have taken the time to share their thoughts. Following are comments on the most common questions and topics.

Why wasn't the termination more immediate?

The process for termination of the contract with Kraft will require some legal discussions between the Academy's attorneys and Kraft's legal department. We are moving forward diligently to finalize the termination of the contract, and we will immediately notify the entire membership when the final legal process is complete.

Why didn't you know that a Kraft Singles sponsorship would have negative repercussions?

The Academy launched this initiative with the goal of raising consumer awareness about the importance of having vitamin D and calcium as essential nutrients in children's diets and driving consumers, in particular moms, to our Kids Eat Right website for unbranded content. The program aimed to leverage Kraft's extensive national distribution network and gain access – through this product – to millions of consumer homes. Since the contract firmly stipulated this was not an endorsement, we did not foresee the potential for the “proud supporter of Kids Eat Right” messaging to be misconstrued as an “endorsement” of a product. This has been a teachable moment for us.

How is the Academy going to move forward?

Kids Eat Right continues to be one of the Foundation's and Academy's most important and rewarding initiatives. We will focus on all of the extensive resources and positive, unbranded messages this program offers to empower families to shop, cook and eat healthy.

Both Boards are opening a constructive dialogue with members nationwide, and we plan to have an open discussion about industry sponsorships at the upcoming House of Delegates meeting in May. In addition, key members of the Academy's leadership will be at many Affiliate and DPG meetings over the next few weeks including California, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

I encourage all members to continue providing input and feedback that contributes to this dialogue in the days, weeks and months to come.

Sincerely,

Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD, FAND

Academy President 2014-2015

Denice...this is great feedback. Thanks so much. I am hoping that starting with the HOD, we can get some great feedback and clearer numbers on how our members really feel about all of this. I know many of those objecting to the Kraft deal objected to the food product itself, while others simply objected to the "surprise." This is very different than objecting to the idea all together or objecting to Sponsorship all together. The kind of dialogue you reported certainly shows this. Also, the idea of Twitter "acting" like it's a great place for open debate, while those who try to indulge in such debate are often treated shamefully or even threatened. How obnoxious is that?

I used that as an opportunity to mention that on our state, more seasoned leaders like Judy Dodd also posted in support - because they understand what it takes to fund the many services offered through KER.

Since they did not have other ?s — I expanded on how the board takes these decisions seriously, evaluates the many pros and cons that were expressed on the listserv, and that it was a pilot to potentially reach many consumers.

I also mentioned that Sonja's video announced that this would be happening - and thousands of RDs viewed the video w positive comments - but that the NYTimes article and misinformation resulted in a downward spiral.

Since this is a legal issue -it will take time to resolve, but the Board is listening and interested in their suggestions.

As a forever NE member - and they nominated me for Director at Large - I told them that I personally feel we need to work with corporations to make improvements - and if we do not, others will step in like chefs, nurses and others.

One person state that we need to see more comments on the listserv like this - but I replied saying I am always unsure w being on the BOD - how active I should be on the listserv.

I closed with saying that we need to find a solution that works for our members, requested that the chair send a letter on behalf of the DPG with their top issues, and to know that I, as Director at Large, represent them - and can be contacted by phone or email at any time.

I feel like we are moving forward... leaving for Area 6/7 NDEP meeting next - so I hope we have made a turn!

Dear Academy Members,

Since our last communication on March 30 regarding the Kids Eat Right pilot initiative with Kraft, we have received a number of follow-up questions about the program and our next steps. In an effort to keep all Academy members apprised of the latest developments, I will be sending out regular e-mails to address the most prevalent questions and keep everyone up to date.

I appreciate the passion and interest of all members who have taken the time to share their thoughts. Following are comments on the most common questions and topics.

Why wasn't the termination more immediate?

The process for termination of the contract with Kraft will require some legal discussions between the Academy's attorneys and Kraft's legal department. We are moving forward diligently to finalize the termination of the contract, and we will immediately notify the entire membership when the final legal process is complete.

Why didn't you know that a Kraft Singles sponsorship would have negative repercussions?

The Academy launched this initiative with the goal of raising consumer awareness about the importance of having vitamin D and calcium as essential nutrients in children's diets and driving consumers, in particular moms, to our Kids Eat Right website for unbranded content. The program aimed to leverage Kraft's extensive national distribution network and gain access – through this product – to millions of consumer homes. Since the contract firmly stipulated this was not an endorsement, we did not foresee the potential for the "proud supporter of Kids Eat Right" messaging to be misconstrued as an "endorsement" of a product. This has been a teachable moment for us.

How is the Academy going to move forward?

Kids Eat Right continues to be one of the Foundation's and Academy's most important and rewarding initiatives. We will focus on all of the extensive resources and positive, unbranded messages this program offers to empower families to shop, cook and eat healthy.

Both Boards are opening a constructive dialogue with members nationwide, and we plan to have an open discussion about industry sponsorships at the upcoming House of Delegates meeting in May. In addition, key members of the Academy's leadership will be at many Affiliate and DPG meetings over the next few weeks including California, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

I encourage all members to continue providing input and feedback that contributes to this dialogue in the days, weeks and months to come.

Sincerely,

Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD, FAND

Academy President 2014-2015

The Academy launched this initiative with the goal of raising consumer awareness about the importance of having vitamin D and calcium as essential nutrients in children's diets and driving consumers, in particular moms, to our Kids Eat Right website for unbranded content. The program aimed to leverage Kraft's extensive national distribution network and gain access – through this product – to millions of consumer homes. Since the contract firmly stipulated this was not an endorsement, we did not foresee the potential for the "proud supporter of Kids Eat Right" messaging to be misconstrued as an "endorsement" of a product. This has been a teachable moment for us.

How is the Academy going to move forward?

Kids Eat Right continues to be one of the Foundation's and Academy's most important and rewarding initiatives. We will focus on all of the extensive resources and positive, unbranded messages this program offers to empower families to shop, cook and eat healthy.

Both Boards are opening a constructive dialogue with members nationwide, and we plan to have an open discussion about industry sponsorships at the upcoming House of Delegates meeting in May. In addition, key members of the Academy's leadership will be at many Affiliate and DPG meetings over the next few weeks including California, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

I encourage all members to continue providing input and feedback that contributes to this dialogue in the days, weeks and months to come.

Sincerely,

Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD, FAND

Dear Academy Members,

Since our last communication on March 30 regarding the Kids Eat Right pilot initiative with Kraft, we have received a number of follow-up questions about the program and our next steps. In an effort to keep all Academy members apprised of the latest developments, I will be sending out regular e-mails to address the most prevalent questions and keep everyone up to date.

I appreciate the passion and interest of all members who have taken the time to share their thoughts. Following are comments on the most common questions and topics.

Why wasn't the termination more immediate?

The process for termination of the contract with Kraft will require some legal discussions between the Academy's attorneys and Kraft's legal department. We are moving forward diligently to finalize the termination of the contract, and we will immediately notify the entire membership when the final legal process is complete.

Why didn't you know that a Kraft Singles sponsorship would have negative repercussions?

The Academy launched this initiative with the goal of raising consumer awareness about the importance of having vitamin D and calcium as essential nutrients in children's diets and driving consumers, in particular moms, to our Kids Eat Right website for unbranded content. The program aimed to leverage Kraft's extensive national distribution network and gain access – through this product – to millions of consumer homes. Subject: RE: 2014 Foundation Tax Returns

Constance,

I don't have all of the answers in front of me. However, I think the following should be correct. If not, I will let you know tomorrow. I put the answers below in red. As for the percentage of the budget in reserves; the policy for the Academy indicates 50% of budgeted expenses should be in reserve. The Foundation is a little unique in that it has a great deal of money associated with Temporarily and Permanently restricted programs. However, it does have over a year in reserve in the unrestricted assets.

Yes the organization's have run deficits. I know Donna may want to provide input. The reserves for the various groups were rising. It was determine by the FAC and Board that the Academy would use reserves to invest in new programs and initiatives as long as there wasn't a risk of the reserves declining to an uncomfortable level. I have attached the financial planning policy that may help.

I hope this helps. I know the Tax returns can be a little odd. They are a recount of the audited financial statements with a little more information. Some things may make sense; some don't. Let me know if you need anything else. I can have the tax accountants attend the next foundation board meeting if you like. I will also verify tomorrow the answer to question 4 below.

Have a great night.

Subject: RE: 2014 Foundation Tax Returns

Thank you Susie for sending these forms for the Foundation's tax returns. I do think it would be instructive to review these in further detail at our April 22nd meeting—especially the financial connections between the Academy and Foundation. I have a few questions for Paul for clarification.

1) The request for extension was for Jan 2015. We now are filing on April 15. Why was there a need for 2 extensions? What information was not available that was needed?—Form 8868, p.2

Answer: The tax returns cannot be done until after the audit is completed and accepted by the Board. Since that does not happen until FNCE in October, we automatically file for an extension because the returns have to be filed by October 15th. Naturally, by default, we need the first extension of 90 days just to be able to begin the process. The process requires a great deal of "give and take" between staff and the tax attorneys. In addition, the reviews required along with holiday season and the requirement for the Board to have the documents before filing requires us to file a second extension. This gives us to April 15th to finalize the returns. This is not an issue since the Foundation does not pay any taxes. In the case of the Academy, we would estimate any taxes that may be required and pay those in order to not pay any penalties. The time line for this process also allows us manage the staffing requirements internally.

2) On the 990: who is the non-independent voting member?

Answer: Pat is considered a non-voting member of the Foundation board.

3) Why is the number of employees 0 for the Foundation, Form 990 p.1 , line 5, while salaries on line 15 are $737,215?

Answer: This is one of oddities of the IRS. The IRS has ruled that people are considered the staff of the organization that provides the payroll or who provides the W2s. Even though the employees, like Susan Burns, Beth Labrador, Katie Brown, Mary Beth, etc., work for the Foundation, they are not considered employees of the Foundation. This is a change from previous years. The expenses of $737,215 are the true expenses paid by the Foundation for the work provided by the staff. It is kind of like a “transfer” from one entity to another; The Academy pays the payroll and the Foundation reimburses the Academy for the expense.

4) Why are the expenses ~$500,000+ less than the previous year?

Answer: I will have to get back to you on this one. However, I think it has to do with EB4K initiative. It may have ended in 2013.

5) What are considered membership dues for the Foundation?—Part VIII, p. 9—approx $1.2 million. They are reported as revenue.

Answer: Even though this may not sound logical , this really is membership contributions. Given the definitions provided by the IRS, member contributions go onto this line (even though it says membership dues). The Foundation had $1.2 million in member contributions in 2014.

6) For Schedule A—why does the Academy have contributions of approximately $2.2 million to the Foundation?

Answer: Again, even though this may not sound logical, this number is for the total contributions provided to the Foundation by the Academy, CDR, DPGS, MIGS for the past five years. The primary contributor is probably CDR with the scholarships that they provide. I believe they are $1.8 million of the total. The remainder would come from the DPGS (approximately $300,000) and the Academy (approximately $100K). Again, I would have to verify the exact amounts, but, I should be close.

7) For Schedule B, part 1, with the exception of Martha Snavely, why do the amounts for total contributions differ from Schedule A?

Answer: Again, the IRS is not logical; Schedule B, part 1 is just for the current fiscal year. So, Martha Snavely is consistent because it came in the 2014 Fiscal year. The other amounts on Schedule B, part 1 would be one year's worth of contributions of the five years included in Schedule A.

I may be reading these incorrectly, but for the consolidated statements, specifically p. 23 and 25, it appears that the Academy, CDR, and the Foundation are running in a deficit position without the addition of return of investments to their budgets. The Academy appears in a deficit even with the returns on Investments. It has been awhile since I have been on the Board, so I may not remember, but is there a certain percentage of returns on investment that are "allowed/safe" to use for operating costs? What is the percentage of operating costs that we should have in reserve? I realize these may have been mentioned at a previous ANDF Board meeting, but somehow I may have missed them.

Thank you for your patience with these questions. I appreciate your consideration.

With kind regards,

Constance

Constance,

I don't have all of the answers in front of me. However, I think the following should be correct. If not, I will let you know tomorrow. I put the answers below in red. As for the percentage of the budget in reserves; the policy for the Academy indicates 50% of budgeted expenses should be in reserve. The Foundation is a little unique in that it has a great deal of money associated with Temporarily and Permanently restricted programs. However, it does have over a year in reserve in the unrestricted assets.

Yes the organization's have run deficits. I know Donna may want to provide input. The reserves for the various groups were rising. It was determine by the FAC and Board that the Academy would use reserves to invest in new programs and initiatives as long as there wasn't a risk of the reserves declining to an uncomfortable level. I have attached the financial planning policy that may help.

I hope this helps. I know the Tax returns can be a little odd. They are a recount of the audited financial statements with a little more information. Some things may make sense; some don't. Let me know if you need anything else. I can have the tax accountants attend the next foundation board meeting if you like. I will also verify tomorrow the answer to question 4 below.

Have a great night.

Paul

Subject: RE: 2014 Foundation Tax Returns

Thank you Susie for sending these forms for the Foundation's tax returns. I do think it would be instructive to review these in further detail at our April 22nd meeting—especially the financial connections between the Academy and Foundation. I have a few questions for Paul for clarification.

1) The request for extension was for Jan 2015. We now are filing on April 15. Why was there a need for 2 extensions? What information was not available that was needed?—Form 8868, p.2

Answer: The tax returns cannot be done until after the audit is completed and accepted by the Board. Since that does not happen until FNCE in October, we automatically file for an extension because the returns have to be filed by October 15th. Naturally, by default, we need the first extension of 90 days just to be able to begin the process. The process requires a great deal of “give and take” between staff and the tax attorneys. In addition, the reviews required along with holiday season and the requirement for the Board to have the documents before filing requires us to file a second extension. This gives us to April 15th to finalize the returns. This is not an issue since the Foundation does not pay any taxes. In the case of the Academy, we would estimate any taxes that may be required and pay those in order to not pay any penalties. The time line for this process also allows us manage the staffing requirements internally.

2) On the 990: who is the non-independent voting member?

Answer: Pat is considered a non-voting member of the Foundation board.

3) Why is the number of employees 0 for the Foundation, Form 990 p.1 , line 5, while salaries on line 15 are $737,215?

Answer: This is one of oddities of the IRS. The IRS has ruled that people are considered the staff of the organization that provides the payroll or who provides the W2s. Even though the employees, like Susan Burns, Beth Labrador, Katie Brown, Mary Beth, etc., work for the Foundation, they are not considered employees of the Foundation. This is a change from previous years. The expenses of $737,215 are the true expenses paid by the Foundation for the work provided by the staff. It is kind of like a “transfer” from one entity to another; The Academy pays the payroll and the Foundation reimburses the Academy for the expense.

4) Why are the expenses ~$500,000+ less than the previous year?

Answer: I will have to get back to you on this one. However, I think it has to do with EB4K initiative. It may have ended in 2013.

The primary contributor is probably CDR with the scholarships that they provide. I believe they are $1.8 million of the total. The remainder would come from the DPGS (approximately $300,000) and the Academy (approximately $100K). Again, I would have to verify the exact amounts, but, I should be close.

7) For Schedule B, part 1, with the exception of Martha Snavely, why do the amounts for total contributions differ from Schedule A?

Dear Academy Members,

Since our last communication on March 30 regarding the Kids Eat Right pilot initiative with Kraft, we have received a number of follow-up questions about the program and our next steps. In an effort to keep all Academy members apprised of the latest developments, I will be sending out regular e-mails to address the most prevalent questions and keep everyone up to date.

I appreciate the passion and interest of all members who have taken the time to share their thoughts. Following are comments on the most common questions and topics.

Why wasn't the termination more immediate?

The process for termination of the contract with Kraft will require some legal discussions between the Academy's attorneys and Kraft's legal department. We are moving forward diligently to finalize the termination of the contract, and we will immediately notify the entire membership when the final legal process is complete.

Why didn't you know that a Kraft Singles sponsorship would have negative repercussions?

The Academy launched this initiative with the goal of raising consumer awareness about the importance of having vitamin D and calcium as essential nutrients in children's diets and driving consumers, in particular moms, to our Kids Eat Right website for unbranded content. The program aimed to leverage Kraft's extensive national distribution network and gain access – through this product – to millions of consumer homes. Since the contract firmly stipulated this was not an endorsement, we did not foresee the potential for the “proud supporter of Kids Eat Right” messaging to be misconstrued as an “endorsement” of a product. This has been a teachable moment for us.

How is the Academy going to move forward?

Kids Eat Right continues to be one of the Foundation's and Academy's most important and rewarding initiatives. We will focus on all of the extensive resources and positive, unbranded messages this program offers to empower families to shop, cook and eat healthy.

Both Boards are opening a constructive dialogue with members nationwide, and we plan to have an open discussion about industry sponsorships at the upcoming House of Delegates meeting in May. In addition, key members of the Academy's leadership will be at many Affiliate and DPG meetings over the next few weeks including California, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

I encourage all members to continue providing input and feedback that contributes to this dialogue in the days, weeks and months to come.

Sincerely,

Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD, FAND

Dear Academy Members,

Since our last communication on March 30 regarding the Kids Eat Right pilot initiative with Kraft, we have received a number of follow-up questions about the program and our next steps. In an effort to keep all Academy members apprised of the latest developments, I will be sending out regular e-mails to address the most prevalent questions and keep everyone up to date.

I appreciate the passion and interest of all members who have taken the time to share their thoughts. Following are comments on the most common questions and topics.

Why wasn't the termination more immediate?

The process for termination of the contract with Kraft will require some legal discussions between the Academy's attorneys and Kraft's legal department. We are moving forward diligently to finalize the termination of the contract, and we will immediately notify the entire membership when the final legal process is complete.

Why didn't you know that a Kraft Singles sponsorship would have negative repercussions?

The Academy launched this initiative with the goal of raising consumer awareness about the importance of having vitamin D and calcium as essential nutrients in children's diets and driving consumers, in particular moms, to our Kids Eat Right website for unbranded content. The program aimed to leverage Kraft's extensive national distribution network and gain access – through this product – to millions of consumer homes. Since the contract firmly stipulated this was not an endorsement, we did not foresee the potential for the "proud supporter of Kids Eat Right" messaging to be misconstrued as an "endorsement" of a product. This has been a teachable moment for us.

How is the Academy going to move forward?

Kids Eat Right continues to be one of the Foundation's and Academy's most important and rewarding initiatives. We will focus on all of the extensive resources and positive, unbranded messages this program offers to empower families to shop, cook and eat healthy.

Both Boards are opening a constructive dialogue with members nationwide, and we plan to have an open discussion about industry sponsorships at the upcoming House of Delegates meeting in May. In addition, key members of the Academy's leadership will be at many Affiliate and DPG meetings over the next few weeks including California, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

I encourage all members to continue providing input and feedback that contributes to this dialogue in the days, weeks and months to come.

Sincerely,

*Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD, FAND

Both Boards are opening a constructive dialogue with members nationwide, and we plan to have an open discussion about industry sponsorships at the upcoming House of Delegates meeting in May. In addition, key members of the Academy's leadership will be at many Affiliate and DPG meetings over the next few weeks including California, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

I encourage all members to continue providing input and feedback that contributes to this dialogue in the days, weeks and months to come.

Sincerely,

Dear Academy Members,

Since our last communication on March 30 regarding the Kids Eat Right pilot initiative with Kraft, we have received a number of follow-up questions about the program and our next steps. In an effort to keep all Academy members apprised of the latest developments, I will be sending out regular e-mails to address the most prevalent questions and keep everyone up to date.

I appreciate the passion and interest of all members who have taken the time to share their thoughts. Following are comments on the most common questions and topics.

Why wasn't the termination more immediate?

The process for termination of the contract with Kraft will require some legal discussions between the Academy's attorneys and Kraft's legal department. We are moving forward diligently to finalize the termination of the contract, and we will immediately notify the entire membership when the final legal process is complete.

Why didn't you know that a Kraft Singles sponsorship would have negative repercussions?

The Academy launched this initiative with the goal of raising consumer awareness about the importance of having vitamin D and calcium as essential nutrients in children's diets and driving consumers, in particular moms, to our Kids Eat Right website for unbranded content. The program aimed to leverage Kraft's extensive national distribution network and gain access – through this product – to millions of consumer homes. Since the contract firmly stipulated this was not an endorsement, we did not foresee the potential for the “proud supporter of Kids Eat Right” messaging to be misconstrued as an “endorsement” of a product. This has been a teachable moment for us.

How is the Academy going to move forward?

Kids Eat Right continues to be one of the Foundation's and Academy's most important and rewarding initiatives. We will focus on all of the extensive resources and positive, unbranded messages this program offers to empower families to shop, cook and eat healthy.

Both Boards are opening a constructive dialogue with members nationwide, and we plan to have an open discussion about industry sponsorships at the upcoming House of Delegates meeting in May. In addition, key members of the Academy's leadership will be at many Affiliate and DPG meetings over the next few weeks including California, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

I encourage all members to continue providing input and feedback that contributes to this dialogue in the days, weeks and months to come.

Sincerely,

Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD, FAND

Dear Donna,

Through your ANDPAC donations youve helped us positively influence policy and now it is your turn to take the lead! Attend the Academys Public Policy Workshop (PPW) June 7 9, 2015:

- Unmatched leadership training
- Professional connections with leaders in the field
- Face-to-face dialogue with your members of Congress
- Skills that will launch your career beyond PPW

We are offering other fun ANDPAC activities at PPW!

Attend ANDPACs Signature Event on Monday, June 8: Mingle with nutrition and dietetic leaders and enjoy hors d'oeuvre and spirits while you hear from members of Congress who support our profession through bills like the Older Americans Act and the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act. This event is open to all Academy members who wish to attend and does not require PPW attendance. Individuals donating $125 or more to the PAC are cordially invited to attend the ANDPAC Signature Event.*

Participate in the ANDPAC Film Festival in Conjunction with HEN DPG: A $20 donation is requested to attend the ANDPAC Film Festival on Saturday, June 6, 2015 at 7:30 pm.* The event will feature a documentary film about food policy issues. You do not have be registered for PPW to attend this event.

See you at PPW!

Sincerely,

Denise Andersen, MS, RDN, LD, CLC

What previous participants have to say about the programs:

Because I primarily work in the clinical setting, my experience in weight management counseling has been limited. This training provided me with the framework to implement behavioral modification counseling to patients who are interested in weight loss.

D. Ahamirano, RD
Clinical Dietitian, Private Practice
Los Angeles, CA

I feel so motivated to change around my current strategies for goal setting and engaging my patients on their care/goals. I feel as though I will have an easier time monitoring and evaluating their progress.

J. Hicks, MBA, RD, LDN
Registered Dietitian
Skokie, IL

Great program. I gained valuable experience and knowledge that will benefit the patients I serve.

C. Schnell, RD

Evelyn,

Since the payroll is through the Academy, the government now requires us to report the salaries as coming through the Academy for tax return purposes. Even though they are for the Foundation. You will also see Mary Beth's salary is no longer allocated between the two organizations as it has been in the past. Since it was new this year, it was an issue discussed with our external tax accountants. They have assured me this is the appropriate way to represent the salaries when reflecting individual information. However, the salaries and benefits for each of these individuals is included within the expenses for the Foundation (represented in the expense area of the return) where applicable.

Let me know if you have any other questions.

Mary Pat and team,

Thanks for leading the Farm Bill advocacy efforts! As a result, Maine Farmland Trust received almost $250,000 today from the USDA as part of the Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive program in the Farm Bill to help increase fruit and vegetable consumption among SNAP recipients.

I would also like to recognize the Academy House of Delegates for raising awareness on Food Insecurity when this topic was discussed three years ago. As a direct result Maine Academy volunteer leaders formed a Food Insecurity Task Force that led Maine's grassroots efforts. We can do so much more when we work together.

Hello!

I wanted to share good news from our Farm Bill advocacy efforts. This is a very successful pilot that received increased funding in the last Farm Bill. Rather than penalizing persons on SNAP , this program incentivizes persons to purchase more fruits and vegetables. Through advocacy efforts, funding was increased to $31 million and offers significant job opportunities for our members wanting to work in food security and healthy food systems.

Jenn Folliard represented the Academy a few weeks ago as a grant reviewer to distribute these new monies.

Let me know if you have any questions!

USDA Awards $31 Million in Grants to Help SNAP Participants Afford Healthy Foods

ORLANDO, Fla., April 1, 2015 – Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack today announced that USDA has awarded $31.5 million in funding to local, state, and national organizations to support programs that help participants in the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) increase their purchase of fruits and vegetables. Recognizing that all Americans fall well short of the servings of fruits and vegetables recommended by the Dietary Guidelines for Americans, the grants will test incentive strategies to help SNAP participants better afford fruits and vegetables. These grants were made through the Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive (FINI) program authorized by the 2014 Farm Bill.

The Secretary, who made the announcement at the Freshfields Farm market in Orlando, said, "Encouraging low income families to put more healthy food in their grocery baskets is part of USDA's ongoing commitment to improving the diet and health of all Americans." Vilsack continued, "These creative community partnerships also benefit regional food producers and local economies along with SNAP participants."

FINI is a joint effort between USDA's National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) and USDA's Food and Nutrition Service, which oversees SNAP and has responsibility for evaluating the effectiveness of the incentive projects. FINI brings together stakeholders from distinct parts of the food system and fosters understanding of how they might improve the nutrition and health status of SNAP households. The awards under FINI represent a variety of projects, including relatively small pilot projects, multi-year community-based projects, and larger-scale multi-year projects.

USDA is funding projects in 26 states for up to 4 years, using funds from FY2014 and FY2015. USDA will issue a separate request for applications in FY16, and in subsequent years. Fiscal year 2014 and 2015 awards are:

Pilot projects (up to $100,000, not to exceed 1 year):

- Yolo County Department of Employment and Social Services, Woodland, Calif., $100,000
- Heritage Ranch, Inc., Honaunau, Hawaii, $100,000
- Backyard Harvest, Inc., Moscow, Idaho, $10,695
- City of Aurora, Aurora, Ill., $30,000
- Forsyth Farmers' Market, Inc., Savannah, Ga., $50,000
- Blue Grass Community Foundation, Lexington, Ky., $47,250
- Lower Phalen Creek Project, Saint Paul, Minn., $45,230
- Vermont Farm-to-School, Inc., Newport, V.T., $93,750
- New Mexico Farmers Marketing Association, Santa Fe, N.M., $99,999
- Santa Fe Community Foundation, Santa Fe, N.M., $100,000
- Guilford County Department of Health and Human Services, Greensboro, N.C., $99,987
- Chester County Food Bank, Exton, Pa., $76,543
- Nurture Nature Center, Easton, Pa., $56,918
- Rodale Institute, Kutztown, Pa., $46,442
- Rhode Island Public Health Institute, Providence, R.I., $100,000
- San Antonio Food Bank, San Antonio, Texas, $100,000

Multi-year community-based projects (up to $500,000, not to exceed 4 years):

- Mandela Marketplace, Inc., Oakland, Calif., $422,500
- Market Umbrella, New Orleans, La., $378,326
- Maine Farmland Trust, Belfast, Maine, $249,816
- Farmers Market Fund, Portland, Ore., $499,172
- The Food Trust, Philadelphia, Pa., $500,000
- Utahns Against Hunger, Salt Lake City, Utah, $247,038
- Opportunity Council, Bellingham, Wash., $301,658

Multi-year large-scale projects ($500,000 or greater, not to exceed 4 years):

- Ecology Center, Berkeley, Calif., $3,704,287
- Wholesome Wave Foundation Charitable Ventures, Inc., Bridgeport, Conn., $3,775,700
- AARP Foundation, Washington, D.C., $3,306,224
- Florida Certified Organic Growers and Consumers, Gainesville, Fla., $1,937,179
- Massachusetts Department of Transitional Assistance, Boston, Mass., $3,401,384
- Fair Food Network, Ann Arbor, Mich., $5,171,779
- International Rescue Committee, Inc., New York, N.Y., $564,231
- Washington State Department of Health, Tumwater, Wash., $5,859,307

Descriptions of the funded projects are available on the NIFA website.

Wednesday's announcement featured Marty Mesh, Executive Director of Florida Certified Organic Growers and Consumers (FOG). With FINI funding, FOG will expand its Fresh Access Bucks program, which allows SNAP participants to double their food dollars for fresh, Florida-grown fruits and vegetables at farmers markets around the state.

An evaluation of the funded projects will help policymakers determine how best to provide incentives to SNAP participants to increase healthy purchases. Priority was given to projects that develop innovative or improved benefit redemption systems that can be replicated, use direct-to-consumer marketing, show previous success implementing nutrition incentive programs that connect low-income consumers with agricultural producers, provide locally- or regionally-produced fruits and vegetables, and are located in underserved communities.

All FINI projects must (1) have the support of a state SNAP agency; (2) increase the purchase of fruits and vegetables by SNAP participants by providing incentives at the point of purchase; (3) operate through authorized SNAP retailers; (4) agree to participate in the comprehensive FINI program evaluation; (5) ensure that the same terms and conditions apply to purchases made by both SNAP participants and non-participants; and (6) include effective and efficient technologies for benefit redemption systems that may be replicated in other states and communities.

The FINI program is authorized and funded by the 2014 Farm Bill. The Farm Bill builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past six years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for taxpayers. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. For more information, visit www.usda.gov/farmbill.

SNAP — the nation's first line of defense against hunger — helps put food on the table for millions of families experiencing hardship. The program has never been more critical to the fight against hunger. Over 60 percent of SNAP participants are children, elderly, or individuals with disabilities, and 42 percent of participants live in households in which at least one adult is working but still cannot afford to put sufficient food on the table. SNAP benefits provided help to millions who lost their jobs during the Great Recession. For many, SNAP benefits provide temporary assistance, with the average new applicant remaining on the program 12 months.

Through federal funding and leadership for research, education and extension programs, NIFA focuses on investing in science and solving critical issues impacting people's daily lives and the nation's future. More information can be found on the NIFA website.

Hello again!

I know that Stefanie or I have in some way mentioned this opportunity to you.

We did receive more information on the timeline, and the news that advocacy organizations are developing a toolkit to facilitate the collection of these stories. We thought that if each of you could identify 2-3 of your member leaders working within the nutrition safety net programs, like school meals, SNAP, SNAP-Ed, WIC, CACFP, Meals on Wheels, congregate dining, that would be great. This is still confidential at this time, but we want to provide as much lead time as possible.

We recognize the difficulties that talking with someone who struggles with hunger may present.

For that reason, and to answer any questions on this project, Stefanie and I would like to host a call on Friday April 10 at 9:30 EST.

Please let us know if that will not work.

These are few dates to keep in mind:

Monday, April 20 - Final draft of Toolkit - circulate to all - get it out to your networks

§ Monday, April 27 - Organizations start recruiting for stories

End Hunger in America - Stories from Across Our Nation

Overview

With an abundant food supply in our nation, one can easily look past or be completely unaware that millions of our neighbors struggle to make ends meet including children, Veterans, and older adults. Many people would be shocked to learn that they know someone who is may need a helping hand up. That can and needs to change.

The purpose of this initiative is to highlight that hunger and food insecurity exists everywhere in the United States of America; broadcast people's stories in their own words about how lack of access at all times to enough nutritious food for an active, healthy life impacts them and their families; and illustrate how the nutrition safety net benefits those in need.

Through a variety of targeted programs - such as SNAP (formerly called food stamps), WIC, School Meals, Meals on Wheels, Child and Adult Care Feeding Programs, Summer Feeding Programs - our nation's nutrition safety net is meant to help lift people out of poverty. These programs are funded by Congress. So, Congress needs to know that, while our nation is recovering from the Great Recession, many are still struggling and hunger persists in America.

Best,

Jenn and Stef

Hello DPG policy leaders!

We wanted to alert you to this exciting new opportunity. The hunger and public health advocacy community will be strategically requesting stories to fill this story "bank" around nutrition assistance programs and the impact on health and hunger.

We will plan to roll out more details in the coming weeks and will need your help to target your members that may have a great story to tell!

Please start thinking about who would be ideal for this opportunity but please don't share yet! :)

More details and strategy will be coming soon, as we continue to work with prominent members of Congress on this effort.

We are very excited and we hope you are too!

Mary Pat and team,

Thanks for leading the Farm Bill advocacy efforts! As a result, Maine Farmland Trust received almost $250,000 today from the USDA as part of the Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive program in the Farm Bill to help increase fruit and vegetable consumption among SNAP recipients.

I would also like to recognize the Academy House of Delegates for raising awareness on Food Insecurity when this topic was discussed three years ago. As a direct result Maine Academy volunteer leaders formed a Food Insecurity Task Force that led Maine's grassroots efforts. We can do so much more when we work together.

Sincerely,

Hello!

I wanted to share good news from our Farm Bill advocacy efforts. This is a very successful pilot that received increased funding in the last Farm Bill. Rather than penalizing persons on SNAP , this program incentivizes persons to purchase more fruits and vegetables. Through advocacy efforts, funding was increased to $31 million and offers significant job opportunities for our members wanting to work in food security and healthy food systems.

Jenn Folliard represented the Academy a few weeks ago as a grant reviewer to distribute these new monies.

Let me know if you have any questions!

USDA Awards $31 Million in Grants to Help SNAP Participants Afford Healthy Foods

ORLANDO, Fla., April 1, 2015 – Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack today announced that USDA has awarded $31.5 million in funding to local, state, and national organizations to support programs that help participants in the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) increase their purchase of fruits and vegetables. Recognizing that all Americans fall well short of the servings of fruits and vegetables recommended by the Dietary Guidelines for Americans, the grants will test incentive strategies to help SNAP participants better afford fruits and vegetables. These grants were made through the Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive (FINI) program authorized by the 2014 Farm Bill.

The Secretary, who made the announcement at the Freshfields Farm market in Orlando, said, "Encouraging low income families to put more healthy food in their grocery baskets is part of USDA's ongoing commitment to improving the diet and health of all Americans." Vilsack continued, "These creative community partnerships also benefit regional food producers and local economies along with SNAP participants."

FINI is a joint effort between USDA's National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) and USDA's Food and Nutrition Service, which oversees SNAP and has responsibility for evaluating the effectiveness of the incentive projects. FINI brings together stakeholders from distinct parts of the food system and fosters understanding of how they might improve the nutrition and health status of SNAP households. The awards under FINI represent a variety of projects, including relatively small pilot projects, multi-year community-based projects, and larger-scale multi-year projects.

USDA is funding projects in 26 states for up to 4 years, using funds from FY2014 and FY2015. USDA will issue a separate request for applications in FY16, and in subsequent years. Fiscal year 2014 and 2015 awards are:

Pilot projects (up to $100,000, not to exceed 1 year):

- Yolo County Department of Employment and Social Services, Woodland, Calif., $100,000
- Heritage Ranch, Inc., Honaunau, Hawaii, $100,000
- Backyard Harvest, Inc., Moscow, Idaho, $10,695
- City of Aurora, Aurora, Ill., $30,000
- Forsyth Farmers' Market, Inc., Savannah, Ga., $50,000
- Blue Grass Community Foundation, Lexington, Ky., $47,250
- Lower Phalen Creek Project, Saint Paul, Minn., $45,230
- Vermont Farm-to-School, Inc., Newport, V.T., $93,750
- New Mexico Farmers Marketing Association, Santa Fe, N.M., $99,999
- Santa Fe Community Foundation, Santa Fe, N.M., $100,000
- Guilford County Department of Health and Human Services, Greensboro, N.C., $99,987
- Chester County Food Bank, Exton, Pa., $76,543
- Nurture Nature Center, Easton, Pa., $56,918
- Rodale Institute, Kutztown, Pa., $46,442
- Rhode Island Public Health Institute, Providence, R.I., $100,000
- San Antonio Food Bank, San Antonio, Texas, $100,000

Multi-year community-based projects (up to $500,000, not to exceed 4 years):

- Mandela Marketplace, Inc., Oakland, Calif., $422,500
- Market Umbrella, New Orleans, La., $378,326
- Maine Farmland Trust, Belfast, Maine, $249,816
- Farmers Market Fund, Portland, Ore., $499,172
- The Food Trust, Philadelphia, Pa., $500,000
- Utahns Against Hunger, Salt Lake City, Utah, $247,038
- Opportunity Council, Bellingham, Wash., $301,658

Multi-year large-scale projects ($500,000 or greater, not to exceed 4 years):

- Ecology Center, Berkeley, Calif., $3,704,287
- Wholesome Wave Foundation Charitable Ventures, Inc., Bridgeport, Conn., $3,775,700
- AARP Foundation, Washington, D.C., $3,306,224
- Florida Certified Organic Growers and Consumers, Gainesville, Fla., $1,937,179
- Massachusetts Department of Transitional Assistance, Boston, Mass., $3,401,384
- Fair Food Network, Ann Arbor, Mich., $5,171,779

- International Rescue Committee, Inc., New York, N.Y., $564,231
- Washington State Department of Health, Tumwater, Wash., $5,859,307

Descriptions of the funded projects are available on the NIFA website.

Wednesday's announcement featured Marty Mesh, Executive Director of Florida Certified Organic Growers and Consumers (FOG). With FINI funding, FOG will expand its Fresh Access Bucks program, which allows SNAP participants to double their food dollars for fresh, Florida-grown fruits and vegetables at farmers markets around the state.

An evaluation of the funded projects will help policymakers determine how best to provide incentives to SNAP participants to increase healthy purchases. Priority was given to projects that develop innovative or improved benefit redemption systems that can be replicated, use direct-to-consumer marketing, show previous success implementing nutrition incentive programs that connect low-income consumers with agricultural producers, provide locally- or regionally-produced fruits and vegetables, and are located in underserved communities.

All FINI projects must (1) have the support of a state SNAP agency; (2) increase the purchase of fruits and vegetables by SNAP participants by providing incentives at the point of purchase; (3) operate through authorized SNAP retailers; (4) agree to participate in the comprehensive FINI program evaluation; (5) ensure that the same terms and conditions apply to purchases made by both SNAP participants and non-participants; and (6) include effective and efficient technologies for benefit redemption systems that may be replicated in other states and communities.

The FINI program is authorized and funded by the 2014 Farm Bill. The Farm Bill builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past six years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for taxpayers. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. For more information, visit www.usda.gov/farmbill.

SNAP — the nation's first line of defense against hunger — helps put food on the table for millions of families experiencing hardship. The program has never been more critical to the fight against hunger. Over 60 percent of SNAP participants are children, elderly, or individuals with disabilities, and 42 percent of participants live in households in which at least one adult is working but still cannot afford to put sufficient food on the table. SNAP benefits provided help to millions who lost their jobs during the Great Recession. For many, SNAP benefits provide temporary assistance, with the average new applicant remaining on the program 12 months.

Through federal funding and leadership for research, education and extension programs, NIFA focuses on investing in science and solving critical issues impacting people's daily lives and the nation's future. More information can be found on the NIFA website.

This is a reminder that the upcoming Board of Directors meeting is scheduled for May 13-14 at Academy headquarters in Chicago, 120 South Riverside Plaza, Suite 2000. In previous years the orientation for incoming Board members preceded the May Board meeting, however orientation for the 2015-16 Board will be focused on governance and will occur during the July 8-10 Board retreat in New Orleans.

Reservations have been made at the Hotel Allegro, 171 W. Randolph Street, for arrival on May 12, unless you request otherwise. Your hotel room will be master-billed, but you will be asked to pay for incidentals. The meeting will convene at 8:00 am on Wednesday, May 13 and will adjourn on Thursday, May 14 at 12:00 pm. We welcome incoming Academy Board members Lucille Beseler, Michele Delille Lites, Linda Farr, Tamara Randall and Jean Ragalie-Carr who will audit the meeting.

You are approved to make your travel arrangements for the May meeting. To book your travel online, click on the following link: <https://adatvl.axo20.com/> and enter 103-2430 into the Approval Code box in the Reporting Information section. First time users will need to select Create a New Account to establish a user record. Detailed instructions are attached.

Susan,

Donna,

I updated the Foundation financial information that was originally to be presented in March. The original included information through January. This has been updated through March. I am not sure what date the new meeting will be, so, Susa will have to add the date on the cover.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Donna,

Sorry I missed this. This is what I expected. The problem with this is it indicates that Barnes and Thornburg does not have the resources, beyond Paula, to address this issue. If I were Paula, or BT, I would not be too thrilled. That being said, it isn't unprecedented that we use outside legal counsel. Usually, it is due to a conflict at BT or where they may not have the expertise. Basic contract law and negotiations are a different issue. None-the-less, it is the board's purview to do as they have done and Pat has to follow suit.

Paul, They were not talking about more help from Barnes and Thornburg. They were talking about going outside of that group to get a second opinion. I love Paula, but I am in the minority on this one. This is what Sonja sent to Pat. Yikes!

The Academy Board met in executive session and discussed ways we could support you and the Academy staff in addressing the current crisis with regard to legal counsel and crisis communication.

Legal Counsel. The Academy Board appreciates the advice and work that our legal counsel is providing. Certainly Paula has guided the Academy through significant growth and change over several years. The current crisis with the Kraft contract and relationship necessitates additional external legal support for Paula to help expedite legal/contract resolution, to provide another set of eyes on the issue, and to potentially provide additional expertise. We would see Paula as lead counsel with external legal support. The Board requests that you as the CEO, identify and retain additional legal support in consultation with the Academy Board Chair.

My hope is that she is ignoring this!!

Donna,

More legal help. from Barnes and Thornburg? I hope so. Here is the link to their website. <http://www.btlaw.com/> They are pretty big and can provide all of the support necessary to handle this situation. Paula is just the tip of the iceberg. She has a ton of support underneath the surface. If the board is looking to something outside, maybe the link to their website will help. I can't imagine Paula or Barnes and Thornburg would take well to having another law firm look over their shoulders. It is kind of like accounting; One auditor only. If we had another do a review, the first would look at that as a vote of no confidence and quit. That happened to the Academy in 2001.

That is my two cents. Let me know if I can help.

Especially the one person trying to get rid of people!!!!!! We are as much at fault about this as the Academy is. We are all in this together and no one should be shouldering all the blame. It was a good idea until social media high jacked it!!! Members are being so short sighted. This is going to have huge ramifications on the 100th anniversary program. If you want to send Cecily the deck and ask her to get with me on doing the recording I will do it. Thanks for all the work you put into this. As you can imagine I am spending a huge amount of time on the Kraft issue. I was worried about having to write a script for this. Pat has asked about calling me tomorrow to discuss what is going on. USDA Awards $31 Million in Grants to Help SNAP Participants Afford Healthy Foods
Mary Pat and team,

Thanks for leading the Farm Bill advocacy efforts! As a result, Maine Farmland Trust received almost $250,000 today from the USDA as part of the Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive program in the Farm Bill to help increase fruit and vegetable consumption among SNAP recipients.

I would also like to recognize the Academy House of Delegates for raising awareness on Food Insecurity when this topic was discussed three years ago. As a direct result Maine Academy volunteer leaders formed a Food Insecurity Task Force that led Maine's grassroots efforts. We can do so much more when we work together.

Hello!

I wanted to share good news from our Farm Bill advocacy efforts. This is a very successful pilot that received increased funding in the last Farm Bill. Rather than penalizing persons on SNAP , this program incentivizes persons to purchase more fruits and vegetables. Through advocacy efforts, funding was increased to $31 million and offers significant job opportunities for our members wanting to work in food security and healthy food systems.

Jenn Folliard represented the Academy a few weeks ago as a grant reviewer to distribute these new monies.

Let me know if you have any questions!

USDA Awards $31 Million in Grants to Help SNAP Participants Afford Healthy Foods

ORLANDO, Fla., April 1, 2015 – Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack today announced that USDA has awarded $31.5 million in funding to local, state, and national organizations to support programs that help participants in the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) increase their purchase of fruits and vegetables. Recognizing that all Americans fall well short of the servings of fruits and vegetables recommended by the Dietary Guidelines for Americans, the grants will test incentive strategies to help SNAP participants better afford fruits and vegetables. These grants were made through the Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive (FINI) program authorized by the 2014 Farm Bill.

The Secretary, who made the announcement at the Freshfields Farm market in Orlando, said, "Encouraging low income families to put more healthy food in their grocery baskets is part of USDA's ongoing commitment to improving the diet and health of all Americans." Vilsack continued, "These creative community partnerships also benefit regional food producers and local economies along with SNAP participants."

FINI is a joint effort between USDA's National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) and USDA's Food and Nutrition Service, which oversees SNAP and has responsibility for evaluating the effectiveness of the incentive projects. FINI brings together stakeholders from distinct parts of the food system and fosters understanding of how they might improve the nutrition and health status of SNAP households. The awards under FINI represent a variety of projects, including relatively small pilot projects, multi-year community-based projects, and larger-scale multi-year projects. USDA is funding projects in 26 states for up to 4 years, using funds from FY2014 and FY2015. USDA will issue a separate request for applications in FY16, and in subsequent years. Fiscal year 2014 and 2015 awards are:

Pilot projects (up to $100,000, not to exceed 1 year):

- Yolo County Department of Employment and Social Services, Woodland, Calif., $100,000
- Heritage Ranch, Inc., Honaunau, Hawaii, $100,000
- Backyard Harvest, Inc., Moscow, Idaho, $10,695
- City of Aurora, Aurora, Ill., $30,000
- Forsyth Farmers' Market, Inc., Savannah, Ga., $50,000
- Blue Grass Community Foundation, Lexington, Ky., $47,250
- Lower Phalen Creek Project, Saint Paul, Minn., $45,230
- Vermont Farm-to-School, Inc., Newport, V.T., $93,750
- New Mexico Farmers Marketing Association, Santa Fe, N.M., $99,999
- Santa Fe Community Foundation, Santa Fe, N.M., $100,000
- Guilford County Department of Health and Human Services, Greensboro, N.C., $99,987
- Chester County Food Bank, Exton, Pa., $76,543
- Nurture Nature Center, Easton, Pa., $56,918
- Rodale Institute, Kutztown, Pa., $46,442
- Rhode Island Public Health Institute, Providence, R.I., $100,000
- San Antonio Food Bank, San Antonio, Texas, $100,000

Multi-year community-based projects (up to $500,000, not to exceed 4 years):

- Mandela Marketplace, Inc., Oakland, Calif., $422,500
- Market Umbrella, New Orleans, La., $378,326
- Maine Farmland Trust, Belfast, Maine, $249,816
- Farmers Market Fund, Portland, Ore., $499,172
- The Food Trust, Philadelphia, Pa., $500,000
- Utahns Against Hunger, Salt Lake City, Utah, $247,038

Multi-year large-scale projects ($500,000 or greater, not to exceed 4 years):

- Ecology Center, Berkeley, Calif., $3,704,287
- Wholesome Wave Foundation Charitable Ventures, Inc., Bridgeport, Conn., $3,775,700
- AARP Foundation, Washington, D.C., $3,306,224
- Florida Certified Organic Growers and Consumers, Gainesville, Fla., $1,937,179
- Massachusetts Department of Transitional Assistance, Boston, Mass., $3,401,384
- Fair Food Network, Ann Arbor, Mich., $5,171,779
- International Rescue Committee, Inc., New York, N.Y., $564,231
- Washington State Department of Health, Tumwater, Wash., $5,859,307

Descriptions of the funded projects are available on the NIFA website.

Wednesday's announcement featured Marty Mesh, Executive Director of Florida Certified Organic Growers and Consumers (FOG). With FINI funding, FOG will expand its Fresh Access Bucks program, which allows SNAP participants to double their food dollars for fresh, Florida-grown fruits and vegetables at farmers markets around the state.

An evaluation of the funded projects will help policymakers determine how best to provide incentives to SNAP participants to increase healthy purchases. Priority was given to projects that develop innovative or improved benefit redemption systems that can be replicated, use direct-to-consumer marketing, show previous success implementing nutrition incentive programs that connect low-income consumers with agricultural producers, provide locally- or regionally-produced fruits and vegetables, and are located in underserved communities.

All FINI projects must (1) have the support of a state SNAP agency; (2) increase the purchase of fruits and vegetables by SNAP participants by providing incentives at the point of purchase; (3) operate through authorized SNAP retailers; (4) agree to participate in the comprehensive FINI program evaluation; (5) ensure that the same terms and conditions apply to purchases made by both SNAP participants and non-participants; and (6) include effective and efficient technologies for benefit redemption systems that may be replicated in other states and communities.

The FINI program is authorized and funded by the 2014 Farm Bill. The Farm Bill builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past six years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for taxpayers. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. For more information, visit www.usda.gov/farmbill. SNAP — the nation's first line of defense against hunger — helps put food on the table for millions of families experiencing hardship. The program has never been more critical to the fight against hunger. Over 60 percent of SNAP participants are children, elderly, or individuals with disabilities, and 42 percent of participants live in households in which at least one adult is working but still cannot afford to put sufficient food on the table. SNAP benefits provided help to millions who lost their jobs during the Great Recession. For many, SNAP benefits provide temporary assistance, with the average new applicant remaining on the program 12 months.

Through federal funding and leadership for research, education and extension programs, NIFA focuses on investing in science and solving critical issues impacting people's daily lives and the nation's future. More information can be found on the NIFA website.

Hello!

I wanted to share good news from our Farm Bill advocacy efforts. This is a very successful pilot that received increased funding in the last Farm Bill. Rather than penalizing persons on SNAP , this program incentivizes persons to purchase more fruits and vegetables. Through advocacy efforts, funding was increased to $31 million and offers significant job opportunities for our members wanting to work in food security and healthy food systems.

Jenn Folliard represented the Academy a few weeks ago as a grant reviewer to distribute these new monies.

Let me know if you have any questions!

USDA Awards $31 Million in Grants to Help SNAP Participants Afford Healthy Foods

ORLANDO, Fla., April 1, 2015 – Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack today announced that USDA has awarded $31.5 million in funding to local, state, and national organizations to support programs that help participants in the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) increase their purchase of fruits and vegetables. Recognizing that all Americans fall well short of the servings of fruits and vegetables recommended by the Dietary Guidelines for Americans, the grants will test incentive strategies to help SNAP participants better afford fruits and vegetables. These grants were made through the Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive (FINI) program authorized by the 2014 Farm Bill.

The Secretary, who made the announcement at the Freshfields Farm market in Orlando, said, "Encouraging low income families to put more healthy food in their grocery baskets is part of USDA's ongoing commitment to improving the diet and health of all Americans." Vilsack continued, "These creative community partnerships also benefit regional food producers and local economies along with SNAP participants."

FINI is a joint effort between USDA's National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) and USDA's Food and Nutrition Service, which oversees SNAP and has responsibility for evaluating the effectiveness of the incentive projects. FINI brings together stakeholders from distinct parts of the food system and fosters understanding of how they might improve the nutrition and health status of SNAP households. The awards under FINI represent a variety of projects, including relatively small pilot projects, multi-year community-based projects, and larger-scale multi-year projects. USDA is funding projects in 26 states for up to 4 years, using funds from FY2014 and FY2015. USDA will issue a separate request for applications in FY16, and in subsequent years. Fiscal year 2014 and 2015 awards are:

Pilot projects (up to $100,000, not to exceed 1 year):

- Yolo County Department of Employment and Social Services, Woodland, Calif., $100,000
- Heritage Ranch, Inc., Honaunau, Hawaii, $100,000
- Backyard Harvest, Inc., Moscow, Idaho, $10,695
- City of Aurora, Aurora, Ill., $30,000
- Forsyth Farmers' Market, Inc., Savannah, Ga., $50,000
- Blue Grass Community Foundation, Lexington, Ky., $47,250
- Lower Phalen Creek Project, Saint Paul, Minn., $45,230
- Vermont Farm-to-School, Inc., Newport, V.T., $93,750
- New Mexico Farmers Marketing Association, Santa Fe, N.M., $99,999
- Santa Fe Community Foundation, Santa Fe, N.M., $100,000
- Guilford County Department of Health and Human Services, Greensboro, N.C., $99,987
- Chester County Food Bank, Exton, Pa., $76,543
- Nurture Nature Center, Easton, Pa., $56,918
- Rodale Institute, Kutztown, Pa., $46,442
- Rhode Island Public Health Institute, Providence, R.I., $100,000
- San Antonio Food Bank, San Antonio, Texas, $100,000

Multi-year community-based projects (up to $500,000, not to exceed 4 years):

- Mandela Marketplace, Inc., Oakland, Calif., $422,500
- Market Umbrella, New Orleans, La., $378,326
- Maine Farmland Trust, Belfast, Maine, $249,816
- Farmers Market Fund, Portland, Ore., $499,172
- The Food Trust, Philadelphia, Pa., $500,000
- Utahns Against Hunger, Salt Lake City, Utah, $247,038

•Opportunity Council, Bellingham, Wash., $301,658

Multi-year large-scale projects ($500,000 or greater, not to exceed 4 years):

- Ecology Center, Berkeley, Calif., $3,704,287
- Wholesome Wave Foundation Charitable Ventures, Inc., Bridgeport, Conn., $3,775,700
- AARP Foundation, Washington, D.C., $3,306,224
- Florida Certified Organic Growers and Consumers, Gainesville, Fla., $1,937,179
- Massachusetts Department of Transitional Assistance, Boston, Mass., $3,401,384
- Fair Food Network, Ann Arbor, Mich., $5,171,779
- International Rescue Committee, Inc., New York, N.Y., $564,231
- Washington State Department of Health, Tumwater, Wash., $5,859,307

Descriptions of the funded projects are available on the NIFA website.

Wednesday's announcement featured Marty Mesh, Executive Director of Florida Certified Organic Growers and Consumers (FOG). With FINI funding, FOG will expand its Fresh Access Bucks program, which allows SNAP participants to double their food dollars for fresh, Florida-grown fruits and vegetables at farmers markets around the state.

An evaluation of the funded projects will help policymakers determine how best to provide incentives to SNAP participants to increase healthy purchases. Priority was given to projects that develop innovative or improved benefit redemption systems that can be replicated, use direct-to-consumer marketing, show previous success implementing nutrition incentive programs that connect low-income consumers with agricultural producers, provide locally- or regionally-produced fruits and vegetables, and are located in underserved communities.

All FINI projects must (1) have the support of a state SNAP agency; (2) increase the purchase of fruits and vegetables by SNAP participants by providing incentives at the point of purchase; (3) operate through authorized SNAP retailers; (4) agree to participate in the comprehensive FINI program evaluation; (5) ensure that the same terms and conditions apply to purchases made by both SNAP participants and non-participants; and (6) include effective and efficient technologies for benefit redemption systems that may be replicated in other states and communities.

The FINI program is authorized and funded by the 2014 Farm Bill. The Farm Bill builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past six years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for taxpayers. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. For more information, visit www.usda.gov/farmbill. SNAP — the nation's first line of defense against hunger — helps put food on the table for millions of families experiencing hardship. The program has never been more critical to the fight against hunger. Over 60 percent of SNAP participants are children, elderly, or individuals with disabilities, and 42 percent of participants live in households in which at least one adult is working but still cannot afford to put sufficient food on the table. SNAP benefits provided help to millions who lost their jobs during the Great Recession. For many, SNAP benefits provide temporary assistance, with the average new applicant remaining on the program 12 months.

Through federal funding and leadership for research, education and extension programs, NIFA focuses on investing in science and solving critical issues impacting people's daily lives and the nation's future. More information can be found on the NIFA website.

Hello!

I wanted to share good news from our Farm Bill advocacy efforts. This is a very successful pilot that received increased funding in the last Farm Bill. Rather than penalizing persons on SNAP , this program incentivizes persons to purchase more fruits and vegetables. Through advocacy efforts, funding was increased to $31 million and offers significant job opportunities for our members wanting to work in food security and healthy food systems.

Jenn Folliard represented the Academy a few weeks ago as a grant reviewer to distribute these new monies.

Let me know if you have any questions!

USDA Awards $31 Million in Grants to Help SNAP Participants Afford Healthy Foods

ORLANDO, Fla., April 1, 2015 – Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack today announced that USDA has awarded $31.5 million in funding to local, state, and national organizations to support programs that help participants in the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) increase their purchase of fruits and vegetables. Recognizing that all Americans fall well short of the servings of fruits and vegetables recommended by the Dietary Guidelines for Americans, the grants will test incentive strategies to help SNAP participants better afford fruits and vegetables. These grants were made through the Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive (FINI) program authorized by the 2014 Farm Bill.

The Secretary, who made the announcement at the Freshfields Farm market in Orlando, said, "Encouraging low income families to put more healthy food in their grocery baskets is part of USDA's ongoing commitment to improving the diet and health of all Americans." Vilsack continued, "These creative community partnerships also benefit regional food producers and local economies along with SNAP participants."

FINI is a joint effort between USDA's National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) and USDA's Food and Nutrition Service, which oversees SNAP and has responsibility for evaluating the effectiveness of the incentive projects. FINI brings together stakeholders from distinct parts of the food system and fosters understanding of how they might improve the nutrition and health status of SNAP households. The awards under FINI represent a variety of projects, including relatively small pilot projects, multi-year community-based projects, and larger-scale multi-year projects.

USDA is funding projects in 26 states for up to 4 years, using funds from FY2014 and FY2015. USDA will issue a separate request for applications in FY16, and in subsequent years. Fiscal year 2014 and 2015 awards are:

Pilot projects (up to $100,000, not to exceed 1 year):

- Yolo County Department of Employment and Social Services, Woodland, Calif., $100,000
- Heritage Ranch, Inc., Honaunau, Hawaii, $100,000

- Backyard Harvest, Inc., Moscow, Idaho, $10,695
- City of Aurora, Aurora, Ill., $30,000
- Forsyth Farmers' Market, Inc., Savannah, Ga., $50,000
- Blue Grass Community Foundation, Lexington, Ky., $47,250
- Lower Phalen Creek Project, Saint Paul, Minn., $45,230
- Vermont Farm-to-School, Inc., Newport, V.T., $93,750
- New Mexico Farmers Marketing Association, Santa Fe, N.M., $99,999
- Santa Fe Community Foundation, Santa Fe, N.M., $100,000
- Guilford County Department of Health and Human Services, Greensboro, N.C., $99,987
- Chester County Food Bank, Exton, Pa., $76,543
- Nurture Nature Center, Easton, Pa., $56,918
- Rodale Institute, Kutztown, Pa., $46,442
- Rhode Island Public Health Institute, Providence, R.I., $100,000
- San Antonio Food Bank, San Antonio, Texas, $100,000

Multi-year community-based projects (up to $500,000, not to exceed 4 years):

- Mandela Marketplace, Inc., Oakland, Calif., $422,500
- Market Umbrella, New Orleans, La., $378,326
- Maine Farmland Trust, Belfast, Maine, $249,816
- Farmers Market Fund, Portland, Ore., $499,172
- The Food Trust, Philadelphia, Pa., $500,000
- Utahns Against Hunger, Salt Lake City, Utah, $247,038
- Opportunity Council, Bellingham, Wash., $301,658

Multi-year large-scale projects ($500,000 or greater, not to exceed 4 years):

- Ecology Center, Berkeley, Calif., $3,704,287
- Wholesome Wave Foundation Charitable Ventures, Inc., Bridgeport, Conn., $3,775,700
- AARP Foundation, Washington, D.C., $3,306,224
- Florida Certified Organic Growers and Consumers, Gainesville, Fla., $1,937,179
- Massachusetts Department of Transitional Assistance, Boston, Mass., $3,401,384
- Fair Food Network, Ann Arbor, Mich., $5,171,779
- International Rescue Committee, Inc., New York, N.Y., $564,231
- Washington State Department of Health, Tumwater, Wash., $5,859,307

Descriptions of the funded projects are available on the NIFA website.

Wednesday's announcement featured Marty Mesh, Executive Director of Florida Certified Organic Growers and Consumers (FOG). With FINI funding, FOG will expand its Fresh Access Bucks program, which allows SNAP participants to double their food dollars for fresh, Florida-grown fruits and vegetables at farmers markets around the state.

An evaluation of the funded projects will help policymakers determine how best to provide incentives to SNAP participants to increase healthy purchases. Priority was given to projects that develop innovative or improved benefit redemption systems that can be replicated, use direct-to-consumer marketing, show previous success implementing nutrition incentive programs that connect low-income consumers with agricultural producers, provide locally- or regionally-produced fruits and vegetables, and are located in underserved communities.

All FINI projects must (1) have the support of a state SNAP agency; (2) increase the purchase of fruits and vegetables by SNAP participants by providing incentives at the point of purchase; (3) operate through authorized SNAP retailers; (4) agree to participate in the comprehensive FINI program evaluation; (5) ensure that the same terms and conditions apply to purchases made by both SNAP participants and non-participants; and (6) include effective and efficient technologies for benefit redemption systems that may be replicated in other states and communities.

The FINI program is authorized and funded by the 2014 Farm Bill. The Farm Bill builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past six years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for taxpayers. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. For more information, visit www.usda.gov/farmbill.

SNAP — the nation's first line of defense against hunger — helps put food on the table for millions of families experiencing hardship. The program has never been more critical to the fight against hunger. Over 60 percent of SNAP participants are children, elderly, or individuals with disabilities, and 42 percent of participants live in households in which at least one adult is working but still cannot afford to put sufficient food on the table. SNAP benefits provided help to millions who lost their jobs during the Great Recession. For many, SNAP benefits provide temporary assistance, with the average new applicant remaining on the program 12 months.

Through federal funding and leadership for research, education and extension programs, NIFA focuses on investing in science and solving critical issues impacting people's daily lives and the nation's future. More information can be found on the NIFA website.

I look forward to our call tomorrow.

Link above makes me want to nap, but it's more truthful than I like to accept-- (McKinsey Insights) proclaims strategic leadership is rapidly evolving from exceptional expertise and foresight to "social architecture", and "hives" of digital interactions across many media platforms, inside and outside organizational boundaries where expectations constantly change..." Brownian motion leadership" as my physician colleagues often called it.

Hi Donna,

I hope this email finds you well. I know it's been a trying couple of weeks. I talked with Paul, and he has provided me with your Treasurer's presentation to record prior to the Spring HOD meeting. My plan is to distribute the presentation to the HOD on either April 16 or April 23.

Are you available April 9 or the week after (not April 17) to record this session with me? Let me know your availability at your convenience. If needed, we can also record the session on April 20-22. Once we confirm a date and time, I will send you the webinar link and conference call information that you will need to record the session.

Thanks in advance!

We conducted an item analysis of the post-test and the question below did not perform well among the participants. We look for the questions to perform at 70%. Can you confirm that the content was presented during your presentation.

The Healthy Hunger Free Kids Act of 2010 will:

- a) Update the nutrition standards for school meals based on expert recommendations from the Institute of Medicine.
- b) Require more funding for school nutrition to be generated at the school district level
- c) Limit the meals offered in afterschool programs.
- d) Remove the requirement for school wellness policies to be in place at the school level.

Paul, They were not talking about more help from Barnes and Thornburg. They were talking about going outside of that group to get a second opinion. I love Paula, but I am in the minority on this one. This is what Sonja sent to Pat. Yikes!

The Academy Board met in executive session and discussed ways we could support you and the Academy staff in addressing the current crisis with regard to legal counsel and crisis communication.

Legal Counsel. The Academy Board appreciates the advice and work that our legal counsel is providing. Certainly Paula has guided the Academy through significant growth and change over several years. The current crisis with the Kraft contract and relationship necessitates additional external legal support for Paula to help expedite legal/contract resolution, to provide another set of eyes on the issue, and to potentially provide additional expertise. We would see Paula as lead counsel with external legal support. The Board requests that you as the CEO, identify and retain additional legal support in consultation with the Academy Board Chair.

My hope is that she is ignoring this!!

Donna,

More legal help. from Barnes and Thornburg? I hope so. Here is the link to their website. <http://www.btlaw.com/> They are pretty big and can provide all of the support necessary to handle this situation. Paula is just the tip of the iceberg. She has a ton of support underneath the surface. If the board is looking to something outside, maybe the link to their website will help. I can't imagine Paula or Barnes and Thornburg would take well to having another law firm look over their shoulders. It is kind of like accounting; One auditor only. If we had another do a review, the first would look at that as a vote of no confidence and quit. That happened to the Academy in 2001.

That is my two cents. Let me know if I can help.

I can believe it, but it is coming from the board making crazy recommendations, such as we need more legal help. They are about to put me over the edge with their pettiness. Especially the one person trying to get rid of people!!!!!! We are as much at fault about this as the Academy is. We are all in this together and no one should be shouldering all the blame. It was a good idea until social media high jacked it!!! Members are being so short sighted. This is going to have huge ramifications on the 100th anniversary program. Sue Finn is very upset about all this. I had a feeling this would effect you all like it is effecting all of us.

Hang in there. We need your voice. I am concerned about the drain this is having on Pat, Mary Beth and the rest of the staff. I know it is difficult from a member and leader perspective. I will get the recording set up for you.

Paul, This looks good. Based on what we are dealing with over the sponsorship issue I think I will take the easy road out and just say that 5% is the % we get from sponsorship. If you want to send Cecily the deck and ask her to get with me on doing the recording I will do it. Thanks for all the work you put into this. As you can imagine I am spending a huge amount of time on the Kraft issue. I was worried about having to write a script for this. Pat has asked about calling me tomorrow to discuss what is going on. "Lots" is going to be my answer, but I want to reassure her also of the support she has from the majority of the board. Very few exceptions and I know you know who they are. All this is not my cup of tea. My southern roots are getting the best of me and wish that some of these people had more southern roots they could (or should) claim.

Thanks Pat. I have spoken and/or e-mailed with all of the SATF members and their reaction, in general, was positive. We eagerly await the outcome of HOD discussions. I think the statement that was developed with LEVICK was respectful of our members' opinions while accurately stating our original rationale. I am so pleased we included the well stated section regarding the appearance of some product on store shelves. Hopefully now all of our discussions can move forward in a positive and inclusive fashion (easier said, than done....of course). Again, thanks to all of you in Chicago for all of the 23.5 hour days I know you have put in. Thanks as well to Sonja and Terri for their leadership through this rough period.

Subject: Social Media Sentiment Report - Initial response is largely positive

Importance: High

Below is a sentiment report that reflects the overall tone among social media users this afternoon/evening. We are reading just about every post in real time. Even before we released the message, we were contacted by members who somehow heard the Academy was making a major announcement. As I mentioned, our members did share it with the media. We received calls from the New York Times and the Associated Press and in keeping with LEVICK and legal advice, we responded that we do not have public comment at this time. However, they all have Sonja's message and other materials that our members have shared.

We will continue to keep you posted and will have an update for you tomorrow.

Pat

SENTIMENT

The initial response from Academy members has been largely positive. There were a handful of negative responses but the top influencers in this conversation quickly moderated the criticism. The bar graph below displays the trend in sentiment over the past week. As you can see, negative mentions have declined significantly and the positive mentions have increased.

TOP INFLUENCERS

The users listed below have been the most vocal on social platforms. Each user has taken an aggressive stance against the seal and has advocated for its removal. Their responses to today's statement have been (for the most part) supportive.

TOP HASHTAG

#RepealtheSeal is the most influential connection to users speaking out against AND's contract with Kraft. Currently, Regan Jones RD, Rachel Begun RD, and Kate Geagan are among those being credited with the Academy's decision to terminate the contract with Kraft.

Sandra, Your analysis and recommendations are elegantly stated- thank you!

The talking points are very well done, reflect our Board discussions, and strike a reasonable balance between our good intentions and acknowledging our culpability in the controversy.

I also appreciate the rapid response by Academy staff and Levick. I believe we know understand the pace and the scope of the reputational work we need to do.

I particularly like Sandra's suggestion for an organizational reputational risk assessment function [and action where needed].

Thanks to all.

Subject: Re: Follow up info (comments) - Sponsorship

All, apologies if I'm in the wrong "thread"--

I hope the following framework and comments are constructive, which I developed after reflection from Friday's board call. These capture my thoughts and suggestions (I hope more clearly in prior conversations). I am not expert in crisis and reputation management, so comments below are likely "future focused" and of little immediate help.

1) I was thrilled with the addition of the crisis management experts, and thank all of you for your great contributions so the leadership team and Academy can move forward from this crisis. The disputed "legitimacy" of Kraft Singles (e.g., recognition by government agencies as part of school snacks and lunch programs) within the membership adds even more complication beyond members' opinions about being associated with Kraft Singles, i.e. "endorsement". Stakeholders demand to know how they will be treated in such crisis, so I welcome the extra experts.

I hope analyzing stakeholder input is in the background--informing the foreground messages, not being the message which sounds defensive, disconnected from members' rage and wants: for me, right now members want evidence of listening and acting, not comparative data .It is important, for example, to know how many of the change.org signers are Academy members since it's a public petition platform anyone can join--a valuable data point of both member and public perspectives, not "representative" in a statistical sense, but clearly symbolic of a key stakeholder perception-- a groundswell of members and a fraction of the public (200 M adults in USA) that needs to be more fully explored, like academic "early warning" and how great clinicians take initiative) ...in hindsight, change.org was a social media canary in the coal mine.

2) I also suggest we get expert advice--and hopefully measurement-- on the "damage to our reputation"--if not already underway.

I certainly read the emails about "further damage to our reputation " (in the letter requesting STF report be withdrawn)--while I hear this, I don't know if we do or will get any broad scale assessment of this, which I (and I perceive other members) would like to obtain-- if feasible, assessment from stakeholders other than "members", such as public, policy makers, or even consumers. I don't doubt this "damage to our reputation" , I'd prefer to better understand it in all its complexities and magnitude (Academy and Foundation), so I can better fulfill our Board Handbook D. Information Flow, Guide for Board Members, Barnes &Thornburg, LLP) D.2. A Board's decisions must not only be informed, but must also be reasoned and deliberate (also see a-f).

3) Board responsibilities: Our Board Handbook states (D.1, underlines added) Directors must assure themselves that information and reporting systems exist in the organization that are reasonably designed to provide to senior management and to the Board itself, timely, accurate information, sufficient to allow management and the Board to reach an informed judgment.

I suggest we get expert advice to adopt a robust Academy (and Foundation) Reputation Risk Management function, after the most urgent crisis management, if this is not already underway.

Don's advice was critically correct, that this requires crisis management, and ongoing integration of communications, marketing and public relations with their own unique contributions to (my words) Reputation Risk Management. Almost all of the current crisis has been recognized in corporate-focused articles on "reputational risk management" (which I've not previously reviewed, regrettably).

I/we have not, to my knowledge, requested or required a substantial update/revision to the Academy's Risk Management program, nor even discussed a specific Reputation Risk Management function within the board as a whole. My review of recent board packets showed that the senior management team does consider "brand equity" considerations, as shown in Mary Beth's replies to the Board in the summary of Monsanto related questions. I could not find any Board measures on Academy reputation, per se, and regret that I had not pushed harder on this as a sponsorship task force, where it was briefly identified as a future consideration among Mary Beth and me (and I can't recall/don't see, Kathy, if I ever advanced this in writing to you). Perhaps this is discussed more within the Foundation, I'm not sure. Such plans include on going multiple stakeholder risk-reality gap assessments, functional scenarios, crisis/risk management action plans, and strategic communications to support the organization's "identity"--which is largely defined by (members), along with other major stakeholders-- consumers, industry, the public and employees. Most important, the organization's "Identity" changes over time, in the eyes of stakeholders, as social norms and expectations evolve, especially through social media.

4) The Reputation Risk Management function can obtain measures of the Academy "brand" and other reputation management measures--part of a pro-active reputation risk management plan (see references below) which I hope we can obtain from the new consultants or other experts. To me, members' expressions clearly show anger, frustration, loss of respect (even for each other) and exasperation over the Krast/KER event(s). Supporting the executive team to augment "communication" with crisis management expertise is key so members not only know we are listening, but also with Academy behavior and performance (actions) effectively expressed consistent with legal constraints.

I am hopeful the very active, candid updates on contractual resolution will help. Communication absent "behavior" to address the issues is not effective, based on a small number of studies I reviewed--thanks all of you for this invaluable resource support with the crisis management team.

5) As part of a reputation risk management plan, we will need on going assessment of multiple stakeholders' changing beliefs and expectations of Academy (and Foundation) "character" and identity--members primarily, along with consumers, and I submit, industry--to capture their expectations of the Academy and "latent" concerns (see Eccles, et. al Reputation and Its Risks).

For me, this key insight shows the brilliance of the HOD mega issue statement, which I am hopeful remains very informative and captures diverse stakeholder perspectives. I hope a range of "issues/suggestions" evolve. Members' expectations and their sense of "field data" (clients, peers, employers, consumer expectations) are key!

I think more clearly when I have a mental framework, and found the Eccles, et. al framework most helpful (a business model, not professional association). (LAST page in link to Reputation and Its Risks, HBR, see below)

For example, I was not aware that the Federal Trade Commission defined "endorsement" as one member noted (<https://www.ftc.gov/sites/default/files/attachments/press-releases/ftc-publishes-final-guides-governing-endorsements-testimonials/091005revisedendorsementguides.pdf>) This is just one example of changing beliefs and expectations coming from government regulations as well as social media norms. I don't recall any of us on the Sponsorship Task Force, or the Board, discussing this definition, directly or online (I joined the Sponsorship Task Force after FNCE so it might have been discussed months earlier).

The lesson I learned (from the articles and this crisis) is that crises occur from similar past behaviors because stakeholder expectations of the organization have changed, which the organization missed (see HBR Eccles, et. al.). It appears there are successful methods for "reading the trail and the smoke signals"--as part Cherokee, I permit myself this metaphor) : (internal, external groups) stakeholder assessments, increasing use of social media to measure such opinions on changing expectations of the organization, and third party reports on consumer/ more external social norms. This goes way beyond the traditional "strategic surveillance" reviews of forthcoming policies, funding sources, client trends, etc. My own view on "strategic surveillance" has been updated, regrettably after the fact, which I regret.

6) thanks, will make myself available for call this week, around regional travel on Thursday.

Aida, Cathy and Denise, Yes Flamin Hot Cheetos qualify as a smart snack. Frito Lay reformulated the product to be whole grain and reduced fat so it now qualifies. In order for something to qualify, like Aida said, it has to have as one of the first ingredients be one of the following: dairy, whole grain, fruit, vegetable or a meat. It also has to meet sodium, fat and calorie restrictions. If it does not have one of the following as the first ingredient then it has to have 10% of one of the nutrients missing in children's diets. The 10% option goes out in July of 2015. I think one way to look at it is that children are going to eat Flamin Hot Cheetos and that it is great that they have been reformulated to be healthier! Another way I like to look at it is that we are taking baby steps to improve the health and eating habits of children. Yes we wish they would not eat Flamin Hot Cheetos, but now at least they are whole grain and reduced fat! Hopefully, someday our KER campaign will get kids to eat healthy all the time so that Flamin Hot Cheetos are not on their list of food they want to eat!

Thanks Cathy!

I may be able to answer the Smart Snacks question as I have done presentations on it locally.

I am attaching info on Smart Snacks in Schools.

2% singles do seem to fit as Donna indicated.

Denice, I haven't heard about Flaming Hot Cheetos being a smart snack, and I don't think they could.

The current "caveat" with Smart Snacks is with foods that provide at least 10% of the DV of a nutrient of concern (fiber, calcium, potassium or vitamin D). IF they provide at least 10% of the DV, they do NOT need to meet the first ingredient criteria (be a whole grain, fruit, veggie or protein food). But they DO need to meet criteria for sodium, fat, calories, sugar.

A fruit snack* fortified* with calcium or fiber could be a smart snack, for example, if it is low cal, low fat, low sugar, low Na.

This goes away as of July 1, 2016. Until then, some questionable snacks are considered Smart Snacks... but I doubt Flaming Hot Cheeto's are.

>Some suggestions in terms of considering the future and moving forward:

>Accurate and complete information should be presented to the Academy and >Foundation Boards for consideration. Benefits and potential >repercussions from any partnership or sponsorship should be explored fully.

>Incorrect background information was provided to the Board to review in >consideration of the Kraft partnership. Kraft Singles, may not be counted >as a required (Meat/Meat Alternate) component of reimbursable school meals.

>Kraft Singles are not creditable for reimbursable school meals, not because >they are sliced and wrapped in plastic. They are not creditable because >they are not real cheese. Only real cheese is creditable for reimbursable >school meals. Only real cheese is also creditable for WIC. School nutrition >programs may serve Kraft Singles as part of school meals, if inclusion of >Kraft Singles does not prevent the nutrition analysis of the meals from >meeting the calorie, fat and sodium limits of the federal nutrition >regulations. School nutrition programs can purchase and use sliced and >packaged real cheese that is creditable for school meals. Kraft Singles, >Regular or 2% or even Fat Free, do not qualify for Smart Snacks. Science is >also on the other side of the debate and should be considered. The Academy >rebuttal has been that placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft >Singles packaging is not an endorsement. However, we did not review or >conduct consumer research on front of package (FOP) labeling regarding this >concern. In addition, information regarding endorsement and FTC guidelines >was not presented to the Foundation board and the Academy Board for >consideration.

>Input from members and those we serve is imperative. We want the public >to trust us as the food and nutrition expert. We want to be the go to >resource for our members and we want to promote the expertise and brand of

>RDNs and NDTRs. Members could have been consulted in advance regarding >partnering with Kraft and elements of the campaign. The Research DPG could >have been consulted regarding FOP labeling. The Public Health/Community

>Nutrition DPG or School Nutrition DPG could have been consulted regarding >whether Kraft Singles were allowable in sch> food and nutrition assistance programs. It is difficult for those of us who >work in these practice areas to have a product that features the Kids

Eat

>Right logo, not be approved for use (creditable) in the programs that we >work with. It is confusing to consumers to have the Kids Eat Right logo on >a product that does not also have 'WIC approved' labeling on its shelf tag.

>Many consumers do not examine food labels. When consumers see the Kids
Eat

>Right logo on a product, they will assume that the product is a healthy >choice for their family. The survey that went out to members regarding >nutrients of concern, Kraft, etc. should have been reviewed by the board,

>the Sponsorship Task Force or an entity like the newly created Member >Advisory Panel. If processes are in place, gleaning input from members and >those we serve can be efficiently done. No assumptions should be made.

>There was an assumption made that only a small minority would be opposed to >the Kraft partnership and use of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles.

>It is evident that a significant number of RDNs and NDTRs, members or not,

>other health professionals and members of the public are opposed. In

>the Sponsorship Task Force was completed. This conveys the notion that >member input is not valued in decision making. Members are the Academy.

>Their input is critical to decisions made and actions taken by the Academy.

>The Academy should be in a position to set precedence or influence policy >that advances nutrition and promotes the profession. Entering into >partnerships with corporations has been described as an opportunity to >influence policies, practices or products of companies. Kraft dictated >policy to the Academy and could potentially put the Academy in a position

>to influence nutrition policy negatively. Kraft limited our choices

>products, it was to be Kraft Singles Regular or 2%. The Academy and

the >Foundation should control use of the Kids Eat Right logo. We should

>been able to work with Kraft to select the best products, if any, for

the >logo to be displayed on. If Kraft was not willing to feature the Kids

Eat

>Right logo on those products, then we should not have granted permission

Hi Donna,

I hope this email finds you well. I know it's been a trying couple of weeks. I talked with Paul, and he has provided me with your Treasurer's presentation to record prior to the Spring HOD meeting. My plan is to distribute the presentation to the HOD on either April 16 or April 23.

Are you available April 9 or the week after (not April 17) to record this session with me? Let me know your availability at your convenience. If needed, we can also record the session on April 20-22. Once we confirm a date and time, I will send you the webinar link and conference call information that you will need to record the session.

Thanks in advance!

Dietitians Group Negotiating to End Labeling Deal With Kraft Singles

By STEPHANIE STROM MARCH 30, 2015

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics said it was working with the Kraft Foods Group to end part of a deal that allowed the food company to use one of the academy's logos on packages of Kraft Singles.

After the deal was announced by Kraft this month, the organization faced a mutiny among some of the 75,000 registered dietitians and other food professionals who are its members.

“The academy and Kraft are in discussions to terminate the contract for our pilot program,” the organization said in its email. “This will take a short period of time to complete.”

But the organization said the program was already so advanced that it could not be changed immediately. Kraft Singles with the new logo will begin appearing on retail shelves on Wednesday.

“We are working with Kraft to limit the time it remains on shelves,” the academy said in its email.

Ryan O'Malley, a spokesman for the academy, did not comment further.

As part of the original deal, Kraft agreed to pay for scholarships, research and public awareness campaigns in exchange for the right to use the academy's Kids Eat Right label and website address on packages of Kraft Singles.

After The New York Times published an article about the deal, some of the nutrition organization's members expressed outrage that it would lend its imprimatur to a highly processed food.

Kraft Singles packaging describes the product as a “pasteurized prepared cheese product” made with milk, Cheddar cheese, whey, milk protein concentrate, milk fat and sodium citrate.

Kraft intended for the label to be the starting point for a broader campaign to educate parents about the importance of calcium and vitamin D in children's diets. Some 80 percent of girls and 75 percent of boys ages 4 to 18 do not get enough calcium, while almost half of all children do not consume enough vitamin D.

“Although we stand by our decision to work together to shine a light on this issue and not to serve as a product endorsement, we believe misperceptions are overshadowing the campaign,” Jody Moore, a Kraft corporate spokeswoman, said in a statement. “As such, both organizations have agreed it is best not to proceed as originally planned.”

Andy Bellatti, a founder of Dietitians for Professional Integrity, a group started by dietitians who questioned the academy's strong ties to the food industry, said he was pleased that it was working to change its deal with Kraft.

“Hopefully, this is the beginning of much-needed and much-overdue dialogue on the academy's corporate sponsorships,” Mr. Bellatti said. “Dietitians need to continue advocating for an organization that represents us with integrity and that we can be proud of, rather than continually have to apologize for.”

Below is a sentiment report that reflects the overall tone among social media users this afternoon/evening. We are reading just about every post in real time. Even before we released the message, we were contacted by members who somehow heard the Academy was making a major announcement. As I mentioned, our members did share it with the media. We received calls from the New York Times and the Associated Press and in keeping with LEVICK and legal advice, we responded that we do not have public comment at this time. However, they all have Sonja's message and other materials that our members have shared.

We will continue to keep you posted and will have an update for you tomorrow.

Pat

SENTIMENT

The initial response from Academy members has been largely positive. There were a handful of negative responses but the top influencers in this conversation quickly moderated the criticism. The bar graph below displays the trend in sentiment over the past week. As you can see, negative mentions have declined significantly and the positive mentions have increased.

TOP INFLUENCERS

The users listed below have been the most vocal on social platforms. Each user has taken an aggressive stance against the seal and has advocated for its removal. Their responses to today's statement have been (for the most part) supportive.

TOP HASHTAG

#RepealtheSeal is the most influential connection to users speaking out against AND's contract with Kraft. Currently, Regan Jones RD, Rachel Begun RD, and Kate Geagan are among those being credited with the Academy's decision to terminate the contract with Kraft.

Hi all,

Just read the flurry of emails after a full day of seeing patients and care plan meetings with physicians and not one mention about KER!

Having said that, I am not discounting the importance of all that was accomplished between Friday at sunset and Monday afternoon by our Academy CEO and staff, President, Foundation and Academy BOD, legal and now Levick's messaging that captured the spirit of our intent.

I feel confident, thanks to Sandra, we now have a defined framework to build on as we move forward.

Wishing you all a restful night. Remember, I live where the sun sets first!

. I am sending this to all of you because I just wanted to publically reiterate how amazing Sandra is, both as a voice of reason and of someone whose expertise has been so valuable to the SATF. It has only "at this minute" come to my feeble mind to think of one more thing we can learn from this experience. That thing is: how we word our "charges" to various groups. SATF's first charge: "Make recommendations regarding the existing Corporate Sponsorship guidelines" may have been what we originally intended, but certainly turned into "develop sponsorship guidelines"which was probably what we needed, but didn't know it at the time!!! I am being a little "cute with words here", but as Sandra and Mick Jagger so wisely point out, you don't always get what you want, but sometimes you get what you need! Anyway, Sandra has laid out a blue print for the future. Thanks so much.

Subject: Re: Follow up info (comments) - Sponsorship

All, apologies if I'm in the wrong "thread"--

I hope the following framework and comments are constructive, which I developed after reflection from Friday's board call. These capture my thoughts and suggestions (I hope more clearly in prior conversations). I am not expert in crisis and reputation management, so comments below are likely "future focused" and of little immediate help.

1) I was thrilled with the addition of the crisis management experts, and thank all of you for your great contributions so the leadership team and Academy can move forward from this crisis. The disputed "legitimacy" of Kraft Singles (e.g., recognition by government agencies as part of school snacks and lunch programs) within the membership adds even more complication beyond members' opinions about being associated with Kraft Singles, i.e. "endorsement". Stakeholders demand to know how they will be treated in such crisis, so I welcome the extra experts.

I hope analyzing stakeholder input is in the background--informing the foreground messages, not being the message which sounds defensive, disconnected from members' rage and wants: for me, right now members want evidence of listening and acting, not comparative data. It is important, for example, to know how many of the change.org signers are Academy members since it's a public petition platform anyone can join--a valuable data point of both member and public perspectives, not "representative" in a statistical sense, but clearly symbolic of a key stakeholder perception-- a groundswell of members and a fraction of the public (200 M adults in USA) that needs to be more fully explored, like academic "early warning" and how great clinicians take initiative) ...in hindsight, change.org was a social media canary in the coal mine.

2) I also suggest we get expert advice--and hopefully measurement-- on the "damage to our reputation"--if not already underway.

I certainly read the emails about "further damage to our reputation " (in the letter requesting STF report be withdrawn)--while I hear this, I don't know if we do or will get any broad scale assessment of this, which I (and I perceive other members) would like to obtain-- if feasible, assessment from stakeholders other than "members", such as public, policy makers, or even consumers. I don't doubt this "damage to our reputation" , I'd prefer to better understand it in all its complexities and magnitude (Academy and Foundation), so I can better fulfill our Board Handbook D. Information Flow, Guide for Board Members, Barnes & Thornburg, LLP) D.2. A Board's decisions must not only be informed, but must also be reasoned and deliberate (also see a-f).

3) Board responsibilities: Our Board Handbook states (D.1, underlines added) Directors must assure themselves that information and reporting systems exist in the organization that are reasonably designed to provide to senior management and to the Board itself, timely, accurate information, sufficient to allow management and the Board to reach an informed judgment.

I suggest we get expert advice to adopt a robust Academy (and Foundation) Reputation Risk Management function, after the most urgent crisis management, if this is not already underway. Don's advice was critically correct, that this requires crisis management, and ongoing integration of communications, marketing and public relations with their own unique contributions to (my words) Reputation Risk Management. Almost all of the current crisis has been recognized in corporate-focused articles on "reputational risk management" (which I've not previously reviewed, regrettably).

I/we have not, to my knowledge, requested or required a substantial update/revision to the Academy's Risk Management program, nor even discussed a specific Reputation Risk Management function within the board as a whole. My review of recent board packets showed that the senior management team does consider "brand equity" considerations, as shown in Mary Beth's replies to the Board in the summary of Monsanto related questions. I could not find any Board measures on Academy reputation, per se, and regret that I had not pushed harder on this as a sponsorship task force, where it was briefly identified as a future consideration among Mary Beth and me (and I can't recall/don't see, Kathy, if I ever advanced this in writing to you). Perhaps this is discussed more within the Foundation, I'm not sure. Such plans include on going multiple stakeholder risk-reality gap assessments, functional scenarios, crisis/risk management action plans, and strategic communications to support the organization's "identity"--which is largely defined by (members), along with other major stakeholders-- consumers, industry, the public and employees. Most important, the organization's "Identity" changes over time, in the eyes of stakeholders, as social norms and expectations evolve, especially through social media.

4) The Reputation Risk Management function can obtain measures of the Academy "brand" and other reputation management measures--part of a pro-active reputation risk management plan (see references below) which I hope we can obtain from the new consultants or other experts. To me, members' expressions clearly show anger, frustration, loss of respect (even for each other) and exasperation over the Krast/KER event(s). Supporting the executive team to augment "communication" with crisis management expertise is key so members not only know we are listening, but also with Academy behavior and performance (actions) effectively expressed consistent with legal constraints.

I am hopeful the very active, candid updates on contractual resolution will help. Communication absent "behavior" to address the issues is not effective, based on a small number of studies I reviewed--thanks all of you for this invaluable resource support with the crisis management team.

5) As part of a reputation risk management plan, we will need on going assessment of multiple stakeholders' changing beliefs and expectations of Academy (and Foundation) "character" and identity--members primarily, along with consumers, and I submit, industry--to capture their expectations of the Academy and "latent" concerns (see Eccles, et. al Reputation and Its Risks).

For me, this key insight shows the brilliance of the HOD mega issue statement, which I am hopeful remains very informative and captures diverse stakeholder perspectives. I hope a range of "issues/suggestions" evolve. Members' expectations and their sense of "field data" (clients, peers, employers, consumer expectations) are key!

I think more clearly when I have a mental framework, and found the Eccles, et. al framework most helpful (a business model, not professional association). (LAST page in link to Reputation and Its Risks, HBR, see below)

For example, I was not aware that the Federal Trade Commission defined "endorsement" as one member noted (<https://www.ftc.gov/sites/default/files/attachments/press-releases/ftc-publishes-final-guides-governing-endorsements-testimonials/091005revisedendorsementguides.pdf>) This is just one example of changing beliefs and expectations coming from government regulations as well as social media norms. I don't recall any of us on the Sponsorship Task Force, or the Board, discussing this definition, directly or online (I joined the Sponsorship Task Force after FNCE so it might have been discussed months earlier).

The lesson I learned (from the articles and this crisis) is that crises occur from similar past behaviors because stakeholder expectations of the organization have changed, which the organization missed (see HBR Eccles, et. al.). It appears there are successful methods for "reading the trail and the smoke signals"--as part Cherokee, I permit myself this metaphor) : (internal, external groups) stakeholder assessments, increasing use of social media to measure such opinions on changing expectations of the organization, and third party reports on consumer/ more external social norms. This goes way beyond the traditional "strategic surveillance" reviews of forthcoming policies, funding sources, client trends, etc. My own view on "strategic surveillance" has been updated, regrettably after the fact, which I regret.

6) thanks, will make myself available for call this week, around regional travel on Thursday.

Aida, Cathy and Denise, Yes Flamin Hot Cheetos qualify as a smart snack. Frito Lay reformulated the product to be whole grain and reduced fat so it now qualifies. In order for something to qualify, like Aida said, it has to have as one of the first ingredients be one of the following: dairy, whole grain, fruit, vegetable or a meat. It also has to meet sodium, fat and calorie restrictions. If it does not have one of the following as the first ingredient then it has to have 10% of one of the nutrients missing in children's diets. The 10% option goes out in July of 2015. I think one way to look at it is that children are going to eat Flamin Hot Cheetos and that it is great that they have been reformulated to be healthier! Another way I like to look at it is that we are taking baby steps to improve the health and eating habits of children. Yes we wish they would not eat Flamin Hot Cheetos, but now at least they are whole grain and reduced fat! Hopefully, someday our KER campaign will get kids to eat healthy all the time so that Flamin Hot Cheetos are not on their list of food they want to eat!

Thanks Cathy!

I may be able to answer the Smart Snacks question as I have done presentations on it locally.

I am attaching info on Smart Snacks in Schools.

2% singles do seem to fit as Donna indicated.

Denice, I haven't heard about Flaming Hot Cheetos being a smart snack, and I don't think they could.

The current "caveat" with Smart Snacks is with foods that provide at least 10% of the DV of a nutrient of concern (fiber, calcium, potassium or vitamin D). IF they provide at least 10% of the DV, they do NOT need to meet the first ingredient criteria (be a whole grain, fruit, veggie or protein food). But they DO need to meet criteria for sodium, fat, calories, sugar.

A fruit snack* fortified* with calcium or fiber could be a smart snack, for example, if it is low cal, low fat, low sugar, low Na.

This goes away as of July 1, 2016. Until then, some questionable snacks are considered Smart Snacks... but I doubt Flaming Hot Cheeto's are.

A message from the Academy President to Academy Members

Dear Academy Members,

I want to update all of you on a few immediate actions we are taking on the Kids Eat Right pilot initiative with Kraft. As our Academy members, you deserve the most immediate as well as accurate information that we are able to provide.

The Academy and Kraft are in discussions to terminate the contract for our pilot program. This will take a short period of time to complete. We will continue to keep you posted as we move to finalize the termination.

Elements of the program are already in motion and cannot be changed. On April 1, Kraft Singles will begin appearing on retail shelves with the Kids Eat Right logo on the packaging. We are working with Kraft to limit the time it remains on the shelves.

The Academy deeply regrets the circumstances that have led to the pending termination of this initiative. As we have shared previously, we launched this initiative to raise consumer awareness about the importance of having vitamin D and calcium as essential nutrients in childrens diets.

This pilot initiative was never intended to be an official Academy endorsement of a particular product, which is strictly prohibited by our policy and is expressly included in all contracts.

The Board and Academy leadership are taking immediate steps to avoid a similar situation in the future. We will engage with the Academy House of Delegates and with all Academy members on future initiatives to promote healthful foods and nutrition in the most professional, ethical and transparent manner possible.

Thank you for your continued support of the Academy and your patience as we resolve this situation.

Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD, FAND
Academy President, 2014-2015

Sonja's message has now been released to the HOD and spokespeople and will be posted to DPG, MIG and Affiliate list servs at 4:00 p.m. It will be distributed to members at 4:05 p.m. this afternoon. Staff received the communication at 3:30 p.m. It is important to note that this is an internal Academy communication to members. We are unable to distribute a joint public statement with Kraft since we are still in negotiations related to the contract.

Best regards,

Donna,

More legal help... from Barnes and Thornburg? I hope so. Here is the link to their website. <http://www.btlaw.com/> They are pretty big and can provide all of the support necessary to handle this situation. Paula is just the tip of the iceberg. She has a ton of support underneath the surface. If the board is looking to something outside, maybe the link to their website will help. I can't imagine Paula or Barnes and Thornburg would take well to having another law firm look over their shoulders. It is kind of like accounting; One auditor only. If we had another do a review, the first would look at that as a vote of no confidence and quit. That happened to the Academy in 2001.

That is my two cents. Let me know if I can help.

I can believe it, but it is coming from the board making crazy recommendations, such as we need more legal help. They are about to put me over the edge with their pettiness. Especially the one person trying to get rid of people!!!!!! We are as much at fault about this as the Academy is. We are all in this together and no one should be shouldering all the blame. It was a good idea until social media high jacked it!!! Members are being so short sighted. This is going to have huge ramifications on the 100th anniversary program. Sue Finn is very upset about all this. I had a feeling this would effect you all like it is effecting all of us.

Hang in there. We need your voice. I am concerned about the drain this is having on Pat, Mary Beth and the rest of the staff. I know it is difficult from a member and leader perspective. Paul, This looks good. Based on what we are dealing with over the sponsorship issue I think I will take the easy road out and just say that 5% is the % we get from sponsorship. If you want to send Cecily the deck and ask her to get with me on doing the recording I will do it. Thanks for all the work you put into this. As you can imagine I am spending a huge amount of time on the Kraft issue. I was worried about having to write a script for this. Pat has asked about calling me tomorrow to discuss what is going on. "Lots" is going to be my answer, but I want to reassure her also of the support she has from the majority of the board. Very few exceptions and I know you know who they are. All this is not my cup of tea. My southern roots are getting the best of me and wish that some of these people had more southern roots they could (or should) claim.

The all-member message was prepared by LEVICK, vetted by legal and approved by Sonja. I have attached confidential talking points for your use, based on the LEVICK message. This document is not for distribution however feel free to forward Sonja's message (after it goes out to the general membership later this afternoon) to anyone who might have missed it.

Per LEVICK's Chair of Corporate and Reputation Practice John Lovallo, their rationale for the content of the message follows:

We believe a complete and comprehensive statement, with this level of detail and context, is needed to minimize further internal and public fallout. We adapted this language from the materials.

Importantly, we do not infer we are placing any "blame" for the pending termination of this initiative on Kraft. If anything, this implies that the Academy is taking responsibility for the program not working as intended. It also makes clear the pending termination is not immediate, but needs to be unwound over a period of time.

We do not believe continued “apologies” to the membership are appropriate. The Academy initiative with Kraft was undertaken with good intentions, but unfortunately it did not work. It is imperative the Academy leadership and Board demonstrate you are taking responsible, affirmative action to preserve your credibility.

Because we know this e-mail will be shared in a public forum almost as soon as it arrives in member’s inboxes, we recommend re-packaging this as a “media statement” press release to be distributed over one of the newswires, and concurrently calling selected news outlets/reporters to share this development.

The goal is to pre-empt sustained criticism of the Academy from internal sources, and contain the public story to a one day news event before the April 1 appearance of the packaging. It may also provide cover for your internal supporters to come forward within the Academy community and affirm that the Academy has “done the right thing” in working to terminate the agreement.

Based on your briefing and the materials you shared, you and your team have prepared a lot of good messaging to frame your side of the story in the most favorable way possible. This statement expresses that decision without prejudice to Kraft and stops short of a full “mea culpa.”

The facts are on your side: the program was designed to do good things (raise consumer awareness) and the use of the initiative as an official endorsement was prohibited in the contract. The best approach is to take the right action, maybe take a few more punches from those factions within the community who do not like working with industry, and contain the public media story to a one day event.

Best,

John Lovallo

Importantly, we do not infer we are placing any "blame" for the pending termination of this initiative on Kraft. If anything, this implies that the Academy is taking responsibility for the program not working as intended. It also makes clear the pending termination is not immediate, but needs to be unwound over a period of time.

We do not believe continued "apologies" to the membership are appropriate. The Academy initiative with Kraft was undertaken with good intentions, but unfortunately it did not work. It is imperative the Academy leadership and Board demonstrate you are taking responsible, affirmative action to preserve your credibility.

Because we know this e-mail will be shared in a public forum almost as soon as it arrives in member's inboxes, we recommend re-packaging this as a "media statement" press release to be distributed over one of the newswires, and concurrently calling selected news outlets/reporters to share this development.

The goal is to pre-empt sustained criticism of the Academy from internal sources, and contain the public story to a one day news event before the April 1 appearance of the packaging. It may also provide cover for your internal supporters to come forward within the Academy community and affirm that the Academy has "done the right thing" in working to terminate the agreement.

Based on your briefing and the materials you shared, you and your team have prepared a lot of good messaging to frame your side of the story in the most favorable way possible. This statement expresses that decision without prejudice to Kraft and stops short of a full "mea culpa."

The facts are on your side: the program was designed to do good things (raise consumer awareness) and the use of the initiative as an official endorsement was prohibited in the contract. Donna,

Hang in there. We need your voice. I am concerned about the drain this is having on Pat, Mary Beth and the rest of the staff. I know it is difficult from a member and leader perspective. Right now, internally, it appears as if there isn't anything else but Kraft. The impact on productivity is huge!!

I will get the recording set up for you.

Paul, This looks good. Based on what we are dealing with over the sponsorship issue I think I will take the easy road out and just say that 5% is the % we get from sponsorship. If you want to send Cecily the deck and ask her to get with me on doing the recording I will do it. Thanks for all the work you put into this. As you can imagine I am spending a huge amount of time on the Kraft issue. I was worried about having to write a script for this. Pat has asked about calling me tomorrow to discuss what is going on. "Lots" is going to be my answer, but I want to reassure her also of the support she has from the majority of the board. Very few exceptions and I know you know who they are. All this is not my cup of tea. My southern roots are getting the best of me and wish that some of these people had more southern roots they could (or should) claim.

The all-member message was prepared by LEVICK, vetted by legal and approved by Sonja. I have attached confidential talking points for your use, based on the LEVICK message. This document is not for distribution however feel free to forward Sonja's message (after it goes out to the general membership later this afternoon) to anyone who might have missed it.

Per LEVICK's Chair of Corporate and Reputation Practice John Lovallo, their rationale for the content of the message follows:

We believe a complete and comprehensive statement, with this level of detail and context, is needed to minimize further internal and public fallout. We adapted this language from the materials.

Importantly, we do not infer we are placing any "blame" for the pending termination of this initiative on Kraft. If anything, this implies that the Academy is taking responsibility for the program not working as intended. It also makes clear the pending termination is not immediate, but needs to be unwound over a period of time.

We do not believe continued "apologies" to the membership are appropriate. The Academy initiative with Kraft was undertaken with good intentions, but unfortunately it did not work. It is imperative the Academy leadership and Board demonstrate you are taking responsible, affirmative action to preserve your credibility.

Because we know this e-mail will be shared in a public forum almost as soon as it arrives in member's inboxes, we recommend re-packaging this as a "media statement" press release to be distributed over one of the newswires, and concurrently calling selected news outlets/reporters to share this development.

The goal is to pre-empt sustained criticism of the Academy from internal sources, and contain the public story to a one day news event before the April 1 appearance of the packaging. It may also provide cover for your internal supporters to come forward within the Academy community and affirm that the Academy has "done the right thing" in working to terminate the agreement.

Based on your briefing and the materials you shared, you and your team have prepared a lot of good messaging to frame your side of the story in the most favorable way possible. This statement expresses that decision without prejudice to Kraft and stops short of a full "mea culpa."

The facts are on your side: the program was designed to do good things (raise consumer awareness) and the use of the initiative as an official endorsement was prohibited in the contract. The best approach is to take the right action, maybe take a few more punches from those factions within the community who do not like working with industry, and contain the public media story to a one day event.

Best,

Pat, I love the message. My only concern was the word timing instead of time in this sentence: We are working with Kraft to limit the timing it remains on the shelves. Should the word be time?

The all-member message was prepared by LEVICK, vetted by legal and approved by Sonja. I have attached confidential talking points for your use, based on the LEVICK message. This document is not for distribution however feel free to forward Sonja's message (after it goes out to the general membership later this afternoon) to anyone who might have missed it.

Per LEVICK's Chair of Corporate and Reputation Practice John Lovallo, their rationale for the content of the message follows:

We believe a complete and comprehensive statement, with this level of detail and context, is needed to minimize further internal and public fallout. We adapted this language from the materials.

Importantly, we do not infer we are placing any "blame" for the pending termination of this initiative on Kraft. If anything, this implies that the Academy is taking responsibility for the program not working as intended. It also makes clear the pending termination is not immediate, but needs to be unwound over a period of time.

We do not believe continued “apologies” to the membership are appropriate. The Academy initiative with Kraft was undertaken with good intentions, but unfortunately it did not work. It is imperative the Academy leadership and Board demonstrate you are taking responsible, affirmative action to preserve your credibility.

Because we know this e-mail will be shared in a public forum almost as soon as it arrives in member’s inboxes, we recommend re-packaging this as a “media statement” press release to be distributed over one of the newswires, and concurrently calling selected news outlets/reporters to share this development.

The goal is to pre-empt sustained criticism of the Academy from internal sources, and contain the public story to a one day news event before the April 1 appearance of the packaging. It may also provide cover for your internal supporters to come forward within the Academy community and affirm that the Academy has “done the right thing” in working to terminate the agreement.

Based on your briefing and the materials you shared, you and your team have prepared a lot of good messaging to frame your side of the story in the most favorable way possible. This statement expresses that decision without prejudice to Kraft and stops short of a full “mea culpa.”

The facts are on your side: the program was designed to do good things (raise consumer awareness) and the use of the initiative as an official endorsement was prohibited in the contract. The best approach is to take the right action, maybe take a few more punches from those factions within the community who do not like working with industry, and contain the public media story to a one day event.

Best,

John Lovallo

ALL-MEMBER MESSAGE PREPARED BY LEVICK AND APPROVED BY LEGAL COUNSEL

A message from the Academy President to Academy Members ...

Dear Academy Members,

I want to update all of you on a few immediate actions we are taking on the Kids Eat Right pilot initiative with Kraft. As our Academy members, you deserve the most immediate as well as accurate information that we are able to provide.

The Academy and Kraft are in discussions to terminate the contract for our pilot program. This will take a short period of time to complete. We will continue to keep you posted as we move to finalize the termination.

Elements of the program are already in motion and cannot be changed. On April 1, Kraft Singles will begin appearing on retail shelves with the Kids Eat Right logo on the packaging. We are working with Kraft to limit the timing it remains on the shelves.

The Academy deeply regrets the circumstances that have led to the pending termination of this initiative. As we have shared previously, we launched this initiative to raise consumer awareness about the importance of having vitamin D and calcium as essential nutrients in children's diets.

This pilot initiative was never intended to be an official Academy endorsement of a particular product, which is strictly prohibited by our policy and is expressly included in all contracts.

The Board and Academy leadership are taking immediate steps to avoid a similar situation in the future. We will engage with the Academy House of Delegates and with all Academy members on future initiatives to promote healthful foods and nutrition in the most professional, ethical and transparent manner possible.

Thank you for your continued support of the Academy and your patience as we resolve this situation.

Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD, FAND

ALL-MEMBER MESSAGE PREPARED BY LEVICK AND APPROVED BY LEGAL COUNSEL

A message from the Academy President to Academy Members ...

Dear Academy Members,

I want to update all of you on a few immediate actions we are taking on the Kids Eat Right pilot initiative with Kraft. As our Academy members, you deserve the most immediate as well as accurate information that we are able to provide.

The Academy and Kraft are in discussions to terminate the contract for our pilot program. This will take a short period of time to complete. We will continue to keep you posted as we move to finalize the termination.

Elements of the program are already in motion and cannot be changed. On April 1, Kraft Singles will begin appearing on retail shelves with the Kids Eat Right logo on the packaging. We are working with Kraft to limit the timing it remains on the shelves.

The Academy deeply regrets the circumstances that have led to the pending termination of this initiative. As we have shared previously, we launched this initiative to raise consumer awareness about the importance of having vitamin D and calcium as essential nutrients in children's diets.

This pilot initiative was never intended to be an official Academy endorsement of a particular product, which is strictly prohibited by our policy and is expressly included in all contracts.

The Board and Academy leadership are taking immediate steps to avoid a similar situation in the future. We will engage with the Academy House of Delegates and with all Academy members on future initiatives to promote healthful foods and nutrition in the most professional, ethical and transparent manner possible.

Thank you for your continued support of the Academy and your patience as we resolve this situation.

Hello,

The message and rationale all look great thanks to all involved for working on this - when will be sent?

Just FYI - I will be back in my office on Wednesday - will be on a plane most of Tuesday.

Thanks again,

This document is not for distribution however feel free to forward Sonja's message (after it goes out to the general membership later this afternoon) to anyone who might have missed it.

Per LEVICK's Chair of Corporate and Reputation Practice John Lovallo, their rationale for the content of the message follows:

We believe a complete and comprehensive statement, with this level of detail and context, is needed to minimize further internal and public fallout. We adapted this language from the materials.

Importantly, we do not infer we are placing any "blame" for the pending termination of this initiative on Kraft. If anything, this implies that the Academy is taking responsibility for the program not working as intended. It also makes clear the pending termination is not immediate, but needs to be unwound over a period of time.

We do not believe continued "apologies" to the membership are appropriate. The Academy initiative with Kraft was undertaken with good intentions, but unfortunately it did not work. It is imperative the Academy leadership and Board demonstrate you are taking responsible, affirmative action to preserve your credibility.

Because we know this e-mail will be shared in a public forum almost as soon as it arrives in member's inboxes, we recommend re-packaging this as a "media statement" press release to be distributed over one of the newswires, and concurrently calling selected news outlets/reporters to share this development.

The goal is to pre-empt sustained criticism of the Academy from internal sources, and contain the public story to a one day news event before the April 1 appearance of the packaging. It may also provide cover for your internal supporters to come forward within the Academy community and affirm that the Academy has "done the right thing" in working to terminate the agreement.

Based on your briefing and the materials you shared, you and your team have prepared a lot of good messaging to frame your side of the story in the most favorable way possible. This statement expresses that decision without prejudice to Kraft and stops short of a full "mea culpa."

The facts are on your side: the program was designed to do good things (raise consumer awareness) and the use of the initiative as an official endorsement was prohibited in the contract. The best approach is to take the right action, maybe take a few more punches from those factions within the community who do not like working with industry, and contain the public media story to a one day event.

Best,

Attachment:

All, apologies if I'm in the wrong "thread"--

I hope the following framework and comments are constructive, which I developed after reflection from Friday's board call. These capture my thoughts and suggestions (I hope more clearly in prior conversations). I am not expert in crisis and reputation management, so comments below are likely "future focused" and of little immediate help.

1) I was thrilled with the addition of the crisis management experts, and thank all of you for your great contributions so the leadership team and Academy can move forward from this crisis. The disputed "legitimacy" of Kraft Singles (e.g., recognition by government agencies as part of school snacks and lunch programs) within the membership adds even more complication beyond members' opinions about being associated with Kraft Singles, i.e. "endorsement". Stakeholders demand to know how they will be treated in such crisis, so I welcome the extra experts.

I hope analyzing stakeholder input is in the background-- informing the foreground messages, not being the message which sounds defensive, disconnected from members' rage and wants: for me, right now members want evidence of listening and acting, not comparative data. It is important, for example, to know how many of the change.org signers are Academy members since it's a public petition platform anyone can join--a valuable data point of both member and public perspectives, not "representative" in a statistical sense, but clearly symbolic of a key stakeholder perception-- a groundswell of members and a fraction of the public (200 M adults in USA) that needs to be more fully explored, like academic "early warning" and how great clinicians take initiative) ...in hindsight, change.org was a social media canary in the coal mine.

2) I also suggest we get expert advice--and hopefully measurement-- on the "damage to our reputation"--if not already underway.

I certainly read the emails about "further damage to our reputation " (in the letter requesting STF report be withdrawn)--while I hear this, I don't know if we do or will get any broad scale assessment of this, which I (and I perceive other members) would like to obtain-- if feasible, assessment from stakeholders other than "members", such as public, policy makers, or even consumers. I don't doubt this "damage to our reputation" , I'd prefer to better understand it in all its complexities and magnitude (Academy and Foundation), so I can better fulfill our Board Handbook D. Information Flow, Guide for Board Members, Barnes &Thornburg, LLP) D.2. A Board's decisions must not only be informed, but must also be reasoned and deliberate (also see a-f).

3) Board responsibilities: Our Board Handbook states (D.1, underlines added) Directors must assure themselves that information and reporting systems exist in the organization that are reasonably designed to provide to senior management and to the Board itself, timely, accurate information, sufficient to allow management and the Board to reach an informed judgment.

I suggest we get expert advice to adopt a robust Academy (and Foundation) Reputation Risk Management function, after the most urgent crisis management, if this is not already underway. Don's advice was critically correct, that this requires crisis management, and ongoing integration of communications, marketing and public relations with their own unique contributions to (my words) Reputation Risk Management. Almost all of the current crisis has been recognized in corporate-focused articles on "reputational risk management" (which I've not previously reviewed, regrettably).

I/we have not, to my knowledge, requested or required a substantial update/revision to the Academy's Risk Management program, nor even discussed a specific Reputation Risk Management function within the board as a whole. My review of recent board packets showed that the senior management team does consider "brand equity" considerations, as shown in Mary Beth's replies to the Board in the summary of Monsanto related questions. I could not find any Board measures on Academy reputation, per se, and regret that I had not pushed harder on this as a sponsorship task force, where it was briefly identified as a future consideration among Mary Beth and me (and I can't recall/don't see, Kathy, if I every advanced this in writing to you). Perhaps this is discussed more within the Foundation, I'm not sure. Such plans include on going multiple stakeholder risk-reality gap assessments, functional scenarios, crisis/risk management action plans, and strategic communications to support the organization's "identity"--which is largely defined by (members), along with other major stakeholders-- consumers, industry, the public and employees. Most important, the organization's "Identity" changes over time, in the eyes of stakeholders, as social norms and expectations evolve, especially through social media.

4) The Reputation Risk Management function can obtain measures of the Academy "brand" and other reputation management measures--part of a pro-active reputation risk management plan (see references below) which I hope we can obtain from the new consultants or other experts. To me, members' expressions clearly show anger, frustration, loss of respect (even for each other) and exasperation over the Krast/KER event(s). Supporting the executive team to augment "communication" with crisis management expertise is key so members not only know we are listening, but also with Academy behavior and performance (actions) effectively expressed consistent with legal constraints.

I am hopeful the very active, candid updates on contractual resolution will help. Communication absent "behavior" to address the issues is not effective, based on a small number of studies I reviewed--thanks all of you for this invaluable resource support with the crisis management team.

5) As part of a reputation risk management plan, we will need on going assessment of multiple stakeholders' changing beliefs and expectations of Academy (and Foundation) "character" and identity--members primarily, along with consumers, and I submit, industry--to capture their expectations of the Academy and "latent" concerns (see Eccles, et. al Reputation and Its Risks).

For me, this key insight shows the brilliance of the HOD mega issue statement, which I am hopeful remains very informative and captures diverse stakeholder perspectives. I hope a range of "issues/suggestions" evolve. Members' expectations and their sense of "field data" (clients, peers, employers, consumer expectations) are key!

I think more clearly when I have a mental framework, and found the Eccles, et. al framework most helpful (a business model, not professional association). (LAST page in link to Reputation and Its Risks, HBR, see below)

For example, I was not aware that the Federal Trade Commission defined "endorsement" as one member noted (<https://www.ftc.gov/sites/default/files/attachments/press-releases/ftc-publishes-final-guides-governing-endorsements-testimonials/091005revisedendorsementguides.pdf>) This is just one example of changing beliefs and expectations coming from government regulations as well as social media norms. I don't recall any of us on the Sponsorship Task Force, or the Board, discussing this definition, directly or online (I joined the Sponsorship Task Force after FNCE so it might have been discussed months earlier).

The lesson I learned (from the articles and this crisis) is that crises occur from similar past behaviors because stakeholder expectations of the organization have changed, which the organization missed (see HBR Eccles, et. al.). It appears there are successful methods for "reading the trail and the smoke signals"--as part Cherokee, I permit myself this metaphor) : (internal, external groups) stakeholder assessments, increasing use of social media to measure such opinions on changing expectations of the organization, and third party reports on consumer/ more external social norms. This goes way beyond the traditional "strategic surveillance" reviews of forthcoming policies, funding sources, client trends, etc. My own view on "strategic surveillance" has been updated, regrettably after the fact, which I regret.

6) thanks, will make myself available for call this week, around regional travel on Thursday.

Aida, Cathy and Denise, Yes Flamin Hot Cheetos qualify as a smart snack. Frito Lay reformulated the product to be whole grain and reduced fat so it now qualifies. In order for something to qualify, like Aida said, it has to have as one of the first ingredients be one of the following: dairy, whole grain, fruit, vegetable or a meat. It also has to meet sodium, fat and calorie restrictions. If it does not have one of the following as the first ingredient then it has to have 10% of one of the nutrients missing in children's diets. The 10% option goes out in July of 2015. I think one way to look at it is that children are going to eat Flamin Hot Cheetos and that it is great that they have been reformulated to be healthier! Another way I like to look at it is that we are taking baby steps to improve the health and eating habits of children. Yes we wish they would not eat Flamin Hot Cheetos, but now at least they are whole grain and reduced fat! Hopefully, someday our KER campaign will get kids to eat healthy all the time so that Flamin Hot Cheetos are not on their list of food they want to eat!

Thanks Cathy!

I may be able to answer the Smart Snacks question as I have done presentations on it locally.

I am attaching info on Smart Snacks in Schools.

2% singles do seem to fit as Donna indicated.

Denise, I haven't heard about Flaming Hot Cheetos being a smart snack, and I don't think they could.

The current "caveat" with Smart Snacks is with foods that provide at least 10% of the DV of a nutrient of concern (fiber, calcium, potassium or vitamin D). IF they provide at least 10% of the DV, they do NOT need to meet the first ingredient criteria (be a whole grain, fruit, veggie or protein food). But they DO need to meet criteria for sodium, fat, calories, sugar.

A fruit snack* fortified* with calcium or fiber could be a smart snack, for example, if it is low cal, low fat, low sugar, low Na.

This goes away as of July 1, 2016. Until then, some questionable snacks are considered Smart Snacks... but I doubt Flaming Hot Cheeto's are.

This document is not for distribution however feel free to forward Sonja's message (after it goes out to the general membership later this afternoon) to anyone who might have missed it.

Per LEVICK's Chair of Corporate and Reputation Practice John Lovallo, their rationale for the content of the message follows:

We believe a complete and comprehensive statement, with this level of detail and context, is needed to minimize further internal and public fallout. We adapted this language from the materials.

Importantly, we do not infer we are placing any "blame" for the pending termination of this initiative on Kraft. If anything, this implies that the Academy is taking responsibility for the program not working as intended. It also makes clear the pending termination is not immediate, but needs to be unwound over a period of time.

We do not believe continued "apologies" to the membership are appropriate. The Academy initiative with Kraft was undertaken with good intentions, but unfortunately it did not work. It is imperative the Academy leadership and Board demonstrate you are taking responsible, affirmative action to preserve your credibility.

Because we know this e-mail will be shared in a public forum almost as soon as it arrives in member's inboxes, we recommend re-packaging this as a "media statement" press release to be distributed over one of the newswires, and concurrently calling selected news outlets/reporters to share this development.

The goal is to pre-empt sustained criticism of the Academy from internal sources, and contain the public story to a one day news event before the April 1 appearance of the packaging. It may also provide cover for your internal supporters to come forward within the Academy community and affirm that the Academy has "done the right thing" in working to terminate the agreement.

Based on your briefing and the materials you shared, you and your team have prepared a lot of good messaging to frame your side of the story in the most favorable way possible. This statement expresses that decision without prejudice to Kraft and stops short of a full "mea culpa."

The facts are on your side: the program was designed to do good things (raise consumer awareness) and the use of the initiative as an official endorsement was prohibited in the contract. The best approach is to take the right action, maybe take a few more punches from those factions within the community who do not like working with industry, and contain the public media story to a one day event.

Best,

ALL-MEMBER MESSAGE PREPARED BY LEVICK AND APPROVED BY LEGAL COUNSEL

A message from the Academy President to Academy Members ...

Dear Academy Members,

I want to update all of you on a few immediate actions we are taking on the Kids Eat Right pilot initiative with Kraft. As our Academy members, you deserve the most immediate as well as accurate information that we are able to provide.

The Academy and Kraft are in discussions to terminate the contract for our pilot program. This will take a short period of time to complete. We will continue to keep you posted as we move to finalize the termination.

Elements of the program are already in motion and cannot be changed. On April 1, Kraft Singles will begin appearing on retail shelves with the Kids Eat Right logo on the packaging. We are working with Kraft to limit the timing it remains on the shelves.

The Academy deeply regrets the circumstances that have led to the pending termination of this initiative. As we have shared previously, we launched this initiative to raise consumer awareness about the importance of having vitamin D and calcium as essential nutrients in children's diets.

This pilot initiative was never intended to be an official Academy endorsement of a particular product, which is strictly prohibited by our policy and is expressly included in all contracts.

The Board and Academy leadership are taking immediate steps to avoid a similar situation in the future. We will engage with the Academy House of Delegates and with all Academy members on future initiatives to promote healthful foods and nutrition in the most professional, ethical and transparent manner possible.

Thank you for your continued support of the Academy and your patience as we resolve this situation.

We have hired a crisis communication firm. LEVICK has expertise in crisis communications, advocacy, reputation, and litigation communications. Their standard arrangement to execute the contract required an initial deposit of $45,000, which they will bill against on an hourly basis.

LEVICK will provide us with strategic counsel, reputation management, strategy development, impact assessment and post-crisis evaluation and recovery. They have been onboard since 9 a.m. this morning and are working closely with legal to develop a tactical crisis response plan, which we hope to have on Monday. We have shared your input into Sonja's statement and LEVICK is currently finalizing the communication. We have been reminded by LEVICK that members may share Sonja's communication with the media and may also post it to their social outlets.

The Academy Board has given staff the go ahead to obtain additional support in regards to crisis communications and legal counsel during this time. We are working with LEVICK, a firm with expertise in crisis communications, advocacy, reputation, and litigation communications. The firm will provide us with strategic counsel, reputation management, strategy development, impact assessment and post-crisis evaluation and recovery. They have been onboard since 9 a.m. Saturday and they are working closely with legal to develop a tactical crisis response plan, which we hope to have on Monday. LEVICK is currently finalizing a communication to members that will go out on Monday from Sonja. Aida, Cathy and Denise, Yes Flamin Hot Cheetos qualify as a smart snack. Frito Lay reformulated the product to be whole grain and reduced fat so it now qualifies. In order for something to qualify, like Aida said, it has to have as one of the first ingredients be one of the following: dairy, whole grain, fruit, vegetable or a meat. It also has to meet sodium, fat and calorie restrictions. If it does not have one of the following as the first ingredient then it has to have 10% of one of the nutrients missing in children's diets. The 10% option goes out in July of 2015. I think one way to look at it is that children are going to eat Flamin Hot Cheetos and that it is great that they have been reformulated to be healthier! Another way I like to look at it is that we are taking baby steps to improve the health and eating habits of children. Yes we wish they would not eat Flamin Hot Cheetos, but now at least they are whole grain and reduced fat! Hopefully, someday our KER campaign will get kids to eat healthy all the time so that Flamin Hot Cheetos are not on their list of food they want to eat!

Thanks Cathy!

I may be able to answer the Smart Snacks question as I have done presentations on it locally.

I am attaching info on Smart Snacks in Schools.

2% singles do seem to fit as Donna indicated.

Denice, I haven't heard about Flaming Hot Cheetos being a smart snack, and I don't think they could.

The current "caveat" with Smart Snacks is with foods that provide at least 10% of the DV of a nutrient of concern (fiber, calcium, potassium or vitamin D). IF they provide at least 10% of the DV, they do NOT need to meet the first ingredient criteria (be a whole grain, fruit, veggie or protein food). But they DO need to meet criteria for sodium, fat, calories, sugar.

A fruit snack* fortified* with calcium or fiber could be a smart snack, for example, if it is low cal, low fat, low sugar, low Na.

This goes away as of July 1, 2016. Until then, some questionable snacks are considered Smart Snacks... but I doubt Flaming Hot Cheeto's are.

Me, too. It is apparently not considered "pasteurized processed American cheese". Thanks Mary for the clarification! Obviously I don't work or teach about WIC!

Sorry for all the emails. My Kraft Singles says: Pasteurized Prepared Cheese Product. I don't think it qualifies for WIC. I looked up specifically in MN and Ga, and neither allows it for WIC, even though both have slightly different cheese allowances, MN being more stringent.

I really DO need a hobby!

Dear Board Members,

I want to take this opportunity as a School Nutrition Director to set the record straight about crediting Kraft singles in the National School Lunch Program. I have the privilege of not only serving on the Academy BOD, but also on the Foundation BOD as Treasurer for both boards. I voted both times to support the KER Kraft program initiative. When the proposed Kraft program came to the attention of the Foundation I took the initiative to contact Janey Thornton (USDA Deputy Under Secretary for USDA) to get her thoughts on Kraft singles and the School Nutrition Program. She agreed with me that they were a creditable product as evidenced by the fact that we have several USDA commodities that fit the same profile as Kraft singles, but are not made by Kraft. The USDA Commodity Program offers several American Cheese single products for us to purchase. Some are regular fat and some are reduced fat. They also offer processed cheese loaves for the program.

This is the information on just one of the products that they sell to us and it is creditable as stated below.

00018—Cheese, American, Yellow, Pasteurized, Sliced

Category: Meat/Meat Alternate

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

This item is a pasteurized, processed yellow American cheese. This product is available in cases with six 5-pound loaves containing 160 1/2-ounce slices per loaf.

CREDITING/YIELD

· One case yields 480 1-ounce portions of cheese. CN Crediting: 1 ounce cheese credits as 1 oz equivalent meat/meat alternate.

The second statement I would like to make is that the Kraft singles reduced fat does qualify as a "Smart Snack" in the National School Lunch Program . I personally ran the product through the Smart Snacks product calculator and sent the sheet to Mary Beth to let her know it was creditable as a smart snack. The regular Kraft singles are not creditable as a smart snack, but the reduced fat ones are. In talking to Janey Thornton about the program she was very much in favor of us collaborating with Kraft, and had hopes that if she stayed on at USDA that they might get involved with the KER campaign.

I am sorry I was not able to stay on the last board call long enough to get this message out there, but wanted to make sure you had this information before the call today. Looking forward to our discussions.

Everyone,

I wanted to follow up the information that I shared during the joint Academy and Foundation boards call to put my comments in writing (especially since not everyone was still on the call and able to hear my remarks). As I have shared during our calls (both the October Board conference call and the joint call last week), I have very strong feelings about the Kraft partnership and roll out of the campaign. My sincere appreciation goes to both boards and staff for reconsidering the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles and the partnership with Kraft for an education campaign. As we move forward, I wanted to reiterate some concerns that I tried to convey during our discussions and that many members have expressed. This is not meant to dwell on what has happened but to assist us as we take steps toward the future.

I must begin with full disclosure though:

- I was and still am opposed to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles.
- I do not have any Kraft Singles in my refrigerator, nor will I purchase Kraft Singles. I prefer to purchase and consume real cheese and support as many local farmers and family owned dairy operations as I can. Have I or my child eaten Kraft Singles? Most likely at some point. My husband is allergic to dairy.
- My family and I are not perfect eaters, but we strive to make the best choices that we can. I do not aim to take every opportunity to serve as the food police. Please do not worry if you are out to eat a meal with me; I will not analyze your food choices unless you have requested my expertise and services as a registered dietitian.
- If I were not on the board, I would be signing the petition to #RepealtheSeal, sending letters to Academy leaders and reconsidering my membership.

Some suggestions in terms of considering the future and moving forward:

Accurate and complete information should be presented to the Academy and Foundation Boards for consideration. Benefits and potential repercussions from any partnership or sponsorship should be explored fully. Incorrect background information was provided to the Board to review in consideration of the Kraft partnership. Kraft Singles, may not be counted as a required (Meat/Meat Alternate) component of reimbursable school meals. Kraft Singles are not creditable for reimbursable school meals, not because they are sliced and wrapped in plastic. They are not creditable because they are not real cheese. Only real cheese is creditable for reimbursable school meals. Only real cheese is also creditable for WIC. School nutrition programs may serve Kraft Singles as part of school meals, if inclusion of Kraft Singles does not prevent the nutrition analysis of the meals from meeting the calorie, fat and sodium limits of the federal nutrition regulations. School nutrition programs can purchase and use sliced and packaged real cheese that is creditable for school meals. Kraft Singles, Regular or 2% or even Fat Free, do not qualify for Smart Snacks. Science is also on the other side of the debate and should be considered. The Academy rebuttal has been that placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging is not an endorsement. However, we did not review or conduct consumer research on front of package (FOP) labeling regarding this concern. In addition, information regarding endorsement and FTC guidelines was not presented to the Foundation board and the Academy Board for consideration.

Input from members and those we serve is imperative. We want the public to trust us as the food and nutrition expert. We want to be the go to resource for our members and we want to promote the expertise and brand of RDNs and NDTRs. Members could have been consulted in advance regarding partnering with Kraft and elements of the campaign. The Research DPG could have been consulted regarding FOP labeling. The Public Health/Community Nutrition DPG or School Nutrition DPG could have been consulted regarding whether Kraft Singles were allowable in school nutrition programs or other food and nutrition assistance programs. It is difficult for those of us who work in these practice areas to have a product that features the Kids Eat Right logo, not be approved for use (creditable) in the programs that we work with. It is confusing to consumers to have the Kids Eat Right logo on a product that does not also have 'WIC approved' labeling on its shelf tag. Many consumers do not examine food labels. When consumers see the Kids Eat Right logo on a product, they will assume that the product is a healthy choice for their family. The survey that went out to members regarding nutrients of concern, Kraft, etc. should have been reviewed by the board, the Sponsorship Task Force or an entity like the newly created Member Advisory Panel. If processes are in place, gleaning input from members and those we serve can be efficiently done. No assumptions should be made. There was an assumption made that only a small minority would be opposed to the Kraft partnership and use of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. It is evident that a significant number of RDNs and NDTRs, members or not, other health professionals and members of the public are opposed. In this day and age of social media, it only takes one motivated person to inspire a movement for change. The decision and the announcement were made before the sponsorship dialogue at the House of Delegates meeting or the work of the Sponsorship Task Force was completed. This conveys the notion that member input is not valued in decision making. Members are the Academy. Their input is critical to decisions made and actions taken by the Academy.

The Academy should be in a position to set precedence or influence policy that advances nutrition and promotes the profession. Entering into partnerships with corporations has been described as an opportunity to influence policies, practices or products of companies. Kraft dictated policy to the Academy and could potentially put the Academy in a position to influence nutrition policy negatively. Kraft limited our choices for placement of the Kids Eat Right logo. Based on discussion during the October Board call if the Kids Eat Right logo was to be placed on any Kraft products, it was to be Kraft Singles Regular or 2%. The Academy and the Foundation should control use of the Kids Eat Right logo. We should have been able to work with Kraft to select the best products, if any, for the logo to be displayed on. If Kraft was not willing to feature the Kids Eat Right logo on those products, then we should not have granted permission for use of the logo. It is very interesting timing to have the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles when the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Report recommends reducing consumption of cheese and increasing consumption of fluid milk to maximize calcium intake and decrease sodium. In addition, discussions and preparation for the Child Nutrition Reauthorization have begun, which affects school nutrition programs and other food and nutrition assistance programs, for which Kraft Singles are not a creditable component. Companies and other organizations can only benefit from partnering with the Academy; however, the Academy, and potentially our members, can have a great deal to lose. How the Academy acts reflects on our members and non-members alike. As an organization or profession, we do not have the resources, financial or personnel, to overcome the consequences of negative media coverage or public perception.

Any campaign announcement or communication elements should be carefully developed and disseminated. The Academy response has been that the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo is not an endorsement and that the Academy has never endorsed any products. However, some value judgement was made in selecting or agreeing to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. If the Kids Eat Right logo is to be placed on any products, nutrition criteria should be established, based on science, and agreed upon in advance. If there are not any criteria or judgement for selecting products, then the Kids Eat Right logo could be placed on any product, which would not support the Academy mission of optimizing health and nutrition. Information regarding the partnership with Kraft should not have been shared with members unless talking points and all campaign materials were ready to go. Members are media savvy and will quickly share news and information from the Academy. The New York Times immediately picked up the story and described the partnership and placement of the Kids Eat Right logo as an endorsement. It did not help that a Kraft spokesperson was quoted as stating this is the first time the Academy has endorsed a product and allowed the Kids Eat Right logo to be featured. Once a story is in print or online it is difficult to correct the information conveyed to the public, even if you are able to get a retraction. The URL, www.eatright.org/cheesyfacts, was not the best link to promote information related to a product that is in fact not real cheese. It also promotes cheese instead of all foods that can provide calcium, vitamin D and other nutrients of concern. Such a controversial announcement should not have been made in March during National Nutrition Month, when we are trying to promote the brand and expertise of the RDN, NDTR and the Academy. The strides that had been made in the NNM campaign are overshadowed by the announcement and the disagreement among those within our own membership and profession. We do not want to be the subject of a negative news headline or documentary storyline or the punchline of a late night joke. You do not want to be trending because of a poor decision. You want to set trends in a positive light, advancing nutrition and the profession.

The Academy Board and Foundation Boards need to work cooperatively. The Academy Board of Directors should be allowed the opportunity to discuss potential sponsorships prior to the Academy Foundation deliberation and decision. Input from the Board may be helpful to the Foundation as they make critical decisions regarding sponsorships. The Foundation is considered a separate legal entity from the Academy; however, decisions made by the Foundation can potentially affect the Academy in regards to membership gain or loss, staff time (Executive Team; Communications, Knowledge Center, Research, and Governance staff, etc.), and resources. In turn, decisions made by the Academy Board can potentially affect the Foundation. We both want to support scholarships, education and research. We must also work together to promote the expertise of RDNs and NDTRs and optimize nutrition and health.

Given the response and what we have learned regarding the Kraft initiative, I do request that the Academy Board and Foundation Board revisit the decision to accept sponsorship funding from and partner with Monsanto for the Future of Food initiative. Kraft has a negative perception in the minds of many members because of their products and business practices. However, Kraft has a much more favorable image than Monsanto does among members, non-members, other professionals and the public. The Kraft partnership has been one of the most divisive decisions for our organization. I hope that we can overcome the fallout from the Kraft partnership decision, membership dissension and negative publicity. I am not sure that the Academy can fully overcome potential repercussions from announcing a partnership with Monsanto.

Each time we have a decision to make regarding a sponsorship we must ask ourselves if we would partner with the company, organization or entity if money was not involved and if we would be not only comfortable with, but proud of, the partnership.

Thank you for the opportunity to share my comments and concerns in writing.

Healthy regards,

CREDITING/YIELD

One case yields 480 1-ounce portions of cheese. CN Crediting: 1 ounce cheese credits as 1 oz equivalent meat/meat alternate.

The second statement I would like to make is that the Kraft singles reduced fat does qualify as a "Smart Snack" in the National School Lunch Program . I personally ran the product through the Smart Snacks product calculator and sent the sheet to Mary Beth to let her know it was creditable as a smart snack. The regular Kraft singles are not creditable as a smart snack, but the reduced fat ones are. In talking to Janey Thornton about the program she was very much in favor of us collaborating with Kraft, and had hopes that if she stayed on at USDA that they might get involved with the KER campaign.

I am sorry I was not able to stay on the last board call long enough to get this message out there, but wanted to make sure you had this information before the call today. Looking forward to our discussions.

Everyone,

I wanted to follow up the information that I shared during the joint Academy and Foundation boards call to put my comments in writing (especially since not everyone was still on the call and able to hear my remarks). As I have shared during our calls (both the October Board conference call and the joint call last week), I have very strong feelings about the Kraft partnership and roll out of the campaign. My sincere appreciation goes to both boards and staff for reconsidering the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles and the partnership with Kraft for an education campaign. As we move forward, I wanted to reiterate some concerns that I tried to convey during our discussions and that many members have expressed. This is not meant to dwell on what has happened but to assist us as we take steps toward the future.

I must begin with full disclosure though:

- I was and still am opposed to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles.
- I do not have any Kraft Singles in my refrigerator, nor will I purchase Kraft Singles. I prefer to purchase and consume real cheese and support as many local farmers and family owned dairy operations as I can. Have I or my child eaten Kraft Singles? Most likely at some point. My husband is allergic to dairy.
- My family and I are not perfect eaters, but we strive to make the best choices that we can. I do not aim to take every opportunity to serve as the food police. Please do not worry if you are out to eat a meal with me; I will not analyze your food choices unless you have requested my expertise and services as a registered dietitian.
- If I were not on the board, I would be signing the petition to #RepealtheSeal, sending letters to Academy leaders and reconsidering my membership.

Some suggestions in terms of considering the future and moving forward:

Accurate and complete information should be presented to the Academy and Foundation Boards for consideration. Benefits and potential repercussions from any partnership or sponsorship should be explored fully. Incorrect background information was provided to the Board to review in consideration of the Kraft partnership. Kraft Singles, may not be counted as a required (Meat/Meat Alternate) component of reimbursable school meals. Kraft Singles are not creditable for reimbursable school meals, not because they are sliced and wrapped in plastic. They are not creditable because they are not real cheese. Only real cheese is creditable for reimbursable school meals. Only real cheese is also creditable for WIC. School nutrition programs may serve Kraft Singles as part of school meals, if inclusion of Kraft Singles does not prevent the nutrition analysis of the meals from meeting the calorie, fat and sodium limits of the federal nutrition regulations. School nutrition programs can purchase and use sliced and packaged real cheese that is creditable for school meals. Kraft Singles, Regular or 2% or even Fat Free, do not qualify for Smart Snacks. Science is also on the other side of the debate and should be considered. The Academy rebuttal has been that placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging is not an endorsement. However, we did not review or conduct consumer research on front of package (FOP) labeling regarding this concern. In addition, information regarding endorsement and FTC guidelines was not presented to the Foundation board and the Academy Board for consideration.

Input from members and those we serve is imperative. We want the public to trust us as the food and nutrition expert. We want to be the go to resource for our members and we want to promote the expertise and brand of RDNs and NDTRs. Members could have been consulted in advance regarding partnering with Kraft and elements of the campaign. The Research DPG could have been consulted regarding FOP labeling. The Public Health/Community Nutrition DPG or School Nutrition DPG could have been consulted regarding whether Kraft Singles were allowable in school nutrition programs or other food and nutrition assistance programs. It is difficult for those of us who work in these practice areas to have a product that features the Kids Eat Right logo, not be approved for use (creditable) in the programs that we work with. It is confusing to consumers to have the Kids Eat Right logo on a product that does not also have 'WIC approved' labeling on its shelf tag. Many consumers do not examine food labels. When consumers see the Kids Eat Right logo on a product, they will assume that the product is a healthy choice for their family. The survey that went out to members regarding nutrients of concern, Kraft, etc. should have been reviewed by the board, the Sponsorship Task Force or an entity like the newly created Member Advisory Panel. If processes are in place, gleaning input from members and those we serve can be efficiently done. No assumptions should be made. There was an assumption made that only a small minority would be opposed to the Kraft partnership and use of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. It is evident that a significant number of RDNs and NDTRs, members or not, other health professionals and members of the public are opposed. In this day and age of social media, it only takes one motivated person to inspire a movement for change. The decision and the announcement were made before the sponsorship dialogue at the House of Delegates meeting or the work of the Sponsorship Task Force was completed. This conveys the notion that member input is not valued in decision making. Members are the Academy. Their input is critical to decisions made and actions taken by the Academy.

The Academy should be in a position to set precedence or influence policy that advances nutrition and promotes the profession. Entering into partnerships with corporations has been described as an opportunity to influence policies, practices or products of companies. Kraft dictated policy to the Academy and could potentially put the Academy in a position to influence nutrition policy negatively. Kraft limited our choices for placement of the Kids Eat Right logo. Based on discussion during the October Board call if the Kids Eat Right logo was to be placed on any Kraft products, it was to be Kraft Singles Regular or 2%. The Academy and the Foundation should control use of the Kids Eat Right logo. We should have been able to work with Kraft to select the best products, if any, for the logo to be displayed on. If Kraft was not willing to feature the Kids Eat Right logo on those products, then we should not have granted permission for use of the logo. It is very interesting timing to have the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles when the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Report recommends reducing consumption of cheese and increasing consumption of fluid milk to maximize calcium intake and decrease sodium. In addition, discussions and preparation for the Child Nutrition Reauthorization have begun, which affects school nutrition programs and other food and nutrition assistance programs, for which Kraft Singles are not a creditable component. Companies and other organizations can only benefit from partnering with the Academy; however, the Academy, and potentially our members, can have a great deal to lose. How the Academy acts reflects on our members and non-members alike. As an organization or profession, we do not have the resources, financial or personnel, to overcome the consequences of negative media coverage or public perception.

Any campaign announcement or communication elements should be carefully developed and disseminated. The Academy response has been that the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo is not an endorsement and that the Academy has never endorsed any products. However, some value judgement was made in selecting or agreeing to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. If the Kids Eat Right logo is to be placed on any products, nutrition criteria should be established, based on science, and agreed upon in advance. If there are not any criteria or judgement for selecting products, then the Kids Eat Right logo could be placed on any product, which would not support the Academy mission of optimizing health and nutrition. Information regarding the partnership with Kraft should not have been shared with members unless talking points and all campaign materials were ready to go. Members are media savvy and will quickly share news and information from the Academy. The New York Times immediately picked up the story and described the partnership and placement of the Kids Eat Right logo as an endorsement. It did not help that a Kraft spokesperson was quoted as stating this is the first time the Academy has endorsed a product and allowed the Kids Eat Right logo to be featured. Once a story is in print or online it is difficult to correct the information conveyed to the public, even if you are able to get a retraction. The URL, www.eatright.org/cheesyfacts, was not the best link to promote information related to a product that is in fact not real cheese. It also promotes cheese instead of all foods that can provide calcium, vitamin D and other nutrients of concern. Such a controversial announcement should not have been made in March during National Nutrition Month, when we are trying to promote the brand and expertise of the RDN, NDTR and the Academy. The strides that had been made in the NNM campaign are overshadowed by the announcement and the disagreement among those within our own membership and profession. We do not want to be the subject of a negative news headline or documentary storyline or the punchline of a late night joke. You do not want to be trending because of a poor decision. You want to set trends in a positive light, advancing nutrition and the profession.

The Academy Board and Foundation Boards need to work cooperatively. The Academy Board of Directors should be allowed the opportunity to discuss potential sponsorships prior to the Academy Foundation deliberation and decision. Input from the Board may be helpful to the Foundation as they make critical decisions regarding sponsorships. The Foundation is considered a separate legal entity from the Academy; however, decisions made by the Foundation can potentially affect the Academy in regards to membership gain or loss, staff time (Executive Team; Communications, Knowledge Center, Research, and Governance staff, etc.), and resources. In turn, decisions made by the Academy Board can potentially affect the Foundation. We both want to support scholarships, education and research. We must also work together to promote the expertise of RDNs and NDTRs and optimize nutrition and health.

Given the response and what we have learned regarding the Kraft initiative, I do request that the Academy Board and Foundation Board revisit the decision to accept sponsorship funding from and partner with Monsanto for the Future of Food initiative. Kraft has a negative perception in the minds of many members because of their products and business practices. However, Kraft has a much more favorable image than Monsanto does among members, non-members, other professionals and the public. The Kraft partnership has been one of the most divisive decisions for our organization. I hope that we can overcome the fallout from the Kraft partnership decision, membership dissension and negative publicity. I am not sure that the Academy can fully overcome potential repercussions from announcing a partnership with Monsanto.

Each time we have a decision to make regarding a sponsorship we must ask ourselves if we would partner with the company, organization or entity if money was not involved and if we would be not only comfortable with, but proud of, the partnership.

Thank you for the opportunity to share my comments and concerns in writing.

Healthy regards,

Thanks Cathy!

I may be able to answer the Smart Snacks question as I have done presentations on it locally.

I am attaching info on Smart Snacks in Schools.

2% singles do seem to fit as Donna indicated.

Denice, I haven't heard about Flaming Hot Cheetos being a smart snack, and I don't think they could.

The current "caveat" with Smart Snacks is with foods that provide at least 10% of the DV of a nutrient of concern (fiber, calcium, potassium or vitamin D). IF they provide at least 10% of the DV, they do NOT need to meet the first ingredient criteria (be a whole grain, fruit, veggie or protein food). But they DO need to meet criteria for sodium, fat, calories, sugar.

A fruit snack fortified with calcium or fiber could be a smart snack, for example, if it is low cal, low fat, low sugar, low Na.

This goes away as of July 1, 2016. Until then, some questionable snacks are considered Smart Snacks... but I doubt Flaming Hot Cheeto's are.

Donna - I think your letter has many excellent points but I do not know the Smart Snack standards - I had heard a recent news blurb that Hot Cheetos are a Smart Snack - so would this bring more controversy?

Dear Board Members,

I want to take this opportunity as a School Nutrition Director to set the record straight about crediting Kraft singles in the National School Lunch Program. I have the privilege of not only serving on the Academy BOD, but also on the Foundation BOD as Treasurer for both boards. I voted both times to support the KER Kraft program initiative. When the proposed Kraft program came to the attention of the Foundation I took the initiative to contact Janey Thornton (USDA Deputy Under Secretary for USDA) to get her thoughts on Kraft singles and the School Nutrition Program. She agreed with me that they were a creditable product as evidenced by the fact that we have several USDA commodities that fit the same profile as Kraft singles, but are not made by Kraft. The USDA Commodity Program offers several American Cheese single products for us to purchase. Some are regular fat and some are reduced fat. They also offer processed cheese loaves for the program.

This is the information on just one of the products that they sell to us and it is creditable as stated below.

00018—Cheese, American, Yellow, Pasteurized, Sliced

Category: Meat/Meat Alternate

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

This item is a pasteurized, processed yellow American cheese. This product is available in cases with six 5-pound loaves containing 160 1/2-ounce slices per loaf.

CREDITING/YIELD

One case yields 480 1-ounce portions of cheese. CN Crediting: 1 ounce cheese credits as 1 oz equivalent meat/meat alternate.

The second statement I would like to make is that the Kraft singles reduced fat does qualify as a "Smart Snack" in the National School Lunch Program . I personally ran the product through the Smart Snacks product calculator and sent the sheet to Mary Beth to let her know it was creditable as a smart snack. The regular Kraft singles are not creditable as a smart snack, but the reduced fat ones are. In talking to Janey Thornton about the program she was very much in favor of us collaborating with Kraft, and had hopes that if she stayed on at USDA that they might get involved with the KER campaign.

I looked up WIC approved cheeses and the list is attached. Are Kraft singles Pasteurized Processed American? If so, they are included.
Doesn't change our problem but good to know.

Donna - I think your letter has many excellent points but I do not know the Smart Snack standards - I had heard a recent news blurb that Hot Cheetos are a Smart Snack - so would this bring more controversy?

Dear Board Members,

I want to take this opportunity as a School Nutrition Director to set the record straight about crediting Kraft singles in the National School Lunch Program. I have the privilege of not only serving on the Academy BOD, but also on the Foundation BOD as Treasurer for both boards. I voted both times to support the KER Kraft program initiative. When the proposed Kraft program came to the attention of the Foundation I took the initiative to contact Janey Thornton (USDA Deputy Under Secretary for USDA) to get her thoughts on Kraft singles and the School Nutrition Program. She agreed with me that they were a creditable product as evidenced by the fact that we have several USDA commodities that fit the same profile as Kraft singles, but are not made by Kraft. The USDA Commodity Program offers several American Cheese single products for us to purchase. Some are regular fat and some are reduced fat. They also offer processed cheese loaves for the program.

This is the information on just one of the products that they sell to us and it is creditable as stated below.

00018—Cheese, American, Yellow, Pasteurized, Sliced

Category: Meat/Meat Alternate

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

This item is a pasteurized, processed yellow American cheese. This product is available in cases with six 5-pound loaves containing 160 1/2-ounce slices per loaf.

CREDITING/YIELD

One case yields 480 1-ounce portions of cheese. CN Crediting: 1 ounce cheese credits as 1 oz equivalent meat/meat alternate.

The second statement I would like to make is that the Kraft singles reduced fat does qualify as a "Smart Snack" in the National School Lunch Program . I personally ran the product through the Smart Snacks product calculator and sent the sheet to Mary Beth to let her know it was creditable as a smart snack. The regular Kraft singles are not creditable as a smart snack, but the reduced fat ones are. In talking to Janey Thornton about the program she was very much in favor of us collaborating with Kraft, and had hopes that if she stayed on at USDA that they might get involved with the KER campaign.

I am sorry I was not able to stay on the last board call long enough to get this message out there, but wanted to make sure you had this information before the call today. Looking forward to our discussions.

Everyone,

I wanted to follow up the information that I shared during the joint Academy and Foundation boards call to put my comments in writing (especially since not everyone was still on the call and able to hear my remarks). As I have shared during our calls (both the October Board conference call and the joint call last week), I have very strong feelings about the Kraft partnership and roll out of the campaign. My sincere appreciation goes to both boards and staff for reconsidering the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles and the partnership with Kraft for an education campaign. As we move forward, I wanted to reiterate some concerns that I tried to convey during our discussions and that many members have expressed. This is not meant to dwell on what has happened but to assist us as we take steps toward the future.

I must begin with full disclosure though:

- I was and still am opposed to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles.

- I do not have any Kraft Singles in my refrigerator, nor will I purchase Kraft Singles. I prefer to purchase and consume real cheese and support as many local farmers and family owned dairy operations as I can. Have I or my child eaten Kraft Singles? Most likely at some point. My husband is allergic to dairy.

- My family and I are not perfect eaters, but we strive to make the best choices that we can. I do not aim to take every opportunity to serve as the food police. Please do not worry if you are out to eat a meal with me; I will not analyze your food choices unless you have requested my expertise and services as a registered dietitian.

- If I were not on the board, I would be signing the petition to #RepealtheSeal, sending letters to Academy leaders and reconsidering my membership.

Some suggestions in terms of considering the future and moving forward:

Accurate and complete information should be presented to the Academy and Foundation Boards for consideration. Benefits and potential repercussions from any partnership or sponsorship should be explored fully. Incorrect background information was provided to the Board to review in consideration of the Kraft partnership. Kraft Singles, may not be counted as a required (Meat/Meat Alternate) component of reimbursable school meals. Kraft Singles are not creditable for reimbursable school meals, not because they are sliced and wrapped in plastic. They are not creditable because they are not real cheese. Only real cheese is creditable for reimbursable school meals. Only real cheese is also creditable for WIC. School nutrition programs may serve Kraft Singles as part of school meals, if inclusion of Kraft Singles does not prevent the nutrition analysis of the meals from meeting the calorie, fat and sodium limits of the federal nutrition regulations. School nutrition programs can purchase and use sliced and packaged real cheese that is creditable for school meals. Kraft Singles, Regular or 2% or even Fat Free, do not qualify for Smart Snacks. Science is also on the other side of the debate and should be considered. The Academy rebuttal has been that placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging is not an endorsement. However, we did not review or conduct consumer research on front of package (FOP) labeling regarding this concern. In addition, information regarding endorsement and FTC guidelines was not presented to the Foundation board and the Academy Board for consideration.

Input from members and those we serve is imperative. We want the public to trust us as the food and nutrition expert. We want to be the go to resource for our members and we want to promote the expertise and brand of RDNs and NDTRs. Members could have been consulted in advance regarding partnering with Kraft and elements of the campaign. The Research DPG could have been consulted regarding FOP labeling. The Public Health/Community Nutrition DPG or School Nutrition DPG could have been consulted regarding whether Kraft Singles were allowable in school nutrition programs or other food and nutrition assistance programs. It is difficult for those of us who work in these practice areas to have a product that features the Kids Eat Right logo, not be approved for use (creditable) in the programs that we work with. It is confusing to consumers to have the Kids Eat Right logo on a product that does not also have 'WIC approved' labeling on its shelf tag. Many consumers do not examine food labels. When consumers see the Kids Eat Right logo on a product, they will assume that the product is a healthy choice for their family. The survey that went out to members regarding nutrients of concern, Kraft, etc. should have been reviewed by the board, the Sponsorship Task Force or an entity like the newly created Member Advisory Panel. If processes are in place, gleaning input from members and those we serve can be efficiently done. No assumptions should be made. There was an assumption made that only a small minority would be opposed to the Kraft partnership and use of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. It is evident that a significant number of RDNs and NDTRs, members or not, other health professionals and members of the public are opposed. In this day and age of social media, it only takes one motivated person to inspire a movement for change. The decision and the announcement were made before the sponsorship dialogue at the House of Delegates meeting or the work of the Sponsorship Task Force was completed. This conveys the notion that member input is not valued in decision making. Members are the Academy. Their input is critical to decisions made and actions taken by the Academy.

The Academy should be in a position to set precedence or influence policy that advances nutrition and promotes the profession. Entering into partnerships with corporations has been described as an opportunity to influence policies, practices or products of companies. Kraft dictated policy to the Academy and could potentially put the Academy in a position to influence nutrition policy negatively. Kraft limited our choices for placement of the Kids Eat Right logo. Based on discussion during the October Board call if the Kids Eat Right logo was to be placed on any Kraft products, it was to be Kraft Singles Regular or 2%. The Academy and the Foundation should control use of the Kids Eat Right logo. We should have been able to work with Kraft to select the best products, if any, for the logo to be displayed on. If Kraft was not willing to feature the Kids Eat Right logo on those products, then we should not have granted permission for use of the logo. It is very interesting timing to have the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles when the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Report recommends reducing consumption of cheese and increasing consumption of fluid milk to maximize calcium intake and decrease sodium. In addition, discussions and preparation for the Child Nutrition Reauthorization have begun, which affects school nutrition programs and other food and nutrition assistance programs, for which Kraft Singles are not a creditable component. Companies and other organizations can only benefit from partnering with the Academy; however, the Academy, and potentially our members, can have a great deal to lose. How the Academy acts reflects on our members and non-members alike. As an organization or profession, we do not have the resources, financial or personnel, to overcome the consequences of negative media coverage or public perception.

Any campaign announcement or communication elements should be carefully developed and disseminated. The Academy response has been that the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo is not an endorsement and that the Academy has never endorsed any products. However, some value judgement was made in selecting or agreeing to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. If the Kids Eat Right logo is to be placed on any products, nutrition criteria should be established, based on science, and agreed upon in advance. If there are not any criteria or judgement for selecting products, then the Kids Eat Right logo could be placed on any product, which would not support the Academy mission of optimizing health and nutrition. Information regarding the partnership with Kraft should not have been shared with members unless talking points and all campaign materials were ready to go. Members are media savvy and will quickly share news and information from the Academy. The New York Times immediately picked up the story and described the partnership and placement of the Kids Eat Right logo as an endorsement. It did not help that a Kraft spokesperson was quoted as stating this is the first time the Academy has endorsed a product and allowed the Kids Eat Right logo to be featured. Once a story is in print or online it is difficult to correct the information conveyed to the public, even if you are able to get a retraction. The URL, www.eatright.org/cheesyfacts, was not the best link to promote information related to a product that is in fact not real cheese. It also promotes cheese instead of all foods that can provide calcium, vitamin D and other nutrients of concern. Such a controversial announcement should not have been made in March during National Nutrition Month, when we are trying to promote the brand and expertise of the RDN, NDTR and the Academy. The strides that had been made in the NNM campaign are overshadowed by the announcement and the disagreement among those within our own membership and profession. We do not want to be the subject of a negative news headline or documentary storyline or the punchline of a late night joke. You do not want to be trending because of a poor decision. You want to set trends in a positive light, advancing nutrition and the profession.

The Academy Board and Foundation Boards need to work cooperatively. The Academy Board of Directors should be allowed the opportunity to discuss potential sponsorships prior to the Academy Foundation deliberation and decision. Input from the Board may be helpful to the Foundation as they make critical decisions regarding sponsorships. The Foundation is considered a separate legal entity from the Academy; however, decisions made by the Foundation can potentially affect the Academy in regards to membership gain or loss, staff time (Executive Team; Communications, Knowledge Center, Research, and Governance staff, etc.), and resources. In turn, decisions made by the Academy Board can potentially affect the Foundation. We both want to support scholarships, education and research. We must also work together to promote the expertise of RDNs and NDTRs and optimize nutrition and health.

Given the response and what we have learned regarding the Kraft initiative, I do request that the Academy Board and Foundation Board revisit the decision to accept sponsorship funding from and partner with Monsanto for the Future of Food initiative. Kraft has a negative perception in the minds of many members because of their products and business practices. However, Kraft has a much more favorable image than Monsanto does among members, non-members, other professionals and the public. The Kraft partnership has been one of the most divisive decisions for our organization. I hope that we can overcome the fallout from the Kraft partnership decision, membership dissension and negative publicity. I am not sure that the Academy can fully overcome potential repercussions from announcing a partnership with Monsanto.

Each time we have a decision to make regarding a sponsorship we must ask ourselves if we would partner with the company, organization or entity if money was not involved and if we would be not only comfortable with, but proud of, the partnership.

Thank you for the opportunity to share my comments and concerns in writing.

Healthy regards,

As a firmer member and chair, I think that is an excellent discussion to be had by the ethics committee. I also think members could like to know what we are doing internally as an organization on many fronts to address this issue. Is that something we could add to our messaging or do we have to wait for a deal with Kraft?

Margaret's approach was so wise! Although most people had no clue that there was a Kraft crisis, if she had not said anything, and they found out later, it would have made us look like we were hiding it.

At this last NDEP meeting the anger was more directed at the HLT/HOD/CEO. Kraft was just a symptom. And jumping ship OR seeing how they could take our power away was more verbally and boldly expressed.

At this meeting I also shared my example about being a part of the solution. Here is my example, for what is worth:

30 years ago our internship director told us that over the years we would likely hear a lot of people criticizing the association, and that her philosophy was that criticizing accomplished nothing, if we were unhappy about something WE needed to get in there and help fix it. All of us interns watched her being very involved in the Atlanta district. 30 years ago I wouldn't have dreamed of being part of the HLT/BOD today, because I am just an ordinary member who started doing the volunteer work that no one else wanted to do a LONG time ago, and have not stopped. I want to be part of the solution and they can too.

Dear Board Members,

I want to take this opportunity as a School Nutrition Director to set the record straight about crediting Kraft singles in the National School Lunch Program. I have the privilege of not only serving on the Academy BOD, but also on the Foundation BOD as Treasurer for both boards. I voted both times to support the KER Kraft program initiative. When the proposed Kraft program came to the attention of the Foundation I took the initiative to contact Janey Thornton (USDA Deputy Under Secretary for USDA) to get her thoughts on Kraft singles and the School Nutrition Program. She agreed with me that they were a creditable product as evidenced by the fact that we have several USDA commodities that fit the same profile as Kraft singles, but are not made by Kraft. The USDA Commodity Program offers several American Cheese single products for us to purchase. Some are regular fat and some are reduced fat. They also offer processed cheese loaves for the program.

This is the information on just one of the products that they sell to us and it is creditable as stated below.

00018—Cheese, American, Yellow, Pasteurized, Sliced
Category: Meat/Meat Alternate

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

This item is a pasteurized, processed yellow American cheese. This product is available in cases with six 5-pound loaves containing 160 1/2-ounce slices per loaf.

CREDITING/YIELD

One case yields 480 1-ounce portions of cheese. CN Crediting: 1 ounce cheese credits as 1 oz equivalent meat/meat alternate.

The second statement I would like to make is that the Kraft singles reduced fat does qualify as a "Smart Snack" in the National School Lunch Program . I personally ran the product through the Smart Snacks product calculator and sent the sheet to Mary Beth to let her know it was creditable as a smart snack. The regular Kraft singles are not creditable as a smart snack, but the reduced fat ones are. In talking to Janey Thornton about the program she was very much in favor of us collaborating with Kraft, and had hopes that if she stayed on at USDA that they might get involved with the KER campaign.

I am sorry I was not able to stay on the last board call long enough to get this message out there, but wanted to make sure you had this information before the call today. Looking forward to our discussions.

Everyone,

I wanted to follow up the information that I shared during the joint Academy and Foundation boards call to put my comments in writing (especially since not everyone was still on the call and able to hear my remarks). As I have shared during our calls (both the October Board conference call and the joint call last week), I have very strong feelings about the Kraft partnership and roll out of the campaign. My sincere appreciation goes to both boards and staff for reconsidering the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles and the partnership with Kraft for an education campaign. As we move forward, I wanted to reiterate some concerns that I tried to convey during our discussions and that many members have expressed. This is not meant to dwell on what has happened but to assist us as we take steps toward the future.

I must begin with full disclosure though:

- I was and still am opposed to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles.
- I do not have any Kraft Singles in my refrigerator, nor will I purchase Kraft Singles. I prefer to purchase and consume real cheese and support as many local farmers and family owned dairy operations as I can. Have I or my child eaten Kraft Singles? Most likely at some point. My husband is allergic to dairy.
- My family and I are not perfect eaters, but we strive to make the best choices that we can. I do not aim to take every opportunity to serve as the food police. Please do not worry if you are out to eat a meal with me; I will not analyze your food choices unless you have requested my expertise and services as a registered dietitian.
- If I were not on the board, I would be signing the petition to #RepealtheSeal, sending letters to Academy leaders and reconsidering my membership.

Some suggestions in terms of considering the future and moving forward:

Accurate and complete information should be presented to the Academy and Foundation Boards for consideration. Benefits and potential repercussions from any partnership or sponsorship should be explored fully. Incorrect background information was provided to the Board to review in consideration of the Kraft partnership. Kraft Singles, may not be counted as a required (Meat/Meat Alternate) component of reimbursable school meals. Kraft Singles are not creditable for reimbursable school meals, not because they are sliced and wrapped in plastic. They are not creditable because they are not real cheese. Only real cheese is creditable for reimbursable school meals. Only real cheese is also creditable for WIC. School nutrition programs may serve Kraft Singles as part of school meals, if inclusion of Kraft Singles does not prevent the nutrition analysis of the meals from meeting the calorie, fat and sodium limits of the federal nutrition regulations. School nutrition programs can purchase and use sliced and packaged real cheese that is creditable for school meals. Kraft Singles, Regular or 2% or even Fat Free, do not qualify for Smart Snacks. Science is also on the other side of the debate and should be considered. The Academy rebuttal has been that placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging is not an endorsement. However, we did not review or conduct consumer research on front of package (FOP) labeling regarding this concern. In addition, information regarding endorsement and FTC guidelines was not presented to the Foundation board and the Academy Board for consideration.

Input from members and those we serve is imperative. We want the public to trust us as the food and nutrition expert. We want to be the go to resource for our members and we want to promote the expertise and brand of RDNs and NDTRs. Members could have been consulted in advance regarding partnering with Kraft and elements of the campaign. The Research DPG could have been consulted regarding FOP labeling. The Public Health/Community Nutrition DPG or School Nutrition DPG could have been consulted regarding whether Kraft Singles were allowable in school nutrition programs or other food and nutrition assistance programs. It is difficult for those of us who work in these practice areas to have a product that features the Kids Eat Right logo, not be approved for use (creditable) in the programs that we work with. It is confusing to consumers to have the Kids Eat Right logo on a product that does not also have 'WIC approved' labeling on its shelf tag. Many consumers do not examine food labels. When consumers see the Kids Eat Right logo on a product, they will assume that the product is a healthy choice for their family. The survey that went out to members regarding nutrients of concern, Kraft, etc. should have been reviewed by the board, the Sponsorship Task Force or an entity like the newly created Member Advisory Panel. If processes are in place, gleaning input from members and those we serve can be efficiently done. No assumptions should be made. There was an assumption made that only a small minority would be opposed to the Kraft partnership and use of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. It is evident that a significant number of RDNs and NDTRs, members or not, other health professionals and members of the public are opposed. In this day and age of social media, it only takes one motivated person to inspire a movement for change. The decision and the announcement were made before the sponsorship dialogue at the House of Delegates meeting or the work of the Sponsorship Task Force was completed. This conveys the notion that member input is not valued in decision making. Members are the Academy. Their input is critical to decisions made and actions taken by the Academy.

The Academy should be in a position to set precedence or influence policy that advances nutrition and promotes the profession. Entering into partnerships with corporations has been described as an opportunity to influence policies, practices or products of companies. Kraft dictated policy to the Academy and could potentially put the Academy in a position to influence nutrition policy negatively. Kraft limited our choices for placement of the Kids Eat Right logo. Based on discussion during the October Board call if the Kids Eat Right logo was to be placed on any Kraft products, it was to be Kraft Singles Regular or 2%. The Academy and the Foundation should control use of the Kids Eat Right logo. We should have been able to work with Kraft to select the best products, if any, for the logo to be displayed on. If Kraft was not willing to feature the Kids Eat Right logo on those products, then we should not have granted permission for use of the logo. It is very interesting timing to have the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles when the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Report recommends reducing consumption of cheese and increasing consumption of fluid milk to maximize calcium intake and decrease sodium. In addition, discussions and preparation for the Child Nutrition Reauthorization have begun, which affects school nutrition programs and other food and nutrition assistance programs, for which Kraft Singles are not a creditable component. Companies and other organizations can only benefit from partnering with the Academy; however, the Academy, and potentially our members, can have a great deal to lose. How the Academy acts reflects on our members and non-members alike. As an organization or profession, we do not have the resources, financial or personnel, to overcome the consequences of negative media coverage or public perception.

Any campaign announcement or communication elements should be carefully developed and disseminated. The Academy response has been that the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo is not an endorsement and that the Academy has never endorsed any products. However, some value judgement was made in selecting or agreeing to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. If the Kids Eat Right logo is to be placed on any products, nutrition criteria should be established, based on science, and agreed upon in advance. If there are not any criteria or judgement for selecting products, then the Kids Eat Right logo could be placed on any product, which would not support the Academy mission of optimizing health and nutrition. Information regarding the partnership with Kraft should not have been shared with members unless talking points and all campaign materials were ready to go. Members are media savvy and will quickly share news and information from the Academy. The New York Times immediately picked up the story and described the partnership and placement of the Kids Eat Right logo as an endorsement. It did not help that a Kraft spokesperson was quoted as stating this is the first time the Academy has endorsed a product and allowed the Kids Eat Right logo to be featured. Once a story is in print or online it is difficult to correct the information conveyed to the public, even if you are able to get a retraction. The URL, www.eatright.org/cheesyfacts, was not the best link to promote information related to a product that is in fact not real cheese. It also promotes cheese instead of all foods that can provide calcium, vitamin D and other nutrients of concern. Such a controversial announcement should not have been made in March during National Nutrition Month, when we are trying to promote the brand and expertise of the RDN, NDTR and the Academy. The strides that had been made in the NNM campaign are overshadowed by the announcement and the disagreement among those within our own membership and profession. We do not want to be the subject of a negative news headline or documentary storyline or the punchline of a late night joke. You do not want to be trending because of a poor decision. You want to set trends in a positive light, advancing nutrition and the profession.

The Academy Board and Foundation Boards need to work cooperatively. The Academy Board of Directors should be allowed the opportunity to discuss potential sponsorships prior to the Academy Foundation deliberation and decision. Input from the Board may be helpful to the Foundation as they make critical decisions regarding sponsorships. The Foundation is considered a separate legal entity from the Academy; however, decisions made by the Foundation can potentially affect the Academy in regards to membership gain or loss, staff time (Executive Team; Communications, Knowledge Center, Research, and Governance staff, etc.), and resources. In turn, decisions made by the Academy Board can potentially affect the Foundation. We both want to support scholarships, education and research. We must also work together to promote the expertise of RDNs and NDTRs and optimize nutrition and health.

Given the response and what we have learned regarding the Kraft initiative, I do request that the Academy Board and Foundation Board revisit the decision to accept sponsorship funding from and partner with Monsanto for the Future of Food initiative. Kraft has a negative perception in the minds of many members because of their products and business practices. However, Kraft has a much more favorable image than Monsanto does among members, non-members, other professionals and the public. The Kraft partnership has been one of the most divisive decisions for our organization. I hope that we can overcome the fallout from the Kraft partnership decision, membership dissension and negative publicity. I am not sure that the Academy can fully overcome potential repercussions from announcing a partnership with Monsanto.

Each time we have a decision to make regarding a sponsorship we must ask ourselves if we would partner with the company, organization or entity if money was not involved and if we would be not only comfortable with, but proud of, the partnership.

Thank you for the opportunity to share my comments and concerns in writing.

Healthy regards,

Dear Board Members,

I want to take this opportunity as a School Nutrition Director to set the record straight about crediting Kraft singles in the National School Lunch Program. I have the privilege of not only serving on the Academy BOD, but also on the Foundation BOD as Treasurer for both boards. I voted both times to support the KER Kraft program initiative. When the proposed Kraft program came to the attention of the Foundation I took the initiative to contact Janey Thornton (USDA Deputy Under Secretary for USDA) to get her thoughts on Kraft singles and the School Nutrition Program. She agreed with me that they were a creditable product as evidenced by the fact that we have several USDA commodities that fit the same profile as Kraft singles, but are not made by Kraft. The USDA Commodity Program offers several American Cheese single products for us to purchase. Some are regular fat and some are reduced fat. They also offer processed cheese loaves for the program.

This is the information on just one of the products that they sell to us and it is creditable as stated below.

00018—Cheese, American, Yellow, Pasteurized, Sliced

Category: Meat/Meat Alternate

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

This item is a pasteurized, processed yellow American cheese. This product is available in cases with six 5-pound loaves containing 160 1/2-ounce slices per loaf.

CREDITING/YIELD

One case yields 480 1-ounce portions of cheese. CN Crediting: 1 ounce cheese credits as 1 oz equivalent meat/meat alternate.

The second statement I would like to make is that the Kraft singles reduced fat does qualify as a "Smart Snack" in the National School Lunch Program. I personally ran the product through the Smart Snacks product calculator and sent the sheet to Mary Beth to let her know it was creditable as a smart snack. The regular Kraft singles are not creditable as a smart snack, but the reduced fat ones are. In talking to Janey Thornton about the program she was very much in favor of us collaborating with Kraft, and had hopes that if she stayed on at USDA that they might get involved with the KER campaign.

I am sorry I was not able to stay on the last board call long enough to get this message out there, but wanted to make sure you had this information before the call today. Looking forward to our discussions.

Everyone,

I wanted to follow up the information that I shared during the joint Academy and Foundation boards call to put my comments in writing (especially since not everyone was still on the call and able to hear my remarks). As I have shared during our calls (both the October Board conference call and the joint call last week), I have very strong feelings about the Kraft partnership and roll out of the campaign. My sincere appreciation goes to both boards and staff for reconsidering the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles and the partnership with Kraft for an education campaign. As we move forward, I wanted to reiterate some concerns that I tried to convey during our discussions and that many members have expressed. This is not meant to dwell on what has happened but to assist us as we take steps toward the future.

I must begin with full disclosure though:

- I was and still am opposed to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles.
- I do not have any Kraft Singles in my refrigerator, nor will I purchase Kraft Singles. I prefer to purchase and consume real cheese and support as many local farmers and family owned dairy operations as I can. Have I or my child eaten Kraft Singles? Most likely at some point. My husband is allergic to dairy.
- My family and I are not perfect eaters, but we strive to make the best choices that we can. I do not aim to take every opportunity to serve as the food police. Please do not worry if you are out to eat a meal with me; I will not analyze your food choices unless you have requested my expertise and services as a registered dietitian.
- If I were not on the board, I would be signing the petition to #RepealtheSeal, sending letters to Academy leaders and reconsidering my membership.

Some suggestions in terms of considering the future and moving forward:

Accurate and complete information should be presented to the Academy and Foundation Boards for consideration. Benefits and potential repercussions from any partnership or sponsorship should be explored fully. Incorrect background information was provided to the Board to review in consideration of the Kraft partnership. Kraft Singles, may not be counted as a required (Meat/Meat Alternate) component of reimbursable school meals. Kraft Singles are not creditable for reimbursable school meals, not because they are sliced and wrapped in plastic. They are not creditable because they are not real cheese. Only real cheese is creditable for reimbursable school meals. Only real cheese is also creditable for WIC. School nutrition programs may serve Kraft Singles as part of school meals, if inclusion of Kraft Singles does not prevent the nutrition analysis of the meals from meeting the calorie, fat and sodium limits of the federal nutrition regulations. School nutrition programs can purchase and use sliced and packaged real cheese that is creditable for school meals. Kraft Singles, Regular or 2% or even Fat Free, do not qualify for Smart Snacks. Science is also on the other side of the debate and should be considered. The Academy rebuttal has been that placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging is not an endorsement. However, we did not review or conduct consumer research on front of package (FOP) labeling regarding this concern. In addition, information regarding endorsement and FTC guidelines was not presented to the Foundation board and the Academy Board for consideration.

Input from members and those we serve is imperative. We want the public to trust us as the food and nutrition expert. We want to be the go to resource for our members and we want to promote the expertise and brand of RDNs and NDTRs. Members could have been consulted in advance regarding partnering with Kraft and elements of the campaign. The Research DPG could have been consulted regarding FOP labeling. The Public Health/Community Nutrition DPG or School Nutrition DPG could have been consulted regarding whether Kraft Singles were allowable in school nutrition programs or other food and nutrition assistance programs. It is difficult for those of us who work in these practice areas to have a product that features the Kids Eat Right logo, not be approved for use (creditable) in the programs that we work with. It is confusing to consumers to have the Kids Eat Right logo on a product that does not also have 'WIC approved' labeling on its shelf tag. Many consumers do not examine food labels. When consumers see the Kids Eat Right logo on a product, they will assume that the product is a healthy choice for their family. The survey that went out to members regarding nutrients of concern, Kraft, etc. should have been reviewed by the board, the Sponsorship Task Force or an entity like the newly created Member Advisory Panel. If processes are in place, gleaning input from members and those we serve can be efficiently done. No assumptions should be made. There was an assumption made that only a small minority would be opposed to the Kraft partnership and use of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. It is evident that a significant number of RDNs and NDTRs, members or not, other health professionals and members of the public are opposed. In this day and age of social media, it only takes one motivated person to inspire a movement for change. The decision and the announcement were made before the sponsorship dialogue at the House of Delegates meeting or the work of the Sponsorship Task Force was completed. This conveys the notion that member input is not valued in decision making. Members are the Academy. Their input is critical to decisions made and actions taken by the Academy.

The Academy should be in a position to set precedence or influence policy that advances nutrition and promotes the profession. Entering into partnerships with corporations has been described as an opportunity to influence policies, practices or products of companies. Kraft dictated policy to the Academy and could potentially put the Academy in a position to influence nutrition policy negatively. Kraft limited our choices for placement of the Kids Eat Right logo. Based on discussion during the October Board call if the Kids Eat Right logo was to be placed on any Kraft products, it was to be Kraft Singles Regular or 2%. The Academy and the Foundation should control use of the Kids Eat Right logo. We should have been able to work with Kraft to select the best products, if any, for the logo to be displayed on. If Kraft was not willing to feature the Kids Eat Right logo on those products, then we should not have granted permission for use of the logo. It is very interesting timing to have the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles when the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Report recommends reducing consumption of cheese and increasing consumption of fluid milk to maximize calcium intake and decrease sodium. In addition, discussions and preparation for the Child Nutrition Reauthorization have begun, which affects school nutrition programs and other food and nutrition assistance programs, for which Kraft Singles are not a creditable component. Companies and other organizations can only benefit from partnering with the Academy; however, the Academy, and potentially our members, can have a great deal to lose. How the Academy acts reflects on our members and non-members alike. As an organization or profession, we do not have the resources, financial or personnel, to overcome the consequences of negative media coverage or public perception.

Any campaign announcement or communication elements should be carefully developed and disseminated. The Academy response has been that the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo is not an endorsement and that the Academy has never endorsed any products. However, some value judgement was made in selecting or agreeing to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. If the Kids Eat Right logo is to be placed on any products, nutrition criteria should be established, based on science, and agreed upon in advance. If there are not any criteria or judgement for selecting products, then the Kids Eat Right logo could be placed on any product, which would not support the Academy mission of optimizing health and nutrition. Information regarding the partnership with Kraft should not have been shared with members unless talking points and all campaign materials were ready to go. Members are media savvy and will quickly share news and information from the Academy. The New York Times immediately picked up the story and described the partnership and placement of the Kids Eat Right logo as an endorsement. It did not help that a Kraft spokesperson was quoted as stating this is the first time the Academy has endorsed a product and allowed the Kids Eat Right logo to be featured. Once a story is in print or online it is difficult to correct the information conveyed to the public, even if you are able to get a retraction. The URL, www.eatright.org/cheesyfacts, was not the best link to promote information related to a product that is in fact not real cheese. It also promotes cheese instead of all foods that can provide calcium, vitamin D and other nutrients of concern. Such a controversial announcement should not have been made in March during National Nutrition Month, when we are trying to promote the brand and expertise of the RDN, NDTR and the Academy. The strides that had been made in the NNM campaign are overshadowed by the announcement and the disagreement among those within our own membership and profession. We do not want to be the subject of a negative news headline or documentary storyline or the punchline of a late night joke. You do not want to be trending because of a poor decision. You want to set trends in a positive light, advancing nutrition and the profession.

The Academy Board and Foundation Boards need to work cooperatively. The Academy Board of Directors should be allowed the opportunity to discuss potential sponsorships prior to the Academy Foundation deliberation and decision. Input from the Board may be helpful to the Foundation as they make critical decisions regarding sponsorships. The Foundation is considered a separate legal entity from the Academy; however, decisions made by the Foundation can potentially affect the Academy in regards to membership gain or loss, staff time (Executive Team; Communications, Knowledge Center, Research, and Governance staff, etc.), and resources. In turn, decisions made by the Academy Board can potentially affect the Foundation. We both want to support scholarships, education and research. We must also work together to promote the expertise of RDNs and NDTRs and optimize nutrition and health.

Given the response and what we have learned regarding the Kraft initiative, I do request that the Academy Board and Foundation Board revisit the decision to accept sponsorship funding from and partner with Monsanto for the Future of Food initiative. Kraft has a negative perception in the minds of many members because of their products and business practices. However, Kraft has a much more favorable image than Monsanto does among members, non-members, other professionals and the public. The Kraft partnership has been one of the most divisive decisions for our organization. I hope that we can overcome the fallout from the Kraft partnership decision, membership dissension and negative publicity. I am not sure that the Academy can fully overcome potential repercussions from announcing a partnership with Monsanto.

Each time we have a decision to make regarding a sponsorship we must ask ourselves if we would partner with the company, organization or entity if money was not involved and if we would be not only comfortable with, but proud of, the partnership.

Thank you for the opportunity to share my comments and concerns in writing.

Healthy regards,

I sincerely appreciate the support of the Boards and I am moving promptly on all of your directives.

We have hired a crisis communication firm. We interviewed three agencies and decided to go with LEVICK, who came highly recommend by Dr. Vincent Covello, who many will remember from the Board retreat when he presented on change and risk communications. LEVICK has expertise in crisis communications, advocacy, reputation, and litigation communications. Their standard arrangement to execute the contract required an initial deposit of $45,000, which they will bill against on an hourly basis.

LEVICK will provide us with strategic counsel, reputation management, strategy development, impact assessment and post-crisis evaluation and recovery. They have been onboard since 9 a.m. this morning and are working closely with legal to develop a tactical crisis response plan, which we hope to have on Monday. We have shared your input into Sonja's statement and LEVICK is currently finalizing the communication. We have been reminded by LEVICK that members may share Sonja's communication with the media and may also post it to their social outlets.

LEVICK is proposing we send the message out on Monday. The final version of Sonja's message will be emailed to both Boards with talking points on Monday morning. It will then be distributed in the following order Monday afternoon:

- o HOD, Spokespeople
- o All-member email
- o Posted on DPG, MIG and Affiliate list servs

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you.

Good message and reflective of our conversations. I agree with Kay and Margaret that "embarrassment" should be left out. "Distress" covers a full spectrum of maladies, including embarrassment.

Dear Academy Members,

First, I want you to know how sorry I am that the Kraft issue has caused you so much distress and embarrassment. We are working furiously with Kraft on a resolution. Do know that it involves a contract so cannot be turned around on a dime. While we are working on a resolution, some of the program is already in motion; the Kraft Singles are scheduled to appear on the shelves as early as April 1.

I will send additional updates at least weekly, and sooner if I have something to report to you.

Thank you for your continued patience.

Let me know what revisions legal and GMMB have so I can approve the final email.

Thank you being a part of the professional dialogue and for expressing your concerns. Please know that the Board truly is listening and values your input. The issues are complicated and we are working on all of our options. We know that you want more information and I will continue to provide regular updates.

It's important for me to share that while we are still in discussions, we just learned from Kraft that the product with the "Proud supporter of Kids Eat Right" logo is scheduled to appear on shelves as early as April 1 and run through mid-July.

This program was developed to drive millions of consumers to the Kids Eat Right website. The Board is passionate about the profession and the organization and we are committed to sharing additional information with you soon. I want to reassure you that we are acting on your concerns.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you.

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

This item is a pasteurized, processed yellow American cheese. This product is available in cases with six 5-pound loaves containing 160 1/2-ounce slices per loaf.

CREDITING/YIELD

One case yields 480 1-ounce portions of cheese. CN Crediting: 1 ounce cheese credits as 1 oz equivalent meat/meat alternate.

The second statement I would like to make is that the Kraft singles reduced fat does qualify as a "Smart Snack" in the National School Lunch Program. I personally ran the product through the Smart Snacks product calculator and sent the sheet to Mary Beth to let her know it was creditable as a smart snack. The regular Kraft singles are not creditable as a smart snack, but the reduced fat ones are. In talking to Janey Thornton about the program she was very much in favor of us collaborating with Kraft, and had hopes that if she stayed on at USDA that they might get involved with the KER campaign.

Everyone,

I wanted to follow up the information that I shared during the joint Academy and Foundation boards call to put my comments in writing (especially since not everyone was still on the call and able to hear my remarks). As I have shared during our calls (both the October Board conference call and the joint call last week), I have very strong feelings about the Kraft partnership and roll out of the campaign. Some suggestions in terms of considering the future and moving forward:

Accurate and complete information should be presented to the Academy and Foundation Boards for consideration. Benefits and potential repercussions from any partnership or sponsorship should be explored fully. Incorrect background information was provided to the Board to review in consideration of the Kraft partnership. Kraft Singles, may not be counted as a required (Meat/Meat Alternate) component of reimbursable school meals. Kraft Singles are not creditable for reimbursable school meals, not because they are sliced and wrapped in plastic. They are not creditable because they are not real cheese. Only real cheese is creditable for reimbursable school meals. Only real cheese is also creditable for WIC. School nutrition programs may serve Kraft Singles as part of school meals, if inclusion of Kraft Singles does not prevent the nutrition analysis of the meals from meeting the calorie, fat and sodium limits of the federal nutrition regulations. School nutrition programs can purchase and use sliced and packaged real cheese that is creditable for school meals. Kraft Singles, Regular or 2% or even Fat Free, do not qualify for Smart Snacks. Science is also on the other side of the debate and should be considered. The Academy rebuttal has been that placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging is not an endorsement. However, we did not review or conduct consumer research on front of package (FOP) labeling regarding this concern. In addition, information regarding endorsement and FTC guidelines was not presented to the Foundation board and the Academy Board for consideration.

Input from members and those we serve is imperative. We want the public to trust us as the food and nutrition expert. We want to be the go to resource for our members and we want to promote the expertise and brand of RDNs and NDTRs. Members could have been consulted in advance regarding partnering with Kraft and elements of the campaign. The Research DPG could have been consulted regarding FOP labeling. The Public Health/Community Nutrition DPG or School Nutrition DPG could have been consulted regarding whether Kraft Singles were allowable in school nutrition programs or other food and nutrition assistance programs. It is difficult for those of us who work in these practice areas to have a product that features the Kids Eat Right logo, not be approved for use (creditable) in the programs that we work with. It is confusing to consumers to have the Kids Eat Right logo on a product that does not also have 'WIC approved' labeling on its shelf tag. Many consumers do not examine food labels. When consumers see the Kids Eat Right logo on a product, they will assume that the product is a healthy choice for their family. The survey that went out to members regarding nutrients of concern, Kraft, etc. should have been reviewed by the board, the Sponsorship Task Force or an entity like the newly created Member Advisory Panel. If processes are in place, gleaning input from members and those we serve can be efficiently done. No assumptions should be made. There was an assumption made that only a small minority would be opposed to the Kraft partnership and use of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. It is evident that a significant number of RDNs and NDTRs, members or not, other health professionals and members of the public are opposed. In this day and age of social media, it only takes one motivated person to inspire a movement for change. The decision and the announcement were made before the sponsorship dialogue at the House of Delegates meeting or the work of the Sponsorship Task Force was completed. This conveys the notion that member input is not valued in decision making. Members are the Academy. Their input is critical to decisions made and actions taken by the Academy.

The Academy should be in a position to set precedence or influence policy that advances nutrition and promotes the profession. Entering into partnerships with corporations has been described as an opportunity to influence policies, practices or products of companies. Kraft dictated policy to the Academy and could potentially put the Academy in a position to influence nutrition policy negatively. Kraft limited our choices for placement of the Kids Eat Right logo. Based on discussion during the October Board call if the Kids Eat Right logo was to be placed on any Kraft products, it was to be Kraft Singles Regular or 2%. The Academy and the Foundation should control use of the Kids Eat Right logo. We should have been able to work with Kraft to select the best products, if any, for the logo to be displayed on. If Kraft was not willing to feature the Kids Eat Right logo on those products, then we should not have granted permission for use of the logo. It is very interesting timing to have the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles when the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Report recommends reducing consumption of cheese and increasing consumption of fluid milk to maximize calcium intake and decrease sodium. In addition, discussions and preparation for the Child Nutrition Reauthorization have begun, which affects school nutrition programs and other food and nutrition assistance programs, for which Kraft Singles are not a creditable component. Companies and other organizations can only benefit from partnering with the Academy; however, the Academy, and potentially our members, can have a great deal to lose. How the Academy acts reflects on our members and non-members alike. As an organization or profession, we do not have the resources, financial or personnel, to overcome the consequences of negative media coverage or public perception.

Any campaign announcement or communication elements should be carefully developed and disseminated. The Academy response has been that the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo is not an endorsement and that the Academy has never endorsed any products. However, some value judgement was made in selecting or agreeing to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. If the Kids Eat Right logo is to be placed on any products, nutrition criteria should be established, based on science, and agreed upon in advance. If there are not any criteria or judgement for selecting products, then the Kids Eat Right logo could be placed on any product, which would not support the Academy mission of optimizing health and nutrition. Information regarding the partnership with Kraft should not have been shared with members unless talking points and all campaign materials were ready to go. Members are media savvy and will quickly share news and information from the Academy. The New York Times immediately picked up the story and described the partnership and placement of the Kids Eat Right logo as an endorsement. It did not help that a Kraft spokesperson was quoted as stating this is the first time the Academy has endorsed a product and allowed the Kids Eat Right logo to be featured. Once a story is in print or online it is difficult to correct the information conveyed to the public, even if you are able to get a retraction. The URL, www.eatright.org/cheesyfacts, was not the best link to promote information related to a product that is in fact not real cheese. It also promotes cheese instead of all foods that can provide calcium, vitamin D and other nutrients of concern. Such a controversial announcement should not have been made in March during National Nutrition Month, when we are trying to promote the brand and expertise of the RDN, NDTR and the Academy. The strides that had been made in the NNM campaign are overshadowed by the announcement and the disagreement among those within our own membership and profession. We do not want to be the subject of a negative news headline or documentary storyline or the punchline of a late night joke.

You do not want to be trending because of a poor decision. You want to set trends in a positive light, advancing nutrition and the profession.

The Academy Board and Foundation Boards need to work cooperatively. The Academy Board of Directors should be allowed the opportunity to discuss potential sponsorships prior to the Academy Foundation deliberation and decision. Input from the Board may be helpful to the Foundation as they make critical decisions regarding sponsorships. The Foundation is considered a separate legal entity from the Academy; however, decisions made by the Foundation can potentially affect the Academy in regards to membership gain or loss, staff time (Executive Team; Communications, Knowledge Center, Research, and Governance staff, etc.), and resources. In turn, decisions made by the Academy Board can potentially affect the Foundation. We both want to support scholarships, education and research. We must also work together to promote the expertise of RDNs and NDTRs and optimize nutrition and health.

Given the response and what we have learned regarding the Kraft initiative, I do request that the Academy Board and Foundation Board revisit the decision to accept sponsorship funding from and partner with Monsanto for the Future of Food initiative. Kraft has a negative perception in the minds of many members because of their products and business practices. However, Kraft has a much more favorable image than Monsanto does among members, non-members, other professionals and the public. The Kraft partnership has been one of the most divisive decisions for our organization. I hope that we can overcome the fallout from the Kraft partnership decision, membership dissension and negative publicity. I am not sure that the Academy can fully overcome potential repercussions from announcing a partnership with Monsanto.

Each time we have a decision to make regarding a sponsorship we must ask ourselves if we would partner with the company, organization or entity if money was not involved and if we would be not only comfortable with, but proud of, the partnership.

Thank you for the opportunity to share my comments and concerns in writing.

Healthy regards,

Cathy,

You have a great point..... the word "diligently" works for me.

Also, perhaps the sentence (. Do know that it involves a contract so cannot be turned around on a dime.) could read: Do know that since contractual agreements are in place, negotiations involve both parties and take some time.

Dear Academy Members,

First, I want you to know how sorry I am that the Kraft issue has caused you so much distress and embarrassment. We are working furiously with Kraft on a resolution. Do know that it involves a contract so cannot be turned around on a dime. While we are working on a resolution, some of the program is already in motion; the Kraft Singles are scheduled to appear on the shelves as early as April 1.

I will send additional updates at least weekly, and sooner if I have something to report to you.

Thank you for your continued patience.

Let me know what revisions legal and GMMB have so I can approve the final email.

Thanks!

Thank you being a part of the professional dialogue and for expressing your concerns. Please know that the Board truly is listening and values your input. The issues are complicated and we are working on all of our options. We know that you want more information and I will continue to provide regular updates.

It's important for me to share that while we are still in discussions, we just learned from Kraft that the product with the "Proud supporter of Kids Eat Right" logo is scheduled to appear on shelves as early as April 1 and run through mid-July.

This program was developed to drive millions of consumers to the Kids Eat Right website. The Board is passionate about the profession and the organization and we are committed to sharing additional information with you soon. I want to reassure you that we are acting on your concerns.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you.

Great messaging. Do you think that a mention of how the Boards came to this decision? Our members needs to know how seriously Board members take their responsibilities. If they were privy to the previous emails they would know how badly the board feels because all of you have a deep sense of caring and love for our profession and membership. I was thinking along the lines of if it does not sound defensive...

"The Board wants the membership to know that this decision was made after much deliberation. We discussed the pros and cons and perhaps the Board was blinded by the opportunity to reach 60% of households. Please know the Board takes its responsibility very seriously."

Lastly: The pain is palpable in the emails. It would be wonderful if all our decisions in business went well but that is not the case. Show me the person who never made a bad business decision and I doubt they are successful. This situation should not make us or our members retreat and be fearful of making decisions, embracing change and looking for new opportunities. Do not doubt yourselves the decision was made diligently.

I think it was still a great idea and hate that our members are demonizing foods that consumers enjoy eating and for some are the only one they can afford to eat. I seriously believe the new "food police" must not do any counseling because telling folks what not to eat does not work. Maybe they have not heard of motivational interview! :)

First, I want you to know how sorry I am that the Kraft issue has caused you so much distress and embarrassment. We are working furiously with Kraft on a resolution. Do know that it involves a contract so cannot be turned around on a dime. While we are working on a resolution, some of the program is already in motion; the Kraft Singles are scheduled to appear on the shelves as early as April 1.

I will send additional updates at least weekly, and sooner if I have something to report to you.

DRAFT

Thank you being a part of the professional dialogue and for expressing your concerns. Please know that the Board truly is listening and values your input. The issues are complicated and we are working on all of our options. We know that you want more information and I will continue to provide regular updates.

It's important for me to share that while we are still in discussions, we just learned from Kraft that the product with the "Proud supporter of Kids Eat Right" logo is scheduled to appear on shelves as early as April 1 and run through mid-July.

This program was developed to drive millions of consumers to the Kids Eat Right website. The Board is passionate about the profession and the organization and we are committed to sharing additional information with you soon. I want to reassure you that we are acting on your concerns.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you.

Subject: AND and Kraft feedback

Hi,

The recent headlines about the AND relationship with Kraft is troubling.

I manage a group of RDs in a major academic medical center. None of them (20 RDs) are AND members, and the relationship that AND has w/ 'big food' is one of the main reasons.

I am a member of the AND, DPGs, and my local/state affiliate. This may change soon. I'd happily pay increased membership dues though, if it meant that AND could absolve itself of sponsorship from 'big food' companies.

I've never personally recommended products by 'big food' companies, as I don't find any scientific backing for their promotion to the majority of patients.

The public perception of AND's relation to 'big food' is very troubling.

You probably saw the Daily Show mention of the AND. The groups that the Daily Show typically pokes fun of are the GOP and the NRA. I DON'T WANT THE AND GROUPED WITH THOSE ORGANIZATIONS. In the current times of Citizens United and immense influence by lobbyists, the AND should absolve itself of these ties to 'big food'. We can't be taken seriously if we don't.

Do we want to be perceived the way Congress, the NRA, politicians in-general, and Wall Street are perceived? Do we want to look like there is any inkling of monetary influence in what we do? It's really not worth it to me.

Please re-examine your relations to 'big food' companies. They aren't supported by members, and definitely aren't supported by the public.

Hi Nancy,

I will check this out, but my gut feeling is that making such a statement could inflame the situation even more. I hope we get a crisis management group soon who can address these kinds of questions.

Sonja,

I have a question about information we received during our conference call yesterday.

As I understood the report on the "Repeal the Seal" petition, there were approximately 11,000 signatures. When these names were checked against our membership listing, only approximately 3,000 could be shown to be members.

My question is can we share this information or is this confidential?

Thanks,

Dear Academy Members,

First, I want you to know how sorry I am that the Kraft issue has caused you so much distress and embarrassment. We are working furiously with Kraft on a resolution. Do know that it involves a contract so cannot be turned around on a dime. While we are working on a resolution, some of the program is already in motion; the Kraft Singles are scheduled to appear on the shelves as early as April 1.

I will send additional updates at least weekly, and sooner if I have something to report to you.

Thank you for your continued patience.

Let me know what revisions legal and GMMB have so I can approve the final email.

Thanks!

We have crafted a message based on your conversation today to go from Sonja to the membership. The confidential draft we forwarded to Paula for review follows.

DRAFT

Thank you being a part of the professional dialogue and for expressing your concerns. Please know that the Board truly is listening and values your input. The issues are complicated and we are working on all of our options. We know that you want more information and I will continue to provide regular updates.

It's important for me to share that while we are still in discussions, we just learned from Kraft that the product with the "Proud supporter of Kids Eat Right" logo is scheduled to appear on shelves as early as April 1 and run through mid-July.

This program was developed to drive millions of consumers to the Kids Eat Right website. The Board is passionate about the profession and the organization and we are committed to sharing additional information with you soon. I want to reassure you that we are acting on your concerns.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you.

I agree the letter captures the board members' thoughts. I personally am not a fan of the word embarrassment being in the letter. Perhaps others are better at communication that is soothing to a crowd but to me this suggests embarrassment over the product. And I would not want to suggest that to anyone. If we as a board distressed the membership, I understand that thought and I will take that responsibility as a leader. I know there are risks and benefits in decisions and our analysis did not fully recognize the perception risk and loss of membership trust. Again that is a role as a leader. So distress and increased lack of trust is a concern to me. That is about us, not the product. Just a thought.

And I apologize thAt when I went to vote while driving, I hit end call. Kay

The letter captured what the board brought up as concerns from our members. If Paula agrees, I think including the timeline for when the cheese will be on the shelf (end date as well) will go a long way for transparency.

Thanks for your leadership.

Hi Pat,

I recovered. Here is my suggested message to send to members via e-blast ASAP that has been reviewed by Terri and Don.

Dear Academy Members,

First, I want you to know how sorry I am that the Kraft issue has caused you so much distress and embarrassment. We are working furiously with Kraft on a resolution. Do know that it involves a contract so cannot be turned around on a dime. While we are working on a resolution, some of the program is already in motion; the Kraft Singles are scheduled to appear on the shelves as early as April 1.

I will send additional updates at least weekly, and sooner if I have something to report to you.

Thank you for your continued patience.

Let me know what revisions legal and GMMB have so I can approve the final email.

Thanks!

We have crafted a message based on your conversation today to go from Sonja to the membership. The confidential draft we forwarded to Paula for review follows.

DRAFT

Thank you being a part of the professional dialogue and for expressing your concerns. Please know that the Board truly is listening and values your input. The issues are complicated and we are working on all of our options. We know that you want more information and I will continue to provide regular updates.

It's important for me to share that while we are still in discussions, we just learned from Kraft that the product with the "Proud supporter of Kids Eat Right" logo is scheduled to appear on shelves as early as April 1 and run through mid-July.

This program was developed to drive millions of consumers to the Kids Eat Right website. The Board is passionate about the profession and the organization and we are committed to sharing additional information with you soon. I want to reassure you that we are acting on your concerns.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you.

Sonja,

The letter captured what the board brought up as concerns from our members. If Paula agrees, I think including the timeline for the when the cheese will be on the shelf (end date as well) will go a long way for transparency.

Thanks for your leadership.

Hi Pat,

One thing I meant to mention is that I did not say...April 1 through July because I thought Paula said we did not know this for certain. I think it would go better for members if it would be included. Could you run this by Paula?

Many thanks!

Dear Academy Members,

First, I want you to know how sorry I am that the Kraft issue has caused you so much distress and embarrassment. We are working furiously with Kraft on a resolution. Do know that it involves a contract so cannot be turned around on a dime. While we are working on a resolution, some of the program is already in motion; the Kraft Singles are scheduled to appear on the shelves as early as April 1.

I will send additional updates at least weekly, and sooner if I have something to report to you.

Thank you for your continued patience.

Let me know what revisions legal and GMMB have so I can approve the final email.

Thanks!

Thank you being a part of the professional dialogue and for expressing your concerns. Please know that the Board truly is listening and values your input. The issues are complicated and we are working on all of our options. We know that you want more information and I will continue to provide regular updates.

It's important for me to share that while we are still in discussions, we just learned from Kraft that the product with the "Proud supporter of Kids Eat Right" logo is scheduled to appear on shelves as early as April 1 and run through mid-July.

This program was developed to drive millions of consumers to the Kids Eat Right website. The Board is passionate about the profession and the organization and we are committed to sharing additional information with you soon. I want to reassure you that we are acting on your concerns.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you.

Dear Academy Members,

First, I want you to know how sorry I am that the Kraft issue has caused you so much distress and embarrassment. We are working furiously with Kraft on a resolution. Do know that it involves a contract so cannot be turned around on a dime. While we are working on a resolution, some of the program is already in motion; the Kraft Singles are scheduled to appear on the shelves as early as April 1.

I will send additional updates at least weekly, and sooner if I have something to report to you.

Thank you for your continued patience.

Let me know what revisions legal and GMMB have so I can approve the final email.

Thanks!

Thank you being a part of the professional dialogue and for expressing your concerns. Please know that the Board truly is listening and values your input. The issues are complicated and we are working on all of our options. We know that you want more information and I will continue to provide regular updates.

It's important for me to share that while we are still in discussions, we just learned from Kraft that the product with the "Proud supporter of Kids Eat Right" logo is scheduled to appear on shelves as early as April 1 and run through mid-July.

This program was developed to drive millions of consumers to the Kids Eat Right website. The Board is passionate about the profession and the organization and we are committed to sharing additional information with you soon. I want to reassure you that we are acting on your concerns.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you.

Dear Pat,

The Academy Board met in executive session and discussed ways we could support you and the Academy staff in addressing the current crisis with regard to legal counsel and crisis communication.

Legal Counsel. The Academy Board appreciates the advice and work that our legal counsel is providing. Certainly Paula has guided the Academy through significant growth and change over several years. The current crisis with the Kraft contract and relationship necessitates additional external legal support for Paula to help expedite legal/contract resolution, to provide another set of eyes on the issue, and to potentially provide additional expertise. We would see Paula as lead counsel with external legal support. The Board requests that you as the CEO, identify and retain additional legal support in consultation with the Academy Board Chair.

Crisis Communication.

- Regarding communication with members the Board feels the messages have tended to be defensive and developed from the Academy point of view rather than from the member's point of view. It feels the Academy and GMMB is missing the connection with the anger of the membership
- The Board feels uncertain about the crisis management experience of GMMB. The Board recommends seeking a crisis management firm that will address our sense of urgency and prepare messages that address the anger of our members. The Board requests a plan be developed immediately for addressing this crisis and given to the Board for approval.
- After the current crisis has been addressed, the Board requests development of a three prong messaging approach around marketing, public relations (which is the focus of our current crisis) and member relations.

The Board, like you, feels like our hair is on fire and we need that same sense of urgency coming from the Academy staff in all actions and communications.

We continue to want to be supportive in every way possible so that you and your team can successfully management this crisis.

On behalf of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Board of Directors,

Sonja

We have crafted a message based on your conversation today to go from Sonja to the membership. The confidential draft we forwarded to Paula for review follows.

DRAFT

Thank you being a part of the professional dialogue and for expressing your concerns. Please know that the Board truly is listening and values your input. The issues are complicated and we are working on all of our options. We know that you want more information and I will continue to provide regular updates.

It's important for me to share that while we are still in discussions, we just learned from Kraft that the product with the "Proud supporter of Kids Eat Right" logo is scheduled to appear on shelves as early as April 1 and run through mid-July.

This program was developed to drive millions of consumers to the Kids Eat Right website. The Board is passionate about the profession and the organization and we are committed to sharing additional information with you soon. I want to reassure you that we are acting on your concerns.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you.

To answer Glenna's question about the contract. Attached is the information you received prior to your vote in October. The contracts for National Sponsorship are all signed by the Academy. National level sponsorship is a requirement for the Academy to engage in an education campaign. The Kids Eat Right program is identified within the terms of the contract.

Dear Board Members,

I want to take this opportunity as a School Nutrition Director to set the record straight about crediting Kraft singles in the National School Lunch Program. I have the privilege of not only serving on the Academy BOD, but also on the Foundation BOD as Treasurer for both boards. I voted both times to support the KER Kraft program initiative. When the proposed Kraft program came to the attention of the Foundation I took the initiative to contact Janey Thornton (USDA Deputy Under Secretary for USDA) to get her thoughts on Kraft singles and the School Nutrition Program. She agreed with me that they were a creditable product as evidenced by the fact that we have several USDA commodities that fit the same profile as Kraft singles, but are not made by Kraft. The USDA Commodity Program offers several American Cheese single products for us to purchase. Some are regular fat and some are reduced fat. They also offer processed cheese loaves for the program.

This is the information on just one of the products that they sell to us and it is creditable as stated below.

00018-Cheese, American, Yellow, Pasteurized, Sliced

Category: Meat/Meat Alternate

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

This item is a pasteurized, processed yellow American cheese. This product is available in cases with six 5-pound loaves containing 160 1/2-ounce slices per loaf.

CREDITING/YIELD

?? One case yields 480 1-ounce portions of cheese. CN Crediting: 1 ounce cheese credits as 1 oz equivalent meat/meat alternate.

The second statement I would like to make is that the Kraft singles reduced fat does qualify as a "Smart Snack" in the National School Lunch Program . I personally ran the product through the Smart Snacks product calculator and sent the sheet to Mary Beth to let her know it was creditable as a smart snack. The regular Kraft singles are not creditable as a smart snack, but the reduced fat ones are. In talking to Janey Thornton about the program she was very much in favor of us collaborating with Kraft, and had hopes that if she stayed on at USDA that they might get involved with the KER campaign.

I am sorry I was not able to stay on the last board call long enough to get this message out there, but wanted to make sure you had this information before the call today. Looking forward to our discussions.

Everyone,

I wanted to follow up the information that I shared during the joint Academy and Foundation boards call to put my comments in writing (especially since not everyone was still on the call and able to hear my remarks). As I have shared during our calls (both the October Board conference call and the joint call last week), I have very strong feelings about the Kraft partnership and roll out of the campaign. My sincere appreciation goes to both boards and staff for reconsidering the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles and the partnership with Kraft for an education campaign. As we move forward, I wanted to reiterate some concerns that I tried to convey during our discussions and that many members have expressed. This is not meant to dwell on what has happened but to assist us as we take steps toward the future.

I must begin with full disclosure though:

- I was and still am opposed to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles.
- I do not have any Kraft Singles in my refrigerator, nor will I purchase Kraft Singles. I prefer to purchase and consume real cheese and support as many local farmers and family owned dairy operations as I can. Have I or my child eaten Kraft Singles? Most likely at some point. My husband is allergic to dairy.
- My family and I are not perfect eaters, but we strive to make the best choices that we can. I do not aim to take every opportunity to serve as the food police. Please do not worry if you are out to eat a meal with me; I will not analyze your food choices unless you have requested my expertise and services as a registered dietitian.
- If I were not on the board, I would be signing the petition to #RepealtheSeal, sending letters to Academy leaders and reconsidering my membership.

Some suggestions in terms of considering the future and moving forward:

Accurate and complete information should be presented to the Academy and Foundation Boards for consideration. Benefits and potential repercussions from any partnership or sponsorship should be explored fully. Incorrect background information was provided to the Board to review in consideration of the Kraft partnership. Kraft Singles, may not be counted as a required (Meat/Meat Alternate) component of reimbursable school meals. Kraft Singles are not creditable for reimbursable school meals, not because they are sliced and wrapped in plastic. They are not creditable because they are not real cheese. Only real cheese is creditable for reimbursable school meals. Only real cheese is also creditable for WIC. School nutrition programs may serve Kraft Singles as part of school meals, if inclusion of Kraft Singles does not prevent the nutrition analysis of the meals from meeting the calorie, fat and sodium limits of the federal nutrition regulations. School nutrition programs can purchase and use sliced and packaged real cheese that is creditable for school meals. Kraft Singles, Regular or 2% or even Fat Free, do not qualify for Smart Snacks. Science is also on the other side of the debate and should be considered. The Academy rebuttal has been that placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging is not an endorsement. However, we did not review or conduct consumer research on front of package (FOP) labeling regarding this concern. In addition, information regarding endorsement and FTC guidelines was not presented to the Foundation board and the Academy Board for consideration.

Input from members and those we serve is imperative. We want the public to trust us as the food and nutrition expert. We want to be the go to resource for our members and we want to promote the expertise and brand of RDNs and NDTRs. Members could have been consulted in advance regarding partnering with Kraft and elements of the campaign. The Research DPG could have been consulted regarding FOP labeling. The Public Health/Community Nutrition DPG or School Nutrition DPG could have been consulted regarding whether Kraft Singles were allowable in school nutrition programs or other food and nutrition assistance programs. It is difficult for those of us who work in these practice areas to have a product that features the Kids Eat Right logo, not be approved for use (creditable) in the programs that we work with. It is confusing to consumers to have the Kids Eat Right logo on a product that does not also have 'WIC approved' labeling on its shelf tag. Many consumers do not examine food labels. When consumers see the Kids Eat Right logo on a product, they will assume that the product is a healthy choice for their family. The survey that went out to members regarding nutrients of concern, Kraft, etc. should have been reviewed by the board, the Sponsorship Task Force or an entity like the newly created Member Advisory Panel. If processes are in place, gleaning input from members and those we serve can be efficiently done. No assumptions should be made. There was an assumption made that only a small minority would be opposed to the Kraft partnership and use of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. It is evident that a significant number of RDNs and NDTRs, members or not, other health professionals and members of the public are opposed. In this day and age of social media, it only takes one motivated person to inspire a movement for change. The decision and the announcement were made before the sponsorship dialogue at the House of Delegates meeting or the work of the Sponsorship Task Force was completed. This conveys the notion that member input is not valued in decision making. Members are the Academy. Their input is critical to decisions made and actions taken by the Academy.

The Academy should be in a position to set precedence or influence policy that advances nutrition and promotes the profession. Entering into partnerships with corporations has been described as an opportunity to influence policies, practices or products of companies. Kraft dictated policy to the Academy and could potentially put the Academy in a position to influence nutrition policy negatively. Kraft limited our choices for placement of the Kids Eat Right logo. Based on discussion during the October Board call if the Kids Eat Right logo was to be placed on any Kraft products, it was to be Kraft Singles Regular or 2%. The Academy and the Foundation should control use of the Kids Eat Right logo. We should have been able to work with Kraft to select the best products, if any, for the logo to be displayed on. If Kraft was not willing to feature the Kids Eat Right logo on those products, then we should not have granted permission for use of the logo. It is very interesting timing to have the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles when the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Report recommends reducing consumption of cheese and increasing consumption of fluid milk to maximize calcium intake and decrease sodium. In addition, discussions and preparation for the Child Nutrition Reauthorization have begun, which affects school nutrition programs and other food and nutrition assistance programs, for which Kraft Singles are not a creditable component. Companies and other organizations can only benefit from partnering with the Academy; however, the Academy, and potentially our members, can have a great deal to lose. How the Academy acts reflects on our members and non-members alike. As an organization or profession, we do not have the resources, financial or personnel, to overcome the consequences of negative media coverage or public perception.

Any campaign announcement or communication elements should be carefully developed and disseminated. The Academy response has been that the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo is not an endorsement and that the Academy has never endorsed any products. However, some value judgement was made in selecting or agreeing to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. If the Kids Eat Right logo is to be placed on any products, nutrition criteria should be established, based on science, and agreed upon in advance. If there are not any criteria or judgement for selecting products, then the Kids Eat Right logo could be placed on any product, which would not support the Academy mission of optimizing health and nutrition. Information regarding the partnership with Kraft should not have been shared with members unless talking points and all campaign materials were ready to go. Members are media savvy and will quickly share news and information from the Academy. The New York Times immediately picked up the story and described the partnership and placement of the Kids Eat Right logo as an endorsement. It did not help that a Kraft spokesperson was quoted as stating this is the first time the Academy has endorsed a product and allowed the Kids Eat Right logo to be featured. Once a story is in print or online it is difficult to correct the information conveyed to the public, even if you are able to get a retraction. The URL, www.eatright.org/cheesyfacts, was not the best link to promote information related to a product that is in fact not real cheese. It also promotes cheese instead of all foods that can provide calcium, vitamin D and other nutrients of concern. Such a controversial announcement should not have been made in March during National Nutrition Month, when we are trying to promote the brand and expertise of the RDN, NDTR and the Academy. The strides that had been made in the NNM campaign are overshadowed by the announcement and the disagreement among those within our own membership and profession. We do not want to be the subject of a negative news headline or documentary storyline or the punchline of a late night joke. You do not want to be trending because of a poor decision. You want to set trends in a positive light, advancing nutrition and the profession.

The Academy Board and Foundation Boards need to work cooperatively. The Academy Board of Directors should be allowed the opportunity to discuss potential sponsorships prior to the Academy Foundation deliberation and decision. Input from the Board may be helpful to the Foundation as they make critical decisions regarding sponsorships. The Foundation is considered a separate legal entity from the Academy; however, decisions made by the Foundation can potentially affect the Academy in regards to membership gain or loss, staff time (Executive Team; Communications, Knowledge Center, Research, and Governance staff, etc.), and resources. In turn, decisions made by the Academy Board can potentially affect the Foundation. We both want to support scholarships, education and research. We must also work together to promote the expertise of RDNs and NDTRs and optimize nutrition and health.

Given the response and what we have learned regarding the Kraft initiative, I do request that the Academy Board and Foundation Board revisit the decision to accept sponsorship funding from and partner with Monsanto for the Future of Food initiative. Kraft has a negative perception in the minds of many members because of their products and business practices. However, Kraft has a much more favorable image than Monsanto does among members, non-members, other professionals and the public. The Kraft partnership has been one of the most divisive decisions for our organization. I hope that we can overcome the fallout from the Kraft partnership decision, membership dissension and negative publicity. I am not sure that the Academy can fully overcome potential repercussions from announcing a partnership with Monsanto.

Each time we have a decision to make regarding a sponsorship we must ask ourselves if we would partner with the company, organization or entity if money was not involved and if we would be not only comfortable with, but proud of, the partnership.

Thank you for the opportunity to share my comments and concerns in writing.

Healthy regards,

Hi everyone. I am finding a lot of this discussion very helpful as I try to get my mind ready for our call later. But I worry that a couple of things could get lost in all of this. As a reminder, I work for a huge company and certainly am solidly in favor of industry partnerships. There are 3 major issues that I am concerned about as we move forward.

1. Implied endorsement (I've already said enough on this)
2. The word "sponsorship"---that has not come up much, but I still think it is part of the issue
3. Timing....most of our problems here involve timing, whether we realized it or it was accidental, there were so many timing problems it makes me sad. Of course, again, our old 20/20 hindsight friend is involved in this, but not in regard to the on-going work of the Task Force and the input from the HOD.

I just don't want us to lose track of the fact that we had acknowledged our need to reexamine the Sponsorship situation....we had the right idea....it just got lost.

Hi again,

Along with Margaret, I do recall voting or at a minimum saying that I was in favor of this, I don't recall who made the motion (or if there was a motion or if it was just opinion). I do know that I said yes. Tracey voted no, everyone else voted yes.

Subject: Additional information for Joint Academy and Foundation WebEx/Conference Call on Friday, March 27 at 3 PM CST

Yesterday you should have received an agenda and a cover email providing a status update with immediate, short- and long- term recommendations for your consideration. In addition to the notes from the March 19 joint meeting you received via email that afternoon, I am including draft minutes for review and approval on the call today. Attached is the amended agenda. We are working with legal counsel to finalize a joint statement with Kraft and will update the FAQ and message to members once it has been approved by both parties. Members will be the first to be informed.

Best regards,

Hi all,

Since others are providing emails that are not seen by the entire BOD/HLT, I am forwarding this one ccd to me from Bill Swan, past chair of Evidenced Based Practice Committee to his New Mexico delegate. I have also attached the Journal Ethics in Action Article he co-wrote titled " Ethical Selection of Enteral and Infant Formula: Demonstrating Evidenced-Based Practice and Vendor Relationships".

Suzie,

It should be a dynamic HOD Spring meeting to say the least. I wanted to share with you a few of my concerns in light of the recently collaboration with Kraft Foods, now Heinz Kraft Foods.

First, an overreaction to the issues stemming from the Heinz collaboration with the Foundation could lead to restrictions on who I may associate with in the conduct of my business. This would be untenable. AND critics decry these associations however they are necessary in order to perform ones work. How one associates is a topic for discussion but who one associates with is not. Business ethics will guide these associations. But, I think the Academy has adequate guidelines and ethical standards in place to meet this challenge. These guidelines and standards are certainly ones that I had worked with in my career. My standards for associating with vendors is described in an article I co-wrote as an Ethics in Action Article in the Journal (citation can be found at my website or LinkedIn profile). Association does not demonstrate a conflict of interest only an action (benefit or harm) can demonstrate a COI. Critics of association need to demonstrate that a specific Academy decision (practice paper, position paper, EAL recommendation, etc) was based on the benefit or harm a particular association might present to the Academy.

Next, in light of the discussion on corporate relationships, I hope there will be exploration of Abbott's role in the mega issue on malnutrition. I have concern that the Alliance promotes protocols that encourage consumption of oral nutrition supplements over other interventions to treat malnutrition. This is of course a benefit to Abbott. I would hope that the HOD would fund an EAL project exploring interventions that treat malnutrition. Any bias of corporate funded research would be determined as part of the evidence analysis process. I have concerns that Alliance protocols rely significantly on Abbott funded research.

There needs to better distinction made between the Academy and the Foundation. What ever you might think of the Kraft announcement, it should have been made by the Foundation President not the Academy President. I think too many Academy members see the Academy and the Foundation as one in the same. The announcement from Sonja was messy in that regard. Any announcement about a corporate sponsorship should not be made in March when all the established critics (Marion, Tom, and Michele) and "investigative" reporters are looking to "uncover" the news about Academy and businesses during NNM. Need to make better tactical decisions.

I have only gotten one from a member that was written and I responded (it was buried in a host of emails). I have not passed that along, but could if that is what is wanted. Do you want those sent?????

From a meeting (giving the Academy Update) I asked if there were questions, and quite frankly out of about 30 practicing dietitians in the room, only one had direct knowledge of the issue and was not in favor of the logo on the product. Others just said we are too busy at work, and have not been on sites where this is discussed. When asked what the issue was and a brief description given, only one other person said she would not agree. A couple leaving said they thought that sponsors had helped us a lot with students/scholarships and things we could not do otherwise.

My site visitor is still here, so this is on the fly.....

Good morning all,

This message was forwarded to me by a Florida member. I wondered if it was sent to the BOD, why didn't we all receive it? It would be embarrassing to meet this member at a meeting and not know she had sent an email. Maybe the volume is too great but I would like to acknowledge some of these especially from people I know. They are probably wondering why we haven't responded.

Looking forward to our call this afternoon.

To the Leadership of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics

This is the second letter I am writing to this group. The first expressed my shock, sadness and anger about learning of a major initiative of the Academy in the New York Times. It was not only the complete lack of communication and transparency that was distressing but also the implied endorsement and the Academy becoming a point of public ridicule. I was not alone with these feelings as there are now over 10,000 signatures on the RepealTheSeal petition. I will not review what has transpired since we are all way too familiar with this.

My dismay and anger continues because of the amateurish and incompetent way the fallout from this disaster has been managed. Two key complaints were lack of communication and transparency. This has not been addressed. Today there was an article in the WSJ saying that the Academy and Kraft have been in talks for days about how to resolve this issue. Why was not this communicated to members? Why once more do we have to read in the paper about the actions of the Academy. We have Pat's letter of 3/17/15 saying "we are working on a solution". Then nothing more. Why has there not been a second letter stating what was in the WSJ. And would it break any legal issue for us to know who is participating in these discussions? I think not. If, as it has been repeatedly stated, this is a member driven organization why are members kept completely in the dark. In a crisis of this magnitude you do not go one week without any type of update.

Also mentioned was that a member advisory committee would be developed to discuss issues of sponsorship. What has happened with that? How are people being chosen? What is the timeline? Again not a word about this from our leadership. I would be happy to serve on this committee and if not me I know many qualified RDNs I could recommend. When this committee is developed it is absolutely necessary that the method of choosing the members is revealed. That is transparency.

This organization is comprised of ethical, responsible, talented professionals. We deserve the same from our leadership.

Yes. Thank you, Margaret. Our agenda for the October Academy Board call notes that action would need to be taken by the Board. I remember the explanation during the Academy Board call that this potential sponsorship was different from others and for that reason the Academy Board needed to vote on working with Kraft. We were each given an opportunity to share our thoughts on the potential partnership and placement of the KER logo on Kraft Singles. We then went back through for everyone to have the opportunity to vote. I was the one "No" vote on the Kraft sponsorship and placement of the KER logo on Kraft Singles Regular and 2%. For the Monsanto discussion during the January Academy Board call, we were told that the Foundation was a separate legal entity from the Academy Board; therefore, only input was requested from the Academy Board and the Academy Board could not vote on this potential partnership. Only the Foundation Board would vote regarding working with Monsanto for the Future of Food initiative. Sonja, you were able to extensively capture concerns expressed by and questions asked by the Board during the October Academy Board call. You did a wonderful job doing this while leading the call. I hope this is helpful.

There is an incorrect statement in the minutes. The Academy board did not pass a motion in October to approve Kraft as a National Sponsor. The Academy board provided feedback but there was no motion. Could you please change the minutes and resend them to everyone?

Hi again,

Along with Margaret, I do recall voting or at a minimum saying that I was in favor of this, I don't recall who made the motion (or if there was a motion or if it was just opinion). I do know that I said yes. Tracey voted no, everyone else voted yes.

Hi Board members,

There seems to be debate about the October board call. If you made a motion or if you seconded a motion would you let us know?

Thanks a bunch!

Hi Pat,

There is an incorrect statement in the minutes. The Academy board did not pass a motion in October to approve Kraft as a National Sponsor. The Academy board provided feedback but there was no motion. Could you please change the minutes and resend them to everyone?

Many thanks!

Yesterday you should have received an agenda and a cover email providing a status update with immediate, short- and long- term recommendations for your consideration. In addition to the notes from the March 19 joint meeting you received via email that afternoon, I am including draft minutes for review and approval on the call today. Attached is the amended agenda. We are working with legal counsel to finalize a joint statement with Kraft and will update the FAQ and message to members once it has been approved by both parties. Members will be the first to be informed.

Hi all,

Since others are providing emails that are not seen by the entire BOD/HLT, I am forwarding this one ccd to me from Bill Swan, past chair of Evidenced Based Practice Committee to his New Mexico delegate. I have also attached the Journal Ethics in Action Article he co-wrote titled "Ethical Selection of Enteral and Infant Formula: Demonstrating Evidenced-Based Practice and Vendor Relationships".

Suzie,

It should be a dynamic HOD Spring meeting to say the least. I wanted to share with you a few of my concerns in light of the recently collaboration with Kraft Foods, now Heinz Kraft Foods.

First, an overreaction to the issues stemming from the Heinz collaboration with the Foundation could lead to restrictions on who I may associate with in the conduct of my business. This would be untenable. AND critics decry these associations however they are necessary in order to perform ones work. How one associates is a topic for discussion but who one associates with is not. Business ethics will guide these associations. But, I think the Academy has adequate guidelines and ethical standards in place to meet this challenge. These guidelines and standards are certainly ones that I had worked with in my career. My standards for associating with vendors is described in an article I co-wrote as an Ethics in Action Article in the Journal (citation can be found at my website or LinkedIn profile). Association does not demonstrate a conflict of interest only an action (benefit or harm) can demonstrate a COI. Critics of association need to demonstrate that a specific Academy decision (practice paper, position paper, EAL recommendation, etc) was based on the benefit or harm a particular association might present to the Academy.

Next, in light of the discussion on corporate relationships, I hope there will be exploration of Abbott's role in the mega issue on malnutrition. I have concern that the Alliance promotes protocols that encourage consumption of oral nutrition supplements over other interventions to treat malnutrition. This is of course a benefit to Abbott. I would hope that the HOD would fund an EAL project exploring interventions that treat malnutrition. Any bias of corporate funded research would be determined as part of the evidence analysis process. I have concerns that Alliance protocols rely significantly on Abbott funded research.

There needs to better distinction made between the Academy and the Foundation. What ever you might think of the Kraft announcement, it should have been made by the Foundation President not the Academy President. I think too many Academy members see the Academy and the Foundation as one in the same. The announcement from Sonja was messy in that regard. Any announcement about a corporate sponsorship should not be made in March when all the established critics (Marion, Tom, and Michele) and "investigative" reporters are looking to "uncover" the news about Academy and businesses during NNM. Need to make better tactical decisions.

I have only gotten one from a member that was written and I responded (it was buried in a host of emails). I have not passed that along, but could if that is what is wanted. Do you want those sent?????

From a meeting (giving the Academy Update) I asked if there were questions, and quite frankly out of about 30 practicing dietitians in the room, only one had direct knowledge of the issue and was not in favor of the logo on the product. Others just said we are too busy at work, and have not been on sites where this is discussed. When asked what the issue was and a brief description given, only one other person said she would not agree. A couple leaving said they thought that sponsors had helped us a lot with students/scholarships and things we could not do otherwise.

My site visitor is still here, so this is on the fly.....

Good morning all,

This message was forwarded to me by a Florida member. I wondered if it was sent to the BOD, why didn't we all receive it? It would be embarrassing to meet this member at a meeting and not know she had sent an email. Maybe the volume is too great but I would like to acknowledge some of these especially from people I know. They are probably wondering why we haven't responded. Looking forward to our call this afternoon.

To the Leadership of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics

This is the second letter I am writing to this group. The first expressed my shock, sadness and anger about learning of a major initiative of the Academy in the New York Times. It was not only the complete lack of communication and transparency that was distressing but also the implied endorsement and the Academy becoming a point of public ridicule. I was not alone with these feelings as there are now over 10,000 signatures on the RepealTheSeal petition. I will not review what has transpired since we are all way too familiar with this.

My dismay and anger continues because of the amateurish and incompetent way the fallout from this disaster has been managed. Two key complaints were lack of communication and transparency. This has not been addressed. Today there was an article in the WSJ saying that the Academy and Kraft have been in talks for days about how to resolve this issue. Why was not this communicated to members? Why once more do we have to read in the paper about the actions of the Academy. We have Pat's letter of 3/17/15 saying "we are working on a solution". Then nothing more. Why has there not been a second letter stating what was in the WSJ. And would it break any legal issue for us to know who is participating in these discussions? I think not. If, as it has been repeatedly stated, this is a member driven organization why are members kept completely in the dark. In a crisis of this magnitude you do not go one week without any type of update.

Also mentioned was that a member advisory committee would be developed to discuss issues of sponsorship. What has happened with that? How are people being chosen? What is the timeline? Again not a word about this from our leadership. I would be happy to serve on this committee and if not me I know many qualified RDNs I could recommend. When this committee is developed it is absolutely necessary that the method of choosing the members is revealed. That is transparency.

This organization is comprised of ethical, responsible, talented professionals. We deserve the same from our leadership.

Everyone,

I wanted to follow up the information that I shared during the joint Academy and Foundation boards call to put my comments in writing (especially since not everyone was still on the call and able to hear my remarks). As I have shared during our calls (both the October Board conference call and the joint call last week), I have very strong feelings about the Kraft partnership and roll out of the campaign. My sincere appreciation goes to both boards and staff for reconsidering the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles and the partnership with Kraft for an education campaign. As we move forward, I wanted to reiterate some concerns that I tried to convey during our discussions and that many members have expressed. This is not meant to dwell on what has happened but to assist us as we take steps toward the future.

I must begin with full disclosure though:

- I was and still am opposed to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles.
- I do not have any Kraft Singles in my refrigerator, nor will I purchase Kraft Singles. I prefer to purchase and consume real cheese and support as many local farmers and family owned dairy operations as I can. Have I or my child eaten Kraft Singles? Most likely at some point. My husband is allergic to dairy.
- My family and I are not perfect eaters, but we strive to make the best choices that we can. I do not aim to take every opportunity to serve as the food police. Please do not worry if you are out to eat a meal with me; I will not analyze your food choices unless you have requested my expertise and services as a registered dietitian.
- If I were not on the board, I would be signing the petition to #RepealtheSeal, sending letters to Academy leaders and reconsidering my membership.

Some suggestions in terms of considering the future and moving forward:

Accurate and complete information should be presented to the Academy and Foundation Boards for consideration. Benefits and potential repercussions from any partnership or sponsorship should be explored fully. Incorrect background information was provided to the Board to review in consideration of the Kraft partnership. Kraft Singles, may not be counted as a required (Meat/Meat Alternate) component of reimbursable school meals. Kraft Singles are not creditable for reimbursable school meals, not because they are sliced and wrapped in plastic. They are not creditable because they are not real cheese. Only real cheese is creditable for reimbursable school meals. Only real cheese is also creditable for WIC. School nutrition programs may serve Kraft Singles as part of school meals, if inclusion of Kraft Singles does not prevent the nutrition analysis of the meals from meeting the calorie, fat and sodium limits of the federal nutrition regulations. School nutrition programs can purchase and use sliced and packaged real cheese that is creditable for school meals. Kraft Singles, Regular or 2% or even Fat Free, do not qualify for Smart Snacks. Science is also on the other side of the debate and should be considered. The Academy rebuttal has been that placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging is not an endorsement. However, we did not review or conduct consumer research on front of package (FOP) labeling regarding this concern. In addition, information regarding endorsement and FTC guidelines was not presented to the Foundation board and the Academy Board for consideration.

Input from members and those we serve is imperative. We want the public to trust us as the food and nutrition expert. We want to be the go to resource for our members and we want to promote the expertise and brand of RDNs and NDTRs. Members could have been consulted in advance regarding partnering with Kraft and elements of the campaign. The Research DPG could have been consulted regarding FOP labeling. The Public Health/Community Nutrition DPG or School Nutrition DPG could have been consulted regarding whether Kraft Singles were allowable in school nutrition programs or other food and nutrition assistance programs. It is difficult for those of us who work in these practice areas to have a product that features the Kids Eat Right logo, not be approved for use (creditable) in the programs that we work with. It is confusing to consumers to have the Kids Eat Right logo on a product that does not also have 'WIC approved' labeling on its shelf tag. Many consumers do not examine food labels. When consumers see the Kids Eat Right logo on a product, they will assume that the product is a healthy choice for their family. The survey that went out to members regarding nutrients of concern, Kraft, etc. should have been reviewed by the board, the Sponsorship Task Force or an entity like the newly created Member Advisory Panel. If processes are in place, gleaning input from members and those we serve can be efficiently done. No assumptions should be made. There was an assumption made that only a small minority would be opposed to the Kraft partnership and use of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. It is evident that a significant number of RDNs and NDTRs, members or not, other health professionals and members of the public are opposed. In this day and age of social media, it only takes one motivated person to inspire a movement for change. The decision and the announcement were made before the sponsorship dialogue at the House of Delegates meeting or the work of the Sponsorship Task Force was completed. This conveys the notion that member input is not valued in decision making. Members are the Academy. Their input is critical to decisions made and actions taken by the Academy.

The Academy should be in a position to set precedence or influence policy that advances nutrition and promotes the profession. Entering into partnerships with corporations has been described as an opportunity to influence policies, practices or products of companies. Kraft dictated policy to the Academy and could potentially put the Academy in a position to influence nutrition policy negatively. Kraft limited our choices for placement of the Kids Eat Right logo. Based on discussion during the October Board call if the Kids Eat Right logo was to be placed on any Kraft products, it was to be Kraft Singles Regular or 2%. The Academy and the Foundation should control use of the Kids Eat Right logo. We should have been able to work with Kraft to select the best products, if any, for the logo to be displayed on. If Kraft was not willing to feature the Kids Eat Right logo on those products, then we should not have granted permission for use of the logo. It is very interesting timing to have the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles when the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Report recommends reducing consumption of cheese and increasing consumption of fluid milk to maximize calcium intake and decrease sodium. In addition, discussions and preparation for the Child Nutrition Reauthorization have begun, which affects school nutrition programs and other food and nutrition assistance programs, for which Kraft Singles are not a creditable component. Companies and other organizations can only benefit from partnering with the Academy; however, the Academy, and potentially our members, can have a great deal to lose. How the Academy acts reflects on our members and non-members alike. As an organization or profession, we do not have the resources, financial or personnel, to overcome the consequences of negative media coverage or public perception.

Any campaign announcement or communication elements should be carefully developed and disseminated. The Academy response has been that the placement of the Kids Eat Right logo is not an endorsement and that the Academy has never endorsed any products. However, some value judgement was made in selecting or agreeing to placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles. If the Kids Eat Right logo is to be placed on any products, nutrition criteria should be established, based on science, and agreed upon in advance. If there are not any criteria or judgement for selecting products, then the Kids Eat Right logo could be placed on any product, which would not support the Academy mission of optimizing health and nutrition. Information regarding the partnership with Kraft should not have been shared with members unless talking points and all campaign materials were ready to go. Members are media savvy and will quickly share news and information from the Academy. The New York Times immediately picked up the story and described the partnership and placement of the Kids Eat Right logo as an endorsement. It did not help that a Kraft spokesperson was quoted as stating this is the first time the Academy has endorsed a product and allowed the Kids Eat Right logo to be featured. Once a story is in print or online it is difficult to correct the information conveyed to the public, even if you are able to get a retraction. The URL, www.eatright.org/cheesyfacts, was not the best link to promote information related to a product that is in fact not real cheese. It also promotes cheese instead of all foods that can provide calcium, vitamin D and other nutrients of concern. Such a controversial announcement should not have been made in March during National Nutrition Month, when we are trying to promote the brand and expertise of the RDN, NDTR and the Academy. The strides that had been made in the NNM campaign are overshadowed by the announcement and the disagreement among those within our own membership and profession. We do not want to be the subject of a negative news headline or documentary storyline or the punchline of a late night joke. You do not want to be trending because of a poor decision. You want to set trends in a positive light, advancing nutrition and the profession.

The Academy Board and Foundation Boards need to work cooperatively. The Academy Board of Directors should be allowed the opportunity to discuss potential sponsorships prior to the Academy Foundation deliberation and decision. Input from the Board may be helpful to the Foundation as they make critical decisions regarding sponsorships. The Foundation is considered a separate legal entity from the Academy; however, decisions made by the Foundation can potentially affect the Academy in regards to membership gain or loss, staff time (Executive Team; Communications, Knowledge Center, Research, and Governance staff, etc.), and resources. In turn, decisions made by the Academy Board can potentially affect the Foundation. We both want to support scholarships, education and research. We must also work together to promote the expertise of RDNs and NDTRs and optimize nutrition and health.

Given the response and what we have learned regarding the Kraft initiative, I do request that the Academy Board and Foundation Board revisit the decision to accept sponsorship funding from and partner with Monsanto for the Future of Food initiative. Kraft has a negative perception in the minds of many members because of their products and business practices. However, Kraft has a much more favorable image than Monsanto does among members, non-members, other professionals and the public. The Kraft partnership has been one of the most divisive decisions for our organization. I hope that we can overcome the fallout from the Kraft partnership decision, membership dissension and negative publicity. I am not sure that the Academy can fully overcome potential repercussions from announcing a partnership with Monsanto.

Each time we have a decision to make regarding a sponsorship we must ask ourselves if we would partner with the company, organization or entity if money was not involved and if we would be not only comfortable with, but proud of, the partnership.

Thank you for the opportunity to share my comments and concerns in writing.

Healthy regards,

Tracey Bates, MPH, RDN, LDN, FAND

Sorry all, I don't recall who made a motion. I did not say before, but Tracey didn't you abstain or vote no to the sponsorship; that is my memory of one or the other.

Hi Board members,

There seems to be debate about the October board call. If you made a motion or if you seconded a motion would you let us know?

Thanks a bunch!

There is an incorrect statement in the minutes. The Academy board did not pass a motion in October to approve Kraft as a National Sponsor. The Academy board provided feedback but there was no motion. Could you please change the minutes and resend them to everyone?

Many thanks!

Hi Sonja and Pat,

I am confident we did vote and there was either one abstention or one "no" vote. I know we don't record how each person voted, but this is what I recall.

Hi Pat,

There is an incorrect statement in the minutes. The Academy board did not pass a motion in October to approve Kraft as a National Sponsor. The Academy board provided feedback but there was no motion. Could you please change the minutes and resend them to everyone?

Many thanks!

Yesterday you should have received an agenda and a cover email providing a status update with immediate, short- and long- term recommendations for your consideration. In addition to the notes from the March 19 joint meeting you received via email that afternoon, I am including draft minutes for review and approval on the call today. Attached is the amended agenda. We are working with legal counsel to finalize a joint statement with Kraft and will update the FAQ and message to members once it has been approved by both parties. Members will be the first to be informed.

Hi Margaret,

We were told at the beginning of the call that this was a Foundation program and what was needed from the board was our input. I kept extensive notes. I could have missed a motion and vote but it is unlikely.

Beth I am not the best on computer so I am resending this E-mail. Thanks for checking on our friend Ken Wear as I had just talked with his wife and he is progressing in Rehab, but she said he is not out of the woods.

As a staunch Foundation supporter, I also want to comment on the ridiculous attitudes of a few of our members about the Kraft support of the "Kids Eat Right" campaign. This childish action by a few is something foreign to me in our great Profession. As a 62year member of our prestigious Academy, holding many offices in the Academy and its Foundation, I have personally witnessed Corporate financial support of our great scholarship programs, important research projects, public information programs and promoting the RDN! This is ridiculous as RDN's are employed by industry and corporations as they realize the RDN's expertise and leadership, should we criticize this also!

The endorsement and support of our "Kids Eat Right" campaign has helped to make it successful. The acknowledgement of this campaign on a slice of cheese does not say eat this cheese only! The fact is the cheese does some nutritional value, but not that this is the best or only source!

The person who stated we are a laughingstock to the public has become one herself!

Please know I support the decision to have a Corporation like Kraft support our programs which helps RDN's to educate the Public learn the benefits of good nutrition for health! I would really like to see how much financial support was given by these complainers have given to educating the Public on the benefits of good nutritional practices!

Beth please see that Mary Beth and Pat get this E-mail.
