Good morning all,

This message was forwarded to me by a Florida member. I wondered if it was sent to the BOD, why didn't we all receive it? It would be embarrassing to meet this member at a meeting and not know she had sent an email. Maybe the volume is too great but I would like to acknowledge some of these especially from people I know. They are probably wondering why we haven't responded.

Looking forward to our call this afternoon.

Subject: Kraft concerns

To the Leadership of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics

This is the second letter I am writing to this group. The first expressed my shock, sadness and anger about learning of a major initiative of the Academy in the New York Times. It was not only the complete lack of communication and transparency that was distressing but also the implied endorsement and the Academy becoming a point of public ridicule. I was not alone with these feelings as there are now over 10,000 signatures on the RepealTheSeal petition. I will not review what has transpired since we are all way too familiar with this.

My dismay and anger continues because of the amateurish and incompetent way the fallout from this disaster has been managed. Two key complaints were lack of communication and transparency. This has not been addressed. Today there was an article in the WSJ saying that the Academy and Kraft have been in talks for days about how to resolve this issue. Why was not this communicated to members? Why once more do we have to read in the paper about the actions of the Academy. We have Pat's letter of 3/17/15 saying " we are working on a solution". Then nothing more. Why has there not been a second letter stating what was in the WSJ. And would it break any legal issue for us to know who is participating in these discussions? I think not. If, as it has been repeatedly stated, this is a member driven organization why are members kept completely in the dark. In a crisis of this magnitude you do not go one week without any type of update.

Also mentioned was that a member advisory committee would be developed to discuss issues of sponsorship. What has happened with that? How are people being chosen? What is the timeline? Again not a word about this from our leadership. I would be happy to serve on this committee and if not me I know many qualified RDNs I could recommend. When this committee is developed it is absolutely necessary that the method of choosing the members is revealed. That is transparency.

This organization is comprised of ethical, responsible, talented professionals. We deserve the same from our leadership.

Sorry, here is the attachment to which I referred; in particular, item #4.

Marty

Dear Colleagues:

Below is what I sent this morning to the Past Academy Presidents and Past Foundation Chairs who received Glenna's e-mail yesterday afternoon. I apologize if you've already received this.

Glenna,

Not having been on the Board since 2010, I am not privy to the actual facts regarding information that you discuss throughout this “message”; however, I must particularly object to statements in section 4 of your attachment, which I find quite offensive and insulting (speaking of slander), both to our elected Board and our staff.

Each Board member beginning his/her term is encouraged to voice his/her opinions during Board meetings freely and openly and then, once a vote is taken and a decision made, is bound by the Duty of Loyalty to support the Board’s decision. To suggest that Board members were in any way manipulated is frankly insulting to their intelligence, strength of character, and ability to evaluate issues.

To suggest that the CEO is behaving this way or attempting to isolate individuals or shift power not only insults the Board’s ability to critically evaluate the CEO’s performance, but also demeans the character of a person whose primary focus since starting employment with ADA four decades ago has been the members.

Subject: A Note from Glenna

Dear Leaders of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics:

It has come to my attention that some interesting comments (even slanderous) are being circulated about me and I decided to share some insight directly with each of you. Recently, with all the member input, public discussion and issues surrounding the Kraft and KER promotion, it is my belief the Sponsorship Advisory Task Force (SATF) could have played a more significant role in providing member input prior to the roll out of this (now) very controversial Kraft/KER campaign.

The Academy's Corporate Sponsorship Program is one of the ONLY areas where member input is not consistently given prior to going to the Board of Directors or the Foundation for approval (i.e. Committee, Taskforce, Advisory Group, etc). In my attachment I write,

1. As a member driven organization, members have asked specifically for the sponsorship issue to be addressed. The latest outcry from members and the public is the Repeal the Seal petition on Change.org, with over 10,000+ signatures and over 1 million tweets regarding the "endorsement" of Kraft singles by the Academy (see The Academy's Corporate Sponsorship Program, Guiding Principles, #3). Regularly, the members of the Academy have expressed concern regarding sponsorship. Other examples include (though not comprehensive):
 - a. Contact from Academy Committees (Legislative and Public Policy Committee Letter dated May 2013) and more,
 - b. Contact from Academy DPGs (HEN DP Letter dated June 4, 2014), and more
 - c. Discussion within the House of Delegates (changes were made regarding sponsorship presentations to the HOD; participation by delegates in the sponsorship sessions are now voluntary and outside the agenda for the HOD 2013; HOD Mega Issue Spring Virtual Meeting 2015)
 - d. Numerous postings on Academy List serves.

The SATF was formed in response to the ongoing time spent by the Board of Directors on issues related to Corporate Sponsorship and the MANY years of member comments and concerns (10+ years) regarding this issue. During my term as President 2013-2014, I emphatically required a Sponsorship Advisory Taskforce be formed as a vehicle for member input.

We have a great opportunity to learn from this as an organization, and make important changes based on member input for our Corporate Sponsorship Program. Please feel free to contact me if you have additional questions (602) 770-0772. [See NOTE BelowJ]

Hi Pat,

I believe the first item under your long term recommendations needs clarification.

- Assessment of feedback completes the primary STF charge.

The Sponsorship Task Force is a board task force. Therefore, the board would be the group to determine if the charge has been completed.

Thanks!

Subject: Joint Academy and Foundation WebEx/conference Call on Friday, March 27 at 3 PM CST

Importance: High

Sensitivity: Confidential

This is confidential information.

Sonja and Terri have approved the attached agenda for tomorrow's WebEx/conference call of the joint Boards. We received notice last night that Kraft is willing to enter into an early termination agreement. Although Kraft has already begun production and the product will be on shelves from April to mid-July we continue to move towards a termination of the agreement. We are working closely with Paula Goedert regarding mutually acceptable terms. Paula will also participate on the call tomorrow and provide a legal perspective.

During the call, I will provide a situation update, including information on membership numbers, emails to President and CEO mailboxes, social media climate, press coverage, the change.org petition and more. As you know, when we talked last week, it pained me to make the recommendation to end the program because, as we all agreed, this would have been a great education initiative, driving millions of consumers to the Kids Eat Right website for valuable resources developed by registered dietitian nutritionists.

Some short- and long-term recommendations for your deliberations follow.

IMMEDIATE

- Secure approval of terms proposed for Kraft/KER early termination agreement.

- Secure approval from Kraft regarding agreed upon language to explain early termination.

- Develop talking points for leaders (Academy BOD, Foundation BOD, HOD, DPGs, MIGs and Affiliates) regarding modifications to pilot program using agreed upon language approved by legal. This will include language indicating the duration of the KER supporter language on product and emphasize the opportunity to collect quantitative assessment data of the pilot's program impact.

- Provide Academy BOD, Foundation BOD, HOD, DPGs, MIGs, Spokespeople, National Committee Chairs and Affiliates with talking points that are provided in advance of all-member communication regarding modifications made to the pilot program using agreed upon language approved by legal.

- Inform change.org organizers of modifications made to the pilot program using agreed upon language approved by legal.
- Develop all-member communication from President Connor regarding modifications made to the pilot program using agreed upon language approved by legal. Internal communication to members shall precede any external communications.
- Inform current and pending industry sponsors of modifications made to the pilot program using agreed upon language approved by legal.

SHORT TERM

- Continue to work with outside counsel (legal and risk management) to develop ongoing comprehensive communications strategy that builds beyond talking points and identifies opportunities to effectively deliver messages (Affiliate, ACEND, CDR, HOD, Foundation donors, past spokespeople, students, industry leaders, sponsors, etc.).
- Advance education efforts to inform members regarding the role of the Foundation and their call to support.
- Enhance the Kids Eat Right media communication plan and build on the visibility of KER and continue to promote Foundation's efforts through KER to help families Shop Smart, Cook Healthy and Eat Right.
- Continue aggressive membership recruitment and retention efforts, including outreach to dropped members.

LONG TERM

- Request Sponsorship Task Force to review House of Delegates input. Assessment of feedback completes the primary STF charge.

- Assess feedback and recommendations from the House of Delegates and Sponsorship Task Force.

- Consider evolving Sponsorship Task Force concept to standing Sponsorship Advisory Panel or Standing Committee, with dual appointment of participants from both Boards; charge-to-be determined after further assessment of HOD feedback.

- Convene think tank of RDN business leaders and communicators to inform discussion regarding sponsorship guidelines and opportunities to work with industry.

- Explore the opportunity for Academy to serve as a convener of a summit. Invite other national health associations/organizations to discuss the impact and potential of consumer education initiatives funded by industry and the power of social media to appropriately and ethically engage industry support.

- Implement internal Academy member-only quick survey mechanism for members to provide instant feedback and vet future innovative concepts.

- Consider repositioning KER and future initiatives as social impact projects. Engage local communities as ways to fund initiatives as an alternative to industry support.

Thank you and please let me know if you have any questions or need additional information.

Best regards,

Subject: A Note from Glenna

Dear Leaders of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics:

It has come to my attention that some interesting comments (even slanderous) are being circulated about me and I decided to share some insight directly with each of you. Recently, with all the member input, public discussion and issues surrounding the Kraft and KER promotion, it is my belief the Sponsorship Advisory Task Force (SATF) could have played a more significant role in providing member input prior to the roll out of this (now) very controversial Kraft/KER campaign.

The Academy's Corporate Sponsorship Program is one of the ONLY areas where member input is not consistently given prior to going to the Board of Directors or the Foundation for approval (i.e. Committee, Taskforce, Advisory Group, etc). In my attachment I write,

1. As a member driven organization, members have asked specifically for the sponsorship issue to be addressed. The latest outcry from members and the public is the Repeal the Seal petition on Change.org, with over 10,000+ signatures and over 1 million tweets regarding the "endorsement" of Kraft singles by the Academy (see The Academy's Corporate Sponsorship Program, Guiding Principles, #3). Regularly, the members of the Academy have expressed concern regarding sponsorship. Other examples include (though not comprehensive):

a. Contact from Academy Committees (Legislative and Public Policy Committee Letter dated May 2013) and more,

b. Contact from Academy DPGs (HEN DP Letter dated June 4, 2014), and more

c. Discussion within the House of Delegates (changes were made regarding sponsorship presentations to the HOD; participation by delegates in the sponsorship sessions are now voluntary and outside the agenda for the HOD 2013; HOD Mega Issue Spring Virtual Meeting 2015)

d. Numerous postings on Academy List serves.

The SATF was formed in response to the ongoing time spent by the Board of Directors on issues related to Corporate Sponsorship and the MANY years of member comments and concerns (10+ years) regarding this issue. During my term as President 2013-2014, I emphatically required a Sponsorship Advisory Taskforce be formed as a vehicle for member input.

We have a great opportunity to learn from this as an organization, and make important changes based on member input for our Corporate Sponsorship Program. Please feel free to contact me if you have additional questions (602) 770-0772. [See NOTE BelowJ]

Dr. Glenna McCollum, MPH, RDN

Hello Pat and Mary Beth,

I know we are going to receive more information for the call for tomorrow. I would also appreciate messaging for corporate sponsors/donors. There are a number of us who are attending the American Society of Nutrition Meeting which starts tomorrow. Most of our corporate donors/sponsors will be in attendance and it is important for us to be able to respond appropriately to them as well as to many attendees who are members. Unfortunately, I will be traveling during the time of the call, so whatever information can be sent is appreciated.

Thank you,

Constance

Thank you all for the posts and your thoughts about the Kraft issue. I agree that a different process is needed, as well as more member involvement in decision making, proactive communication to members about actions, more transparency regarding funds, etc. In agreement with the belief that change is necessary and that it is by working together to create solutions that we improve, I got some more data that may be useful:

The Foundation raised 3.9 million dollars last year. Of that:

$ 380,000 were member contributions

$ 820,000 were estate bequests

$2,694,000 were from corporations, CDR, state affiliates, etc. (Most from corps.)

By a rough calculation of info that there are about 72,000 members and info that about 5% of members contribute to the Foundation that means:

- about 3,600 of 72,000 members contributed to the Foundation
- to maintain the existing programs, scholarships, grants, KER, etc., Every Member needs to contribute about $ 45 Every Year or the 5% who contribute need to give about $862 Every Year (no projection for growth) or every person (est. 12,000) who signed the petition and needs to contribute about $ 258. Every Year (Est. Need $ 3.1million).

Many thanks all who have identified a problem in the process and the policies, and I hope that this creates a positive change. This is also a plea that this passion be translated into active, continued (i.e., lifelong) involvement in the work and contributions of money that will now be needed for a permanent alternative process.

Some areas that will need work:

- New leaders to be part of the Foundation (please step up and volunteer!) This means a commitment to raising the approximate 3.1 million needed annually (i.e., bequest $ does not have to be raised).
- If the $ is not raised, the leaders will need to decide what scholarships, research grants - maybe KER - etc. to eliminate and to actively communicate that to students, members, etc.

It is important (my plea, again!) that the passion be translated into active commitment to the work that is needed for the solution. It is difficult to raise money or eliminate scholarships, grants, etc. so hard decisions will need to be made and disappointments addressed if the monies are not raised. I suspect past leaders of the Foundation found it hard to eliminate these initiatives and saw that the approximate 380k from members would virtually eliminate almost all the programs so they went out to other groups for $. New leaders will have to decide how to proceed and be sure that the actions are successful.

This has been an excellent discussion, and let me reiterate, a needed one, so thank you. I hope this info helps put the work toward solutions in perspective. Let's now work together in a solution!

- New leaders to be part of the Foundation (please step up and volunteer!) This means a commitment to raising the approximate 3.1 million needed annually (i.e., bequest $ does not have to be raised).
- If the $ is not raised, the leaders will need to decide what scholarships, research grants - maybe KER - etc. to eliminate and to actively communicate that to students, members, etc.

It is important (my plea, again!) that the passion be translated into active commitment to the work that is needed for the solution. It is difficult to raise money or eliminate scholarships, grants, etc. so hard decisions will need to be made and disappointments addressed if the monies are not raised. I suspect past leaders of the Foundation found it hard to eliminate these initiatives and saw that the approximate 380k from members would virtually eliminate almost all the programs so they went out to other groups for $. New leaders will have to decide how to proceed and be sure that the actions are successful.

This has been an excellent discussion, and let me reiterate, a needed one, so thank you. I hope this info helps put the work toward solutions in perspective. Let's now work together in a solution!

Thank you for posting Rosanne and Neva's message. It is interesting that it appears more people seemed to respond enthusiastically to a blogged message and a NY Times article (that had a focus on incorrect information) than to responses from staff and leaders. Add to this the potential that such responses seem to outnumber the involvement in our AND elections, surveys on issues, or our ongoing request for member support for fellowships, scholarships, and research that assist students and members. Dear PAND Members,

As a member of PAND and the Board of Directors, I want to reinforce the message from Sonja Connor that the Academy staff, Board of Directors and the Foundation are working diligently on the Kids Eat Right issue.

I recently presented on behalf of Sonja at the OK state meeting. One of Sonja's goals for her term of office is to enhance the role of RDNs - in food companies and across the food system continuum - to improve the overall food system in the US and globally. Although we have members who do not want any relationships with food companies, RDNs have the skills to be leading change in food companies and food systems to improve the quality of food globally.

PAND member and leader Rosanne Rust Please brought this message below to my attention. I asked Neva Cochran if I could repost this message that she posted on the WM DPG listserv.

It is an honor to serve on the Board of Directors and as Director-at-Large. I welcome your feedback and I am making sure your views are heard. More information will be provided soon.

Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics

Board of Directors, Director-at-Large, 2014-2017 With over 75,000 members, the Academy is the world's largest group of food and nutrition professionals!

Message from Neva Cochran

I would like to add some perspective on Kids Eat Right as an Academy Foundation Board member from 2004-2008 and the Chair in 2006-2007. During my time on the Board, the first seeds of the Kids Eat Right program were being sown to create the premiere public nutrition education program it is today.

Kids Eat Right is a joint initiative of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and the Academy Foundation, a 501c3 charitable organization.

The Foundation is a totally separate legal entity from the Academy with its own Board of Directors and staff. While its staff is housed in the same offices with the Academy, the Foundation pays rent to the Academy = for the space as well as for supplies and other support it receives. Decisions made by the Foundation Board do not go through a member vote = or the House of Delegates as the Foundation is a separate organization from the Academy.

The KER campaign is part of the Foundation's public outreach program and, like all Foundation programs, is supported through donations and = not through member dues. Other Foundation programs include student = scholarships, research grants and awards for members. The Kids Eat Right = campaign was launched in November 2010 to mobilize members to participate in community and school childhood obesity prevention efforts = and educate families, communities and policy makers about the importance = of quality nutrition. I signed on as a volunteer when it started.

As only 5% of individual Academy members donate to the Foundation, much of the funding for scholarships, awards, research grants and KER comes from food, nutrition and health related companies. In addition donations = have been given by CDR, state affiliates and DPGs. Without industry support, much of the work of the Foundation would not get done. So just what has KER accomplished in the last 4.5 years? Here is a snapshot I=92ve= put together.

Approximately 30 PAID RDN Coaches have worked in schools in high need communities in Kansas City, MO, Greater Des Moines, IA and Richmond, CA. Over 170,000 kids have benefited from the instruction and = healthy eating/physical activity policies the RDN coaches helped implement in these schools. 20

=B7 Nearly $175,000 in mini-grants have been awarded to almost 850 = members to provide nutrition education programs. Through this, Academy = members have reached 58,000 kids and adults. For more: =
<http://www.eatrightfoundation.org/foundation/kergrants>

<http://www.kidseatrightvolunteer.org/programs/kidseatright/activities/content.aspx?id=3D6442459508> =20

innovative projects or programs that promote healthy = lifestyles for children and their families through better nutrition and = increased physical activity. Each program is required to have a = Registered Dietitian Nutritionist as part of the project team. I was on = the selection committee for two years to review applications and was = diligent in making sure those I scored highest were really utilizing the = expertise of the RDN and not just using it as a name on the application = or figurehead. Previously, fifty grantees were selected each year to = receive $10,000 each or a total of $500,000 a year. This past year, the = Foundation awarded $1,000,000 and in May of this year, another = $1,000,000 will be awarded. =20

=B7 Also, Dianne Heller, an active member of this DPG and a recent = Foundation Chair, donated $50,000 to KER in 2013 in memory of her = mother. This was directed to the KER mini-grants for the Healthy Schools = toolkit ,which features two presentations highlighting the importance of = healthy eating and physical activity for academic success. The = mini-grantees each gave two presentations from the toolkit in their = communities. A social media presentation was also developed, =93Social = Media Saviness--Establish Yourself on Social Media and be an Effective = Voice for Nutrition Information.=94 Ten $1,500 grants were awarded to = affiliates and DPGs who are delivering the presentation at their annual = meeting or via webinar to help increase members' engagement with social = media. =20

So you can see the significant impact this initiative has had and its = future potential. Without industry collaboration, we would not able to = have nearly the reach for kids and families or provide resources to = members. =20

A final interesting fact is that 80% of the households in the U.S. = already purchase Kraft Singles. So I seriously doubt the KER logo and = Kraft=92s statement of support for it on the package will drive = additional market share. Instead, a label on a product that is used by a = vast majority of Americans would direct people to Kids Eat Right. = Imagine if just a small percentage of these households followed through = to the KER website and learned more about good nutrition for kids and = families and became more aware of RDNs. What an impact that would make!

One person expanded on the need to hear both sides - and I agreed.

I feel it is important for we the leaders to send consistent messages - my position as Director at Large is to reflect members responses - but that is the job for all BOD members.

Like many of you - I belong to 5 practice groups - I have served in every possible district and state role - this is a time to provide assurance that we are listening to all sides.

I feel it is important for leaders to send a message - for me, it was to the state and to reach out to the NE group that I was most involved of the 5.

In addition - I can't wait to hear what Kraft has to say.... we are still listening

Just fyi - I am on a airplane tomorrow to OR - family trip - but will be on the call on Fri - in case you do not hear from me, it is only lack of internet

Thank you for posting Rosanne and Neva's message. It is interesting that it appears more people seemed to respond enthusiastically to a blogged message and a NY Times article (that had a focus on incorrect information) than to responses from staff and leaders. Add to this the potential that such responses seem to outnumber the involvement in our AND elections, surveys on issues, or our ongoing request for member support for fellowships, scholarships, and research that assist students and members. I look at the KER message in more homes ...and the idea that all foods CAN fit in moderation..... and that RD, RDNs and DTRs....can make the messages come alive.

Dear PAND Members,

As a member of PAND and the Board of Directors, I want to reinforce the message from Sonja Connor that the Academy staff, Board of Directors and the Foundation are working diligently on the Kids Eat Right issue.

I recently presented on behalf of Sonja at the OK state meeting. One of Sonja's goals for her term of office is to enhance the role of RDNs - in food companies and across the food system continuum - to improve the overall food system in the US and globally. Although we have members who do not want any relationships with food companies, RDNs have the skills to be leading change in food companies and food systems to improve the quality of food globally.

PAND member and leader Rosanne Rust Please brought this message below to my attention. I asked Neva Cochran if I could repost this message that she posted on the WM DPG listserv.

It is an honor to serve on the Board of Directors and as Director-at-Large. I welcome your feedback and I am making sure your views are heard. More information will be provided soon.

Best regards,

Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics

Board of Directors, Director-at-Large, 2014-2017 With over 75,000 members, the Academy is the world's largest group of food and nutrition professionals!

Message from Neva Cochran

I would like to add some perspective on Kids Eat Right as an Academy Foundation Board member from 2004-2008 and the Chair in 2006-2007. During my time on the Board, the first seeds of the Kids Eat Right program were being sown to create the premiere public nutrition education program it is today.

Kids Eat Right is a joint initiative of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and the Academy Foundation, a 501c3 charitable organization.

The Foundation is a totally separate legal entity from the Academy with its own Board of Directors and staff. While its staff is housed in the same offices with the Academy, the Foundation pays rent to the Academy for the space as well as for supplies and other support it receives. Decisions made by the Foundation Board do not go through a member vote or the House of Delegates as the Foundation is a separate organization from the Academy.

The KER campaign is part of the Foundation's public outreach program and, like all Foundation programs, is supported through donations and = not through member dues. Other Foundation programs include student = scholarships, research grants and awards for members. The Kids Eat Right = campaign was launched in November 2010 to mobilize members to participate in community and school childhood obesity prevention efforts = and educate families, communities and policy makers about the importance = of quality nutrition. I signed on as a volunteer when it started.

As only 5% of individual Academy members donate to the Foundation, much of the funding for scholarships, awards, research grants and KER comes from food, nutrition and health related companies. In addition donations = have been given by CDR, state affiliates and DPGs. Without industry support, much of the work of the Foundation would not get done. So just what has KER accomplished in the last 4.5 years? Here is a snapshot I=92ve= put together.

Approximately 30 PAID RDN Coaches have worked in schools in high need communities in Kansas City, MO, Greater Des Moines, IA and Richmond, CA. Over 170,000 kids have benefited from the instruction and = healthy eating/physical activity policies the RDN coaches helped implement in these schools. =20

=B7 Nearly $175,000 in mini-grants have been awarded to almost 850 = members to provide nutrition education programs. Through this, Academy = members have reached 58,000 kids and adults. For more: =
<http://www.eatrightfoundation.org/foundation/kergrants>

<http://www.kidseatrightvolunteer.org/programs/kidseatright/activities/content.aspx?id=3D6442459508> =20

=B7 In addition, the Academy Foundation and the General Mills = Foundation have partnered on the Champions Program since 2001. This = program supports innovative projects or programs that promote healthy = lifestyles for children and their families through better nutrition and = increased physical activity. Each program is required to have a = Registered Dietitian Nutritionist as part of the project team. I was on = the selection committee for two years to review applications and was = diligent in making sure those I scored highest were really utilizing the = expertise of the RDN and not just using it as a name on the application = or figurehead. Previously, fifty grantees were selected each year to = receive $10,000 each or a total of $500,000 a year. This past year, the = Foundation awarded $1,000,000 and in May of this year, another =
$1,000,000 will be awarded. =20

=B7 Also, Dianne Heller, an active member of this DPG and a recent Foundation Chair, donated $50,000 to KER in 2013 in memory of her mother. This was directed to the KER mini-grants for the Healthy Schools toolkit, which features two presentations highlighting the importance of healthy eating and physical activity for academic success. The mini-grantees each gave two presentations from the toolkit in their communities. A social media presentation was also developed, Social Media Saviness--Establish Yourself on Social Media and be an Effective Voice for Nutrition Information.⁹⁴ Ten $1,500 grants were awarded to affiliates and DPGs who are delivering the presentation at their annual meeting or via webinar to help increase members' engagement with social media. =20

So you can see the significant impact this initiative has had and its future potential. Without industry collaboration, we would not be able to have nearly the reach for kids and families or provide resources to members. =20

A final interesting fact is that 80% of the households in the U.S. already purchase Kraft Singles. So I seriously doubt the KER logo and Kraft's statement of support for it on the package will drive additional market share. Instead, a label on a product that is used by a vast majority of Americans would direct people to Kids Eat Right. Imagine if just a small percentage of these households followed through to the KER website and learned more about good nutrition for kids and families and became more aware of RDNs. What an impact that would make!

Hi Sonja,

I agree, the members are looking for answers re: the issue that is on the table - Kraft. At this time information about the Foundation or its programs should be spread organically through the membership. Coming from either Foundation or Academy Board would give the appearance of either dismissing their concerns, skirting the issue and as mentioned being defensive.

The lack of members to date willing to spread support may represent those who sit on the sideline and are not comfortable with the energy surrounding the current dialogue and/or the gravity of the situation.

I have passed Neva's words on to trusted supporters for their review and distribution.

Terri

I think there may be the same problem coming from the Academy and the Foundation as from Board members. What would be best would be to find ways to have members spread it around.

Hello everyone,

Thank you for your terrific suggestions. I just spoke with Mary Beth and we agree that this information is great and will work on the following asap:

- Create an infographic with Foundation Facts (highlight in Eat Right Weekly, post to eatrightPRO website, share with Boards, HOD, committees, task forces, spokespeople, etc.)
- Share it via all PRO social media channels
- Draft a letter to members that comes from current, elect and past Foundation Chairs

· Write a letter to the editor of the New York Times and other pubs highlighting the great work of our Foundation and Kids Eat Right

These are just some of the ways we will promote the great message far and wide. As always, please let me know if you have any questions or need additional information.

Regards,
Doris

I am sharing it with those I talk with rather than listservs at this time. Thoughts?

Denice,

It would be great if this could go viral, a testimony of a seasoned and respected member of the Academy as well as a testimony to the Board members past and present of AND &ANDF and our HQ staff who have had the vision and the courage to lead with an eye to the health of the public and particularly our nation's children. Our long held view of "all foods fit" never in our minds suggested that any food was perfect or a stand along item for good health. (Does anyone like or ever eat jelly beans?) It is easy for anyone to lead with the advantage of hindsight, much more difficult when one chooses to lead with vision, re-group when necessary, but keep moving forward. Think about it, if the NYT had not gotten a word wrong, we might well be patting ourselves (all of us) on the back. Please think carefully, I implore us all.

I plan to share this broadly, so well said.

Not only should it be sent to DPGs, but also Affiliates and as an email to all members.

This is the type of communication we need now while the KER issue is being figured out and it should go to all members.

What is the communication plan for members?

Do we need a team of media savvy members like those in NE to help alert and provide consistent messaging?

Neva Cochran shared this background about the Foundation on the WM DPG, and asked that it be shared with other DPGs.

Passing along...

I would like to add some perspective on Kids Eat Right as an Academy Foundation Board member from 2004-2008 and the Chair in 2006-2007. During my time on the Board, the first seeds of the Kids Eat Right program were being sown to create the premiere public nutrition education program it is today.

Kids Eat Right is a joint initiative of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and the Academy Foundation, a 501c3 charitable organization. The Foundation is a totally separate legal entity from the Academy with its own Board of Directors and staff. While its staff is housed in the same offices with the Academy, the Foundation pays rent to the Academy for the space as well as for supplies and other support it receives. Decisions made by the Foundation Board do not go through a member vote or the House of Delegates as the Foundation is a separate organization from the Academy.

The KER campaign is part of the Foundation's public outreach program and, like all Foundation programs, is supported through donations and not through member dues. Other Foundation programs include student scholarships, research grants and awards for members. The Kids Eat Right campaign was launched in November 2010 to mobilize members to participate in community and school childhood obesity prevention efforts and educate families, communities and policy makers about the importance of quality nutrition. I signed on as a volunteer when it started.

As only 5% of individual Academy members donate to the Foundation, much of the funding for scholarships, awards, research grants and KER comes from food, nutrition and health related companies. In addition donations have been given by CDR, state affiliates and DPGs. Without industry support, much of the work of the Foundation would not get done. So just what has KER accomplished in the last 4.5 years? Here is a snapshot I've put together.

- Approximately 30 PAID RDN Coaches have worked in schools in high need communities in Kansas City, MO, Greater Des Moines, IA and Richmond, CA. Over 170,000 kids have benefited from the instruction and healthy eating/physical activity policies the RDN coaches helped implement in these schools.

- Nearly $175,000 in mini-grants have been awarded to almost 850 members to provide nutrition education programs. Through this, Academy members have reached 58,000 kids and adults. For more: <http://www.eatrightfoundation.org/foundation/kergrants>
- Nine toolkits with 33 unique presentations on a variety of healthy eating topics, targeting kids and adults have been developed and are available as a FREE download for members only on the Academy website. Toolkits include presentations with slides, leader notes, suggested activities and handouts. All toolkits are developed with content experts from Academy DPGs. More at <http://www.kidseatrightvolunteer.org/programs/kidseatright/activities/content.aspx?id=6442459508>
- In addition, the Academy Foundation and the General Mills Foundation have partnered on the Champions Program since 2001. This program supports innovative projects or programs that promote healthy lifestyles for children and their families through better nutrition and increased physical activity. Each program is required to have a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist as part of the project team. I was on the selection committee for two years to review applications and was diligent in making sure those I scored highest were really utilizing the expertise of the RDN and not just using it as a name on the application or figurehead. Previously, fifty grantees were selected each year to receive $10,000 each or a total of $500,000 a year. This past year, the Foundation awarded $1,000,000 and in May of this year, another $1,000,000 will be awarded.
- Also, Dianne Heller, an active member of this DPG and a recent Foundation Chair, donated $50,000 to KER in 2013 in memory of her mother. This was directed to the KER mini-grants for the Healthy Schools toolkit, which features two presentations highlighting the importance of healthy eating and physical activity for academic success. The mini-grantees each gave two presentations from the toolkit in their communities. A social media presentation was also developed, "Social Media Saviness--Establish Yourself on Social Media and be an Effective Voice for Nutrition Information." Ten $1,500 grants were awarded to affiliates and DPGs who are delivering the presentation at their annual meeting or via webinar to help increase members' engagement with social media.

So you can see the significant impact this initiative has had and its future potential. Without industry collaboration, we would not be able to have nearly the reach for kids and families or provide resources to members.

A final interesting fact is that 80% of the households in the U.S. already purchase Kraft Singles. So I seriously doubt the KER logo and Kraft's statement of support for it on the package will drive additional market share. Instead, a label on a product that is used by a vast majority of Americans would direct people to Kids Eat Right. Imagine if just a small percentage of these households followed through to the KER website and learned more about good nutrition for kids and families and became more aware of RDNs. What an impact that would make!

Denice,

It would be great if this could go viral, a testimony of a seasoned and respected member of the Academy as well as a testimony to the Board members past and present of AND &ANDF and our HQ staff who have had the vision and the courage to lead with an eye to the health of the public and particularly our nation's children. Our long held view of "all foods fit" never in our minds suggested that any food was perfect or a stand along item for good health. (Does anyone like or ever eat jelly beans?) It is easy for anyone to lead with the advantage of hindsight, much more difficult when one chooses to lead with vision, re-group when necessary, but keep moving forward. Think about it, if the NYT had not gotten a word wrong, we might well be patting ourselves (all of us) on the back. Please think carefully, I implore us all.

I plan to share this broadly, so well said.

What is the communication plan for members?

Do we need a team of media savvy members like those in NE to help alert and provide consistent messaging?

Denice,

It would be great if this could go viral, a testimony of a seasoned and respected member of the Academy as well as a testimony to the Board members past and present of AND &ANDF and our HQ staff who have had the vision and the courage to lead with an eye to the health of the public and particularly our nation's children. Our long held view of "all foods fit" never in our minds suggested that any food was perfect or a stand along item for good health. (Does anyone like or ever eat jelly beans?) It is easy for anyone to lead with the advantage of hindsight, much more difficult when one chooses to lead with vision, re-group when necessary, but keep moving forward. Think about it, if the NYT had not gotten a word wrong, we might well be patting ourselves (all of us) on the back. Please think carefully, I implore us all.

I plan to share this broadly, so well said.

Neva Cochran shared this background about the Foundation on the WM DPG, and asked that it be shared with other DPGs.

Passing along...

I would like to add some perspective on Kids Eat Right as an Academy Foundation Board member from 2004-2008 and the Chair in 2006-2007. During my time on the Board, the first seeds of the Kids Eat Right program were being sown to create the premiere public nutrition education program it is today.

Kids Eat Right is a joint initiative of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and the Academy Foundation, a 501c3 charitable organization. The Foundation is a totally separate legal entity from the Academy with its own Board of Directors and staff. While its staff is housed in the same offices with the Academy, the Foundation pays rent to the Academy for the space as well as for supplies and other support it receives. Decisions made by the Foundation Board do not go through a member vote or the House of Delegates as the Foundation is a separate organization from the Academy.

The KER campaign is part of the Foundation's public outreach program and, like all Foundation programs, is supported through donations and not through member dues. Other Foundation programs include student scholarships, research grants and awards for members. The Kids Eat Right campaign was launched in November 2010 to mobilize members to participate in community and school childhood obesity prevention efforts and educate families, communities and policy makers about the importance of quality nutrition. I signed on as a volunteer when it started.

As only 5% of individual Academy members donate to the Foundation, much of the funding for scholarships, awards, research grants and KER comes from food, nutrition and health related companies. In addition donations have been given by CDR, state affiliates and DPGs. Without industry support, much of the work of the Foundation would not get done. So just what has KER accomplished in the last 4.5 years? Here is a snapshot I've put together.

- Approximately 30 PAID RDN Coaches have worked in schools in high need communities in Kansas City, MO, Greater Des Moines, IA and Richmond, CA. Over 170,000 kids have benefited from the instruction and healthy eating/physical activity policies the RDN coaches helped implement in these schools.
- Nearly $175,000 in mini-grants have been awarded to almost 850 members to provide nutrition education programs. Through this, Academy members have reached 58,000 kids and adults. For more: <http://www.eatrightfoundation.org/foundation/kergrants>
- Nine toolkits with 33 unique presentations on a variety of healthy eating topics, targeting kids and adults have been developed and are available as a FREE download for members only on the Academy website. Toolkits include presentations with slides, leader notes, suggested activities and handouts. All toolkits are developed with content experts from Academy DPGs. More at <http://www.kidseatrightvolunteer.org/programs/kidseatright/activities/content.aspx?id=6442459508>
- In addition, the Academy Foundation and the General Mills Foundation have partnered on the Champions Program since 2001. This program supports innovative projects or programs that promote healthy lifestyles for children and their families through better nutrition and increased physical activity. Each program is required to have a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist as part of the project team. I was on the selection committee for two years to review applications and was diligent in making sure those I scored highest were really utilizing the expertise of the RDN and not just using it as a name on the application or figurehead. Previously, fifty grantees were selected each year to receive $10,000 each or a total of $500,000 a year. This past year, the Foundation awarded $1,000,000 and in May of this year, another $1,000,000 will be awarded.
- Also, Dianne Heller, an active member of this DPG and a recent Foundation Chair, donated $50,000 to KER in 2013 in memory of her mother. This was directed to the KER mini-grants for the Healthy Schools toolkit, which features two presentations highlighting the importance of healthy eating and physical activity for academic success. The mini-grantees each gave two presentations from the toolkit in their communities. A social media presentation was also developed, "Social Media Saviness--Establish Yourself on Social Media and be an Effective Voice for Nutrition Information." Ten $1,500 grants were awarded to affiliates and DPGs who are delivering the presentation at their annual meeting or via webinar to help increase members' engagement with social media.

So you can see the significant impact this initiative has had and its future potential. Without industry collaboration, we would not be able to have nearly the reach for kids and families or provide resources to members.

A final interesting fact is that 80% of the households in the U.S. already purchase Kraft Singles. So I seriously doubt the KER logo and Kraft's statement of support for it on the package will drive additional market share. Instead, a label on a product that is used by a vast majority of Americans would direct people to Kids Eat Right. Imagine if just a small percentage of these households followed through to the KER website and learned more about good nutrition for kids and families and became more aware of RDNs. What an impact that would make!

Hello everyone,

Thank you for your terrific suggestions. I just spoke with Mary Beth and we agree that this information is great and will work on the following asap:

- Create an infographic with Foundation Facts (highlight in Eat Right Weekly, post to eatrightPRO website, share with Boards, HOD, committees, task forces, spokespeople, etc.)
- Share it via all PRO social media channels
- Draft a letter to members that comes from current, elect and past Foundation Chairs
- Write a letter to the editor of the New York Times and other pubs highlighting the great work of our Foundation and Kids Eat Right

These are just some of the ways we will promote the great message far and wide. As always, please let me know if you have any questions or need additional information.

Regards,

Doris

Denice,

It would be great if this could go viral, a testimony of a seasoned and respected member of the Academy as well as a testimony to the Board members past and present of AND &ANDF and our HQ staff who have had the vision and the courage to lead with an eye to the health of the public and particularly our nation's children. Our long held view of "all foods fit" never in our minds suggested that any food was perfect or a stand along item for good health. (Does anyone like or ever eat jelly beans?) It is easy for anyone to lead with the advantage of hindsight, much more difficult when one chooses to lead with vision, re-group when necessary, but keep moving forward. Think about it, if the NYT had not gotten a word wrong, we might well be patting ourselves (all of us) on the back. Please think carefully, I implore us all.

I plan to share this broadly, so well said.

Not only should it be sent to DPGs, but also Affiliates and as an email to all members.

This is the type of communication we need now while the KER issue is being figured out and it should go to all members.

What is the communication plan for members?

Do we need a team of media savvy members like those in NE to help alert and provide consistent messaging?

I look forward to hearing more soon.

Neva Cochran shared this background about the Foundation on the WM DPG, and asked that it be shared with other DPGs.

Passing along...

I would like to add some perspective on Kids Eat Right as an Academy Foundation Board member from 2004-2008 and the Chair in 2006-2007. During my time on the Board, the first seeds of the Kids Eat Right program were being sown to create the premiere public nutrition education program it is today.

Kids Eat Right is a joint initiative of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and the Academy Foundation, a 501c3 charitable organization. The Foundation is a totally separate legal entity from the Academy with its own Board of Directors and staff. While its staff is housed in the same offices with the Academy, the Foundation pays rent to the Academy for the space as well as for supplies and other support it receives. Decisions made by the Foundation Board do not go through a member vote or the House of Delegates as the Foundation is a separate organization from the Academy.

The KER campaign is part of the Foundation's public outreach program and, like all Foundation programs, is supported through donations and not through member dues. Other Foundation programs include student scholarships, research grants and awards for members. The Kids Eat Right campaign was launched in November 2010 to mobilize members to participate in community and school childhood obesity prevention efforts and educate families, communities and policy makers about the importance of quality nutrition. I signed on as a volunteer when it started.

As only 5% of individual Academy members donate to the Foundation, much of the funding for scholarships, awards, research grants and KER comes from food, nutrition and health related companies. In addition donations have been given by CDR, state affiliates and DPGs. Without industry support, much of the work of the Foundation would not get done. So just what has KER accomplished in the last 4.5 years? Here is a snapshot I've put together.

- Approximately 30 PAID RDN Coaches have worked in schools in high need communities in Kansas City, MO, Greater Des Moines, IA and Richmond, CA. Over 170,000 kids have benefited from the instruction and healthy eating/physical activity policies the RDN coaches helped implement in these schools.
- Nearly $175,000 in mini-grants have been awarded to almost 850 members to provide nutrition education programs. Through this, Academy members have reached 58,000 kids and adults. For more: <http://www.eatrightfoundation.org/foundation/kergrants>
- Nine toolkits with 33 unique presentations on a variety of healthy eating topics, targeting kids and adults have been developed and are available as a FREE download for members only on the Academy website. Toolkits include presentations with slides, leader notes, suggested activities and handouts. All toolkits are developed with content experts from Academy DPGs. More at <http://www.kidseatrightvolunteer.org/programs/kidseatright/activities/content.aspx?id=6442459508>
- In addition, the Academy Foundation and the General Mills Foundation have partnered on the Champions Program since 2001. This program supports innovative projects or programs that promote healthy lifestyles for children and their families through better nutrition and increased physical activity. Each program is required to have a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist as part of the project team. I was on the selection committee for two years to review applications and was diligent in making sure those I scored highest were really utilizing the expertise of the RDN and not just using it as a name on the application or figurehead. Previously, fifty grantees were selected each year to receive $10,000 each or a total of $500,000 a year. This past year, the Foundation awarded $1,000,000 and in May of this year, another $1,000,000 will be awarded.
- Also, Dianne Heller, an active member of this DPG and a recent Foundation Chair, donated $50,000 to KER in 2013 in memory of her mother. This was directed to the KER mini-grants for the Healthy Schools toolkit ,which features two presentations highlighting the importance of healthy eating and physical activity for academic success. The mini-grantees each gave two presentations from the toolkit in their communities. A social media presentation was also developed, "Social Media Saviness--Establish Yourself on Social Media and be an Effective Voice for Nutrition Information." Ten $1,500 grants were awarded to affiliates and DPGs who are delivering the presentation at their annual meeting or via webinar to help increase members' engagement with social media.

So you can see the significant impact this initiative has had and its future potential. Without industry collaboration, we would not able to have nearly the reach for kids and families or provide resources to members.

A final interesting fact is that 80% of the households in the U.S. already purchase Kraft Singles. So I seriously doubt the KER logo and Kraft's statement of support for it on the package will drive additional market share. Instead, a label on a product that is used by a vast majority of Americans would direct people to Kids Eat Right. Imagine if just a small percentage of these households followed through to the KER website and learned more about good nutrition for kids and families and became more aware of RDNs. What an impact that would make!

Hi Kathy,

As a member of the Sponsorship Task Force, I appreciate your letter. Every person with any level of responsibility can always see a better choice in some decision they made when looking at it retrospectively, such is life. The key is learning from these lessons and moving forward accepting responsibility.

ON THE PULSE OF PUBLIC POLICY

Registration Is Open for 2015 Public Policy Workshop

The Academy will host the world's largest food and nutrition advocacy summit - the annual Public Policy Workshop - June 7 to 9 in Washington, D.C. Nearly 500 members will attend and registration is now open. PPW offers top nutrition leadership and communications training, professional connections with nutrition experts and face-to-face conversations with members of Congress. Don't miss out on early-bird registration discounts and group rates.

Attention Medicare Providers: Information Regarding the 2015 Medicare Physician Fee Schedule

The negative update of 21 percent under current law for the Medicare Physician Fee Schedule is scheduled to take effect on April 1. Claims for services rendered on or before March 31 are unaffected by the payment cut and will be processed and paid under normal procedures and time frames. The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, as well as the Academy, urges Congress to take action to ensure these cuts do not take effect. However, until that happens, CMS must take steps to implement the negative update. Under current law, electronic claims are not paid sooner than 14 calendar days (29 days for paper claims) after the date of receipt. CMS will notify providers on or before April 11 with more information about the status of Congressional action to avert the negative update and next steps. The Academy will continue to provide members with updates on this important matter as it pertains to RDN Medicare providers.

Older Americans Act Re-authorization Awaits Older Americans Month

Re-authorization of the Older Americans Act has been delayed in the Senate, likely until May, which is Older Americans Month. The Older Americans Re-authorization Act of 2015 (S. 192) passed the Senate HELP committee on January 28 and would fund programs for older Americans for three years. The bill language builds on S. 1562, sponsored by Senator Sanders in the 113th Congress, which the Academy supported. The bill updates the language of the Older Americans Act to reflect the "utilization" of dietitians in nutrition programs and also encourages the use of locally grown fresh foods in nutrition programs. The Academy continues to support the Older Americans Act and encourages members to reach out to their legislators to support this important piece of legislation. Updated resources are available on the Academy's website.

Kathy,

Thank you for your comments. One question, did you mean “controversial” in this sentence or “confidential” as you said. I am not certain I am understanding your intent.

“ I think the lesson for all of us in the future is to realize that when we think something should be “confidential” and it is NOT a personal issue, we should rethink the consequences of such actions.”

Kathy,

Thank you for your comments. One question, did you mean “controversial” in this sentence or “confidential” as you said. I am not certain I am understanding your intent.

Re: 2015 Corporate Award Committee

One of my responsibilities as Foundation Chair is to appoint a committee to select the 2015 recipient of the prestigious Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation Corporate Award. The Corporate Award is given to an organization that has demonstrated meaningful support to Foundation programs and projects. The award is presented each year at the Foundation's Gala during the Academy's Food & Nutrition Conference & Expo.

I am requesting your service on this committee. As a committee member, you are responsible for reviewing four prospective organizations and participating in a discussion during a conference call to select a candidate for approval by the Academy Foundation Board of Directors. Prior to the conference call you will receive a copy of the Corporate Award criteria and prospect list.

Please let Amy Donatell know if you are able to serve on the committee and which potential conference call dates will work for you by Thursday, March 19th. Amy can be reached at adonatell@eatright.org. If you have any questions or need additional information, please contact Amy at 800-877-1600 x4767. Thank you for your consideration.

Denice,

It would be great if this could go viral, a testimony of a seasoned and respected member of the Academy as well as a testimony to the Board members past and present of AND &ANDF and our HQ staff who have had the vision and the courage to lead with an eye to the health of the public and particularly our nation's children. Our long held view of "all foods fit" never in our minds suggested that any food was perfect or a stand along item for good health. (Does anyone like or ever eat jelly beans?) It is easy for anyone to lead with the advantage of hindsight, much more difficult when one chooses to lead with vision, re-group when necessary, but keep moving forward. Think about it, if the NYT had not gotten a word wrong, we might well be patting ourselves (all of us) on the back. Please think carefully, I implore us all.

I plan to share this broadly, so well said.

Not only should it be sent to DPGs, but also Affiliates and as an email to all members.

This is the type of communication we need now while the KER issue is being figured out and it should go to all members.

What is the communication plan for members?

Do we need a team of media savvy members like those in NE to help alert and provide consistent messaging?

I look forward to hearing more soon.

Neva Cochran shared this background about the Foundation on the WM DPG, and asked that it be shared with other DPGs.

Passing along...

I would like to add some perspective on Kids Eat Right as an Academy Foundation Board member from 2004-2008 and the Chair in 2006-2007. During my time on the Board, the first seeds of the Kids Eat Right program were being sown to create the premiere public nutrition education program it is today.

Kids Eat Right is a joint initiative of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and the Academy Foundation, a 501c3 charitable organization. The Foundation is a totally separate legal entity from the Academy with its own Board of Directors and staff. While its staff is housed in the same offices with the Academy, the Foundation pays rent to the Academy for the space as well as for supplies and other support it receives. Decisions made by the Foundation Board do not go through a member vote or the House of Delegates as the Foundation is a separate organization from the Academy.

The KER campaign is part of the Foundation's public outreach program and, like all Foundation programs, is supported through donations and not through member dues. Other Foundation programs include student scholarships, research grants and awards for members. The Kids Eat Right campaign was launched in November 2010 to mobilize members to participate in community and school childhood obesity prevention efforts and educate families, communities and policy makers about the importance of quality nutrition. I signed on as a volunteer when it started.

As only 5% of individual Academy members donate to the Foundation, much of the funding for scholarships, awards, research grants and KER comes from food, nutrition and health related companies. In addition donations have been given by CDR, state affiliates and DPGs. Without industry support, much of the work of the Foundation would not get done. So just what has KER accomplished in the last 4.5 years? Here is a snapshot I've put together.

- Approximately 30 PAID RDN Coaches have worked in schools in high need communities in Kansas City, MO, Greater Des Moines, IA and Richmond, CA. Over 170,000 kids have benefited from the instruction and healthy eating/physical activity policies the RDN coaches helped implement in these schools.
- Nearly $175,000 in mini-grants have been awarded to almost 850 members to provide nutrition education programs. Through this, Academy members have reached 58,000 kids and adults. For more: <http://www.eatrightfoundation.org/foundation/kergrants>
- Nine toolkits with 33 unique presentations on a variety of healthy eating topics, targeting kids and adults have been developed and are available as a FREE download for members only on the Academy website. Toolkits include presentations with slides, leader notes, suggested activities and handouts. All toolkits are developed with content experts from Academy DPGs. More at <http://www.kidseatrightvolunteer.org/programs/kidseatright/activities/content.aspx?id=6442459508>

- In addition, the Academy Foundation and the General Mills Foundation have partnered on the Champions Program since 2001. This program supports innovative projects or programs that promote healthy lifestyles for children and their families through better nutrition and increased physical activity. Each program is required to have a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist as part of the project team. I was on the selection committee for two years to review applications and was diligent in making sure those I scored highest were really utilizing the expertise of the RDN and not just using it as a name on the application or figurehead. Previously, fifty grantees were selected each year to receive $10,000 each or a total of $500,000 a year. This past year, the Foundation awarded $1,000,000 and in May of this year, another $1,000,000 will be awarded.

- Also, Dianne Heller, an active member of this DPG and a recent Foundation Chair, donated $50,000 to KER in 2013 in memory of her mother. This was directed to the KER mini-grants for the Healthy Schools toolkit ,which features two presentations highlighting the importance of healthy eating and physical activity for academic success. The mini-grantees each gave two presentations from the toolkit in their communities. A social media presentation was also developed, “Social Media Saviness--Establish Yourself on Social Media and be an Effective Voice for Nutrition Information.” Ten $1,500 grants were awarded to affiliates and DPGs who are delivering the presentation at their annual meeting or via webinar to help increase members' engagement with social media.

So you can see the significant impact this initiative has had and its future potential. Without industry collaboration, we would not able to have nearly the reach for kids and families or provide resources to members.

A final interesting fact is that 80% of the households in the U.S. already purchase Kraft Singles. So I seriously doubt the KER logo and Kraft's statement of support for it on the package will drive additional market share. Instead, a label on a product that is used by a vast majority of Americans would direct people to Kids Eat Right. Imagine if just a small percentage of these households followed through to the KER website and learned more about good nutrition for kids and families and became more aware of RDNs. What an impact that would make!

Neva Cochran shared this background about the Foundation on the WM DPG, and asked that it be shared with other DPGs.

Passing along...

I would like to add some perspective on Kids Eat Right as an Academy Foundation Board member from 2004-2008 and the Chair in 2006-2007. During my time on the Board, the first seeds of the Kids Eat Right program were being sown to create the premiere public nutrition education program it is today.

Kids Eat Right is a joint initiative of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and the Academy Foundation, a 501c3 charitable organization. The Foundation is a totally separate legal entity from the Academy with its own Board of Directors and staff. While its staff is housed in the same offices with the Academy, the Foundation pays rent to the Academy for the space as well as for supplies and other support it receives. Decisions made by the Foundation Board do not go through a member vote or the House of Delegates as the Foundation is a separate organization from the Academy.

The KER campaign is part of the Foundation's public outreach program and, like all Foundation programs, is supported through donations and not through member dues. Other Foundation programs include student scholarships, research grants and awards for members. The Kids Eat Right campaign was launched in November 2010 to mobilize members to participate in community and school childhood obesity prevention efforts and educate families, communities and policy makers about the importance of quality nutrition. I signed on as a volunteer when it started.

As only 5% of individual Academy members donate to the Foundation, much of the funding for scholarships, awards, research grants and KER comes from food, nutrition and health related companies. In addition donations have been given by CDR, state affiliates and DPGs. Without industry support, much of the work of the Foundation would not get done. So just what has KER accomplished in the last 4.5 years? Here is a snapshot I've put together.

- Approximately 30 PAID RDN Coaches have worked in schools in high need communities in Kansas City, MO, Greater Des Moines, IA and Richmond, CA. Over 170,000 kids have benefited from the instruction and healthy eating/physical activity policies the RDN coaches helped implement in these schools.
- Nearly $175,000 in mini-grants have been awarded to almost 850 members to provide nutrition education programs. Through this, Academy members have reached 58,000 kids and adults. For more: <http://www.eatrightfoundation.org/foundation/kergrants>
- Nine toolkits with 33 unique presentations on a variety of healthy eating topics, targeting kids and adults have been developed and are available as a FREE download for members only on the Academy website. Toolkits include presentations with slides, leader notes, suggested activities and handouts. All toolkits are developed with content experts from Academy DPGs. More at <http://www.kidseatrightvolunteer.org/programs/kidseatright/activities/content.aspx?id=6442459508>
- In addition, the Academy Foundation and the General Mills Foundation have partnered on the Champions Program since 2001. This program supports innovative projects or programs that promote healthy lifestyles for children and their families through better nutrition and increased physical activity. Each program is required to have a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist as part of the project team. I was on the selection committee for two years to review applications and was diligent in making sure those I scored highest were really utilizing the expertise of the RDN and not just using it as a name on the application or figurehead. Previously, fifty grantees were selected each year to receive $10,000 each or a total of $500,000 a year. This past year, the Foundation awarded $1,000,000 and in May of this year, another $1,000,000 will be awarded.
- Also, Dianne Heller, an active member of this DPG and a recent Foundation Chair, donated $50,000 to KER in 2013 in memory of her mother. This was directed to the KER mini-grants for the Healthy Schools toolkit, which features two presentations highlighting the importance of healthy eating and physical activity for academic success. The mini-grantees each gave two presentations from the toolkit in their communities. A social media presentation was also developed, "Social Media Saviness--Establish Yourself on Social Media and be an Effective Voice for Nutrition Information." Ten $1,500 grants were awarded to affiliates and DPGs who are delivering the presentation at their annual meeting or via webinar to help increase members' engagement with social media.

So you can see the significant impact this initiative has had and its future potential. Without industry collaboration, we would not be able to have nearly the reach for kids and families or provide resources to members.

A final interesting fact is that 80% of the households in the U.S. already purchase Kraft Singles. So I seriously doubt the KER logo and Kraft's statement of support for it on the package will drive additional market share. Instead, a label on a product that is used by a vast majority of Americans would direct people to Kids Eat Right. Imagine if just a small percentage of these households followed through to the KER website and learned more about good nutrition for kids and families and became more aware of RDNs. What an impact that would make!

Denice,

It would be great if this could go viral, a testimony of a seasoned and respected member of the Academy as well as a testimony to the Board members past and present of AND & ANDF and our HQ staff who have had the vision and the courage to lead with an eye to the health of the public and particularly our nation's children. Our long held view of "all foods fit" never in our minds suggested that any food was perfect or a stand along item for good health. (Does anyone like or ever eat jelly beans?) It is easy for anyone to lead with the advantage of hindsight, much more difficult when one chooses to lead with vision, re-group when necessary, but keep moving forward. Think about it, if the NYT had not gotten a word wrong, we might well be patting ourselves (all of us) on the back. Please think carefully, I implore us all.

I plan to share this broadly, so well said.

Hi all,

I realize that there are legal concerns of saying anything without having communication with Kraft, and their approval.... but is there anything else we can tell members other than "we (Boards) are talking on Friday, and sponsorship will be addressed at the HOD meeting and subsequent BOD meeting"? May is too far away for antsy people.

I keep got an email saying that our silence is "deafening." I myself don't know what the situation is, I imagine that the merger with Heinz has made communication difficult (impossible) with Kraft? Can we say this?

These 3 gals were trying to be patient, per our conversation last week. But silence is not perceived as a positive sign.

#RepealTheSeal - An Update on Academy Action

Registered Dietitians/Nutritionists

Boulder, CO

Mar 25, 2015 — In launching the #RepealTheSeal campaign and starting this petition, we have remained committed to creating a professional and respectful platform for RDNs to express their concerns about this issue to the Academy. This public step was taken only after multiple formal channels were followed during our respective careers on similar issues to little response.

We decided to speak out publicly because we believe credibility is everything. We also believe that our organization is stronger when we take action to make it better. Our intention has always been to be a spark for change and to fight for the principles of our organization and our profession.

In March 24th's Wall Street Journal article — <http://www.wsj.com/articles/eat-right-meltdown-for-kraft-singles-1427152818> — the Academy stated that it "is working toward changing any perceptions of endorsement." To our ears, this means the Academy is keeping their decision intact and continuing to explain the rationale, rather than taking meaningful steps to keep the Kids Eat Right (KER) logo off product packaging, as was requested in our #RepealTheSeal petition.

#RepealTheSeal Impact

Without all of you, we couldn't have achieved the overwhelming impact that we have, including:

- More than 11,000 signatures — composed primarily of RDNs, Academy members and dietetic interns
- Millions reached through social media — the #RepealTheSeal hashtag has been shared on Twitter to more than 1.7 million accounts, which represents almost 5 million total possible impressions
- More than 40 blog posts — Academy Members, Dietetic Students and Health Professional Blogs have voiced their concerns through their blogs, reaching tens of millions of online readers

We are deeply grateful to all of our colleagues and fellow RDNs who have added the power of their voice, both publicly and privately, to express disagreement over the Academy's decision to allow the KER logo on food packaging.

Call to Action

To date, the Academy has not responded with the actions requested in our original petition. A resolution on this issue may only come if your pressure remains strong. Email your State and DPG Leadership and ask that these petition requests be addressed by the Academy now, and not pushed back to future meetings.

Thank you to all of you who supported this petition.

Boulder, CO

Mar 25, 2015 — In launching the #RepealTheSeal campaign and starting this petition, we have remained committed to creating a professional and respectful platform for RDNs to express their concerns about this issue to the Academy. This public step was taken only after multiple formal channels were followed during our respective careers on similar issues to little response.

We decided to speak out publicly because we believe credibility is everything. We also believe that our organization is stronger when we take action to make it better. Our intention has always been to be a spark for change and to fight for the principles of our organization and our profession.

In March 24th's Wall Street Journal article — <http://www.wsj.com/articles/eat-right-meltdown-for-kraft-singles-1427152818> — the Academy stated that it "is working toward changing any perceptions of endorsement.” To our ears, this means the Academy is keeping their decision intact and continuing to explain the rationale, rather than taking meaningful steps to keep the Kids Eat Right (KER) logo off product packaging, as was requested in our #RepealTheSeal petition.

#RepealTheSeal Impact

Without all of you, we couldn't have achieved the overwhelming impact that we have, including:

- More than 11,000 signatures — composed primarily of RDNs, Academy members and dietetic interns
- Millions reached through social media — the #RepealTheSeal hashtag has been shared on Twitter to more than 1.7 million accounts, which represents almost 5 million total possible impressions
- More than 40 blog posts — Academy Members, Dietetic Students and Health Professional Blogs have voiced their concerns through their blogs, reaching tens of millions of online readers

We are deeply grateful to all of our colleagues and fellow RDNs who have added the power of their voice, both publicly and privately, to express disagreement over the Academy's decision to allow the KER logo on food packaging.

Call to Action

To date, the Academy has not responded with the actions requested in our original petition. A resolution on this issue may only come if your pressure remains strong. Email your State and DPG Leadership and ask that these petition requests be addressed by the Academy now, and not pushed back to future meetings.

Thank you to all of you who supported this petition.

Greetings Board members,

The focus of our board meeting Friday will be to be updated about dealing with Kraft and to hear and comment on plans for moving ahead - so we can help Pat and Mary Beth be successful in addressing this issue. In talking with Board members I am hearing some useful ideas that they will share on the call.

The goal of having a fierce conversation is not to win but to reach the best workable solution. I am confident we will find a way to do this.

Other issues such as the Sponsorship Advisory Task Force will be taken care of at our May board meeting.

So glad to have all of you on the Board!

McClusky and Jean Ragalie-Carr : Like more than 11,100 of our colleagues, I signed #RepealTheSeal. I have read as much as possible, on all sides, about the Kids Eat Right logo on a branded food product, including yesterday in the The Wall Street Journal . Two things resonate with my personal position: (1) Robin Plotkin 's quote from Winston Churchill: "Courage is what it takes to stand up and speak; courage is also what it takes to sit down and listen." A week ago you said you were listening to members and asked us to be patient. Now, IMHO, it is time for AND and ANDF to say something more than "it is not an endorsement." (2) I concur completely with Janet Helm . It is not about the product; it IS about credibility, integrity and transparency. Sincerely, Dayle Hayes, MS, RD, proud member, volunteer and contributor. Denice,

It would be great if this could go viral, a testimony of a seasoned and respected member of the Academy as well as a testimony to the Board members past and present of AND & ANDF and our HQ staff who have had the vision and the courage to lead with an eye to the health of the public and particularly our nation's children. Our long held view of "all foods fit" never in our minds suggested that any food was perfect or a stand along item for good health. (Does anyone like or ever eat jelly beans?) It is easy for anyone to lead with the advantage of hindsight, much more difficult when one chooses to lead with vision, re-group when necessary, but keep moving forward. Think about it, if the NYT had not gotten a word wrong, we might well be patting ourselves (all of us) on the back. Please think carefully, I implore us all.

I plan to share this broadly, so well said.

Not only should it be sent to DPGs, but also Affiliates and as an email to all members.

This is the type of communication we need now while the KER issue is being figured out and it should go to all members.

What is the communication plan for members?

Do we need a team of media savvy members like those in NE to help alert and provide consistent messaging?

I look forward to hearing more soon.

Neva Cochran shared this background about the Foundation on the WM DPG, and asked that it be shared with other DPGs.

Passing along...

I would like to add some perspective on Kids Eat Right as an Academy Foundation Board member from 2004-2008 and the Chair in 2006-2007. During my time on the Board, the first seeds of the Kids Eat Right program were being sown to create the premiere public nutrition education program it is today.

Kids Eat Right is a joint initiative of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and the Academy Foundation, a 501c3 charitable organization. The Foundation is a totally separate legal entity from the Academy with its own Board of Directors and staff. While its staff is housed in the same offices with the Academy, the Foundation pays rent to the Academy for the space as well as for supplies and other support it receives. Decisions made by the Foundation Board do not go through a member vote or the House of Delegates as the Foundation is a separate organization from the Academy.

The KER campaign is part of the Foundation's public outreach program and, like all Foundation programs, is supported through donations and not through member dues. Other Foundation programs include student scholarships, research grants and awards for members. The Kids Eat Right campaign was launched in November 2010 to mobilize members to participate in community and school childhood obesity prevention efforts and educate families, communities and policy makers about the importance of quality nutrition. I signed on as a volunteer when it started.

As only 5% of individual Academy members donate to the Foundation, much of the funding for scholarships, awards, research grants and KER comes from food, nutrition and health related companies. In addition donations have been given by CDR, state affiliates and DPGs. Without industry support, much of the work of the Foundation would not get done. So just what has KER accomplished in the last 4.5 years? Here is a snapshot I've put together.

- Approximately 30 PAID RDN Coaches have worked in schools in high need communities in Kansas City, MO, Greater Des Moines, IA and Richmond, CA. Over 170,000 kids have benefited from the instruction and healthy eating/physical activity policies the RDN coaches helped implement in these schools.
- Nearly $175,000 in mini-grants have been awarded to almost 850 members to provide nutrition education programs. Through this, Academy members have reached 58,000 kids and adults. For more: <http://www.eatrightfoundation.org/foundation/kergrants>
- Nine toolkits with 33 unique presentations on a variety of healthy eating topics, targeting kids and adults have been developed and are available as a FREE download for members only on the Academy website. Toolkits include presentations with slides, leader notes, suggested activities and handouts. All toolkits are developed with content experts from Academy DPGs. More at <http://www.kidseatrightvolunteer.org/programs/kidseatright/activities/content.aspx?id=6442459508>

- In addition, the Academy Foundation and the General Mills Foundation have partnered on the Champions Program since 2001. This program supports innovative projects or programs that promote healthy lifestyles for children and their families through better nutrition and increased physical activity. Each program is required to have a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist as part of the project team. I was on the selection committee for two years to review applications and was diligent in making sure those I scored highest were really utilizing the expertise of the RDN and not just using it as a name on the application or figurehead. Previously, fifty grantees were selected each year to receive $10,000 each or a total of $500,000 a year. This past year, the Foundation awarded $1,000,000 and in May of this year, another $1,000,000 will be awarded.

- Also, Dianne Heller, an active member of this DPG and a recent Foundation Chair, donated $50,000 to KER in 2013 in memory of her mother. This was directed to the KER mini-grants for the Healthy Schools toolkit ,which features two presentations highlighting the importance of healthy eating and physical activity for academic success. The mini-grantees each gave two presentations from the toolkit in their communities. A social media presentation was also developed, “Social Media Saviness--Establish Yourself on Social Media and be an Effective Voice for Nutrition Information.” Ten $1,500 grants were awarded to affiliates and DPGs who are delivering the presentation at their annual meeting or via webinar to help increase members' engagement with social media.

So you can see the significant impact this initiative has had and its future potential. Without industry collaboration, we would not able to have nearly the reach for kids and families or provide resources to members.

A final interesting fact is that 80% of the households in the U.S. already purchase Kraft Singles. So I seriously doubt the KER logo and Kraft's statement of support for it on the package will drive additional market share. Instead, a label on a product that is used by a vast majority of Americans would direct people to Kids Eat Right. Imagine if just a small percentage of these households followed through to the KER website and learned more about good nutrition for kids and families and became more aware of RDNs. What an impact that would make!

Denice,

It would be great if this could go viral, a testimony of a seasoned and respected member of the Academy as well as a testimony to the Board members past and present of AND & ANDF and our HQ staff who have had the vision and the courage to lead with an eye to the health of the public and particularly our nation's children. Our long held view of "all foods fit" never in our minds suggested that any food was perfect or a stand along item for good health. (Does anyone like or ever eat jelly beans?) It is easy for anyone to lead with the advantage of hindsight, much more difficult when one chooses to lead with vision, re-group when necessary, but keep moving forward. Think about it, if the NYT had not gotten a word wrong, we might well be patting ourselves (all of us) on the back. Please think carefully, I implore us all.

I plan to share this broadly, so well said.

Margaret

Neva Cochran shared this background about the Foundation on the WM DPG, and asked that it be shared with other DPGs.

Passing along...

I would like to add some perspective on Kids Eat Right as an Academy Foundation Board member from 2004-2008 and the Chair in 2006-2007. During my time on the Board, the first seeds of the Kids Eat Right program were being sown to create the premiere public nutrition education program it is today.

Kids Eat Right is a joint initiative of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and the Academy Foundation, a 501c3 charitable organization. The Foundation is a totally separate legal entity from the Academy with its own Board of Directors and staff. While its staff is housed in the same offices with the Academy, the Foundation pays rent to the Academy for the space as well as for supplies and other support it receives. Decisions made by the Foundation Board do not go through a member vote or the House of Delegates as the Foundation is a separate organization from the Academy.

The KER campaign is part of the Foundation's public outreach program and, like all Foundation programs, is supported through donations and not through member dues. Other Foundation programs include student scholarships, research grants and awards for members. The Kids Eat Right campaign was launched in November 2010 to mobilize members to participate in community and school childhood obesity prevention efforts and educate families, communities and policy makers about the importance of quality nutrition. I signed on as a volunteer when it started.

As only 5% of individual Academy members donate to the Foundation, much of the funding for scholarships, awards, research grants and KER comes from food, nutrition and health related companies. In addition donations have been given by CDR, state affiliates and DPGs. Without industry support, much of the work of the Foundation would not get done. So just what has KER accomplished in the last 4.5 years? Here is a snapshot I've put together.

- Approximately 30 PAID RDN Coaches have worked in schools in high need communities in Kansas City, MO, Greater Des Moines, IA and Richmond, CA. Over 170,000 kids have benefited from the instruction and healthy eating/physical activity policies the RDN coaches helped implement in these schools.
- Nearly $175,000 in mini-grants have been awarded to almost 850 members to provide nutrition education programs. Through this, Academy members have reached 58,000 kids and adults. For more: <http://www.eatrightfoundation.org/foundation/kergrants>
- Nine toolkits with 33 unique presentations on a variety of healthy eating topics, targeting kids and adults have been developed and are available as a FREE download for members only on the Academy website. Toolkits include presentations with slides, leader notes, suggested activities and handouts. All toolkits are developed with content experts from Academy DPGs. More at <http://www.kidseatrightvolunteer.org/programs/kidseatright/activities/content.aspx?id=6442459508>
- In addition, the Academy Foundation and the General Mills Foundation have partnered on the Champions Program since 2001. This program supports innovative projects or programs that promote healthy lifestyles for children and their families through better nutrition and increased physical activity. Each program is required to have a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist as part of the project team. I was on the selection committee for two years to review applications and was diligent in making sure those I scored highest were really utilizing the expertise of the RDN and not just using it as a name on the application or figurehead. Previously, fifty grantees were selected each year to receive $10,000 each or a total of $500,000 a year. This past year, the Foundation awarded $1,000,000 and in May of this year, another $1,000,000 will be awarded.
- Also, Dianne Heller, an active member of this DPG and a recent Foundation Chair, donated $50,000 to KER in 2013 in memory of her mother. This was directed to the KER mini-grants for the Healthy Schools toolkit, which features two presentations highlighting the importance of healthy eating and physical activity for academic success. The mini-grantees each gave two presentations from the toolkit in their communities. A social media presentation was also developed, "Social Media Saviness--Establish Yourself on Social Media and be an Effective Voice for Nutrition Information." Ten $1,500 grants were awarded to affiliates and DPGs who are delivering the presentation at their annual meeting or via webinar to help increase members' engagement with social media.

So you can see the significant impact this initiative has had and its future potential. Without industry collaboration, we would not be able to have nearly the reach for kids and families or provide resources to members.

A final interesting fact is that 80% of the households in the U.S. already purchase Kraft Singles. So I seriously doubt the KER logo and Kraft's statement of support for it on the package will drive additional market share. Instead, a label on a product that is used by a vast majority of Americans would direct people to Kids Eat Right. Imagine if just a small percentage of these households followed through to the KER website and learned more about good nutrition for kids and families and became more aware of RDNs. What an impact that would make!

Beth, You know that I am one of Mary Beth's and Pat's biggest supporters. I am going to defend them to the ends of the earth! This has really been hard in terms of time consuming, but also in terms of the fact that I believe in this project and get tired of my fellow dietitians being so simple minded. I signed on as a volunteer when it started.

As only 5% of individual Academy members donate to the Foundation, much of the funding for scholarships, awards, research grants and KER comes from food, nutrition and health related companies. In addition donations have been given by CDR, state affiliates and DPGs. Without industry support, much of the work of the Foundation would not get done. So just what has KER accomplished in the last 4.5 years? Here is a snapshot I've put together.

- Approximately 30 PAID RDN Coaches have worked in schools in high need communities in Kansas City, MO, Greater Des Moines, IA and Richmond, CA. Over 170,000 kids have benefited from the instruction and healthy eating/physical activity policies the RDN coaches helped implement in these schools.
- Nearly $175,000 in mini-grants have been awarded to almost 850 members to provide nutrition education programs. Through this, Academy members have reached 58,000 kids and adults. For more: <http://www.eatrightfoundation.org/foundation/kergrants>
- Nine toolkits with 33 unique presentations on a variety of healthy eating topics, targeting kids and adults have been developed and are available as a FREE download for members only on the Academy website. Toolkits include presentations with slides, leader notes, suggested activities and handouts. All toolkits are developed with content experts from Academy DPGs. More at <http://www.kidseatrightvolunteer.org/programs/kidseatright/activities/content.aspx?id=6442459508>
- In addition, the Academy Foundation and the General Mills Foundation have partnered on the Champions Program since 2001. This program supports innovative projects or programs that promote healthy lifestyles for children and their families through better nutrition and increased physical activity. Each program is required to have a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist as part of the project team. I was on the selection committee for two years to review applications and was diligent in making sure those I scored highest were really utilizing the expertise of the RDN and not just using it as a name on the application or figurehead. Previously, fifty grantees were selected each year to receive $10,000 each or a total of $500,000 a year. This past year, the Foundation awarded $1,000,000 and in May of this year, another $1,000,000 will be awarded.

· Also, Dianne Heller, an active member of this DPG and a recent Foundation Chair, donated $50,000 to KER in 2013 in memory of her mother. This was directed to the KER mini-grants for the Healthy Schools toolkit ,which features two presentations highlighting the importance of healthy eating and physical activity for academic success. The mini-grantees each gave two presentations from the toolkit in their communities. A social media presentation was also developed, "Social Media Saviness--Establish Yourself on Social Media and be an Effective Voice for Nutrition Information." Ten $1,500 grants were awarded to affiliates and DPGs who are delivering the presentation at their annual meeting or via webinar to help increase members' engagement with social media.

So you can see the significant impact this initiative has had and its future potential. Without industry collaboration, we would not able to have nearly the reach for kids and families or provide resources to members.

A final interesting fact is that 80% of the households in the U.S. already purchase Kraft Singles. So I seriously doubt the KER logo and Kraft's statement of support for it on the package will drive additional market share. Instead, a label on a product that is used by a vast majority of Americans would direct people to Kids Eat Right. Imagine if just a small percentage of these households followed through to the KER website and learned more about good nutrition for kids and families and became more aware of RDNs. What an impact that would make!

Rosanne Rust copied me on this post that Neva Cochran did - this is fantastic

Not only should it be sent to DPGs, but also Affiliates and as an email to all members.

This is the type of communication we need now while the KER issue is being figured out and it should go to all members.

What is the communication plan for members?

Do we need a team of media savvy members like those in NE to help alert and provide consistent messaging?

I look forward to hearing more soon.

Neva Cochran shared this background about the Foundation on the WM DPG, and asked that it be shared with other DPGs.

Passing along...

I would like to add some perspective on Kids Eat Right as an Academy Foundation Board member from 2004-2008 and the Chair in 2006-2007. During my time on the Board, the first seeds of the Kids Eat Right program were being sown to create the premiere public nutrition education program it is today.

Kids Eat Right is a joint initiative of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and the Academy Foundation, a 501c3 charitable organization. The Foundation is a totally separate legal entity from the Academy with its own Board of Directors and staff. While its staff is housed in the same offices with the Academy, the Foundation pays rent to the Academy for the space as well as for supplies and other support it receives. Decisions made by the Foundation Board do not go through a member vote or the House of Delegates as the Foundation is a separate organization from the Academy.

The KER campaign is part of the Foundation's public outreach program and, like all Foundation programs, is supported through donations and not through member dues. Other Foundation programs include student scholarships, research grants and awards for members. The Kids Eat Right campaign was launched in November 2010 to mobilize members to participate in community and school childhood obesity prevention efforts and educate families, communities and policy makers about the importance of quality nutrition. I signed on as a volunteer when it started.

As only 5% of individual Academy members donate to the Foundation, much of the funding for scholarships, awards, research grants and KER comes from food, nutrition and health related companies. In addition donations have been given by CDR, state affiliates and DPGs. Without industry support, much of the work of the Foundation would not get done. Mary Beth and I recommended to Sonja and Terri that we schedule a conference call with both Boards to provide a status report on our ongoing dialogue with Kraft, GMMB and legal counsel.

With Sonja's and Terri's approval, we are hoping to schedule an hour the call for Friday, March 27, and Darchele Erskine will be distributing a Doodle Poll to assist in its coordination. On Thursday, March 26, you will receive a timeline of events, short- and long-term recommendations and a communication plan addressing the evolving situation, all of which are reviewed by GMMB and legal counsel. We are also inviting a representative of GMMB and our legal counsel to participate on the call.

After adjournment, the Academy Board will hold an executive session for approximately 30 minutes.

Best regards,

Patricia M. Babjak

CMS extends reach of National Nutrition Month® message

As I shared with you on March 5, this is the 7th consecutive year we have collaborated with the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services to share a message to providers promoting the Medicare MNT benefit during National Nutrition Month®. Building on this long-standing collaboration with CMS on messaging to health care providers during National Nutrition Month®, this year we were able to get the word out beyond the provider community. CMS also shared the National Nutrition Month® message with 1600 external organizations that reach a broad segment of the population, including care-givers, patient advocate groups, communities of faith, and health care provider organizations. CMS has already committed to collaborate with us on this multi-prong communications approach next year.

Thank you,

Marsha

Sonja and all,

Our site visitors are here Thursday and Friday for our Student Health Center. If I can be available for a call it would have to be on the afternoon and probably at least at or after 2:30. We don't know the travel return time yet (have requested) so that we can anticipate a more definite closure.

Dear Academy Board Members,

Four things:

1. Because there have been no minutes for the October Board call regarding the Kraft initiative, I typed up my notes. They are attached. Of concern to me is that the Board never received the requested roll-out plan.
2. I have received emails from Glenna and from Sue Roberts regarding the Sponsorship Advisory Task Force. I have attached Glenna's remarks. I will forward Sue's letter to you.
3. You will receive a request from Pat today to have a board call (ANDF Board also) on Friday.
4. I would like to talk with each of you. Please let me know what time works for you and a number to call.

Thanks a bunch! You're the best.

Dear Sonja,

The Academy is in the midst of Corporate Sponsorship ongoing debates. For this reason the work of the Sponsorship Advisory Task Force is very important. As members, Matt and I are concerned about the process and actual SATF Interim Report - 3/6/15 submitted to the BOD. The attached letter highlights these concerns. Additionally I have as an attachment to the letter a version of the Interim Report which has track changes to illustrate several of the points made in the letter.

Please forward this letter and attachment to the AND BOD. Thank you so much.

Best,
Sue

Hi Paul and Donna,

I can only be on our call for a little time today, maybe only 20 minutes, I am sorry!!!

2 weeks ago I found out that a student is threatening to sue me/the University. It is a long convoluted story, but today I have a mediation meeting with the student and her disability officer.

I had asked for the meeting to be at 3pm, so that I could be on the FAC call, but I was just informed that the meeting has to be at 2pm (Central time). It is in an administrative building on another campus, so between driving and parking, I will need about 40 minutes.

What is the world coming to when students sue their program directors? And of course, it is a student for which I have bent over backwards to help!

I am very committed to FAC, I hate to not make the calls or to have to leave early!

Thanks for ALL you do!

Paul, I am struggling with something to add to the deck? What is missing is some really good news with non-revenue. (Thought you might need some levity.) I will keep thinking on it before we talk tomorrow. How about around 2 pm my time which is 1 pm your time? That way you can get some lunch if you have time. I am sure you all are still running crazy with all this Kraft stuff. :) You call me at the number below if this time works.

Donna,

Today might be tough. I am participating in the LPPC/ANDPAC meeting. Well, I called in, so, participating may be too strong. I will admit that I am not "thrilled" with the Deck. I keep thinking it is missing something. I don't know what it is. So, if you want to add something, let me know.

Wednesday afternoon would be better. Just pick a time.

Paul, I can talk to you anytime this afternoon after 1 pm EST and I have all day on Wednesday from 8-4:30 pm EST. Let me know what works for you? CMS extends reach of National Nutrition Month® message

As I shared with you on March 5, this is the 7th consecutive year we have collaborated with the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services to share a message to providers promoting the Medicare MNT benefit during National Nutrition Month®. Building on this long-standing collaboration with CMS on messaging to health care providers during National Nutrition Month®, this year we were able to get the word out beyond the provider community. CMS also shared the National Nutrition Month® message with 1600 external organizations that reach a broad segment of the population, including care-givers, patient advocate groups, communities of faith, and health care provider organizations. CMS has already committed to collaborate with us on this multi-prong communications approach next year.

As I shared with you on March 5, this is the 7th consecutive year we have collaborated with the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services to share a message to providers promoting the Medicare MNT benefit during National Nutrition Month®. Building on this long-standing collaboration with CMS on messaging to health care providers during National Nutrition Month®, this year we were able to get the word out beyond the provider community. CMS also shared the National Nutrition Month® message with 1600 external organizations that reach a broad segment of the population, including care-givers, patient advocate groups, communities of faith, and health care provider organizations. CMS has already committed to collaborate with us on this multi-prong communications approach next year.

Thank you,

Marsha

Today, Katie Brown, EdD, RDN, LD, national education director of Kids Eat Right, conducted an interview with the Wall Street Journal. Katie did a good job highlighting Kids Eat Right, our initiatives and the program. The story is as balanced a piece as we have seen. It's online and will be printed in tomorrow's edition. The WSJ did cover our talking point ... "The Academy is working to change any perceptions of endorsements." Please see the entire story below.

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, one of the world's largest groups of health professionals, is locked in talks with Kraft Foods Group Inc. to determine how to proceed with a controversial campaign to put the academy's "Kids Eat Right" logo on packages of Kraft Singles.

"The academy is working toward changing any perceptions of endorsement," academy spokesman Ryan O'Malley said. Talks between the parties have been going on for several days.

A partnership between the academy and Kraft, made public earlier this month, opened a rift within the academy, and some members have called on its leaders to disclose financial ties with Kraft. More broadly, it has prompted questions about the group's credibility as a go-to source for nutritional guidance.

Advertisement

The controversy stepped into the limelight last week, when comedian Jon Stewart joked on the Daily Show that "the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics is an academy in the same way this is cheese," pointing to a package of Kraft Singles.

Described as a "pasteurized prepared cheese product," Kraft Singles are made mostly with milk, cheddar cheese, whey, milk protein concentrate, milk fat and sodium citrate, an emulsifier, according to the ingredients.

The incident highlights the risk public health and nutrition groups take when they partner with food companies, often in relationships that involve donations and sponsorships, said Marion Nestle, a professor of nutrition and food studies at New York University and an author of several books on the food industry.

The academy “has become a laughingstock,” Ms. Nestle said. “Its viewpoints are so tainted, they’re so deeply influenced by their sponsors that it’s hard to take them seriously.”

With more than 75,000 members, mostly registered dietitians and other nutrition professionals, the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics often plays a role in shaping national food policy. It lobbies Congress and weighs in on the development of regulations.

The partnership between the academy and Kraft put the food giant on track to become the first company to carry the academy’s “Kids Eat Right” logo on one of its products. Packages of Kraft Singles were also going to include a Web address for the campaign.

The goal, according to the academy, was to spread the word that children need more calcium and vitamin D in their diets. “We saw this opportunity to help parents bridge that dairy gap,” said Katie Brown, national education director for the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation, the academy’s philanthropic arm.

As part of the arrangement, Kraft agreed to provide money for a grant to be used at the academy’s discretion for scholarships, research or public education initiatives. Ms. Brown declined to disclose the sum provided by Kraft.

While the academy said it never intended for the partnership to serve as an endorsement of Kraft Singles, critics said consumers would assume the academy had given the product its seal of approval.

“The ‘Kids Eat Right’ logo appearing on any food product is an implied endorsement, despite the academy’s insistence that it is not an endorsement,” said Rachel Begun, a registered dietitian from Boulder, Colo., and member of the academy. “This announcement struck a nerve with members.”

Ms. Begun and other academy members have asked the academy to cut campaign ties with Kraft and to disclose the terms of the agreement. The New York state affiliate of the academy, with more than 5,000 members, sent a letter to the group’s leaders, saying it, too, was concerned about the partnership with Kraft.

Kraft spokeswoman Jody Moore said the company “has never used the word ‘endorsement’ to describe this collaboration. We have been clear Kraft Singles is a proud supporter of Kids Eat Right and this collaboration with the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics is to raise awareness of the importance of dairy, vitamin D and calcium in kids’ diets.”

According to its 2014 annual report, the academy counts several food and beverage companies among its corporate sponsors, including PepsiCo Inc., General Mills Inc., Kellogg Co. and Unilever PLC. Several additional companies served as sponsors of its conference in 2013, including Campbell Soup Co., ConAgra Foods Inc. and Del Monte Corp.

Each of the companies, excluding Campbell Soup and Del Monte, contributed $10,000 or more during the group’s 2014 fiscal year, which ended May 31, according to the annual report. Kraft wasn’t among the companies that donated that sum of money.

The academy’s website said corporate relationships allow it to develop and distribute messages to a broader audience. Acknowledging that it needs to avoid the perception of a conflict of interest, the academy states on the website that it “will authorize no commercial use of the name and logo that would diminish that value or damage that reputation.”

The academy isn’t the only public health group to come under fire for its relationship with food companies. The American Diabetes Association, which has also been criticized for accepting money from food companies, said it developed a set of guidelines that said food and beverage products that are identified as a “proud sponsor” of the ADA should be healthy and nutrient-dense.

Three expert speakers will cover professional skills not typically taught in academic courses, such as application and interview skills, email etiquette, professional dress, balancing individual and team goals, building customer communication and public image.

The webinar will be recorded and available later, for those who are unable to attend on the scheduled date and time.

Disclaimer: I am heavily paraphrasing this "report" so please do not quote me.

It's a rainy day here in O'Town, so after lunch I decided to turn on the local weather to see how long it would be wet. The channel that came up first was Fox Business and Stuart Varney was on. He was interviewing, I believe, Andy Belotti. I came in on the end of the interview, where the guest was summarizing his feeling that Kraft Singles were a processed food and just not good for you. Varney said....what would you suggest one should feed their 4 year old instead? The guest stumbled a bit and saidwell, there are lots of food with Vitamin D and Calcium. Varney saidwhat? The guest repeated that there were a lot of foods, even real cheese. Varney came back and said....what if the kid won't eat real cheese? Parents really struggle getting their kids to eat? Do you have kids? The guest replied....No. Varney said: "Well then, you don't understand how difficult it is to get them to eat stuff."

We may want to keep Varney on our list to contact, once all of the “furor” is over....he represented us well. By the way, so did Andy (if it was Andy)....he was professional and not emotional. He spoke as an RD, and in the part I saw he said it was just time to stop professional organizations from partnering with “big companies”, etc.

Each year the Board uses a self-assessment tool developed by BoardSource to evaluate and improve its effectiveness as a governing board. The assessment is utilized by the Board to evaluate our strengths and challenges and by the Executive Team to strengthen operational processes. The tool is also helpful in familiarizing Board members about expected responsibilities, in planning meeting agendas, and identifying topics for the Board orientation and retreat meetings.

Tomorrow you will receive the online questionnaire directly from BoardSource from their e-mail address, assessments@boardsource.org. Your individual responses are tabulated by BoardSource and are kept confidential; only aggregate results are provided. Marla Bobowick, senior governance consultant with BoardSource, will again attend our Board meeting in May to facilitate the discussion about the results.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you for your input!

Aida, I appreciate your interest in this subject and I am not taking it wrong at all. I think it is a conversion we need to have and you got the ball rolling. Hopefully, Paul's excellent email will help you have the conversation with people you encounter. What I do find so interesting though is that the people I talk to are not upset about it. I wonder what it would take to educate the members who are so upset about the impact of these decisions? I hope you don't get too bombarded at your meeting!

Thanks Paul for an excellent response, and to Donna.

Don't get me wrong, I realize this is not the answer and it is complex! But unfortunately, the people sending us hundreds of letters right now, who are clamoring (demanding) CHANGE think it is black and white. And for the sake of transparency, I have a feeling we will be asked to put forth figures. Members do not realize the complexity and, yes, increasing dues would likely send membership down quite a bit!

I am at NDEP 2/5 later this week, so that will be another opportunity for me to take the "temperature" of the members and see what they are upset about this week!

Thanks again!

Paul, Very nicely said! Several of my RDN friends have told me that they would much rather have sponsors than have dues go up! I think your death spiral analogy is an excellent one. Hopefully, that will not become the theme for the Treasurer's presentation for the fall HOD meeting! You have given us all excellent food for thought.

All,

A few years ago, we did look at this from an Academy perspective. At that time, it was roughly $50 per member. Please don't use that number (it is an old number). The key is how would it be distributed across all of the member categories. We would not increase the students by $50 when they are currently paying $50. We did not look at that impact to the Foundation, DPGS or MIGS.

That being said, the decline in sponsorships over the past few years would reduce that impact significantly. Developing the impact from sponsorship really is quite simple. What gets complicated is where the line is drawn. Do we stop taking Corporate money entirely? If so, does that mean we don't have an exhibit hall at FNCE? What about advertisements within the Journal and Food and Nutrition Magazine? Do we eliminate that as well? How about funding for Research? We currently have the Home Food Safety website, funded by ConAgra. Should we eliminate this money as well? As you can see, this becomes an issue that becomes quite complicated.

To make the situation even more difficult is the control over the DPGS/MIGs as well as the Affiliates. We think we control the DPGS/MIGS. I will tell you this is not the case. We work with them, but, they can be very passionate about what they want. I have heard many times that "we will just go ahead and do it" from the leaders of various DPGs on a myriad of issues. In addition, we don't have any control over the Affiliates. If we shut down Corporate Sponsorships but they do not, we will still be implicated. We all may remember that the California Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics had McDonald's as one of their Corporate Sponsors at their annual meeting. Now, the great thing is California will not have McDonalds this year because of the uproar from members. So, the process works.

I don't believe eliminating Sponsorship or Corporate money is the answer. Most, if not all, Non-profits take Corporate money. The issue might be the companies that are attracted to the program. I think, given the push back from the Kraft situation, we may see companies begin to drift away at a faster pace.

As Donna pointed out in her e-mail, the decline in Sponsorship has contributed to the Academy's deficits. Also, we have to recognize that increasing the Membership Dues might have the opposite effect we would like; higher Membership Dues could result in members choosing to not renew. Which could result in lower Membership Dues overall. It becomes a "death spiral".

Even if members would support a Dues increase of $50 (lets hold this for argument's sake), the likelihood that they will pay the additional amount is questionable. It is one thing to say and another thing to do. We already hear that our Membership Dues are too high. In addition, if DPGS/MIGs can't get Corporate money, they would have to increase their Dues. So, it could be very damaging to some of the DPGS/MIGS as well. Again, a downward spiral.

I think their needs to be a balanced response to the Academy's needs that takes into consideration all revenue sources as well as the programs and services funded by these sources. Our revenue, in FY15, is projected to decline when compared to FY14. We can't continue to fund programs at the level our members have become accustomed if we don't have new, growing, revenue streams. So, we have to be diligent to stay fiscally responsible and fund initiatives that generate a return, either directly or indirectly. Sometimes this might mean we can't support programs our members think are critical. This can include investments. They are there to be used. However, we can't continue large deficits and expect the Academy to be sound financially.

Bottom line is the request sounds simple and from a mathematical perspective and it really is. Unfortunately, once you scratch this surface, it is easy to see that the Corporate Sponsorship issue becomes quite complicated quickly.

Sorry for the long email. I will look at the "high-level" impact of eliminating Sponsorship for the Committee. From there, your guidance will necessary on how far we would like to take this issue.

Subject: Re: Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, March 24th at 1 p.m. CDT

Paul, Kay, Mary and Donna,

I didn't want to send this to everyone on FAC, but I am wondering if the following question from a member in MN could be answered/ calculated in some way..... This is what the member asked- can it be done?

- 1.If the faction that wants zero - zippo - nadda corporate sponsorship has it their way then what will each of us need to pay in extra annual dues to cover the costs of what corporate money pays for? I suspect this impacts DPG dues also as they use corporate money. What services / benefits will go away? In other words what does an organization look like when it has no sponsorship. Someone needs to run the numbers and this is important for people to see and understand as they make their decisions to stay with AND or jump ship (which many are threatening to do).
- 2.If the foundation gets significant funding from sponsorship - same thing what does it look like without that money coming in.

Thanks for all you do!

All,

I hope everyone is enjoying the warmth that is beginning to inch its way into our lives. When I was a kid, we had a newscaster that always talked about the "greening of America". He used to show a line where the plants and trees would begin to spring to life. I patiently waited for the line to get closer to my home in Detroit!! I don't know why I always enjoyed that reference. Maybe it was the anticipation of Spring and the warm weather!!! Since we just passed St. Patrick's Day, I thought that would be a nice anecdote. We haven't yet experience any "greening" in Chicago (except the river of course), but I hope wherever you are that you are beginning to see the signs of spring.

As all of you know, we have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, March 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. The focus of our call will be on the following;

- 1.January final financial results
- 2.February preliminary results
- 3.Budget update
- 4.Cash

I. January Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary January results.

II. Investments

The ride our investments has taken continues. As I mentioned last month, the market was growing quite well when we met in February. I am happy to say that our combined portfolios gained nearly $2,259,000!! We recouped the losses from January and added to our upward climb. Year to date, the combined portfolios have gained over $3,353,000. This is $1,620,300 more than our budget. So, needless to say, with these kind of results, February should be a very good month for everyone.

March has not been too bad for our portfolios. Through yesterday, March 18th, the combined portfolios have gained an additional $287,000. This is roughly 0.50%. Even though the markets are mixed (Dow down, NASDAQ up, etc) today, we are at least facing the last week or so of investing in March on a firm foundation of gains. The markets liked what the Federal Reserve Chairwoman said yesterday. So, hopefully, the impact of the impending interest rate hikes would not have a major impact on the markets.

III. Academy preliminary February Financials (A10)

The results for the Academy will continue the pattern we have seen throughout the year; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $363,431. This was $15,365 higher (worse) than the budget. This isn't too bad considering the revenue missed expectations by $111,284. I will provide some details below. The great news is, due to the investment returns of over $729K, the Academy had Net Income of $365,920 for the month of February. This was $601,501 higher (better) than the budget. So, a very good overall month!!

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $1,961,463 through February. This is $395,699 smaller (better) than the budget. This variance went down $15K since January. However, it is great news to have the Operating results be this much better than the budget with all of the revenue shortfalls we have experienced. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.33M in income. This is $319,810 higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $628,298. This is $715,510 smaller (better) than the budget. We may not have reached this point in an optimal manner, but, to have our Net Deficit be less than 50% of our budget, through three quarters of the fiscal year, is very good news.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

a.Membership Dues - This area is under budget by $5,740 in February and is under budget by $181 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) offset by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $2.1K).

b.Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $9,729 in February and is under budget by $429,830 for the year. The under-run February is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.

c.Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $26,614 in February and is under budget by $87,160 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $9.7K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), lower PR sales (Down $6.2K) and lower List Rental (down $6.2K).

d.Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $43,971 in February and is under budget by $263,317 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $44.3K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.4K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.2K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).

e.Advertising - This area is over budget by $1,699 in February and under budget by $8,692 for the year. The over-run in February is entirely due to higher advertising sales for Food and Nutrition Magazine.

f.All grants - This area is under budget by $20,201 in February and is under budget by $22,756 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Guides for Practice (down $10K), lower grants for Research (down $9.4K) and lower ConAgra (down $1.6K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition project (up $0.8K).

g.Sponsorships - This area is under budget by $2,140 in February and is under budget by $50,749 for the year. This is not as low in February as we originally thought. We re-evaluate this each month. Since we have received unbudgeted agreements for the Nutrition News Forecast, we are adjusting our expected under-run for the year.

h.Other - This area was under budget by $4,590 in February and is over budget by $99,996 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program.

B.Expenses

a.Personnel - This area is under budget by $24,584 in February and is under budget by $152,653 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b.Publications - This area is under budget by $701 in February and is under budget by $96,657 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $3.0K), and lower Eatright Store (Down $1.7K). This is offset by higher Journal (up $2.2K), higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $1.3K) and higher across all other projects (up $0.5K).

c.Travel - This area is under budget by $51,050 in February and is under budget by $307,491 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Research projects (down $61.8K) which included lower Abbott Malnutrition project expenses (down $53.4K), lower Informatics (down $3.8K), lower Public Policy (down $3.2K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K). This is offset by higher Marketing (up $2.8K), higher Governance (up $5.4K) and higher FNCE expense reimbursements (up $9.8K).

d.Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $29,960 in February and is under budget by $182,245 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Research (down $10.5K), lower IT/web (down $5.3K), lower Journal (down $6.0K), lower Corporate Relations (down $13.3K), lower Public Relations (down $6.2K) and lower Carry the Flame (down $2.3K). This is offset by higher FNCE (up $10.3K), higher Public Policy (up $2.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.1K). The FNCE over-run is due to the accounting reclassification addressed above.

e.Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $2,352 in February and is under budget by $88,448 for the year. The under-run for February is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $8.4K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K). This is offset by higher Member Services (down $1.9K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $4.7K).

f.Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is under budget by $3,460 in February and is under budget by $16,930 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower copy supplies (down $1.6K), lower Public Policy (down $0.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.2K).

g.Rent and utilities - This area is over budget by $13 in February and is under budget by $62,089 for the year. The over-run in February is due to higher maintenance costs associated with work done in Chicago (up $1.7K) offset by lower costs within our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K).

h.Telephone and communications - This is over budget by $1,039 in February and is under budget by $2,764 for the year. The over-run in February is primarily due to the accounting reclassification for FNCE related costs.

i.Commissions - This area is over budget by $340 in February and is over budget by $1,151 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. Since Advertising revenue was higher in February, the commission expense was higher in February

j.Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $5,061 in February and is under budget by $51,685 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower web hosting costs. This could be an issue with a missing bill and will be re-evaluated before going final.

k.Advertising and Promotion - This area is over budget by $1,989 in February and is under budget by $43,796 for the year. The over-run in February is primarily due to NCM marketing materials.

l.Insurance - This area is under budget by $534 in February and is under budget by $7,133 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.

m.Depreciation - This area is under budget by $2,372 in February and is over budget by $253 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in February and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

n. Bank and trust fees - This area is over budget by $1,716 in February and is over budget by $11,611 for the year. The over-run in February is due to higher credit cards fees.

o. Other - This area is over budget by $30,092 in February and under budget $49,120 for the year. The majority of the over-run in February is due to two items; the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize for Quality Management (down $13.8K) and FNCE accounting reclassifications (up $16.0K). There are additional minor changes in other areas, but, it amounts to approximately $0.3K. The FNCE reclassifications are shifts between categories as the accounting team "cleans" up the books at the quarter close.

p. Expense allocation - This area is unfavorable to budget by $6,979 in February and is unfavorable to budget by $51,655 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the "normal" expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $20,469 in February and is under budget by $160,459 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to accounting reclassification's of FNCE related costs (down $29.3K), lower Professional Development (down $1.0K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.0K). This is offset by higher Quality Management (up $10.8K).

r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $230 in February and is under budget by $15,804 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower legal expenses.

s. Printing - This area is over budget by $2,688 in February and is over budget by $14,482 for the year. The over-run in February is due higher Office Services costs (up $1.7K) and higher across all other areas of the business (up $1.0K).

Overall, a good month for the Academy. We are still experiencing the under-runs in revenue. These will continue. However, the staff is dedicated to reducing expenses wherever possible. We are now rounding the final corner and heading towards home. It is good to do so with both an Operating deficit and Net Deficit smaller than the budget.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will have been out of the office this week. So, either Christian or I will get everything posted to the portal (I hope!). In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

Thanks Paul for an excellent response, and to Donna.

Don't get me wrong, I realize this is not the answer and it is complex! But unfortunately, the people sending us hundreds of letters right now, who are clamoring (demanding) CHANGE think it is black and white. And for the sake of transparency, I have a feeling we will be asked to put forth figures. Members do not realize the complexity and, yes, increasing dues would likely send membership down quite a bit!

I am at NDEP 2/5 later this week, so that will be another opportunity for me to take the "temperature" of the members and see what they are upset about this week!

Thanks again!

All,

A few years ago, we did look at this from an Academy perspective. At that time, it was roughly $50 per member. Please don't use that number (it is an old number). The key is how would it be distributed across all of the member categories. We would not increase the students by $50 when they are currently paying $50. We did not look at that impact to the Foundation, DPGS or MIGS.

That being said, the decline in sponsorships over the past few years would reduce that impact significantly. Developing the impact from sponsorship really is quite simple. What gets complicated is where the line is drawn. Do we stop taking Corporate money entirely? If so, does that mean we don't have an exhibit hall at FNCE? What about advertisements within the Journal and Food and Nutrition Magazine? Do we eliminate that as well? How about funding for Research? We currently have the Home Food Safety website, funded by ConAgra. Should we eliminate this money as well? As you can see, this becomes an issue that becomes quite complicated.

To make the situation even more difficult is the control over the DPGS/MIGs as well as the Affiliates. We think we control the DPGS/MIGS. I will tell you this is not the case. We work with them, but, they can be very passionate about what they want. I have heard many times that "we will just go ahead and do it" from the leaders of various DPGs on a myriad of issues. In addition, we don't have any control over the Affiliates. If we shut down Corporate Sponsorships but they do not, we will still be implicated. We all may remember that the California Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics had McDonald's as one of their Corporate Sponsors at their annual meeting. Now, the great thing is California will not have McDonalds this year because of the uproar from members. So, the process works.

I don't believe eliminating Sponsorship or Corporate money is the answer. Most, if not all, Non-profits take Corporate money. The issue might be the companies that are attracted to the program. I think, given the push back from the Kraft situation, we may see companies begin to drift away at a faster pace.

As Donna pointed out in her e-mail, the decline in Sponsorship has contributed to the Academy's deficits. Also, we have to recognize that increasing the Membership Dues might have the opposite effect we would like; higher Membership Dues could result in members choosing to not renew. Which could result in lower Membership Dues overall. It becomes a "death spiral".

Even if members would support a Dues increase of $50 (lets hold this for argument's sake), the likelihood that they will pay the additional amount is questionable. It is one thing to say and another thing to do. We already hear that our Membership Dues are too high. In addition, if DPGS/MIGs can't get Corporate money, they would have to increase their Dues. So, it could be very damaging to some of the DPGS/MIGS as well. Again, a downward spiral.

I think their needs to be a balanced response to the Academy's needs that takes into consideration all revenue sources as well as the programs and services funded by these sources. Our revenue, in FY15, is projected to decline when compared to FY14. We can't continue to fund programs at the level our members have become accustomed if we don't have new, growing, revenue streams. So, we have to be diligent to stay fiscally responsible and fund initiatives that generate a return, either directly or indirectly. Sometimes this might mean we can't support programs our members think are critical. This can include investments. They are there to be used. However, we can't continue large deficits and expect the Academy to be sound financially.

Bottom line is the request sounds simple and from a mathematical perspective and it really is. Unfortunately, once you scratch this surface, it is easy to see that the Corporate Sponsorship issue becomes quite complicated quickly.

Sorry for the long email. I will look at the "high-level" impact of eliminating Sponsorship for the Committee. From there, your guidance will necessary on how far we would like to take this issue.

Paul, Kay, Mary and Donna,

I didn't want to send this to everyone on FAC, but I am wondering if the following question from a member in MN could be answered/ calculated in some way..... This is what the member asked- can it be done?

1. If the faction that wants zero - zippo - nadda corporate sponsorship has it their way then what will each of us need to pay in extra annual dues to cover the costs of what corporate money pays for? I suspect this impacts DPG dues also as they use corporate money. What services / benefits will go away? In other words what does an organization look like when it has no sponsorship. Someone needs to run the numbers and this is important for people to see and understand as they make their decisions to stay with AND or jump ship (which many are threatening to do).

2. If the foundation gets significant funding from sponsorship – same thing what does it look like without that money coming in.

Thanks for all you do!

All,

I hope everyone is enjoying the warmth that is beginning to inch its way into our lives. When I was a kid, we had a newscaster that always talked about the “greening of America”. He used to show a line where the plants and trees would begin to spring to life. I patiently waited for the line to get closer to my home in Detroit!! I don’t know why I always enjoyed that reference. Maybe it was the anticipation of Spring and the warm weather!!! Since we just passed St. Patrick’s Day, I thought that would be a nice anecdote. We haven’t yet experience any “greening” in Chicago (except the river of course), but I hope wherever you are that you are beginning to see the signs of spring.

As all of you know, we have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, March 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. The focus of our call will be on the following;

1. January final financial results
2. February preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Cash

I. January Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary January results.

II. Investments

The ride our investments has taken continues. As I mentioned last month, the market was growing quite well when we met in February. I am happy to say that our combined portfolios gained nearly $2,259,000!! We recouped the losses from January and added to our upward climb. Year to date, the combined portfolios have gained over $3,353,000. This is $1,620,300 more than our budget. So, needless to say, with these kind of results, February should be a very good month for everyone.

March has not been too bad for our portfolios. Through yesterday, March 18th, the combined portfolios have gained an additional $287,000. This is roughly 0.50%. Even though the markets are mixed (Dow down, NASDAQ up, etc) today, we are at least facing the last week or so of investing in March on a firm foundation of gains. The markets liked what the Federal Reserve Chairwoman said yesterday. So, hopefully, the impact of the impending interest rate hikes would not have a major impact on the markets.

III. Academy preliminary February Financials (A10)

The results for the Academy will continue the pattern we have seen throughout the year; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $363,431. This was $15,365 higher (worse) than the budget. This isn't too bad considering the revenue missed expectations by $111,284. I will provide some details below. The great news is, due to the investment returns of over $729K, the Academy had Net Income of $365,920 for the month of February. This was $601,501 higher (better) than the budget. So, a very good overall month!!

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $1,961,463 through February. This is $395,699 smaller (better) than the budget. This variance went down $15K since January. However, it is great news to have the Operating results be this much better than the budget with all of the revenue shortfalls we have experienced. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.33M in income. This is $319,810 higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $628,298. This is $715,510 smaller (better) than the budget. We may not have reached this point in an optimal manner, but, to have our Net Deficit be less than 50% of our budget, through three quarters of the fiscal year, is very good news.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is under budget by $5,740 in February and is under budget by $181 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) offset by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $2.1K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $9,729 in February and is under budget by $429,830 for the year. The under-run February is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.

c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $26,614 in February and is under budget by $87,160 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $9.7K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), lower PR sales (Down $6.2K) and lower List Rental (down $6.2K).

d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $43,971 in February and is under budget by $263,317 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $44.3K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.4K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.2K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).

e. Advertising – This area is over budget by $1,699 in February and under budget by $8,692 for the year. The over-run in February is entirely due to higher advertising sales for Food and Nutrition Magazine.

f. All grants - This area is under budget by $20,201 in February and is under budget by $22,756 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Guides for Practice (down $10K), lower grants for Research (down $9.4K) and lower ConAgra (down $1.6K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition project (up $0.8K).

g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $2,140 in February and is under budget by $50,749 for the year. This is not as low in February as we originally thought. We re-evaluate this each month. Since we have received unbudgeted agreements for the Nutrition News Forecast, we are adjusting our expected under-run for the year.

h. Other – This area was under budget by $4,590 in February and is over budget by $99,996 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program.

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $24,584 in February and is under budget by $152,653 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $701 in February and is under budget by $96,657 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $3.0K), and lower Eatright Store (Down $1.7K). This is offset by higher Journal (up $2.2K), higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $1.3K) and higher across all other projects (up $0.5K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $29,960 in February and is under budget by $182,245 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Research (down $10.5K), lower IT/web (down $5.3K), lower Journal (down $6.0K), lower Corporate Relations (down $13.3K), lower Public Relations (down $6.2K) and lower Carry the Flame (down $2.3K). All,

A few years ago, we did look at this from an Academy perspective. At that time, it was roughly $50 per member. Please don't use that number (it is an old number). The key is how would it be distributed across all of the member categories. We would not increase the students by $50 when they are currently paying $50. We did not look at that impact to the Foundation, DPGS or MIGS.

That being said, the decline in sponsorships over the past few years would reduce that impact significantly. Developing the impact from sponsorship really is quite simple. What gets complicated is where the line is drawn. Do we stop taking Corporate money entirely? If so, does that mean we don't have an exhibit hall at FNCE? What about advertisements within the Journal and Food and Nutrition Magazine? Do we eliminate that as well? How about funding for Research? We currently have the Home Food Safety website, funded by ConAgra. Should we eliminate this money as well? As you can see, this becomes an issue that becomes quite complicated.

To make the situation even more difficult is the control over the DPGS/MIGs as well as the Affiliates. We think we control the DPGS/MIGS. I will tell you this is not the case. We work with them, but, they can be very passionate about what they want. I have heard many times that "we will just go ahead and do it" from the leaders of various DPGs on a myriad of issues. In addition, we don't have any control over the Affiliates. If we shut down Corporate Sponsorships but they do not, we will still be implicated. We all may remember that the California Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics had McDonald's as one of their Corporate Sponsors at their annual meeting. Now, the great thing is California will not have McDonalds this year because of the uproar from members. So, the process works.

I don't believe eliminating Sponsorship or Corporate money is the answer. Most, if not all, Non-profits take Corporate money. The issue might be the companies that are attracted to the program. I think, given the push back from the Kraft situation, we may see companies begin to drift away at a faster pace.

As Donna pointed out in her e-mail, the decline in Sponsorship has contributed to the Academy's deficits. Also, we have to recognize that increasing the Membership Dues might have the opposite effect we would like; higher Membership Dues could result in members choosing to not renew. Which could result in lower Membership Dues overall. It becomes a "death spiral".

Even if members would support a Dues increase of $50 (lets hold this for argument's sake), the likelihood that they will pay the additional amount is questionable. It is one thing to say and another thing to do. We already hear that our Membership Dues are too high. In addition, if DPGS/MIGs can't get Corporate money, they would have to increase their Dues. So, it could be very damaging to some of the DPGS/MIGS as well. Again, a downward spiral.

I think their needs to be a balanced response to the Academy's needs that takes into consideration all revenue sources as well as the programs and services funded by these sources. Our revenue, in FY15, is projected to decline when compared to FY14. We can't continue to fund programs at the level our members have become accustomed if we don't have new, growing, revenue streams. So, we have to be diligent to stay fiscally responsible and fund initiatives that generate a return, either directly or indirectly. Sometimes this might mean we can't support programs our members think are critical. This can include investments. They are there to be used. However, we can't continue large deficits and expect the Academy to be sound financially.

Bottom line is the request sounds simple and from a mathematical perspective and it really is. Unfortunately, once you scratch this surface, it is easy to see that the Corporate Sponsorship issue becomes quite complicated quickly.

Sorry for the long email. I will look at the "high-level" impact of eliminating Sponsorship for the Committee. From there, your guidance will necessary on how far we would like to take this issue.

Paul, Kay, Mary and Donna,

I didn't want to send this to everyone on FAC, but I am wondering if the following question from a member in MN could be answered/ calculated in some way..... This is what the member asked- can it be done?

1. If the faction that wants zero - zip - nadda corporate sponsorship has it their way then what will each of us need to pay in extra annual dues to cover the costs of what corporate money pays for? I suspect this impacts DPG dues also as they use corporate money. What services / benefits will go away? In other words what does an organization look like when it has no sponsorship. Someone needs to run the numbers and this is important for people to see and understand as they make their decisions to stay with AND or jump ship (which many are threatening to do).
2. If the foundation gets significant funding from sponsorship - same thing what does it look like without that money coming in.

Thanks for all you do!

All,

I hope everyone is enjoying the warmth that is beginning to inch its way into our lives. When I was a kid, we had a newscaster that always talked about the "greening of America". He used to show a line where the plants and trees would begin to spring to life. I patiently waited for the line to get closer to my home in Detroit!! I don't know why I always enjoyed that reference. Maybe it was the anticipation of Spring and the warm weather!!! Since we just passed St. Patrick's Day, I thought that would be a nice anecdote. We haven't yet experience any "greening" in Chicago (except the river of course), but I hope wherever you are that you are beginning to see the signs of spring.

As all of you know, we have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, March 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. The focus of our call will be on the following;

1. January final financial results
2. February preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Cash

I. January Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary January results.

II. Investments

The ride our investments has taken continues. As I mentioned last month, the market was growing quite well when we met in February. I am happy to say that our combined portfolios gained nearly $2,259,000!! We recouped the losses from January and added to our upward climb. Year to date, the combined portfolios have gained over $3,353,000. This is $1,620,300 more than our budget. So, needless to say, with these kind of results, February should be a very good month for everyone.

March has not been too bad for our portfolios. Through yesterday, March 18th, the combined portfolios have gained an additional $287,000. This is roughly 0.50%. Even though the markets are mixed (Dow down, NASDAQ up, etc) today, we are at least facing the last week or so of investing in March on a firm foundation of gains. The markets liked what the Federal Reserve Chairwoman said yesterday. So, hopefully, the impact of the impending interest rate hikes would not have a major impact on the markets.

III. Academy preliminary February Financials (A10)

The results for the Academy will continue the pattern we have seen throughout the year; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $363,431. This was $15,365 higher (worse) than the budget. This isn't too bad considering the revenue missed expectations by $111,284. I will provide some details below. The great news is, due to the investment returns of over $729K, the Academy had Net Income of $365,920 for the month of February. This was $601,501 higher (better) than the budget. So, a very good overall month!!

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $1,961,463 through February. This is $395,699 smaller (better) than the budget. This variance went down $15K since January. However, it is great news to have the Operating results be this much better than the budget with all of the revenue shortfalls we have experienced. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.33M in income. This is $319,810 higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $628,298. This is $715,510 smaller (better) than the budget. We may not have reached this point in an optimal manner, but, to have our Net Deficit be less than 50% of our budget, through three quarters of the fiscal year, is very good news.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is under budget by $5,740 in February and is under budget by $181 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) offset by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $2.1K).
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $9,729 in February and is under budget by $429,830 for the year. The under-run February is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $26,614 in February and is under budget by $87,160 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $9.7K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), lower PR sales (Down $6.2K) and lower List Rental (down $6.2K).
- d. Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $43,971 in February and is under budget by $263,317 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $44.3K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.4K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.2K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).
- e. Advertising - This area is over budget by $1,699 in February and under budget by $8,692 for the year. The over-run in February is entirely due to higher advertising sales for Food and Nutrition Magazine.
- f. All grants - This area is under budget by $20,201 in February and is under budget by $22,756 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Guides for Practice (down $10K), lower grants for Research (down $9.4K) and lower ConAgra (down $1.6K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition project (up $0.8K).
- g. Sponsorships - This area is under budget by $2,140 in February and is under budget by $50,749 for the year. This is not as low in February as we originally thought. We re-evaluate this each month. Since we have received unbudgeted agreements for the Nutrition News Forecast, we are adjusting our expected under-run for the year.
- h. Other - This area was under budget by $4,590 in February and is over budget by $99,996 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program.

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel - This area is under budget by $24,584 in February and is under budget by $152,653 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.
- b. Publications - This area is under budget by $701 in February and is under budget by $96,657 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $3.0K), and lower Eatright Store (Down $1.7K). This is offset by higher Journal (up $2.2K), higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $1.3K) and higher across all other projects (up $0.5K).
- c. Travel - This area is under budget by $51,050 in February and is under budget by $307,491 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Research projects (down $61.8K) which included lower Abbott Malnutrition project expenses (down $53.4K), lower Informatics (down

$3.8K), lower Public Policy (down $3.2K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K). This is offset by higher Marketing (up $2.8K), higher Governance (up $5.4K) and higher FNCE expense reimbursements (up $9.8K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $29,960 in February and is under budget by $182,245 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Research (down $10.5K), lower IT/web (down $5.3K), lower Journal (down $6.0K), lower Corporate Relations (down $13.3K), lower Public Relations (down $6.2K) and lower Carry the Flame (down $2.3K). This is offset by higher FNCE (up $10.3K), higher Public Policy (up $2.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.1K). The FNCE over-run is due to the accounting reclassification addressed above.

e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $2,352 in February and is under budget by $88,448 for the year. The under-run for February is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $8.4K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K). This is offset by higher Member Services (down $1.9K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $4.7K).

f. Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is under budget by $3,460 in February and is under budget by $16,930 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower copy supplies (down $1.6K), lower Public Policy (down $0.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.2K).

g. Rent and utilities - This area is over budget by $13 in February and is under budget by $62,089 for the year. The over-run in February is due to higher maintenance costs associated with work done in Chicago (up $1.7K) offset by lower costs within our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K).

h. Telephone and communications - This is over budget by $1,039 in February and is under budget by $2,764 for the year. The over-run in February is primarily due to the accounting reclassification for FNCE related costs.

i. Commissions - This area is over budget by $340 in February and is over budget by $1,151 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. Since Advertising revenue was higher in February, the commission expense was higher in February

j. Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $5,061 in February and is under budget by $51,685 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower web hosting costs. This could be an issue with a missing bill and will be re-evaluated before going final.

k. Advertising and Promotion - This area is over budget by $1,989 in February and is under budget by $43,796 for the year. The over-run in February is primarily due to NCM marketing materials.

l. Insurance - This area is under budget by $534 in February and is under budget by $7,133 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.

m. Depreciation - This area is under budget by $2,372 in February and is over budget by $253 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in February and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

- n. Bank and trust fees - This area is over budget by $1,716 in February and is over budget by $11,611 for the year. The over-run in February is due to higher credit cards fees.
- o. Other - This area is over budget by $30,092 in February and under budget $49,120 for the year. The majority of the over-run in February is due to two items; the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize for Quality Management (down $13.8K) and FNCE accounting reclassifications (up $16.0K). There are additional minor changes in other areas, but, it amounts to approximately $0.3K. The FNCE reclassifications are shifts between categories as the accounting team "cleans" up the books at the quarter close.
- p. Expense allocation - This area is unfavorable to budget by $6,979 in February and is unfavorable to budget by $51,655 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the "normal" expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.
- q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $20,469 in February and is under budget by $160,459 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to accounting reclassification's of FNCE related costs (down $29.3K), lower Professional Development (down $1.0K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.0K). This is offset by higher Quality Management (up $10.8K).
- r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $230 in February and is under budget by $15,804 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower legal expenses.
- s. Printing - This area is over budget by $2,688 in February and is over budget by $14,482 for the year. The over-run in February is due higher Office Services costs (up $1.7K) and higher across all other areas of the business (up $1.0K).

Overall, a good month for the Academy. We are still experiencing the under-runs in revenue. These will continue. However, the staff is dedicated to reducing expenses wherever possible. We are now rounding the final corner and heading towards home. It is good to do so with both an Operating deficit and Net Deficit smaller than the budget.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will have been out of the office this week. So, either Christian or I will get everything posted to the portal (I hope!). In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

- g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $2,140 in February and is under budget by $50,749 for the year. This is not as low in February as we originally thought. We re-evaluate this each month. Since we have received unbudgeted agreements for the Nutrition News Forecast, we are adjusting our expected under-run for the year.
- h. Other – This area was under budget by $4,590 in February and is over budget by $99,996 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program.

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $24,584 in February and is under budget by $152,653 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

- b. Publications – This area is under budget by $701 in February and is under budget by $96,657 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $3.0K), and lower Eatright Store (Down $1.7K). This is offset by higher Journal (up $2.2K), higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $1.3K) and higher across all other projects (up $0.5K).
- c. Travel – This area is under budget by $51,050 in February and is under budget by $307,491 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Research projects (down $61.8K) which included lower Abbott Malnutrition project expenses (down $53.4K), lower Informatics (down $3.8K), lower Public Policy (down $3.2K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K). This is offset by higher Marketing (up $2.8K), higher Governance (up $5.4K) and higher FNCE expense reimbursements (up $9.8K).
- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $29,960 in February and is under budget by $182,245 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Research (down $10.5K), lower IT/web (down $5.3K), lower Journal (down $6.0K), lower Corporate Relations (down $13.3K), lower Public Relations (down $6.2K) and lower Carry the Flame (down $2.3K). This is offset by higher FNCE (up $10.3K), higher Public Policy (up $2.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.1K). The FNCE over-run is due to the accounting reclassification addressed above.
- e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $2,352 in February and is under budget by $88,448 for the year. The under-run for February is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $8.4K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K). This is offset by higher Member Services (down $1.9K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $4.7K).
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $3,460 in February and is under budget by $16,930 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower copy supplies (down $1.6K), lower Public Policy (down $0.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.2K).
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is over budget by $13 in February and is under budget by $62,089 for the year. The over-run in February is due to higher maintenance costs associated with work done in Chicago (up $1.7K) offset by lower costs within our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K).
- h. Telephone and communications – This is over budget by $1,039 in February and is under budget by $2,764 for the year. The over-run in February is primarily due to the accounting reclassification for FNCE related costs.
- i. Commissions – This area is over budget by $340 in February and is over budget by $1,151 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine’s advertising sales. Since Advertising revenue was higher in February, the commission expense was higher in February

- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $5,061 in February and is under budget by $51,685 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower web hosting costs. This could be an issue with a missing bill and will be re-evaluated before going final.
- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is over budget by $1,989 in February and is under budget by $43,796 for the year. The over-run in February is primarily due to NCM marketing materials.
- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in February and is under budget by $7,133 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation – This area is under budget by $2,372 in February and is over budget by $253 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in February and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.
- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is over budget by $1,716 in February and is over budget by $11,611 for the year. The over-run in February is due to higher credit cards fees.
- o. Other – This area is over budget by $30,092 in February and under budget $49,120 for the year. The majority of the over-run in February is due to two items; the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize for Quality Management (down $13.8K) and FNCE accounting reclassifications (up $16.0K). There are additional minor changes in other areas, but, it amounts to approximately $0.3K. The FNCE reclassifications are shifts between categories as the accounting team “cleans” up the books at the quarter close.
- p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $6,979 in February and is unfavorable to budget by $51,655 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $20,469 in February and is under budget by $160,459 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to accounting reclassification’s of FNCE related costs (down $29.3K), lower Professional Development (down $1.0K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.0K). This is offset by higher Quality Management (up $10.8K).

- r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $230 in February and is under budget by $15,804 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower legal expenses.
- s. Printing – This area is over budget by $2,688 in February and is over budget by $14,482 for the year. The over-run in February is due higher Office Services costs (up $1.7K) and higher across all other areas of the business (up $1.0K).

Overall, a good month for the Academy. We are still experiencing the under-runs in revenue. These will continue. However, the staff is dedicated to reducing expenses wherever possible. We are now rounding the final corner and heading towards home. It is good to do so with both an Operating deficit and Net Deficit smaller than the budget.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will have been out of the office this week. So, either Christian or I will get everything posted to the portal (I hope!). In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

Donna,

Today might be tough. I am participating in the LPPC/ANDPAC meeting. Well, I called in, so, participating may be too strong. I will admit that I am not "thrilled" with the Deck. I keep thinking it is missing something. I don't know what it is. So, if you want to add something, let me know.

Wednesday afternoon would be better. Just pick a time.

Paul

Paul, I can talk to you anytime this afternoon after 1 pm EST and I have all day on Wednesday from 8-4:30 pm EST. Let me know what works for you? I have looked at the deck and the only immediate change I have is to delete the Dr. in front of Kay Wolf's name to keep it consistent with the other Dr.'s on the committee.

Thanks Donna,

Given that our spring HOD meeting will happen right after the FAC meeting (I believe I don't go home but stay on for a few more days after FAC), I am anticipating that this info will be requested by delegates.

We will likely need this relatively soon, discuss in April will be GREAT! The request may be an outcome of the HOD discussion (that the HOD ask the FAC to come up with this figure/figures).

You are always ahead of the game!

Paul, Kay, Mary and Donna,

I didn't want to send this to everyone on FAC, but I am wondering if the following question from a member in MN could be answered/ calculated in some way..... This is what the member asked- can it be done?

1. If the faction that wants zero - zippo - nadda corporate sponsorship has it their way then what will each of us need to pay in extra annual dues to cover the costs of what corporate money pays for? I suspect this impacts DPG dues also as they use corporate money. What services / benefits will go away? In other words what does an organization look like when it has no sponsorship. Someone needs to run the numbers and this is important for people to see and understand as they make their decisions to stay with AND or jump ship (which many are threatening to do).

2. If the foundation gets significant funding from sponsorship – same thing what does it look like without that money coming in.

Thanks for all you do!

All,

I hope everyone is enjoying the warmth that is beginning to inch its way into our lives. When I was a kid, we had a newscaster that always talked about the “greening of America”. He used to show a line where the plants and trees would begin to spring to life. I patiently waited for the line to get closer to my home in Detroit!! I don’t know why I always enjoyed that reference. Maybe it was the anticipation of Spring and the warm weather!!! Since we just passed St. Patrick’s Day, I thought that would be a nice anecdote. We haven’t yet experience any “greening” in Chicago (except the river of course), but I hope wherever you are that you are beginning to see the signs of spring.

As all of you know, we have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, March 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. The focus of our call will be on the following;

1. January final financial results
2. February preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Cash

I. January Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary January results.

II. Investments

The ride our investments has taken continues. As I mentioned last month, the market was growing quite well when we met in February. I am happy to say that our combined portfolios gained nearly $2,259,000!! We recouped the losses from January and added to our upward climb. Year to date, the combined portfolios have gained over $3,353,000. This is $1,620,300 more than our budget. So, needless to say, with these kind of results, February should be a very good month for everyone.

March has not been too bad for our portfolios. Through yesterday, March 18th, the combined portfolios have gained an additional $287,000. This is roughly 0.50%. Even though the markets are mixed (Dow down, NASDAQ up, etc) today, we are at least facing the last week or so of investing in March on a firm foundation of gains. The markets liked what the Federal Reserve Chairwoman said yesterday. So, hopefully, the impact of the impending interest rate hikes would not have a major impact on the markets.

III. Academy preliminary February Financials (A10)

The results for the Academy will continue the pattern we have seen throughout the year; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $363,431. This was $15,365 higher (worse) than the budget. This isn't too bad considering the revenue missed expectations by $111,284. I will provide some details below. The great news is, due to the investment returns of over $729K, the Academy had Net Income of $365,920 for the month of February. This was $601,501 higher (better) than the budget. So, a very good overall month!!

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $1,961,463 through February. This is $395,699 smaller (better) than the budget. This variance went down $15K since January. However, it is great news to have the Operating results be this much better than the budget with all of the revenue shortfalls we have experienced. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.33M in income. This is $319,810 higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $628,298. This is $715,510 smaller (better) than the budget. We may not have reached this point in an optimal manner, but, to have our Net Deficit be less than 50% of our budget, through three quarters of the fiscal year, is very good news.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is under budget by $5,740 in February and is under budget by $181 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) offset by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $2.1K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $9,729 in February and is under budget by $429,830 for the year. The under-run February is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.

c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $26,614 in February and is under budget by $87,160 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $9.7K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), lower PR sales (Down $6.2K) and lower List Rental (down $6.2K).

d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $43,971 in February and is under budget by $263,317 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $44.3K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.4K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.2K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).

e. Advertising – This area is over budget by $1,699 in February and under budget by $8,692 for the year. The over-run in February is entirely due to higher advertising sales for Food and Nutrition Magazine.

f. All grants - This area is under budget by $20,201 in February and is under budget by $22,756 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Guides for Practice (down $10K), lower grants for Research (down $9.4K) and lower ConAgra (down $1.6K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition project (up $0.8K).

g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $2,140 in February and is under budget by $50,749 for the year. This is not as low in February as we originally thought. We re-evaluate this each month. Since we have received unbudgeted agreements for the Nutrition News Forecast, we are adjusting our expected under-run for the year.

h. Other – This area was under budget by $4,590 in February and is over budget by $99,996 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program.

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $24,584 in February and is under budget by $152,653 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $701 in February and is under budget by $96,657 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $3.0K), and lower Eatright Store (Down $1.7K). This is offset by higher Journal (up $2.2K), higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $1.3K) and higher across all other projects (up $0.5K).

This is offset by higher Marketing (up $2.8K), higher Governance (up $5.4K) and higher FNCE expense reimbursements (up $9.8K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $29,960 in February and is under budget by $182,245 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Research (down $10.5K), lower IT/web (down $5.3K), lower Journal (down $6.0K), lower Corporate Relations (down $13.3K), lower Public Relations (down $6.2K) and lower Carry the Flame (down $2.3K). This is offset by higher FNCE (up $10.3K), higher Public Policy (up $2.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.1K). The FNCE over-run is due to the accounting reclassification addressed above.

e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $2,352 in February and is under budget by $88,448 for the year. The under-run for February is being driven by lower Traditional Aida, You raise a very important point and one that I can assure you that Paul and other members of the FAC have discussed in the past. I think it will be an important one to look at when we look at our FY16 budget at our F2F meeting in April. The decrease in sponsorship has already had a huge impact on our budget and is one reason we have had a deficit budget this year. It will probably be something that Kay will be addressing in the fall when she does her financial presentation to the HOD. Paul, Kay, Mary and Donna,

I didn't want to send this to everyone on FAC, but I am wondering if the following question from a member in MN could be answered/ calculated in some way..... This is what the member asked- can it be done?

1.If the faction that wants zero - zipo - nadda corporate sponsorship has it their way then what will each of us need to pay in extra annual dues to cover the costs of what corporate money pays for? I suspect this impacts DPG dues also as they use corporate money. What services / benefits will go away? In other words what does an organization look like when it has no sponsorship. Someone needs to run the numbers and this is important for people to see and understand as they make their decisions to stay with AND or jump ship (which many are threatening to do).

2.If the foundation gets significant funding from sponsorship - same thing what does it look like without that money coming in.

Thanks for all you do!

All,

I hope everyone is enjoying the warmth that is beginning to inch its way into our lives. When I was a kid, we had a newscaster that always talked about the "greening of America". He used to show a line where the plants and trees would begin to spring to life. I patiently waited for the line to get closer to my home in Detroit!! I don't know why I always enjoyed that reference. Maybe it was the anticipation of Spring and the warm weather!!! Since we just passed St. Patrick's Day, I thought that would be a nice anecdote. We haven't yet experience any "greening" in Chicago (except the river of course), but I hope wherever you are that you are beginning to see the signs of spring.

As all of you know, we have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, March 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. The focus of our call will be on the following;

- 1.January final financial results
- 2.February preliminary results

3. Budget update

4. Cash

I. January Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary January results.

II. Investments

The ride our investments has taken continues. As I mentioned last month, the market was growing quite well when we met in February. I am happy to say that our combined portfolios gained nearly $2,259,000!! We recouped the losses from January and added to our upward climb. Year to date, the combined portfolios have gained over $3,353,000. This is $1,620,300 more than our budget. So, needless to say, with these kind of results, February should be a very good month for everyone.

March has not been too bad for our portfolios. Through yesterday, March 18th, the combined portfolios have gained an additional $287,000. This is roughly 0.50%. Even though the markets are mixed (Dow down, NASDAQ up, etc) today, we are at least facing the last week or so of investing in March on a firm foundation of gains. The markets liked what the Federal Reserve Chairwoman said yesterday. So, hopefully, the impact of the impending interest rate hikes would not have a major impact on the markets.

III. Academy preliminary February Financials (A10)

The results for the Academy will continue the pattern we have seen throughout the year; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $363,431. This was $15,365 higher (worse) than the budget. This isn't too bad considering the revenue missed expectations by $111,284. I will provide some details below. The great news is, due to the investment returns of over $729K, the Academy had Net Income of $365,920 for the month of February. This was $601,501 higher (better) than the budget. So, a very good overall month!!

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $1,961,463 through February. This is $395,699 smaller (better) than the budget. This variance went down $15K since January. However, it is great news to have the Operating results be this much better than the budget with all of the revenue shortfalls we have experienced. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.33M in income. This is $319,810 higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $628,298. This is $715,510 smaller (better) than the budget. We may not have reached this point in an optimal manner, but, to have our Net Deficit be less than 50% of our budget, through three quarters of the fiscal year, is very good news.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A.Revenues

a.Membership Dues - This area is under budget by $5,740 in February and is under budget by $181 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) offset by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $2.1K).

b.Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $9,729 in February and is under budget by $429,830 for the year. The under-run February is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.

c.Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $26,614 in February and is under budget by $87,160 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $9.7K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), lower PR sales (Down $6.2K) and lower List Rental (down $6.2K).

d.Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $43,971 in February and is under budget by $263,317 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $44.3K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.4K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.2K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).

e.Advertising - This area is over budget by $1,699 in February and under budget by $8,692 for the year. The over-run in February is entirely due to higher advertising sales for Food and Nutrition Magazine.

f.All grants - This area is under budget by $20,201 in February and is under budget by $22,756 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Guides for Practice (down $10K), lower grants for Research (down $9.4K) and lower ConAgra (down $1.6K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition project (up $0.8K).

g.Sponsorships - This area is under budget by $2,140 in February and is under budget by $50,749 for the year. This is not as low in February as we originally thought. We re-evaluate this each month. Since we have received unbudgeted agreements for the Nutrition News Forecast, we are adjusting our expected under-run for the year.

h.Other - This area was under budget by $4,590 in February and is over budget by $99,996 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program.

B.Expenses

a.Personnel - This area is under budget by $24,584 in February and is under budget by $152,653 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b.Publications - This area is under budget by $701 in February and is under budget by $96,657 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down

$3.0K), and lower Eatright Store (Down $1.7K). This is offset by higher Journal (up $2.2K), higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $1.3K) and higher across all other projects (up $0.5K).

c.Travel - This area is under budget by $51,050 in February and is under budget by $307,491 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Research projects (down $61.8K) which included lower Abbott Malnutrition project expenses (down $53.4K), lower Informatics (down $3.8K), lower Public Policy (down $3.2K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K). This is offset by higher Marketing (up $2.8K), higher Governance (up $5.4K) and higher FNCE expense reimbursements (up $9.8K).

d.Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $29,960 in February and is under budget by $182,245 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Research (down $10.5K), lower IT/web (down $5.3K), lower Journal (down $6.0K), lower Corporate Relations (down $13.3K), lower Public Relations (down $6.2K) and lower Carry the Flame (down $2.3K). This is offset by higher FNCE (up $10.3K), higher Public Policy (up $2.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.1K). The FNCE over-run is due to the accounting reclassification addressed above.

e.Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $2,352 in February and is under budget by $88,448 for the year. The under-run for February is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $8.4K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K). This is offset by higher Member Services (down $1.9K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $4.7K).

f.Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is under budget by $3,460 in February and is under budget by $16,930 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower copy supplies (down $1.6K), lower Public Policy (down $0.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.2K).

g.Rent and utilities - This area is over budget by $13 in February and is under budget by $62,089 for the year. The over-run in February is due to higher maintenance costs associated with work done in Chicago (up $1.7K) offset by lower costs within our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K).

h.Telephone and communications - This is over budget by $1,039 in February and is under budget by $2,764 for the year. The over-run in February is primarily due to the accounting reclassification for FNCE related costs.

i.Commissions - This area is over budget by $340 in February and is over budget by $1,151 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. Since Advertising revenue was higher in February, the commission expense was higher in February

j.Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $5,061 in February and is under budget by $51,685 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower web hosting costs. This could be an issue with a missing bill and will be re-evaluated before going final.

k.Advertising and Promotion - This area is over budget by $1,989 in February and is under budget by $43,796 for the year. The over-run in February is primarily due to NCM marketing materials.

l.Insurance - This area is under budget by $534 in February and is under budget by $7,133 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.

m.Depreciation - This area is under budget by $2,372 in February and is over budget by $253 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in February and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

n.Bank and trust fees - This area is over budget by $1,716 in February and is over budget by $11,611 for the year. The over-run in February is due to higher credit cards fees.

o.Other - This area is over budget by $30,092 in February and under budget $49,120 for the year. The majority of the over-run in February is due to two items; the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize for Quality Management (down $13.8K) and FNCE accounting reclassifications (up $16.0K). There are additional minor changes in other areas, but, it amounts to approximately $0.3K. The FNCE reclassifications are shifts between categories as the accounting team "cleans" up the books at the quarter close.

p.Expense allocation - This area is unfavorable to budget by $6,979 in February and is unfavorable to budget by $51,655 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the "normal" expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q.Meeting services - This area is under budget by $20,469 in February and is under budget by $160,459 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to accounting reclassification's of FNCE related costs (down $29.3K), lower Professional Development (down $1.0K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.0K). This is offset by higher Quality Management (up $10.8K).

r.Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $230 in February and is under budget by $15,804 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower legal expenses.

s.Printing - This area is over budget by $2,688 in February and is over budget by $14,482 for the year. The over-run in February is due higher Office Services costs (up $1.7K) and higher across all other areas of the business (up $1.0K).

Overall, a good month for the Academy. We are still experiencing the under-runs in revenue. These will continue. However, the staff is dedicated to reducing expenses wherever possible. We are now rounding the final corner and heading towards home. It is good to do so with both an Operating deficit and Net Deficit smaller than the budget.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will have been out of the office this week. So, either Christian or I will get everything posted to the portal (I hope!). In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

Hello!

Attached are the final recommendations developed by our extraordinarily well-versed member experts for the Child Nutrition Reauthorization Act. As you know we are still implementing the 2010 Healthy Hunger Free Kids Act and already gearing up for the next reauthorization which has made this project even more challenging.

Child Nutrition is a broad piece of legislation that includes school meals, farm to school, WIC and several other programs. These programs employ many members who are leaders in this area. Our workgroup had representatives in all the programs covered which led to a final quality product of recommendations. We will use both the executive summary and expanded document in developing our messages.

I would also like to give kudos to the workgroup and the time and efforts that they provided.

Also Jenn Folliard was terrific as the staff liaison with this group keeping them on track and focused.

As always your questions are welcome!

Donna thank you for the support. Your question regarding the number of actual members who have signed that petition is a good one. We are going to have our research guru (Will) run the same check did he did on the last petition against us. I will let you know how that plays out. Keep the faith as we work to pull this one out of the ashes!

Terri, Thanks for helping those of us who are trying to cope with the disappointment over "cheese gate". As I talked to Registered Dietitian Nutritionists, in person, I never found one who was opposed to the work we were doing with Kraft. I think it depends a lot on how people were approached about the project. I truly wonder how many of the signatures on "repeal the seal" were our members, or better yet, how many were RDN's? All School Nutrition Programs in the country use American Singles, probably daily. It is a USDA commodity product that we all get and use. For people to state that it is not allowed in the WIC program or in the School Lunch Program shows their ignorance. I wish I had been able to stay on the Foundation/BOD call long enough to share those thoughts (in a far nicer manner). I am still very proud of the Foundation and the Academy in what lengths we are going to in an effort to fulfill our vision and mission. I am disappointed in some of my fellow RDN's in their ability to not see the benefits of this project. The Foundation members and BOD members who have written in support of this project have made me feel a lot better. You never want to be the lone wolf crying in the wilderness.

As I have stated before, the Academy has incredible leadership and I will stand by Pat and Mary Beth, in whatever we have to do, to get us back on track and out of this spotlight that is not focusing on our true mission. Thanks for your leadership and for reaching out to me to double check on how American singles fit into schools lunch. I can tell you that in Burke County, they fit into the lunch everyday single day that we are privileged to serve children.

Thank you. I know you care deeply about the Academy and the Foundation. We will survive this because the good work of the Foundation needs to continue. You are not seeing all the emails of support. I will collect them and share them with you. They don't outnumber the activists, or even come close, but they do show that there are people out there who understand and appreciate the

We will work on a message to Foundation donors and friends next week as things hopefully begin to move forward.

Subject: Cheese Grief

Hello All,

I find myself going through the stages of grief over "Cheese". Yesterday was anger, (well there is still some today), but I wanted to argue the point about schools and WIC using American Cheese. I talked with Donna and then contacted Sonja and told her that I would find the original information provided the board. Found the information back in the archives but wisely Mary Beth had only focused on Kraft Singles so I shared the information but pulled in my argument. And then I recognized that arguing among ourselves at this time is pointless and nonproductive. To that point I thanked both boards for their ability to be respectful and fair.

As I write this I realize that we are only beginning to hear the fall out. There are tales of sponsors canceling webinars, support, etc and places like California canceling sponsorship. I am sure you have all heard the same things.

Someday when time has passed and we get past "Cheese Gate" I hope that we can use the wonderful webinar from Kraft or some version of it to educate our members and customers about the product. I am sure the same should be done for GMO's. We all have so much to learn!

Thank you for all your hard work and support!

Terri

My message to Sonja:

Hi Sonja,

I hope your dinner party is a huge success and fun. Look at this on Monday! Give yourself time to recover from all the turmoil!

After review I think I had better fall back in line and not become defensive. Yes, I would love to argue the point that American Cheese is used widely across the country but Kraft Singles is what this whole issue is about. Per the KER report to both our board and Academy board Mary Beth wisely chose to only talk about Kraft singles. (See Below^{})

Technically Tracey is absolutely correct. Kraft Singles, per se, are not used in the WIC or school lunch.

Remember Don saying we need to be where our clients exist.... maybe sometime in the future when we are not quite so perfect we can find out way there!

The results of this fiasco will be far-reaching and damaging to all of us. I may be angry today but feel terrible that this ever happened!

Thanks for your support and patience!

Terri

This is an excerpt of what Mary Beth sent to both boards:

School Meals

The weekly menus for the school meals program, which is based on the Dietary Guidelines for Americans and the Institute of Medicine, have nutritional requirements for macro and micro nutrients like fat, sodium, calories, as well as requirements for quantity and variety of certain of basic food groups. The requirement for weekly school meals menus is averaged and must be less than 10% of calories from saturated fat. The Kraft single provides 38% of the calories from saturated fat. The nutritional profile of a Kraft single, as a single item would not fit these guidelines, due to the saturated fat content. The Kraft single could be part of a meal if the rest of the meal components had a lower saturated fat to total calorie ratio.

The original Kraft single would not meet the guidelines for saturated fat as a single item, and are at the upper end of the sodium restriction (230mg/snack; 480mg/ a la carte entrée item), but the reduced fat Kraft Single would meet the Smart Snack Guidelines as a snack or entree.

WIC

Although it can vary from state to state, most states do not allow Kraft Singles as part of the food package. Decisions are based cost as well as nutrient contributions of the food to the diet.

Dietary Guidelines

The following are responses from both Donna (re: school lunch) and Katie (re:WIC) when Mary Beth was preparing the above document

Donna

I would like you to make one change to the KER document though. When you are talking about snacks and a la carte items (see wording below), we need to change the part that says that the Kraft reduced fat singles would not meet snack and a la carte guidelines. Kraft singles would not meet guidelines, but the reduced fat Singles would meet guidelines. I have attached the Smart Snack Calculator approval sheet that states they meet guidelines.

Snacks and items sold as a la carte line, must meet similar macro and micro nutrient profile as the meals, but are examined on a per food basis rather than averaged over a week's time. The reduced fat, and original Kraft single would not meet the guidelines for saturated fat as a single item, and are at the upper end of the sodium restriction (230mg/snack; 480mg/ a la carte entrée item).

You could just change it to say:

WIC

Hi. I spoke with a WIC RDN here in Missouri this afternoon. The WIC food package allows for the purchase of American cheese. However, the cheese must be a store brand or purchased as a block of cheese, not in individually sliced and wrapped packages, (because it is less expensive, not because of any nutritional differences). The WIC approved food package only allows for the purchase of full fat cheese, not low fat varieties. Interesting, because that is not in alignment with the USDA Dietary Guidelines, but would provide some justification for our case in using the KER logo on the Kraft version of American singles in addition to the 2% variety.

Each year the Board uses a self-assessment tool developed by BoardSource to evaluate and improve its effectiveness as a governing board. The assessment is utilized by the Board to evaluate our strengths and challenges and by the Executive Team to strengthen operational processes. The tool is also helpful in familiarizing Board members about expected responsibilities, in planning meeting agendas, and identifying topics for the Board orientation and retreat meetings.

Tomorrow you will receive the online questionnaire directly from BoardSource from their e-mail address, assessments@boardsource.org. Your individual responses are tabulated by BoardSource and are kept confidential; only aggregate results are provided. Marla Bobowick, senior governance consultant with BoardSource, will again attend our Board meeting in May to facilitate the discussion about the results.

Paul, Kay, Mary and Donna,

I didn't want to send this to everyone on FAC, but I am wondering if the following question from a member in MN could be answered/ calculated in some way..... This is what the member asked- can it be done?

- 1. If the faction that wants zero - zipo - nadda corporate sponsorship has it their way then what will each of us need to pay in extra annual dues to cover the costs of what corporate money pays for? I suspect this impacts DPG dues also as they use corporate money. What services / benefits will go away? In other words what does an organization look like when it has no sponsorship. Someone needs to run the numbers and this is important for people to see and understand as they make their decisions to stay with AND or jump ship (which many are threatening to do).*
- 2. If the foundation gets significant funding from sponsorship – same thing what does it look like without that money coming in.*

Thanks for all you do!

All,

I hope everyone is enjoying the warmth that is beginning to inch its way into our lives. When I was a kid, we had a newscaster that always talked about the “greening of America”. He used to show a line where the plants and trees would begin to spring to life. I patiently waited for the line to get closer to my home in Detroit!! I don’t know why I always enjoyed that reference. Maybe it was the anticipation of Spring and the warm weather!!! Since we just passed St. Patrick’s Day, I thought that would be a nice anecdote. We haven’t yet experience any “greening” in Chicago (except the river of course), but I hope wherever you are that you are beginning to see the signs of spring.

As all of you know, we have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, March 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. The focus of our call will be on the following;

1. January final financial results
2. February preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Cash

I. January Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary January results.

II. Investments

The ride our investments has taken continues. As I mentioned last month, the market was growing quite well when we met in February. I am happy to say that our combined portfolios gained nearly $2,259,000!! We recouped the losses from January and added to our upward climb. Year to date, the combined portfolios have gained over $3,353,000. This is $1,620,300 more than our budget. So, needless to say, with these kind of results, February should be a very good month for everyone.

March has not been too bad for our portfolios. Through yesterday, March 18th, the combined portfolios have gained an additional $287,000. This is roughly 0.50%. Even though the markets are mixed (Dow down, NASDAQ up, etc) today, we are at least facing the last week or so of investing in March on a firm foundation of gains. The markets liked what the Federal Reserve Chairwoman said yesterday. So, hopefully, the impact of the impending interest rate hikes would not have a major impact on the markets.

III. Academy preliminary February Financials (A10)

The results for the Academy will continue the pattern we have seen throughout the year; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $363,431. This was $15,365 higher (worse) than the budget. This isn't too bad considering the revenue missed expectations by $111,284. I will provide some details below. The great news is, due to the investment returns of over $729K, the Academy had Net Income of $365,920 for the month of February. This was $601,501 higher (better) than the budget. So, a very good overall month!!

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $1,961,463 through February. This is $395,699 smaller (better) than the budget. This variance went down $15K since January. However, it is great news to have the Operating results be this much better than the budget with all of the revenue shortfalls we have experienced. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.33M in income. This is $319,810 higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $628,298. This is $715,510 smaller (better) than the budget. We may not have reached this point in an optimal manner, but, to have our Net Deficit be less than 50% of our budget, through three quarters of the fiscal year, is very good news.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is under budget by $5,740 in February and is under budget by $181 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) offset by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $2.1K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $9,729 in February and is under budget by $429,830 for the year. The under-run February is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.

- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $26,614 in February and is under budget by $87,160 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $9.7K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), lower PR sales (Down $6.2K) and lower List Rental (down $6.2K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $43,971 in February and is under budget by $263,317 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $44.3K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.4K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.2K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).
- e. Advertising – This area is over budget by $1,699 in February and under budget by $8,692 for the year. The over-run in February is entirely due to higher advertising sales for Food and Nutrition Magazine.
- f. All grants - This area is under budget by $20,201 in February and is under budget by $22,756 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Guides for Practice (down $10K), lower grants for Research (down $9.4K) and lower ConAgra (down $1.6K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition project (up $0.8K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $2,140 in February and is under budget by $50,749 for the year. This is not as low in February as we originally thought. We re-evaluate this each month. Since we have received unbudgeted agreements for the Nutrition News Forecast, we are adjusting our expected under-run for the year.
- h. Other – This area was under budget by $4,590 in February and is over budget by $99,996 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program.

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $24,584 in February and is under budget by $152,653 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.
- b. Publications – This area is under budget by $701 in February and is under budget by $96,657 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $3.0K), and lower Eatright Store (Down $1.7K). This is offset by higher Journal (up $2.2K), higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $1.3K) and higher across all other projects (up $0.5K).
- c. Travel – This area is under budget by $51,050 in February and is under budget by $307,491 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Research projects (down $61.8K) which included lower Abbott Malnutrition project expenses (down $53.4K), lower Informatics (down $3.8K), lower Public Policy (down $3.2K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K). This is offset by higher Marketing (up $2.8K), higher Governance (up $5.4K) and higher FNCE expense reimbursements (up $9.8K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $29,960 in February and is under budget by $182,245 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Research (down $10.5K), lower IT/web (down $5.3K), lower Journal (down $6.0K), lower Corporate Relations (down $13.3K), lower Public Relations (down $6.2K) and lower Carry the Flame (down $2.3K). This is offset by higher FNCE (up $10.3K), higher Public Policy (up $2.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.1K). The FNCE over-run is due to the accounting reclassification addressed above.

e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $2,352 in February and is under budget by $88,448 for the year. The under-run for February is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $8.4K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K). This is offset by higher Member Services (down $1.9K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $4.7K).

f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $3,460 in February and is under budget by $16,930 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower copy supplies (down $1.6K), lower Public Policy (down $0.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.2K).

g. Rent and utilities - This area is over budget by $13 in February and is under budget by $62,089 for the year. The over-run in February is due to higher maintenance costs associated with work done in Chicago (up $1.7K) offset by lower costs within our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K).

h. Telephone and communications – This is over budget by $1,039 in February and is under budget by $2,764 for the year. The over-run in February is primarily due to the accounting reclassification for FNCE related costs.

i. Commissions – This area is over budget by $340 in February and is over budget by $1,151 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. Since Advertising revenue was higher in February, the commission expense was higher in February

j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $5,061 in February and is under budget by $51,685 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower web hosting costs. This could be an issue with a missing bill and will be re-evaluated before going final.

k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is over budget by $1,989 in February and is under budget by $43,796 for the year. The over-run in February is primarily due to NCM marketing materials.

- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in February and is under budget by $7,133 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation – This area is under budget by $2,372 in February and is over budget by $253 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in February and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.
- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is over budget by $1,716 in February and is over budget by $11,611 for the year. The over-run in February is due to higher credit cards fees.
- o. Other – This area is over budget by $30,092 in February and under budget $49,120 for the year. The majority of the over-run in February is due to two items; the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize for Quality Management (down $13.8K) and FNCE accounting reclassifications (up $16.0K). There are additional minor changes in other areas, but, it amounts to approximately $0.3K. The FNCE reclassifications are shifts between categories as the accounting team “cleans” up the books at the quarter close.
- p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $6,979 in February and is unfavorable to budget by $51,655 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $20,469 in February and is under budget by $160,459 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to accounting reclassification’s of FNCE related costs (down $29.3K), lower Professional Development (down $1.0K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.0K). This is offset by higher Quality Management (up $10.8K).
- r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $230 in February and is under budget by $15,804 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower legal expenses.
- s. Printing – This area is over budget by $2,688 in February and is over budget by $14,482 for the year. The over-run in February is due higher Office Services costs (up $1.7K) and higher across all other areas of the business (up $1.0K).

Overall, a good month for the Academy. We are still experiencing the under-runs in revenue. These will continue. However, the staff is dedicated to reducing expenses wherever possible. We are now rounding the final corner and heading towards home. It is good to do so with both an Operating deficit and Net Deficit smaller than the budget.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will have been out of the office this week. So, either Christian or I will get everything posted to the portal (I hope!). In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

Good Morning,

I would like to join Carl in the "slightly contradict" of the vote to support discontinuation of the program. I often wish that petitions requested whether an individual opposed or supported a cause. It is unclear who signed the petition, but I recognize that a great dialogue began and I support the wise counsel of Pat and Mary Beth on the need to step back.

My concern is that there is no gracious step back in this case. A partnership with industry is a positive way to reach greater numbers of people and unfortunately the support of Kraft for Kids Eat Right will now not reach the amazing number of persons we might have reached.

Don's comments also resonate with some of my secondary concerns. Dietitians and Dietetic Technicians know that many products can meet the needs of individuals. If by participating in this partnership we were perceived "endorsing" a food product, we now will be perceived to not "endorse" that food product. I hope this does not become an outcome of our next steps.

Industry partnerships are an amazing opportunity for us. We have had many mutual benefits from these relationships. Our message has been provided to many people we never would have reached otherwise. I hope that as we back away from the current partnership that we understand that many industries may be hesitant to enter a partnership. This is a promotional and financial outcome that could be detrimental for years.

I too look forward to working with each of you and for the Academy for years. We can learn from this action and will be thoughtful in our considerations as we move forward. I am sorry that so much stress has been placed on our Academy Team. I know that their jobs are difficult and as volunteers come and go, they are the ones who move forward with our decisions. My deepest respect to Pat and Mary Beth and others. I will totally support the decision to step back as it is made and will work to assist us in moving forward.

Sincerely, Kay

I want to thank all of the Academy and Foundation Staff and Board members for handling all of this with so much class.

To piggy back off of Kathy's comments I want to slightly "contradict" the vote to support discontinuation of the program.

The more peers I speak with the more I realize that the enraged individuals are few and far between. 8,000 signatures does not represent 8,000 dietitians, although their concerns still matter. I do very much appreciate that this has turned into a great platform for a dialogue about the role of corporate partnership within our profession. It seems that the unfortunate media onslaught and misinformation combined with most people not even recognizing the overarching Education Initiative created this unfortunate situation. There will always be a portion of colleagues that reject any and all relations with the Food industry, but I believe most understand the valuable role of partnerships. I hope that Kraft is responsive soon and that we can move past this with a better understanding of membership concerns and continue partnerships into the future that forward the mission of promoting evidence based nutrition and avoid these unfortunate miscommunications. There is always a silver lining!

I will be a supporter of KER for life. It is an honor to work with you all.

Pat, thanks for sending both of these notes. It may sound "two faced" for me to say this, but I agree with Kathy Warwick and with our decision. Yes, the outcry from our members did change our decision, but the definition of endorsement is and has been from the beginning, the crux of the problem for me. I think it is for many of the members who became involved in the "repeal" movement. It seems "strange" to call something an "endorsement" when it clearly says "Kraft supports KER", but because the name of KER and the Academy is there, endorsement is implied, perhaps not legally or literally, but it is there. Today I read a quote that said: "More people signed the "repeal the seal" petition than voted in the recent Academy election." I didn't check the numbers, but even if it is close to the truth, it is a very telling statistic. I will miss getting into those 80 million households, but hopefully all of this leads to some ways to have a more involved membership. Get some rest this weekend.

We are working with our legal counsel Paula Goedert to help us leverage our position with our negotiations. See my message to Paula and the email from Kathy Warwick below.

Hi Paula,

The New York Times reporter is standing by her statement that Kraft said it was "an endorsement." Kraft told us that they were requesting a retraction. Although we have asked, we have not received anything in writing to the New York Times to verify they requested a retraction of the endorsement quote. This is clearly referenced in the contract Attachment 3, page 13 paragraph 4, "All messaging will be developed and approved within the Academy's guidelines for non-endorsement, accuracy and completeness of messaging and scientific integrity. All materials within the campaign will hold final review and approval by the Academy." The subsequent media articles, quoted the Times article, and all have repeated "it's an endorsement or seal of approval." All of this misrepresentation of the Academy and our non-endorsement policy is damaging our reputation.

Per our strategic risk management team, "It's clear that the Foundation went through a very deliberate and thoughtful vetting and risk assessment process before moving forward with the partnership." There was full support from both Boards, including the executive team, for this program. As mentioned, both Boards met and decided to stop the use of on-package logo.

We have told you the negative feedback. You also need to know that there are some members who support this campaign and its goal to reach approximately 80 percent of all households in the United States, with the potential to send more than 20 million consumers to the Kids Eat Right website (www.KidsEatRight.org), for trusted, science-based information and recipes developed by registered dietitian nutritionists. See email below.

Also as mentioned, we were in contact with the Wall Street Journal and told them that they would get an exclusive on any breaking news. We talked with them this afternoon to let them know there was no breaking news and we did not provide any additional information. The reporter, on her own, said if this goes on for days and it appears that the Academy wants to terminate the contract and Kraft refuses to let them, we should discuss what that story looks like. We had told the reporter that we were examining all options for how to move forward. She has decided to hold her story.

Best regards,

Subject: Corporate partnerships

Dear Sonja, Evelyn, Elise, Terri, Pat, Mary Beth, and Susan,

I want to express my gratitude and support for all of you as the leaders of AND. The recent ridiculous furor over the corporate partnership with Kraft and the Kid's Eat Right initiative has upset me.

As a proud Registered Dietitian Nutritionist who has actually worked with clients and families for over 30 years, I am appalled at the reaction of some of our members. Let me say that I am confident this group is a small, vocal minority.

Any RD who is actually teaching and promoting science-based nutrition should not be offended by the corporate support of Kraft for Kid's Eat Right. Our nation's children (and adults for that matter) are not getting enough of the nutrients of concern and many are supplied by dairy foods. Why would anyone object to a slice of cheese as part of a healthy lifestyle??

I am not sure when the word "processed" became blasphemous, but all dairy foods are processed. Milk is processed into yogurt, ice cream, cheese, sour cream, etc. and all of those foods can be part of a nutritious diet. If you can get a small child to drink unflavored low-fat milk, good for you! But there is something wrong with an RD who cannot see that cheese can be part of a healthy diet. I would hate to think about my own son's overall health if I had forbidden chocolate milk and cheese when he was young.

As an RD who has served as a consultant to the Dairy Council, Coca-Cola, and the Corn Refiners, I have seen the sincere efforts of the food industry to support physical activity and provide science-based nutrition information to the public. Corporations seek the input of RD's and listen to the demands of the public in order to innovate and create new products. Without these partnerships, our voices and our expertise would not be a part of the process. I am afraid the militant majority will give all RD's a bad name. The patients that I work with do not need to view me as the "food police" and they do not need to be chided for allowing their child to eat a slice of cheese. We have members who cannot see the forest for the trees. Why promote only fresh, organic fruits and vegetables when there are many other more affordable nutritious choices for families? All foods can fit... PERIOD.

I hope that AND will seek the opinions of the vast majority of RD's and consider that most of us realize that real people in the real world, especially those with limited income, must have choices. I hope we can continue our corporate partnerships and that food and beverage companies continue to see the value in having the input from our organization.

Thank you for the work you do,

Thank you Carl! For your input, your support and inspiration. You, Tracey and other young leaders are the future. I cannot help but smile as I recognize that the future of our profession is in good hands!

And thank you staff for the endless hours of work, focus and diligence to address a myriad of issues this last week.

Thank you to each Board member for taking this risk together. Regardless of your position throughout the process you have shown endless respect and understanding for the rights and opinions of others. Thank you Sandra for reminding us that this is a learning opportunity, to Don for reminding us to meet our clients/customers where they are, and Evelyn for reminding us that there is always a silver lining! And Sonja, thank you for looking straight into the camera and making us believe!

The risks were great, the learning will be even greater! Let's take that learning and apply it to new risks for the future of our members and our profession.

Best to each of you and hoping you all enjoy a little rest with family and loved ones this weekend!

With Gratitude,

There was full support from both Boards, including the executive team, for this program. As mentioned, both Boards met and decided to stop the use of on-package logo.

We have told you the negative feedback. You also need to know that there are some members who support this campaign and its goal to reach approximately 80 percent of all households in the United States, with the potential to send more than 20 million consumers to the Kids Eat Right website (www.KidsEatRight.org), for trusted, science-based information and recipes developed by registered dietitian nutritionists. See email below.

Also as mentioned, we were in contact with the Wall Street Journal and told them that they would get an exclusive on any breaking news. We talked with them this afternoon to let them know there was no breaking news and we did not provide any additional information. The reporter, on her own, said if this goes on for days and it appears that the Academy wants to terminate the contract and Kraft refuses to let them, we should discuss what that story looks like. We had told the reporter that we were examining all options for how to move forward. She has decided to hold her story.

Best regards,

Subject: Corporate partnerships

Dear Sonja, Evelyn, Elise, Terri, Pat, Mary Beth, and Susan,

I want to express my gratitude and support for all of you as the leaders of AND. The recent ridiculous furor over the corporate partnership with Kraft and the Kid's Eat Right initiative has upset me. As a proud Registered Dietitian Nutritionist who has actually worked with clients and families for over 30 years, I am appalled at the reaction of some of our members. Let me say that I am confident this group is a small, vocal minority. Any RD who is actually teaching and promoting science-based nutrition should not be offended by the corporate support of Kraft for Kid's Eat Right. Our nation's children (and adults for that matter) are not getting enough of the nutrients of concern and many are supplied by dairy foods. Why would anyone object to a slice of cheese as part of a healthy lifestyle?? I am not sure when the word "processed" became blasphemous, but all dairy foods are processed. Milk is processed into yogurt, ice cream, cheese, sour cream, etc. and all of those foods can be part of a nutritious diet. If you can get a small child to drink unflavored low-fat milk, good for you! But there is something wrong with an RD who cannot see that cheese can be part of a healthy diet. I would hate to think about my own son's overall health if I had forbidden chocolate milk and cheese when he was young.

As an RD who has served as a consultant to the Dairy Council, Coca-Cola, and the Corn Refiners, I have seen the sincere efforts of the food industry to support physical activity and provide science-based nutrition information to the public. Corporations seek the input of RD's and listen to the demands of the public in order to innovate and create new products. Without these partnerships, our voices and our expertise would not be a part of the process. I am afraid the militant majority will give all RD's a bad name. The patients that I work with do not need to view me as the "food police" and they do not need to be chided for allowing their child to eat a slice of cheese. We have members who cannot see the forest for the trees. Why promote only fresh, organic fruits and vegetables when there are many other more affordable nutritious choices for families? All foods can fit... PERIOD.

I hope that AND will seek the opinions of the vast majority of RD's and consider that most of us realize that real people in the real world, especially those with limited income, must have choices. I hope we can continue our corporate partnerships and that food and beverage companies continue to see the value in having the input from our organization.

Thank you for the work you do,

I want to thank all of the Academy and Foundation Staff and Board members for handling all of this with so much class.

To piggy back off of Kathy's comments I want to slightly "contradict" the vote to support discontinuation of the program.

The more peers I speak with the more I realize that the enraged individuals are few and far between. 8,000 signatures does not represent 8,000 dietitians, although their concerns still matter. I do very much appreciate that this has turned into a great platform for a dialogue about the role of corporate partnership within our profession. It seems that the unfortunate media onslaught and misinformation combined with most people not even recognizing the overarching Education Initiative created this unfortunate situation. There will always be a portion of colleagues that reject any and all relations with the Food industry, but I believe most understand the valuable role of partnerships. I hope that Kraft is responsive soon and that we can move past this with a better understanding of membership concerns and continue partnerships into the future that forward the mission of promoting evidence based nutrition and avoid these unfortunate miscommunications. There is always a silver lining!

I will be a supporter of KER for life. It is an honor to work with you all.

Pat, thanks for sending both of these notes. It may sound "two faced" for me to say this, but I agree with Kathy Warwick and with our decision. Yes, the outcry from our members did change our decision, but the definition of endorsement is and has been from the beginning, the crux of the problem for me. I think it is for many of the members who became involved in the "repeal" movement. It seems "strange" to call something an "endorsement" when it clearly says "Kraft supports KER", but because the name of KER and the Academy is there, endorsement is implied, perhaps not legally or literally, but it is there. Today I read a quote that said: "More people signed the "repeal the seal" petition than voted in the recent Academy election." I didn't check the numbers, but even if it is close to the truth, it is a very telling statistic. I will miss getting into those 80 million households, but hopefully all of this leads to some ways to have a more involved membership. Get some rest this weekend.

We are working with our legal counsel Paula Goedert to help us leverage our position with our negotiations. See my message to Paula and the email from Kathy Warwick below.

Hi Paula,

The New York Times reporter is standing by her statement that Kraft said it was "an endorsement." Kraft told us that they were requesting a retraction. Although we have asked, we have not received anything in writing to the New York Times to verify they requested a retraction of the endorsement quote. This is clearly referenced in the contract Attachment 3, page 13 paragraph 4, "All messaging will be developed and approved within the Academy's guidelines for non-endorsement, accuracy and completeness of messaging and scientific integrity. All materials within the campaign will hold final review and approval by the Academy." The subsequent media articles, quoted the Times article, and all have repeated "it's an endorsement or seal of approval." All of this misrepresentation of the Academy and our non-endorsement policy is damaging our reputation.

Per our strategic risk management team, "It's clear that the Foundation went through a very deliberate and thoughtful vetting and risk assessment process before moving forward with the partnership." There was full support from both Boards, including the executive team, for this program. As mentioned, both Boards met and decided to stop the use of on-package logo.

We have told you the negative feedback. You also need to know that there are some members who support this campaign and its goal to reach approximately 80 percent of all households in the United States, with the potential to send more than 20 million consumers to the Kids Eat Right website (www.KidsEatRight.org), for trusted, science-based information and recipes developed by registered dietitian nutritionists. Pat,
Thank-you for sharing Kathy Warwick, RD,CDE's thoughtful letter. She reminds me of the reason the decision was made to partner with Kraft in the first place, to reach the families RDNs like Kathy encounter, where food insecurity is the norm, and to provide trusted, science-based information and recipes to improve the health and nutrition of children, all children.
I support the plans in place but, appreciate and value the comments from all our members.
Sincerely,
Marcy

This is clearly referenced in the contract Attachment 3, page 13 paragraph 4, “All messaging will be developed and approved within the Academy’s guidelines for non-endorsement, accuracy and completeness of messaging and scientific integrity. All materials within the campaign will hold final review and approval by the Academy.” The subsequent media articles, quoted the Times article, and all have repeated “it’s an endorsement or seal of approval.” All of this misrepresentation of the Academy and our non-endorsement policy is damaging our reputation.

Per our strategic risk management team, “It’s clear that the Foundation went through a very deliberate and thoughtful vetting and risk assessment process before moving forward with the partnership.” There was full support from both Boards, including the executive team, for this program. As mentioned, both Boards met and decided to stop the use of on-package logo.

We have told you the negative feedback. You also need to know that there are some members who support this campaign and its goal to reach approximately 80 percent of all households in the United States, with the potential to send more than 20 million consumers to the Kids Eat Right website (www.KidsEatRight.org), for trusted, science-based information and recipes developed by registered dietitian nutritionists. See email below.

Also as mentioned, we were in contact with the Wall Street Journal and told them that they would get an exclusive on any breaking news. We talked with them this afternoon to let them know there was no breaking news and we did not provide any additional information. The reporter, on her own, said if this goes on for days and it appears that the Academy wants to terminate the contract and Kraft refuses to let them, we should discuss what that story looks like. We had told the reporter that we were examining all options for how to move forward. She has decided to hold her story.

Subject: Corporate partnerships

Dear Sonja, Evelyn, Elise, Terri, Pat, Mary Beth, and Susan,

I want to express my gratitude and support for all of you as the leaders of AND. The recent ridiculous furor over the corporate partnership with Kraft and the Kid's Eat Right initiative has upset me. As a proud Registered Dietitian Nutritionist who has actually worked with clients and families for over 30 years, I am appalled at the reaction of some of our members. Let me say that I am confident this group is a small, vocal minority. Any RD who is actually teaching and promoting science-based nutrition should not be offended by the corporate support of Kraft for Kid's Eat Right. Our nation's children (and adults for that matter) are not getting enough of the nutrients of concern and many are supplied by dairy foods. Why would anyone object to a slice of cheese as part of a healthy lifestyle?? I am not sure when the word "processed" became blasphemous, but all dairy foods are processed. Milk is processed into yogurt, ice cream, cheese, sour cream, etc. and all of those foods can be part of a nutritious diet. If you can get a small child to drink unflavored low-fat milk, good for you! But there is something wrong with an RD who cannot see that cheese can be part of a healthy diet. I would hate to think about my own son's overall health if I had forbidden chocolate milk and cheese when he was young.

As an RD who has served as a consultant to the Dairy Council, Coca-Cola, and the Corn Refiners, I have seen the sincere efforts of the food industry to support physical activity and provide science-based nutrition information to the public. Corporations seek the input of RD's and listen to the demands of the public in order to innovate and create new products. Without these partnerships, our voices and our expertise would not be a part of the process. I am afraid the militant majority will give all RD's a bad name. The patients that I work with do not need to view me as the "food police" and they do not need to be chided for allowing their child to eat a slice of cheese. We have members who cannot see the forest for the trees. Why promote only fresh, organic fruits and vegetables when there are many other more affordable nutritious choices for families? All foods can fit... PERIOD.

I hope that AND will seek the opinions of the vast majority of RD's and consider that most of us realize that real people in the real world, especially those with limited income, must have choices. I hope we can continue our corporate partnerships and that food and beverage companies continue to see the value in having the input from our organization.

Thank you for the work you do,

We are working with our legal counsel Paula Goedert to help us leverage our position with our negotiations. See my message to Paula and the email from Kathy Warwick below.

Hi Paula,

The New York Times reporter is standing by her statement that Kraft said it was “an endorsement.” Kraft told us that they were requesting a retraction. Although we have asked, we have not received anything in writing to the New York Times to verify they requested a retraction of the endorsement quote. This is clearly referenced in the contract Attachment 3, page 13 paragraph 4, “All messaging will be developed and approved within the Academy’s guidelines for non-endorsement, accuracy and completeness of messaging and scientific integrity. All materials within the campaign will hold final review and approval by the Academy.” The subsequent media articles, quoted the Times article, and all have repeated “it’s an endorsement or seal of approval.” All of this misrepresentation of the Academy and our non-endorsement policy is damaging our reputation.

Pat, I am so sorry you have been having to deal with this Kraft situation. I personally believe you and your team have been doing an incredible job in dealing with all the issues surrounding the proposed program. I was, and still am, a supporter of what we were trying to accomplish with Kraft. I am sorry that I could not stay on the board call yesterday as Diane Heller and I both had to be at the GAND meeting to receive awards during the call. I was disappointed to hear that Tracy Bates again said that Kraft singles cannot be served in the School Lunch Program, which is totally not correct. I had checked with Janey Thornton, when this issue first surfaced, and she reassured me that not only can we serve them, but we get American singles (not Kraft) as a commodity item in our programs. Which was exactly what I thought, but felt like I wanted her answer so I could answer Tracy if she brought it up again. The low fat singles even qualify to be sold as a smart snack.

I think the direction we are going is exactly what we have to do (although I hate it!) and your getting GMMB involved was a great idea.

As treasurer I will work with the BOD and FAC to have an open, honest discussion about what this means potentially to us. That is what makes me the most sad is that our members do not see what these efforts could have done to help further our mission and vision. Know that I am here to support you, the Foundation and the Academy in any way that I can. You continue to amaze me in what you do for us and know that I am keeping you and your staff in my thoughts a prayers to lift you through this. We will come out on top in the end!

Good news...your efforts are paying off! Thank you so much for your attention to this request. Congresswoman DeGette just let us know she now has 80 members signed on and is able to extend the deadline to Saturday March 21.

Those of you that have already gotten a chance to do this have made a huge impact. Diane Heller's email reached the Chairman of the House Budget Committee, very timely as he is drafting the federal budget.

If you had not had a chance, please take a minute to do this. This establishes you as that important nutrition resource in their district.

Many thanks again!

As you know in the BOD Plan of Work one of the STRATEGIC PRIORITIES is to “Develop key relationships with own Congressional representatives in the role of an Academy leader.”

This action supports our members working in these agencies so they have adequate funding to do their jobs. We are fortunate that our member Ann Albright leads the diabetes efforts in CDC. That is a huge job and she appreciates our support. Her agency now funds $146 million in community based diabetes programs, many which are led by our members. On the NIH side, I know we are losing some of our nutrition funding so this is also crucial to get support.

Here is a great opportunity to execute this priority to be recognized by your member of Congress as a nutrition leader in their district. The Congressional Diabetes Caucus leadership is seeking support for a “Dear Colleague” letter, from members of their Congressional Diabetes Caucus to support funding in diabetes research and prevention programs at NIH and CDC. The deadline for members of Congress to sign-on is Friday, March 20th. Can you send the following email to your member of this important caucus? The list of the caucus member is attached with the staff contact information. The letter is also included.

Suggested language for the request:

Dear (STAFF NAME),

As an elected member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Board of Directors, I am proud that you as my Congressman/Congresswoman XXX is a member of the Congressional Diabetes Caucus. I appreciate his/her being a champion of diabetes research and prevention. These efforts help prevent this disease which research has indicated the stress on families and individuals with diabetes. With nearly 30 million people diagnosed with diabetes, and an additional 86 million with prediabetes, it is important to invest in finding the evidence-based practices, such as medical nutrition therapy, which can prevent this costly disease.

It is important that the caucus has a strong showing on this to other members of Congress during this budget time. Would you ask that XXX signs on and shows his/her support for fully funding diabetes research and prevention in the Fiscal Year 2016 budget?

Thank you for your consideration, and please let me know if you have any questions. And please feel free to contact on any nutrition questions you might have regarding nutrition services and programs for your constituents. I would be glad to be a resource for you.

Sincerely,

Subject: Academy/Kraft Education Initiative Status Update

As you know, the Academy announced in early March a pilot educational initiative with Kraft to help improve eating patterns for America's families. The language on the package identified Kraft Singles as a Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right (similar to such initiatives as Heart Truth Campaign and NHLBI, and Lids for Lives and breast cancer). The goal of the program was to reach approximately 80 percent of all U.S. households, with the potential to send more than 20 million consumers to the Kids Eat Right website for credible information and recipes developed by registered dietitian nutritionists.

Contrary to what has been reported in the media and on social media posts, this initiative was not an endorsement or nutritional seal of approval by the Academy, its Foundation or Kids Eat Right of this or any product. By policy, the Academy does not endorse any products, brands or services.

The Academy and Foundation Boards of Directors hear and understand member and public concerns regarding the Kids Eat Right initiative. A dialogue is underway. The Boards sincerely appreciate the candor, integrity and concern for consumers' health, as shown by members who both oppose and support the proposed program. All comments and concerns are being taken into account.

Please forward member comments to ceo@eatright.org. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact your Vice President.

Thank you very much.

Mail 2014-2015 House of Delegates - Comments from Maryland on sponsorship View Post

Message Hello HOD,

Please see comments from Maryland.

Berit Christensen MPP, RD, LD

MAND Delegate

To my Academy Delegates,

Thank you for representing members at the upcoming House of Delegate meeting. This letter is in response to the core question due to be discussed on May 3:

"How do we evolve our existing sponsorship program to further the mission, vision and goals of the Academy while safeguarding the Academy's reputation and integrity?"

First, I want to express my strong disappointment in the Academy Foundation's decision to put the first-ever Kid Eat Right seal on packages of Kraft Singles. Despite the Academy's insistence that this seal is not an endorsement or a seal of approval, both dietitians and the public perceive it as such.

I believe that the reason the House of Delegates is addressing Corporate Sponsorship at the spring meeting is precisely because many members feel our reputation is eroding in the eyes of the public and other health professionals as a result of partnerships with Coca-Cola, PepsiCo, General Mills, and Kellogg's. As a dietitian in private practice, I am constantly having to defend my RDN credential to the public, who are increasingly turning to uncredentialed health coaches for nutrition counseling because of the perception that RDNs have ties to the corporations and do not give objective advice.

This latest development, while specific to the Academy Foundation, is another problematic conflict of interest that highlights the need to make serious reforms. This dependence on controversial corporate partnerships is compromising our ability to promote nutrition and is a betrayal to our hard earned credential.

I believe If we want to be regarded as THE nutrition experts, we need to raise the bar and remain independent from food industry influence. It is time for the Academy to honestly and deliberately address the concerns of dietitians, through real tangible action, not regurgitated old positions and supporting the status quo.

For years, the Academy has said it is listening to its members on this issue, but it is hard to believe that when the Academy's actions continue to prove otherwise.

I urge the House of Delegates to take a stand once and for all on behalf of the profession we all love. It is time for the Academy leadership to push for a new paradigm of fundraising that does not compromise our professional image nor ask professionals to uncomfortably defend the Academy. At this point, I am not likely to renew my membership in AND, of which I have been a member since I was in school in 2004. This makes me incredibly sad, as one of the things I most enjoy about membership is the opportunity to learn from and network with fellow RDNs in the NE and SCAN DPGs and I do not want to give these up. However, I feel so strongly about this issue, which has come to a head with the Kraft partnership, that I cannot in good conscience continue to give money to and be associated with AND.

Sincerely,

Diana Sugiuchi, RDN/LDN, ACSM-HFS

Hi Berit,

I am not concerned about the Foundation's allowing the use of the Kids Eatright logo on Kraft cheese. It would not have been my 1st choice of food to launch this program, but frankly a 50ish calorie slice isn't much to get upset over when compared to the profile of natural cheese.

My problem is this: I have been on the food biotechnology position paper review EAL workgroup for 5 years. The Academy made a very bad decision in trying to deflect the controversial topic by changing the name to Advanced Food Technology. Then in 2012, the Academy "took down" the position paper when the media stated during the CA Prop 37 GMO labeling bill, that they "didn't have a position" on biotech. It is the only position paper I am told that has ever been taken down.

Now this situation with the New York Times (and the journalist who has thrown the Academy under the bus in recent years and me along with it), and the Kids Eatright logo that someone in the Academy leadership should really consider the advice they're getting from their PR agency. Whoever is advising the Academy in these situations is truly doing our profession a disfavor.

I am not opposed to sponsorship but I do feel like the PR firm has poorly advised the leadership or the leadership of the Academy has made several poor decisions that have discredited the RD credentials.

Thanks

Jennie Schmidt, MS, RD

Dear Academy Delegate,

Thank you for representing members at the upcoming House of Delegate meeting. This letter is in response to the core question due to be discussed on May 3:

How do we evolve our existing sponsorship program to further the mission, vision and goals of the Academy while safeguarding the Academy's reputation and integrity?

Despite the Academy's insistence that this seal is not an endorsement or a seal of approval, both dietitians and the public perceive it as such.

Furthermore, I will not be renewing my membership until this organization cuts ties with the big food companies. The Dietitians for Professional Integrity is a group that is growing fast. Be assured we will NOT STOP to hold you all accountable!

Please also take some time to read this article.. You are all responsible for our image being ruined. The word is out ... And this is what the public think...

Emily Balea-Hopkins RD, LDN

Dear Academy Delegate,

When I first learned about the Academy Foundation's decision to put the first-ever Kid Eat Right seal on packages of Kraft Singles I was dumbfounded and speechless. I took a few days to collect my thoughts before writing. I was also desperately trying to find a reason why this happened, beyond the exchange of sponsor money. I could find no good reason the AND would make this unsound decision. Despite the Academy's insistence that the KER seal is not an endorsement or a seal of approval, both dietitians and the public perceive it as such. When a logo from our organization is seen on a product it is indeed seen as approved to be a healthy food choice. Kraft singles is a processed food even though fortified, it still is processed. As a health educator I am steering people away from processed foods and teaching them how they can make cost-effective, real food choices. Food labels and packaging are misleading enough as it is for consumers. To say this is really not an "endorsement" doesn't stop anyone from seeing it for what it truly is. Putting the logo on it can lead parents to believe that the processed cheese is healthier than real cheese and that means we endorse all processed food...which is not a difficult leap for the consumer to make. This steers the American public in the opposite direction of what good nutrition is all about. This exchange of money for the logo shows dietitians recommend and/or endorse processed food.

This latest development, while specific to the Academy Foundation, is another problematic conflict of interest that highlights the need to make serious reforms. This dependence on controversial corporate partnerships is compromising our ability to promote nutrition and is a betrayal to our hard earned credential. It doesn't feel good to be questioned about these types of decisions that reflect poorly on the Academy and myself as a RD. Dietitians will never earn the recognition they deserve when the AND is promoting things of this nature.

The following are just a few examples of the aftermath that can be found in the media after the Kraft singles endorsement: <http://www.msn.com/en-us/health/nutrition/75000-dietitians-now-recommend-kids-eat-american-cheese/ar-AA9NMem>

http://well.blogs.nytimes.com/2015/03/12/a-cheese-product-wins-kids-nutrition-seal/?partner=rss&emc=rss&_r=2

I am not one of the 75,000 dietitians recommending or endorsing the Kraft single product. But I'm unfortunately viewed that way now by the public. I had no vote in this matter either. When this was being considered, not once was I asked for my vote as to whether I would support this decision as a paying member. I should have been asked to vote on this very important decision. I feel my integrity has been insulted and my credibility as a reliable, well-educated healthcare practitioner has been harmed. Most of all, I feel the AND spoke for me without consulting me, put words in my mouth that I would never speak. I feel violated in so many ways by my own professional organization.

I believe if we want to be regarded as THE nutrition experts, we need to raise the bar and remain independent from food industry influence. It is time for the Academy to honestly and deliberately address the concerns of dietitians, through real tangible action, not regurgitated old positions and supporting the status quo. I should be able to turn to the leaders in my professional organization for guidance, but I'm no longer finding that to be the case. For years, the Academy has said it is listening to its members on this issue, but that is not the case when the Academy's actions

It is time for the Academy leadership to push for a new paradigm of fundraising that does not compromise our professional image nor ask professionals to uncomfortably defend the Academy. I have been told that the reason the House of Delegates is addressing Corporate Sponsorship at the spring meeting in May, is precisely because many members feel our reputation is eroding in the eyes of the public and other health professionals as a result of partnerships with Coca-Cola, PepsiCo, General Mills, and Kellogg's. This is a critical time. I hear comments all the time from the public that we are sending mixed messages, and that our credibility is highly questionable. There are plenty of reputable companies that send the correct and more healthy message...money should not be the driving factor in accepting sponsors. It is easy to see that money is driving the ship at this time.

I want to thank you for representing members at the upcoming House of Delegate meeting. The core question is "How do we evolve our existing sponsorship program to further the mission, vision and goals of the Academy while safeguarding the Academy's reputation and integrity?" I urge the House of Delegates to take a stand once and for all on behalf of the profession we all love.

Sincerely and with a heavy heart,

Kim McConnell, MS, RDN, LDN

Dear Berit,

AND the largest group of food and nutrition professionals? Hardly. AND's obvious primary mission is not to promote good nutrition but to promote its members, and it has failed utterly at that. Who ever could have thought that any good would have resulted to ADA or the public it serves from accepting "support" from a manufacturer of soda? How was the error not immediately seen and that unwise course discontinued?

The most credible and attention-catching nutrition wisdom of late has been imparted not by an AND member but by a journalist, in seven words. ("Eat food, not too much, mostly plants.") If AND would accurately and ethically advance the cause of good nutrition it would not need to have the assistance of corporate sponsors for its advice and activities to be respected. Instead, it appears to care more for the approval of those sponsors than for the well-being of those we supposedly serve.

How much of the ten percent of AND's budget that is provided by our corporate sponsors is in turn spent on activities to please those sponsors, such as the large space given to them in the exhibition hall at FNCE? What sorts of educational material do they provide that we can't do for ourselves, and more truthfully? Speaking of truth, what exactly is AND receiving from those sponsors?

Whatever is our leadership thinking when they sell our souls, and for what misguided reasons are they doing so? We members deserve the truth, but I fear we will never hear it from our supposed leaders.

Sincerely,
Elaine Pardoe, MS, RD

Dear UMCP Program Graduates

I wanted to share what I am tweeting today

#RepealTheSeal All RDs please read- <http://health.usnews.com/health-news/blogs/eat-run/2015/03/18/in-defense-of-75-000-dietitians> ... @UMD_Dietintern #rd2be @eatright @eatrightPRO @eatwellmd

You each need to determine what you think about this issue; I am sorry that the Academy has not yet sent an all-member mailing to explain their perspective. Rebecca Scritchfield's short article in US NEWS - (<http://health.usnews.com/health-news/blogs/eat-run/2015/03/18/in-defense-of-75-000-dietitians>) is worth reading. The Academy is now saying that putting the Kids Right Logo on this processed cheesy "food" is not an endorsement (see their statement below), but I do not remember the Academy doing any thing like this before. For years money has been accepted from Sponsors for purposes like the annual fnce meeting and other activities, but I honestly do not remember a logo being given back for the sponsorship money.

Someone with access to the Academy BOD shared with me the following:

Did the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Board make this decision or did the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation Board make this decision? The Foundation Board of Directors, with feedback from the Academy Board of Directors, approved this initiative to develop nutrition education materials and outreach activities that will raise the visibility of Kids Eat Right among consumers. The language on the package merely identifies Kraft Singles as a Proud Sponsor of Kids Eat Right. This means information and recipes developed by registered dietitian nutritionists will reach approximately 80 percent of U.S. households. Our healthful eating messages have the potential to send more than 20 million consumers to the Kids Eat Right website.

I URGE EACH OF YOU TO TAKE A POSITION ON THIS.

For any hope of credibility on this one – the new panel they are proposing either needs to be elected by the membership or elected by the general/all members of HOD.

If the BOD or the Foundation or the leadership of HOD appoint persons – it will be seen as just another committee "not in tune to the membership". This is the last straw for at least one of my graduates in business area and she may drop her membership over it.

Finding out about this endorsement (which it is if there is an academy logo being placed on the "cheese" package) via the media has many incensed. Jon Stewart's video clip such a slap in the face to all of us who work hard to create a good impression.

Each year the Board uses a self-assessment tool developed by BoardSource to evaluate and improve its effectiveness as a governing board. The assessment is utilized by the Board to evaluate our strengths and challenges and by the Executive Team to strengthen operational processes. The tool is also helpful in familiarizing Board members about expected responsibilities, in planning meeting agendas, and identifying topics for the Board orientation and retreat meetings.

Tomorrow you will receive the online questionnaire directly from BoardSource from their e-mail address, assessments@boardsource.org. Your individual responses are tabulated by BoardSource and are kept confidential; only aggregate results are provided. Marla Bobowick, senior governance consultant with BoardSource, will again attend our Board meeting in May to facilitate the discussion about the results.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you for your input!

Subject: Joint Board Recap

Importance: High

Sensitivity: Confidential

To all Academy and Foundation Board members:

Thank you very much for a productive and aspirational call earlier today. For those who were not able to participate or those who had to leave early, here a summary follows.

We were joined by Academy members and registered dietitian nutritionists Rachel Begun and Kate Geagan, who are leading a change.org petition to repeal the Kraft/KER education initiative. They provided their perspective.

Rachel did not declare a conflict of interest. Kate indicated that she works with various brands. Although Regan was not on the call, the group disclosed her potential conflicts with Cabot Cheese. They spoke about the Kraft program, and asked the Board respectfully to repeal the seal because it implied an endorsement of a brand. They offered to work with the Board and continue the dialogue.

They asked that the Board convey the message to members: “We hear you. We are having a dialogue about our options.”

Next, the Board reviewed options for discussion. David Mitchell, a principal at GMMB, a crisis management firm, assisted in formulating our options, which were emailed to you yesterday.

After reviewing the negative comments, we can divide input that has been received into three categories.

1. Offering our logo on a product is seen as an endorsement of Kraft Singles (although I need to reiterate that the Academy has placed our logo on products in the past, including on Hunts, Barilla and Gerber products, with no negative reactions from members or the public.)
2. A seal of approval of Kraft Singles implies to consumers that it is a healthy food.
3. Many of our members perceive Kraft Singles to be an unhealthy food product that the Academy should not associate itself with.

The Board received two options for consideration, with advantages and disadvantages outlined. With careful and thorough consideration based on the discourse, civil and otherwise, and a communication with David Mitchell, I recommended that we not move with the collaboration with Kraft Singles. David also recommended we step back from this partnership.

One reason for doing so: This was a pilot program for the Foundation, and pilots are done to test and learn whether something will work. In this instance, the planned approach created confusion among members and consumers, which the Academy clearly does not want.

We have alerted our attorney to this issue. She advised us to reach out to Kraft to reach a mutual and amicable agreement about how to move forward with cancelling the contract. Mary Beth Whalen did so, and Kraft indicated that they realize that neither Kraft nor the Academy can move forward as planned. We are awaiting more information from Kraft regarding how far forward the packaging process has gone and how we can discontinue the initiative.

The Board deliberated and voted to approve Option 2: Discontinue our pilot program, stop the use of the on-package logo, and work with Kraft to cancel the contract. The Board also decided that we would send a message to members via social media this afternoon. Here are the messages that will be posted to the eatrightPRO social media channels at 3:15 p.m.:

FACEBOOK: The Academy and Foundation Boards hear and understand member and public concerns regarding the Kids Eat Right initiative. A dialogue is underway. Your patience is appreciated!

TWITTER: #eatrightPRO Boards hear and understand you regarding Kids Eat Right initiative. A dialogue is underway.

It is critical that this information remain confidential, as we are working with GMMB to develop a risk management communication plan that will include timeline, key messages and FAQ for members, as well as social media outreach to members. We will also develop a media statement that will be released exclusively to the Wall Street Journal, after alerting members. We remain in close contact with legal counsel and Kraft and more updates will be provided as information becomes available.

Please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions or if you need additional information.

All,

I hope everyone is enjoying the warmth that is beginning to inch its way into our lives. When I was a kid, we had a newscaster that always talked about the “greening of America”. He used to show a line where the plants and trees would begin to spring to life. I patiently waited for the line to get closer to my home in Detroit!! I don’t know why I always enjoyed that reference. Maybe it was the anticipation of Spring and the warm weather!!! Since we just passed St. Patrick’s Day, I thought that would be a nice anecdote. We haven’t yet experience any “greening” in Chicago (except the river of course), but I hope wherever you are that you are beginning to see the signs of spring.

As all of you know, we have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, March 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. The focus of our call will be on the following;

1. January final financial results
2. February preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Cash

I. January Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary January results.

II. Investments

The ride our investments has taken continues. As I mentioned last month, the market was growing quite well when we met in February. I am happy to say that our combined portfolios gained nearly $2,259,000!! We recouped the losses from January and added to our upward climb. Year to date, the combined portfolios have gained over $3,353,000. This is $1,620,300 more than our budget. So, needless to say, with these kind of results, February should be a very good month for everyone.

March has not been too bad for our portfolios. Through yesterday, March 18th, the combined portfolios have gained an additional $287,000. This is roughly 0.50%. Even though the markets are mixed (Dow down, NASDAQ up, etc) today, we are at least facing the last week or so of investing in March on a firm foundation of gains. The markets liked what the Federal Reserve Chairwoman said yesterday. So, hopefully, the impact of the impending interest rate hikes would not have a major impact on the markets.

III. Academy preliminary February Financials (A10)

The results for the Academy will continue the pattern we have seen throughout the year; Revenues under performed and were partially offset by lower expenses. The Academy had an Operating Deficit of $363,431. This was $15,365 higher (worse) than the budget. This isn't too bad considering the revenue missed expectations by $111,284. I will provide some details below. The great news is, due to the investment returns of over $729K, the Academy had Net Income of $365,920 for the month of February. This was $601,501 higher (better) than the budget. So, a very good overall month!!

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an Operating Deficit of $1,961,463 through February. This is $395,699 smaller (better) than the budget. This variance went down $15K since January. However, it is great news to have the Operating results be this much better than the budget with all of the revenue shortfalls we have experienced. The investments make this picture a little better. Year to date, our investments have provided over $1.33M in income. This is $319,810 higher than the budget. So, the bottom line is the Academy currently has a Net Deficit of $628,298. This is $715,510 smaller (better) than the budget. We may not have reached this point in an optimal manner, but, to have our Net Deficit be less than 50% of our budget, through three quarters of the fiscal year, is very good news.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for February:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is under budget by $5,740 in February and is under budget by $181 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) offset by higher Membership Dues revenue (up $2.1K).
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $9,729 in February and is under budget by $429,830 for the year. The under-run February is due entirely to lower Professional Development revenue.
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $26,614 in February and is under budget by $87,160 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $9.7K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), lower PR sales (Down $6.2K) and lower List Rental (down $6.2K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $43,971 in February and is under budget by $263,317 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $44.3K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.4K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.2K) and higher EAL (up $1.5K).

e. Advertising – This area is over budget by $1,699 in February and under budget by $8,692 for the year. The over-run in February is entirely due to higher advertising sales for Food and Nutrition Magazine.

f. All grants - This area is under budget by $20,201 in February and is under budget by $22,756 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Guides for Practice (down $10K), lower grants for Research (down $9.4K) and lower ConAgra (down $1.6K). This is offset by higher recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition project (up $0.8K).

g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $2,140 in February and is under budget by $50,749 for the year. This is not as low in February as we originally thought. We re-evaluate this each month. Since we have received unbudgeted agreements for the Nutrition News Forecast, we are adjusting our expected under-run for the year.

h. Other – This area was under budget by $4,590 in February and is over budget by $99,996 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower rebates from the Member benefit's program.

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $24,584 in February and is under budget by $152,653 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $701 in February and is under budget by $96,657 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $3.0K), and lower Eatright Store (Down $1.7K). This is offset by higher Journal (up $2.2K), higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $1.3K) and higher across all other projects (up $0.5K).

c. Travel – This area is under budget by $51,050 in February and is under budget by $307,491 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to lower Research projects (down $61.8K) which included lower Abbott Malnutrition project expenses (down $53.4K), lower Informatics (down $3.8K), lower Public Policy (down $3.2K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.3K). This is offset by higher Marketing (up $2.8K), higher Governance (up $5.4K) and higher FNCE expense reimbursements (up $9.8K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $29,960 in February and is under budget by $182,245 for the year. The under-run in February is being driven by lower Research (down $10.5K), lower IT/web (down $5.3K), lower Journal (down $6.0K), lower Corporate Relations (down $13.3K), lower Public Relations (down $6.2K) and lower Carry the Flame (down $2.3K). This is offset by higher FNCE (up $10.3K), higher Public Policy (up $2.2K) and higher across all other (up $1.1K). The FNCE over-run is due to the accounting reclassification addressed above.

- e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $2,352 in February and is under budget by $88,448 for the year. The under-run for February is being driven by lower Traditional Publications (down $8.4K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K). This is offset by higher Member Services (down $1.9K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $4.7K).
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $3,460 in February and is under budget by $16,930 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower copy supplies (down $1.6K), lower Public Policy (down $0.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.2K).
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is over budget by $13 in February and is under budget by $62,089 for the year. The over-run in February is due to higher maintenance costs associated with work done in Chicago (up $1.7K) offset by lower costs within our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K).
- h. Telephone and communications – This is over budget by $1,039 in February and is under budget by $2,764 for the year. The over-run in February is primarily due to the accounting reclassification for FNCE related costs.
- i. Commissions – This area is over budget by $340 in February and is over budget by $1,151 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine’s advertising sales. Since Advertising revenue was higher in February, the commission expense was higher in February
- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $5,061 in February and is under budget by $51,685 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower web hosting costs. This could be an issue with a missing bill and will be re-evaluated before going final.
- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is over budget by $1,989 in February and is under budget by $43,796 for the year. The over-run in February is primarily due to NCM marketing materials.
- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in February and is under budget by $7,133 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation – This area is under budget by $2,372 in February and is over budget by $253 for the year. The under-run in February is due to the continued evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in February and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is over budget by $1,716 in February and is over budget by $11,611 for the year. The over-run in February is due to higher credit cards fees.
- o. Other – This area is over budget by $30,092 in February and under budget $49,120 for the year. The majority of the over-run in February is due to two items; the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize for Quality Management (down $13.8K) and FNCE accounting reclassifications (up $16.0K). There are additional minor changes in other areas, but, it amounts to approximately $0.3K. The FNCE reclassifications are shifts between categories as the accounting team “cleans” up the books at the quarter close.
- p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $6,979 in February and is unfavorable to budget by $51,655 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $20,469 in February and is under budget by $160,459 for the year. The under-run in February is primarily due to accounting reclassification’s of FNCE related costs (down $29.3K), lower Professional Development (down $1.0K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.0K). This is offset by higher Quality Management (up $10.8K).
- r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $230 in February and is under budget by $15,804 for the year. The under-run in February is due to lower legal expenses.
- s. Printing – This area is over budget by $2,688 in February and is over budget by $14,482 for the year. The over-run in February is due higher Office Services costs (up $1.7K) and higher across all other areas of the business (up $1.0K).

Overall, a good month for the Academy. We are still experiencing the under-runs in revenue. These will continue. However, the staff is dedicated to reducing expenses wherever possible. We are now rounding the final corner and heading towards home. It is good to do so with both an Operating deficit and Net Deficit smaller than the budget.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will have been out of the office this week. So, either Christian or I will get everything posted to the portal (I hope!). In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

Paul, We had a water main break at work yesterday and so none of us could go to work. I did not have access to phone, and our work email was down, so I was out of the loop.

I contacted Susie Burns to check to make sure the financial report had been postponed and she said it had. This was before I got the revised agenda. :)

I had asked Christian last week about the only question I had so I was good to go. Hope you had a great trip. I would like to hear about it, because I have never been to London. I have traveled a lot in Europe, but London has never been on my bucket list. You might just convince me to put it on my list

Paul, That works, much better wording. I just did not want to confuse them, but this makes it very clear and much more informative.

I will be ready for the board meeting, but I am going to try and start getting them primed for what they will be seeing in May. They need to understand what we are facing and the role they play.

Make the change on slide 6. Can't believe I missed that one. I reworded slide 7. I know we don't want it to "wordy". Take a look at this one. It is a little more. Hopefully it gets to what you were thinking.

I also think we need to restate Slide 7 where we talk about continued growth in eNCPT sales sets a strong foundation for FY16 revenue. We just said that it was falling short for revenue, so I assume that we have seen a strong increase in sales recently, that will make us more optimistic for the future. If that is correct, we probably need to word it a little differently so we don't confuse people. I hope this gets the boards attention!

So far, these are the only questions or concerns that I have.

I hope this gets the boards attention!

Dear Academy Leaders and Staff:

As you have no doubt realized the KER partnership with KRAFT was a huge mistake. Its handling was a PR blunder like none I've seen within a "member-driven" organization. As you work toward finding solutions to this issue, do not be mistaken in thinking the uproar is a "vocal minority" or the doings of those who would seek to discredit the Academy. I have defended the Academy's relationships with sponsors on many occasions and have been mostly comfortable with the fact that we can work with industry in a constructive way - I have spoken out against those who want an Academy free of all sponsorship. I have been very outspoken regarding my opinion, but there are many others who feel like me, but are unable to express their opinions in such a public fashion. There are now more than 7,300 signatures on the petition to Repeal The Seal - nearly 10% of the Academy membership - and it's growing by the hour.

As individual dietitians, we each have the option to align ourselves with brands that meet our individual nutrition philosophies. However, as an organization, it is not your right to utilize the credibility of 75,000 members with any brand any more than I, as an individual RDN, can use another RDN's name in support of a product without their permission. There is a reason that Academy Spokespersons are not permitted to endorse any product - and rightly so. This decision was not only poorly communicated and executed - it was a bad decision. Continuing to suggest that it is simply a misunderstanding is only making people more angry and works against restoring credibility and trust. The future of the Academy - perhaps of our profession - is in a precarious place with many other groups ready to fill in the gap as "nutrition experts". Your decisions, to act with integrity, honesty, transparency, to listen to members and realign your actions with our values, or to stay the course in spite of the outcry of members will determine the future trajectory of our organization.

Like many others, I have been proud of my membership and service to the Academy. Those of you participating in the call regarding this issue have the opportunity to make things right. In crisis management there are a few essential tenets. One of the most important is to work quickly. I know that some of you are anguished over this whole thing and most of you are volunteers. I want you to know that I appreciate your service and encourage you to lead in such a way as to represent the best interest of all of us - it's why you were elected. Please do the right thing and make me proud again.

Sincerely,
Sherry

Dear Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and Kids Eat Right Foundation Leadership:

I am writing to share my strong opposition to the Kids Eat Right (KER) Foundation's step to provide their logo for use on packaged products. I was stunned and disappointed to see that this feature of the new awareness campaign is being rolled out with KRAFT singles as the first product. To be honest, I do not believe that this is the worst product on the market, or harmful per se; I ate them as a child and I turned out just fine. However, that isn't the point. Perception is reality and the public perception is that this food is a highly refined "cheese product" -- not "real food". Even the National School Lunch Program does not permit this product as part of the reimbursable meal program.

The fact is that I do not believe (and many others do not believe) that it is the kind of optimal food that we want to encourage Americans to choose as a path to better health. Our collective goal should be to hold up for the public the ideal dietary recommendations to aid them in moving closer to a diet that prevents disease and promotes vitality and health - a diet high in fruits, vegetables, whole grains and other minimally processed whole foods. The suggestion by the KER Foundation that this is not an endorsement is absolutely ridiculous, as that is exactly how it was viewed by the media and the public. One only has to take a look at the coverage by ALL of the major media outlets to see how damaging this has been to the registered dietitian nutritionist.

I know that I am not alone, as I have seen the firestorm on social media, including more than 100 comments on the Academy's Facebook post on this topic alone. The message is clear. We are angry; we are embarrassed; we feel betrayed. The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, and by extension the Kids Eat Right Foundation, ARE representatives of the registered dietitian nutritionist, but today they do not represent me.

I would suggest that because the Academy and KER represent a diverse group of members that they should not allow their logo, likeness or image to be used on any specific brand or product. Moreover, the Academy membership, whom the Academy and its representative organizations represents, should be informed in advance of a decision being considered to utilize the logo, likeness or image for any commercial purpose. And let's be honest, this was for a commercial purpose, KRAFT's motivation is not altruism.

As a member of the Academy, I am embarrassed at the negative media attention and damage to our collective reputation. Those who wish to prove that dietitians are in the pocket of "big food" and out of touch with the latest science of good nutrition now have adequate ammunition for the foreseeable future. Like KRAFT, I only want to align myself with organizations that improve my standing with other professionals, potential clients, and the public at large. For the first time in 10 years, and after participating in service in many areas, I am considering non-renewal of my membership because I am no longer convinced that the Academy's values and goals and mine are the same.

I trust that my feedback, as well as that of countless other members will encourage you, the Academy leadership, to reconsider this decision -- and to seek opportunities to realign your current strategy with the values and voices of your membership.

Sincerely,

Sherry Coleman Collins, MS, RDN, LD

Good evening,

I am writing to express my concern over the recent decision to put the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft singles. While I am a registered dietitian nutritionist, I was a branding consultant in my first career and understand the impact this decision has on our profession and members, which is only just beginning to come to light. For the Academy to continue to say it does not endorse products is utterly false in light of this decision. Even though the package will say Kraft is a “proud supporter of” Kids Eat Right, it is still an implied endorsement for the logo to appear in any form on a food package, regardless of what that food item is. Any branding expert would say the same. Certainly the logo will influence the sale of that item and exactly why Kraft would want to have it on their products.

While I understand the intention is to drive traffic to the Kids Eat Right website, there are certainly better ways of doing this rather than putting the logo at the point of sale on a food product. Even using the Kraft website as a tool to push traffic is preferable to a food package at the point of sale where the logo will sway a purchasing decision. What drives traffic is compelling, regularly updated content with great visual appeal that is shared on social media and pushed out through a variety of media outlets. There are examples of it every day on the internet and in the blogging world. We have many talented members that do this every day with their own blogs and websites – why not ask for their input on how to reach a greater audience with Kids Eat Right?

Another reason that has been mentioned for the logo to appear is that calcium and vitamin D are nutrients of concern for children, and really adults as well. However, research has shown that focusing on individual nutrients is not an effective strategy for improving health, but rather focusing on the overall dietary pattern. I think this was a fairly clear message in the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Council’s recent report and a message the Academy has espoused as well. Let’s continue to focus on education showing people HOW to eat, rather than focus on the nutrients and in the most wholesome and affordable way possible.

I consult with industry and believe in corporate sponsorship and transparency of such arrangements. I believe our involvement and partnerships with the food industry can have a profound impact on the greater good of our country's health. I am looking forward to our conversation at the House of Delegates meeting on May 3 on the corporate sponsor issue.

Though I strongly urge the Board to reconsider putting the Kids Eat Right logo, in any shape or form on any food product as this is a form of endorsement. While logos may have appeared on products in the past, the world is changing and our critics are chomping at the bit to take advantage of our missteps and discredit us in the eyes of the media and the public.

Thank you for your time and leadership,
Ann

Older Americans Act Re-authorization Awaits Older Americans Month

Re-authorization of the Older Americans Act has been delayed in the Senate, likely until May, which is Older Americans Month. The Older Americans Re-authorization Act of 2015 (S. 192) passed the Senate HELP committee on January 28 and would fund programs for older Americans for three years. The bill language builds on S. 1562, sponsored by Sen. Bernie Sanders (Vt.) in the 113th Congress, which the Academy supported. The bill updates the language of the Older Americans Act to reflect the "utilization" of dietitians in nutrition programs and also encourages the use of locally grown fresh foods in nutrition programs. The Academy continues to support the Older Americans Act and encourages members to reach out to their legislators to support this important piece of legislation. Updated resources are available on the Academy's website.

New Diabetes Prevention Initiative

The American Medical Association and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently announced the launch of a new initiative and website called "Prevent Diabetes STAT: Screen, Test, Act-Today." The goal is to raise awareness about prediabetes and the CDC's evidence-based diabetes prevention program. The first phase of the initiative focuses on providing physicians and care teams with easy-to-use tools and resources so that they can identify individuals with prediabetes and refer them to diabetes prevention programs. AMA and CDC have co-developed a toolkit to assist in this effort, which is available online. The Academy works with the AMA and CDC on the Diabetes Advocacy Alliance, of which the Academy is a co-chair.

New Studies Highlight Food Insecurity among Older Adults

Two new studies released by the AARP Foundation highlight the magnitude of food insecurity in the U.S., as well as barriers and challenges to healthy eating faced by the low-income, 50 and older population. The two studies, "Food Insecurity among Older Adults," and "Findings on Nutrition Knowledge and Food Insecurity among Older Adults," find that food insecurity is most widespread among lowest-income groups, with the South having the highest rates of food insecurity by region. The AARP Foundation and the Academy are both National Strategic Partners of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Center for Nutrition Policy and Promotion.

Study Says Students Eat More Fruit, Throw Away Less Food with New Healthier School Lunches
New data from the Rudd Center for Food Policy & Obesity, published in Childhood Obesity provides good news about school lunches. The study, "New School Meal Regulations Increase Fruit Consumption and Do Not Increase Total Plate Waste," found that more students are choosing fruit since the updated standards went into effect. The percentage of students choosing fruit for lunch increased from 54 percent in 2012 to 66 percent in 2014. The study also found the amount of fruit students consume has remained stable over the three-year period. Students ate 74 percent of the fruit they selected for lunch. And fewer students chose a vegetable (68 percent in 2012 compared with 52 percent in 2014), but the percentage of vegetables they consumed increased by nearly 20 percent, which effectively decreased the amount of vegetables thrown away. Students consumed more of their lunch entrées (up from 71 percent of their entrée in 2012 to 84 percent to 2014), also decreasing food waste.

Article Features Malnutrition Alliance and Academy

The Alliance to Advance Patient Nutrition was cited in a March 11 Huffington Post article on the growing problem of malnutrition in older Americans. The Alliance's interdisciplinary model was cited as important to address malnutrition in hospitals. The article highlighted the dire impact of malnutrition, with one in three older adults being malnourished upon hospital admission. Solutions to the malnutrition crisis include actions at the hospital-provider level, at the consumer level, and at all levels of government. The Academy co-hosted a webinar in January for the 2015 White House Conference on Aging with the National Association of Nutrition and Aging Service Programs and Abbott Nutrition, and continues to collaborate on addressing this important issue.

As I have spoken with so many of you over the past few days, I found myself saying: “be sure you review our Unresolved Issues” section in the Interim Task Force Report. The reason is because it is almost an “agenda” so to speak, for what people are saying and commenting on. Now I know how it is to be lost in piles of papers, so I thought I’d be good and send you another copy of the report. Again, just review our “unresolved issues.” They are almost prophetic, and it might be a good review as we meet tomorrow. If you did, in fact, memorize the report and do not need this copy, please discard this note!!! (I thought we needed a little levity.)

Paul, That works, much better wording. I just did not want to confuse them, but this makes it very clear and much more informative.

I will be ready for the board meeting, but I am going to try and start getting them primed for what they will be seeing in May. They need to understand what we are facing and the role they play.

Paul, I have just taken a quick look through the deck. So far we need to correct a typo on Slide 6 "exceed" not "exeed".

I also think we need to restate Slide 7 where we talk about continued growth in eNCPT sales sets a strong foundation for FY16 revenue. We just said that it was falling short for revenue, so I assume that we have seen a strong increase in sales recently, that will make us more optimistic for the future. If that is correct, we probably need to word it a little differently so we don't confuse people. I hope this gets the boards attention!

So far, these are the only questions or concerns that I have.

I hope this gets the boards attention!

Subject: RE: Foundation Message to members 3-16-15

All,

I've followed the prolific email trail regarding the "Kraft crunch" [my term] over the last week or so. As a public member of the Board, I wonder how clients/patients/consumers view the addition of the AND logo on Kraft singles. Do they believe the logo represents an endorsement? Do they care? Does it alter a consumer's view of the Academy or RDs/DTRs credibility? They may, they may not.

I frequently tell my story about taking Lisa Hark, the RD who starred in the US version of the TV show, "Honey, we're killing the kids" (You can Google it) to dinner prior to a speaking engagement for a "State of Preventive Health Summit". My concern was that I would need to order sprouts, lettuce, yogurt, and tofu for dinner (kale wasn't in fashion then) to keep from being derided by this apparent food police. Her most recent episode called for junk food-eating 8 and 11 year olds to immediately switch to Brussel sprouts and asparagus. I made sure she ordered first, and to my relief, she selected lamb chops with mint jelly, a baked potato with sour cream and butter, a salad, and a dessert. When I asked her how her dinner selection fit with her TV show, she replied, "It's all about moderation." My respect for this dietician rose exponentially.

My point here is that at least this consumer looks for nutritionists to provide practical advice on how real people in the real world can eat a healthy diet.

That said, I don't have Kraft singles in my refrigerator (I prefer real cheese), but I certainly don't condemn those who do, especially those who have kids (Aren't you relieved, Aida?)

I'm not surprised by "journalists" misrepresenting facts in a story to make a personal point. It's disappointing, but not surprising, and I would have expected better from the New York Times.

I'm also not surprised that a segment of nutritionists/AND members are upset- no, outraged- that this action by the AND organization that represents them (and by extension their professional identity) has besmirched them by working with a corporate giant. We had this discussion at the Board meeting, and the topic was at least peripherally presented at FNCE.

So fine, let's talk about it [again]. I absolutely agree that we need to listen to AND members carefully and authentically. We also need to understand what proportion of the membership they represent, and how rigorous our dietary standards and principles should be.

More importantly, let's think through how our customers view this event. Some damage has been done by a careless [being kind] reporter, but I doubt it will be the end of the world. On the other hand, there may be consumers out there like me who are glad that nutritionists aren't riding around on their high horses, demanding that we all eat high-priced, organically-farmed, free range, humanely produced goat or sheep cheese.

Finally, I would like for us to consider as AND Board members our duty to protect the brand AND our fiduciary duty to keep the Academy and the Foundation viable. We can "repeal the seal", though at this point I don't expect complaining members to be happy. We also need to think through what backing out of Kraft support for the Foundation will do to future opportunities for external support.

Could we have planned better for this support deal? Maybe.

Could we have anticipated a NYT reporter presenting such an inaccurate representation? Probably not, unless you're a cynic like me.

Let's talk about it with our members. Let's work to get an accurate representation of the relationship with Kraft out in the media. Let's see what our customers think and whether they care. But let's avoid knee-jerk reactions.

To quote an RD I respect, "It's all about the moderation."

I am at NDEP 1. Thank YOU Pat, because up to the 11th hour she was supporting me and helping me be ready for the BOD presentation and Q and A. I felt that I had what I needed to address questions. This was on Sunday and Pat and her team were working ALL WEEKEND on this. I am so grateful to Pat and our amazing staff!

The only questions I received during the Q a A were about this (NOT my presentation). Many had not heard anything (they were traveling to NDEP when this "broke"), but many had and the anger in the room was evident. I was able to remind them that I was a human being and that I respected them, and needed them to respect me. They didn't crucify me and have been very polite since then. But I have heard of nothing else during personal interactions and I am glad they feel free to talk through it and express how they feel.

Everyone here and many people who are now emailing have already heard that it is not a seal, not endorsement. For them, it DOESN'T MATTER, it is about public perception, and they still see it as "Why Kraft, Why singles." To the best of my ability I have clarified that, without them feeling any better about it, but they have listened politely and I have also been all ears. People want to be heard and my duty is to hear them out.

Another issue is that they do not understand WHY this was done before the HOD spring meeting. In their eyes, that is disrespectful. I have also explained that this process had been in the works with the Foundation for a LONG time and that our timelines are different. This also is not encountered with any positive feedback.

A few people heard Sonja at FNCE and the assurance she gave members that we HEAR them and that she had appointed a task force to look at sponsorship. They want to know WHY this happened before the task force deliberated AFTER the HOD meeting. Telling them that the Foundation's timeline and discussions had been going on for over a year and that the release is unrelated, has also not produced peace or satisfaction.

There are 2 delegates here, who each have received over 100 personal emails from members complaining. I imagine most are identical, yet they still are concerned and handling it very maturely and diplomatically, I am proud of them and all our delegates.

Dear Board, I think this has moved from educating the members and being appaled that they would believe the NYT, to an issue of great dissatisfaction with corporate sponsorship, a very sensitive issue and one that we know members are sensitive about, some super sensitive.

I realize I am in California, the land of fresh and un-processed. I may be the only one here adding Splenda to my coffee, eating a processed bar as a snack, and drinking Diet Pepsi. I know I am in a sensitive environment. But I do believe this issue touched a RAW nerve with MANY members who consider sponsorship as the area they resent the most about membership.

Lets keep that in mind. Lets respect and hear them out. They don't want or deserve a pat on the head. And please, let's not announce Monsanto any time soon.

Respectfully and from my heart,

Aida

A note of humor- someone asked me if it was in my refrigerator (expecting a "no!"), and was taken aback when I said YES, and I explained why I have singles and ff-singles always in my fridge - singles melts GREAT in grits and I married a Georgia boy, and I have eaten FF singles since they came out... eons ago, I have high cholesterol and I like them.

First, I am so happy we have sought outside assistance with this situation. It has too many levels to react piecemeal to each one. And kudos to Elise, who introduced the HOD Mega Issue many months ago....having this item on the HOD agenda gets us out in front of this, not behind. And the fact that this dialogue will be added to the Task Force work is even better.

My last comment (well, probably not) is going to sound a bit “twisted”, but after complaining about the apathy of our members for years, I am thrilled to see them getting involved. I know this is tough, but handling it properly certainly will be better for us in the long run.

Thank you very much for your feedback on the draft letter. Based on the recommendation of a crisis and risk consultant, and feedback from Sonja and Terri, attached is a shorter letter, which will come from me to all members today. Again, I reiterate, the goal is assuring our members that we are not only listening, but responding with actionable solutions.

As a result of the discussion with the risk consultant, we are proposing to engage members through a webinar, at Nutrition News Forecast, Spring House of Delegates and affiliate meetings. Our goal is to let members and external groups know that we hear them and we want to engage in a civil discourse.

The House Leadership Team proactively scheduled the sponsorship discussion at the May House of Delegates virtual meeting and we are encouraging all members to reach out to delegates to obtain perspectives. The Board appointed sponsorship taskforce, which included a variety of perspectives regarding sponsorship, is presenting its recommendations to delegates for input and feedback.

Confidential: We propose establishing a new member advisory panel comprised of the three principal members who started the change.org petition: Rachel Begun, Kate Geagan, and Regan

Jones, all members and RDNs. These three individuals are thoughtful and respected members of the Academy who are known to think critically. The result of using this panel is putting power back into member hands to help restore trust as we drive for transparency and civil discourse. We had a very positive conversation with them and hope to have an answer from them tomorrow; for that reason the member communication does not identify the group by name.

We have also reached out to Kraft for a retraction, to legal counsel for our options, and to a strategic communications crisis management firm. We will discuss all of these items during our conference call on Thursday.

Sincerely,

Thanks Pat for your reply.

I suggest something be sent to the DPGs and Affiliate leaders re: the corrections and talk points for members to be able to respond to the media in their own communities.

Do we know how many people viewed Sonja's message?
It is only effective if we are reaching the members.

While presenting in OK, I emphasized the need for members to check online each month and watch the presidents video for the latest message.

Maybe we need a place on the MEMBER ONLY site for Media Talk Points on Current Issues

At the end of the last BOD meeting, I was restating that we need to ask members - at time of renewing their dues - 5 questions that are relevant to our decisions - must answer or cannot renew the dues.

One - in what area do you practice? and list categories that we know are missing now

Two - are you active in social media - have them check if they blog - tweet - instagram - If Yes, would they want to receive a monthly media blast on current issues - (I would like to know how many of our members are actively using social media) Or direct them to the web site tab to bookmark for media alerts

Will give this more thought - have a good weekend!

Hello All,

Pat, can you clarify - the approved talk points - do you mean what is indented below?

- The Academy does not endorse any products, brands or services.
- All of the content on KidsEatRight.org/CheesyFacts will be authored by registered dietitian nutritionists and the bylines will reflect that.
- The Academy maintains the same level of review of this content as all other Kids Eat Right website pages. The recipes will also be clearly identified as sponsored recipes. It will be clearly stated that the Academy does not endorse products or services; and at the bottom of the recipe a statement and link to eatrightPRO to learn more about the collaboration is included.

Are there talk points for Academy spokespeople on this?

There needs to be Talk Points for our members/leaders - like NE, FCP, HEN, so that members can handle the media in their areas and can support the Foundation on this effort.

As I recall, the negative criticism was anticipated - esp in light of not including the logo/statement on other products because they are a separate brand.

Perhaps this can be used with Kraft to open that door faster.

Please keep us updated - I would like to have copies of the talk points as I am also a member of several DPGs and on the listserv.

Thank you,

On Mar 13, 2015, at 1:35 PM, Patricia Babjak <PBABJAK@eatright.org> wrote:

To the Academy and the Academy Foundation Boards of Directors:

You have probably read or heard about an article that was published Thursday, March 12, on the New York Times' "Well" blog, concerning the Kids Eat Right/Kraft Singles "Cheesyfacts" collaboration. The article, written by a reporter who has criticized the Academy in the past about issues of corporate sponsorship, contains numerous factual errors. We are working with Kraft and its public relations agency Ketchum to identify the source of these errors and, more importantly, to obtain a correction or retraction of the story by the Times.

The article incorrectly states that Kraft has become the first company to "earn a nutrition seal" from the Academy. It also quotes two Academy members – who have also been critical of our corporate sponsorship program – as calling the collaboration an endorsement by the Academy of Kraft and its products. The article states: "Kraft itself told The Times it was the first time the academy was endorsing a product."

The article did accurately quote Mary Beth Whalen as saying the program does not constitute an endorsement:

But the academy emphatically denied that the label was an endorsement. “The Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging identifies the brand as a proud supporter of Kids Eat Right,” Mary Beth Whalen, the academy foundation’s executive director, said in an email statement. “It also serves to drive broader visibility to KidsEatRight.org, a trusted educational resource for consumers.”

We are in communication with Kraft and Ketchum to determine how information that contradicts every key point, message and Q&A that we have developed for this program made its way into the article. We have informed Kraft and Ketchum in the strongest terms that their top priority must be to obtain a correction or retraction of the article from the Times.

The Academy and Kraft are developing a press release and other communications that will reinforce and clarify the Academy’s non-endorsement policy. This release will be distributed to the news media and posted on the Academy’s website and social media outlets.

We are also contacting media outlets who are following up on this story to tell them the Times story is not accurate, that there is no endorsement, and to give them the facts about the collaboration.

Please remember and refer to the key talking points that you approved as part of the Kraft project:

- The Academy does not endorse any products, brands or services.
- All of the content on KidsEatRight.org/CheesyFacts will be authored by registered dietitian nutritionists and the bylines will reflect that.
- The Academy maintains the same level of review of this content as all other Kids Eat Right website pages. The recipes will also be clearly identified as sponsored recipes. It will be clearly stated that the Academy does not endorse products or services; and at the bottom of the recipe a statement and link to eatrightPRO to learn more about the collaboration is included.

It is important to note that the actual language on the package merely identifies Kraft Singles as a Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right (similar to the Heart Truth Campaign and NHLBI, Lids for Lives and Breast Cancer, etc.).

We will keep you posted on developments as they occur. Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

As you know in the BOD Plan of Work one of the STRATEGIC PRIORITIES is to “Develop key relationships with own Congressional representatives in the role of an Academy leader.”

Here is a great opportunity to execute this priority to be recognized by your member of Congress as a nutrition leader in their district. The Congressional Diabetes Caucus leadership is seeking support for a “Dear Colleague” letter, from members of their Congressional Diabetes Caucus to support funding in diabetes research and prevention programs at NIH and CDC. The deadline for members of Congress to sign-on is Friday, March 20th. Can you send the following email to your member of this important caucus? The list of the caucus member is attached with the staff contact information. The letter is also included.

Suggested language for the request:

Dear (STAFF NAME),

As an elected member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Board of Directors, I am proud that you as my Congressman/Congresswoman XXX is a member of the Congressional Diabetes Caucus. I appreciate his/her being a champion of diabetes research and prevention. These efforts help prevent this disease which research has indicated the stress on families and individuals with diabetes. With nearly 30 million people diagnosed with diabetes, and an additional 86 million with prediabetes, it is important to invest in finding the evidence-based practices, such as medical nutrition therapy, which can prevent this costly disease.

It is important that the caucus has a strong showing on this to other members of Congress during this budget time. Would you ask that XXX signs on and shows his/her support for fully funding diabetes research and prevention in the Fiscal Year 2016 budget?

Thank you for your consideration, and please let me know if you have any questions. And please feel free to contact on any nutrition questions you might have regarding nutrition services and programs for your constituents. I would be glad to be a resource for you.

Thank you very much for your feedback on the draft letter. Based on the recommendation of a crisis and risk consultant, and feedback from Sonja and Terri, attached is a shorter letter, which will come from me to all members today. Again, I reiterate, the goal is assuring our members that we are not only listening, but responding with actionable solutions.

As a result of the discussion with the risk consultant, we are proposing to engage members through a webinar, at Nutrition News Forecast, Spring House of Delegates and affiliate meetings. Our goal is to let members and external groups know that we hear them and we want to engage in a civil discourse.

The House Leadership Team proactively scheduled the sponsorship discussion at the May House of Delegates virtual meeting and we are encouraging all members to reach out to delegates to obtain perspectives. The Board appointed sponsorship taskforce, which included a variety of perspectives regarding sponsorship, is presenting its recommendations to delegates for input and feedback.

Confidential: We propose establishing a new member advisory panel comprised of the three principal members who started the change.org<<http://change.org>> petition: Rachel Begun, Kate Geagan, and Regan Jones, all members and RDNs. These three individuals are thoughtful and respected members of the Academy who are known to think critically. The result of using this panel is putting power back into member hands to help restore trust as we drive for transparency and civil discourse. We had a very positive conversation with them and hope to have an answer from them tomorrow; for that reason the member communication does not identify the group by name.

We have also reached out to Kraft for a retraction, to legal counsel for our options, and to a strategic communications crisis management firm. We will discuss all of these items during our conference call on Thursday.

Sincerely,

Message from Academy CEO on Kids Eat Right Collaboration

March 17, 2015

To all members of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics:

Let me begin by apologizing for the concerns caused by the education initiative with Kraft. The Academy and the Foundation are listening. As a member-driven organization, the Academy's staff and leadership hear your concerns and welcome your input.

Unfortunately, recent news articles misstated a collaboration as a Kids Eat Right "endorsement" of Kraft Singles, and that it represents a "seal of approval" from Kids Eat Right, the Foundation, or the Academy. It is not an endorsement. It is not a seal of approval. We understand this distinction is of little consequence to many Academy members who are concerned with the perception. We are working on a solution.

In addition, we are working to establish a joint, member-driven Member Advisory Panel. This Panel will work closely with both Boards to:

- Establish dialogue with members
- Gather input and give feedback on member issues
- Make specific recommendations

Recognizing sponsorship as a significant issue of concern among members, the House of Delegates leadership team, who also serve on the Board of Directors, scheduled a dialogue on sponsorship for the upcoming virtual House of Delegates meeting, May 3. We encourage all members to reach out to your delegates and share your thoughts on the benefits of, concerns about and suggestions for the sponsorship program. The Academy and Foundation Boards are looking forward to your input.

Thank you very much!

Sincerely,

Patricia M. Babjak

Each year the Board uses a self-assessment tool developed by BoardSource to evaluate and improve its effectiveness as a governing board. The assessment is utilized by the Board to evaluate our strengths and challenges and by the Executive Team to strengthen operational processes. The tool is also helpful in familiarizing Board members about expected responsibilities, in planning meeting agendas, and identifying topics for the Board orientation and retreat meetings.

Tomorrow you will receive the online questionnaire directly from BoardSource from their e-mail address, assessments@boardsource.org. Your individual responses are tabulated by BoardSource and are kept confidential; only aggregate results are provided. Marla Bobowick, senior governance consultant with BoardSource, will again attend our Board meeting in May to facilitate the discussion about the results.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you for your input!

As a result of the discussion with the risk consultant, we are proposing to engage members through a webinar, at Nutrition News Forecast, Spring House of Delegates and affiliate meetings. Our goal is to let members and external groups know that we hear them and we want to engage in a civil discourse.

The House Leadership Team proactively scheduled the sponsorship discussion at the May House of Delegates virtual meeting and we are encouraging all members to reach out to delegates to obtain perspectives. The Board appointed sponsorship taskforce, which included a variety of perspectives regarding sponsorship, is presenting its recommendations to delegates for input and feedback.

Confidential: We propose establishing a new member advisory panel comprised of the three principal members who started the change.org petition: Rachel Begun, Kate Geagan, and Regan Jones, all members and RDNs. These three individuals are thoughtful and respected members of the Academy who are known to think critically. The result of using this panel is putting power back into member hands to help restore trust as we drive for transparency and civil discourse. We had a very positive conversation with them and hope to have an answer from them tomorrow; for that reason the member communication does not identify the group by name.

We have also reached out to Kraft for a retraction, to legal counsel for our options, and to a strategic communications crisis management firm. We will discuss all of these items during our conference call on Thursday.

Dear Academy Delegate,

Thank you for representing members at the upcoming House of Delegate meeting. This letter is in response to the core question due to be discussed on May 3:

"How do we evolve our existing sponsorship program to further the mission, vision and goals of the Academy while safeguarding the Academy's reputation and integrity?"

First, I want to express my strong disappointment in the Academy Foundation's decision to put the first-ever Kid Eat Right seal on packages of Kraft Singles. Despite the Academy's insistence that this seal is not an endorsement or a seal of approval, both dietitians and the public perceive it as such.

I believe that the reason the House of Delegates is addressing Corporate Sponsorship at the spring meeting is precisely because many members feel our reputation is eroding in the eyes of the public and other health professionals as a result of partnerships with Coca-Cola, PepsiCo, General Mills, and Kellogg's.

This latest development, while specific to the Academy Foundation, is another problematic conflict of interest that highlights the need to make serious reforms. This dependence on controversial corporate partnerships is compromising our ability to promote nutrition and is a betrayal to our hard earned credential.

I believe if we want to be regarded as THE nutrition experts, we need to raise the bar and remain independent from food industry influence. It is time for the Academy to honestly and deliberately address the concerns of dietitians, through real tangible action, not regurgitated old positions and supporting the status quo.

For years, the Academy has said it is listening to its members on this issue, but it is hard to believe that when the Academy's actions continue to prove otherwise.

I urge the House of Delegates to take a stand once and for all on behalf of the profession we all love. It is time for the Academy leadership to push for a new paradigm of fundraising that does not compromise our professional image nor ask professionals to uncomfortably defend the Academy.
Sincerely,

All,

I've followed the prolific email trail regarding the "Kraft crunch" [my term] over the last week or so. As a public member of the Board, I wonder how clients/patients/consumers view the addition of the AND logo on Kraft singles. Do they believe the logo represents an endorsement? Do they care? Does it alter a consumer's view of the Academy or RDs/DTRs credibility? They may, they may not.

I frequently tell my story about taking Lisa Hark, the RD who starred in the US version of the TV show, "Honey, we're killing the kids" (You can Google it) to dinner prior to a speaking engagement for a "State of Preventive Health Summit". My concern was that I would need to order sprouts, lettuce, yogurt, and tofu for dinner (kale wasn't in fashion then) to keep from being derided by this apparent food police. Her most recent episode called for junk food-eating 8 and 11 year olds to immediately switch to Brussel sprouts and asparagus. I made sure she ordered first, and to my relief, she selected lamb chops with mint jelly, a baked potato with sour cream and butter, a salad, and a dessert. When I asked her how her dinner selection fit with her TV show, she replied, “It’s all about moderation.” My respect for this dietician rose exponentially.

My point here is that at least this consumer looks for nutritionists to provide practical advice on how real people in the real world can eat a healthy diet.

That said, I don’t have Kraft singles in my refrigerator (I prefer real cheese), but I certainly don’t condemn those who do, especially those who have kids (Aren’t you relieved, Aida?)

I’m not surprised by “journalists” misrepresenting facts in a story to make a personal point. It’s disappointing, but not surprising, and I would have expected better from the New York Times.

I’m also not surprised that a segment of nutritionists/AND members are upset- no, outraged- that this action by the AND organization that represents them (and by extension their professional identity) has besmirched them by working with a corporate giant. We had this discussion at the Board meeting, and the topic was at least peripherally presented at FNCE.

So fine, let’s talk about it [again]. I absolutely agree that we need to listen to AND members carefully and authentically. We also need to understand what proportion of the membership they represent, and how rigorous our dietary standards and principles should be.

More importantly, let’s think through how our customers view this event. Some damage has been done by a careless [being kind] reporter, but I doubt it will be the end of the world.

On the other hand, there may be consumers out there like me who are glad that nutritionists aren’t riding around on their high horses, demanding that we all eat high-priced, organically-farmed, free range, humanely produced goat or sheep cheese.

Finally, I would like for us to consider as AND Board members our duty to protect the brand AND our fiduciary duty to keep the Academy and the Foundation viable. We can “repeal the seal”, though at this point I don’t expect complaining members to be happy. We also need to think through what backing out of Kraft support for the Foundation will do to future opportunities for external support.

Could we have planned better for this support deal? Maybe.

Could we have anticipated a NYT reporter presenting such an inaccurate representation?
Probably not, unless you're a cynic like me.

Let's talk about it with our members. Let's work to get an accurate representation of the relationship with Kraft out in the media. Let's see what our customers think and whether they care. But let's avoid knee-jerk reactions.

To quote an RD I respect, "It's all about the moderation."

Well said Aida. I agree with all she has said. We need to step back and wait for the conversation. We need to truly listen to the involved member and stop telling ourselves that it is a small minority. At this time I would encourage the Foundation to rethink the Monsanto decision.

This was on Sunday and Pat and her team were working ALL WEEKEND on this. I am so grateful to Pat and our amazing staff!

The only questions I received during the Q a A were about this (NOT my presentation). Many had not heard anything (they were traveling to NDEP when this "broke"), but many had and the anger in the room was evident. I was able to remind them that I was a human being and that I respected them, and needed them to respect me. They didn't crucify me and have been very polite since then. Everyone here and many people who are now emailing have already heard that it is not a seal, not endorsement. For them, it DOESN'T MATTER, it is about public perception, and they still see it as "Why Kraft, Why singles." To the best of my ability I have clarified that, without them feeling any better about it, but they have listened politely and I have also been all ears. People want to be heard and my duty is to hear them out.

Another issue is that they do not understand WHY this was done before the HOD spring meeting. In their eyes, that is disrespectful. I have also explained that this process had been in the works with the Foundation for a LONG time and that our timelines are different. This also is not encountered with any positive feedback.

A few people heard Sonja at FNCE and the assurance she gave members that we HEAR them and that she had appointed a task force to look at sponsorship. They want to know WHY this happened before the task force deliberated AFTER the HOD meeting. Telling them that the Foundation's timeline and discussions had been going on for over a year and that the release is unrelated, has also not produced peace or satisfaction.

There are 2 delegates here, who each have received over 100 personal emails from members complaining. I imagine most are identical, yet they still are concerned and handling it very maturely and diplomatically, I am proud of them and all our delegates.

Dear Board, I think this has moved from educating the members and being appaled that they would believe the NYT, to an issue of great dissatisfaction with corporate sponsorship, a very sensitive issue and one that we know members are sensitive about, some super sensitive.

I realize I am in California, the land of fresh and un-processed. I may be the only one here adding Splenda to my coffee, eating a processed bar as a snack, and drinking Diet Pepsi. I know I am in a sensitive environment. But I do believe this issue touched a RAW nerve with MANY members who consider sponsorship as the area they resent the most about membership.

Lets keep that in mind. Lets respect and hear them out. They don't want or deserve a pat on the head. And please, let's not announce Monsanto any time soon.

Respectfully and from my heart,

Aida

A note of humor- someone asked me if it was in my refrigerator (expecting a "no!"), and was taken aback when I said YES, and I explained why I have singles and ff-singles always in my fridge - singles melts GREAT in grits and I married a Georgia boy, and I have eaten FF singles since they came out... eons ago, I have high cholesterol and I like them.

They want to know WHY this happened before the task force deliberated AFTER the HOD meeting. Telling them that the Foundation's timeline and discussions had been going on for over a year and that the release is unrelated, has also not produced peace or satisfaction.

There are 2 delegates here, who each have received over 100 personal emails from members complaining. I imagine most are identical, yet they still are concerned and handling it very maturely and diplomatically, I am proud of them and all our delegates.

Dear Board, I think this has moved from educating the members and being appaled that they would believe the NYT, to an issue of great dissatisfaction with corporate sponsorship, a very sensitive issue and one that we know members are sensitive about, some super sensitive.

I realize I am in California, the land of fresh and un-processed. I may be the only one here adding Splenda to my coffee, eating a processed bar as a snack, and drinking Diet Pepsi. I know I am in a sensitive environment. But I do believe this issue touched a RAW nerve with MANY members who consider sponsorship as the area they resent the most about membership.

Lets keep that in mind. Lets respect and hear them out. They don't want or deserve a pat on the head. And please, let's not announce Monsanto any time soon.

Respectfully and from my heart,
Aida

A note of humor- someone asked me if it was in my refrigerator (expecting a "no!"), and was taken aback when I said YES, and I explained why I have singles and ff-singles always in my fridge - singles melts GREAT in grits and I married a Georgia boy, and I have eaten FF singles since they came out... eons ago, I have high cholesterol and I like them.

I wish we could ask each person complaining about this project if they have any Kraft Cheese singles in their refrigerator? I have had School Nutrition Directors complaining and I want to ask them what they put on those cheeseburgers they serve everyday? What about RD's who work in hospitals, what do they put on the cheeseburgers they serve? I will go on the record telling the whole world that I have Kraft singles in my refrigerator right now! I let my 2 year old grandson eat Kraft singles cheese as a snack with his apples. And guess what, I am not worried about DFAC's arresting me. This is exactly what turns people off about Registered Dietitians, is that we get on our high horse and think everyone should eat only kale and wheat berries. I just may have to go to the store tonight to buy some more Kraft singles!!!

Great message, Terri. It is unfortunate that many of our members have been perfectly content to just believe the NY Times. However, I have been hearing considerable backlash against "plastic cheese." Again, people seem to ignore how it is made and it's nutrient content....emotion trumps science again. I am hearing and seeing some pretty wild and crazy stuff.

Dear Academy Delegate,

Thank you for representing members at the upcoming House of Delegate meeting. This letter is in response to the core question due to be discussed on May 3:

"How do we evolve our existing sponsorship program to further the mission, vision and goals of the Academy while safeguarding the Academy's reputation and integrity?"

First, I want to express my strong disappointment in the Academy Foundation's decision to put the first-ever Kid Eat Right seal on packages of Kraft Singles. Despite the Academy's insistence that this seal is not an endorsement or a seal of approval, both dietitians and the public perceive it as such.

I believe that the reason the House of Delegates is addressing Corporate Sponsorship at the spring meeting is precisely because many members feel our reputation is eroding in the eyes of the public and other health professionals as a result of partnerships with Coca-Cola, PepsiCo, General Mills, and Kellogg's.

This latest development, while specific to the Academy Foundation, is another problematic conflict of interest that highlights the need to make serious reforms. This dependence on controversial corporate partnerships is compromising our ability to promote nutrition and is a betrayal to our hard earned credential.

I believe If we want to be regarded as THE nutrition experts, we need to raise the bar and remain independent from food industry influence.

It is time for the Academy to honestly and deliberately address the concerns of dietitians, through real tangible action, not regurgitated old positions and supporting the status quo.

For years, the Academy has said it is listening to its members on this issue, but it is hard to believe that when the Academy's actions continue to prove otherwise.

I urge the House of Delegates to take a stand once and for all on behalf of the profession we all love. It is time for the Academy leadership to push for a new paradigm of fundraising that does not compromise our professional image nor ask professionals to uncomfortably defend the Academy.

Sincerely,

Janine Wong, MS, RD, CNSC

Subject: Kids Eat Right Foundation Logo & Awareness Campaign
Attachment:

Dear Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and Kids Eat Right Foundation Leadership:

I am writing to share my strong opposition to the Kids Eat Right (KER) Foundation's step to provide their logo for use on packaged products. I was stunned and disappointed to see that this feature of the new awareness campaign is being rolled out with KRAFT singles as the first product. To be honest, I do not believe that this is the worst product on the market, or harmful per se; I ate them as a child and I turned out just fine. However, that isn't the point. Perception is reality and the public perception is that this food is a highly refined "cheese product" -- not "real food". Even the National School Lunch Program does not permit this product as part of the reimbursable meal program.

The fact is that I do not believe (and many others do not believe) that it is the kind of optimal food that we want to encourage Americans to choose as a path to better health. Our collective goal should be to hold up for the public the ideal dietary recommendations to aid them in moving closer to a diet that prevents disease and promotes vitality and health - a diet high in fruits, vegetables, whole grains and other minimally processed whole foods. The suggestion by the KER Foundation that this is not an endorsement is absolutely ridiculous, as that is exactly how it was viewed by the media and the public. One only has to take a look at the coverage by ALL of the major media outlets to see how damaging this has been to the registered dietitian nutritionist.

I know that I am not alone, as I have seen the firestorm on social media, including more than 100 comments on the Academy's Facebook post on this topic alone. The message is clear. We are angry; we are embarrassed; we feel betrayed. The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, and by extension the Kids Eat Right Foundation, ARE representatives of the registered dietitian nutritionist, but today they do not represent me.

I would suggest that because the Academy and KER represent a diverse group of members that they should not allow their logo, likeness or image to be used on any specific brand or product. Moreover, the Academy membership, whom the Academy and its representative organizations represents, should be informed in advance of a decision being considered to utilize the logo, likeness or image for any commercial purpose. And let's be honest, this was for a commercial purpose, KRAFT's motivation is not altruism.

As a member of the Academy, I am embarrassed at the negative media attention and damage to our collective reputation. Those who wish to prove that dietitians are in the pocket of "big food" and out of touch with the latest science of good nutrition now have adequate ammunition for the foreseeable future. Like KRAFT, I only want to align myself with organizations that improve my standing with other professionals, potential clients, and the public at large. For the first time in 10 years, and after participating in service in many areas, I am considering non-renewal of my membership because I am no longer convinced that the Academy's values and goals and mine are the same.

I trust that my feedback, as well as that of countless other members will encourage you, the Academy leadership, to reconsider this decision -- and to seek opportunities to realign your current strategy with the values and voices of your membership.

Sincerely,

Sherry Coleman Collins, MS, RDN, LD

I am sorry this has caused such an unpleasant uproar among members. That said, this is an excellent letter and many kudos for those who crafted it (don't you just love that, although no pun intended).

I bow to those who are closer to this than I am, so take these comments as just a thought. It seems that you want your most powerful statement to resonate with folks right at the beginning. So what do you think about moving a couple of sentences around? One suggestion would pair our choice to recognize those who are supporters, such as for profit, non-profit and government for this outstanding program right in the first paragraph. Then to move more of the data surrounding the calcium and vitamin D later in the body of the letter.

This is not worth much time, just my first thought as I read it. We need to move so if this is a lone idea.....go with the letter. It is truly good information.

I love the repetition of no endorsement, no seal of approval.

See below:

You have concerns, and the Academy and the Foundation are listening.

In recent days, there has been a substantial amount of public misinformation about the Foundation's Kids Eat Right collaboration with Kraft Singles. False and misleading characterization of the program have been reported in the media about an initiative that – contrary to news reports, is designed to raise awareness of the importance of vitamin D and calcium in children's diets and to educate consumers on how to improve eating patterns among America's kids and families. Since its inception, Kids Eat Right has been supported by numerous organizations – for-profit, nonprofit and government – and this collaboration is no different. The language on the package merely identifies Kraft Singles as a Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right. This is similar to other initiatives as Heart Truth Campaign and NHLBI, and Lids for Lives and breast cancer. No endorsement, no seal of approval.

It is important to note that this is not the first time the Academy's logo and website have appeared on food packages. In the past, we have engaged in collaborations with Barilla pasta, Hunts tomato products and Gerber, with no negative reactions from members or others. The difference this time? It is the first use of the Kids Eat Right logo. The Foundation's "State of Family Nutrition and Physical Activity: Are we Making Progress?" report noted that 80 percent of girls and 75 percent of boys age 4 to 18 have inadequate intakes of calcium, and nearly half of all kids' diets are deficient in vitamin D. In addition, the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee's scientific report continues to identify calcium and vitamin D as nutrients of concern. A recent Academy member survey showed that 51 percent were not aware of these statistics, and nearly 50 percent were not aware that over half of all boys and more than 90 percent of girls ages 9 to 18 don't consume daily recommended amounts of milk and milk products daily. Nearly 90 percent of the survey's respondents agreed that the Academy should create additional initiatives similar to Kids Eat Right.

The Foundation has been discussing this issue with Kraft for well over a year. The Foundation Board of Directors, with feedback from the Academy Board of Directors, approved this initiative to develop nutrition education materials and outreach activities that will raise the visibility of Kids Eat Right among consumers.

Why Kraft? Kraft Singles is an excellent source of calcium and a good source of vitamin D. Placement of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles means our message will reach approximately 80 percent of all U.S. households and has the potential to send more than 20 million consumers to the Kids Eat Right website for credible information and recipes developed by registered dietitian nutritionists. In short, we are reaching consumers where they live, with our healthful eating messages.

It is not an endorsement. It is not a seal of approval.

As mentioned above, the Academy's leadership hears your concerns, and welcomes your input in all decision-making. Members, after all, are the Academy.

Again-----I am all for this going out asap as originally sent. Just sharing an initial impression.

Great message, Terri. It is unfortunate that many of our members have been perfectly content to just believe the NY Times. However, I have been hearing considerable backlash against "plastic cheese." Again, people seem to ignore how it is made and it's nutrient content....emotion trumps science again. I am hearing and seeing some pretty wild and crazy stuff.

Attachment:

Dear AND Board of Directors Executive Committee,

I want to express my great disappointment in the Academy Foundation's decision to put the first-ever Kids Eat Right seal on packages of Kraft Singles. Despite the Academy's insistence that this seal is not an endorsement or a seal of approval, both dietitians and the public perceive it as such. This latest development, while specific to the Academy Foundation, is another problematic conflict of interest that highlights the need to make serious reforms. This dependence on controversial corporate partnerships is compromising our ability to promote nutrition and is a betrayal to our hard earned credentials.

I believe that if we want to be regarded as THE nutrition experts, we need to raise the bar and remain independent from food industry influence. It is time for the Academy to honestly and deliberately address the concerns of registered dietitian/nutritionists, through real tangible action, not regurgitated old positions and supporting the status quo.

For years, the Academy has said it is listening to its members on this issue, but it is hard to believe that when the Academy's actions continue to prove otherwise.

I very strongly urge the House of Delegates to take a stand once and for all on behalf of the profession we all love. It is time for the Academy leadership to push for a new paradigm of fundraising that does not compromise our professional image, confuse consumers, nor ask professionals to uncomfortably defend the Academy.

Thank you for your time and service to AND members.

Sincerely,

Sharlene Moore, MS, RD, CD, CNSC

Hi Denice,

The writer from The New York Times contacted us on Wednesday and we responded to her with the statement about the education initiative later that afternoon. The NYT released the article on Thursday. My email to the Academy and Foundation Boards, sent on Friday, March 13 at 12:36 pm CT, stated the Academy was developing a press release and that this release will be distributed to the news media and posted on the Academy's website and social media outlets. The press release was posted at 3:30pm CT. Our press statement was distributed to media and posted to eatrightPRO.org on Friday. That statement is posted under the Foundation News section of the Press Release area, as well as in the first item under Latest News on the eatrightPRO.org homepage (here is the link: <http://www.eatrightpro.org/resource/media/press-releases/academy-foundation-news/statement-from-academy-foundation-on-new-nutrition-education-campaign>). I sent an email to the Board on Friday at 5:20pm CT and included the links to the press release.

I spoke to Harold about an hour ago regarding the tally of letters from member responses to the House. He responded there were approximately 75, mostly form letters, and there are about an additional 10 others that had a non-template response. The delegates received the talking points on Saturday, the DPGs and MIGS on Sunday and Affiliates today.

We received little negative input from the almost 4,000 unique plays of Sonja's video; that's because the messaging did not include the misrepresentation about endorsement. Much of the social media conversation has to do with the brand itself. The education initiative was announced on March 5 via an email to all members with a link to the video. On March 11, Eat Right Weekly also contained a link to the video.

Another letter will be posted to all list serves and sent to all committees and taskforces today since we have a grasp of the concerns.

To be left out of the communication loop as a BOD member and an Academy member is the part that will frustrate and discourage members - right before dues are renewed.

On the flip side, one agency and two current sponsors have reached out to us to inquire about the criteria for use of the logo on-package. The agency contact represents several product lines that she felt would be very interested.

Dear Academy Delegate,

Thank you for representing members at the upcoming House of Delegate meeting. This letter is in response to the core question due to be discussed on May 3:

"How do we evolve our existing sponsorship program to further the mission, vision and goals of the Academy while safeguarding the Academy's reputation and integrity?"

First, I want to express my strong disappointment in the Academy Foundation's decision to put the first-ever Kid Eat Right seal on packages of Kraft Singles. Despite the Academy's insistence that this seal is not an endorsement or a seal of approval, both dietitians and the public perceive it as such.

I believe that the reason the House of Delegates is addressing Corporate Sponsorship at the spring meeting is precisely because many members feel our reputation is eroding in the eyes of the public and other health professionals as a result of partnerships with Coca-Cola, PepsiCo, General Mills, and Kellogg's.

This latest development, while specific to the Academy Foundation, is another problematic conflict of interest that highlights the need to make serious reforms. This dependence on controversial corporate partnerships is compromising our ability to promote nutrition and is a betrayal to our hard earned credential.

I believe If we want to be regarded as THE nutrition experts, we need to raise the bar and remain independent from food industry influence. It is time for the Academy to honestly and deliberately address the concerns of dietitians, through real tangible action, not regurgitated old positions and supporting the status quo.

For years, the Academy has said it is listening to its members on this issue, but it is is hard to believe that when the Academy's actions continue to prove otherwise.

I urge the House of Delegates to take a stand once and for all on behalf of the profession we all love. It is time for the Academy leadership to push for a new paradigm of fundraising that does not compromise our professional image nor ask professionals to uncomfortably defend the Academy.

Sincerely,

Judy Mayer DTR

Thank you Pat and Doris for these templates and links.

For any future press interviews, please post this type of support materials in a message to all members as well as the DPGs and affiliates before the information is live. I and members understand that you cannot correct the errors in advance.

When were the interviews done?

Last week, I was presented at the OK state meeting and fortunately left on Thurs. I receive NYT alerts each morning on nutrition related topics.

To be left out of the communication loop as a BOD member and an Academy member is the part that will frustrate and discourage members - right before dues are renewed.

Also - in this email message - Sonja address was incorrect and M Christ-erwin

Here is the direct link to our press release that was distributed earlier today, this link is also included in the talking points document: Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics' collaboration with Kraft is not endorsement or seal of approval. <http://sm.eatright.org/kerPR>

Attached is a comprehensive list of talking points for you to use in responding to inquiries. These will be disseminated to staff directors to share with their member leader groups after Kraft reviews them, as per our agreement. A template response is also attached for your use.

Sonja's March all member video which included information about the collaboration with Kraft received over 3,367 unique plays.

On the flip side, one agency and two current sponsors have reached out to us to inquire about the criteria for use of the logo on-package. The agency contact represents several product lines that she felt would be very interested.

Dear Academy Delegates and AND Leadership,

Thank you for representing members at the upcoming House of Delegate meeting. This letter is in response to the core question due to be discussed on May 3:

"How do we evolve our existing sponsorship program to further the mission, vision and goals of the Academy while safeguarding the Academy's reputation and integrity?"

First, I want to express my strong disappointment in the Academy Foundation's decision to put the first-ever Kid Eat Right seal on packages of Kraft Singles. Despite the Academy's insistence that this seal is not an endorsement or a seal of approval, both dietitians and the public perceive it as such.

I believe that the reason the House of Delegates is addressing Corporate Sponsorship at the spring meeting is precisely because many members feel our reputation is eroding in the eyes of the public and other health professionals as a result of partnerships with Coca-Cola, PepsiCo, General Mills, and Kellogg's.

This latest development, while specific to the Academy Foundation, is another problematic conflict of interest that highlights the need to make serious reforms. This dependence on controversial corporate partnerships is compromising our ability to promote nutrition and is a BETRAYAL to our hard earned credential.

I believe If we want to be regarded as THE nutrition experts, we need to raise the bar and remain independent from food industry influence. It is time for the Academy to honestly and deliberately address the concerns of dietitians, through real tangible action, not regurgitated old positions and supporting the status quo.

For years, the Academy has said it is listening to its members on this issue, but it is is hard to believe that when the Academy's actions continue to prove otherwise.

I urge the House of Delegates to take a stand once and for all on behalf of the profession we all love. It is time for the Academy leadership to push for a new paradigm of fundraising that does not compromise our professional image nor ask professionals to uncomfortably defend the Academy.

Sincerely,

Rachel Erickson RDN

This article below is the exact type of thing that I can no longer defend. I adamantly disagree with this headline and all that it implies. I'm deeply saddened, sickened and extremely disappointed that this was allowed to happen.

Despite the Academy's insistence that this seal is not an endorsement or a seal of approval, both dietitians and the public perceive it as such.

I support the thought behind the mission, but surely there could have been a better way to promote awareness of certain vitamin and mineral deficiencies among children. I promote whole foods, minimally processed and in their most nutritious form. Kraft Singles is the very thing I try to encourage my clients to steer away from, and so this action contradicts the very lessons I am teaching.

I believe that the reason the House of Delegates is addressing Corporate Sponsorship at the spring meeting is precisely because many members feel our reputation is eroding in the eyes of the public and other health professionals as a result of partnerships with Coca-Cola, PepsiCo, General Mills, and Kellogg's.

Subject: New York Times Article - March 12, 2015

To the Academy and the Academy Foundation Boards of Directors:

You have probably read or heard about an article that was published Thursday, March 12, on the New York Times' "Well" blog, concerning the Kids Eat Right/Kraft Singles "Cheesyfacts" collaboration. The article, written by a reporter who has criticized the Academy in the past about issues of corporate sponsorship, contains numerous factual errors. We are working with Kraft and its public relations agency Ketchum to identify the source of these errors and, more importantly, to obtain a correction or retraction of the story by the Times.

The article incorrectly states that Kraft has become the first company to "earn a nutrition seal" from the Academy. It also quotes two Academy members – who have also been critical of our corporate sponsorship program – as calling the collaboration an endorsement by the Academy of Kraft and its products. The article states: "Kraft itself told The Times it was the first time the academy was endorsing a product."

The article did accurately quote Mary Beth Whalen as saying the program does not constitute an endorsement:

But the academy emphatically denied that the label was an endorsement. "The Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging identifies the brand as a proud supporter of Kids Eat Right," Mary Beth Whalen, the academy foundation's executive director, said in an email statement. "It also serves to drive broader visibility to KidsEatRight.org, a trusted educational resource for consumers.”

We are in communication with Kraft and Ketchum to determine how information that contradicts every key point, message and Q&A that we have developed for this program made its way into the article. We have informed Kraft and Ketchum in the strongest terms that their top priority must be to obtain a correction or retraction of the article from the Times.

The Academy and Kraft are developing a press release and other communications that will reinforce and clarify the Academy’s non-endorsement policy. This release will be distributed to the news media and posted on the Academy’s website and social media outlets.

We are also contacting media outlets who are following up on this story to tell them the Times story is not accurate, that there is no endorsement, and to give them the facts about the collaboration.

Please remember and refer to the key talking points that you approved as part of the Kraft project:

- The Academy does not endorse any products, brands or services.
- All of the content on KidsEatRight.org/CheesyFacts will be authored by registered dietitian nutritionists and the bylines will reflect that.
- The Academy maintains the same level of review of this content as all other Kids Eat Right website pages. The recipes will also be clearly identified as sponsored recipes. It will be clearly stated that the Academy does not endorse products or services; and at the bottom of the recipe a statement and link to eatrightPRO to learn more about the collaboration is included.

It is important to note that the actual language on the package merely identifies Kraft Singles as a Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right (similar to the Heart Truth Campaign and NHLBI, Lids for Lives and Breast Cancer, etc.).

We will keep you posted on developments as they occur. Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Patricia M. Babjak

Dear Academy Delegate,

Thank you for representing me and other AND members at the upcoming House of Delegates meeting. This letter is in response to the core question due to be discussed on May 3:

"How do we evolve our existing sponsorship program to further the mission, vision and goals of the Academy while safeguarding the Academy's reputation and integrity?"

First, I want to express my strong disappointment in the Academy Foundation's decision to put the first-ever Kid Eat Right seal on packages of Kraft Singles. Despite the Academy's insistence that this seal is not an endorsement or a seal of approval, both dietitians and the public perceive it as such. AND should not endorse a product that is not covered by the WIC program because it "is not a real food". WHY is the governing body of THE nutrition experts endorsing this product?

I believe that the reason the House of Delegates is addressing Corporate Sponsorship at the spring meeting is precisely because many members feel our reputation is eroding in the eyes of the public and other health professionals as a result of partnerships with Coca-Cola, PepsiCo, General Mills, and Kellogg's.

This latest development, while specific to the Academy Foundation, is another problematic conflict of interest that highlights the need to make serious reforms. This dependence on controversial corporate partnerships is compromising our ability to promote nutrition and is a betrayal to our hard earned credential.

I believe If we want to be regarded as THE nutrition experts, we need to raise the bar and remain independent from food industry influence. It is time for the Academy to honestly and deliberately address the concerns of dietitians, through real tangible action, not regurgitated old positions and supporting the status quo.

For years, the Academy has said it is listening to its members on this issue, but it is hard to believe that when the Academy's actions continue to prove otherwise.

It is difficult to make any actual progress in the diets and food habits of Americans when an increasing portion of the time of RDs is spent defending themselves because of the actions of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics. It is becoming more difficult to capture the attention and respect of other medical professionals, such as MDs, NPs, PAs, RNs and others due to the need to separate myself and my professional beliefs from those expressed by the Academy. Your endorsement of Kraft Singles is even more confusing for the public, who we are striving to serve. Furthermore, it raises concern for the future of our profession and credential. If we truly want to endorse a food due to its' calcium content, how about kale, spinach, collard greens, milk or actual cheese? Please stop working against us.

Since the time that the AND's endorsement of Kraft Singles was made public, I have had to defend my credential and choice of career more than ever. That causes me to question the future of our profession.

I urge the House of Delegates to take a stand once and for all on behalf of the profession we all love. It is time for the Academy leadership to push for a new paradigm of fundraising that does not compromise our professional image nor ask professionals to uncomfortably defend the Academy. Please represent me so that my voice can be heard.

Sincerely,

Rachel Trammell, MS, RDN, LD Member #1028540

Sonja's March all member video which included information about the collaboration with Kraft received over 3,367 unique plays.

On the flip side, one agency and two current sponsors have reached out to us to inquire about the Subject: Is the NY Times accurately reporting on a Kids Eat Right partnership with Kraft Foods?

Hello Denice,

I'm an Academy member who now has her designated affiliate status listed as PA and I obtained your email from the eatrightpa.org website.

In your capacity as Director-at-Large of AND, I'm guessing you've already been previously contacted regarding recent NY Times print and online articles mentioning the Academy since yesterday.

The NY Times has run an article that has gone viral implicating the Academy's Kids Eat Right program as entering into a partnership with Kraft Foods American Cheese Singles cheese food product.

Please also see: 03/12/2015 NY Times Blog: A Cheese 'Product' Gains Kids' Nutrition Seal http://well.blogs.nytimes.com/2015/03/12/a-cheese-product-wins-kids-nutrition-seal/?_r=1

Academy rank and file members of many DPGs are reacting strongly to what the NY Times has said.

I'd like to get all the pertinent facts before responding in any way to this situation as I feel very uninformed by the Academy at this time.

- Is the NY Times reporting in fact accurate in this instance?
- Does the Academy have an official statement membership can review and reference to have the facts from the Academy (both Kids Eat Right, and the AND Foundation) in this matter?

As an Academy member, I'd really like to review all the facts ASAP.

TYIA for any insight you can provide.

Cordially,

Thanks Pat for your reply.

I suggest something be sent to the DPGs and Affiliate leaders re: the corrections and talk points for members to be able to respond to the media in their own communities.

Do we know how many people viewed Sonja's message?

It is only effective if we are reaching the members.

While presenting in OK, I emphasized the need for members to check online each month and watch the presidents video for the latest message.

Maybe we need a place on the MEMBER ONLY site for Media Talk Points on Current Issues

At the end of the last BOD meeting, I was restating that we need to ask members - at time of renewing their dues - 5 questions that are relevant to our decisions - must answer or cannot renew the dues.

One - in what area do you practice? and list categories that we know are missing now

Two - are you active in social media - have them check if they blog - tweet - instagram - If Yes, would they want to receive a monthly media blast on current issues - (I would like to know how many of our members are actively using social media) Or direct them to the web site tab to bookmark for media alerts

Will give this more thought - have a good weekend!

Sonja's video message to all members included information on the collaboration. Unfortunately, it's the misrepresentation that causes the angst. Doris is preparing a template that you can use and/or distribute to others.

Hello All,

Pat, can you clarify - the approved talk points - do you mean what is indented below?

- The Academy does not endorse any products, brands or services.
- All of the content on KidsEatRight.org/CheesyFacts<http://kidseatright.org/CheesyFacts> will be authored by registered dietitian nutritionists and the bylines will reflect that.
- The Academy maintains the same level of review of this content as all other Kids Eat Right website pages. The recipes will also be clearly identified as sponsored recipes. It will be clearly stated that the Academy does not endorse products or services; and at the bottom of the recipe a statement and link to eatrightPRO to learn more about the collaboration is included.

Are there talk points for Academy spokespeople on this?

There needs to be Talk Points for our members/leaders - like NE, FCP, HEN, so that members can handle the media in their areas and can support the Foundation on this effort.

As I recall, the negative criticism was anticipated - esp in light of not including the logo/statement on other products because they are a separate brand.
Perhaps this can be used with Kraft to open that door faster.

Please keep us updated - I would like to have copies of the talk points as I am also a member of several DPGs and on the listserv.

Thank you,

To the Academy and the Academy Foundation Boards of Directors:

You have probably read or heard about an article that was published Thursday, March 12, on the New York Times' "Well" blog, concerning the Kids Eat Right/Kraft Singles "Cheesyfacts" collaboration. The article, written by a reporter who has criticized the Academy in the past about issues of corporate sponsorship, contains numerous factual errors. We are working with Kraft and its public relations agency Ketchum to identify the source of these errors and, more importantly, to obtain a correction or retraction of the story by the Times.

The article incorrectly states that Kraft has become the first company to "earn a nutrition seal" from the Academy. It also quotes two Academy members – who have also been critical of our corporate sponsorship program – as calling the collaboration an endorsement by the Academy of Kraft and its products. The article states: "Kraft itself told The Times it was the first time the academy was endorsing a product."

The article did accurately quote Mary Beth Whalen as saying the program does not constitute an endorsement:

But the academy emphatically denied that the label was an endorsement. "The Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging identifies the brand as a proud supporter of Kids Eat Right," Mary Beth Whalen, the academy foundation's executive director, said in an email statement. "It also serves to drive broader visibility to KidsEatRight.org< <http://kidseatright.org/>>, a trusted educational resource for consumers."

We are in communication with Kraft and Ketchum to determine how information that contradicts every key point, message and Q&A that we have developed for this program made its way into the article. We have informed Kraft and Ketchum in the strongest terms that their top priority must be to obtain a correction or retraction of the article from the Times.

The Academy and Kraft are developing a press release and other communications that will reinforce and clarify the Academy's non-endorsement policy. This release will be distributed to the news media and posted on the Academy's website and social media outlets.

We are also contacting media outlets who are following up on this story to tell them the Times story is not accurate, that there is no endorsement, and to give them the facts about the collaboration.

Please remember and refer to the key talking points that you approved as part of the Kraft project:

It is important to note that the actual language on the package merely identifies Kraft Singles as a Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right (similar to the Heart Truth Campaign and NHLBI, Lids for Lives and Breast Cancer, etc.).

We will keep you posted on developments as they occur. Thank you very much.

Subject: Is the NY Times accurately reporting on a Kids Eat Right partnership with Kraft Foods?

Hello Denice,

I'm an Academy member who now has her designated affiliate status listed as PA and I obtained your email from the eatrightpa.org website.

In your capacity as Director-at-Large of AND, I'm guessing you've already been previously contacted regarding recent NY Times print and online articles mentioning the Academy since yesterday.

The NY Times has run an article that has gone viral implicating the Academy's Kids Eat Right program as entering into a partnership with Kraft Foods American Cheese Singles cheese food product.

Please also see: 03/12/2015 NY Times Blog: A Cheese 'Product' Gains Kids' Nutrition Seal http://well.blogs.nytimes.com/2015/03/12/a-cheese-product-wins-kids-nutrition-seal/?_r=1

Academy rank and file members of many DPGs are reacting strongly to what the NY Times has said.

I'd like to get all the pertinent facts before responding in any way to this situation as I feel very uninformed by the Academy at this time.

- Is the NY Times reporting in fact accurate in this instance?
- Does the Academy have an official statement membership can review and reference to have the facts from the Academy (both Kids Eat Right, and the AND Foundation) in this matter?

As an Academy member, I'd really like to review all the facts ASAP.

TYIA for any insight you can provide.

Cordially,

Thanks Pat for your reply.

I suggest something be sent to the DPGs and Affiliate leaders re: the corrections and talk points for members to be able to respond to the media in their own communities.

Do we know how many people viewed Sonja's message?

It is only effective if we are reaching the members.

While presenting in OK, I emphasized the need for members to check online each month and watch the presidents video for the latest message.

Maybe we need a place on the MEMBER ONLY site for Media Talk Points on Current Issues

At the end of the last BOD meeting, I was restating that we need to ask members - at time of renewing their dues - 5 questions that are relevant to our decisions - must answer or cannot renew the dues.

One - in what area do you practice? and list categories that we know are missing now

Two - are you active in social media - have them check if they blog - tweet - instagram - If Yes, would they want to receive a monthly media blast on current issues - (I would like to know how many of our members are actively using social media) Or direct them to the web site tab to bookmark for media alerts

Will give this more thought - have a good weekend!

Hello Denice,

I'm an Academy member who now has her designated affiliate status listed as PA and I obtained your email from the eatrightpa.org website.

In your capacity as Director-at-Large of AND, I'm guessing you've already been previously contacted regarding recent NY Times print and online articles mentioning the Academy since yesterday.

The NY Times has run an article that has gone viral implicating the Academy's Kids Eat Right program as entering into a partnership with Kraft Foods American Cheese Singles cheese food product.

Please see: 03/13/2015 NewYork print edition, page B3, with Headline: Kraft Cheese Product Gains Nutritional Seal; Children's Advocates Criticize Move

Please also see: 03/12/2015 NY Times Blog: A Cheese 'Product' Gains Kids' Nutrition Seal
http://well.blogs.nytimes.com/2015/03/12/a-cheese-product-wins-kids-nutrition-seal/?_r=1

Academy rank and file members of many DPGs are reacting strongly to what the NY Times has said.

I'd like to get all the pertinent facts before responding in any way to this situation as I feel very uninformed by the Academy at this time.

•Is the NY Times reporting in fact accurate in this instance?

•Does the Academy have an official statement membership can review and reference to have the facts from the Academy (both Kids Eat Right, and the AND Foundation) in this matter?

As an Academy member, I'd really like to review all the facts ASAP.

TYIA for any insight you can provide.

Cordially,

Thanks Pat for your reply.

I suggest something be sent to the DPGs and Affiliate leaders re: the corrections and talk points for members to be able to respond to the media in their own communities.

Do we know how many people viewed Sonja's message?

It is only effective if we are reaching the members.

While presenting in OK, I emphasized the need for members to check online each month and watch the presidents video for the latest message.

Maybe we need a place on the MEMBER ONLY site for Media Talk Points on Current Issues

At the end of the last BOD meeting, I was restating that we need to ask members - at time of renewing their dues - 5 questions that are relevant to our decisions - must answer or cannot renew the dues.

One - in what area do you practice? and list categories that we know are missing now

Two - are you active in social media - have them check if they blog - tweet - instagram - If Yes, would they want to receive a monthly media blast on current issues - (I would like to know how many of our members are actively using social media) Or direct them to the web site tab to bookmark for media alerts

Will give this more thought - have a good weekend!

Hello All,

Pat, can you clarify - the approved talk points - do you mean what is indented below?

- The Academy does not endorse any products, brands or services.
- All of the content on KidsEatRight.org/CheesyFacts< <http://kidseatright.org/CheesyFacts>> will be authored by registered dietitian nutritionists and the bylines will reflect that.
- The Academy maintains the same level of review of this content as all other Kids Eat Right website pages. The recipes will also be clearly identified as sponsored recipes. It will be clearly stated that the Academy does not endorse products or services; and at the bottom of the recipe a statement and link to eatrightPRO to learn more about the collaboration is included.

Are there talk points for Academy spokespeople on this?

There needs to be Talk Points for our members/leaders - like NE, FCP, HEN, so that members can handle the media in their areas and can support the Foundation on this effort.

As I recall, the negative criticism was anticipated - esp in light of not including the logo/statement on other products because they are a separate brand.

Perhaps this can be used with Kraft to open that door faster.

Please keep us updated - I would like to have copies of the talk points as I am also a member of several DPGs and on the listserv.

You have probably read or heard about an article that was published Thursday, March 12, on the New York Times' "Well" blog, concerning the Kids Eat Right/Kraft Singles "Cheesyfacts" collaboration. The article, written by a reporter who has criticized the Academy in the past about issues of corporate sponsorship, contains numerous factual errors. We are working with Kraft and its public relations agency Ketchum to identify the source of these errors and, more importantly, to obtain a correction or retraction of the story by the Times.

The article incorrectly states that Kraft has become the first company to "earn a nutrition seal" from the Academy. It also quotes two Academy members – who have also been critical of our corporate sponsorship program – as calling the collaboration an endorsement by the Academy of Kraft and its products. The article states: "Kraft itself told The Times it was the first time the academy was endorsing a product."

The article did accurately quote Mary Beth Whalen as saying the program does not constitute an endorsement:

But the academy emphatically denied that the label was an endorsement. "The Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging identifies the brand as a proud supporter of Kids Eat Right," Mary Beth Whalen, the academy foundation's executive director, said in an email statement. "It also serves to drive broader visibility to KidsEatRight.org< <http://kidseatright.org/>>, a trusted educational resource for consumers."

We are in communication with Kraft and Ketchum to determine how information that contradicts every key point, message and Q&A that we have developed for this program made its way into the article. We have informed Kraft and Ketchum in the strongest terms that their top priority must be to obtain a correction or retraction of the article from the Times.

The Academy and Kraft are developing a press release and other communications that will reinforce and clarify the Academy's non-endorsement policy. This release will be distributed to the news media and posted on the Academy's website and social media outlets.

We are also contacting media outlets who are following up on this story to tell them the Times story is not accurate, that there is no endorsement, and to give them the facts about the collaboration.

Please remember and refer to the key talking points that you approved as part of the Kraft project:

- The Academy does not endorse any products, brands or services.

It is important to note that the actual language on the package merely identifies Kraft Singles as a Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right (similar to the Heart Truth Campaign and NHLBI, Lids for Lives and Breast Cancer, etc.).

We will keep you posted on developments as they occur. Thank you very much.

Thanks Pat for your reply.

I suggest something be sent to the DPGs and Affiliate leaders re: the corrections and talk points for members to be able to respond to the media in their own communities.

Do we know how many people viewed Sonja's message?

It is only effective if we are reaching the members.

While presenting in OK, I emphasized the need for members to check online each month and watch the presidents video for the latest message.

Maybe we need a place on the MEMBER ONLY site for Media Talk Points on Current Issues

At the end of the last BOD meeting, I was restating that we need to ask members - at time of renewing their dues - 5 questions that are relevant to our decisions - must answer or cannot renew the dues.

One - in what area do you practice? and list categories that we know are missing now

Two - are you active in social media - have them check if they blog - tweet - instagram - If Yes, would they want to receive a monthly media blast on current issues - (I would like to know how many of our members are actively using social media) Or direct them to the web site tab to bookmark for media alerts

Will give this more thought - have a good weekend!

Hello All,

Pat, can you clarify - the approved talk points - do you mean what is indented below?

- The Academy does not endorse any products, brands or services.
- All of the content on KidsEatRight.org/CheesyFacts will be authored by registered dietitian nutritionists and the bylines will reflect that.
- The Academy maintains the same level of review of this content as all other Kids Eat Right website pages. The recipes will also be clearly identified as sponsored recipes. It will be clearly stated that the Academy does not endorse products or services; and at the bottom of the recipe a statement and link to eatrightPRO to learn more about the collaboration is included.

Are there talk points for Academy spokespeople on this?

There needs to be Talk Points for our members/leaders - like NE, FCP, HEN, so that members can handle the media in their areas and can support the Foundation on this effort.

As I recall, the negative criticism was anticipated - esp in light of not including the logo/statement on other products because they are a separate brand.

Perhaps this can be used with Kraft to open that door faster.

Please keep us updated - I would like to have copies of the talk points as I am also a member of several DPGs and on the listserv.

Thank you,

To the Academy and the Academy Foundation Boards of Directors:

You have probably read or heard about an article that was published Thursday, March 12, on the New York Times' "Well" blog, concerning the Kids Eat Right/Kraft Singles "Cheesyfacts" collaboration. The article, written by a reporter who has criticized the Academy in the past about issues of corporate sponsorship, contains numerous factual errors. We are working with Kraft and its public relations agency Ketchum to identify the source of these errors and, more importantly, to obtain a correction or retraction of the story by the Times.

The article incorrectly states that Kraft has become the first company to "earn a nutrition seal" from the Academy. It also quotes two Academy members – who have also been critical of our corporate sponsorship program – as calling the collaboration an endorsement by the Academy of Kraft and its products. The article states: "Kraft itself told The Times it was the first time the academy was endorsing a product."

The article did accurately quote Mary Beth Whalen as saying the program does not constitute an endorsement:

But the academy emphatically denied that the label was an endorsement. "The Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging identifies the brand as a proud supporter of Kids Eat Right," Mary Beth Whalen, the academy foundation's executive director, said in an email statement. "It also serves to drive broader visibility to KidsEatRight.org, a trusted educational resource for consumers."

We are in communication with Kraft and Ketchum to determine how information that contradicts every key point, message and Q&A that we have developed for this program made its way into the article. We have informed Kraft and Ketchum in the strongest terms that their top priority must be to obtain a correction or retraction of the article from the Times.

The Academy and Kraft are developing a press release and other communications that will reinforce and clarify the Academy's non-endorsement policy. This release will be distributed to the news media and posted on the Academy's website and social media outlets.

We are also contacting media outlets who are following up on this story to tell them the Times story is not accurate, that there is no endorsement, and to give them the facts about the collaboration.

Please remember and refer to the key talking points that you approved as part of the Kraft project:

- The Academy does not endorse any products, brands or services.
- All of the content on KidsEatRight.org/CheesyFacts will be authored by registered dietitian nutritionists and the bylines will reflect that.
- The Academy maintains the same level of review of this content as all other Kids Eat Right website pages. The recipes will also be clearly identified as sponsored recipes. It will be clearly stated that the Academy does not endorse products or services; and at the bottom of the recipe a statement and link to eatrightPRO to learn more about the collaboration is included.

It is important to note that the actual language on the package merely identifies Kraft Singles as a Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right (similar to the Heart Truth Campaign and NHLBI, Lids for Lives and Breast Cancer, etc.).

We will keep you posted on developments as they occur. Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics

Board of Directors, Director-at-Large, 2014-2017

To the Academy and the Academy Foundation Boards of Directors:

You have probably read or heard about an article that was published Thursday, March 12, on the New York Times' "Well" blog, concerning the Kids Eat Right/Kraft Singles "Cheesyfacts" collaboration. The article, written by a reporter who has criticized the Academy in the past about issues of corporate sponsorship, contains numerous factual errors. We are working with Kraft and its public relations agency Ketchum to identify the source of these errors and, more importantly, to obtain a correction or retraction of the story by the Times.

The article incorrectly states that Kraft has become the first company to “earn a nutrition seal” from the Academy. It also quotes two Academy members – who have also been critical of our corporate sponsorship program – as calling the collaboration an endorsement by the Academy of Kraft and its products. The article states: “Kraft itself told The Times it was the first time the academy was endorsing a product.”

The article did accurately quote Mary Beth Whalen as saying the program does not constitute an endorsement:

But the academy emphatically denied that the label was an endorsement. “The Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles packaging identifies the brand as a proud supporter of Kids Eat Right,” Mary Beth Whalen, the academy foundation’s executive director, said in an email statement. “It also serves to drive broader visibility to KidsEatRight.org, a trusted educational resource for consumers.”

We are in communication with Kraft and Ketchum to determine how information that contradicts every key point, message and Q&A that we have developed for this program made its way into the article. We have informed Kraft and Ketchum in the strongest terms that their top priority must be to obtain a correction or retraction of the article from the Times.

The Academy and Kraft are developing a press release and other communications that will reinforce and clarify the Academy’s non-endorsement policy. This release will be distributed to the news media and posted on the Academy’s website and social media outlets.

We are also contacting media outlets who are following up on this story to tell them the Times story is not accurate, that there is no endorsement, and to give them the facts about the collaboration.

Please remember and refer to the key talking points that you approved as part of the Kraft project:

- The Academy does not endorse any products, brands or services.
- All of the content on KidsEatRight.org/CheesyFacts will be authored by registered dietitian nutritionists and the bylines will reflect that.

· The Academy maintains the same level of review of this content as all other Kids Eat Right website pages. The recipes will also be clearly identified as sponsored recipes. It will be clearly stated that the Academy does not endorse products or services; and at the bottom of the recipe a statement and link to eatrightPRO to learn more about the collaboration is included.

It is important to note that the actual language on the package merely identifies Kraft Singles as a Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right (similar to the Heart Truth Campaign and NHLBI, Lids for Lives and Breast Cancer, etc.).

We will keep you posted on developments as they occur. Thank you very much.

Yes, the bulleted statements are the talking points. I would recommend that the bolded statement following the bullets about the actual wording on the package be also used to provide clarity. The press release noted in my communication will be distributed to news media and will be posted to our websites and social media outlets, including spokespeople. Sonja's video message to all members included information on the collaboration. Unfortunately, it's the misrepresentation that causes the angst. Doris is preparing a template that you can use and/or distribute to others.
Thanks, Denice!

Hello All,

Pat, can you clarify - the approved talk points - do you mean what is indented below?

- The Academy does not endorse any products, brands or services.
- All of the content on KidsEatRight.org/CheesyFacts will be authored by registered dietitian nutritionists and the bylines will reflect that.

· The Academy maintains the same level of review of this content as all other Kids Eat Right website pages. The recipes will also be clearly identified as sponsored recipes. It will be clearly stated that the Academy does not endorse products or services; and at the bottom of the recipe a statement and link to eatrightPRO to learn more about the collaboration is included.

Are there talk points for Academy spokespeople on this?

There needs to be Talk Points for our members/leaders - like NE, FCP, HEN, so that members can handle the media in their areas and can support the Foundation on this effort.

As I recall, the negative criticism was anticipated - esp in light of not including the logo/statement on other products because they are a separate brand.

Perhaps this can be used with Kraft to open that door faster.

Please keep us updated - I would like to have copies of the talk points as I am also a member of several DPGs and on the listserv.

We look forward to another fantastic year of telling the Academy's great story to the world. Special thank you to Sonja, Evelyn and Glenna for reviewing all of the applications and selecting the final members who will serve as official Academy media Spokespeople.

Five registered dietitian nutritionists will serve three-year terms as Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics media Spokespeople from June 1, 2015, through May 31, 2018. We ask that you keep the names of the Academy's new Spokespeople confidential until they are officially announced in May.

Please join the Academy's Strategic Communications Team in congratulating these Spokespeople who are returning to the program:

- Kristi King, MPH, RDN, LD, CNSC, Houston, Texas

- Angela Lemond, RDN, CSP, LD, Dallas, Texas
- Jennifer McDaniel, MS, RDN, CSSD, LD, St. Louis, Mo.

Please welcome the Spokespeople who are joining the program this year:

Finally, please join us in thanking Marisa Moore, MBA, RDN, LD, who will complete her nine-year service as a Spokesperson at the end of May. Marisa has made invaluable contributions to the Spokesperson program and the Academy, both of which are stronger than ever, due in large part to her service. We know Marisa will remain a valued member, colleague and friend.

Academy Supports Research Efforts of Office of Dietary Supplements

The Academy offered support to the National Institutes of Health's Office of Dietary Supplements for its work implementing the goals of ODS's Strategic Plan. Continued research and training by ODS to expand the scientific knowledge base, combined with the expertise of dietetics practitioners, is necessary to help educate consumers on safe and appropriate selection and use of dietary supplements. ODS conducts and facilitates significant research on the safety and efficacy of herbal and botanical dietary supplements, and provides training for numerous researchers, including many Academy members.

National Diabetes Clinical Care Commission Act Re-Introduced in Congress

The National Diabetes Clinical Care Commission Act has been re-introduced in the Senate and the House. Sens. Jeanne Shaheen (N.H.) and Susan Collins (Maine) introduced S. 586 and Reps. Pete Olson (Texas) and David Loebsack (Iowa) introduced H.R. 1192, an identical bill, in the House. This bipartisan legislation, supported by leadership in the Diabetes Caucus, has 53 co-sponsors in the House and 15 co-sponsors in the Senate. The Academy supports the National Diabetes Clinical Care Commission Act and its goal to improve care for people with diabetes and pre-diabetes. Academy members understand prevention is key to improving health outcomes, highlighting the importance of increasing patient access to medical nutrition therapy provided by registered dietitian nutritionists. The Commission will facilitate collaboration among registered dietitian nutritionists and other experts across federal agencies to ensure patients have access to effective, coordinated care for better health.

Senators Introduce Bill to Improve School Kitchen Equipment

Senators Heidi Heitkamp (N.D.) and Susan Collins (Maine) have introduced the School Food Modernization Act, which would provide schools with resources to serve healthy school meals by authorizing grants and U.S. Department of Agriculture-backed loans for school kitchen equipment and infrastructure needs, and by providing additional support for training and technical assistance. Academy member Karen Ehrens, RD, LD, past chair of the Legislative and Public Policy Committee, has been a strong advocate in North Dakota, and works closely with Sen. Heitkamp on this and other important nutrition issues.

Legislators Introduce Bill to Expand the Reach of Farm to School Grants

Senators Patrick Leahy (Vt.) and Thad Cochran (Miss.) and Representatives Marcia Fudge (Ohio) and Jeff Fortenberry (Neb.) have introduced the Farm to School Act of 2015. The bill will expand the reach of the Farm to School program into tribal areas and all child nutrition programs. RESEARCH BRIEFS

Study Shows Positive Effect of Lifestyle Interventions on Gestational Diabetes

The Endocrine Society's Journal of Clinical Endocrinology & Metabolism has published results of the study on the Diabetes Prevention Program Outcomes Study and its effect in delaying diabetes among women with and without gestational diabetes. The study found women who had been diagnosed with gestational diabetes and underwent intensive lifestyle intervention had a 35 percent reduction in their risk of developing Type 2 diabetes. The Endocrine Society works with the Academy in the Diabetes Advocacy Alliance, of which the Academy is a co-chair.

More Than a Meal Pilot Research Study Published

Meals on Wheels America released the results of a randomized control trial that investigated the impact of home-delivered meals on older adults beyond the nutritional components. The study found those who receive or request Meals on Wheels services are significantly more vulnerable than average older Americans. Also, individuals receiving daily delivered meals experience the greatest improvements in health and quality of life. The Academy continues to support the re-authorization of the Older Americans Act nutrition programs, which provides funding for these effective and critically important home-delivered meals and other senior nutrition programs.

Congratulations to our 2015 RDN Day Contest winner, Adam Burda of West Virginia University. When asked what's the best way to 'Bite into a Healthy Lifestyle,' Adam responded: The best way to bite into a healthier lifestyle is through balance. Whether it's balancing your caloric intake, balancing your physical activity, balancing your stress level or balancing your personal life, proper health requires a continual, multifactorial approach. Starting your day out with a balanced, nutrient dense meal, is the best way to ensure you are taking a balanced bite out of the day ahead of you.

To members of the Board of Directors:

Happy Registered Dietitian Nutritionist Day 2015! Today marks the tenth annual day when we acknowledge and celebrate the dedication of RDNs to improving the health of their patients and clients.

All RDNs are receiving a video greeting <http://www.eatrightpro.org/resource/media/multimedia-news-center/videos/registered-dietitian-nutritionist-day> today from the Academy, thanking them for all they do to optimize health and nutrition.

As always, the Academy celebrates RDNs far and wide, today and throughout National Nutrition Month. As mentioned during the Board meeting, in New York City's Times Square, an electronic banner spotlights RDN Day, National Nutrition Month, the Academy and the winner of our third annual RDN Day Contest, Academy member Adam Burda, MS, RDN, LD, from West Virginia University. You can read his winning submission and see his photo <http://www.nationalnutritionmonth.org/NNM/content.aspx?id=6442483365> on an electronic banner above Times Square. Adam has a great story. He is the director of the Graduate Dietetic Internship Program & Teaching and an assistant professor at West Virginia University and he owns his own nutrition consulting business. But even more impressive is his personal story of overcoming a life-threatening accident in 2009 and losing 100 pounds through, appropriately for the 2015 NNM theme, developing a new lifestyle for himself. When asked about this weight loss and how his mentors others, Burda says, "I tell them I'm not going to put them on a diet; I'm going to put them on a lifestyle change. Because in order for [patients] to maintain this weight loss, they can't just change their eating. They have to change what they're doing daily," as far as physical activity, the individuals they're surrounding themselves with, dietary habits, etc.

Please join me in offering thanks and congratulations to Adam Burda and to all registered dietitian nutritionists on this special day.

Thank you for all you do for the Academy and the profession!

Best regards!

Doris Acosta

TO: Academy Board of Directors

FROM: Sonja Connor

One of our Board responsibilities is to annually evaluate the CEO's performance. As you know, we have a new CEO performance evaluation form this year. It is time for us Board members to complete section II of the evaluation - Competency Evaluation. It is available on survey monkey. Prior to doing the evaluation, take a look at Board agendas, general communications to the Board, CEO summary reports in Board meeting packets, executive session discussions with Pat as well as minutes from our Board meetings.

Please complete the questionnaire by Friday, March 20. The Compensation Committee will summarize the responses, provide you with a summary report and recommendation regarding the CEO base salary for 2015-16 that will be discussed and voted on during the Executive Session of the May Board meeting.

Thank you for participating!

TO BEGIN THE SURVEY click or copy this link into your browser:

<https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/C9PW9QS>

The survey does not need to be completed in one sitting. If you wish to exit the survey and return to complete it later, please feel free to do so. Prior to the deadline, you will be able to log back in and resume the survey from where you left off by using the link above, which is unique to you.

If you have any questions about the evaluation, please contact me or Carrolyn Patterson at cpatterson@eatright.org.

Thank you!

Subject: Exciting new collaboration that will extend the reach and influence of our Kids Eat Right initiative!

Importance: High

We are preparing to announce the Kids Eat Right/Kraft Singles sponsored public education campaign. To refresh your memory, the elements of this campaign include the use of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles and Kraft 2% Singles with the clarifying language Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right, the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation and an accompanying URL: (www.kidseatright.org/cheesyfacts) that will drive traffic to the Kraft-sponsored page of the Kids Eat Right website. It is expected to appear in grocery stores nationwide in early April.

Why Are Doing This?

The Foundation is taking part in this new collaboration so we can help improve eating patterns for America's families. We know that many people's diets are falling short in dairy, vitamin D and calcium. Eighty (80) percent of girls and 75 percent of boys age 4 to 18 have inadequate intakes of calcium, and nearly half of all kids' diets are deficient in vitamin D. RDNs can make a difference for these children and families. This collaboration will direct millions of consumers to our Kids Eat Right website to help them find solutions and raise awareness of the RDN.

A Year of Preparation

Our conversations with Kraft began well over a year ago. There has been a tremendous amount of scrutiny and preparation involved in this project. To revisit any of this discussion or to simply serve as an easy reference, attached to this message you will find copies of all the multiple board communications that were provided and reviewed prior to approval of this program. It represents the board's due diligence and should still be considered and treated as confidential.

About the Website

When visitors land on Easy Cheesy Nutrition for Kids, they will find facts about the important role of dairy, including cheese, in kids' diets that has been reviewed and approved by the Academy's Knowledge Center. The information will be accompanied by budget-friendly recipes co-developed by RDNs and Kraft. Recipes that include the Kraft Singles brand in the ingredient list will be clearly identified as sponsored content. To complement all of this wonderful education about the importance of vitamin D and calcium in kids' diets we will also be enhancing our non-sponsored section of the Kids Eat Right website with an equivalent number of recipes and articles promoting other non-dairy sources of these key missing nutrients. This demonstrates our continued commitment to a balanced plate.

No Endorsement

This program specifically does not constitute an endorsement by the Academy or the Foundation of any brand, product or service.

Educational Materials for Members

As requested by the Board, in addition to the consumer content, we are developing educational materials for our members that includes information regarding how cheese is made at Kraft (specifically the Singles brand with the addition of vitamin D) and how we can work together to enhance the nutrient quality of kids' diets. The plan is to be able to provide this in April and to feature both Sandy Morreale, MBA, RDN, FAND, associate director nutrition communications and research; and Katie Brown, EdD, RDN, LD, national education director for the Academy's Foundation.

Our work has just begun with Kraft and much time has been spent in a thorough review of editorial content, including establishing guidelines for recipe development. A pre-launch survey will be fielded to a select cohort of 10,000 members to capture baseline data regarding members' awareness of Kids Eat Right, missing nutrients in kids' diets, the nutritional value of dairy, including cheese, and how members feel about Kraft Singles and Kraft 2% Singles as a source of these missing nutrients. This will help us continue to evaluate the success of the program and opportunities to enhance it.

Strategic Outreach

The Academy and the Foundation have also started to look at program implementation and ways to develop community outreach through Kraft strategic business relationships with key retail providers. Our wealth of experiences with EB4K (Energy Balance for Kids, the Foundation's school-based nutrition and physical activity RDN intervention program), RDN Parent Empowerment (RDN training of key community/school influencers), the development of GENIE (Guide to Evaluating Nutrition Information and Education) and our Feeding America partnership will all contribute to creating valuable and effective on-the-ground nutrition education. This will be an opportunity for us to engage the growing interest of our members to become a part of Kids Eat Right at the grassroots level.

Telling Members About the Program

The next video message from President Sonja Connor will be released to the Academy's membership on March 5 via a blast email message. The video will also go live March 5 on eatrightPRO and will be promoted via the Academy's social media PRO channels. It includes valuable information for members, including an announcement of this campaign. This announcement and the release of the Kraft Singles and Kraft 2% Singles may stimulate some interest and conversation from our members.

The Strategic Communications team has prepared key messages to support this dialogue and a more detailed Q&A will be forwarded once the program launches in April .

- A new Academy Foundation and Kraft Singles initiative has been formed to greatly increase the public's awareness of our Kids Eat Right website and consumers' access to our resources for healthy eating.
- As part of this new initiative, Kids Eat Right website will be featured on packages of Kraft Singles, both 2 percent and regular, reaching millions of consumers nationwide. The on the package promotion will state: Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right -- Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation.
- For recipes and tips, visit www.kidseatright.org/cheesyfacts. A statement on the package will say that Kraft Foods supports the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation and Kids Eat Right. There is also a message encouraging people to visit www.kidseatright.org/cheesyfacts for more information.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact me. As we come closer to the launch, we appreciate your continued support of Kids Eat Right and opportunities like this to support funding.

Subject: Exciting new collaboration that will extend the reach and influence of our Kids Eat Right initiative!

Importance: High

We are preparing to announce the Kids Eat Right/Kraft Singles sponsored public education campaign. To refresh your memory, the elements of this campaign include the use of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles and Kraft 2% Singles with the clarifying language Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right, the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation and an accompanying URL: (www.kidseatright.org/cheesyfacts) that will drive traffic to the Kraft-sponsored page of the Kids Eat Right website. It is expected to appear in grocery stores nationwide in early April.

Why Are Doing This?

The Foundation is taking part in this new collaboration so we can help improve eating patterns for America's families. We know that many people's diets are falling short in dairy, vitamin D and calcium. Eighty (80) percent of girls and 75 percent of boys age 4 to 18 have inadequate intakes of calcium, and nearly half of all kids' diets are deficient in vitamin D. RDNs can make a difference for these children and families. This collaboration will direct millions of consumers to our Kids Eat Right website to help them find solutions and raise awareness of the RDN.

A Year of Preparation

Our conversations with Kraft began well over a year ago. There has been a tremendous amount of scrutiny and preparation involved in this project. To revisit any of this discussion or to simply serve as an easy reference, attached to this message you will find copies of all the multiple board communications that were provided and reviewed prior to approval of this program. It represents the board's due diligence and should still be considered and treated as confidential.

About the Website

When visitors land on Easy Cheesy Nutrition for Kids, they will find facts about the important role of dairy, including cheese, in kids' diets that has been reviewed and approved by the Academy's Knowledge Center. The information will be accompanied by budget-friendly recipes co-developed by RDNs and Kraft. Recipes that include the Kraft Singles brand in the ingredient list will be clearly identified as sponsored content. To complement all of this wonderful education about the importance of vitamin D and calcium in kids' diets we will also be enhancing our non-sponsored section of the Kids Eat Right website with an equivalent number of recipes and articles promoting other non-dairy sources of these key missing nutrients. This demonstrates our continued commitment to a balanced plate.

No Endorsement

This program specifically does not constitute an endorsement by the Academy or the Foundation of any brand, product or service.

Educational Materials for Members

As requested by the Board, in addition to the consumer content, we are developing educational materials for our members that includes information regarding how cheese is made at Kraft (specifically the Singles brand with the addition of vitamin D) and how we can work together to enhance the nutrient quality of kids' diets. The plan is to be able to provide this in April and to feature both Sandy Morreale, MBA, RDN, FAND, associate director nutrition communications and research; and Katie Brown, EdD, RDN, LD, national education director for the Academy's Foundation.

Our work has just begun with Kraft and much time has been spent in a thorough review of editorial content, including establishing guidelines for recipe development. A pre-launch survey will be fielded to a select cohort of 10,000 members to capture baseline data regarding members' awareness of Kids Eat Right, missing nutrients in kids' diets, the nutritional value of dairy, including cheese, and how members feel about Kraft Singles and Kraft 2% Singles as a source of these missing nutrients. This will help us continue to evaluate the success of the program and opportunities to enhance it.

Strategic Outreach

The Academy and the Foundation have also started to look at program implementation and ways to develop community outreach through Kraft strategic business relationships with key retail providers. Our wealth of experiences with EB4K (Energy Balance for Kids, the Foundation's school-based nutrition and physical activity RDN intervention program), RDN Parent Empowerment (RDN training of key community/school influencers), the development of GENIE (Guide to Evaluating Nutrition Information and Education) and our Feeding America partnership will all contribute to creating valuable and effective on-the-ground nutrition education. This will be an opportunity for us to engage the growing interest of our members to become a part of Kids Eat Right at the grassroots level.

Telling Members About the Program

The next video message from President Sonja Connor will be released to the Academy's membership on March 5 via a blast email message. The video will also go live March 5 on eatrightPRO and will be promoted via the Academy's social media PRO channels. It includes valuable information for members, including an announcement of this campaign. This announcement and the release of the Kraft Singles and Kraft 2% Singles may stimulate some interest and conversation from our members.

The Strategic Communications team has prepared key messages to support this dialogue and a more detailed Q&A will be forwarded once the program launches in April .

- A new Academy Foundation and Kraft Singles initiative has been formed to greatly increase the public's awareness of our Kids Eat Right website and consumers' access to our resources for healthy eating.
- As part of this new initiative, Kids Eat Right website will be featured on packages of Kraft Singles, both 2 percent and regular, reaching millions of consumers nationwide. The on the package promotion will state: Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right -- Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation.
- For recipes and tips, visit www.KidsEatRight.org/CheesyFacts. A statement on the package will say that Kraft Foods supports the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation and Kids Eat Right. There is also a message encouraging people to visit www.kidseatright.org/cheesyfacts for more information.

Donna, Thanks so much for contacting me about this important project. As of right now I cannot commit to working as an author on this project because of my other volunteer jobs. As Treasurer for the Academy and Foundation I am spending all the spare time I can to keep up with my obligations there. I am also on the School Nutrition Association Foundation Board, which is not quite as time consuming, but I also have commitments with it. Hi Donna.....hope this email finds you doing well.

I am reaching out to you regarding the updating of the Academy Local Support for Integrity in Schools position paper & the Comprehensive School Nutrition Services position paper. In the updating of these papers, they will be updated together as an integrated and coordinated process. The Local Support for Integrity in Schools position paper is going to be a joint paper with SNA and SNEB.....so there would be a total of 3 authors. The position paper will be shorter and more succinct (2,000-3,000 words). The Comprehensive School Nutrition Services will be updated as a practice paper, it will be solely an Academy paper and it will be the longer paper. We would like 2 Academy co-authors for the practice paper. Ideally, we would like the Academy author for the position paper to be the lead author and also be 1 of the 2 authors for the practice paper.

The individual we had invited to serve as the Academy author for these papers declined our invitation due to workload and prior commitments. Thus, we are in search for someone to take the lead role as the Academy author, working with the other authors on the joint position paper.....and then also working with a co-author on the practice paper. We are looking for someone that might be able to work in that capacity.....or perhaps even just as an author for one of the papers.

What are your thoughts??any interest? Or, can you suggest anyone for me to reach out to? If you might be interested, kindly complete the attached application and return to me along with a copy of your CV as soon as you are able.

Thanks so much in advance for your help.

Subject: Exciting new collaboration that will extend the reach and influence of our Kids Eat Right initiative!

Importance: High

We are preparing to announce the Kids Eat Right/Kraft Singles sponsored public education campaign. To refresh your memory, the elements of this campaign include the use of the Kids Eat Right logo on Kraft Singles and Kraft 2% Singles with the clarifying language Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right, the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation and an accompanying URL: (www.kidseatright.org/cheesyfacts) that will drive traffic to the Kraft-sponsored page of the Kids Eat Right website. It is expected to appear in grocery stores nationwide in early April.

Why Are Doing This?

The Foundation is taking part in this new collaboration so we can help improve eating patterns for America's families. We know that many people's diets are falling short in dairy, vitamin D and calcium. Eighty (80) percent of girls and 75 percent of boys age 4 to 18 have inadequate intakes of calcium, and nearly half of all kids' diets are deficient in vitamin D. RDNs can make a difference for these children and families. This collaboration will direct millions of consumers to our Kids Eat Right website to help them find solutions and raise awareness of the RDN.

A Year of Preparation

Our conversations with Kraft began well over a year ago. There has been a tremendous amount of scrutiny and preparation involved in this project. To revisit any of this discussion or to simply serve as an easy reference, attached to this message you will find copies of all the multiple board communications that were provided and reviewed prior to approval of this program. It represents the board's due diligence and should still be considered and treated as confidential.

About the Website

When visitors land on Easy Cheesy Nutrition for Kids, they will find facts about the important role of dairy, including cheese, in kids' diets that has been reviewed and approved by the Academy's Knowledge Center. The information will be accompanied by budget-friendly recipes co-developed by RDNs and Kraft. Recipes that include the Kraft Singles brand in the ingredient list will be clearly identified as sponsored content. To complement all of this wonderful education about the importance of vitamin D and calcium in kids' diets we will also be enhancing our non-sponsored section of the Kids Eat Right website with an equivalent number of recipes and articles promoting other non-dairy sources of these key missing nutrients. This demonstrates our continued commitment to a balanced plate.

No Endorsement

This program specifically does not constitute an endorsement by the Academy or the Foundation of any brand, product or service.

Educational Materials for Members

As requested by the Board, in addition to the consumer content, we are developing educational materials for our members that includes information regarding how cheese is made at Kraft (specifically the Singles brand with the addition of vitamin D) and how we can work together to enhance the nutrient quality of kids' diets. The plan is to be able to provide this in April and to feature both Sandy Morreale, MBA, RDN, FAND, associate director nutrition communications and research; and Katie Brown, EdD, RDN, LD, national education director for the Academy's Foundation.

Our work has just begun with Kraft and much time has been spent in a thorough review of editorial content, including establishing guidelines for recipe development. A pre-launch survey will be fielded to a select cohort of 10,000 members to capture baseline data regarding members' awareness of Kids Eat Right, missing nutrients in kids' diets, the nutritional value of dairy, including cheese, and how members feel about Kraft Singles and Kraft 2% Singles as a source of these missing nutrients. This will help us continue to evaluate the success of the program and opportunities to enhance it.

Strategic Outreach

The Academy and the Foundation have also started to look at program implementation and ways to develop community outreach through Kraft strategic business relationships with key retail providers. Our wealth of experiences with EB4K (Energy Balance for Kids, the Foundation's school-based nutrition and physical activity RDN intervention program), RDN Parent Empowerment (RDN training of key community/school influencers), the development of GENIE (Guide to Evaluating Nutrition Information and Education) and our Feeding America partnership will all contribute to creating valuable and effective on-the-ground nutrition education. This will be an opportunity for us to engage the growing interest of our members to become a part of Kids Eat Right at the grassroots level.

Telling Members About the Program

The next video message from President Sonja Connor will be released to the Academy's membership on March 5 via a blast email message. The video will also go live March 5 on eatrightPRO and will be promoted via the Academy's social media PRO channels. It includes valuable information for members, including an announcement of this campaign. This announcement and the release of the Kraft Singles and Kraft 2% Singles may stimulate some interest and conversation from our members.

The Strategic Communications team has prepared key messages to support this dialogue and a more detailed Q&A will be forwarded once the program launches in April .

- A new Academy Foundation and Kraft Singles initiative has been formed to greatly increase the public's awareness of our Kids Eat Right website and consumers' access to our resources for healthy eating.
- As part of this new initiative, Kids Eat Right website will be featured on packages of Kraft Singles, both 2 percent and regular, reaching millions of consumers nationwide. The on the package promotion will state: Proud Supporter of Kids Eat Right -- Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation.
- For recipes and tips, visit www.kidseatright.org/cheesyfacts. A statement on the package will say that Kraft Foods supports the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation and Kids Eat Right. There is also a message encouraging people to visit www.kidseatright.org/cheesyfacts for more information.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact me. As we come closer to the launch, we appreciate your continued support of Kids Eat Right and opportunities like this to support funding.

Donna,

Since I am off next week, I am sending this information to you early. We will only have one thing to present to the Foundation Board. However, I asked Susan to put onto the consent agenda the following;

1. 2013 (2014 Fiscal Year) Foundation tax returns
2. Investment Overview

Al, gave me information about the Foundation as well as the Academy. So, even though he won't present, we should pass this along. The tax returns need to be sent to the foundation Board before they can be filed. I should have the Foundation's tax returns done by Friday.

The final document, the Financial update, is very light. Here is the preliminary information for you. I will get you more detail on the financials later.

Donna,

Attached is a script for the December pledge follow up board calls, a call list and background information.

The Foundation hosted an in-house telemarketing campaign in December 2014. The individuals who were called in December were past donors of the Foundation and have not donated this year (June 1, 2014 – present). There are still a few pledges that we made during the telemarketing campaign that have not been fulfilled and we need your help to follow up with these donors. Attached is the list of unfulfilled pledges and a script. All of these pledges did not provide a specific pledge amount over the phone during the telemarketing campaign. Hi Donna. Happy Friday! It was great to catch up yesterday! I did check with Amy and Martha regarding Shirley's gift. We did have in our system that it was a tribute gift. The thank you note to Shirley and the honoree were mailed last week. They should receive them shortly. I also asked that if we could flag tribute gifts on the BOD call list, so that you are aware when you make the phone call and have the conversation with the donor.

Subject: Donor Thank you Call

Hi Donna. How are you? Are you doing ok in the miserable weather you are having in the South? It is no better up here. I am beginning to wonder if there is anywhere in this country that one could live and not deal with horrible winters!

I was wondering if you would be willing to make a donor thank you call? Last month we sent out emails like the example below to individuals who gave during the month of January last year but have not made a gift yet this year. (his will be a new appeal we send out every month via email). A few people responded with a donation as a result of the email sent in January. One of those people was Shirley Harper. Shirley made a $100 donation to the annual fund. Last year she gave $25. When we looked at her giving history she had been giving at higher levels back in the 1990s like: $400, $300, $250, and then more recently her donations have been more like $30, $25, $20...so it is exciting that she responded to our email and upgraded her gift. It seems like this might be a good opportunity to get her excited about the Foundation again. I know you love making these calls...so I thought you might be the perfect person to do this. Her number is 270/726-8770. She lives in Kentucky. Let me know if there is any additional background information that would be helpful.

Also, I did pass your recommendations along about the monthly thank you call list. You should see those changes implemented on the next list you receive.

Dear XXX,

Last year, at this time you made a gift of $X to the Academy Foundation. We hope that you will consider renewing or increasing your support of the Foundation by making a gift to the Annual Fund. Thanks to support from Academy members like you, over the past three years, the Foundation has:

Every dollar makes a difference. Thank you for your consideration of investing in the future of our profession. Academy National Sponsor, Abbott Nutrition will match up to $20,000 of member contributions in January and February.

Make a gift today! Care, give, make a difference.

Sincerely,

Re: 2015-2016 Foundation Board Vacancies

In preparation for our March 19, 2015 Foundation Board Call, I am asking you to provide recommendations for the Board positions that will become vacant June 1, 2015. As a reference, three documents are attached. The first is an overview of the nominations process. The second outlines some gaps that may exist in the upcoming year. The third is the Ideal Board Member document that may help guide your recommendations. It is important to consider individuals who are comfortable fundraising and have access to potential funders. Please also review those skills selected next to your name on the gap analysis document to make sure your expertise are clearly represented.

Academy Foundation bylaws allow for 9 – 13 Board Members. The Foundation will have up to five positions which can be occupied by no more than 2 Directors and any number of Public Members. Not all five vacancies need to be filled. I ask that you forward your confidential nominations to Susie Burns at sburns@eatright.org by Wednesday, February 25, 2015. Because one of the Foundation's goal is to maintain goodwill with donors we ask that you do not share that they are being considered for a Board position.

Please also include short bio information if it is available and identify which skill sets the nominees possess from the gap analysis document. We are also asking that you answer the following questions for those candidates you nominate:

- In what ways will this candidate move forward the Foundation's mission and vision?

- What characteristics does this candidate exhibit that meet the criteria of an ideal Board Member?

- Do you know if they have the time and desire to be a board member?

The Nominating Committee will discuss the candidates, narrow the field and provide names for your consideration. During our March call we will discuss these recommendations. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at tjraymond@aol.com or Susie at Sburns@eatright.org.

Special thanks to Kathy McClusky, Evelyn Crayton, Donna Martin and Mary Christ Erwin for their service and dedication to the Foundation Board of Directors.

Hi Donna. How are you? Are you doing ok in the miserable weather you are having in the South? It is no better up here. I am beginning to wonder if there is anywhere in this country that one could live and not deal with horrible winters!

I was wondering if you would be willing to make a donor thank you call? Last month we sent out emails like the example below to individuals who gave during the month of January last year but have not made a gift yet this year. (his will be a new appeal we send out every month via email). A few people responded with a donation as a result of the email sent in January. One of those people was Shirley Harper. Shirley made a $100 donation to the annual fund. Last year she gave $25. When we looked at her giving history she had been giving at higher levels back in the 1990s like: $400, $300, $250, and then more recently her donations have been more like $30, $25, $20...so it is exciting that she responded to our email and upgraded her gift. It seems like this might be a good opportunity to get her excited about the Foundation again. I know you love making these calls...so I thought you might be the perfect person to do this. Her number is 270/726-8770. She lives in Kentucky. Let me know if there is any additional background information that would be helpful.

Also, I did pass your recommendations along about the monthly thank you call list. You should see those changes implemented on the next list you receive.

Dear XXX,

Last year, at this time you made a gift of $X to the Academy Foundation. We hope that you will consider renewing or increasing your support of the Foundation by making a gift to the Annual Fund. By the way since I am not in office yet, I hope the President stipend is on the agenda. The stipend is fine I guess for retirees or those that can take a sabbatical and still draw a salary but not very good for us working RDN's. just wanted it to be on your radar. Thanks! Lucille

Paul, OK, I am glad to do both budget presentations for FY16. I doubt I will get her to assist, but if my memory serves me correctly, I did it because they were going to be the budgets for my year as treasurer. That is where I was getting that she would do it. I have gotten to present two good budgets so far, so I guess I can present a not so exciting budget too! I know the Foundations will be good, but I know what we are facing with the Academy.

Yeah another deck, just wish it was a deck on a ship!!!!

Donna,

Since we have not really done a transition such as this one; Mary's really doesn't count. We are in new territory. The FY16 budgets (both Academy and Foundation) should be presented by the Treasurer. Unfortunately, that is you J. You can have her assist of course. The New Board orientation can be done by Kay.

Also, I will get this to you soon, but, you have a Spring HOD meeting to record. So, another deck!

I think moving the agenda around should be fine for the Foundation call. I am putting together something very simple again. We don't have much time. I also will add to their consent agenda the Foundation tax returns and a report from Al Bryant on their investment returns through January.

The budget process is not pretty. As we discussed yesterday, it will take tough decisions to turn the ship. The E-team "get it". However, whether or not we get to where we need to be is still up in the air.

Paul, I have a conflict that has come up with the Foundation Board Call on March 19. I am scheduled to receive an award that day at the Georgia Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Annual Meeting. The luncheon where they will be giving the award starts at 11:45 am EST. I would be glad to do the report from the hotel where the meeting and luncheon are being held, but I would need to be moved up on the agenda to the first report, in order to be able to give the report and then get to the luncheon. Do you think they could make that change? This is getting to be a bad trend for me I know, but I did not even know I was receiving the award until I got back from DC. The good news for you is that my term of you having to deal with my scheduling conflicts is about to be over. I only have a few more months of being Treasurer, and I assume after our F2F meeting in April that poor Kay will then be in the "hot seat". Am I correct that she will do new board orientation in May? Will she be presenting the new budget to the board for approval at the May board meeting? Will she present the budget to the Foundation on the Budget Conference call in May for their approval? If so, I wanted to give her a heads up. I obviously, can do any of these, but thought it was probably going to be her responsibility and wanted to let he know how we handled these things. Just let me know what you think about the Foundation Board call agenda being changed and also who will be handling some of the future treasurer responsibilities.

I don't envy you going through the budget process right now with staff. I see rough waters ahead unless we make some changes. I love the cost savings ideas you have already implemented, but I am afraid we have a long way to go until we can turn this around.

Will she be presenting the new budget to the board for approval at the May board meeting? Will she present the budget to the Foundation on the Budget Conference call in May for their approval? If so, I wanted to give her a heads up. I obviously, can do any of these, but thought it was probably going to be her responsibility and wanted to let he know how we handled these things. Just let me know what you think about the Foundation Board call agenda being changed and also who will be handling some of the future treasurer responsibilities.

I don't envy you going through the budget process right now with staff. I see rough waters ahead unless we make some changes. I love the cost savings ideas you have already implemented, but I am afraid we have a long way to go until we can turn this around.

Paul, That works, much better wording. I just did not want to confuse them, but this makes it very clear and much more informative.

I will be ready for the board meeting, but I am going to try and start getting them primed for what they will be seeing in May. They need to understand what we are facing and the role they play.

Paul, I have just taken a quick look through the deck. So far we need to correct a typo on Slide 6 "exceed" not "exeed".

I also think we need to restate Slide 7 where we talk about continued growth in eNCPT sales sets a strong foundation for FY16 revenue. We just said that it was falling short for revenue, so I assume that we have seen a strong increase in sales recently, that will make us more optimistic for the future. If that is correct, we probably need to word it a little differently so we don't confuse people. I hope this gets the boards attention!

So far, these are the only questions or concerns that I have.

3800. Conflict with March 19th Academy Foundation Board Call - DRAFT Agenda

Agenda 03-19-15 DRAFT.docx

Paul, I have a conflict that has come up with the Foundation Board Call on March 19. I am scheduled to receive an award that day at the Georgia Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Annual Meeting. The luncheon where they will be giving the award starts at 11:45 am EST. I would be glad to do the report from the hotel where the meeting and luncheon are being held, but I would need to be moved up on the agenda to the first report, in order to be able to give the report and then get to the luncheon. Do you think they could make that change? This is getting to be a bad trend for me I know, but I did not even know I was receiving the award until I got back from DC. The good news for you is that my term of you having to deal with my scheduling conflicts is about to be over. I only have a few more months of being Treasurer, and I assume after our F2F meeting in April that poor Kay will then be in the "hot seat". Am I correct that she will do new board orientation in May? Will she be presenting the new budget to the board for approval at the May board meeting? Will she present the budget to the Foundation on the Budget Conference call in May for their approval? If so, I wanted to give her a heads up. I obviously, can do any of these, but thought it was probably going to be her responsibility and wanted to let he know how we handled these things. Just let me know what you think about the Foundation Board call agenda being changed and also who will be handling some of the future treasurer responsibilities.

As is our procedure, committee, workgroup and task force reports are placed on the Board portal <http://academybod.webauthor.com> in the black menu bar under the Library tab > Committee, Work Groups and Task Forces. Reports will be uploaded as we receive them instead of waiting for Board meetings. Please reply to all if you have any questions or if a report needs full member discussion at the Board meeting.

We have a number of guests who will be joining us: Al Bryant, Managing Director of Segall, Bryant and Hamill, will provide an update on our investments; Kathy McClusky, chair of the Sponsorship Task Force, will present the recommendations of the task force; and Rayane AbuSabha, chair of the Nutrition and Dietetic Educators and Preceptors, will provide the council's report via telephone.

The meeting and lodging will be located at the Wyndham Grand Chicago Riverfront, 71 East Wacker Drive. Hotel reservations have been made for your arrival on Thursday, March 5 and departure on Saturday, March 7, unless you notified us otherwise. Your hotel room will be master-billed, but you will be asked to pay for incidentals.

The Board dinner is scheduled for Friday, March 6 from 6:00pm - 9:00pm at Petterino's Restaurant, 150 North Dearborn, Chicago, IL 60601 (312) 422-0150, a short walk from the hotel. Please let me know if you will bring a guest. The attire for the meeting, including dinner, is business casual.

I look forward to seeing you!

Thank you Susie for sending the draft agenda. Could the following updates be provided: the on-pack labeling program with Kraft and the Monsanto donation? I realize we just approved the latter.

Thank you for your consideration.

All the best,

Donna,

Here is the first cut of the Financial overview for the Board meeting. I did not provide a forecast beyond the end of the year. It is too early for the three year forecast. I reference it in the document, but, do not provide any financial information. I would recommend that we let Al Bryant talk about the investments first and then, time permitting, you can go through the deck where appropriate. We could hit the highlights. Let me know your thoughts.

Paul, No rush, I will not be back into the office until Wednesday to look at it. We have time, but when I saw it on the agenda it made me start thinking that we had not even talked about it yet. Yikes!

Donna,

Pat and I discussed. I am not happy that it is even reference at this stage. Without the budget, it is ridiculous to address. Pat concurred. So, as a compromise, I will reference it within the Deck and say it is too early for a 3 year plan and provide talking points. I should have something by Monday for you.

Paul, I knew to be expecting stuff for the board, but was afraid to ask you about it until after we got through the FAC call. It also looks like I will be talking about the three year Finance plan at the board meeting. We can talk more after next weeks FAC call. I get the spent part!

Not a problem. I am also putting together some info for the board on the finances through January. So, look for that in the next couple of days. As for the cold, I am spent. Too cold for me!!

Paul, I will be in Washington, DC next Monday and Tuesday, I have a flight out at 4 pm EST on Tuesday. I plan to try and conduct the FAC meeting from the airport (I hope in a nice quiet place) before I need to catch my flight. I am copying Mary on this email in case she needs to fill in for me. I am in Washington to lobby congress with the PEW Institute, so I did not have any control over the dates and time. Mary, please let me know if you can pitch hit for me if needed? I would complain about the cold down here (19 degrees), but I know that it would just be falling on deaf ears. Talk to you on Tuesday!

All,

I hope everyone is doing well and keeping warm. It is that time again. We have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, February 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. Our call will focus on the following;

1. December final financial results
2. January preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Cash

I. December Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary December results.

II. Investments

Anyone tired of this ride??? It kind of reminds me of when I took my young children to Six Flags and all they wanted to do is ride every roller coaster. Since they were young, I didn't have a choice but to ride along side them. Halfway through the day, I had enough!!! This market kind of feels like that. Just like I didn't have a choice but to push through with my kids, we have to push through this market. Of course with my kids, what really put me over the top was the Demon Drop. That is the ride that slowly takes you to the top of a tall tower and then, with a few sudden jerks (No, I am not referring to any of my partners on the ride), you are suddenly dropped at an accelerating pace before being stopped....just before you hit the ground. I am sweating still thinking about it. L Well, I think with this investment market, we are in a good position to avoid anything like that ride!!!

That being said, the month of January was not very good for our investment portfolios. Our combined investment portfolios lost $964,000. Year to date returns now are just shy of $1.495M for the combined portfolios.

The bad news for January has turned into great news for February. Through Wednesday, February 18th, the combine portfolios were up by $1,936,000 or 3.51%! So, we have gained back the losses from January and added another $972,000. As we expect with this market, today the DOW is down; NASDAQ is up; etc. I generally start this e-mail in the morning with the expectation it would be changed by the end of the day. Today is no different. I would expect, even with the variances in the markets, our portfolios will be a little higher after today. I would not have thought that this morning when the markets opened. So, it is nearly impossible to determine where we will end the month. Regardless of what happens for the rest of the month, I am glad we can face it with a gain so far over 3.5%.

III. Academy preliminary January Financials (A10)

We continue the pattern in January that we have seen throughout the fiscal year. Revenue is short of budget while expenses are under-running the budget. The result for January was an operating deficit of $292,315. This was $10,384 smaller or better than our budget. Great news in total. However, it is all driven by expense under-runs.

The Academy needs to keep this correlation wherever possible. As we look forward at the revenue, there is some good news, but also some concerns. The good news; Membership revenue continues to perform well. Just yesterday, Mary Beth indicated that we signed a few sponsorships for Nutrition News Forecast that were not budgeted. Diane Enos indicated that she thinks we have an strong opportunity to increase revenue for professional development in the spring due to the new website. So, some pretty exciting news. However, on the other side, we do have revenue concerns about eNCPT and some Research Grants. On the Research Grant side there will be expense savings if the grants are not achieved.

We are continuing to refine our forecasts for the year, so I won't try yet to project where we will end up. I do believe we will end the fiscal year near our operating deficit target. Depending on the revenue, I hope we can do better.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an operating deficit of $1,597,922 through January. This is $411,064 smaller (better) than the budget. That is fantastic news. This will give the Academy a buffer against the revenue “headwinds” that may materialize over the next few months. I won’t address the investments. It isn’t great. Since we see good news for February, I would rather focus on the operating results.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for January:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $5,153 in January and is over budget by $5,558 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Membership Dues (up $13.5K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) .
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $10,272 in January and is under budget by $420,101 for the year. The under-run January is due to lower professional development revenue (down $8.4K) and continue processing of FNCE refunds (down $1.9K).
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $12,277 in January and is under budget by $60,546 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $25.0K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K) and lower across all other areas (down $0.6K) offset by higher List Rental sales (up $17.8K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $44,076 in January and is under budget by $219,346 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.4K). The eNCPT sales may not be good when compared to the budget. However, the revenue is steadily increasing. In January this is up to $12,400. This will increase to over $14,000 in February. The sales now will also help FY16. So, eNCPT is building momentum for the future. We just need it to continue to grow.
- e. Advertising – This area is on-target in January and under budget by $10,395 for the year. Nothing was budgeted and nothing was received.
- f. All grants - This area is over budget by $4,455 in January and is under budget by $2,555 for the year. The over-run in January is primarily due to higher Grants for Research (up $23.1K) and higher Carry the Flame recognition (up $4.8K). This is offset by lower Guides for Practice project (down $10.0K), lower by higher ConAgra (up $2.8K), lower recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition grant (down $10.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.6K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $12,140 in January and is under budget by $48,340 for the year. I have mentioned previously that we would re-evaluate the Sponsorship revenues in January and project to the end of the year based on our current data. In doing so, we are projecting lower revenues for the year. So, I decided to reduce the amount we are recording by $12,140 per month. If things pick up, then this might be reversed. This adjustment is based upon information provided by the Sponsorship team. I mentioned above the revenue for the Nutrition News Forecast later this year. That is great news that should offset the shortfall we are currently seeing. This will be recognized in April.

h. Other – This area was under budget by $5,389 in January and is over budget by $104,586 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower licensure revenue (down $6.7K) offset by higher across all other areas (up $1.3K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $45,618 in January and is under budget by $128,069 for the year. The under-run in January is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $16,895 in January and is under budget by $95,956 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $7.0K), lower Quality Management costs (down $5.8K) and lower Member retention (down $4.9K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $0.8K).

c. Travel – This area is under budget by $38,571 in January and is under budget by $256,441 for the year. The under-run for January is due to lower Research (down $26.5K), lower Governance (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $3.0K), lower Marketing (down $2.6K), lower Administration (down $1.0K) and lower across all other areas (down $1.8K), offset by higher FNCE expense (up $11.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is over budget by $41,480 in January and is under budget by $152,285 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Research (up $16.6K), higher Brand Promise (up $8.7K), higher Revenue analysis (up $17.4), higher Corporate Relations (up $7.6K), higher Public Policy (up $3.7K), higher List Rental (up $5.1K) and higher across all other (up $0.3K), offset by lower Governance (down $5.2K), lower Member Services (down $6.2K), lower Malnutrition project (down $4.6K) and lower IT/Web (down $1.9K). The Revenue analysis is the work we discussed previously to evaluate new revenue opportunities for the Academy. This was not budgeted. However, the Academy moved forward because it was believed we could find costs savings in other areas to offset the overall amount.

e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $27,131 for January and is under budget by $86,096 for the year. The under-run for January is being driven by lower Member Services (down $19.7K), lower Traditional Publications (down $7.1K) and lower across all other (down $0.3K).

- f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is over budget by $1,140 in January and is under budget by $13,469 for the year. The under-run in January is across all areas of the business. No material variances can be identified.
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $978 in January and is under budget by $62,102 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower utility costs associated with our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher utility costs in Chicago (up $0.7K).
- h. Telephone and communications – This is under budget by $2,064 in January and is under budget by $3,804 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower normal telecommunication's costs.
- i. Commissions – This area is on target in January and is over budget by $811 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. There wasn't an issue in January and therefore, no costs.
- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $9,164 in January and is under budget by $46,624 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower web hosting (down $1.2K) and lower across all other IT related expense (down $8.0K).
- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $29,763 in January and is under budget by $45,785 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to a disconnect between the budget and actual costs. Printing expenses for the Academy catalog were budgeted under this area. It should have been budgeted under Printing. This shift and under-runs from the catalog account for $28.3K of the total under-run.
- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in January and is under budget by $6,599 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation – This area is under budget in January by $2,372 and is over budget by $2,626 for the year. The under-run in January is due to an evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in January and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.
- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $580 in January and is over budget by $9,895 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower credit cards fees.
- o. Other – This area is over budget by $33,778 in January and under budget $79,212 for the year. The majority of the over-run in January is due to the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize (down $21.5K). When the DPGS fund a program with the Academy, it is recorded as a negative, or reduction, in expense. Since it did not happen, we would be $21.5K over budget in this line item. Conversely, we might be under budget in other areas such as professional fees. In addition to this, there were additional over-runs from Traditional Publications (up $6.9K), Governance (up $2.9K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.5K).

p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,192 in January and is unfavorable to budget by $44,676 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $22,571 in January and is under budget by $139,989 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to the lower Marketing and PR (down $12.6K), lower Research (down $2.7K), lower Governance (down $4.2K) and lower Public Policy (down $3.1K).

r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $6,076 in January and is under budget by $15,574 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower legal expenses.

s. Printing – This area is over budget by $21,847 in January and is over budget by $11,794 for the year. The over-run in January is due to the budget error addressed in Advertising and Promotion for the Academy Catalog (up $19.8K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.0K).

Another month down and another improvement on the operating results when compared to the budget. As I mentioned above, we have a good “buffer” going into the final third of the fiscal year. I hope we will be able to hold this gain. I won’t bank on it since we expect shortfalls in the revenue to continue. However, we are in a very good position at the moment.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will be posting the information to the portal. She will inform you when it is available. In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

Thank you Susie for sending the draft agenda. Could the following updates be provided: the on-pack labeling program with Kraft and the Monsanto donation? I realize we just approved the latter.

Thank you for your consideration.

Subject: RE: March Board Meeting

Good morning all,

I wanted to let you know I will not be at the upcoming Board meeting in March. After our Board conference call a few weeks ago, I was telling my husband that the next meeting is March 6 and 7th in Chicago. He immediately said he had made plans that weekend and told me that he and 2 other couples had arranged a "surprise" trip to New Orleans for my birthday on the 7th since it is my 60th. They had already purchased plane tickets and hotel reservations that are not refundable. We typically don't do "surprises" so I was not expecting this at all. I wonder when he would have told me if I hadn't brought our meeting up! While I was completely surprised about the trip, I am very sorry to miss the board meeting and for such a frivolous reason. Since I won't be there, feel free to assign me lots of work!

I will miss you all and look forward to catching up after the meeting.

Subject: RE: March Board Meeting

Good morning all,

I wanted to let you know I will not be at the upcoming Board meeting in March. After our Board conference call a few weeks ago, I was telling my husband that the next meeting is March 6 and 7th in Chicago. He immediately said he had made plans that weekend and told me that he and 2 other couples had arranged a "surprise" trip to New Orleans for my birthday on the 7th since it is my 60th. They had already purchased plane tickets and hotel reservations that are not refundable. We typically don't do "surprises" so I was not expecting this at all. I wonder when he would have told me if I hadn't brought our meeting up! While I was completely surprised about the trip, I am very sorry to miss the board meeting and for such a frivolous reason. Since I won't be there, feel free to assign me lots of work!

I will miss you all and look forward to catching up after the meeting.

All,

I hope everyone is doing well and keeping warm. It is that time again. We have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, February 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. Our call will focus on the following;

1. December final financial results
2. January preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Cash

I. December Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary December results.

II. Investments

Anyone tired of this ride??? It kind of reminds me of when I took my young children to Six Flags and all they wanted to do is ride every roller coaster. Since they were young, I didn't have a choice but to ride along side them. Halfway through the day, I had enough!!! This market kind of feels like that. Just like I didn't have a choice but to push through with my kids, we have to push through this market. Of course with my kids, what really put me over the top was the Demon Drop. That is the ride that slowly takes you to the top of a tall tower and then, with a few sudden jerks (No, I am not referring to any of my partners on the ride), you are suddenly dropped at an accelerating pace before being stopped....just before you hit the ground. I am sweating still thinking about it. L Well, I think with this investment market, we are in a good position to avoid anything like that ride!!!

That being said, the month of January was not very good for our investment portfolios. Our combined investment portfolios lost $964,000. Year to date returns now are just shy of $1.495M for the combined portfolios.

The bad news for January has turned into great news for February. Through Wednesday, February 18th, the combine portfolios were up by $1,936,000 or 3.51%! So, we have gained back the losses from January and added another $972,000. As we expect with this market, today the DOW is down; NASDAQ is up; etc. I generally start this e-mail in the morning with the expectation it would be changed by the end of the day. Today is no different. I would expect, even with the variances in the markets, our portfolios will be a little higher after today. I would not have thought that this morning when the markets opened. So, it is nearly impossible to determine where we will end the month. Regardless of what happens for the rest of the month, I am glad we can face it with a gain so far over 3.5%.

III. Academy preliminary January Financials (A10)

We continue the pattern in January that we have seen throughout the fiscal year. Revenue is short of budget while expenses are under-running the budget. The result for January was an operating deficit of $292,315. This was $10,384 smaller or better than our budget. Great news in total. However, it is all driven by expense under-runs.

The Academy needs to keep this correlation wherever possible. As we look forward at the revenue, there is some good news, but also some concerns. The good news; Membership revenue continues to perform well. Just yesterday, Mary Beth indicated that we signed a few sponsorships for Nutrition News Forecast that were not budgeted. Diane Enos indicated that she thinks we have an strong opportunity to increase revenue for professional development in the spring due to the new website. So, some pretty exciting news. However, on the other side, we do have revenue concerns about eNCPT and some Research Grants. On the Research Grant side there will be expense savings if the grants are not achieved.

We are continuing to refine our forecasts for the year, so I won't try yet to project where we will end up. I do believe we will end the fiscal year near our operating deficit target. Depending on the revenue, I hope we can do better.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an operating deficit of $1,597,922 through January. This is $411,064 smaller (better) than the budget. That is fantastic news. This will give the Academy a buffer against the revenue "headwinds" that may materialize over the next few months. I won't address the investments. It isn't great. Since we see good news for February, I would rather focus on the operating results.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for January:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $5,153 in January and is over budget by $5,558 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Membership Dues (up $13.5K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K).
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $10,272 in January and is under budget by $420,101 for the year. The under-run January is due to lower professional development revenue (down $8.4K) and continue processing of FNCE refunds (down $1.9K).
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $12,277 in January and is under budget by $60,546 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $25.0K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K) and lower across all other areas (down $0.6K) offset by higher List Rental sales (up $17.8K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $44,076 in January and is under budget by $219,346 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.4K). The eNCPT sales may not be good when compared to the budget. However, the revenue is steadily increasing. In January this is up to $12,400. This will increase to over $14,000 in February. The sales now will also help FY16. So, eNCPT is building momentum for the future. We just need it to continue to grow.
- e. Advertising – This area is on-target in January and under budget by $10,395 for the year. Nothing was budgeted and nothing was received.
- f. All grants - This area is over budget by $4,455 in January and is under budget by $2,555 for the year. The over-run in January is primarily due to higher Grants for Research (up $23.1K) and higher Carry the Flame recognition (up $4.8K). This is offset by lower Guides for Practice project (down $10.0K), lower by higher ConAgra (up $2.8K), lower recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition grant (down $10.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.6K).

g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $12,140 in January and is under budget by $48,340 for the year. I have mentioned previously that we would re-evaluate the Sponsorship revenues in January and project to the end of the year based on our current data. In doing so, we are projecting lower revenues for the year. So, I decided to reduce the amount we are recording by $12,140 per month. If things pick up, then this might be reversed. This adjustment is based upon information provided by the Sponsorship team. I mentioned above the revenue for the Nutrition News Forecast later this year. That is great news that should offset the shortfall we are currently seeing. This will be recognized in April.

h. Other – This area was under budget by $5,389 in January and is over budget by $104,586 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower licensure revenue (down $6.7K) offset by higher across all other areas (up $1.3K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $45,618 in January and is under budget by $128,069 for the year. The under-run in January is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $16,895 in January and is under budget by $95,956 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $7.0K), lower Quality Management costs (down $5.8K) and lower Member retention (down $4.9K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $0.8K).

c. Travel – This area is under budget by $38,571 in January and is under budget by $256,441 for the year. The under-run for January is due to lower Research (down $26.5K), lower Governance (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $3.0K), lower Marketing (down $2.6K), lower Administration (down $1.0K) and lower across all other areas (down $1.8K), offset by higher FNCE expense (up $11.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is over budget by $41,480 in January and is under budget by $152,285 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Research (up $16.6K), higher Brand Promise (up $8.7K), higher Revenue analysis (up $17.4), higher Corporate Relations (up $7.6K), higher Public Policy (up $3.7K), higher List Rental (up $5.1K) and higher across all other (up $0.3K), offset by lower Governance (down $5.2K), lower Member Services (down $6.2K), lower Malnutrition project (down $4.6K) and lower IT/Web (down $1.9K). The Revenue analysis is the work we discussed previously to evaluate new revenue opportunities for the Academy. This was not budgeted. However, the Academy moved forward because it was believed we could find costs savings in other areas to offset the overall amount.

- e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $27,131 for January and is under budget by $86,096 for the year. The under-run for January is being driven by lower Member Services (down $19.7K), lower Traditional Publications (down $7.1K) and lower across all other (down $0.3K).
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is over budget by $1,140 in January and is under budget by $13,469 for the year. The under-run in January is across all areas of the business. No material variances can be identified.
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $978 in January and is under budget by $62,102 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower utility costs associated with our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher utility costs in Chicago (up $0.7K).
- h. Telephone and communications – This is under budget by $2,064 in January and is under budget by $3,804 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower normal telecommunication's costs.
- i. Commissions – This area is on target in January and is over budget by $811 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. There wasn't an issue in January and therefore, no costs.
- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $9,164 in January and is under budget by $46,624 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower web hosting (down $1.2K) and lower across all other IT related expense (down $8.0K).
- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $29,763 in January and is under budget by $45,785 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to a disconnect between the budget and actual costs. Printing expenses for the Academy catalog were budgeted under this area. It should have been budgeted under Printing. This shift and under-runs from the catalog account for $28.3K of the total under-run.
- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in January and is under budget by $6,599 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation – This area is under budget in January by $2,372 and is over budget by $2,626 for the year. The under-run in January is due to an evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in January and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $580 in January and is over budget by $9,895 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower credit cards fees.

o. Other – This area is over budget by $33,778 in January and under budget $79,212 for the year. The majority of the over-run in January is due to the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize (down $21.5K). When the DPGS fund a program with the Academy, it is recorded as a negative, or reduction, in expense. Since it did not happen, we would be $21.5K over budget in this line item. Conversely, we might be under budget in other areas such as professional fees. In addition to this, there were additional over-runs from Traditional Publications (up $6.9K), Governance (up $2.9K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.5K).

p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,192 in January and is unfavorable to budget by $44,676 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $22,571 in January and is under budget by $139,989 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to the lower Marketing and PR (down $12.6K), lower Research (down $2.7K), lower Governance (down $4.2K) and lower Public Policy (down $3.1K).

r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $6,076 in January and is under budget by $15,574 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower legal expenses.

s. Printing – This area is over budget by $21,847 in January and is over budget by $11,794 for the year. The over-run in January is due to the budget error addressed in Advertising and Promotion for the Academy Catalog (up $19.8K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.0K). Another month down and another improvement on the operating results when compared to the budget. As I mentioned above, we have a good “buffer” going into the final third of the fiscal year. I hope we will be able to hold this gain. I won’t bank on it since we expect shortfalls in the revenue to continue. However, we are in a very good position at the moment.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will be posting the information to the portal. She will inform you when it is available. In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

Donna,

Pat and I discussed. I am not happy that it is even reference at this stage. Without the budget, it is ridiculous to address. Pat concurred. So, as a compromise, I will reference it within the Deck and say it is too early for a 3 year plan and provide talking points. I should have something by Monday for you.

Paul, I will be in Washington, DC next Monday and Tuesday, I have a flight out at 4 pm EST on Tuesday. I plan to try and conduct the FAC meeting from the airport (I hope in a nice quiet place) before I need to catch my flight. I am copying Mary on this email in case she needs to fill in for me. I am in Washington to lobby congress with the PEW Institute, so I did not have any control over the dates and time. Mary, please let me know if you can pitch hit for me if needed? I would complain about the cold down here (19 degrees), but I know that it would just be falling on deaf ears. Talk to you on Tuesday!

All,

I hope everyone is doing well and keeping warm. It is that time again. We have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, February 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. Our call will focus on the following;

1. December final financial results
2. January preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Cash

I. December Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary December results.

II. Investments

Anyone tired of this ride??? It kind of reminds me of when I took my young children to Six Flags and all they wanted to do is ride every roller coaster. Since they were young, I didn't have a choice but to ride along side them. Halfway through the day, I had enough!!! This market kind of feels like that. Just like I didn't have a choice but to push through with my kids, we have to push through this market. Of course with my kids, what really put me over the top was the Demon Drop. That is the ride that slowly takes you to the top of a tall tower and then, with a few sudden jerks (No, I am not referring to any of my partners on the ride), you are suddenly dropped at an accelerating pace before being stopped..just before you hit the ground. I am sweating still thinking about it. L Well, I think with this investment market, we are in a good position to avoid anything like that ride!!!

That being said, the month of January was not very good for our investment portfolios. Our combined investment portfolios lost $964,000. Year to date returns now are just shy of $1.495M for the combined portfolios.

The bad news for January has turned into great news for February. Through Wednesday, February 18th, the combine portfolios were up by $1,936,000 or 3.51%! So, we have gained back the losses from January and added another $972,000. As we expect with this market, today the DOW is down; NASDAQ is up; etc. I generally start this e-mail in the morning with the expectation it would be changed by the end of the day. Today is no different. I would expect, even with the variances in the markets, our portfolios will be a little higher after today. I would not have thought that this morning when the markets opened. So, it is nearly impossible to determine where we will end the month. Regardless of what happens for the rest of the month, I am glad we can face it with a gain so far over 3.5%.

III. Academy preliminary January Financials (A10)

We continue the pattern in January that we have seen throughout the fiscal year. Revenue is short of budget while expenses are under-running the budget. The result for January was an operating deficit of $292,315. This was $10,384 smaller or better than our budget. Great news in total. However, it is all driven by expense under-runs.

The Academy needs to keep this correlation wherever possible. As we look forward at the revenue, there is some good news, but also some concerns. The good news; Membership revenue continues to perform well. Just yesterday, Mary Beth indicated that we signed a few sponsorships for Nutrition News Forecast that were not budgeted. Diane Enos indicated that she thinks we have an strong opportunity to increase revenue for professional development in the spring due to the new website. So, some pretty exciting news. However, on the other side, we do have revenue concerns about eNCPT and some Research Grants. On the Research Grant side there will be expense savings if the grants are not achieved.

We are continuing to refine our forecasts for the year, so I won't try yet to project where we will end up. I do believe we will end the fiscal year near our operating deficit target. Depending on the revenue, I hope we can do better.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an operating deficit of $1,597,922 through January. This is $411,064 smaller (better) than the budget. That is fantastic news. This will give the Academy a buffer against the revenue "headwinds" that may materialize over the next few months. I won't address the investments. It isn't great. Since we see good news for February, I would rather focus on the operating results.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for January:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $5,153 in January and is over budget by $5,558 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Membership Dues (up $13.5K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K).
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $10,272 in January and is under budget by $420,101 for the year. The under-run January is due to lower professional development revenue (down $8.4K) and continue processing of FNCE refunds (down $1.9K).
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $12,277 in January and is under budget by $60,546 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $25.0K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K) and lower across all other areas (down $0.6K) offset by higher List Rental sales (up $17.8K).
- d. Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $44,076 in January and is under budget by $219,346 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.4K). The eNCPT sales may not be good when compared to the budget. However, the revenue is steadily increasing. In January this is up to $12,400. This will increase to over $14,000 in February. The sales now will also help FY16. So, eNCPT is building momentum for the future. We just need it to continue to grow.
- e. Advertising - This area is on-target in January and under budget by $10,395 for the year. Nothing was budgeted and nothing was received.
- f. All grants - This area is over budget by $4,455 in January and is under budget by $2,555 for the year. The over-run in January is primarily due to higher Grants for Research (up $23.1K) and higher Carry the Flame recognition (up $4.8K). This is offset by lower Guides for Practice project (down $10.0K), lower by higher ConAgra (up $2.8K), lower recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition grant (down $10.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.6K).

g. Sponsorships - This area is under budget by $12,140 in January and is under budget by $48,340 for the year. I have mentioned previously that we would re-evaluate the Sponsorship revenues in January and project to the end of the year based on our current data. In doing so, we are projecting lower revenues for the year. So, I decided to reduce the amount we are recording by $12,140 per month. If things pick up, then this might be reversed. This adjustment is based upon information provided by the Sponsorship team. I mentioned above the revenue for the Nutrition News Forecast later this year. That is great news that should offset the shortfall we are currently seeing. This will be recognized in April.

h. Other - This area was under budget by $5,389 in January and is over budget by $104,586 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower licensure revenue (down $6.7K) offset by higher across all other areas (up $1.3K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel - This area is under budget by $45,618 in January and is under budget by $128,069 for the year. The under-run in January is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b. Publications - This area is under budget by $16,895 in January and is under budget by $95,956 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $7.0K), lower Quality Management costs (down $5.8K) and lower Member retention (down $4.9K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $0.8K).

c. Travel - This area is under budget by $38,571 in January and is under budget by $256,441 for the year. The under-run for January is due to lower Research (down $26.5K), lower Governance (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $3.0K), lower Marketing (down $2.6K), lower Administration (down $1.0K) and lower across all other areas (down $1.8K), offset by higher FNCE expense (up $11.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is over budget by $41,480 in January and is under budget by $152,285 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Research (up $16.6K), higher Brand Promise (up $8.7K), higher Revenue analysis (up $17.4), higher Corporate Relations (up $7.6K), higher Public Policy (up $3.7K), higher List Rental (up $5.1K) and higher across all other (up $0.3K), offset by lower Governance (down $5.2K), lower Member Services (down $6.2K), lower Malnutrition project (down $4.6K) and lower IT/Web (down $1.9K). The Revenue analysis is the work we discussed previously to evaluate new revenue opportunities for the Academy. This was not budgeted. However, the Academy moved forward because it was believed we could find costs savings in other areas to offset the overall amount.

e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $27,131 for January and is under budget by $86,096 for the year. The under-run for January is being driven by lower Member Services (down $19.7K), lower Traditional Publications (down $7.1K) and lower across all other (down $0.3K).

f. Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is over budget by $1,140 in January and is under budget by $13,469 for the year. The under-run in January is across all areas of the business. No material variances can be identified.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $978 in January and is under budget by $62,102 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower utility costs associated with our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher utility costs in Chicago (up $0.7K).

h. Telephone and communications - This is under budget by $2,064 in January and is under budget by $3,804 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower normal telecommunication's costs.

i. Commissions - This area is on target in January and is over budget by $811 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. There wasn't an issue in January and therefore, no costs.

j. Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $9,164 in January and is under budget by $46,624 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower web hosting (down $1.2K) and lower across all other IT related expense (down $8.0K).

k. Advertising and Promotion - This area is under budget by $29,763 in January and is under budget by $45,785 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to a disconnect between the budget and actual costs. Printing expenses for the Academy catalog were budgeted under this area. It should have been budgeted under Printing. This shift and under-runs from the catalog account for $28.3K of the total under-run.

l. Insurance - This area is under budget by $534 in January and is under budget by $6,599 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.

m. Depreciation - This area is under budget in January by $2,372 and is over budget by $2,626 for the year. The under-run in January is due to an evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in January and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

n. Bank and trust fees - This area is under budget by $580 in January and is over budget by $9,895 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower credit cards fees.

o. Other - This area is over budget by $33,778 in January and under budget $79,212 for the year. The majority of the over-run in January is due to the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize (down $21.5K). When the DPGS fund a program with the Academy, it is recorded as a negative, or reduction, in expense. Since it did not happen, we would be $21.5K over budget in this line item. Conversely, we might be under budget in other areas such as professional fees. In addition to this, there were additional over-runs from Traditional Publications (up $6.9K), Governance (up $2.9K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.5K).

p. Expense allocation - This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,192 in January and is unfavorable to budget by $44,676 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the "normal" expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $22,571 in January and is under budget by $139,989 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to the lower Marketing and PR

(down $12.6K), lower Research (down $2.7K), lower Governance (down $4.2K) and lower Public Policy (down $3.1K).

r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $6,076 in January and is under budget by $15,574 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower legal expenses.

s. Printing - This area is over budget by $21,847 in January and is over budget by $11,794 for the year. The over-run in January is due to the budget error addressed in Advertising and Promotion for the Academy Catalog (up $19.8K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.0K).

Another month down and another improvement on the operating results when compared to the budget. As I mentioned above, we have a good "buffer" going into the final third of the fiscal year. I hope we will be able to hold this gain. I won't bank on it since we expect shortfalls in the revenue to continue. However, we are in a very good position at the moment.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will be posting the information to the portal. She will inform you when it is available. In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

Paul, I knew to be expecting stuff for the board, but was afraid to ask you about it until after we got through the FAC call. It also looks like I will be talking about the three year Finance plan at the board meeting. We can talk more after next weeks FAC call. I get the spent part!

Paul, I will be in Washington, DC next Monday and Tuesday, I have a flight out at 4 pm EST on Tuesday. I plan to try and conduct the FAC meeting from the airport (I hope in a nice quiet place) before I need to catch my flight. I am copying Mary on this email in case she needs to fill in for me. I am in Washington to lobby congress with the PEW Institute, so I did not have any control over the dates and time. Mary, please let me know if you can pitch hit for me if needed? I would complain about the cold down here (19 degrees), but I know that it would just be falling on deaf ears. Talk to you on Tuesday!

All,

I hope everyone is doing well and keeping warm. It is that time again. We have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, February 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. Our call will focus on the following;

1. December final financial results
2. January preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Cash

I. December Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary December results.

II. Investments

Anyone tired of this ride??? It kind of reminds me of when I took my young children to Six Flags and all they wanted to do is ride every roller coaster. Since they were young, I didn't have a choice but to ride along side them. Halfway through the day, I had enough!!! This market kind of feels like that. Just like I didn't have a choice but to push through with my kids, we have to push through this market. Of course with my kids, what really put me over the top was the Demon Drop. That is the ride that slowly takes you to the top of a tall tower and then, with a few sudden jerks (No, I am not referring to any of my partners on the ride), you are suddenly dropped at an accelerating pace before being stopped....just before you hit the ground. I am sweating still thinking about it. L Well, I think with this investment market, we are in a good position to avoid anything like that ride!!!

That being said, the month of January was not very good for our investment portfolios. Our combined investment portfolios lost $964,000. Year to date returns now are just shy of $1.495M for the combined portfolios.

The bad news for January has turned into great news for February. Through Wednesday, February 18th, the combine portfolios were up by $1,936,000 or 3.51%! So, we have gained back the losses from January and added another $972,000. As we expect with this market, today the DOW is down; NASDAQ is up; etc. I generally start this e-mail in the morning with the expectation it would be changed by the end of the day. Today is no different. I would expect, even with the variances in the markets, our portfolios will be a little higher after today. I would not have thought that this morning when the markets opened. So, it is nearly impossible to determine where we will end the month. Regardless of what happens for the rest of the month, I am glad we can face it with a gain so far over 3.5%.

III. Academy preliminary January Financials (A10)

We continue the pattern in January that we have seen throughout the fiscal year. Revenue is short of budget while expenses are under-running the budget. The result for January was an operating deficit of $292,315. This was $10,384 smaller or better than our budget. Great news in total. However, it is all driven by expense under-runs.

The Academy needs to keep this correlation wherever possible. As we look forward at the revenue, there is some good news, but also some concerns. The good news; Membership revenue continues to perform well. Just yesterday, Mary Beth indicated that we signed a few sponsorships for Nutrition News Forecast that were not budgeted. Diane Enos indicated that she thinks we have an strong opportunity to increase revenue for professional development in the spring due to the new website. So, some pretty exciting news. However, on the other side, we do have revenue concerns about eNCPT and some Research Grants. On the Research Grant side there will be expense savings if the grants are not achieved.

We are continuing to refine our forecasts for the year, so I won't try yet to project where we will end up. I do believe we will end the fiscal year near our operating deficit target. Depending on the revenue, I hope we can do better.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an operating deficit of $1,597,922 through January. This is $411,064 smaller (better) than the budget. That is fantastic news. This will give the Academy a buffer against the revenue “headwinds” that may materialize over the next few months. I won’t address the investments. It isn’t great. Since we see good news for February, I would rather focus on the operating results.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for January:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $5,153 in January and is over budget by $5,558 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Membership Dues (up $13.5K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) .
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $10,272 in January and is under budget by $420,101 for the year. The under-run January is due to lower professional development revenue (down $8.4K) and continue processing of FNCE refunds (down $1.9K).
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $12,277 in January and is under budget by $60,546 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $25.0K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K) and lower across all other areas (down $0.6K) offset by higher List Rental sales (up $17.8K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $44,076 in January and is under budget by $219,346 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.4K). The eNCPT sales may not be good when compared to the budget. However, the revenue is steadily increasing. In January this is up to $12,400. This will increase to over $14,000 in February. The sales now will also help FY16. So, eNCPT is building momentum for the future. We just need it to continue to grow.
- e. Advertising – This area is on-target in January and under budget by $10,395 for the year. Nothing was budgeted and nothing was received.
- f. All grants - This area is over budget by $4,455 in January and is under budget by $2,555 for the year. The over-run in January is primarily due to higher Grants for Research (up $23.1K) and higher Carry the Flame recognition (up $4.8K). This is offset by lower Guides for Practice project (down $10.0K), lower by higher ConAgra (up $2.8K), lower recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition grant (down $10.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.6K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $12,140 in January and is under budget by $48,340 for the year. I have mentioned previously that we would re-evaluate the Sponsorship revenues in January and project to the end of the year based on our current data. In doing so, we are projecting lower revenues for the year. So, I decided to reduce the amount we are recording by $12,140 per month. If things pick up, then this might be reversed. This adjustment is based upon information provided by the Sponsorship team. I mentioned above the revenue for the Nutrition News Forecast later this year. That is great news that should offset the shortfall we are currently seeing. This will be recognized in April.

h. Other – This area was under budget by $5,389 in January and is over budget by $104,586 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower licensure revenue (down $6.7K) offset by higher across all other areas (up $1.3K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $45,618 in January and is under budget by $128,069 for the year. The under-run in January is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $16,895 in January and is under budget by $95,956 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $7.0K), lower Quality Management costs (down $5.8K) and lower Member retention (down $4.9K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $0.8K).

c. Travel – This area is under budget by $38,571 in January and is under budget by $256,441 for the year. The under-run for January is due to lower Research (down $26.5K), lower Governance (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $3.0K), lower Marketing (down $2.6K), lower Administration (down $1.0K) and lower across all other areas (down $1.8K), offset by higher FNCE expense (up $11.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is over budget by $41,480 in January and is under budget by $152,285 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Research (up $16.6K), higher Brand Promise (up $8.7K), higher Revenue analysis (up $17.4), higher Corporate Relations (up $7.6K), higher Public Policy (up $3.7K), higher List Rental (up $5.1K) and higher across all other (up $0.3K), offset by lower Governance (down $5.2K), lower Member Services (down $6.2K), lower Malnutrition project (down $4.6K) and lower IT/Web (down $1.9K). The Revenue analysis is the work we discussed previously to evaluate new revenue opportunities for the Academy. This was not budgeted. However, the Academy moved forward because it was believed we could find costs savings in other areas to offset the overall amount.

e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $27,131 for January and is under budget by $86,096 for the year. The under-run for January is being driven by lower Member Services (down $19.7K), lower Traditional Publications (down $7.1K) and lower across all other (down $0.3K).

- f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is over budget by $1,140 in January and is under budget by $13,469 for the year. The under-run in January is across all areas of the business. No material variances can be identified.
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $978 in January and is under budget by $62,102 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower utility costs associated with our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher utility costs in Chicago (up $0.7K).
- h. Telephone and communications – This is under budget by $2,064 in January and is under budget by $3,804 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower normal telecommunication's costs.
- i. Commissions – This area is on target in January and is over budget by $811 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. There wasn't an issue in January and therefore, no costs.
- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $9,164 in January and is under budget by $46,624 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower web hosting (down $1.2K) and lower across all other IT related expense (down $8.0K).
- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $29,763 in January and is under budget by $45,785 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to a disconnect between the budget and actual costs. Printing expenses for the Academy catalog were budgeted under this area. It should have been budgeted under Printing. This shift and under-runs from the catalog account for $28.3K of the total under-run.
- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in January and is under budget by $6,599 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation – This area is under budget in January by $2,372 and is over budget by $2,626 for the year. The under-run in January is due to an evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in January and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.
- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $580 in January and is over budget by $9,895 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower credit cards fees.
- o. Other – This area is over budget by $33,778 in January and under budget $79,212 for the year. The majority of the over-run in January is due to the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize (down $21.5K). When the DPGS fund a program with the Academy, it is recorded as a negative, or reduction, in expense. Since it did not happen, we would be $21.5K over budget in this line item. Conversely, we might be under budget in other areas such as professional fees. In addition to this, there were additional over-runs from Traditional Publications (up $6.9K), Governance (up $2.9K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.5K).

p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,192 in January and is unfavorable to budget by $44,676 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $22,571 in January and is under budget by $139,989 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to the lower Marketing and PR (down $12.6K), lower Research (down $2.7K), lower Governance (down $4.2K) and lower Public Policy (down $3.1K).

r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $6,076 in January and is under budget by $15,574 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower legal expenses.

s. Printing – This area is over budget by $21,847 in January and is over budget by $11,794 for the year. The over-run in January is due to the budget error addressed in Advertising and Promotion for the Academy Catalog (up $19.8K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.0K).

Another month down and another improvement on the operating results when compared to the budget. As I mentioned above, we have a good “buffer” going into the final third of the fiscal year. I hope we will be able to hold this gain. I won’t bank on it since we expect shortfalls in the revenue to continue. However, we are in a very good position at the moment.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will be posting the information to the portal. She will inform you when it is available. In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

Paul

All,

I hope everyone is doing well and keeping warm. It is that time again. We have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, February 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. Our call will focus on the following;

Since we see good news for February, I would rather focus on the operating results.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for January:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $5,153 in January and is over budget by $5,558 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Membership Dues (up $13.5K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) .

The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $25.0K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K) and lower across all other areas (down $0.6K) offset by higher List Rental sales (up $17.8K).

The over-run in January is primarily due to higher Grants for Research (up $23.1K) and higher Carry the Flame recognition (up $4.8K). This is offset by lower Guides for Practice project (down $10.0K), lower by higher ConAgra (up $2.8K), lower recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition grant (down $10.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.6K).
- g. Sponsorships - This area is under budget by $12,140 in January and is under budget by $48,340 for the year. I have mentioned previously that we would re-evaluate the Sponsorship revenues in January and project to the end of the year based on our current data. The under-run for January is due to lower Research (down $26.5K), lower Governance (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $3.0K), lower Marketing (down $2.6K), lower Administration (down $1.0K) and lower across all other areas (down $1.8K), offset by higher FNCE expense (up $11.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is over budget by $41,480 in January and is under budget by $152,285 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Research (up $16.6K), higher Brand Promise (up $8.7K), higher Revenue analysis (up $17.4), higher Corporate Relations (up $7.6K), higher Public Policy (up $3.7K), higher List Rental (up $5.1K) and higher across all other (up $0.3K), offset by lower Governance (down $5.2K), lower Member Services (down $6.2K), lower Malnutrition project (down $4.6K) and lower IT/Web (down $1.9K). f. Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is over budget by $1,140 in January and is under budget by $13,469 for the year. The under-run in January is across all areas of the business. No material variances can be identified.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $978 in January and is under budget by $62,102 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower utility costs associated with our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher utility costs in Chicago (up $0.7K).

h. Telephone and communications - This is under budget by $2,064 in January and is under budget by $3,804 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower normal telecommunication's costs.

i. Commissions - This area is on target in January and is over budget by $811 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. There wasn't an issue in January and therefore, no costs.

- j. Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $9,164 in January and is under budget by $46,624 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower web hosting (down $1.2K) and lower across all other IT related expense (down $8.0K).
- k. Advertising and Promotion - This area is under budget by $29,763 in January and is under budget by $45,785 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to a disconnect between the budget and actual costs. Printing expenses for the Academy catalog were budgeted under this area. It should have been budgeted under Printing. This shift and under-runs from the catalog account for $28.3K of the total under-run.
- l. Insurance - This area is under budget by $534 in January and is under budget by $6,599 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation - This area is under budget in January by $2,372 and is over budget by $2,626 for the year. The under-run in January is due to an evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in January and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.
- n. Bank and trust fees - This area is under budget by $580 in January and is over budget by $9,895 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower credit cards fees.
- o. Other - This area is over budget by $33,778 in January and under budget $79,212 for the year. The majority of the over-run in January is due to the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize (down $21.5K). When the DPGS fund a program with the Academy, it is recorded as a negative, or reduction, in expense. Since it did not happen, we would be $21.5K over budget in this line item. Conversely, we might be under budget in other areas such as professional fees. In addition to this, there were additional over-runs from Traditional Publications (up $6.9K), Governance (up $2.9K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.5K).
- p. Expense allocation - This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,192 in January and is unfavorable to budget by $44,676 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the "normal" expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.
- q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $22,571 in January and is under budget by $139,989 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to the lower Marketing and PR (down $12.6K), lower Research (down $2.7K), lower Governance (down $4.2K) and lower Public Policy (down $3.1K).
- r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $6,076 in January and is under budget by $15,574 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower legal expenses.
- s. Printing - This area is over budget by $21,847 in January and is over budget by $11,794 for the year. The over-run in January is due to the budget error addressed in Advertising and Promotion for the Academy Catalog (up $19.8K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.0K).

Another month down and another improvement on the operating results when compared to the budget. As I mentioned above, we have a good "buffer" going into the final third of the fiscal year. I hope we will be able to hold this gain. I won't bank on it since we expect shortfalls in the revenue to continue. However, we are in a very good position at the moment.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will be posting the information to the portal. She will inform you when it is available. In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

Paul, I knew to be expecting stuff for the board, but was afraid to ask you about it until after we got through the FAC call. It also looks like I will be talking about the three year Finance plan at the board meeting. We can talk more after next weeks FAC call. I get the spent part!

All,

I hope everyone is doing well and keeping warm. It is that time again. We have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, February 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. Our call will focus on the following;

1. December final financial results
2. January preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Cash

I. December Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary December results.

II. Investments

Anyone tired of this ride??? It kind of reminds me of when I took my young children to Six Flags and all they wanted to do is ride every roller coaster. Since they were young, I didn't have a choice but to ride along side them. Halfway through the day, I had enough!!! This market kind of feels like that. Just like I didn't have a choice but to push through with my kids, we have to push through this market. Of course with my kids, what really put me over the top was the Demon Drop. That is the ride that slowly takes you to the top of a tall tower and then, with a few sudden jerks (No, I am not referring to any of my partners on the ride), you are suddenly dropped at an accelerating pace before being stopped..just before you hit the ground. I am sweating still thinking about it. L Well, I think with this investment market, we are in a good position to avoid anything like that ride!!!

That being said, the month of January was not very good for our investment portfolios. Our combined investment portfolios lost $964,000. Year to date returns now are just shy of $1.495M for the combined portfolios.

The bad news for January has turned into great news for February. Through Wednesday, February 18th, the combine portfolios were up by $1,936,000 or 3.51%! So, we have gained back the losses from January and added another $972,000. As we expect with this market, today the DOW is down; NASDAQ is up; etc. I generally start this e-mail in the morning with the expectation it would be changed by the end of the day. Today is no different. I would expect, even with the variances in the markets, our portfolios will be a little higher after today. I would not have thought that this morning when the markets opened. So, it is nearly impossible to determine where we will end the month. Regardless of what happens for the rest of the month, I am glad we can face it with a gain so far over 3.5%.

III. Academy preliminary January Financials (A10)

We continue the pattern in January that we have seen throughout the fiscal year. Revenue is short of budget while expenses are under-running the budget. The result for January was an operating deficit of $292,315. This was $10,384 smaller or better than our budget. Great news in total. However, it is all driven by expense under-runs.

The Academy needs to keep this correlation wherever possible. As we look forward at the revenue, there is some good news, but also some concerns. The good news; Membership revenue continues to perform well. Just yesterday, Mary Beth indicated that we signed a few sponsorships for Nutrition News Forecast that were not budgeted. Diane Enos indicated that she thinks we have an strong opportunity to increase revenue for professional development in the spring due to the new website. So, some pretty exciting news. However, on the other side, we do have revenue concerns about eNCPT and some Research Grants. On the Research Grant side there will be expense savings if the grants are not achieved.

We are continuing to refine our forecasts for the year, so I won't try yet to project where we will end up. I do believe we will end the fiscal year near our operating deficit target. Depending on the revenue, I hope we can do better.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an operating deficit of $1,597,922 through January. This is $411,064 smaller (better) than the budget. That is fantastic news. This will give the Academy a buffer against the revenue "headwinds" that may materialize over the next few months. I won't address the investments. It isn't great. Since we see good news for February, I would rather focus on the operating results.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for January:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $5,153 in January and is over budget by $5,558 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Membership Dues (up $13.5K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K).
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $10,272 in January and is under budget by $420,101 for the year. The under-run January is due to lower professional development revenue (down $8.4K) and continue processing of FNCE refunds (down $1.9K).
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $12,277 in January and is under budget by $60,546 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $25.0K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K) and lower across all other areas (down $0.6K) offset by higher List Rental sales (up $17.8K).
- d. Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $44,076 in January and is under budget by $219,346 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.4K). The eNCPT sales may not be good when compared to the budget. However, the revenue is steadily increasing. In January this is up to $12,400. This will increase to over $14,000 in February. The sales now will also help FY16. So, eNCPT is building momentum for the future. We just need it to continue to grow.
- e. Advertising - This area is on-target in January and under budget by $10,395 for the year. Nothing was budgeted and nothing was received.
- f. All grants - This area is over budget by $4,455 in January and is under budget by $2,555 for the year. The over-run in January is primarily due to higher Grants for Research (up $23.1K) and higher Carry the Flame recognition (up $4.8K). This is offset by lower Guides for Practice project (down $10.0K), lower by higher ConAgra (up $2.8K), lower recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition grant (down $10.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.6K).

g. Sponsorships - This area is under budget by $12,140 in January and is under budget by $48,340 for the year. I have mentioned previously that we would re-evaluate the Sponsorship revenues in January and project to the end of the year based on our current data. In doing so, we are projecting lower revenues for the year. So, I decided to reduce the amount we are recording by $12,140 per month. If things pick up, then this might be reversed. This adjustment is based upon information provided by the Sponsorship team. I mentioned above the revenue for the Nutrition News Forecast later this year. That is great news that should offset the shortfall we are currently seeing. This will be recognized in April.

h. Other - This area was under budget by $5,389 in January and is over budget by $104,586 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower licensure revenue (down $6.7K) offset by higher across all other areas (up $1.3K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel - This area is under budget by $45,618 in January and is under budget by $128,069 for the year. The under-run in January is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b. Publications - This area is under budget by $16,895 in January and is under budget by $95,956 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $7.0K), lower Quality Management costs (down $5.8K) and lower Member retention (down $4.9K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $0.8K).

c. Travel - This area is under budget by $38,571 in January and is under budget by $256,441 for the year. The under-run for January is due to lower Research (down $26.5K), lower Governance (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $3.0K), lower Marketing (down $2.6K), lower Administration (down $1.0K) and lower across all other areas (down $1.8K), offset by higher FNCE expense (up $11.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is over budget by $41,480 in January and is under budget by $152,285 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Research (up $16.6K), higher Brand Promise (up $8.7K), higher Revenue analysis (up $17.4), higher Corporate Relations (up $7.6K), higher Public Policy (up $3.7K), higher List Rental (up $5.1K) and higher across all other (up $0.3K), offset by lower Governance (down $5.2K), lower Member Services (down $6.2K), lower Malnutrition project (down $4.6K) and lower IT/Web (down $1.9K). The Revenue analysis is the work we discussed previously to evaluate new revenue opportunities for the Academy. This was not budgeted. However, the Academy moved forward because it was believed we could find costs savings in other areas to offset the overall amount.

e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $27,131 for January and is under budget by $86,096 for the year. The under-run for January is being driven by lower Member Services (down $19.7K), lower Traditional Publications (down $7.1K) and lower across all other (down $0.3K).

f. Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is over budget by $1,140 in January and is under budget by $13,469 for the year. The under-run in January is across all areas of the business. No material variances can be identified.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $978 in January and is under budget by $62,102 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower utility costs associated with our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher utility costs in Chicago (up $0.7K).

h. Telephone and communications - This is under budget by $2,064 in January and is under budget by $3,804 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower normal telecommunication's costs.

i. Commissions - This area is on target in January and is over budget by $811 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. There wasn't an issue in January and therefore, no costs.

j. Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $9,164 in January and is under budget by $46,624 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower web hosting (down $1.2K) and lower across all other IT related expense (down $8.0K).

k. Advertising and Promotion - This area is under budget by $29,763 in January and is under budget by $45,785 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to a disconnect between the budget and actual costs. Printing expenses for the Academy catalog were budgeted under this area. It should have been budgeted under Printing. This shift and under-runs from the catalog account for $28.3K of the total under-run.

l. Insurance - This area is under budget by $534 in January and is under budget by $6,599 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.

m. Depreciation - This area is under budget in January by $2,372 and is over budget by $2,626 for the year. The under-run in January is due to an evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in January and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

n. Bank and trust fees - This area is under budget by $580 in January and is over budget by $9,895 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower credit cards fees.

o. Other - This area is over budget by $33,778 in January and under budget $79,212 for the year. The majority of the over-run in January is due to the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize (down $21.5K). When the DPGS fund a program with the Academy, it is recorded as a negative, or reduction, in expense. Since it did not happen, we would be $21.5K over budget in this line item. Conversely, we might be under budget in other areas such as professional fees. In addition to this, there were additional over-runs from Traditional Publications (up $6.9K), Governance (up $2.9K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.5K).

p. Expense allocation - This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,192 in January and is unfavorable to budget by $44,676 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the "normal" expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $22,571 in January and is under budget by $139,989 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to the lower Marketing and PR

(down $12.6K), lower Research (down $2.7K), lower Governance (down $4.2K) and lower Public Policy (down $3.1K).

r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $6,076 in January and is under budget by $15,574 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower legal expenses.

s. Printing - This area is over budget by $21,847 in January and is over budget by $11,794 for the year. The over-run in January is due to the budget error addressed in Advertising and Promotion for the Academy Catalog (up $19.8K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.0K).

Another month down and another improvement on the operating results when compared to the budget. As I mentioned above, we have a good "buffer" going into the final third of the fiscal year. I hope we will be able to hold this gain. I won't bank on it since we expect shortfalls in the revenue to continue. However, we are in a very good position at the moment.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will be posting the information to the portal. She will inform you when it is available. In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for January:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $5,153 in January and is over budget by $5,558 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Membership Dues (up $13.5K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) .
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $10,272 in January and is under budget by $420,101 for the year. The under-run January is due to lower professional development revenue (down $8.4K) and continue processing of FNCE refunds (down $1.9K).
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $12,277 in January and is under budget by $60,546 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $25.0K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K) and lower across all other areas (down $0.6K) offset by higher List Rental sales (up $17.8K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $44,076 in January and is under budget by $219,346 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.0K). The over-run in January is primarily due to higher Grants for Research (up $23.1K) and higher Carry the Flame recognition (up $4.8K). This is offset by lower Guides for Practice project (down $10.0K), lower by higher ConAgra (up $2.8K), lower recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition grant (down $10.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.6K).

g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $12,140 in January and is under budget by $48,340 for the year. I have mentioned previously that we would re-evaluate the Sponsorship revenues in January and project to the end of the year based on our current data. In doing so, we are projecting lower revenues for the year. So, I decided to reduce the amount we are recording by $12,140 per month. If things pick up, then this might be reversed. This adjustment is based upon information provided by the Sponsorship team. I mentioned above the revenue for the Nutrition News Forecast later this year. That is great news that should offset the shortfall we are currently seeing. This will be recognized in April.

h. Other – This area was under budget by $5,389 in January and is over budget by $104,586 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower licensure revenue (down $6.7K) offset by higher across all other areas (up $1.3K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $45,618 in January and is under budget by $128,069 for the year. The under-run in January is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $16,895 in January and is under budget by $95,956 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $7.0K), lower Quality Management costs (down $5.8K) and lower Member retention (down $4.9K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $0.8K).

c. Travel – This area is under budget by $38,571 in January and is under budget by $256,441 for the year. The under-run for January is due to lower Research (down $26.5K), lower Governance (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $3.0K), lower Marketing (down $2.6K), lower Administration (down $1.0K) and lower across all other areas (down $1.8K), offset by higher FNCE expense (up $11.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is over budget by $41,480 in January and is under budget by $152,285 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Research (up $16.6K), higher Brand Promise (up $8.7K), higher Revenue analysis (up $17.4), higher Corporate Relations (up $7.6K), higher Public Policy (up $3.7K), higher List Rental (up $5.1K) and higher across all other (up $0.3K), offset by lower Governance (down $5.2K), lower Member Services (down $6.2K), lower Malnutrition project (down $4.6K) and lower IT/Web (down $1.9K). The Revenue analysis is the work we discussed previously to evaluate new revenue opportunities for the Academy. This was not budgeted. However, the Academy moved forward because it was believed we could find costs savings in other areas to offset the overall amount.

e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $27,131 for January and is under budget by $86,096 for the year. The under-run for January is being driven by lower Member Services (down $19.7K), lower Traditional Publications (down $7.1K) and lower across all other (down $0.3K).

f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is over budget by $1,140 in January and is under budget by $13,469 for the year. The under-run in January is across all areas of the business. No material variances can be identified.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $978 in January and is under budget by $62,102 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower utility costs associated with our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher utility costs in Chicago (up $0.7K).

h. Telephone and communications – This is under budget by $2,064 in January and is under budget by $3,804 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower normal telecommunication's costs.

i. Commissions – This area is on target in January and is over budget by $811 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. There wasn't an issue in January and therefore, no costs.

j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $9,164 in January and is under budget by $46,624 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower web hosting (down $1.2K) and lower across all other IT related expense (down $8.0K).

k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $29,763 in January and is under budget by $45,785 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to a disconnect between the budget and actual costs. Printing expenses for the Academy catalog were budgeted under this area. It should have been budgeted under Printing. This shift and under-runs from the catalog account for $28.3K of the total under-run.

l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in January and is under budget by $6,599 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.

m. Depreciation – This area is under budget in January by $2,372 and is over budget by $2,626 for the year. The under-run in January is due to an evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in January and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $580 in January and is over budget by $9,895 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower credit cards fees.

o. Other – This area is over budget by $33,778 in January and under budget $79,212 for the year. The majority of the over-run in January is due to the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize (down $21.5K). When the DPGS fund a program with the Academy, it is recorded as a negative, or reduction, in expense. Since it did not happen, we would be $21.5K over budget in this line item. Conversely, we might be under budget in other areas such as professional fees. In addition to this, there were additional over-runs from Traditional Publications (up $6.9K), Governance (up $2.9K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.5K).

p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,192 in January and is unfavorable to budget by $44,676 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $22,571 in January and is under budget by $139,989 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to the lower Marketing and PR (down $12.6K), lower Research (down $2.7K), lower Governance (down $4.2K) and lower Public Policy (down $3.1K).

r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $6,076 in January and is under budget by $15,574 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower legal expenses.

s. Printing – This area is over budget by $21,847 in January and is over budget by $11,794 for the year. The over-run in January is due to the budget error addressed in Advertising and Promotion for the Academy Catalog (up $19.8K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.0K).

Another month down and another improvement on the operating results when compared to the budget. As I mentioned above, we have a good “buffer” going into the final third of the fiscal year. I hope we will be able to hold this gain. I won’t bank on it since we expect shortfalls in the revenue to continue. However, we are in a very good position at the moment.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will be posting the information to the portal. She will inform you when it is available. In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

All,

I hope everyone is doing well and keeping warm. It is that time again. We have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, February 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. Our call will focus on the following;

1. December final financial results
2. January preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Cash

I. December Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary December results.

II. Investments

Anyone tired of this ride??? It kind of reminds me of when I took my young children to Six Flags and all they wanted to do is ride every roller coaster. Since they were young, I didn't have a choice but to ride along side them. Halfway through the day, I had enough!!! This market kind of feels like that. Just like I didn't have a choice but to push through with my kids, we have to push through this market. Of course with my kids, what really put me over the top was the Demon Drop. That is the ride that slowly takes you to the top of a tall tower and then, with a few sudden jerks (No, I am not referring to any of my partners on the ride), you are suddenly dropped at an accelerating pace before being stopped....just before you hit the ground. I am sweating still thinking about it. L Well, I think with this investment market, we are in a good position to avoid anything like that ride!!!

That being said, the month of January was not very good for our investment portfolios. Our combined investment portfolios lost $964,000. Year to date returns now are just shy of $1.495M for the combined portfolios.

The bad news for January has turned into great news for February. Through Wednesday, February 18th, the combine portfolios were up by $1,936,000 or 3.51%! So, we have gained back the losses from January and added another $972,000. As we expect with this market, today the DOW is down; NASDAQ is up; etc. I generally start this e-mail in the morning with the expectation it would be changed by the end of the day. Today is no different. I would expect, even with the variances in the markets, our portfolios will be a little higher after today. I would not have thought that this morning when the markets opened. So, it is nearly impossible to determine where we will end the month. Regardless of what happens for the rest of the month, I am glad we can face it with a gain so far over 3.5%.

III. Academy preliminary January Financials (A10)

We continue the pattern in January that we have seen throughout the fiscal year. Revenue is short of budget while expenses are under-running the budget. The result for January was an operating deficit of $292,315. This was $10,384 smaller or better than our budget. Great news in total. However, it is all driven by expense under-runs.

The Academy needs to keep this correlation wherever possible. As we look forward at the revenue, there is some good news, but also some concerns. The good news; Membership revenue continues to perform well. Just yesterday, Mary Beth indicated that we signed a few sponsorships for Nutrition News Forecast that were not budgeted. Diane Enos indicated that she thinks we have an strong opportunity to increase revenue for professional development in the spring due to the new website. So, some pretty exciting news. However, on the other side, we do have revenue concerns about eNCPT and some Research Grants. On the Research Grant side there will be expense savings if the grants are not achieved.

We are continuing to refine our forecasts for the year, so I won't try yet to project where we will end up. I do believe we will end the fiscal year near our operating deficit target. Depending on the revenue, I hope we can do better.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an operating deficit of $1,597,922 through January. This is $411,064 smaller (better) than the budget. That is fantastic news. This will give the Academy a buffer against the revenue "headwinds" that may materialize over the next few months. I won't address the investments. It isn't great. Since we see good news for February, I would rather focus on the operating results.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for January:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $5,153 in January and is over budget by $5,558 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Membership Dues (up $13.5K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) .
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $10,272 in January and is under budget by $420,101 for the year. The under-run January is due to lower professional development revenue (down $8.4K) and continue processing of FNCE refunds (down $1.9K).
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $12,277 in January and is under budget by $60,546 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $25.0K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K) and lower across all other areas (down $0.6K) offset by higher List Rental sales (up $17.8K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $44,076 in January and is under budget by $219,346 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.4K). The eNCPT sales may not be good when compared to the budget. However, the revenue is steadily increasing. In January this is up to $12,400. This will increase to over $14,000 in February. The sales now will also help FY16. So, eNCPT is building momentum for the future. We just need it to continue to grow.
- e. Advertising – This area is on-target in January and under budget by $10,395 for the year. Nothing was budgeted and nothing was received.
- f. All grants - This area is over budget by $4,455 in January and is under budget by $2,555 for the year. The over-run in January is primarily due to higher Grants for Research (up $23.1K) and higher Carry the Flame recognition (up $4.8K). This is offset by lower Guides for Practice project (down $10.0K), lower by higher ConAgra (up $2.8K), lower recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition grant (down $10.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.6K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $12,140 in January and is under budget by $48,340 for the year. I have mentioned previously that we would re-evaluate the Sponsorship revenues in January and project to the end of the year based on our current data. In doing so, we are projecting lower revenues for the year. So, I decided to reduce the amount we are recording by $12,140 per month. If things pick up, then this might be reversed. This adjustment is based upon information provided by the Sponsorship team. I mentioned above the revenue for the Nutrition News Forecast later this year. That is great news that should offset the shortfall we are currently seeing. This will be recognized in April.

h. Other – This area was under budget by $5,389 in January and is over budget by $104,586 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower licensure revenue (down $6.7K) offset by higher across all other areas (up $1.3K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $45,618 in January and is under budget by $128,069 for the year. The under-run in January is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $16,895 in January and is under budget by $95,956 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $7.0K), lower Quality Management costs (down $5.8K) and lower Member retention (down $4.9K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $0.8K).

c. Travel – This area is under budget by $38,571 in January and is under budget by $256,441 for the year. The under-run for January is due to lower Research (down $26.5K), lower Governance (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $3.0K), lower Marketing (down $2.6K), lower Administration (down $1.0K) and lower across all other areas (down $1.8K), offset by higher FNCE expense (up $11.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is over budget by $41,480 in January and is under budget by $152,285 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Research (up $16.6K), higher Brand Promise (up $8.7K), higher Revenue analysis (up $17.4), higher Corporate Relations (up $7.6K), higher Public Policy (up $3.7K), higher List Rental (up $5.1K) and higher across all other (up $0.3K), offset by lower Governance (down $5.2K), lower Member Services (down $6.2K), lower Malnutrition project (down $4.6K) and lower IT/Web (down $1.9K). The Revenue analysis is the work we discussed previously to evaluate new revenue opportunities for the Academy. This was not budgeted. However, the Academy moved forward because it was believed we could find costs savings in other areas to offset the overall amount.

e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $27,131 for January and is under budget by $86,096 for the year. The under-run for January is being driven by lower Member Services (down $19.7K), lower Traditional Publications (down $7.1K) and lower across all other (down $0.3K).

f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is over budget by $1,140 in January and is under budget by $13,469 for the year. The under-run in January is across all areas of the business. No material variances can be identified.

- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $978 in January and is under budget by $62,102 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower utility costs associated with our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher utility costs in Chicago (up $0.7K).
- h. Telephone and communications – This is under budget by $2,064 in January and is under budget by $3,804 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower normal telecommunication's costs.
- i. Commissions – This area is on target in January and is over budget by $811 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. There wasn't an issue in January and therefore, no costs.
- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $9,164 in January and is under budget by $46,624 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower web hosting (down $1.2K) and lower across all other IT related expense (down $8.0K).
- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $29,763 in January and is under budget by $45,785 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to a disconnect between the budget and actual costs. Printing expenses for the Academy catalog were budgeted under this area. It should have been budgeted under Printing. This shift and under-runs from the catalog account for $28.3K of the total under-run.
- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in January and is under budget by $6,599 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation – This area is under budget in January by $2,372 and is over budget by $2,626 for the year. The under-run in January is due to an evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in January and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.
- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $580 in January and is over budget by $9,895 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower credit cards fees.
- o. Other – This area is over budget by $33,778 in January and under budget $79,212 for the year. The majority of the over-run in January is due to the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize (down $21.5K). When the DPGS fund a program with the Academy, it is recorded as a negative, or reduction, in expense. Since it did not happen, we would be $21.5K over budget in this line item. Conversely, we might be under budget in other areas such as professional fees. In addition to this, there were additional over-runs from Traditional Publications (up $6.9K), Governance (up $2.9K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.5K).

- p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,192 in January and is unfavorable to budget by $44,676 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $22,571 in January and is under budget by $139,989 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to the lower Marketing and PR (down $12.6K), lower Research (down $2.7K), lower Governance (down $4.2K) and lower Public Policy (down $3.1K).
- r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $6,076 in January and is under budget by $15,574 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower legal expenses.
- s. Printing – This area is over budget by $21,847 in January and is over budget by $11,794 for the year. The over-run in January is due to the budget error addressed in Advertising and Promotion for the Academy Catalog (up $19.8K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.0K).

Another month down and another improvement on the operating results when compared to the budget. As I mentioned above, we have a good “buffer” going into the final third of the fiscal year. I hope we will be able to hold this gain. I won’t bank on it since we expect shortfalls in the revenue to continue. However, we are in a very good position at the moment.

However, on the other side, we do have revenue concerns about eNCPT and some Research Grants. On the Research Grant side there will be expense savings if the grants are not achieved.

We are continuing to refine our forecasts for the year, so I won't try yet to project where we will end up. I do believe we will end the fiscal year near our operating deficit target. Depending on the revenue, I hope we can do better.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an operating deficit of $1,597,922 through January. This is $411,064 smaller (better) than the budget. That is fantastic news. This will give the Academy a buffer against the revenue "headwinds" that may materialize over the next few months. I won't address the investments. It isn't great. Since we see good news for February, I would rather focus on the operating results.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for January:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $5,153 in January and is over budget by $5,558 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Membership Dues (up $13.5K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) .
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $10,272 in January and is under budget by $420,101 for the year. The under-run January is due to lower professional development revenue (down $8.4K) and continue processing of FNCE refunds (down $1.9K).
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $12,277 in January and is under budget by $60,546 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $25.0K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K) and lower across all other areas (down $0.6K) offset by higher List Rental sales (up $17.8K).
- d. Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $44,076 in January and is under budget by $219,346 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.0K). This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.4K). The eNCPT sales may not be good when compared to the budget. However, the revenue is steadily increasing. In January this is up to $12,400. This will increase to over $14,000 in February. The sales now will also help FY16. So, eNCPT is building momentum for the future. We just need it to continue to grow.
- e. Advertising - This area is on-target in January and under budget by $10,395 for the year. Nothing was budgeted and nothing was received.

- f. All grants - This area is over budget by $4,455 in January and is under budget by $2,555 for the year. The over-run in January is primarily due to higher Grants for Research (up $23.1K) and higher Carry the Flame recognition (up $4.8K). This is offset by lower Guides for Practice project (down $10.0K), lower by higher ConAgra (up $2.8K), lower recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition grant (down $10.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.6K).
- g. Sponsorships - This area is under budget by $12,140 in January and is under budget by $48,340 for the year. I have mentioned previously that we would re-evaluate the Sponsorship revenues in January and project to the end of the year based on our current data. In doing so, we are projecting lower revenues for the year. So, I decided to reduce the amount we are recording by $12,140 per month. If things pick up, then this might be reversed. This adjustment is based upon information provided by the Sponsorship team. I mentioned above the revenue for the Nutrition News Forecast later this year. That is great news that should offset the shortfall we are currently seeing. This will be recognized in April.
- h. Other - This area was under budget by $5,389 in January and is over budget by $104,586 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower licensure revenue (down $6.7K) offset by higher across all other areas (up $1.3K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel - This area is under budget by $45,618 in January and is under budget by $128,069 for the year. The under-run in January is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.
- b. Publications - This area is under budget by $16,895 in January and is under budget by $95,956 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $7.0K), lower Quality Management costs (down $5.8K) and lower Member retention (down $4.9K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $0.8K).
- c. Travel - This area is under budget by $38,571 in January and is under budget by $256,441 for the year. The under-run for January is due to lower Research (down $26.5K), lower Governance (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $3.0K), lower Marketing (down $2.6K), lower Administration (down $1.0K) and lower across all other areas (down $1.8K), offset by higher FNCE expense (up $11.6K).
- d. Professional Fees - This area is over budget by $41,480 in January and is under budget by $152,285 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Research (up $16.6K), higher Brand Promise (up $8.7K), higher Revenue analysis (up $17.4), higher Corporate Relations (up $7.6K), higher Public Policy (up $3.7K), higher List Rental (up $5.1K) and higher across all other (up $0.3K), offset by lower Governance (down $5.2K), lower Member Services (down $6.2K), lower Malnutrition project (down $4.6K) and lower IT/Web (down $1.9K). The Revenue analysis is the work we discussed previously to evaluate new revenue opportunities for the Academy. This was not budgeted. However, the Academy moved forward because it was believed we could find costs savings in other areas to offset the overall amount.
- e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $27,131 for January and is under budget by $86,096 for the year. The under-run for January is being driven by lower Member Services (down $19.7K), lower Traditional Publications (down $7.1K) and lower across all other (down $0.3K).

- f. Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is over budget by $1,140 in January and is under budget by $13,469 for the year. The under-run in January is across all areas of the business. No material variances can be identified.
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $978 in January and is under budget by $62,102 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower utility costs associated with our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher utility costs in Chicago (up $0.7K).
- h. Telephone and communications - This is under budget by $2,064 in January and is under budget by $3,804 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower normal telecommunication's costs.
- i. Commissions - This area is on target in January and is over budget by $811 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. There wasn't an issue in January and therefore, no costs.
- j. Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $9,164 in January and is under budget by $46,624 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower web hosting (down $1.2K) and lower across all other IT related expense (down $8.0K).
- k. Advertising and Promotion - This area is under budget by $29,763 in January and is under budget by $45,785 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to a disconnect between the budget and actual costs. Printing expenses for the Academy catalog were budgeted under this area. It should have been budgeted under Printing. This shift and under-runs from the catalog account for $28.3K of the total under-run.
- l. Insurance - This area is under budget by $534 in January and is under budget by $6,599 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- m. Depreciation - This area is under budget in January by $2,372 and is over budget by $2,626 for the year. The under-run in January is due to an evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in January and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.
- n. Bank and trust fees - This area is under budget by $580 in January and is over budget by $9,895 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower credit cards fees.
- o. Other - This area is over budget by $33,778 in January and under budget $79,212 for the year. The majority of the over-run in January is due to the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize (down $21.5K). When the DPGS fund a program with the Academy, it is recorded as a negative, or reduction, in expense. Since it did not happen, we would be $21.5K over budget in this line item. Conversely, we might be under budget in other areas such as professional fees. In addition to this, there were additional over-runs from Traditional Publications (up $6.9K), Governance (up $2.9K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.5K).
- p. Expense allocation - This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,192 in January and is unfavorable to budget by $44,676 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the "normal" expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $22,571 in January and is under budget by $139,989 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to the lower Marketing and PR (down $12.6K), lower Research (down $2.7K), lower Governance (down $4.2K) and lower Public Policy (down $3.1K).

r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $6,076 in January and is under budget by $15,574 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower legal expenses.

s. Printing - This area is over budget by $21,847 in January and is over budget by $11,794 for the year. The over-run in January is due to the budget error addressed in Advertising and Promotion for the Academy Catalog (up $19.8K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.0K).

Another month down and another improvement on the operating results when compared to the budget. As I mentioned above, we have a good "buffer" going into the final third of the fiscal year. I hope we will be able to hold this gain. I won't bank on it since we expect shortfalls in the revenue to continue. However, we are in a very good position at the moment.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will be posting the information to the portal. She will inform you when it is available. In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

All,

I hope everyone is doing well and keeping warm. It is that time again. We have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, February 24th at 1 p.m. CDT. Our call will focus on the following;

1. December final financial results
2. January preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Cash

I. December Adjustments

We did not make any adjustments to the preliminary December results.

II. Investments

Anyone tired of this ride??? It kind of reminds me of when I took my young children to Six Flags and all they wanted to do is ride every roller coaster. Since they were young, I didn't have a choice but to ride along side them. Halfway through the day, I had enough!!! This market kind of feels like that. Just like I didn't have a choice but to push through with my kids, we have to push through this market. Of course with my kids, what really put me over the top was the Demon Drop. That is the ride that slowly takes you to the top of a tall tower and then, with a few sudden jerks (No, I am not referring to any of my partners on the ride), you are suddenly dropped at an accelerating pace before being stopped....just before you hit the ground. I am sweating still thinking about it. L Well, I think with this investment market, we are in a good position to avoid anything like that ride!!!

That being said, the month of January was not very good for our investment portfolios. Our combined investment portfolios lost $964,000. Year to date returns now are just shy of $1.495M for the combined portfolios.

The bad news for January has turned into great news for February. Through Wednesday, February 18th, the combine portfolios were up by $1,936,000 or 3.51%! So, we have gained back the losses from January and added another $972,000. As we expect with this market, today the DOW is down; NASDAQ is up; etc. I generally start this e-mail in the morning with the expectation it would be changed by the end of the day. Today is no different. I would expect, even with the variances in the markets, our portfolios will be a little higher after today. I would not have thought that this morning when the markets opened. So, it is nearly impossible to determine where we will end the month. Regardless of what happens for the rest of the month, I am glad we can face it with a gain so far over 3.5%.

III. Academy preliminary January Financials (A10)

We continue the pattern in January that we have seen throughout the fiscal year. Revenue is short of budget while expenses are under-running the budget. The result for January was an operating deficit of $292,315. This was $10,384 smaller or better than our budget. Great news in total. However, it is all driven by expense under-runs.

The Academy needs to keep this correlation wherever possible. As we look forward at the revenue, there is some good news, but also some concerns. The good news; Membership revenue continues to perform well. Just yesterday, Mary Beth indicated that we signed a few sponsorships for Nutrition News Forecast that were not budgeted. Diane Enos indicated that she thinks we have an strong opportunity to increase revenue for professional development in the spring due to the new website. So, some pretty exciting news. However, on the other side, we do have revenue concerns about eNCPT and some Research Grants. On the Research Grant side there will be expense savings if the grants are not achieved.

We are continuing to refine our forecasts for the year, so I won't try yet to project where we will end up. I do believe we will end the fiscal year near our operating deficit target. Depending on the revenue, I hope we can do better.

On a year to date basis, the Academy has an operating deficit of $1,597,922 through January. This is $411,064 smaller (better) than the budget. That is fantastic news. This will give the Academy a buffer against the revenue "headwinds" that may materialize over the next few months. I won't address the investments. It isn't great. Since we see good news for February, I would rather focus on the operating results.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for January:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $5,153 in January and is over budget by $5,558 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Membership Dues (up $13.5K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $7.8K) .
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $10,272 in January and is under budget by $420,101 for the year. The under-run January is due to lower professional development revenue (down $8.4K) and continue processing of FNCE refunds (down $1.9K).
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $12,277 in January and is under budget by $60,546 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $25.0K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K) and lower across all other areas (down $0.6K) offset by higher List Rental sales (up $17.8K).

d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $44,076 in January and is under budget by $219,346 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower eNCPT (down $43.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted and lower NCM and related products (down $2.0K).

This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.4K). The eNCPT sales may not be good when compared to the budget. However, the revenue is steadily increasing. In January this is up to $12,400. This will increase to over $14,000 in February. The sales now will also help FY16. So, eNCPT is building momentum for the future. We just need it to continue to grow.

e. Advertising – This area is on-target in January and under budget by $10,395 for the year. Nothing was budgeted and nothing was received.

f. All grants - This area is over budget by $4,455 in January and is under budget by $2,555 for the year. The over-run in January is primarily due to higher Grants for Research (up $23.1K) and higher Carry the Flame recognition (up $4.8K). This is offset by lower Guides for Practice project (down $10.0K), lower by higher ConAgra (up $2.8K), lower recognition of the Abbott Malnutrition grant (down $10.0K) and lower across all other (down $0.6K).

g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $12,140 in January and is under budget by $48,340 for the year. I have mentioned previously that we would re-evaluate the Sponsorship revenues in January and project to the end of the year based on our current data. In doing so, we are projecting lower revenues for the year. So, I decided to reduce the amount we are recording by $12,140 per month. If things pick up, then this might be reversed. This adjustment is based upon information provided by the Sponsorship team. I mentioned above the revenue for the Nutrition News Forecast later this year. That is great news that should offset the shortfall we are currently seeing. This will be recognized in April.

h. Other – This area was under budget by $5,389 in January and is over budget by $104,586 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower licensure revenue (down $6.7K) offset by higher across all other areas (up $1.3K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $45,618 in January and is under budget by $128,069 for the year. The under-run in January is due to the open positions being frozen and the impact from changing our medical plan. This should continue as we move forward.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $16,895 in January and is under budget by $95,956 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $7.0K), lower Quality Management costs (down $5.8K) and lower Member retention

c. Travel – This area is under budget by $38,571 in January and is under budget by $256,441 for the year. The under-run for January is due to lower Research (down $26.5K), lower Governance (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $3.0K), lower Marketing (down $2.6K), lower Administration (down $1.0K) and lower across all other areas (down $1.8K), offset by higher FNCE expense (up $11.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is over budget by $41,480 in January and is under budget by $152,285 for the year. The over-run in January is being driven by higher Research (up $16.6K), higher Brand Promise (up $8.7K), higher Revenue analysis (up $17.4), higher Corporate Relations (up $7.6K), higher Public Policy (up $3.7K), higher List Rental (up $5.1K) and higher across all other (up $0.3K), offset by lower Governance (down $5.2K), lower Member Services (down $6.2K), lower Malnutrition project (down $4.6K) and lower IT/Web (down $1.9K). The Revenue analysis is the work we discussed previously to evaluate new revenue opportunities for the Academy. This was not budgeted. However, the Academy moved forward because it was believed we could find costs savings in other areas to offset the overall amount.

e. Postage and Mailing - This area is under budget by $27,131 for January and is under budget by $86,096 for the year. The under-run for January is being driven by lower Member Services (down $19.7K), lower Traditional Publications (down $7.1K) and lower across all other (down $0.3K).

f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is over budget by $1,140 in January and is under budget by $13,469 for the year. The under-run in January is across all areas of the business. No material variances can be identified.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $978 in January and is under budget by $62,102 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower utility costs associated with our new lease in Washington DC (down $1.7K) offset by higher utility costs in Chicago (up $0.7K).

h. Telephone and communications – This is under budget by $2,064 in January and is under budget by $3,804 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower normal telecommunication's costs.

i. Commissions – This area is on target in January and is over budget by $811 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. There wasn't an issue in January and therefore, no costs.

j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $9,164 in January and is under budget by $46,624 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower web hosting (down $1.2K) and lower across all other IT related expense (down $8.0K).

k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $29,763 in January and is under budget by $45,785 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to a disconnect between the budget and actual costs. Printing expenses for the Academy catalog were budgeted under this area. It should have been budgeted under Printing. This shift and under-runs from the catalog account for $28.3K of the total under-run.

l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $534 in January and is under budget by $6,599 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.

m. Depreciation – This area is under budget in January by $2,372 and is over budget by $2,626 for the year. The under-run in January is due to an evaluation of the total capital costs and the timing of depreciation. Since we expense the budget for the first half of the year and adjust in the second, any delays in capital projects will affect the amount of depreciation recognized. The new web site was delayed, which will delay the recognition of the depreciation in FY15. This is driving the lower costs in January and should have an impact for the remainder of the fiscal year.

n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $580 in January and is over budget by $9,895 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower credit cards fees.

o. Other – This area is over budget by $33,778 in January and under budget $79,212 for the year. The majority of the over-run in January is due to the expectation that the DPGs would provide funding that did not materialize (down $21.5K). When the DPGS fund a program with the Academy, it is recorded as a negative, or reduction, in expense. Since it did not happen, we would be $21.5K over budget in this line item. Conversely, we might be under budget in other areas such as professional fees. In addition to this, there were additional over-runs from Traditional Publications (up $6.9K), Governance (up $2.9K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.5K).

p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,192 in January and is unfavorable to budget by $44,676 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $22,571 in January and is under budget by $139,989 for the year. The under-run in January is primarily due to the lower Marketing and PR (down $12.6K), lower Research (down $2.7K), lower Governance (down $4.2K) and lower Public Policy (down $3.1K).

r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $6,076 in January and is under budget by $15,574 for the year. The under-run in January is due to lower legal expenses.

s. Printing – This area is over budget by $21,847 in January and is over budget by $11,794 for the year. The over-run in January is due to the budget error addressed in Advertising and Promotion for the Academy Catalog (up $19.8K) and higher across all other areas (up $2.0K).

Another month down and another improvement on the operating results when compared to the budget. As I mentioned above, we have a good “buffer” going into the final third of the fiscal year. I hope we will be able to hold this gain. I won’t bank on it since we expect shortfalls in the revenue to continue. However, we are in a very good position at the moment.

I will once again stop here and provide the remaining information tomorrow. Maria will be posting the information to the portal. She will inform you when it is available. In addition, you should receive a webinar invitation this afternoon. If you have any questions, please let me know and look for my e-mail tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

Member News Alert: Release of the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee Report

To all Academy members:

The report of the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee has been released. The Academy believes the report which provides the scientific basis for the federal governments Dietary Guidelines for Americans, to be released later this year offers realistic, science-based recommendations which can be translated into practical and easy-to-follow guidance for consumers.

The committees report and more information on its recommendations, including how the 2015 recommendations differ from the 2010 Dietary Guidelines, are available at <http://www.health.gov/dietaryguidelines/>.

The committees review was patterned after the Academys evidence-based approach, in which nutrition researchers and analysts use objective, transparent methodologies to assess food and nutrition-related science. As members well know, following the science leads to the best and most useful advice for individuals and families on ways to eat healthfully.

Thanks and congratulations to the registered dietitian nutritionists at the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Health and Human Services who have worked very hard to make this report a reality. They demonstrate, yet again, that RDNs are the link to consumers as translators of science into practical advice.

Thanks as well to four Academy members who served on the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee for their time, their expertise and their commitment to helping people eat right: Barbara Millen, DrPH, RD, LDN, FADA (chair); Marian Neuhouser, PhD, RD; Anna Maria Siega-Riz, PhD, MS; and Mary Story, PhD, RD.

According to Academy President Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LDN (view Academy's press release): In the best tradition of the nutrition and dietetics profession, the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee followed an evidence-based process for evaluating the current science surrounding healthful diets for Americans, including foods and nutrients.

The cornerstone of federal food policy in the United States, the Dietary Guidelines for Americans are especially important in developing nutrition education programs and strengthening food assistance programs, including the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and the School Lunch and WIC Programs.

The release of the Advisory Committees report will be followed by a public comment period. The Academy looks forward to providing comments to the committee. We are committed to helping create evidence-based Dietary Guidelines that are easy for consumers to use in their daily lives, according to President Connor.

This is great news. The DGAs were discussed in details at Food 3000. Doris Acosta shared with us that we would receive the information as soon as it was released! It was good that she was there to speak with authority.

I look forward to receiving the packet of information from the staff. I was invited to do a segment on NPR in November, 2014. They did not provide our Communications Department with the questions in time to adequately research the topic, so that I could speak from an evidence based position.

At Food 3000, One of our members, k. Heagen, presented on Sustainability. Roger Clemens and Sue Borra were very complimentary of another one of our members, Joan Slavin, who served on the committee.

DGAC Report

We expect the recommendations of the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee to be released any day (the rumor is tomorrow). In preparation for this announcement, we have prepared the attached press release. Although it will take a while to review the 500-plus pages of the DGAC's report, the Academy's statement will include support for our four members who have served on the Committee and the use of an evidence-based process based on our EAL. An internal team has already been formed, which will be led by our Research and Scientific Affairs and PIA units, to draft the Academy's comments to the DGAC report. You and other member leaders will be encouraged to submit comments to this group that will help influence the final product – the 2015 Dietary Guidelines for Americans. Mary Pat Raimondi has developed a user-friendly and efficient Dropbox folder for all the major documents, including references, to ensure that everyone is reviewing and commenting on the same documents.

New Grant Opportunities

You might have heard that The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation has made a major commitment to what it calls the "culture of health" by earmarking $500 million over the next decade to combat childhood obesity in the United States. The announcement was made at New York City's Harlem High School at a small "invitation only" event that included the First Lady and Academy staff. We have already been brainstorming ideas for funding for programs (new and existing) that can be scaled up to meet the RWJF goal.

The two projects outlined below will, I believe, increase our visibility, credibility and alliance opportunities on national and international levels.

· World Health Organization Collaboration

Another first for the Academy is collaboration with the World Health Organization (WHO)! Following a visit to the Joint United Nations Program on HIV/AIDS (UNAIDS) and facilities in Geneva, Switzerland, the Academy was invited to work with WHO on a systematic review for “interventions to promote and support (exclusive) breastfeeding in HIV-infected women.” The search strategy and analysis will be designed collaboratively between the Academy and WHO. For the first time, we will be presenting the Academy’s EAL methodology to WHO staff. Specifically, the project will be using the EAL process to conduct systematic review for WHO’s upcoming guidelines. The EAL will be using their new data extraction tool (DET) to collect information from articles. They will also utilize this tool to generate a summary table and any quantitative or meta-analysis as appropriate for the project. The end product will be a manuscript.

· Joint Collaborative project with National Kidney Foundation and the International Society of Renal Nutrition and Metabolism

Friday of last week marked the first orientation call of the long awaited Chronic Kidney Disease (CKD) Guideline project. This effort is a landmark guideline project for the Academy as it marks the first time we have collaborated with the National Kidney Foundation and the International Society of Renal Nutrition and Metabolism. The collaborative nature of this project results in equal numbers of physicians (Nephrologists in this case) and RDNs working in alignment within three workgroups covering macronutrients, micronutrients and electrolytes. The groups will review evidence and develop guideline statements for comprehensive Evidence Based Practice Nutrition Guidelines covering patients with CKD stages 1-5D (dialysis). Further, there is a strong international presence (about 1/3 of the 3 workgroups are from outside the USA) from both the RDNs and the MDs within the workgroups. The guidelines are expected to be completed in late 2016 or early 2017 and will be jointly published by both the Academy and the National Kidney Foundation. This important project is funded by the Academy’s Research, International and Scientific Affairs department, the Renal Nutrition Dietetic Practice Group of the Academy, and the National Kidney Foundation.

This was shared with me by my brother and I thought it worthy to send to you. Sometimes it is easy to forget the challenges that others face in just making it through the day, and in finding a way to make a difference.

I am awed and humbled when I see someone whose life has been so burdened and yet has managed to live it with such grace and spirit.

WOW!

· World Health Organization Collaboration

Another first for the Academy is collaboration with the World Health Organization (WHO)! Following a visit to the Joint United Nations Program on HIV/AIDS (UNAIDS) and facilities in Geneva, Switzerland, the Academy was invited to work with WHO on a systematic review for "interventions to promote and support (exclusive) breastfeeding in HIV-infected women." The search strategy and analysis will be designed collaboratively between the Academy and WHO. For the first time, we will be presenting the Academy's EAL methodology to WHO staff. Specifically, the project will be using the EAL process to conduct systematic review for WHO's upcoming guidelines. The EAL will be using their new data extraction tool (DET) to collect information from articles. They will also utilize this tool to generate a summary table and any quantitative or meta-analysis as appropriate for the project. The end product will be a manuscript.

· Joint Collaborative project with National Kidney Foundation and the International Society of Renal Nutrition and Metabolism

Friday of last week marked the first orientation call of the long awaited Chronic Kidney Disease (CKD) Guideline project. This effort is a landmark guideline project for the Academy as it marks the first time we have collaborated with the National Kidney Foundation and the International Society of Renal Nutrition and Metabolism. The collaborative nature of this project results in equal numbers of physicians (Nephrologists in this case) and RDNs working in alignment within three workgroups covering macronutrients, micronutrients and electrolytes. The groups will review evidence and develop guideline statements for comprehensive Evidence Based Practice Nutrition Guidelines covering patients with CKD stages 1-5D (dialysis). Further, there is a strong international presence (about 1/3 of the 3 workgroups are from outside the USA) from both the RDNs and the MDs within the workgroups. The guidelines are expected to be completed in late 2016 or early 2017 and will be jointly published by both the Academy and the National Kidney Foundation. This important project is funded by the Academy's Research, International and Scientific Affairs department, the Renal Nutrition Dietetic Practice Group of the Academy, and the National Kidney Foundation.

This was shared with me by my brother and I thought it worthy to send to you. Sometimes it is easy to forget the challenges that others face in just making it through the day, and in finding a way to make a difference.

I am awed and humbled when I see someone whose life has been so burdened and yet has managed to live it with such grace and spirit.

DGAC Report

We expect the recommendations of the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee to be released any day (the rumor is tomorrow). In preparation for this announcement, we have prepared the attached press release. Although it will take a while to review the 500-plus pages of the DGAC's report, the Academy's statement will include support for our four members who have served on the Committee and the use of an evidence-based process based on our EAL. An internal team has already been formed, which will be led by our Research and Scientific Affairs and PIA units, to draft the Academy's comments to the DGAC report. You and other member leaders will be encouraged to submit comments to this group that will help influence the final product – the 2015 Dietary Guidelines for Americans. Mary Pat Raimondi has developed a user-friendly and efficient Dropbox folder for all the major documents, including references, to ensure that everyone is reviewing and commenting on the same documents.

New Grant Opportunities

You might have heard that The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation has made a major commitment to what it calls the "culture of health" by earmarking $500 million over the next decade to combat childhood obesity in the United States. The announcement was made at New York City's Harlem High School at a small "invitation only" event that included the First Lady and Academy staff. We have already been brainstorming ideas for funding for programs (new and existing) that can be scaled up to meet the RWJF goal.

I approved a short-term loan in the amount of $750,000 because we have yet to receive approximately $785,000 in payments due from our sponsors. The request was sent to our bank this morning and will go into effect on Tuesday. Paul and I decided on the short-term loan over use of reserves since the stock market has been favorable and will yield higher investment returns. The decision is aligned with the Line of Credit Policy approved at the January Board meeting. As you can see from the attached email, the Finance and Audit Committee was notified yesterday of this decision. This is also in compliance with our policy.

Since the Line of Credit is to ensure that the Academy can bridge the cash requirements and not force decisions within the investment reserve that may negatively affect returns within the reserve, the draw from the Line of Credit must be repaid within 90 days. I will provide you with a monthly update on the Line of Credit for any period in which there is an outstanding balance. Please contact me if you have any questions.

Subject: Cash requirements

All,

I hope you are all having a great day. I am writing to update you on our cash situation. During our last Finance and Audit Committee meeting I mentioned that we might have to exercise the short term loan provision to manage our cash needs. Originally, we thought it would happen before the end of January. I am happy to tell you we were able to delay this decision. That is the good news. Unfortunately, I have to move forward and draw upon the short term loan by the next payroll. I will request $750,000 on the loan today. It takes approximately 3 days for the loan to be in place. As a reminder, this is a short term loan for no more than 90 days. Considering that the stock market has been going up over the past couple of weeks, I would rather take out the short term loan to generate the higher investment returns.

Last month I mentioned we were waiting for approximately $785,000 in payments from our Sponsors. We are still waiting. Mary Beth and her team are working on getting payments. They believe we will have some of this next week. I cannot take the chance if this does not happen. The timing of cash payments is critical. We will do everything to get money into the business. However, when a sponsor is late, it is difficult to force the issue.

I hope this is the last time. However, I can't promise that either. We know that some of our sponsors will not renew their agreements. That will further reduce our cash, over the next few weeks, when compared to last year. I will keep you informed as we go forward.

If you have any questions or concerns, please let me know. I can be reached at 800-877-1600, ext 4730 or send me an email.

DGAC Report

We expect the recommendations of the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee to be released any day (the rumor is tomorrow). In preparation for this announcement, we have prepared the attached press release. Although it will take a while to review the 500-plus pages of the DGAC's report, the Academy's statement will include support for our four members who have served on the Committee and the use of an evidence-based process based on our EAL. An internal team has already been formed, which will be led by our Research and Scientific Affairs and PIA units, to draft the Academy's comments to the DGAC report. You and other member leaders will be encouraged to submit comments to this group that will help influence the final product – the 2015 Dietary Guidelines for Americans. Mary Pat Raimondi has developed a user-friendly and efficient Dropbox folder for all the major documents, including references, to ensure that everyone is reviewing and commenting on the same documents.

New Grant Opportunities

You might have heard that The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation has made a major commitment to what it calls the "culture of health" by earmarking $500 million over the next decade to combat childhood obesity in the United States. The announcement was made at New York City's Harlem High School at a small "invitation only" event that included the First Lady and Academy staff. We have already been brainstorming ideas for funding for programs (new and existing) that can be scaled up to meet the RWJF goal.

Greetings Academy Board Members,

Since I am leaving for my two week stint in the Philippines with Bea, Jessie and Ethan, I am sending you the information you will need for our Board Executive Sessions at our March meetings.

The agenda is attached.

We will have two hours for our executive session, one at the end of the first day (4:15 pm to 5:15 pm) and one the hour before we leave the meeting (11 am to noon) to allow for us to have sufficient time for discussion.

One agenda item is an update on the CEO performance objectives. I have provided a copy with the latest updates. It would be helpful for you to have this with you at the meeting as some of the updates will be provided during the strategic measures report. I also attached the report Pat sent to us following her report at the January meeting.

Another agenda item is to review the Compensation Committee timeline (see attachment).

I am looking forward to having your expertise shared during our coming discussions!

Paul, Thanks for the information on the request to exercise our right to take out a short term loan to manage our cash needs. All,

I hope you are all having a great day. I am writing to update you on our cash situation. During our last Finance and Audit Committee meeting I mentioned that we might have to exercise the short term loan provision to manage our cash needs. Originally, we thought it would happen before the end of January. I am happy to tell you we were able to delay this decision. That is the good news.

Unfortunately, I have to move forward and draw upon the short term loan by the next payroll. I will request $750,000 on the loan today. It takes approximately 3 days for the loan to be in place. As a reminder, this is a short term loan for no more than 90 days. Considering that the stock market has been going up over the past couple of weeks, I would rather take out the short term loan to generate the higher investment returns.

Last month I mentioned we were waiting for approximately $785,000 in payments from our Sponsors. We are still waiting. Mary Beth and her team are working on getting payments. They believe we will have some of this next week. I cannot take the chance if this does not happen. The timing of cash payments is critical. We will do everything to get money into the business. All,

Yesterday, I mentioned that we would need to take out a short term loan. It is still going forward. However, I wanted to give you an update on investments. Through yesterday, the combined portfolios had climbed approximately $1.7M for the month. That is over 3% so far. I hope this helps balance out the value of the short term loan versus the reduction in investments. The difference can be large. If we had taken out $750,000 at the end of January, we would have missed out on nearly $23,000 in returns so far this month. The cost of the loan for a month would be $1,500. So, if we think the investments can go up, a decision to spend $1,500 to get $23,000 in return is a pretty good ROI.

I know that the markets are not always going to go up, or even go up as much. However, using the short term loan allows us to manage, and hopefully, maximize the returns for the Academy. As I write this, the markets are up a little more this morning. I hope it continues.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to ask.

Paul

Greetings Academy Board Members,

Since I am leaving for my two week stint in the Philippines with Bea, Jessie and Ethan, I am sending you the information you will need for our Board Executive Sessions at our March meetings.

The agenda is attached.

We will have two hours for our executive session, one at the end of the first day (4:15 pm to 5:15 pm) and one the hour before we leave the meeting (11 am to noon) to allow for us to have sufficient time for discussion.

One agenda item is an update on the CEO performance objectives. I have provided a copy with the latest updates. It would be helpful for you to have this with you at the meeting as some of the updates will be provided during the strategic measures report. I also attached the report Pat sent to us following her report at the January meeting.

Another agenda item is to review the Compensation Committee timeline (see attachment).

I am looking forward to having your expertise shared during our coming discussions!

All,

I hope you are all having a great day. I am writing to update you on our cash situation. During our last Finance and Audit Committee meeting I mentioned that we might have to exercise the short term loan provision to manage our cash needs. Originally, we thought it would happen before the end of January. I am happy to tell you we were able to delay this decision. That is the good news. Unfortunately, I have to move forward and draw upon the short term loan by the next payroll. I will request $750,000 on the loan today. It takes approximately 3 days for the loan to be in place. As a reminder, this is a short term loan for no more than 90 days. Considering that the stock market has been going up over the past couple of weeks, I would rather take out the short term loan to generate the higher investment returns.

Last month I mentioned we were waiting for approximately $785,000 in payments from our Sponsors. We are still waiting. Mary Beth and her team are working on getting payments. They believe we will have some of this next week. I cannot take the chance if this does not happen. The timing of cash payments is critical. We will do everything to get money into the business. However, when a sponsor is late, it is difficult to force the issue.

I hope this is the last time. However, I can't promise that either. We know that some of our sponsors will not renew their agreements. That will further reduce our cash, over the next few weeks, when compared to last year. I will keep you informed as we go forward.

If you have any questions or concerns, please let me know. I can be reached at 800-877-1600, ext 4730 or send me an email.

Paul

President's Budget Supports Improved Nutrition across the Life Span

The president's Fiscal Year 2016 Budget proposes initiatives to support nutrition across the lifespan, from healthy pregnancy to healthy aging and many programs that target populations in between. The budget proposes $874 million for Nutrition Services Programs, which is a $60 million increase over 2015 funding levels. This would allow states to provide up to 208 million meals to more than 2 million older Americans, stopping the decline in services for the first time since 2010. It also includes a proposal to allow states to streamline application and recertification processes to the Senior SNAP program. The budget request supports programs that are proven effective at providing families a hand up out of poverty by meeting basic nutritional needs, like SNAP, WIC and the School Meals Programs. The budget request also includes investments in school kitchen equipment grants above what was funded last year, new funding for Farm Bill programs like the Food Insecurity and Nutrition Incentive program and full funding for the SNAP-Ed program.

Thanks for your positive comments. We are working with our developers to secure the Leadership Directory on an encrypted Governance page on eatrightPRO.org. Our primary goal is to safeguard members' personal information.

The directory is a priority and will be posted soon. In the meantime, if you need to access a leader's email address, please contact the Academy team that works with that leader.

Pat,

Thanks very much.

I really like it.

Got it on my home screen now!

Especially like the green banner with the word Leadership on it. Right up front.

Also like that viewers can click on "Learn what Academy membership can do for you."

I looked for the equivalent of the Leadership Directory and have not found it yet.

Great job! Please thanks all involved.

Dear Board Members,

In an exciting and long-awaited step, I am pleased to announce that tonight, the Academy will deploy our new suite of websites. The “soft launch” will give members an opportunity to try out all the new features and allow the Academy to fine-tune the visitor experience and expand the online content for the official launch and full-scale media and marketing campaign, which will take place in mid-February.

Our new member site, www.eatrightPRO.org, features streamlined navigation and access to information that practitioners need, accessible by browsing through sections or using the newly designed search function.

The site is an information and resource hub for Academy members, as well as a gathering place for the professional community at large - from allied health practitioners learning about the valued services of registered dietitian nutritionists to legislators and stakeholders seeking a better understanding of how strong nutrition policy improves the health and lives of individuals and families.

A few of the noteworthy, new features of eatrightPRO.org include:

- Latest News: Keeps members posted on trends in the nutrition and dietetics profession, plus tools, resources and news.
- Search: A comprehensive and easy-to-use search tool enables faster location of information from multiple sources.
- My Academy Toolbar: Members can access favorite bookmarks and view or edit their personal and professional profiles and account information.

- Social Wall: The Academy is active on virtually every social media platform and all content is accessible to members through eatrightPRO.
- Virtual Help Desk: Members can find answers to “how to” questions and submit new questions that will make the site more usable to professionals.

The new site eatrightPRO.org complements the Academy’s existing website, www.eatright.org, which will continue as a consumer-focused site containing healthful-eating information, articles, recipes, videos and other content that will highlight the expertise of our members.

Rounding out the Academy’s suite of websites is www.eatrightSTORE.org, which showcases publications and resources, from the latest books and digital tools to client education and professional development opportunities.

Our web team has worked hard to create the most useful and user-friendly online experience possible for members, health professionals and the public alike. Please email comments or feedback you receive about the websites to neweatright@eatright.org.

Thank you for your continued enthusiasm and support throughout this project.

Best regards,

Pat

As you may recall from my message last month (see below), the Academy was invited to present at the upcoming World Women's Health and Development Forum hosted by the United Nations. Susan Finn graciously agreed to represent us and will present on the topic, Fueling Sustainable Development: Nutrition and Health of Women. As a past president of the Academy, past Chair of the Foundation and co-Chair of the Foundation's Second Century Fundraising initiative in addition to being a leader in the area of women's nutrition and health Susan will do an excellent job. If you would like to catch the presentation live you can view it on YouTube via the following link. The presentation is slated to begin on Wednesday, February 11 at 5:15 EST.

Subject: Another First: We Are Speaking at the United Nations

We are extremely honored and excited to have received an invitation to present at the World Women's Health and Development Forum sponsored by the Royal Academy of Science International Trust and the United Nations. We have been asked to be the plenary speaker for a two-hour presentation on "Lifestyle, Media and Women's Health." Sonja has a previous commitment to present at the Nutritionist-Dietitians' Association of the Philippines Diamond Conference, therefore we have extended the invitation to Susan Finn, PhD, RD, LD, FADA, to speak on our behalf. Susan is a past president of the Academy and past Chair of the Academy Foundation. She is a highly regarded speaker in the area of women's health issues and nutrition and has presented on the topic globally. She is a former Nutrition Advisor to the Office of Women's Health, US Public Health Service and a President Bush appointee to the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. She currently serves at the request of House Speaker John Boehner on the National Commission on Hunger and is chair of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Second Century visioning committee. She will be an excellent representative of our organization and the 93,000 Registered Dietitians Nutritionists that we serve nationally.

How exciting to receive an invitation from a Princess who is a BSc, MSc, MD, PhD, and the Executive Director of the International Trust, and from of the U.N.'s Director for Sustainable Development!

Re: 2015-2016 Foundation Board Vacancies

In preparation for our March 19, 2015 Foundation Board Call, I am asking you to provide recommendations for the Board positions that will become vacant June 1, 2015. As a reference, three documents are attached. The first is an overview of the nominations process. The second outlines some gaps that may exist in the upcoming year. The third is the Ideal Board Member document that may help guide your recommendations. It is important to consider individuals who are comfortable fundraising and have access to potential funders. Please also review those skills selected next to your name on the gap analysis document to make sure your expertise are clearly represented.

Academy Foundation bylaws allow for 9 – 13 Board Members. The Foundation will have up to five positions which can be occupied by no more than 2 Directors and any number of Public Members. Not all five vacancies need to be filled. I ask that you forward your confidential nominations to Susie Burns at sburns@eatright.org by Wednesday, February 25, 2015. Because one of the Foundation's goal is to maintain goodwill with donors we ask that you do not share that they are being considered for a Board position.

Please also include short bio information if it is available and identify which skill sets the nominees possess from the gap analysis document. We are also asking that you answer the following questions for those candidates you nominate:

- In what ways will this candidate move forward the Foundation's mission and vision?

- What characteristics does this candidate exhibit that meet the criteria of an ideal Board Member?

- Do you know if they have the time and desire to be a board member?

The Nominating Committee will discuss the candidates, narrow the field and provide names for your consideration. During our March call we will discuss these recommendations. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at tjraymond@aol.com or Susie at Sburns@eatright.org.

Special thanks to Kathy McClusky, Evelyn Crayton, Donna Martin and Mary Christ Erwin for their service and dedication to the Foundation Board of Directors.

Innovation for Healthier Americans Report

Senators Lamar Alexander (Tenn.) and Richard Burr (N.C.) have released a report titled Innovation for Healthier Americans, examining current discovery and development processes for new drugs and medical devices, and identifying ways in which Congress can improve public policies to transform these processes. One focus of the initiative is to improve ways to delay, cure or prevent chronic diseases, including diabetes and heart disease. The Senate Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committee, of which Alexander is the chair and Burr is a member, is requesting feedback on the proposal until February 23. Interested members are encouraged to work with their state affiliate public policy coordinator or dietetic practice group policy and advocacy leader, or connect with the Academy's Washington, D.C. office, who are working with Burr.

Senate Health Committee Passes Older Americans Act

The Senate Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committee unanimously passed the Older Americans Re-authorization Act of 2015 (S. 192) January 28. The bill would support social and nutrition services for nearly 12 million seniors, reauthorizing the OAA for three years, through 2018. The language builds on S. 1562, sponsored by Senator Sanders in the 113th Congress, which the Academy supported. The bill updates the language of the Older Americans Act to reflect the "utilization" of dietitians in nutrition programs, and also encourages the use of locally grown fresh foods in nutrition programs. S. 192 will now be considered on the Senate floor, and the Academy will continue to update members on the process.

Subject: Position Paper

Thank you, Constance, for your inquiry during the Foundation Board call yesterday regarding the status of a position paper entitled Advanced Technology in Food Production (reaffirmed position previously titled Agricultural and Food Biotechnology). I indicated during the call that a "discussion paper," presenting both sides of the argument was in development as opposed to an update of the current document. I have since learned that the discussion paper model, an approach that was adopted for this issue by the Dietitians of Canada, has since been rejected in favor of an update of our existing position statement. However, the revision will not begin until after the Research & Scientific Affairs Team has completed an Evidence Analysis Project that will provide a current review of the evidence for the working group. The project is underway and is scheduled to be completed by May of 2015. The four sub-topics to be covered by the systematic review are listed below.

1. Human Consumption of Animal Foods Produced Using Genetic Engineering Technologies
2. Human Consumption of Foods Produced/Processed/Packaged Using Nanotechnologies
3. Human Consumption of Plant Foods Produced Using Genetic Engineering Technologies
4. Human Exposure to GMO-related Pesticides and Insecticides

Upon completion of the project, the position development process will begin and will most likely take 12 months. Solicitation of authors and reviewers starts in the very near future. We will continue to keep our Chief Science Officer connected to the Foundation project so that these efforts will inform one another.

Subject: Update: Academy Websites

The Academy's new websites "soft launch" on Thursday, January 29, was a success. As expected, we received emails and comments related to some technical issues (links, tweaks, and browsers issues). We are happy to report that we have been able to resolve the minor glitches, fine tune the sites and keep everything up and running. Elections are currently underway and voting is being promoted on the main page header of eatrightPRO.

The good news from our developers is that our sites are receiving almost double the traffic and page views and we haven't officially announced it to the public! The Academy's full-scale media and marketing campaign will take place in mid-February. As you can see from the screen grabs below, word of mouth is spreading on social media and our members are loving the new sites and features.

Many long hours went into the transition. Overhauling a 56,000-page website takes a lot of work, and on Friday I celebrated this major milestone at a lunch with the web team and gave a congratulatory toast to each of them on a job well done.

We will continue to evaluate performance by using a continuous cycle of testing, refining, evaluating and improving the sites. Please continue to email comments or feedback you receive about the websites to neueatright@eatright.org.

The good news from our developers is that our sites are receiving almost double the traffic and page views and we haven't officially announced it to the public! The Academy's full-scale media and marketing campaign will take place in mid-February. As you can see from the screen grabs below, word of mouth is spreading on social media and our members are loving the new sites and features.

Many long hours went into the transition. Overhauling a 56,000-page website takes a lot of work, and on Friday I celebrated this major milestone at a lunch with the web team and gave a congratulatory toast to each of them on a job well done.

Thank you, Constance, for your inquiry during the Foundation Board call yesterday regarding the status of a position paper entitled Advanced Technology in Food Production (reaffirmed position previously titled Agricultural and Food Biotechnology). I indicated during the call that a “discussion paper,” presenting both sides of the argument was in development as opposed to an update of the current document. I have since learned that the discussion paper model, an approach that was adopted for this issue by the Dietitians of Canada, has since been rejected in favor of an update of our existing position statement. However, the revision will not begin until after the Research & Scientific Affairs Team has completed an Evidence Analysis Project that will provide a current review of the evidence for the working group. The project is underway and is scheduled to be completed by May of 2015. The four sub-topics to be covered by the systematic review are listed below.

1. Human Consumption of Animal Foods Produced Using Genetic Engineering Technologies
2. Human Consumption of Foods Produced/Processed/Packaged Using Nanotechnologies
3. Human Consumption of Plant Foods Produced Using Genetic Engineering Technologies
4. Human Exposure to GMO-related Pesticides and Insecticides

Upon completion of the project, the position development process will begin and will most likely take 12 months. Solicitation of authors and reviewers starts in the very near future. We will continue to keep our Chief Science Officer connected to the Foundation project so that these efforts will inform one another.

Thanks for making the motion, Donna. EC continually flip flops on the issue. She said on the 3Ps call last week that the collaboration will be "the death of us." At FNCE instead of sticking to her talking points to the Informatics Committee, she came in talking about how important it is for us to collaborate w Monsanto. Glenna during her presidency said we Must find a way to work w them. Because she didn't "win" on wanting this decision to go to the Sponsorship Task Force which she's on, she was speaking against this funding opportunity on last week's call and that our energy should be on healthcare reform. These flip flops have my head spinning like Linda Blair's in the exorcist! Again, thank you!

A one day seminar from CareerTrack

Never again fall victim to those who love to make life miserable for the rest of us.

This is a day of intensive training with immediate payback. Learn to take the offensive against know-it-alls, dictators, snipers, gripers, "yes" people, "no" people, and all of the other contrary characters you confront every day.

Attend this seminar and gain the communication skills you need to "de-stress" all of your difficult relationships, on the job and off.

- You'll learn why they act the way they do.
- You'll find out exactly what to say in specific situations.

Thanks again for further discussion of the consent agenda items.

Excellent information to include as we move forward with the implementation of the Diversity Plan and as new opportunities unfold to solve the critical internship challenge.

Since these three consent agenda items (1.12, 1.13 and 1.15) were not included in the motion (which would include the approval of the Diversity Plan), does the BOD, after any further discussion or comments, need to make a motion to approve these items since time ran short at the end of the meeting?

Subject: RE: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Glenna,

I am attaching an article from the Journal of the American Physical Therapy Association which addresses factors affecting minority applicant patterns into Physical Therapy programs. The grid on the fourth page indicates the percent of total applications to PT programs by race/ethnicity. Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

In addition, according to the Department of Health and Human Services National Sample Survey, "RNs from minority backgrounds are more likely than their white counterparts to pursue baccalaureate and higher degrees in nursing. Data show that while 48.4% of white nurses complete nursing degrees beyond the associate degree level, the number is significantly higher or equivalent for minority nurses, including African American (52.5%), Hispanic (51.5%), and Asian (75.6%) nurses. RNs from minority backgrounds clearly recognize the need to pursue higher levels of nursing education beyond the entry-level."

Since diversity is a strategic priority, we will be providing progress reports on our efforts regularly at Board meetings.

Subject: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Pat (and Team):

Thank you for the additional information from the Consent Agenda (1.12 and 1.15) and the concentrated effort to meet the challenges for expanding the diversity throughout our profession.

One last question, as I reviewed the data and the diversity report, you indicated:

- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

Do we have the data which reflects HOW diversity increases in health professions that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level? For, "in the United States, almost one-third of all PhD. science and engineering students are Asian, two out of one-hundred are African American and one of a hundred are Hispanic.... By 2050, one out of four American could be Hispanic" (p. 160, When the Future Catches You, Juan Enriquez).

Don't get me wrong, I am ALL FOR raising the bar for Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (advanced degree) and only ask us to continue the discussion as we look at highlighting endeavors to increase enrollments, placement for internships, etc.

For though we have “resolved” the NDA/NDTR issue for now (which may or could increase diversity), I believe we still have an elephant in the room – an ever increasing gap of trained, diverse professionals who can meet the prevention and community needs in an ever increasing diverse US. I look forward to hearing more, and very importantly, updates from the Diversity Committee, our Public Health Committee, NDEP as they continue to promote the NDTR, and from these exciting new grassroots efforts.

Thank you,

Glenna

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care
- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences
- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

The supply and demand infographic shows the impact of our efforts on experiential program placement. We continue to not meet demand even with preceptor growth, the moratorium on accreditation of didactic programs, and the launch of the new ISPPs. As mentioned during the call, this analytic is a good example showing the need for an action plan. At our Board retreat in July, we will look at this measure and an action plan to address it.

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.

- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.
- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

3. Lastly, I wanted to encourage our BOD leaders to review the 1.13 for names to move forward for the many Honors and Awards for 2015!

Thank you for the reminder, Glenna! Please forward any names for consideration to Matthew Novotny, Manager of Membership, Honors and Recognition Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics at mnovotny@eatright.org.

Dear Board Members,

In an exciting and long-awaited step, I am pleased to announce that tonight, the Academy will deploy our new suite of websites. The “soft launch” will give members an opportunity to try out all the new features and allow the Academy to fine-tune the visitor experience and expand the online content for the official launch and full-scale media and marketing campaign, which will take place in mid-February.

Our new member site, www.eatrightPRO.org, features streamlined navigation and access to information that practitioners need, accessible by browsing through sections or using the newly designed search function.

The site is an information and resource hub for Academy members, as well as a gathering place for the professional community at large - from allied health practitioners learning about the valued services of registered dietitian nutritionists to legislators and stakeholders seeking a better understanding of how strong nutrition policy improves the health and lives of individuals and families.

A few of the noteworthy, new features of eatrightPRO.org include:

- Latest News : Keeps members posted on trends in the nutrition and dietetics profession, plus tools, resources and news.
- Search: A comprehensive and easy-to-use search tool enables faster location of information from multiple sources.
- My Academy Toolbar: Members can access favorite bookmarks and view or edit their personal and professional profiles and account information.
- Social Wall: The Academy is active on virtually every social media platform and all content is accessible to members through eatrightPRO.
- Virtual Help Desk: Members can find answers to “how to” questions and submit new questions that will make the site more usable to professionals.

The new site eatrightPRO.org complements the Academy’s existing website, www.eatright.org, which will continue as a consumer-focused site containing healthful-eating information, articles, recipes, videos and other content that will highlight the expertise of our members.

Rounding out the Academy's suite of websites is www.eatrightSTORE.org, which showcases publications and resources, from the latest books and digital tools to client education and professional development opportunities.

Our web team has worked hard to create the most useful and user-friendly online experience possible for members, health professionals and the public alike. Please email comments or feedback you receive about the websites to neweatright@eatright.org.

Thank you for your continued enthusiasm and support throughout this project.

Best regards,

Pat

I'm pleased to inform you that the Academy Journal's "Centennial Series" of articles is now in full swing as we near our 2017 anniversary. This series, which will total ten articles, began in the October 2014 issue of the Journal. Each article is as an opportunity to reflect on the earliest decades of our profession and consider their impact on the tremendous strides we have made in the 100 years since our founding.

Populating each of the articles are numerous photos from our files: of interns from the 1940s, dietetics students from the early 1900s, military dietitians, meeting exhibits from the 1950s and in the February issue vintage photos of menus and plated meals at meetings. I am amazed at some of the wonderful memorabilia housed at the Academy.

I encourage you to take a visual stroll through our history, and the movements and visionary pioneers that brought us to today. The articles can be accessed through this link to the Journal's history collection: <http://www.andjrnl.org/content/amh>

Registered Dietitians in the News

Dear Readers:

Due to the burgeoning communication channels and immense success of RDNs in finding a presence in media outlets, the Academy will no longer be able to publish Registered Dietitians in the News. In the past, fewer members were active with the media; myriad members today are media-connected. So, we must ensure parity for all of our over 75,000 members and the available space simply does not permit us to do so.

You are correct, Glenna, the items which were removed from consent agenda require approval. I was giving more time for discussion, if needed. The electronic vote is provided below. I have taken the liberty of naming you as the motion maker; Margaret has agreed to second the motion. We have extended the deadline from last Friday to this Wednesday for Board members to identify their three to five top candidates for Public Member. These will then be prioritized and also sent back to the Board for a vote.

Please vote electronically by Friday, January 30 using the form which follows and “reply to all.”

Pat:

Thanks again for further discussion of the consent agenda items.

Excellent information to include as we move forward with the implementation of the Diversity Plan and as new opportunities unfold to solve the critical internship challenge.

Since these three consent agenda items (1.12, 1.13 and 1.15) were not included in the motion (which would include the approval of the Diversity Plan), does the BOD, after any further discussion or comments, need to make a motion to approve these items since time ran short at the end of the meeting?

Thank you

Glenna,

I am attaching an article from the Journal of the American Physical Therapy Association which addresses factors affecting minority applicant patterns into Physical Therapy programs. The grid on the fourth page indicates the percent of total applications to PT programs by race/ethnicity. Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

In addition, according to the Department of Health and Human Services National Sample Survey, "RNs from minority backgrounds are more likely than their white counterparts to pursue baccalaureate and higher degrees in nursing. Data show that while 48.4% of white nurses complete nursing degrees beyond the associate degree level, the number is significantly higher or equivalent for minority nurses, including African American (52.5%), Hispanic (51.5%), and Asian (75.6%) nurses. RNs from minority backgrounds clearly recognize the need to pursue higher levels of nursing education beyond the entry-level."

Since diversity is a strategic priority, we will be providing progress reports on our efforts regularly at Board meetings.

Pat

Subject: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Pat (and Team):

Thank you for the additional information from the Consent Agenda (1.12 and 1.15) and the concentrated effort to meet the challenges for expanding the diversity throughout our profession.

One last question, as I reviewed the data and the diversity report, you indicated:

- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

Do we have the data which reflects HOW diversity increases in health professions that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level? For, “in the United States, almost one-third of all PhD. science and engineering students are Asian, two out of one-hundred are African American and one of a hundred are Hispanic.... By 2050, one out of four American could be Hispanic” (p. 160, When the Future Catches You, Juan Enriquez).

Don't get me wrong, I am ALL FOR raising the bar for Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (advanced degree) and only ask us to continue the discussion as we look at highlighting endeavors to increase enrollments, placement for internships, etc.

For though we have “resolved” the NDA/NDTR issue for now (which may or could increase diversity), I believe we still have an elephant in the room – an ever increasing gap of trained, diverse professionals who can meet the prevention and community needs in an ever increasing diverse US. I look forward to hearing more, and very importantly, updates from the Diversity Committee, our Public Health Committee, NDEP as they continue to promote the NDTR, and from these exciting new grassroots efforts.

Thank you,

Glenna

Subject: Board Webinar Follow-up

Importance: High

I hope you had a relaxing weekend after an action-filled Board webinar. Glenna removed three items from the consent agenda. Her questions and my responses follow.

I have prepared notes from my presentation on the Revenue Growth E-Team Strategic Thinking retreat and they are included as an attachment. I am emailing you the highlights of my performance objectives update separately.

Please remember to submit your prioritization of three to five nominees for the Public Member representative to Joan by this Friday, the 23rd.

Best regards,

Pat

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care
- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences
- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire attending the Board of Human Sciences meeting in Washington, D.C. on March 4-6. The meeting focuses on Embracing Diversity in a Competitive Global Society and includes speakers on topics such as recruiting strategies to enhance diversity, intercultural training, faculty development, and quality and accountability. The Board on Human Sciences, Inc. is an association of administrators of higher education units (primarily at land grant universities) responsible for research/discovery, extension/outreach, and teaching/learning programs in the Human Sciences at universities across the country. The information gleaned will inform action plans.
- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.
- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.
- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

3. Lastly, I wanted to encourage our BOD leaders to review the 1.13 for names to move forward for the many Honors and Awards for 2015!

Thank you for the reminder, Glenna! Please forward any names for consideration to Matthew Novotny, Manager of Membership, Honors and Recognition Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics at mnovotny@eatright.org.

Hello!

I wanted to give you a quick update on the School Nutrition Association Governance Summit held before the Industry Conference that I recently attended. I was invited as a former Academy Board of Director member representing the House of Delegates to share my experience on the governance structure in a professional organization. It was a two day meeting that allowed for lots of networking and information sharing. I also was selected with my current knowledge of SNA and their issues.

It was a great meeting and I enjoyed sharing with attendees about your work and successful innovative efforts.

It connected me with several SNA members (including both RDNs and non-RDNS) that I consider both colleagues and friends. I also enjoyed getting to meet Lynn Harvey in person, quite a leader! I got to meet long time SNA leader and RD, Dorothy Caldwell. What an inspiration.

I know you often hear from our members they wish we worked more closely with SNA. Although we might not have the same position on all issue, these type of meetings help to reconfirm our mutual goal...healthy foods for healthy children. We will continue to building on this goal with your great work.

Here is an example of nominations requested where we would submit names.

Your questions are welcome! Many thanks.

Science Issues at FDA - The Food and Drug Administration is seeking the nomination of individuals to serve on the Science Board to FDA which provides "... advice to the Commissioner and other appropriate officials on specific complex scientific and technical issues important to FDA and its mission, including emerging issues within the scientific community. Additionally, the Science Board will provide advice that supports the Agency in keeping pace with technical and scientific developments, including in regulatory science, provide input into the Agency's research agenda, and on upgrading its scientific and research facilities and training opportunities. It will also provide, where requested, expert review of Agency sponsored intramural and extramural scientific research programs ..."

Please provide your valuable input on identifying Academy members that could be nominated for key public policy positions. These positions could range from an advisory council participation to an upper level federal staff position. As an example of how this pipeline might be used would be to provide to USDA season leader candidates for the open Deputy Undersecretary position for school nutrition. Another example is the recent identification of member leaders in helping to developing quality measures for diabetes care that will help support policy efforts in this area.

The matrix is developed according to the Public Policy Priority Areas to make it easier to identify our experts. We also divided the expertise needed, from our seasoned, midlevel and emerging leaders. There is also a category of advisory which is for members who might have limited time but would be a great resource.

Please add any and all names as this list is meant to be inclusive not exclusive. And also feel free to add your name!

Many thanks for your time on this request.

Subject: Soft Launch of eatrightPRO.org

Importance: High

Dear Board Members,

In an exciting and long-awaited step, I am pleased to announce that tonight, the Academy will deploy our new suite of websites. The “soft launch” will give members an opportunity to try out all the new features and allow the Academy to fine-tune the visitor experience and expand the online content for the official launch and full-scale media and marketing campaign, which will take place in mid-February.

Our new member site, www.eatrightPRO.org, features streamlined navigation and access to information that practitioners need, accessible by browsing through sections or using the newly designed search function.

The site is an information and resource hub for Academy members, as well as a gathering place for the professional community at large - from allied health practitioners learning about the valued services of registered dietitian nutritionists to legislators and stakeholders seeking a better understanding of how strong nutrition policy improves the health and lives of individuals and families.

A few of the noteworthy, new features of eatrightPRO.org include:

- Latest News: Keeps members posted on trends in the nutrition and dietetics profession, plus tools, resources and news.
- Search: A comprehensive and easy-to-use search tool enables faster location of information from multiple sources.
- My Academy Toolbar: Members can access favorite bookmarks and view or edit their personal and professional profiles and account information.
- Social Wall: The Academy is active on virtually every social media platform and all content is accessible to members through eatrightPRO.
- Virtual Help Desk: Members can find answers to “how to” questions and submit new questions that will make the site more usable to professionals.

The new site eatrightPRO.org complements the Academy’s existing website, www.eatright.org, which will continue as a consumer-focused site containing healthful-eating information, articles, recipes, videos and other content that will highlight the expertise of our members.

Rounding out the Academy’s suite of websites is www.eatrightSTORE.org, which showcases publications and resources, from the latest books and digital tools to client education and professional development opportunities.

Our web team has worked hard to create the most useful and user-friendly online experience possible for members, health professionals and the public alike. Please email comments or feedback you receive about the websites to neweatright@eatright.org.

Thank you for your continued enthusiasm and support throughout this project.

All staff have been asked to provide feedback about the websites, including broken links, usability issues, etc., in order to triage effectively. Hi Pat,

The new site looks great - like the tutorial on the front page and focus on getting paid, too.

Will HOD, DPGs or affiliates be given advance notice - or you are waiting until mid Feb?

Hats off to all involved!

Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics

Dear Board Members,

In an exciting and long-awaited step, I am pleased to announce that tonight, the Academy will deploy our new suite of websites. The "soft launch" will give members an opportunity to try out all the new features and allow the Academy to fine-tune the visitor experience and expand the online content for the official launch and full-scale media and marketing campaign, which will take place in mid-February.

Our new member site, www.eatrightPRO.org, features streamlined navigation and access to information that practitioners need, accessible by browsing through sections or using the newly designed search function.

The site is an information and resource hub for Academy members, as well as a gathering place for the professional community at large - from allied health practitioners learning about the valued services of registered dietitian nutritionists to legislators and stakeholders seeking a better understanding of how strong nutrition policy improves the health and lives of individuals and families.

A few of the noteworthy, new features of eatrightPRO.org include:

- Latest News: Keeps members posted on trends in the nutrition and dietetics profession, plus tools, resources and news.
- Search: A comprehensive and easy-to-use search tool enables faster location of information from multiple sources.
- My Academy Toolbar: Members can access favorite bookmarks and view or edit their personal and professional profiles and account information.
- Social Wall: The Academy is active on virtually every social media platform and all content is accessible to members through eatrightPRO.
- Virtual Help Desk: Members can find answers to “how to” questions and submit new questions that will make the site more usable to professionals.

The new site eatrightPRO.org complements the Academy’s existing website, www.eatright.org, which will continue as a consumer-focused site containing healthful-eating information, articles, recipes, videos and other content that will highlight the expertise of our members.

Rounding out the Academy’s suite of websites is www.eatrightSTORE.org, which showcases publications and resources, from the latest books and digital tools to client education and professional development opportunities.

Our web team has worked hard to create the most useful and user-friendly online experience possible for members, health professionals and the public alike. Please email comments or feedback you receive about the websites to neweatright@eatright.org.

Thank you for your continued enthusiasm and support throughout this project.

Dear Board Members,

In an exciting and long-awaited step, I am pleased to announce that tonight, the Academy will deploy our new suite of websites. The “soft launch” will give members an opportunity to try out all the new features and allow the Academy to fine-tune the visitor experience and expand the online content for the official launch and full-scale media and marketing campaign, which will take place in mid-February.

Our new member site, www.eatrightPRO.org, features streamlined navigation and access to information that practitioners need, accessible by browsing through sections or using the newly designed search function.

The site is an information and resource hub for Academy members, as well as a gathering place for the professional community at large - from allied health practitioners learning about the valued services of registered dietitian nutritionists to legislators and stakeholders seeking a better understanding of how strong nutrition policy improves the health and lives of individuals and families.

A few of the noteworthy, new features of eatrightPRO.org include:

- Latest News: Keeps members posted on trends in the nutrition and dietetics profession, plus tools, resources and news.
- Search: A comprehensive and easy-to-use search tool enables faster location of information from multiple sources.
- My Academy Toolbar: Members can access favorite bookmarks and view or edit their personal and professional profiles and account information.
- Social Wall: The Academy is active on virtually every social media platform and all content is accessible to members through eatrightPRO.
- Virtual Help Desk: Members can find answers to “how to” questions and submit new questions that will make the site more usable to professionals.

The new site eatrightPRO.org complements the Academy’s existing website, www.eatright.org, which will continue as a consumer-focused site containing healthful-eating information, articles, recipes, videos and other content that will highlight the expertise of our members.

Rounding out the Academy’s suite of websites is www.eatrightSTORE.org, which showcases publications and resources, from the latest books and digital tools to client education and professional development opportunities.

Our web team has worked hard to create the most useful and user-friendly online experience possible for members, health professionals and the public alike. Please email comments or feedback you receive about the websites to neweatright@eatright.org.

Thank you for your continued enthusiasm and support throughout this project.

Please provide your valuable input on identifying Academy members that could be nominated for key public policy positions. These positions could range from an advisory council participation to an upper level federal staff position. As an example of how this pipeline might be used would be to provide to USDA season leader candidates for the open Deputy Undersecretary position for school nutrition. Another example is the recent identification of member leaders in helping to developing quality measures for diabetes care that will help support policy efforts in this area.

The matrix is developed according to the Public Policy Priority Areas to make it easier to identify our experts. We also divided the expertise needed, from our seasoned, midlevel and emerging leaders. There is also a category of advisory which is for members who might have limited time but would be a great resource.

Please add any and all names as this list is meant to be inclusive not exclusive. And also feel free to add your name!

Many thanks for your time on this request.

Your questions are welcome!

Dear Board Members,

In an exciting and long-awaited step, I am pleased to announce that tonight, the Academy will deploy our new suite of websites. The “soft launch” will give members an opportunity to try out all the new features and allow the Academy to fine-tune the visitor experience and expand the online content for the official launch and full-scale media and marketing campaign, which will take place in mid-February.

Our new member site, www.eatrightPRO.org, features streamlined navigation and access to information that practitioners need, accessible by browsing through sections or using the newly designed search function.

The site is an information and resource hub for Academy members, as well as a gathering place for the professional community at large - from allied health practitioners learning about the valued services of registered dietitian nutritionists to legislators and stakeholders seeking a better understanding of how strong nutrition policy improves the health and lives of individuals and families.

A few of the noteworthy, new features of eatrightPRO.org include:

- Latest News: Keeps members posted on trends in the nutrition and dietetics profession, plus tools, resources and news.
- Search: A comprehensive and easy-to-use search tool enables faster location of information from multiple sources.
- My Academy Toolbar: Members can access favorite bookmarks and view or edit their personal and professional profiles and account information.
- Social Wall: The Academy is active on virtually every social media platform and all content is accessible to members through eatrightPRO.
- Virtual Help Desk: Members can find answers to “how to” questions and submit new questions that will make the site more usable to professionals.

The new site eatrightPRO.org complements the Academy’s existing website, www.eatright.org, which will continue as a consumer-focused site containing healthful-eating information, articles, recipes, videos and other content that will highlight the expertise of our members.

Rounding out the Academy’s suite of websites is www.eatrightSTORE.org, which showcases publications and resources, from the latest books and digital tools to client education and professional development opportunities.

Our web team has worked hard to create the most useful and user-friendly online experience possible for members, health professionals and the public alike. Please email comments or feedback you receive about the websites to neweatright@eatright.org.

Thank you for your continued enthusiasm and support throughout this project.

Registered Dietitians in the News

Dear Readers:

Due to the burgeoning communication channels and immense success of RDNs in finding a presence in media outlets, the Academy will no longer be able to publish Registered Dietitians in the News. In the past, fewer members were active with the media; myriad members today are media-connected. So, we must ensure parity for all of our over 75,000 members and the available space simply does not permit us to do so.

Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics

Exercise your member privilege to vote and help shape the future of the Academy. Participate in the 2015 Academy national election February 1 to February 22, 2015 at www.eatright.org/elections.

Lucille Beseler, MS, RDN, LDN, CDE (FL)

We're on the verge of making significant contributions in the new healthcare environment. Opportunities abound, but we still face challenges, with many professionals vying for the same health care dollar. I've spent 24 years building a successful business offering employment to many individuals, including RDNs. My experience, coupled with 18 years in volunteer leadership positions, makes me the candidate who brings unique talents to ensure that nutrition professionals are strategically positioned for the future.

We have almost 80,000 members, but we need 80,000 engaged members from all practices. We need research, management, education, community and clinical care to pull together. We need to tell our story on who we are and what we can do. I believe in our profession and the good work of our members. Help tell our story by voting and encouraging your colleagues to vote. When you vote please remember me as your heels on the ground candidate.

Nancy Lewis, PhD, RDN, FADA, FAND (NC)

Growing up in a family with five brothers, I learned at an early age how to stand my ground while at the same time being a team player, a good listener and a negotiator. While working my way through college, I learned the necessity of multitasking and staying on target to make the most of every minute. My first position as a registered dietitian was at a mens dormitory. Each time our family moved, I was able to find challenging and fulfilling work in dietetics as I gained experience in clinical and community nutrition and later as a university faculty member in teaching and research. Our profession is changing significantly, and we continue to have challenges to address. I believe my years of leadership experience in the Academy have prepared me to serve as president-elect. Please vote in the upcoming elections.

Thanks again for further discussion of the consent agenda items.

Excellent information to include as we move forward with the implementation of the Diversity Plan and as new opportunities unfold to solve the critical internship challenge.

Since these three consent agenda items (1.12, 1.13 and 1.15) were not included in the motion (which would include the approval of the Diversity Plan), does the BOD, after any further discussion or comments, need to make a motion to approve these items since time ran short at the end of the meeting?

Glenna,

I am attaching an article from the Journal of the American Physical Therapy Association which addresses factors affecting minority applicant patterns into Physical Therapy programs. The grid on the fourth page indicates the percent of total applications to PT programs by race/ethnicity. Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

In addition, according to the Department of Health and Human Services National Sample Survey, "RNs from minority backgrounds are more likely than their white counterparts to pursue baccalaureate and higher degrees in nursing. Data show that while 48.4% of white nurses complete nursing degrees beyond the associate degree level, the number is significantly higher or equivalent for minority nurses, including African American (52.5%), Hispanic (51.5%), and Asian (75.6%) nurses. RNs from minority backgrounds clearly recognize the need to pursue higher levels of nursing education beyond the entry-level."

Since diversity is a strategic priority, we will be providing progress reports on our efforts regularly at Board meetings.

Subject: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Pat (and Team):

Thank you for the additional information from the Consent Agenda (1.12 and 1.15) and the concentrated effort to meet the challenges for expanding the diversity throughout our profession.

One last question, as I reviewed the data and the diversity report, you indicated:

- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

Do we have the data which reflects HOW diversity increases in health professions that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level? For, "in the United States, almost one-third of all PhD. science and engineering students are Asian, two out of one-hundred are African American and one of a hundred are Hispanic.... By 2050, one out of four American could be Hispanic" (p. 160, When the Future Catches You, Juan Enriquez).

Don't get me wrong, I am ALL FOR raising the bar for Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (advanced degree) and only ask us to continue the discussion as we look at highlighting endeavors to increase enrollments, placement for internships, etc.

For though we have "resolved" the NDA/NDTR issue for now (which may or could increase diversity), I believe we still have an elephant in the room – an ever increasing gap of trained, diverse professionals who can meet the prevention and community needs in an ever increasing diverse US. I look forward to hearing more, and very importantly, updates from the Diversity Committee, our Public Health Committee, NDEP as they continue to promote the NDTR, and from these exciting new grassroots efforts.

Thank you,

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

b. Reviewing the Plan, could you clarify who at the Academy will be leading this charge – as Karen Lechowich was in this position prior to her retirement?

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care
- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences
- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire attending the Board of Human Sciences meeting in Washington, D.C. on March 4-6. The meeting focuses on Embracing Diversity in a Competitive Global Society and includes speakers on topics such as recruiting strategies to enhance diversity, intercultural training, faculty development, and quality and accountability. The Board on Human Sciences, Inc. is an association of administrators of higher education units (primarily at land grant universities) responsible for research/discovery, extension/outreach, and teaching/learning programs in the Human Sciences at universities across the country. The information gleaned will inform action plans.
- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.
- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.
- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

3. Lastly, I wanted to encourage our BOD leaders to review the 1.13 for names to move forward for the many Honors and Awards for 2015!

Thank you for the reminder, Glenna! Please forward any names for consideration to Matthew Novotny, Manager of Membership, Honors and Recognition Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics at mnovotny@eatright.org.

Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

In addition, according to the Department of Health and Human Services National Sample Survey, "RNs from minority backgrounds are more likely than their white counterparts to pursue baccalaureate and higher degrees in nursing. Data show that while 48.4% of white nurses complete nursing degrees beyond the associate degree level, the number is significantly higher or equivalent for minority nurses, including African American (52.5%), Hispanic (51.5%), and Asian (75.6%) nurses. RNs from minority backgrounds clearly recognize the need to pursue higher levels of nursing education beyond the entry-level."

Since diversity is a strategic priority, we will be providing progress reports on our efforts regularly at Board meetings.

Pat

Subject: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Pat (and Team):

Thank you for the additional information from the Consent Agenda (1.12 and 1.15) and the concentrated effort to meet the challenges for expanding the diversity throughout our profession.

One last question, as I reviewed the data and the diversity report, you indicated:

• There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

Do we have the data which reflects HOW diversity increases in health professions that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level? For, "in the United States, almost one-third of all PhD. science and engineering students are Asian, two out of one-hundred are African American and one of a hundred are Hispanic.... By 2050, one out of four American could be Hispanic" (p. 160, When the Future Catches You, Juan Enriquez).

Don't get me wrong, I am ALL FOR raising the bar for Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (advanced degree) and only ask us to continue the discussion as we look at highlighting endeavors to increase enrollments, placement for internships, etc.

For though we have “resolved” the NDA/NDTR issue for now (which may or could increase diversity), I believe we still have an elephant in the room – an ever increasing gap of trained, diverse professionals who can meet the prevention and community needs in an ever increasing diverse US. I look forward to hearing more, and very importantly, updates from the Diversity Committee, our Public Health Committee, NDEP as they continue to promote the NDTR, and from these exciting new grassroots efforts.

Thank you,

Subject: Board Webinar Follow-up

Importance: High

I hope you had a relaxing weekend after an action-filled Board webinar. Glenna removed three items from the consent agenda. Her questions and my responses follow.

I have prepared notes from my presentation on the Revenue Growth E-Team Strategic Thinking retreat and they are included as an attachment. I am emailing you the highlights of my performance objectives update separately.

Please remember to submit your prioritization of three to five nominees for the Public Member representative to Joan by this Friday, the 23rd.

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity

Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care
- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences
- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.

- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.
- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

3. Lastly, I wanted to encourage our BOD leaders to review the 1.13 for names to move forward for the many Honors and Awards for 2015!

Thank you for the reminder, Glenna! Please forward any names for consideration to Matthew Novotny, Manager of Membership, Honors and Recognition Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics at mnovotny@eatright.org.

Thanks again for further discussion of the consent agenda items.

Excellent information to include as we move forward with the implementation of the Diversity Plan and as new opportunities unfold to solve the critical internship challenge.

Since these three consent agenda items (1.12, 1.13 and 1.15) were not included in the motion (which would include the approval of the Diversity Plan), does the BOD, after any further discussion or comments, need to make a motion to approve these items since time ran short at the end of the meeting?

Glenna,

I am attaching an article from the Journal of the American Physical Therapy Association which addresses factors affecting minority applicant patterns into Physical Therapy programs. The grid on the fourth page indicates the percent of total applications to PT programs by race/ethnicity. Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

In addition, according to the Department of Health and Human Services National Sample Survey, "RNs from minority backgrounds are more likely than their white counterparts to pursue baccalaureate and higher degrees in nursing. Data show that while 48.4% of white nurses complete nursing degrees beyond the associate degree level, the number is significantly higher or equivalent for minority nurses, including African American (52.5%), Hispanic (51.5%), and Asian (75.6%) nurses. RNs from minority backgrounds clearly recognize the need to pursue higher levels of nursing education beyond the entry-level."

Since diversity is a strategic priority, we will be providing progress reports on our efforts regularly at Board meetings.

- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

Do we have the data which reflects HOW diversity increases in health professions that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level? Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

b. Reviewing the Plan, could you clarify who at the Academy will be leading this charge – as Karen Lechowich was in this position prior to her retirement?

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care

- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences

- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire attending the Board of Human Sciences meeting in Washington, D.C. on March 4-6. The meeting focuses on Embracing Diversity in a Competitive Global Society and includes speakers on topics such as recruiting strategies to enhance diversity, intercultural training, faculty development, and quality and accountability. The Board on Human Sciences, Inc. is an association of administrators of higher education units (primarily at land grant universities) responsible for research/discovery, extension/outreach, and teaching/learning programs in the Human Sciences at universities across the country. The information gleaned will inform action plans.
- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.
- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.
- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

3. Lastly, I wanted to encourage our BOD leaders to review the 1.13 for names to move forward for the many Honors and Awards for 2015!

Thank you for the reminder, Glenna! Please forward any names for consideration to Matthew Novotny, Manager of Membership, Honors and Recognition Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics at mnovotny@eatright.org.

 4. Click on the "Upload Multiple Files" link located in the gray menu bar.
 5. Scroll down to the bottom of the grey area and click on "add files" button (lower left side)
 6. Browse for your file.
 7. Click open.
 8. To add another file choose "Add Files" button again to add another file to the list.
 9. When you have all the files that you would like to add, click on the "Start Upload" button (lower left side). When upload had finished press "Continue."
 10. Don't pay attention to the list of folder. Just stroll down to the bottom of the page and click on "Complete Upload" bar.
 11. When you are done, please logout (upper right hand corner).

I will added faculty presentations to the box.net secured site as they become available for your review in order to eliminate any overlapping. The due date for your PowerPoint presentation and handouts is Monday, February 23, 2015.

You are correct, Glenna, the items which were removed from consent agenda require approval. I was giving more time for discussion, if needed. The electronic vote is provided below. I have taken the liberty of naming you as the motion maker; Margaret has agreed to second the motion. We have extended the deadline from last Friday to this Wednesday for Board members to identify their three to five top candidates for Public Member. These will then be prioritized and also sent back to the Board for a vote.

Board of Directors Electronic Motion #1

Pat:

Thanks again for further discussion of the consent agenda items.

Excellent information to include as we move forward with the implementation of the Diversity Plan and as new opportunities unfold to solve the critical internship challenge.

Since these three consent agenda items (1.12, 1.13 and 1.15) were not included in the motion (which would include the approval of the Diversity Plan), does the BOD, after any further discussion or comments, need to make a motion to approve these items since time ran short at the end of the meeting?

Glenna,

I am attaching an article from the Journal of the American Physical Therapy Association which addresses factors affecting minority applicant patterns into Physical Therapy programs. The grid on the fourth page indicates the percent of total applications to PT programs by race/ethnicity. Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

In addition, according to the Department of Health and Human Services National Sample Survey, "RNs from minority backgrounds are more likely than their white counterparts to pursue baccalaureate and higher degrees in nursing. Data show that while 48.4% of white nurses complete nursing degrees beyond the associate degree level, the number is significantly higher or equivalent for minority nurses, including African American (52.5%), Hispanic (51.5%), and Asian (75.6%) nurses. RNs from minority backgrounds clearly recognize the need to pursue higher levels of nursing education beyond the entry-level."

Since diversity is a strategic priority, we will be providing progress reports on our efforts regularly at Board meetings.

Pat

Subject: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Pat (and Team):

Thank you for the additional information from the Consent Agenda (1.12 and 1.15) and the concentrated effort to meet the challenges for expanding the diversity throughout our profession.

One last question, as I reviewed the data and the diversity report, you indicated:

· There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

Do we have the data which reflects HOW diversity increases in health professions that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level? For, "in the United States, almost one-third of all PhD. science and engineering students are Asian, two out of one-hundred are African American and one of a hundred are Hispanic.... By 2050, one out of four American could be Hispanic" (p. 160, When the Future Catches You, Juan Enriquez).

Don't get me wrong, I am ALL FOR raising the bar for Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (advanced degree) and only ask us to continue the discussion as we look at highlighting endeavors to increase enrollments, placement for internships, etc.

For though we have "resolved" the NDA/NDTR issue for now (which may or could increase diversity), I believe we still have an elephant in the room – an ever increasing gap of trained, diverse professionals who can meet the prevention and community needs in an ever increasing diverse US. I look forward to hearing more, and very importantly, updates from the Diversity Committee, our Public Health Committee, NDEP as they continue to promote the NDTR, and from these exciting new grassroots efforts.

Thank you,

Glenna

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care
- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences
- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.

- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.
- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

3. Lastly, I wanted to encourage our BOD leaders to review the 1.13 for names to move forward for the many Honors and Awards for 2015!

Thank you for the reminder, Glenna! Please forward any names for consideration to Matthew Novotny, Manager of Membership, Honors and Recognition Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics at mnovotny@eatright.org.

You are correct, Glenna, the items which were removed from consent agenda require approval. I was giving more time for discussion, if needed. The electronic vote is provided below. I have taken the liberty of naming you as the motion maker; Margaret has agreed to second the motion. We have extended the deadline from last Friday to this Wednesday for Board members to identify their three to five top candidates for Public Member. These will then be prioritized and also sent back to the Board for a vote.

Thanks again for further discussion of the consent agenda items.

Excellent information to include as we move forward with the implementation of the Diversity Plan and as new opportunities unfold to solve the critical internship challenge.

Since these three consent agenda items (1.12, 1.13 and 1.15) were not included in the motion (which would include the approval of the Diversity Plan), does the BOD, after any further discussion or comments, need to make a motion to approve these items since time ran short at the end of the meeting?

Glenna,

I am attaching an article from the Journal of the American Physical Therapy Association which addresses factors affecting minority applicant patterns into Physical Therapy programs. The grid on the fourth page indicates the percent of total applications to PT programs by race/ethnicity. Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

In addition, according to the Department of Health and Human Services National Sample Survey, “RNs from minority backgrounds are more likely than their white counterparts to pursue baccalaureate and higher degrees in nursing. Data show that while 48.4% of white nurses complete nursing degrees beyond the associate degree level, the number is significantly higher or equivalent for minority nurses, including African American (52.5%), Hispanic (51.5%), and Asian (75.6%) nurses. RNs from minority backgrounds clearly recognize the need to pursue higher levels of nursing education beyond the entry-level.”

Since diversity is a strategic priority, we will be providing progress reports on our efforts regularly at Board meetings.

Subject: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Pat (and Team):

Thank you for the additional information from the Consent Agenda (1.12 and 1.15) and the concentrated effort to meet the challenges for expanding the diversity throughout our profession.

One last question, as I reviewed the data and the diversity report, you indicated:

- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

Do we have the data which reflects HOW diversity increases in health professions that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level? For, "in the United States, almost one-third of all PhD. science and engineering students are Asian, two out of one-hundred are African American and one of a hundred are Hispanic.... By 2050, one out of four American could be Hispanic" (p. 160, When the Future Catches You, Juan Enriquez).

Don't get me wrong, I am ALL FOR raising the bar for Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (advanced degree) and only ask us to continue the discussion as we look at highlighting endeavors to increase enrollments, placement for internships, etc.

For though we have "resolved" the NDA/NDTR issue for now (which may or could increase diversity), I believe we still have an elephant in the room – an ever increasing gap of trained, diverse professionals who can meet the prevention and community needs in an ever increasing diverse US. I look forward to hearing more, and very importantly, updates from the Diversity Committee, our Public Health Committee, NDEP as they continue to promote the NDTR, and from these exciting new grassroots efforts.

Thank you,

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

b. Reviewing the Plan, could you clarify who at the Academy will be leading this charge – as Karen Lechowich was in this position prior to her retirement?

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care
- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences
- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire attending the Board of Human Sciences meeting in Washington, D.C. on March 4-6. The meeting focuses on Embracing Diversity in a Competitive Global Society and includes speakers on topics such as recruiting strategies to enhance diversity, intercultural training, faculty development, and quality and accountability. The Board on Human Sciences, Inc. is an association of administrators of higher education units (primarily at land grant universities) responsible for research/discovery, extension/outreach, and teaching/learning programs in the Human Sciences at universities across the country. The information gleaned will inform action plans.
- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.
- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.
- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

Excellent information to include as we move forward with the implementation of the Diversity Plan and as new opportunities unfold to solve the critical internship challenge.

Glenna,

I am attaching an article from the Journal of the American Physical Therapy Association which addresses factors affecting minority applicant patterns into Physical Therapy programs. The grid on the fourth page indicates the percent of total applications to PT programs by race/ethnicity. Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

Subject: Board Webinar Follow-up

Importance: High

I hope you had a relaxing weekend after an action-filled Board webinar. Glenna removed three items from the consent agenda. Her questions and my responses follow.

I have prepared notes from my presentation on the Revenue Growth E-Team Strategic Thinking retreat and they are included as an attachment. I am emailing you the highlights of my performance objectives update separately.

Please remember to submit your prioritization of three to five nominees for the Public Member representative to Joan by this Friday, the 23rd.

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care
- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences
- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.

- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.
- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

3. Lastly, I wanted to encourage our BOD leaders to review the 1.13 for names to move forward for the many Honors and Awards for 2015!

Thank you for the reminder, Glenna! Please forward any names for consideration to Matthew Novotny, Manager of Membership, Honors and Recognition Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics at mnovotny@eatright.org.

Thanks again for further discussion of the consent agenda items.

Excellent information to include as we move forward with the implementation of the Diversity Plan and as new opportunities unfold to solve the critical internship challenge.

Since these three consent agenda items (1.12, 1.13 and 1.15) were not included in the motion (which would include the approval of the Diversity Plan), does the BOD, after any further discussion or comments, need to make a motion to approve these items since time ran short at the end of the meeting?

Subject: RE: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Glenna,

I am attaching an article from the Journal of the American Physical Therapy Association which addresses factors affecting minority applicant patterns into Physical Therapy programs. The grid on the fourth page indicates the percent of total applications to PT programs by race/ethnicity. Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

In addition, according to the Department of Health and Human Services National Sample Survey, "RNs from minority backgrounds are more likely than their white counterparts to pursue baccalaureate and higher degrees in nursing. Data show that while 48.4% of white nurses complete nursing degrees beyond the associate degree level, the number is significantly higher or equivalent for minority nurses, including African American (52.5%), Hispanic (51.5%), and Asian (75.6%) nurses. RNs from minority backgrounds clearly recognize the need to pursue higher levels of nursing education beyond the entry-level."

Since diversity is a strategic priority, we will be providing progress reports on our efforts regularly at Board meetings.

Subject: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Pat (and Team):

Thank you for the additional information from the Consent Agenda (1.12 and 1.15) and the concentrated effort to meet the challenges for expanding the diversity throughout our profession.

One last question, as I reviewed the data and the diversity report, you indicated:

- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

Do we have the data which reflects HOW diversity increases in health professions that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level? For, "in the United States, almost one-third of all PhD. science and engineering students are Asian, two out of one-hundred are African American and one of a hundred are Hispanic.... By 2050, one out of four American could be Hispanic" (p. 160, When the Future Catches You, Juan Enriquez).

Don't get me wrong, I am ALL FOR raising the bar for Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (advanced degree) and only ask us to continue the discussion as we look at highlighting endeavors to increase enrollments, placement for internships, etc.

For though we have "resolved" the NDA/NDTR issue for now (which may or could increase diversity), I believe we still have an elephant in the room – an ever increasing gap of trained, diverse professionals who can meet the prevention and community needs in an ever increasing diverse US. I look forward to hearing more, and very importantly, updates from the Diversity Committee, our Public Health Committee, NDEP as they continue to promote the NDTR, and from these exciting new grassroots efforts.

Thank you,

Glenna

Pat:

Thanks again for further discussion of the consent agenda items.

Excellent information to include as we move forward with the implementation of the Diversity Plan and as new opportunities unfold to solve the critical internship challenge.

Since these three consent agenda items (1.12, 1.13 and 1.15) were not included in the motion (which would include the approval of the Diversity Plan), does the BOD, after any further discussion or comments, need to make a motion to approve these items since time ran short at the end of the meeting?

Thank you

Subject: RE: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Glenna,

I am attaching an article from the Journal of the American Physical Therapy Association which addresses factors affecting minority applicant patterns into Physical Therapy programs. The grid on the fourth page indicates the percent of total applications to PT programs by race/ethnicity. Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

In addition, according to the Department of Health and Human Services National Sample Survey, "RNs from minority backgrounds are more likely than their white counterparts to pursue baccalaureate and higher degrees in nursing. Data show that while 48.4% of white nurses complete nursing degrees beyond the associate degree level, the number is significantly higher or equivalent for minority nurses, including African American (52.5%), Hispanic (51.5%), and Asian (75.6%) nurses. RNs from minority backgrounds clearly recognize the need to pursue higher levels of nursing education beyond the entry-level."

Since diversity is a strategic priority, we will be providing progress reports on our efforts regularly at Board meetings.

Pat

Subject: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Pat (and Team):

Thank you for the additional information from the Consent Agenda (1.12 and 1.15) and the concentrated effort to meet the challenges for expanding the diversity throughout our profession.

One last question, as I reviewed the data and the diversity report, you indicated:

- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

Do we have the data which reflects HOW diversity increases in health professions that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level? For, "in the United States, almost one-third of all PhD. science and engineering students are Asian, two out of one-hundred are African American and one of a hundred are Hispanic.... By 2050, one out of four American could be Hispanic" (p. 160, When the Future Catches You, Juan Enriquez).

Don't get me wrong, I am ALL FOR raising the bar for Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (advanced degree) and only ask us to continue the discussion as we look at highlighting endeavors to increase enrollments, placement for internships, etc.

For though we have "resolved" the NDA/NDTR issue for now (which may or could increase diversity), I believe we still have an elephant in the room – an ever increasing gap of trained, diverse professionals who can meet the prevention and community needs in an ever increasing diverse US. I look forward to hearing more, and very importantly, updates from the Diversity Committee, our Public Health Committee, NDEP as they continue to promote the NDTR, and from these exciting new grassroots efforts.

Thank you,

Glenna

Subject: Board Webinar Follow-up

Importance: High

I hope you had a relaxing weekend after an action-filled Board webinar. Glenna removed three items from the consent agenda. Her questions and my responses follow.

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care

- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences
- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire attending the Board of Human Sciences meeting in Washington, D.C. on March 4-6. The meeting focuses on Embracing Diversity in a Competitive Global Society and includes speakers on topics such as recruiting strategies to enhance diversity, intercultural training, faculty development, and quality and accountability. The Board on Human Sciences, Inc. is an association of administrators of higher education units (primarily at land grant universities) responsible for research/discovery, extension/outreach, and teaching/learning programs in the Human Sciences at universities across the country. The information gleaned will inform action plans.
- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.
- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.

- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

3. Lastly, I wanted to encourage our BOD leaders to review the 1.13 for names to move forward for the many Honors and Awards for 2015!

Thank you for the reminder, Glenna! Please forward any names for consideration to Matthew Novotny, Manager of Membership, Honors and Recognition Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics at mnovotny@eatright.org.

Thanks again for further discussion of the consent agenda items.

Excellent information to include as we move forward with the implementation of the Diversity Plan and as new opportunities unfold to solve the critical internship challenge.

Since these three consent agenda items (1.12, 1.13 and 1.15) were not included in the motion (which would include the approval of the Diversity Plan), does the BOD, after any further discussion or comments, need to make a motion to approve these items since time ran short at the end of the meeting?

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care

- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences
- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire attending the Board of Human Sciences meeting in Washington, D.C. on March 4-6. The meeting focuses on Embracing Diversity in a Competitive Global Society and includes speakers on topics such as recruiting strategies to enhance diversity, intercultural training, faculty development, and quality and accountability. The Board on Human Sciences, Inc. is an association of administrators of higher education units (primarily at land grant universities) responsible for research/discovery, extension/outreach, and teaching/learning programs in the Human Sciences at universities across the country. The information gleaned will inform action plans.
- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.
- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.

- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

3. Lastly, I wanted to encourage our BOD leaders to review the 1.13 for names to move forward for the many Honors and Awards for 2015!

Thank you for the reminder, Glenna! Please forward any names for consideration to Matthew Novotny, Manager of Membership, Honors and Recognition Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics at mnovotny@eatright.org.

Thanks again for further discussion of the consent agenda items.

Excellent information to include as we move forward with the implementation of the Diversity Plan and as new opportunities unfold to solve the critical internship challenge.

Since these three consent agenda items (1.12, 1.13 and 1.15) were not included in the motion (which would include the approval of the Diversity Plan), does the BOD, after any further discussion or comments, need to make a motion to approve these items since time ran short at the end of the meeting?

Glenna,

I am attaching an article from the Journal of the American Physical Therapy Association which addresses factors affecting minority applicant patterns into Physical Therapy programs. The grid on the fourth page indicates the percent of total applications to PT programs by race/ethnicity. Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

In addition, according to the Department of Health and Human Services National Sample Survey, "RNs from minority backgrounds are more likely than their white counterparts to pursue baccalaureate and higher degrees in nursing. Data show that while 48.4% of white nurses complete nursing degrees beyond the associate degree level, the number is significantly higher or equivalent for minority nurses, including African American (52.5%), Hispanic (51.5%), and Asian (75.6%) nurses. RNs from minority backgrounds clearly recognize the need to pursue higher levels of nursing education beyond the entry-level."

Since diversity is a strategic priority, we will be providing progress reports on our efforts regularly at Board meetings.

Subject: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Pat (and Team):

Thank you for the additional information from the Consent Agenda (1.12 and 1.15) and the concentrated effort to meet the challenges for expanding the diversity throughout our profession. One last question, as I reviewed the data and the diversity report, you indicated:

- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

Do we have the data which reflects HOW diversity increases in health professions that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level? For, "in the United States, almost one-third of all PhD. science and engineering students are Asian, two out of one-hundred are African American and one of a hundred are Hispanic.... By 2050, one out of four American could be Hispanic" (p. 160, When the Future Catches You, Juan Enriquez).

Don't get me wrong, I am ALL FOR raising the bar for Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (advanced degree) and only ask us to continue the discussion as we look at highlighting endeavors to increase enrollments, placement for internships, etc.

For though we have "resolved" the NDA/NDTR issue for now (which may or could increase diversity), I believe we still have an elephant in the room – an ever increasing gap of trained, diverse professionals who can meet the prevention and community needs in an ever increasing diverse US. I look forward to hearing more, and very importantly, updates from the Diversity Committee, our Public Health Committee, NDEP as they continue to promote the NDTR, and from these exciting new grassroots efforts.

Thank you,
Glenna

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

b. Reviewing the Plan, could you clarify who at the Academy will be leading this charge – as Karen Lechowich was in this position prior to her retirement?

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care
- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences
- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

The supply and demand infographic shows the impact of our efforts on experiential program placement. We continue to not meet demand even with preceptor growth, the moratorium on accreditation of didactic programs, and the launch of the new ISPPs. As mentioned during the call, this analytic is a good example showing the need for an action plan. At our Board retreat in July, we will look at this measure and an action plan to address it.

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Pat (and Team):

Thank you for the additional information from the Consent Agenda (1.12 and 1.15) and the concentrated effort to meet the challenges for expanding the diversity throughout our profession.

One last question, as I reviewed the data and the diversity report, you indicated:

- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

Do we have the data which reflects HOW diversity increases in health professions that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level? For, "in the United States, almost one-third of all PhD. science and engineering students are Asian, two out of one-hundred are African American and one of a hundred are Hispanic.... By 2050, one out of four American could be Hispanic" (p. 160, When the Future Catches You, Juan Enriquez).

Don't get me wrong, I am ALL FOR raising the bar for Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (advanced degree) and only ask us to continue the discussion as we look at highlighting endeavors to increase enrollments, placement for internships, etc.

For though we have "resolved" the NDA/NDTR issue for now (which may or could increase diversity), I believe we still have an elephant in the room – an ever increasing gap of trained, diverse professionals who can meet the prevention and community needs in an ever increasing diverse US. I look forward to hearing more, and very importantly, updates from the Diversity Committee, our Public Health Committee, NDEP as they continue to promote the NDTR, and from these exciting new grassroots efforts.

Thank you,

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care

- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice

experiences

- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

The supply and demand infographic shows the impact of our efforts on experiential program placement. We continue to not meet demand even with preceptor growth, the moratorium on accreditation of didactic programs, and the launch of the new ISPPs. As mentioned during the call, this analytic is a good example showing the need for an action plan. At our Board retreat in July, we will look at this measure and an action plan to address it.

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire attending the Board of Human Sciences meeting in Washington, D.C. on March 4-6. The meeting focuses on Embracing Diversity in a Competitive Global Society and includes speakers on topics such as recruiting strategies to enhance diversity, intercultural training, faculty development, and quality and accountability. The Board on Human Sciences, Inc. is an association of administrators of higher education units (primarily at land grant universities) responsible for research/discovery, extension/outreach, and teaching/learning programs in the Human Sciences at universities across the country. The information gleaned will inform action plans.
- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.
- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.

- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

3. Lastly, I wanted to encourage our BOD leaders to review the 1.13 for names to move forward for the many Honors and Awards for 2015!

Thank you for the reminder, Glenna! Please forward any names for consideration to Matthew Novotny, Manager of Membership, Honors and Recognition Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics at mnovotny@eatright.org.

Donna and Paul,

Unfortunately I am unable to make the call tomorrow. I am attending the visitation for the family of one of my former students who was murdered sometime in late December. Her husband and 5-year old daughter were also dead, and they were not found until Jan. 17.

It made national news, very sad. You can read the story if interested:

The visitation and funeral are in a different town, a distance from where I live, so I will be driving during the call.

Hi All,

This guidelines article published this month may be of importance for the AND CDR adult weight management program.

Guidance calls for obesity-first treatment strategy

Physicians should treat patients' weight problems first and then focus on related issues such as cholesterol, hypertension and glucose tolerance, according to a guidance report in the Journal of Clinical Endocrinology and Metabolism. Lead author Dr. Caroline Apovian of Boston University said this paradigm focuses on lifestyle change and medications, followed by the treatment of co-morbidities that have not responded to weight-loss strategies. Thanks again for further discussion of the consent agenda items.

Excellent information to include as we move forward with the implementation of the Diversity Plan and as new opportunities unfold to solve the critical internship challenge.

Since these three consent agenda items (1.12, 1.13 and 1.15) were not included in the motion (which would include the approval of the Diversity Plan), does the BOD, after any further discussion or comments, need to make a motion to approve these items since time ran short at the end of the meeting?

Glenna,

I am attaching an article from the Journal of the American Physical Therapy Association which addresses factors affecting minority applicant patterns into Physical Therapy programs. The grid on the fourth page indicates the percent of total applications to PT programs by race/ethnicity. Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

In addition, according to the Department of Health and Human Services National Sample Survey, "RNs from minority backgrounds are more likely than their white counterparts to pursue baccalaureate and higher degrees in nursing. Data show that while 48.4% of white nurses complete nursing degrees beyond the associate degree level, the number is significantly higher or equivalent for minority nurses, including African American (52.5%), Hispanic (51.5%), and Asian (75.6%) nurses. RNs from minority backgrounds clearly recognize the need to pursue higher levels of nursing education beyond the entry-level.”

Since diversity is a strategic priority, we will be providing progress reports on our efforts regularly at Board meetings.

We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire attending the Board of Human Sciences meeting in Washington, D.C. on March 4-6. The meeting focuses on Embracing Diversity in a Competitive Global Society and includes speakers on topics such as recruiting strategies to enhance diversity, intercultural training, faculty development, and quality and accountability. The Board on Human Sciences, Inc. is an association of administrators of higher education units (primarily at land grant universities) responsible for research/discovery, extension/outreach, and teaching/learning programs in the Human Sciences at universities across the country. The information gleaned will inform action plans.

- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.

- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.

- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.

- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.

- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

3. Lastly, I wanted to encourage our BOD leaders to review the 1.13 for names to move forward for the many Honors and Awards for 2015!

Thank you for the reminder, Glenna! Please forward any names for consideration to Matthew Novotny, Manager of Membership, Honors and Recognition Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics at

Registered Dietitians in the News

Dear Readers:

Due to the burgeoning communication channels and immense success of RDNs in finding a presence in media outlets, the Academy will no longer be able to publish Registered Dietitians in the News. In the past, fewer members were active with the media; myriad members today are media-connected. So, we must ensure parity for all of our over 75,000 members and the available space simply does not permit us to do so.

All,

I appreciate your patience on providing the remaining portion of the financial overview. There isn't a great deal of additional information since everyone is doing well. So, this should be light reading.

I. Investments

I decided I would mention the investments...again. Yesterday, I mentioned that the combined investment portfolios were down $442,000 through Wednesday. Well, I am happy to tell you that as of the end of business yesterday, the combined portfolios are now up $65,000. So, we gained $507,000 yesterday to get us into the black. I am very happy that it is now positive, but, as you can see from today's market, it may not stay that way. The roller coaster continues. None-the-less, it is better to talk about a positive number than a negative number!

II. Foundation Preliminary December Financials (A8) and (A9)

The Foundation had a fantastic month in December. Revenues exceeded the budget by $736,183. This was due to a generous stock donation by a member and the renewal of the General Mills Grants. The stock donation was not budgeted and the General Mills Grants were budgeted, but, at a lower number in order to be conservative. The expenses were $10,088 higher than budget. The over-runs were due to the timing of the budget.

After factoring in the investments, the Foundation had Net Income of $1,279,495!!! That is a very nice number. It goes without saying this was higher than the budget.

On year-to-date basis, the Foundation is running an operating surplus of $867,766 which is now $1,126,345 higher than budget. The Foundation is doing this on both the revenue and expense fronts. Revenue for the year is more than $1M higher than the budget and the expenses for the year are $102K lower than the budget. Once you factor in the investment returns, the Foundation's year-to-date net income is $1,786,105. This is nearly $1.2M higher than the budget. These are great results. To cap off the Foundation's results, you will see that the Foundation's net assets now exceed $24.1M (A9).

III. CDR's Preliminary December Financials (A11)

CDR's month was not as good as the Foundations. Revenue for CDR was $36,649 below budget while expenses were $44,964 higher than the budget. I believe this to be more about budget timing than anything being amiss. This becomes very apparent when you look at the year to date numbers.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an operating deficit of $166.5K. This deficit is now $725.9K lower (better) than the budget. That is a great number. After factoring in investments, CDR has a net surplus of $141,186. This is more than $1M higher than the budget. Great results all around. CDR is doing this with higher revenues (over budget by $392,672) and lower expenses (under budget by $333,187). So, with these types of results, we should consider CDR's December results more a reflection of timing than anything else.

IV. DPGs/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary December Financials (A12)

The combined groups had another good month in December reflecting an operating surplus of $48,960 which was $12,420 higher than the budget. This month, financial results are being driven by higher revenue (over budget by $75,530). The expenses are higher in December by $63,110. In both situations, I attribute a great deal of the results to the timing of financials from FNCE.

Looking at the year-to-date numbers, the combined DPGs/MIGs/ACEND have an operating deficit of $118,195 which is $406,895 smaller (better) than the budget. Revenue is now just slightly higher than the budget (up $7,477) and expenses are $399,418 below budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we still have one DPG that is being flagged for low reserves; Dietitians in Business and Communications (71%). They have been increasing the percentage. In addition, they have over $118,000 in reserve. So, even though we flag them as a “watch”, they are in very good shape and moving in the right direction.

Once you factor in the investments, the combined year-to-date results for the DPGS/MIGs/ACEND reflect net income of $180,666. This is nearly $706,000 higher than the budget. So, given the reserves and the year to date results, there isn't anything to be concerned about in this area.

V. ANDPAC Preliminary December Financials (A14)

ANDPAC's results were nearly on target for the month of December. Revenues were $502 higher than budget while expense were $169 higher than the budget. There were some variances within the expense results, but, this is due to decisions to spend a little more at FNCE and not spend the Advertising dollars. The Other and Meeting Services expenses were the final bills from FNCE.

On a year-to-date basis, ANDPAC has an net deficit of $100,745. This is $37,354 larger (worse) than budget. As I have mentioned previously, this was due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended December at nearly $162K.

I hope this helps a little when you look at the numbers within the December package. If you have any questions, please let me know. I look forward to talking to all of you on Tuesday. Have a great weekend.

Subject: Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday, January 27th at 1 p.m. CST

All,

Happy New Year!!! I know it is a little late, but, we haven't met since last year, so, I thought why not. I hope everyone had a great holiday season and will be available for our call/webinar on Tuesday, January 27th at 1 p.m. CDT. Our call will focus on the following;

1. November final financial results
2. December preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Update on the Board call last week.

I also will add to the portal the investment summary I received for Al Bryant that was provided to the Academy Board. I won't put it onto the Agenda since Al will be with us in April, but, if you would like to discuss the investments, we can do so. Since we are talking (okay Mary, writing J) about the investments, that would be a great start to our monthly summary;

I. Investments

I hope everyone is enjoying the ride. The stocks are up one day, maybe two....three... as it inches towards the top and then it accelerates down a incline for a few days before it takes a turn or two before starting back up. Really, if you close your eyes, it is like a roller coaster. I used to like roller coasters. When my kids were young I would take them to Six Flags and there wasn't one I didn't like. Now that I am older, I avoid the roller coasters. I have acquired a distaste for them. Not unlike the distaste I have for the roller coaster we are experiencing with our investments. Unfortunately, the volatility appears as if it will continue. Unlike being able to avoid the roller coaster at Six Flags, we can't avoid this one. So, we will have to hold on and enjoy the ride. The great news is the roller coaster nearly always ends with us feeling glad that it is over and better for the experience!! So, better days lie ahead.

In the month of December, the investments, after all of the ups and downs ,reflected positive returns of $20,700. So, it was positive. This is before trust fees. Once everything is factored into the equation, our investments will have actually gone down. Our fees are charged on a quarterly basis and December was the end of the quarter. None-the-less, I will take the positive returns. Year to date returns now are pushing $2.5M for the combined portfolios.

I wish I could provide the same positive story for January. As of the end of day yesterday, January 21st, the combined portfolios have lost $442,000 for the month of January. This sounds like a lot of money. However, it represents 0.79% of the portfolio. So, one good day and we are back in the black. Considering the markets had rough patch a week ago, that isn't too bad. In addition, we have seven trading days remaining (including today). So, anything can happen.

II. November Adjustments

We did not have any changes to the preliminary November financials provided previously.

III. Academy preliminary December Financials (A10)

As has been the case throughout the fiscal year, the financials for December provided a “mixed” picture. Revenues were short of budget by $144,880. However, Expenses were short of budget by $167,305. Overall, this left the Academy with an operating deficit that was $22,425 smaller (better) than the budget. Expenses continue to save the day.

December marks the seventh month of our fiscal year. So, even though we have five months to go, we can begin to see how the year is shaping up. Or at the very least, we can look at our current results to see how much of a “buffer” do we have to achieve (or exceed) our total fiscal year budget. Year to date, the Academy has an operating deficit of $1,305,607 This is $400,680 smaller (better) than the budget. So, even with the Revenue shortfall of $576,593, the Academy is performing better on the bottom line. We do have some revenue concerns as we move forward; eNCPT, Sponsorships, Fellow program, etc., all appear as if they will underperform as we go forward. On the positive front, members continue to grow and membership dues appears to be on a path to hit or exceed the budget.

Given the potential softness in revenue, it is critical that the Academy continues to focus on expense savings. Through December, expenses are running about 6% below budget. We know that some of the expense under-runs are real savings. However, we should also expect that some of the savings will be due to the timing of programs as they relate to their budgets. So, continued focus on saving money will be a key for the Academy’s 2015 Fiscal Year success.

As I mentioned above, the December investments were up slightly. The Academy had investment growth of $30,215. Not bad considering the volatility. Year to date, investment returns are $145,602 higher than the budget. So, when you add everything up, the Academy had a net deficit (after investments) of $371,840. That is the bad news. The good news is this is nearly $550K smaller (better) than the budget. So, even though revenue is down, the bottom line for the Academy is looking up!!

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $3,747 in December and is over budget by $406 for the year. The over-run in December is being driven by higher Membership Dues (up $9.6K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $5.9K) . Membership continues to grow. This is helping us achieve the budget. It is still too early to tell if we will exceed the membership dues revenue budget, but, we are in a very good position to do so.

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $5,003 in December and is under budget by $409,830 for the year. The under-run December is due to lower professional development revenue (down $3.2K) and continue processing of FNCE refunds (down $1.8K).

c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $8,837 in December and is under budget by $48,269 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to lower List Rental sales (down $12.0K), lower Marketing (down $4.8K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), lower Guides for Practice (down $1.0K), and lower Quality Management (down $1.0K) offset by higher traditional publications (up $14.5K).

d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $38,691 in December and is under budget by $175,270 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $44.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted. This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.3K), higher NCM and related products (up $2.0K) and higher EAL subscriptions (up $2.5K). The eNCPT sales may not good when compared to the budget. To date, we have recorded $38.3K in total revenue. However, we have another $105,000 that has been sold. Unfortunately, due to how we are required to record the revenue the later in the year we get a sale, the less we will see in this fiscal year. Overall, we are at $143,000 in sales for the year. This isn't too bad for something that began to be sold at the end of August. In addition, Food and Nutrition Magazine Subscriptions were not budget. To have them at $1.3K per month now is a pretty good story as well. They both have a long way to go to reach the levels of NCM and related products, but, it is a good start for both.

e. Advertising – This area is under budget by $9,647 in December and under budget by $10,395 for the year. The under-run in December is entirely due to lower Food and Nutrition Magazine sales than budgeted.

f. All grants - This area is under budget by $72,170 in December and is under budget by $7,010 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to lower Grants for Research (down $56.5K), lower Guides for Practice project (down $10.0K), lower Carry the Flame recognition (down $9.6K) offset by higher ConAgra (up $4.9K). Even though the Research Grants are lower in December, they are still over budget for the year.

g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $5,000 in December and is under budget by $36,200 for the year. I have mentioned previously that we would re-evaluate the Sponsorship revenues in January and project to the end of the year based on our current data. In doing so, we are projecting lower revenues for the year. So, I decided to reduce the amount we are recording by $5,000 per month. If things pick up, then this might be reversed. This adjustment is based upon information provided by the Sponsorship team.

h. Other – This area was under budget by $9,278 in December and is over budget by $109,975 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to lower revenue in the Member Advantage program (down $6.0K) and lower Brand Promise (down $3.0K) and lower revenue across all other (down $0.3K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $40,488 in December and is under budget by $82,451 for the year. The under-run in December is due to open Academy positions.
- b. Publications – This area is under budget by $14,246 in December and is under budget by $79,061 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $11.3K), lower Food and Nutrition Magazine costs (down $4.9K), lower Research (down $5.9K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.8K), offset by higher National Nutrition Month sales costs (up $4.9K) and higher Membership costs (up $4.8K).
- c. Travel – This area is under budget by $1,914 in December and is under budget by $217,869 for the year. The under-run for December is small, but, has large swings within the various areas. The under-run is due to lower Public Policy (down $26.3K) and lower Research (down $14.2K) offset by higher Governance (up $9.6), higher FNCE travel (up $26.9K as expenses continue to be submitted),
- d. higher Membership (up $1.4K) and higher across all other areas (up $0.7K).
- e. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $39,643 in December and is under budget by $193,765 for the year. The under-run in December is being driven by lower Brand Promise (down $24.3K), lower Governance (down $8.4K), lower Public Policy (down $6.3K), lower Traditional Publications (down $2.8K) and lower across all other (down $0.9K), offset by higher Research (up $3.1K)
- f. Postage and Mailing - This area is over budget by $2,057 for December and is under budget by $58,965 for the year. The over-run for December is being driven by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine costs (up $2.6K) offset by lower across all other areas (down $0.6K).
- g. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $1,069 in December and is under budget by $14,609 for the year. The under-run in December is across all areas of the business. No material variances can be identified.
- h. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $4,010 in December and is under budget by $61,124 for the year. The under-run in December is due to lower utility costs associated with our new lease in Washington DC (down $2.1K) and lower utility costs in Chicago (down $1.9K).
- i. Telephone and communications – This is over budget by $1,573 in December and is under budget by $1,740 for the year. The under-run in December is due to higher normal telecommunication's costs.

- j. Commissions – This area is under budget by $1,929 in December and is over budget by $811 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine’s advertising sales. The revenue was under budget. Therefore, the expenses were under-budget.
- k. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $4,197 in December and is under budget by $37,460 for the year. The under-run in December is due to lower Web and IT related costs.
- l. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $1,927 in December and is under budget by $16,022 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to lower costs for the Eatright store (down $0.5K), lower Research (down $0.4K) and lower Traditional Publications (down $1.0K).
- m. Insurance – This area is under budget by $528 in December and is under budget by $6,065 for the year. The under-run in December is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- n. Depreciation – This area is over budget in December by $2,499 and is over budget by $4,998 for the year. The over-run in December is entirely due to the new lease in Washington DC. The build-out costs we received plus the additional provided by the Academy now must be depreciated. This was not in the original budget. It is still possible that the overall depreciation budget (all Academy projects) will be lower than originally budgeted. Once the web site launches we will have a better understanding of the depreciation for the year.
- o. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $569 in December and is over budget by $10,475 for the year. The under-run in December is due to higher credit cards fees.
- p. Other – This area is under budget by $54,856 in December and under budget $112,990 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to lower Research (down $44.0K), lower I/T and Web (down $6.2K), lower Corporate Relations (down $9.3K), offset by the Washington move (up $4.6K) and higher across all other (up $0.1K). The lower Research amount may be due to the shifting of deliverables for the Abbott Malnutrition project. This may materialize later in the fiscal year.
- q. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,192 in December and is unfavorable to budget by $25,535 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.
- r. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $30,431 in December and is under budget by $117,418 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to the lower Public Policy (down $25.6K), lower Research (down $8.8K), lower Governance (down $5.0K), lower Administration (down $4.3K), offset by adjustments to the FNCE bills (up $12.0K) and higher across all other projects (up $1.3K). The Public Policy under-runs is due to the delay of the face to face meeting in Washington for the LPPC and ANDPAC. The FNCE adjustment was for higher audio visual costs than originally billed.

s. Legal and Audit – This area is over budget by $1,470 in December and is under budget by $9,498 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in December.

t. Printing – This area is over budget by $1,760 in December and is under budget by $10,054 for the year. The over-run in December is primarily due to additional printing bills from FNCE (up $2.0K) offset by lower across all other projects (down $0.2K).

Overall, even with the shortfalls on revenue and the concerns going forward, the Academy is doing well against the budgets. The Academy will need to continue the efforts to hold costs down to bring the year in at or better than budget.

I am going to stop here. I will provide the remaining information for everyone else tomorrow. You may be watching the investment markets. Right now, the markets are up more than 1.5%. So, we might eliminate that loss for January I mentioned above. Just need another 30 minutes!!

You will receive a webinar invitation today or tomorrow. In addition, Maria will let you know when everything is posted onto the website. If you have any questions, please let me know, and, look for my email tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

Subject: RE: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Glenna,

I am attaching an article from the Journal of the American Physical Therapy Association which addresses factors affecting minority applicant patterns into Physical Therapy programs. The grid on the fourth page indicates the percent of total applications to PT programs by race/ethnicity. Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

In addition, according to the Department of Health and Human Services National Sample Survey, "RNs from minority backgrounds are more likely than their white counterparts to pursue baccalaureate and higher degrees in nursing. Data show that while 48.4% of white nurses complete nursing degrees beyond the associate degree level, the number is significantly higher or equivalent for minority nurses, including African American (52.5%), Hispanic (51.5%), and Asian (75.6%) nurses. RNs from minority backgrounds clearly recognize the need to pursue higher levels of nursing education beyond the entry-level."

Since diversity is a strategic priority, we will be providing progress reports on our efforts regularly at Board meetings.

Pat

Subject: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Pat (and Team):

Thank you for the additional information from the Consent Agenda (1.12 and 1.15) and the concentrated effort to meet the challenges for expanding the diversity throughout our profession. One last question, as I reviewed the data and the diversity report, you indicated:

- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

Do we have the data which reflects HOW diversity increases in health professions that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level? For, "in the United States, almost one-third of all PhD. science and engineering students are Asian, two out of one-hundred are African American and one of a hundred are Hispanic.... By 2050, one out of four American could be Hispanic" (p. 160, When the Future Catches You, Juan Enriquez).

Don't get me wrong, I am ALL FOR raising the bar for Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (advanced degree) and only ask us to continue the discussion as we look at highlighting endeavors to increase enrollments, placement for internships, etc.

For though we have "resolved" the NDA/NDTR issue for now (which may or could increase diversity), I believe we still have an elephant in the room – an ever increasing gap of trained, diverse professionals who can meet the prevention and community needs in an ever increasing diverse US. I look forward to hearing more, and very importantly, updates from the Diversity Committee, our Public Health Committee, NDEP as they continue to promote the NDTR, and from these exciting new grassroots efforts.

Thank you,
Glenna

Subject: Board Webinar Follow-up

Importance: High

I hope you had a relaxing weekend after an action-filled Board webinar. Glenna removed three items from the consent agenda. Her questions and my responses follow.

I have prepared notes from my presentation on the Revenue Growth E-Team Strategic Thinking retreat and they are included as an attachment. I am emailing you the highlights of my performance objectives update separately.

Please remember to submit your prioritization of three to five nominees for the Public Member representative to Joan by this Friday, the 23rd.

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; “Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program” the Outcome Measure states “Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach.”

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care
- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences
- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.

- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.
- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

The grid on the fourth page indicates the percent of total applications to PT programs by race/ethnicity. Mary Gregoire indicated that an ACEND committee member, who held a leadership position at APTA, noted when PT moved to the doctoral level degree requirement, diversity applications increased because minorities who were strong academically saw the pathway as another alternative to professions such as medicine and pharmacy.

In addition, according to the Department of Health and Human Services National Sample Survey, "RNs from minority backgrounds are more likely than their white counterparts to pursue baccalaureate and higher degrees in nursing. Data show that while 48.4% of white nurses complete nursing degrees beyond the associate degree level, the number is significantly higher or equivalent for minority nurses, including African American (52.5%), Hispanic (51.5%), and Asian (75.6%) nurses. RNs from minority backgrounds clearly recognize the need to pursue higher levels of nursing education beyond the entry-level."

Subject: Consent Agenda 1.12 and 1.15

Pat (and Team):

Thank you for the additional information from the Consent Agenda (1.12 and 1.15) and the concentrated effort to meet the challenges for expanding the diversity throughout our profession.

One last question, as I reviewed the data and the diversity report, you indicated:

- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.

Do we have the data which reflects HOW diversity increases in health professions that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level? For, "in the United States, almost one-third of all PhD. science and engineering students are Asian, two out of one-hundred are African American and one of a hundred are Hispanic.... By 2050, one out of four American could be Hispanic" (p. 160, When the Future Catches You, Juan Enriquez).

Don't get me wrong, I am ALL FOR raising the bar for Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (advanced degree) and only ask us to continue the discussion as we look at highlighting endeavors to increase enrollments, placement for internships, etc.

For though we have "resolved" the NDA/NDTR issue for now (which may or could increase diversity), I believe we still have an elephant in the room – an ever increasing gap of trained, diverse professionals who can meet the prevention and community needs in an ever increasing diverse US. I look forward to hearing more, and very importantly, updates from the Diversity Committee, our Public Health Committee, NDEP as they continue to promote the NDTR, and from these exciting new grassroots efforts.

Thank you,

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

b. Reviewing the Plan, could you clarify who at the Academy will be leading this charge – as Karen Lechowich was in this position prior to her retirement?

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program,

Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

Diversity was identified at the Board retreat as a strategic priority and is listed as such on the Program of Work document. During the strategic management discussion on the webinar, I noted that our Strategic Measures will drive the agenda at the upcoming retreat; action plans addressing the metrics, including diversity and supply and demand, will be prepared by staff for Board review and feedback.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care

- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice

experiences

- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

The supply and demand infographic shows the impact of our efforts on experiential program placement. We continue to not meet demand even with preceptor growth, the moratorium on accreditation of didactic programs, and the launch of the new ISPPs. As mentioned during the call, this analytic is a good example showing the need for an action plan. At our Board retreat in July, we will look at this measure and an action plan to address it.

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire attending the Board of Human Sciences meeting in Washington, D.C. on March 4-6. The meeting focuses on Embracing Diversity in a Competitive Global Society and includes speakers on topics such as recruiting strategies to enhance diversity, intercultural training, faculty development, and quality and accountability. The Board on Human Sciences, Inc. is an association of administrators of higher education units (primarily at land grant universities) responsible for research/discovery, extension/outreach, and teaching/learning programs in the Human Sciences at universities across the country. The information gleaned will inform action plans.
- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.
- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.

- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

All,

Happy New Year!!! I know it is a little late, but, we haven't met since last year, so, I thought why not. I hope everyone had a great holiday season and will be available for our call/webinar on Tuesday, January 27th at 1 p.m. CDT. Our call will focus on the following;

1. November final financial results
2. December preliminary results
3. Budget update
4. Update on the Board call last week.

I also will add to the portal the investment summary I received for Al Bryant that was provided to the Academy Board. I won't put it onto the Agenda since Al will be with us in April, but, if you would like to discuss the investments, we can do so. Since we are talking (okay Mary, writing J) about the investments, that would be a great start to our monthly summary;

I. Investments

I hope everyone is enjoying the ride. The stocks are up one day, maybe two....three... as it inches towards the top and then it accelerates down a incline for a few days before it takes a turn or two before starting back up. Really, if you close your eyes, it is like a roller coaster. I used to like roller coasters. When my kids were young I would take them to Six Flags and there wasn't one I didn't like. Now that I am older, I avoid the roller coasters. I have acquired a distaste for them. Not unlike the distaste I have for the roller coaster we are experiencing with our investments. Unfortunately, the volatility appears as if it will continue. Unlike being able to avoid the roller coaster at Six Flags, we can't avoid this one. So, we will have to hold on and enjoy the ride. The great news is the roller coaster nearly always ends with us feeling glad that it is over and better for the experience!! So, better days lie ahead.

In the month of December, the investments, after all of the ups and downs ,reflected positive returns of $20,700. So, it was positive. This is before trust fees. Once everything is factored into the equation, our investments will have actually gone down. Our fees are charged on a quarterly basis and December was the end of the quarter. None-the-less, I will take the positive returns. Year to date returns now are pushing $2.5M for the combined portfolios.

I wish I could provide the same positive story for January. As of the end of day yesterday, January 21st, the combined portfolios have lost $442,000 for the month of January. This sounds like a lot of money. However, it represents 0.79% of the portfolio. So, one good day and we are back in the black. Considering the markets had rough patch a week ago, that isn't too bad. In addition, we have seven trading days remaining (including today). So, anything can happen.

II. November Adjustments

We did not have any changes to the preliminary November financials provided previously.

III. Academy preliminary December Financials (A10)

As has been the case throughout the fiscal year, the financials for December provided a “mixed” picture. Revenues were short of budget by $144,880. However, Expenses were short of budget by $167,305. Overall, this left the Academy with an operating deficit that was $22,425 smaller (better) than the budget. Expenses continue to save the day.

December marks the seventh month of our fiscal year. So, even though we have five months to go, we can begin to see how the year is shaping up. Or at the very least, we can look at our current results to see how much of a “buffer” do we have to achieve (or exceed) our total fiscal year budget. Year to date, the Academy has an operating deficit of $1,305,607. This is $400,680 smaller (better) than the budget. So, even with the Revenue shortfall of $576,593, the Academy is performing better on the bottom line. We do have some revenue concerns as we move forward; eNCPT, Sponsorships, Fellow program, etc., all appear as if they will underperform as we go forward. On the positive front, members continue to grow and membership dues appears to be on a path to hit or exceed the budget.

Given the potential softness in revenue, it is critical that the Academy continues to focus on expense savings. Through December, expenses are running about 6% below budget. We know that some of the expense under-runs are real savings. However, we should also expect that some of the savings will be due to the timing of programs as they relate to their budgets. So, continued focus on saving money will be a key for the Academy’s 2015 Fiscal Year success.

As I mentioned above, the December investments were up slightly. The Academy had investment growth of $30,215. Not bad considering the volatility. Year to date, investment returns are $145,602 higher than the budget. So, when you add everything up, the Academy had a net deficit (after investments) of $371,840. That is the bad news. The good news is this is nearly $550K smaller (better) than the budget. So, even though revenue is down, the bottom line for the Academy is looking up!!

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for December:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $3,747 in December and is over budget by $406 for the year. The over-run in December is being driven by higher Membership Dues (up $9.6K) offset by lower Fellow program revenue (down $5.9K). Membership continues to grow. This is helping us achieve the budget. It is still too early to tell if we will exceed the membership dues revenue budget, but, we are in a very good position to do so.
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $5,003 in December and is under budget by $409,830 for the year. The under-run December is due to lower professional development revenue (down $3.2K) and continue processing of FNCE refunds (down $1.8K).
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $8,837 in December and is under budget by $48,269 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to lower List Rental sales (down $12.0K), lower Marketing (down $4.8K), lower Eatright store (down $4.5K), lower Guides for Practice (down $1.0K), and lower Quality Management (down $1.0K) offset by higher traditional publications (up $14.5K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $38,691 in December and is under budget by $175,270 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily is due to lower eNCPT (down $44.5K) as sales are slower than budgeted. This is offset by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine subscriptions (up $1.3K), higher NCM and related products (up $2.0K) and higher EAL subscriptions (up $2.5K). The eNCPT sales may not good when compared to the budget. To date, we have recorded $38.3K in total revenue. However, we have another $105,000 that has been sold. Unfortunately, due to how we are required to record the revenue the later in the year we get a sale, the less we will see in this fiscal year. Overall, we are at $143,000 in sales for the year. This isn't too bad for something that began to be sold at the end of August. In addition, Food and Nutrition Magazine Subscriptions were not budget. To have them at $1.3K per month now is a pretty good story as well. They both have a long way to go to reach the levels of NCM and related products, but, it is a good start for both.
- e. Advertising – This area is under budget by $9,647 in December and under budget by $10,395 for the year. The under-run in December is entirely due to lower Food and Nutrition Magazine sales than budgeted.
- f. All grants - This area is under budget by $72,170 in December and is under budget by $7,010 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to lower Grants for Research (down $56.5K), lower Guides for Practice project (down $10.0K), lower Carry the Flame recognition (down $9.6K) offset by higher ConAgra (up $4.9K). Even though the Research Grants are lower in December, they are still over budget for the year.
- g. Sponsorships – This area is under budget by $5,000 in December and is under budget by $36,200 for the year. I have mentioned previously that we would re-evaluate the Sponsorship revenues in January and project to the end of the year based on our current data. In doing so, we are projecting lower revenues for the year. So, I decided to reduce the amount we are recording by $5,000 per month. If things pick up, then this might be reversed. This adjustment is based upon information provided by the Sponsorship team.

h. Other – This area was under budget by $9,278 in December and is over budget by $109,975 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to lower revenue in the Member Advantage program (down $6.0K) and lower Brand Promise (down $3.0K) and lower revenue across all other (down $0.3K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $40,488 in December and is under budget by $82,451 for the year. The under-run in December is due to open Academy positions.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $14,246 in December and is under budget by $79,061 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $11.3K), lower Food and Nutrition Magazine costs (down $4.9K), lower Research (down $5.9K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.8K), offset by higher National Nutrition Month sales costs (up $4.9K) and higher Membership costs (up $4.8K).

c. Travel – This area is under budget by $1,914 in December and is under budget by $217,869 for the year. The under-run for December is small, but, has large swings within the various areas. The under-run is due to lower Public Policy (down $26.3K) and lower Research (down $14.2K) offset by higher Governance (up $9.6), higher FNCE travel (up $26.9K as expenses continue to be submitted),

d. higher Membership (up $1.4K) and higher across all other areas (up $0.7K).

e. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $39,643 in December and is under budget by $193,765 for the year. The under-run in December is being driven by lower Brand Promise (down $24.3K), lower Governance (down $8.4K), lower Public Policy (down $6.3K), lower Traditional Publications (down $2.8K) and lower across all other (down $0.9K), offset by higher Research (up $3.1K)

f. Postage and Mailing - This area is over budget by $2,057 for December and is under budget by $58,965 for the year. The over-run for December is being driven by higher Food and Nutrition Magazine costs (up $2.6K) offset by lower across all other areas (down $0.6K).

g. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $1,069 in December and is under budget by $14,609 for the year. The under-run in December is across all areas of the business. No material variances can be identified.

h. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $4,010 in December and is under budget by $61,124 for the year. The under-run in December is due to lower utility costs associated with our new lease in Washington DC (down $2.1K) and lower utility costs in Chicago (down $1.9K).

- i. Telephone and communications – This is over budget by $1,573 in December and is under budget by $1,740 for the year. The under-run in December is due to higher normal telecommunication's costs.
- j. Commissions – This area is under budget by $1,929 in December and is over budget by $811 for the year. Commissions are associated with Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. The revenue was under budget. Therefore, the expenses were under-budget.
- k. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $4,197 in December and is under budget by $37,460 for the year. The under-run in December is due to lower Web and IT related costs.
- l. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $1,927 in December and is under budget by $16,022 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to lower costs for the Eatright store (down $0.5K), lower Research (down $0.4K) and lower Traditional Publications (down $1.0K).
- m. Insurance – This area is under budget by $528 in December and is under budget by $6,065 for the year. The under-run in December is due to lower insurance premiums for the overall insurance.
- n. Depreciation – This area is over budget in December by $2,499 and is over budget by $4,998 for the year. The over-run in December is entirely due to the new lease in Washington DC. The build-out costs we received plus the additional provided by the Academy now must be depreciated. This was not in the original budget. It is still possible that the overall depreciation budget (all Academy projects) will be lower than originally budgeted. Once the web site launches we will have a better understanding of the depreciation for the year.
- o. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $569 in December and is over budget by $10,475 for the year. The under-run in December is due to higher credit cards fees.
- p. Other – This area is under budget by $54,856 in December and under budget $112,990 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to lower Research (down $44.0K), lower I/T and Web (down $6.2K), lower Corporate Relations (down $9.3K), offset by the Washington move (up $4.6K) and higher across all other (up $0.1K). The lower Research amount may be due to the shifting of deliverables for the Abbott Malnutrition project. This may materialize later in the fiscal year.
- q. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $19,192 in December and is unfavorable to budget by $25,535 for the year. The unfavorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR supported projects. These will result in lower expenses in the “normal” expense categories, but are then offset under the expense allocation category.

r. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $30,431 in December and is under budget by $117,418 for the year. The under-run in December is primarily due to the lower Public Policy (down $25.6K), lower Research (down $8.8K), lower Governance (down $5.0K), lower Administration (down $4.3K), offset by adjustments to the FNCE bills (up $12.0K) and higher across all other projects (up $1.3K). The Public Policy under-runs is due to the delay of the face to face meeting in Washington for the LPPC and ANDPAC. The FNCE adjustment was for higher audio visual costs than originally billed.

s. Legal and Audit – This area is over budget by $1,470 in December and is under budget by $9,498 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in December.

t. Printing – This area is over budget by $1,760 in December and is under budget by $10,054 for the year. The over-run in December is primarily due to additional printing bills from FNCE (up $2.0K) offset by lower across all other projects (down $0.2K).

Overall, even with the shortfalls on revenue and the concerns going forward, the Academy is doing well against the budgets. The Academy will need to continue the efforts to hold costs down to bring the year in at or better than budget.

I am going to stop here. I will provide the remaining information for everyone else tomorrow. You may be watching the investment markets. Right now, the markets are up more than 1.5%. So, we might eliminate that loss for January I mentioned above. Just need another 30 minutes!!

You will receive a webinar invitation today or tomorrow. In addition, Maria will let you know when everything is posted onto the website. If you have any questions, please let me know, and, look for my email tomorrow to address the rest of the story.

Hi Donna,

Thanks so much for the support! I was taken aback and wanted to write, Thanks I'll take it under consideration. I think it's a multifaceted issue. Not working is one, but we've had presidents who took sabbaticals who were very much at the strategic oversight level. I think some people talk about needing others to be strategic but don't know how to do it themselves. You SHOULD run for president because you recognize the difference!! Bottom line, there's a lack of understanding by Glenna and Sonja that we are actually a large and successful enterprise and therefore we get very little credit for that. I also got a nice note from Margaret. There is something about you Southern magnolias having both a heart and business savvy!! Kay has a quiet leadership style that is very effective. Staff was so impressed with her articulate communication related to Monsanto. Again, thanks for your thoughtfulness and support!!

Best,
Pat

Hi Pat,

Thanks for the clarification. Your report was excellent. It would have been helpful if we had had a hard copy. Here are some suggestions that would be helpful for me in the future:

Performance objectives 1 and 2 – this information would be highlighted in the finance report so we could see the final numbers as well as where we are to date. You could simply cut and paste this into your report.

Performance objectives 4 and 5 – this information would be highlighted in the strategic measures report. Again, you could cut and paste the information into your report.

Performance objective 8 – After the board does the 2015 self-assessment, have the person who develops the slide deck for the Board Self-Assessment report create a slide that includes this information (focusing regularly on strategic and policy issues versus operational issues, assessing and responding to changes in the organization's environment, engaging in an effective strategic planning process and tracking progress toward meeting the organization's strategic goals) as well as including the mean score.

Performance objective 9 – After the board does the 2015 self-assessment, have the person who develops the slide deck for the Board Self-Assessment report create a slide that includes the ten lowest scoring questions from the 2014 report and add the scores for these questions from the 2015 report.

Thanks!

Subject: RE: Performance Objectives Update

Dear Sonja,

Thank you for your question regarding the Financial Management Performance Objectives. For the first objective the negative $3,487,651 represented in the Budgeted Operating Income Actual Results reflects the portion of the $6,453,714 deficit we have budgeted through November, 2014.

By the end of May, this number will be the full $6,453,724. The information in the Actual Results represents how we are doing at a point in time. Since we have budgeted a deficit of $3,487,551 through November and have actual deficit results of $1,544,885, we are performing better than the budget. The deficit, through November is $1,942,765 smaller than the budget. If this continues at the end of the year instead of a $6,453,714 deficit, we would end the 2014-15 program year with a deficit of $4,510,958. This would result in a performance measure far exceeding expectations.

Hopefully, the deficit will be even smaller.

<image001.jpg>

The same applies to the second Financial Management Performance Objective. New revenue is still projected to come in the second half of the year. Even though we are ahead of our budget, it is still too early to determine if we will achieve the $1.18M in new revenue associated with this objective.

Please let me know if you have any additional questions.

Hi Pat,

Thanks for the clarification. Your report was excellent. It would have been helpful if we had had a hard copy. Here are some suggestions that would be helpful for me in the future:

Performance objectives 1 and 2 – this information would be highlighted in the finance report so we could see the final numbers as well as where we are to date. You could simply cut and paste this into your report.

Performance objectives 4 and 5 – this information would be highlighted in the strategic measures report. Again, you could cut and paste the information into your report.

Performance objective 8 – After the board does the 2015 self-assessment, have the person who develops the slide deck for the Board Self-Assessment report create a slide that includes this information (focusing regularly on strategic and policy issues versus operational issues, assessing and responding to changes in the organization's environment, engaging in an effective strategic planning process and tracking progress toward meeting the organization's strategic goals) as well as including the mean score.

Performance objective 9 – After the board does the 2015 self-assessment, have the person who develops the slide deck for the Board Self-Assessment report create a slide that includes the ten lowest scoring questions from the 2014 report and add the scores for these questions from the 2015 report.

Thanks!

Subject: RE: Performance Objectives Update

Dear Sonja,

Thank you for your question regarding the Financial Management Performance Objectives. For the first objective the negative $3,487,651 represented in the Budgeted Operating Income Actual Results reflects the portion of the $6,453,714 deficit we have budgeted through November, 2014.

By the end of May, this number will be the full $6,453,724. The information in the Actual Results represents how we are doing at a point in time. Since we have budgeted a deficit of $3,487,551 through November and have actual deficit results of $1,544,885, we are performing better than the budget. The deficit, through November is $1,942,765 smaller than the budget. If this continues at the end of the year instead of a $6,453,714 deficit, we would end the 2014-15 program year with a deficit of $4,510,958. This would result in a performance measure far exceeding expectations.

Hopefully, the deficit will be even smaller.

The same applies to the second Financial Management Performance Objective. New revenue is still projected to come in the second half of the year. Even though we are ahead of our budget, it is still too early to determine if we will achieve the $1.18M in new revenue associated with this objective.

Please let me know if you have any additional questions.

Best regards,

Pat

Here are the instructions to upload your files. However, if the file is not too large, you can email it to me. I will acknowledge receipt of the e-mail.

1. Go to www.cdrnet.org
2. To login choose the "Login" option on the upper right-hand side of the page.
 1. Sign-in using your Academy/CDR username and password.
 2. On the purple banner, hover over the "Portal" option on the right-hand side and choose the "Library" option from the drop-down menu.
 3. Click on the "2015 Childhood Faculty PowerPoint Files and Handouts" link located to the left.
 4. Click on the "Upload Multiple Files" link located in the gray menu bar.
 5. Scroll down to the bottom of the grey area and click on "add files" button (lower left side)

6. Browse for your file.
7. Click open.
8. To add another file choose "Add Files" button again to add another file to the list.
9. When you have all the files that you would like to add, click on the "Start Upload" button (lower left side). When upload had finished press "Continue."
10. Don't pay attention to the list of folder. Just stroll down to the bottom of the page and click on "Complete Upload" bar.
11. When you are done, please logout (upper right hand corner).

I will added faculty presentations to the box.net secured site as they become available for your review in order to eliminate any overlapping. The due date for your PowerPoint presentation and handouts is Monday, February 23, 2015.

Thank you.

Dear Sonja,

Thank you for your question regarding the Financial Management Performance Objectives. For the first objective the negative $3,487,651 represented in the Budgeted Operating Income Actual Results reflects the portion of the $6,453,714 deficit we have budgeted through November, 2014. By the end of May, this number will be the full $6,453,724. The information in the Actual Results represents how we are doing at a point in time. Since we have budgeted a deficit of $3,487,551 through November and have actual deficit results of $1,544,885, we are performing better than the budget. The deficit, through November is $1,942,765 smaller than the budget. If this continues at the end of the year instead of a $6,453,714 deficit, we would end the 2014-15 program year with a deficit of $4,510,958. This would result in a performance measure far exceeding expectations. Hopefully, the deficit will be even smaller.

The same applies to the second Financial Management Performance Objective. New revenue is still projected to come in the second half of the year. Even though we are ahead of our budget, it is still too early to determine if we will achieve the $1.18M in new revenue associated with this objective.

Please let me know if you have any additional questions.

Pat

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

b. Reviewing the Plan, could you clarify who at the Academy will be leading this charge – as Karen Lechowich was in this position prior to her retirement?

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

Diversity was identified at the Board retreat as a strategic priority and is listed as such on the Program of Work document. During the strategic management discussion on the webinar, I noted that our Strategic Measures will drive the agenda at the upcoming retreat; action plans addressing the metrics, including diversity and supply and demand, will be prepared by staff for Board review and feedback.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care

- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences

- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

The supply and demand infographic shows the impact of our efforts on experiential program placement. We continue to not meet demand even with preceptor growth, the moratorium on accreditation of didactic programs, and the launch of the new ISPPs. As mentioned during the call, this analytic is a good example showing the need for an action plan. At our Board retreat in July, we will look at this measure and an action plan to address it.

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire attending the Board of Human Sciences meeting in Washington, D.C. on March 4-6. The meeting focuses on Embracing Diversity in a Competitive Global Society and includes speakers on topics such as recruiting strategies to enhance diversity, intercultural training, faculty development, and quality and accountability. The Board on Human Sciences, Inc. is an association of administrators of higher education units (primarily at land grant universities) responsible for research/discovery, extension/outreach, and teaching/learning programs in the Human Sciences at universities across the country. The information gleaned will inform action plans.
- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.
- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.
- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.
- The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

3. Lastly, I wanted to encourage our BOD leaders to review the 1.13 for names to move forward for the many Honors and Awards for 2015!

Thank you for the reminder, Glenna! Please forward any names for consideration to Matthew Novotny, Manager of Membership, Honors and Recognition Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics at mnovotny@eatright.org.

Registered Dietitians in the News

Dear Readers:

Due to the burgeoning communication channels and immense success of RDNs in finding a presence in media outlets, the Academy will no longer be able to publish Registered Dietitians in the News. In the past, fewer members were active with the media; myriad members today are media-connected. So, we must ensure parity for all of our over 75,000 members and the available space simply does not permit us to do so.

If possible, we are requesting that you send one PowerPoint for the participants to print and one to show on screen. The PowerPoint to print should only include text and not any unnecessary animations /graphics. We have received complaints regarding the fact that the animations/graphics often time cover up text. Here are the instructions to upload your files. However, if the file is not too large, you can email it to me. I will acknowledge receipt of the e-mail.

1. Go to www.cdrnet.org
2. To login choose the "Login" option on the upper right-hand side of the page.
 1. Sign-in using your Academy/CDR username and password.
 2. On the purple banner, hover over the "Portal" option on the right-hand side and choose the "Library" option from the drop-down menu.
 3. Click on the "2015 Childhood Faculty PowerPoint Files and Handouts" link located to the left.
 4. Click on the "Upload Multiple Files" link located in the gray menu bar.
 5. Scroll down to the bottom of the grey area and click on "add files" button (lower left side)
 6. Browse for your file.
 7. Click open.
 8. To add another file choose "Add Files" button again to add another file to the list.
 9. When you have all the files that you would like to add, click on the "Start Upload" button (lower left side). When upload had finished press "Continue."
 10. Don't pay attention to the list of folder. Just stroll down to the bottom of the page and click on "Complete Upload" bar.
 11. When you are done, please logout (upper right hand corner).

I will added faculty presentations to the box.net secured site as they become available for your review in order to eliminate any overlapping. The due date for your PowerPoint presentation and handouts is Monday, February 23, 2015.

Thank you.

Below are statements from the president-elect candidates

Lucille Beseler, MS, RDN, LDN, CDE (FL)

My proven leadership philosophy has developed through 20 years of real-world experience. Experience has taught me that decisiveness and boldness tempered with thoughtfulness and inclusivity will allow us to capitalize on every opportunity to advance our profession.

My Leadership experience includes:

- Chair (8 years): Florida Dietetics and Nutrition Practice Council
- President: Florida Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics
- Chair: Academy's Political Action Committee
- Director at Large: Academy's Board of Directors

As a successful trailblazer in our profession, business experience is merely one of the strengths I bring to answer the Academy's call for leadership.

With my energy, vision and passion, I have the ability to motivate and prompt RDNs and NDTRs to become more engaged. I am always looking for new opportunities where I can help our profession showcase our knowledge, skills and talents. Join together with me as we show the world the difference we can make in peoples' lives.

Nancy Lewis, PhD, RDN, FADA, FAND (NC)

As a result of my years of experience in clinical and community nutrition and as an active leader in the Academy and in dietetics education and research, I believe we are positioned to expand our reach in several significant areas. One of these is public policy. As a past chair of the Nutrition Care Process and Terminology Committee, I was involved in the development of the process and terminology that now make it possible for us to collect outcomes data and show the impact of our interventions. As a member of the Board of Directors and the Research Council, my leadership experience makes me a strong candidate as we continue to take our message to Congress. My visits to a U.S. Senate office showed me that our legislators are receptive and respond positively when we share the data that indicate we can both improve health and reduce health-care costs.

Subject: Consent agenda items 1.12 and 1.15

Hello Sonja and Pat:

Just a couple of questions regarding the Consent Agenda Items (1.12 and 1.15) on today's BOD call:

1. 1.12 Diversity Strategic Plan:

a. P. 3 of the Plan under Objective 2; "Enhance Scope of current Diversity Leaders Program" the Outcome Measure states "Update program from a four person/two year program to a grassroots program focuses on multiple, local diversity liaisons at the affiliate level work on pipeline programs or other outreach."

QUESTION: Does this mean the Diversity Leadership Program where those who applied/selected and trained is being revised? Just wasn't sure what this meant and how it will impact overall diversity leadership development.

b. Reviewing the Plan, could you clarify who at the Academy will be leading this charge – as Karen Lechowich was in this position prior to her retirement?

In the spirit of continuous improvement, the current Diversity Leaders Program will not only be maintained but enhanced to now include the grassroots and pipeline initiatives the Diversity Committee feel will affect meaningful change as well as to provide measureable outcomes for the Academy. The current Diversity Leaders Program will continue to provide leadership and volunteer opportunities for those underrepresented in the profession and in the Academy's membership. However, moving forward, these Diversity Leaders will be selected from a pool of new grassroots leaders known as Diversity Liaisons. Designed to mimic the Academy's Student Liaison Program, Affiliates will be asked to add a Diversity Liaison position to their leadership structure, and those serving in the role will be charged with promoting the dietetics profession to diverse populations in their geographic area - for example, by presenting at college or high school career fairs. They will also be tasked with recruiting the students they encounter in their outreach efforts to become Academy Student members. The Diversity Liaisons will then apply to become Diversity Leaders, to be selected by the Diversity Committee based on the merit of their volunteer efforts in support of increasing the diversity of the profession and the Academy's membership. The process is morphing into an exciting outcomes-based program.

The Diversity Program for the last ten months overall now falls under the Academy's Membership Development Team. Lilliane Smothers, Sr. Manager of Membership and Diversity, who also manages the Academy's Student Program, serves as staff resource to the Diversity Committee and oversees the Diversity Program. She brings experience serving as a committee member on the American Society of Association Executives Forum's Diversity Committee from 2011-2013 and as chair of Forum's Diversity Committee Planning Subcommittee in 2012-13. Lilliane reports to Membership Director, Jim Weinland, under Vice President of the Member Services area, Barbara Visocan.

QUESTION: Sonja indicated this may be moved to a Strategic and Measurable Priority. My question relates to #1 above as we continue to be challenged by the diversity of our organization. Previous reports to the BOD have indicated that even when we promote diversity in our enrollment in the DPD programs, the internship placement and matching becomes the exit point for many diverse students (for many reasons). As we continue to address this motion, can we please include how our initiatives will also help us address the ongoing concern of diversity/placement/pass rates, etc.

Diversity was identified at the Board retreat as a strategic priority and is listed as such on the Program of Work document. During the strategic management discussion on the webinar, I noted that our Strategic Measures will drive the agenda at the upcoming retreat; action plans addressing the metrics, including diversity and supply and demand, will be prepared by staff for Board review and feedback.

The 2014-15 Board Program of Work includes priorities to:

- Implement strategies to increase the diversity of nutrition and dietetics providers so that they more closely resemble the communities they serve; provide all practitioners with vital tools to practice culturally proficient care

- Encourage members to become more involved in the preparation of the next generation of RDNs and DTRs by serving as preceptors or hosting organizations for supervised practice experiences

- Work collaboratively with ACEND, CDR, CFP and the NDEP to increase the availability of supervised practice experience sites; increase the numbers of RDNs willing to serve as preceptors

The supply and demand infographic shows the impact of our efforts on experiential program placement. We continue to not meet demand even with preceptor growth, the moratorium on accreditation of didactic programs, and the launch of the new ISPPs. As mentioned during the call, this analytic is a good example showing the need for an action plan. At our Board retreat in July, we will look at this measure and an action plan to address it.

Since 2011, many strategies have been undertaken and the just-approved Diversity Strategic Plan includes new strategies going forward. We benchmarked with other professions for the Diversity Backgrounder included in your meeting packet. Well-funded initiatives have been utilized by the dental, nursing and medical professions to varying degrees of success. What has been learned and will be utilized by the Academy on a go forward basis is that a combination of diversity grant applications, pipeline programs for incoming students and cultural competence training for existing practitioners is most successful. We need to avoid inferences regarding placement, drop-out rates, and exam pass rates since we have only anecdotal data and all of them are multifactorial.

What's not included in the diversity plan are tactics, such as:

- Mary Gregoire attending the Board of Human Sciences meeting in Washington, D.C. on March 4-6. The meeting focuses on Embracing Diversity in a Competitive Global Society and includes speakers on topics such as recruiting strategies to enhance diversity, intercultural training, faculty development, and quality and accountability. The Board on Human Sciences, Inc. is an association of administrators of higher education units (primarily at land grant universities) responsible for research/discovery, extension/outreach, and teaching/learning programs in the Human Sciences at universities across the country. The information gleaned will inform action plans.
- Mary Gregoire is also representing the Academy as a panelist at the Western Regional affiliate of the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions (NAAHP) meeting on April 24. We want Academy representation on the (NAAHP), including its advisory board, to create awareness with pre-health advisors in the US on the nutrition and dietetics profession to educate them on the mission of the Academy and the knowledge and skills needed to become an RDN.
- NOBIDAN is joining with other MIGs to develop a survey looking at the challenges and opportunities related to diversity in the profession. Evelyn Crayton has lent support to the effort on behalf of the Board, and we look forward to seeing the results which will also inform the action plan.
- NDEP is developing its strategic plan, which will also include diversity-growing tactics.
- There is data suggesting that diversity increases in health profession that have raised their educational requirements to the graduate level. This information bodes well with CDR's new degree requirements.
- The moratorium on accrediting new Didactic Programs in Dietetics includes an exception: a program will be accredited if it is a Coordinated Program or a didactic program which offers supervised practice.

· The Academy has lent support to land grant and historically black colleges and universities with nutrition and dietetics programs. An example is our efforts to save Howard University's Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Howard University is the only combined undergraduate nutrition program at a historically black college or university. "The Academy went beyond and over the call of duty to save the nutrition program at Howard," said Allan A. Johnson, PhD, MNS, associate dean of the division of allied health sciences at Howard.

As staff begins to develop action plans, please feel free to share any ideas you'd like to see incorporated.

3. Lastly, I wanted to encourage our BOD leaders to review the 1.13 for names to move forward for the many Honors and Awards for 2015!

Thank you for the reminder, Glenna! Please forward any names for consideration to Matthew Novotny, Manager of Membership, Honors and Recognition Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics at mnovotny@eatright.org.

Registered Dietitians in the News

Dear Readers:

Due to the burgeoning communication channels and immense success of RDNs in finding a presence in media outlets, the Academy will no longer be able to publish Registered Dietitians in the News. In the past, fewer members were active with the media; myriad members today are media-connected. So, we must ensure parity for all of our over 75,000 members and the available space simply does not permit us to do so.

After a 3 yr battle and no other options, she is the 4th person in the trial. She received the T Cells yesterday and has not had any negative reaction - other than weight loss and GI issues from the strong chemo that initial used upon admission - she had to also have an auto stem cell transplant during this time. The good news is - her blood counts appear to already be improving and it will really be a miracle - a new lease on life. She will be discharged tomorrow and stay w me for a month to be closer to Univ of Penn... and I will be her personal chef to put some weight back on her.

Regarding the call, I was able to review all the board materials and appreciated everyone asking questions - and receiving answers - in advance of the call.

The sound quality of the call - I was using my office phone line - sometimes made it hard to hear. I felt the conf call was very productive and I look forward to being able to have more input now, as well as seeing everyone in March.

Thanks to all of those who were aware of my situation - your thoughts, prayers and support - are greatly appreciated!

Hello Everyone,

I just wanted you to know that I joined the call today about 15 minutes late and was able to stay on - it was a great call.

Since Dec 31, my sister has been hospitalized at Univ of Penn for a unique clinical trial involving using genetically altered T cells to fight advanced multiple myeloma, a rare cancer that is like having multiple leukemia. After a 3 yr battle and no other options, she is the 4th person in the trial. She received the T Cells yesterday and has not had any negative reaction - other than weight loss and GI issues from the strong chemo that initial used upon admission - she had to also have an auto stem cell transplant during this time. The good news is - her blood counts appear to already be improving and it will really be a miracle - a new lease on life. She will be discharged tomorrow and stay w me for a month to be closer to Univ of Penn... and I will be her personal chef to put some weight back on her.

Regarding the call, I was able to review all the board materials and appreciated everyone asking questions - and receiving answers - in advance of the call.

I don't blame you. It gets hidden in the attached agenda item (page 4). For the subsequent meetings I will rename the agenda item to Criteria for Effective Meetings – Meeting Evaluation-COI.

wow, this is truly a global achievement! Please encourage Sue and anyone else to nurture this relationship-- IMHO the UN Development Program has the best "handbook" on sustainable development capacity building I have found ,,captures their lessons learned , from the failures of sending money and experts to their very successful indigenous community development model in use today.....clear, candid, illustrative cases stories and profoundly wise....I also suggest the UNDP and Sustainability programmes become key partners in the new 21st century Foundation Blue Ribbon initiative...of course, you are there already

We are extremely honored and excited to have received an invitation to present at the World Women's Health and Development Forum sponsored by the Royal Academy of Science International Trust and the United Nations. We have been asked to be the plenary speaker for a two-hour presentation on "Lifestyle, Media and Women's Health." Sonja has a previous commitment to present at the Nutritionist-Dietitians' Association of the Philippines Diamond Conference, therefore we have extended the invitation to Susan Finn, PhD, RD, LD, FADA, to speak on our behalf. Susan is a past president of the Academy and past Chair of the Academy

Foundation. She is a highly regarded speaker in the area of women's health issues and nutrition and has presented on the topic globally. She is a former Nutrition Advisor to the Office of Women's Health, US Public Health Service and a President Bush appointee to the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. She currently serves at the request of House Speaker John Boehner on the National Commission on Hunger and is chair of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Second Century visioning committee. She will be an excellent representative of our organization and the 93,000 Registered Dietitians Nutritionists that we serve nationally.

How exciting to receive an invitation from a Princess who is a BSc, MSc, MD, PhD, and the Executive Director of the International Trust, and from of the U.N.'s Director for Sustainable Development!

Hello Everyone,

I just wanted you to know that I joined the call today about 15 minutes late and was able to stay on - it was a great call.

Since Dec 31, my sister has been hospitalized at Univ of Penn for a unique clinical trial involving using genetically altered T cells to fight advanced multiple myeloma, a rare cancer that is like having multiple leukemia. After a 3 yr battle and no other options, she is the 4th person in the trial. She received the T Cells yesterday and has not had any negative reaction - other than weight loss and GI issues from the strong chemo that initial used upon admission - she had to also have an auto stem cell transplant during this time. The good news is - her blood counts appear to already be improving and it will really be a miracle - a new lease on life. She will be discharged tomorrow and stay w me for a month to be closer to Univ of Penn... and I will be her personal chef to put some weight back on her.

Regarding the call, I was able to review all the board materials and appreciated everyone asking questions - and receiving answers - in advance of the call.

The sound quality of the call - I was using my office phone line - sometimes made it hard to hear. I felt the conf call was very productive and I look forward to being able to have more input now, as well as seeing everyone in March.

Thanks to all of those who were aware of my situation - your thoughts, prayers and support - are greatly appreciated!

Paul and Christian, Happy New Year to you both! I enjoyed two weeks off and am just getting back into the swing of things. I am glad to see that Paul is taking some much deserved time off. I have just had time to go through the slides and a have a few questions that Christian can probably answer for me. Overall, it looks good, but below are my questions.

1. We say on Slide 2 that we have 75.4% in reserves, but then we state on Slide 16 that we have 76.6% in reserves. Which one is correct? Page 16 is wrong. It should be 75.4%. we missed this one. It will be changed
2. We state that we have an operating deficit of $718K which is $378K better than budget in the opening statement and in the conclusion statement, but I do not see a summary slide that shows that graphically. Am I missing something? I did not put a slide in for the operating deficit. You would have to do the math. I don't think I could add one at this point.
3. This is just for my information as part of my presentation, but how many times have we taken a $500,000 cash draw this year? Is it three times? 6 to date.
4. How many open positions do we have? The BOD will want to know this, so I thought I would mention this in my explanation. We will have to find this one for you. Christian can you contact HR
5. On slide 12 we state that Postage and Mailing is under budget due to lower memberships costs, but I would think if membership numbers were up, that this would be on target or up. Any help with more information for me here would be nice in case someone asks about this. It could be a few things; timing of membership retention and marketing efforts and spending less due to members renewing electronically.
6. On page 15 please change wording on explanation to include the word "to" after continue.
done
7. I think the statement in the box on slide 2 needs to be moved to the conclusion page. It is a nice statement to conclude with. Moved it to the final page.

This is all I have for now. Hope I was clear on questions.

Donna,

I put together a high level summary for the Board meeting in January. I don't think we will have time to go through it since you have 30 minutes and a lot on the docket. I am off for the next week , but, will be monitoring things. Let me know if you have any concerns. I am "ccing" Christian to make it easier to adjust if necessary.

Paul, Thanks for making the changes and answering my questions. Sorry to bother you on your vacation! I think we are good to go if Christian can let me know about the number of open positions.

Paul and Christian, Happy New Year to you both! I enjoyed two weeks off and am just getting back into the swing of things. I am glad to see that Paul is taking some much deserved time off. I have just had time to go through the slides and have a few questions that Christian can probably answer for me. Overall, it looks good, but below are my questions.

1. We say on Slide 2 that we have 75.4% in reserves, but then we state on Slide 16 that we have 76.6% in reserves. Which one is correct? Page 16 is wrong. It should be 75.4%. we missed this one. It will be changed

2. We state that we have an operating deficit of $718K which is $378K better than budget in the opening statement and in the conclusion statement, but I do not see a summary slide that shows that graphically. Am I missing something? I did not put a slide in for the operating deficit. You would have to do the math. I don't think I could add one at this point.

3. This is just for my information as part of my presentation, but how many times have we taken a $500,000 cash draw this year? Is it three times? 6 to date.

4. How many open positions do we have? The BOD will want to know this, so I thought I would mention this in my explanation. We will have to find this one for you. Christian can you contact HR

5. On slide 12 we state that Postage and Mailing is under budget due to lower memberships costs, but I would think if membership numbers were up, that this would be on target or up. Any help with more information for me here would be nice in case someone asks about this. It could be a few things; timing of membership retention and marketing efforts and spending less due to members renewing electronically.

6. On page 15 please change wording on explanation to include the word "to" after continue.
done

7. I think the statement in the box on slide 2 needs to be moved to the conclusion page. It is a nice statement to conclude with. Moved it to the final page.

This is all I have for now. Hope I was clear on questions.

Donna,

I put together a high level summary for the Board meeting in January. I don't think we will have time to go through it since you have 30 minutes and a lot on the docket. I am off for the next week , but, will be monitoring things. Let me know if you have any concerns. I am "ccing" Christian to make it easier to adjust if necessary.

We are extremely honored and excited to have received an invitation to present at the World Women's Health and Development Forum sponsored by the Royal Academy of Science International Trust and the United Nations. We have been asked to be the plenary speaker for a two-hour presentation on "Lifestyle, Media and Women's Health." Sonja has a previous commitment to present at the Nutritionist-Dietitians' Association of the Philippines Diamond Conference, therefore we have extended the invitation to Susan Finn, PhD, RD, LD, FADA, to speak on our behalf. Susan is a past president of the Academy and past Chair of the Academy Foundation. She is a highly regarded speaker in the area of women's health issues and nutrition and has presented on the topic globally. She is a former Nutrition Advisor to the Office of Women's Health, US Public Health Service and a President Bush appointee to the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. She currently serves at the request of House Speaker John Boehner on the National Commission on Hunger and is chair of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Second Century visioning committee. She will be an excellent representative of our organization and the 93,000 Registered Dietitians Nutritionists that we serve nationally.

How exciting to receive an invitation from a Princess who is a BSc, MSc, MD, PhD, and the Executive Director of the International Trust, and from of the U.N.'s Director for Sustainable Development!
