Mary Beth, Let me first say that you have put together a very impressive case for us to be able to approve this request. It is so thorough, and I especially like the examples of past on pack food items the Academy has been involved in. I am very in favor of the program and will be happy to help get it through the board if it makes it through the Foundation approval.

I would like you to make one change to the KER document though. When you are talking about snacks and a la carte items (see wording below), we need to change the part that says that the Kraft reduced fat singles would not meet snack and a la carte guidelines. Kraft singles would not meet guidelines, but the reduced fat Singles would meet guidelines. I have attached the Smart Snack Calculator approval sheet that states they meet guidelines.

Snacks and items sold as a la carte line, must meet similar macro and micro nutrient profile as the meals, but are examined on a per food basis rather than averaged over a week's time. The reduced fat, and original Kraft single would not meet the guidelines for saturated fat as a single item, and are at the upper end of the sodium restriction (230mg/snack; 480mg/ a la carte entrée item).

You could just change it to say:

The original Kraft single would not meet the guidelines for saturated fat as a single item, and are at the upper end of the sodium restriction (230mg/snack; 480mg/ a la carte entrée item), but the reduced fat Kraft Single would meet the Smart Snack Guidelines as a snack or entree.

Thanks for letting me be a part of this exciting opportunity. I am 100% in favor, and would love to see you think about putting something on the label that says it meets the Smart Snack Guidelines. I do not know if we would have to talk to USDA about doing that, but my initial thought would be that they would be thrilled. I have plenty of contacts at USDA if we decide to pursue that angle.

Looking forward to the discussions!

Hello Donna. Hope your school year is off to a great start. I know your kids are eating right! We are trying to close the loop with Kraft after what I think was a very successful visit earlier this month for Kathy and Sonja. I have put together a report that I hope captures all of our conversations and the steps we have taken to get us to the point where the Foundation board can either accept or walk away from this opportunity. Please take a look at this attached summary (KER 8-25-14) that I will send out next week. Your welcome to review the other documents as well but it is the KER pdf that I need your input on. I make reference to our earlier conversations regarding school lunch and I want to make certain that I did not misrepresent anything that you communicated to me. Let me know what you think and if I need to revise I'm happy to oblige. Terry Raymond reviewed it already and gave it the thumbs up. If this gets the nod from the Foundation board then it will go to the Academy for final consideration.

You too! I did have one other question about something in the Kraft materials. Do you know what meets the CFBAI nutrition criteria means? It was on one of Kraft's charts (Page 7). It had a green check that something met the criteria, but I did not see an item with a green check. I know that is a petty detail, but I thought I would ask it before someone else asked and we could not answer.

Pat,

Donna,

I do receive the bills and communicate with Paula regularly. I have verified with Paula that Pat did not talk to her about the contract. She concurred that it would be a conflict of Interest. To be honest, I think I insulted her with the question. None-the-less, she understands and wanted me to convey that "she did not and would not talk to Pat about her contract because her (Paula) client is the Academy and not Pat Babjak". Given my experience with Paula, I believe this case is closed. If you need anything else, please let me know.

Donna,

I used an external legal counsel not affiliated with the Academy to review the contract. I fully recognize that it would be a conflict of interest and unethical of me to use Barnes and Thornburg, which represents the Academy and its Board of Directors. I am sure Paula Goedert and others at Barnes and Thornburg would also recognize this conflict and never agree to represent both parties. Paul Mifsud can verify that no charges were incurred for legal services on my behalf. Thank you for your continued best wishes and prayers for our family!

Best regards,

Pat

Pat, The compensation committee is finally concluding their business for the 2013-2014 year and there was one final issue that we needed to clear up. Since Sonja has been super busy, I decided to see if I could get the answer to the final piece of the puzzle for our records. What is the name of the law firm that you used to help you with reviewing your contract? Did you use Barnes and Thornberg or another law firm? Thanks for your assistance in this matter.

We are all continuing to keep Lou and your entire family in our thoughts and prayers. Know that you have the total support of the Board to do what you need to do to ensure you have no regrets when it comes to taking care of him.

Hello Donna. Hope your school year is off to a great start. I know your kids are eating right! We are trying to close the loop with Kraft after what I think was a very successful visit earlier this month for Kathy and Sonja. I have put together a report that I hope captures all of our conversations and the steps we have taken to get us to the point where the Foundation board can either accept or walk away from this opportunity. Please take a look at this attached summary (KER 8-25-14) that I will send out next week. Your welcome to review the other documents as well but it is the KER pdf that I need your input on. I make reference to our earlier conversations regarding school lunch and I want to make certain that I did not misrepresent anything that you communicated to me. Let me know what you think and if I need to revise I'm happy to oblige. Terry Raymond reviewed it already and gave it the thumbs up. If this gets the nod from the Foundation board then it will go to the Academy for final consideration.

To be honest, I think I insulted her with the question. None-the-less, she understands and wanted me to convey that "she did not and would not talk to Pat about her contract because her (Paula) client is the Academy and not Pat Babjak". Given my experience with Paula, I believe this case is closed. If you need anything else, please let me know.

Pat, The compensation committee is finally concluding their business for the 2013-2014 year and there was one final issue that we needed to clear up. Since Sonja has been super busy, I decided to see if I could get the answer to the final piece of the puzzle for our records. What is the name of the law firm that you used to help you with reviewing your contract? Did you use Barnes and Thornberg or another law firm? Thanks for your assistance in this matter.

We are all continuing to keep Lou and your entire family in our thoughts and prayers. Know that you have the total support of the Board to do what you need to do to ensure you have no regrets when it comes to taking care of him.

All,

Sorry for not responding sooner. I had connection problems. I did try to be subtle so I am glad it resonated. I think I will be rising to the top of Glenna's list :-)

I used an external legal counsel not affiliated with the Academy to review the contract. I fully recognize that it would be a conflict of interest and unethical of me to use Barnes and Thornburg, which represents the Academy and its Board of Directors. I am sure Paula Goedert and others at Barnes and Thornburg would also recognize this conflict and never agree to represent both parties. I noticed Evelyn was omitted and actually thought of not adding her since it gave Glenna a chance to say the same happened to her in omitting you. On the other hand, I figured if Glenna noticed, she would call you out on it. Either way, a no win, and now Evelyn at least knows the truth re use of B&T.

On another note, Mary Beth gave a historical overview (all of three years) at the Catawba meeting (Sue Finn's summer home) with Terri and Sonja in attendance, reviewing all the deliberations and updates involving the Board and Glenna especially, related to the 100th Anniversary. Last year's Board retreat discussion led by GMMB principal David Mitchell and Sue Finn about the vision is a prime example. Sonja's response was , "this is certainly very interesting!" The same overview will be provided to the full Board to put the non-involvement "issue" to rest and to obtain Board feedback/ input on the vision concept papers developed by GMMB and the steering committee (formerly named Blue Ribbon Panel- sounded like something at the Il State Fair).

Pat,

Donna,

I do receive the bills and communicate with Paula regularly. I have verified with Paula that Pat did not talk to her about the contract. She concurred that it would be a conflict of Interest. To be honest, I think I insulted her with the question. None-the-less, she understands and wanted me to convey that "she did not and would not talk to Pat about her contract because her (Paula) client is the Academy and not Pat Babjak". Donna,

I used an external legal counsel not affiliated with the Academy to review the contract. I fully recognize that it would be a conflict of interest and unethical of me to use Barnes and Thornburg, which represents the Academy and its Board of Directors. I am sure Paula Goedert and others at Barnes and Thornburg would also recognize this conflict and never agree to represent both parties. Paul Mifsud can verify that no charges were incurred for legal services on my behalf. Thank you for your continued best wishes and prayers for our family!

Pat, The compensation committee is finally concluding their business for the 2013-2014 year and there was one final issue that we needed to clear up. Since Sonja has been super busy, I decided to see if I could get the answer to the final piece of the puzzle for our records. What is the name of the law firm that you used to help you with reviewing your contract? Did you use Barnes and Thornberg or another law firm? Thanks for your assistance in this matter.

We are all continuing to keep Lou and your entire family in our thoughts and prayers. Know that you have the total support of the Board to do what you need to do to ensure you have no regrets when it comes to taking care of him.

Paul, Would you please send out the link to the FAC meeting again. Evelyn has contacted me and needs it, and when I went looking back through my emails I cannot find my link either. There is a chance that Evelyn cannot make the call which might make it impossible to vote on anything. She has to take her husband to the doctor. Thanks, talk to you this afternoon.

Re: Update on Standards Development and Release of the Background Report

We are excited to share an update on our work to create new degree-based education standards and competencies for nutrition and dietetic practitioners that will reflect future practice needs. The recently released Background Report (attached) provides a summary of currently existing information, the gaps in the information, and an overview of the groups and information that need to be included in our future work in this process. A webinar, available at <https://eatright.webex.com/eatright/ldr.php?RCID=c862cbbcf1ceb1938125f33caf04f906>, provides further explanation of the development of the Background Report and the upcoming work of the committee. Our committee continues to guide an ongoing effort to compile a Rationale Document that will serve as the foundation for the standards development process and to assist with decisions that will be made related to the education structure, accreditation standards, and education competencies.

Please contact us at ACEND@eatright.org, if you have any questions about our work.

Yes, Let's just drop this business of having anymore conference calls about what happened at the retreat. The BOD made what we all think was an excellent decision, and I do not want to listen to Glenna try and complain about it. We all know how she feels, but most of us do not want to hear from her about it anymore. She is not the president anymore and she should not be trying to tell you what to do. We do not need to waste anymore of your very valuable time dealing with more conference calls that will not change what happened. I would do it all over again if I had the opportunity, because this is what the majority of the board wanted, and also what Pat wanted. Everyone is extremely happy to have Pat for 4 more years. Let's move forward and not deal with water under the bridge. I have had a 30 minute phone conversation with her about this, and I told her we were just going to have to agree to disagree. I do not appreciate her continuing to drag my name through the mud by calling me out that we do not agree and that she wants to discuss this more. There is absolutely nothing to discuss. She did not get her way and I am sorry, but the will of the BOD was what mattered most. I will not speak for others about this, but all I can tell you is that I am not the only one who feels this way!!!

We may have set a record for the length of time it took to perform an employment review, but I realize we were creating a new, hopefully more integrated process for future BOD's. While I have already voted my approval, I must add that sometimes time gives one an interesting perspective..I doubt that we could ever find a better CEO for us than Pat. Note that I did not say "a more perfect CEO" because by the very nature of the job, that would be impossible. But a better fit for us, now, at this point in time..no. Having said this, I think it is also a great example of why we are such a great "member driven team"...we can dive deeply into various opinions, and still make the right decisions. Best wishes to all of you for a great year ahead.

All,

Thank you for waiting while I attempt to understand the formulas and paperwork involved re: the CEO compensation package. And publicly I would like to thank Sonja for answering a never ending stream of questions re: the contract. If I missed a meeting, that might explain part of my lack of understanding and perhaps "rusty" math skills re: the formulas.

At this time I feel it best, if allowed, to abstain from voting.

Thank you,

Terri Raymond

Hello All:

Thank you Ethan for your comments and coming from a committee, I was also surprised at the outcome and response to the 2 year contract. With regards to the suggested changes to the contract (at this late date) I think we need to have our legal firm review the suggested edits since they previously reviewed the contract as part of our standard protocol. I need till next week to review the measurable goals and objectives, as I am on vacation with my husband till Sunday night.

Lastly, I suggest we have a CEO Compensation Committee conference call to discuss changes (which includes the members from 2013-2014 since we are still completing our work) - and I would like us to have a full discussion about what happened abruptly during the BOD Executive Session (and immediately before).

Hello All:

Just returning from a much deserved vacation with my husband (after a very busy year of travel) and reviewing the documents sent by Sonja. I have 3 comments to be considered:

1. With regards to the contract, I ask that Sonja set up a conference call with the CEO Compensation Committee PRIOR to signing the contract with our CEO, Pat. The discussion during the Executive Session has been very troubling to me and until we talk about this as a Committee - to reflect, honestly discuss, and learn from this process, I agree with Evelyn that we need to Pause.
2. With regards to the requested additions/edits to the contract per Pat's request, I appreciate that our legal team has reviewed the document. There are two things for us to consider - 1) I suggest that 14b be changed to 14b and a new 14c (including Pat's suggestions), for clarity. Also, one question we've never discussed on the CEO Compensation Committee, is the legal team: If the Academy and Pat are using the same legal firm for advice on the contract, this is a definite Conflict of Interest. Just a question we need to discuss and make sure Pat has her own attorney and/or legal firm.
3. With regards to the Evaluation, I will review tomorrow once I return home. In addition, I would like Sandra Gill to review the new Evaluation (with measurable goals and objectives) as she has been very helpful with the revised job description and providing an "external eye" for this process.

Additionally, I would appreciate it if one of the CEO Compensation Committee members would let me know what email I left Donna off of. Though we do not always agree (which is a very healthy thing!), I would not intentionally leave anyone out of the communication cycle. Please advise as to which email it was and I will be glad to correct itJ

HI Compensation Committee,

I have attached the revised Compensation Committee Charter that now includes the philosophy as suggested by Mary and Glenna. Let me know if you approve or have edits.

I have attached the Annual Incentive Plan for CEO that pertains to the contract and the CEO Performance Objectives for 2014-15.

I have attached the CEO contract with three changes suggested by Pat. We made one revision to the first suggested change during our 4 Ps call today. This was because it stated, if we were to not renew her contract, we would pay her 50% of the previous year's bonus, which could range from 0% to 20% of the base salary. We changed it to read 50% of the targeted bonus for the previous year, which would be 15% of the base salary. Please review the suggested changes and let me know if you approve, have questions or suggestions for revisions.

I have attached Pat's suggestions for Performance Objectives for 2014-15. Please review and let me know if you have questions or suggestions. It is important that we have clearly defined measures for each objective. We may need to have a call after each of you responds.

Thanks so much for attending to these important documents.

Pat, For now you worry about your husband and we will all pray for that miracle. You of all people deserve one! I will keep you informed as things progress with the CEO compensation committee. I love that she is trying to say she did not leave me off i (

Everything else is fine and like I have said, we all got what we wanted and we are all glad she did not get what she wanted, for once. Take care of yourself and your husband. You have a team of people who want to help out, so let them. It is good leadership training and succession planning, one of Glenna's favorite topics!

Hi Donna,

So sorry I had to get off the phone so fast. My husband finally came home today. Thank heavens for my pharmacist daughter who knows how to maneuver the system. He looks incredibly skinny (was slim to begin with) and has aged beyond recognition. A couple neighbors stopped to say hello and they can't hold back the tears. We just got done hooking him up for tube feeding. Now we wait for him to regain some strength so he can begin chemo and radiation. He's stage 4 esophageal cancer and it has spread to the bone, liver and lungs. We need a miracle.

Regarding the other issue, I will also forewarn Mary Beth re the 100th anniversary. I will make sure we place it on the October Board meeting agenda so the rest of the committee know all that we are doing and "the issues " get dispelled. I know why she feels she's not used but there's a reason and I'll tell you that when we continue our discussion. I owe you so much, Donna, for I which am eternally grateful!!!

Fondly,
Pat

Pat, What you are doing in terms of meeting with the doctor is your number one job. Call me tomorrow at work between 8-4:30. I wanted to call her out, but wanted some guidance from you in terms of should we just let it drop or continue to stir things up. We got what we wanted, and that was you for at least 4 more years as our CEO. She and I have already had a 30 minute conversation, where I told her that what she wrote in that email about me was totally out of line and not necessary. We can talk about the issues, but we do not need to throw stones at people publicly. I think Mary and I are on the same page and we may just call for a vote, because this whole process has taken way too much time. I think she just wants to hold onto anything she can be in charge of. Mary, Kay and I have real jobs and all this nonsense she tries to keep going is getting very old. We have a lot more Important things to focus on than her need for power. She is a sore loser! Call me tomorrow please.

Can I call you later this evening as I'm going to meet with the Dr now.

I am shocked about leaving you out!! Glenna was incensed when that happened to a member on ACEND last year, but decided it must be a good tactic. I am really shaken by the fact she purported that I wanted the two years. Ethan "has her back " as we all know too well, and don't think for a minute she didn't tell him what to say. Last year in May when meeting with you, Mary, Ethan, Sonja, Kathy and Glenna at HQ after the Board meeting, Ethan asked what contract length I wanted --I originally said another five years but then said my hope is to stay for the 100th anniversary. Ethan said that sounded good and that the contract can be renewed based thereafter based on circumstances. I also said that if they don't like my performance , the Board has 90 or 60 days (can't remember) to dismiss me regardless of a contract.

That's what makes the two years disingenuous. I even told the eteam that I asked to stay through 2017. The only conversation I had with Sonja re the contract was the result of Paul telling her that he would not work as I was without contract for two months, so Sonja called and asked if I was ok with waiting for the discussion after the retreat. That being the case, I am feeling resentful that Glenna intimates that I took too long to make my changes- I only received it at the meeting with Sonja, Glenna, Kay and I think Evelyn. If I hadn't received a very generous bonus and a great review, I could better understand the term length.

I made modifications to the contract I ordinarily wouldn't to protect myself since my trust in fairness and honesty is no longer the same. The sentence about going to the Board for approval of references I may give after leaving is it customary currently as an employee and would be very difficult to police once I leave.

You could always say no conference is needed, just you vote yes or no. You really need to call her out on omitting you as treasurer and member of the committee. By the way, Nancy F A asked Joan for the contract so Joan referred the request to Carolyn . Carolyn asked Glenna, who said not to share it. Interesting.

She even has Ethan chiming in on how he thought it was going to be 2 years and how shocked he was. She thinks she is being so sly by leaving me off the email and probably no one even noticed it.

Keeping you and your husband in my thoughts and prayers. I know your situation puts life into perspective and I just wish Glenna could have a wake up call so she could put all this in perspective. We did exactly what the board wanted and she needs to get over it!!!!

Hello All:

Thank you Ethan for your comments and coming from a committee, I was also surprised at the outcome and response to the 2 year contract. With regards to the suggested changes to the contract (at this late date) I think we need to have our legal firm review the suggested edits since they previously reviewed the contract as part of our standard protocol. I need till next week to review the measurable goals and objectives, as I am on vacation with my husband till Sunday night.

Lastly, I suggest we have a CEO Compensation Committee conference call to discuss changes (which includes the members from 2013-2014 since we are still completing our work) - and I would like us to have a full discussion about what happened abruptly during the BOD Executive Session (and immediately before).

Hi all,

I am ok with these even though the compensation committee agreed to a 2 year contract in our discussions leading up to the retreat in July 2014. I understand some changes happened at the Retreat that I was not involved in. My understanding was that we would go with a 2 year contract with the possibility of an extension of one or more years if both the CEO and the Compensation Committee agreed. The 4 year contract will probably have the same end result. I must admit that I was a bit surprised when I saw that there was a flat 4 year contract after we had all agreed to a 2 year contract in our discussions and with Pat's input and agreement according to Sonja's discussions with her.

Regardless, thanks for all of your work on this.

Take care,

HI Compensation Committee,

I have attached the revised Compensation Committee Charter that now includes the philosophy as suggested by Mary and Glenna. Let me know if you approve or have edits.

I have attached the Annual Incentive Plan for CEO that pertains to the contract and the CEO Performance Objectives for 2014-15.

I have attached the CEO contract with three changes suggested by Pat. We made one revision to the first suggested change during our 4 Ps call today. This was because it stated, if we were to not renew her contract, we would pay her 50% of the previous year's bonus, which could range from 0% to 20% of the base salary. We changed it to read 50% of the targeted bonus for the previous year, which would be 15% of the base salary. Please review the suggested changes and let me know if you approve, have questions or suggestions for revisions.

I have attached Pat's suggestions for Performance Objectives for 2014-15. Please review and let me know if you have questions or suggestions. It is important that we have clearly defined measures for each objective. We may need to have a call after each of you responds.

Thanks so much for attending to these important documents.

CEO Compensation Committee, I approve the contract.

On another note, evidently, I have not been being included on all the emails that have been being sent to the rest of the committee. Some of the members of the CEO Compensation committee have noticed that Glenna sent out an email to everyone, but left me off. As the Academy Treasurer I should be included on all emails being sent to the committee. Thanks to several of the committee members for noticing that and forwarding me the email. I would like to think that as elected officials we would include everyone in all email correspondence that pertains to any committee we serve on.

Thanks Sonja for getting this important business done. I know you have other things you would like to move on to!

Any help with this member? I cannot find her listed in DMIS. I looked up her name and her number but you can see below where she called and verified her membership.

She last received an eblast from me when I sent an eblast to non-renewed members on August 4th. So, she must have joined since then but I don't understand why she's not showing up in DMIS??

I appreciate it!

Sorry about that, J'Amy!

I just checked another database and I see your name is under Nicholson-Peterson, that is why I didn't originally see you.

I added you to our system on the 4th of August before I sent out an eblast. The title of that eblast was "Calling All SNS DPG Members!" and it is showing that you received that e-mail and opened it.

But I did send out another eblast entitled "Summer Newsletter" on August 7th and it does not show that you received that one, which is odd. I will add you to my forward list and will forward you all of the e-mails just in case your address is bouncing the e-mails from SNS DPG. Let me know if you receive the forwarded eblasts, one will be going out later today!

As far as e-mailing copies of the Newsletters, we post them on the website. We usually send out an eblast letting you know they have been posted so you can go check. The Summer Newsletter was just posted a week and a half ago. It is posted under "Recent News" or you can always go to the Newsletter Archives section, which is under News & Events, and see all of the old Newsletters there. You have to login to view all of the Newsletters since it is a privilege for SNS members only.

So, hopefully now you will be receiving all SNS DPG communications and know where the newsletters are posted! Please let me know if you have any more questions and if you have trouble logging in or getting to anything on the website.

Thanks so much,

Britt

Hi Donna,

So sorry I had to get off the phone so fast. My husband finally came home today. Thank heavens for my pharmacist daughter who knows how to maneuver the system. He looks incredibly skinny (was slim to begin with) and has aged beyond recognition. A couple neighbors stopped to say hello and they can't hold back the tears. We just got done hooking him up for tube feeding. Now we wait for him to regain some strength so he can begin chemo and radiation. He's stage 4 esophageal cancer and it has spread to the bone, liver and lungs. We need a miracle.

Regarding the other issue, I will also forewarn Mary Beth re the 100th anniversary. I will make sure we place it on the October Board meeting agenda so the rest of the committee know all that we are doing and "the issues " get dispelled. I know why she feels she's not used but there's a reason and I'll tell you that when we continue our discussion. I owe you so much, Donna, for I which am eternally grateful!!!

Fondly,

Pat

Pat, What you are doing in terms of meeting with the doctor is your number one job. Call me tomorrow at work between 8-4:30. I wanted to call her out, but wanted some guidance from you in terms of should we just let it drop or continue to stir things up. We got what we wanted, and that was you for at least 4 more years as our CEO. She and I have already had a 30 minute conversation, where I told her that what she wrote in that email about me was totally out of line and not necessary. We can talk about the issues, but we do not need to throw stones at people publicly. I think Mary and I are on the same page and we may just call for a vote, because this whole process has taken way too much time. I think she just wants to hold onto anything she can be in charge of. Mary, Kay and I have real jobs and all this nonsense she tries to keep going is getting very old. We have a lot more Important things to focus on than her need for power. She is a sore loser! Call me tomorrow please.

Can I call you later this evening as I'm going to meet with the Dr now.

I am shocked about leaving you out!! Glenna was incensed when that happened to a member on ACEND last year, but decided it must be a good tactic. I am really shaken by the fact she purported that I wanted the two years. Ethan "has her back " as we all know too well, and don't think for a minute she didn't tell him what to say. Last year in May when meeting with you, Mary, Ethan, Sonja, Kathy and Glenna at HQ after the Board meeting, Ethan asked what contract length I wanted --I originally said another five years but then said my hope is to stay for the 100th anniversary. Ethan said that sounded good and that the contract can be renewed based thereafter based on circumstances. I also said that if they don't like my performance , the Board has 90 or 60 days (can't remember) to dismiss me regardless of a contract.

That's what makes the two years disingenuous. I even told the eteam that I asked to stay through 2017. The only conversation I had with Sonja re the contract was the result of Paul telling her that he would not work as I was without contract for two months, so Sonja called and asked if I was ok with waiting for the discussion after the retreat. That being the case, I am feeling resentful that Glenna intimates that I took too long to make my changes- I only received it at the meeting with Sonja, Glenna, Kay and I think Evelyn. If I hadn't received a very generous bonus and a great review, I could better understand the term length.

I made modifications to the contract I ordinarily wouldn't to protect myself since my trust in fairness and honesty is no longer the same. The sentence about going to the Board for approval of references I may give after leaving is it customary currently as an employee and would be very difficult to police once I leave.

You could always say no conference is needed, just you vote yes or no. You really need to call her out on omitting you as treasurer and member of the committee. By the way, Nancy F A asked Joan for the contract so Joan referred the request to Carrolyn . Carrolyn asked Glenna, who said not to share it. Interesting.

She even has Ethan chiming in on how he thought it was going to be 2 years and how shocked he was. She thinks she is being so sly by leaving me off the email and probably no one even noticed it.

Keeping you and your husband in my thoughts and prayers. I know your situation puts life into perspective and I just wish Glenna could have a wake up call so she could put all this in perspective. We did exactly what the board wanted and she needs to get over it!!!!!!

Hello All:

Thank you Ethan for your comments...and coming from a committee, I was also surprised at the outcome and response to the 2 year contract. With regards to the suggested changes to the contract (at this late date) I think we need to have our legal firm review the suggested edits since they previously reviewed the contract as part of our standard protocol. I need till next week to review the measurable goals and objectives, as I am on vacation with my husband till Sunday night.

Lastly, I suggest we have a CEO Compensation Committee conference call to discuss changes (which includes the members from 2013-2014 since we are still completing our work) – and I would like us to have a full discussion about what happened abruptly during the BOD Executive Session (and immediately before).

Hi all,

I am ok with these even though the compensation committee agreed to a 2 year contract in our discussions leading up to the retreat in July 2014. I understand some changes happened at the Retreat that I was not involved in. My understanding was that we would go with a 2 year contract with the possibility of an extension of one or more years if both the CEO and the Compensation Committee agreed. The 4 year contract will probably have the same end result. I must admit that I was a bit surprised when I saw that there was a flat 4 year contract after we had all agreed to a 2 year contract in our discussions and with Pat's input and agreement according to Sonja's discussions with her.

Regardless, thanks for all of your work on this.

HI Compensation Committee,

I have attached the revised Compensation Committee Charter that now includes the philosophy as suggested by Mary and Glenna. Let me know if you approve or have edits.

I have attached the Annual Incentive Plan for CEO that pertains to the contract and the CEO Performance Objectives for 2014-15.

I have attached the CEO contract with three changes suggested by Pat. We made one revision to the first suggested change during our 4 Ps call today. This was because it stated, if we were to not renew her contract, we would pay her 50% of the previous year's bonus, which could range from 0% to 20% of the base salary. We changed it to read 50% of the targeted bonus for the previous year, which would be 15% of the base salary. Please review the suggested changes and let me know if you approve, have questions or suggestions for revisions.

I have attached Pat's suggestions for Performance Objectives for 2014-15. Please review and let me know if you have questions or suggestions. It is important that we have clearly defined measures for each objective. We may need to have a call after each of you responds.

Thanks so much for attending to these important documents.

We have lost another person. Aida, Milton and Terri will not be present. That leaves us with 5. Still enough for the meeting, but, if we lose anyone else, then nothing can be approved.

All,

Another month is rolling around and we have a call on Tuesday, August 26th at 1 p.m. CDT. I have heard from both Aida and Milton that they will not be able to attend. That still leaves us with enough voting members to have a meeting. If anyone cannot attend, please let me know as soon as possible. You should have received the webinar invitation from the IT team. If you have not, please let me know. Our focus of the call will be;

1. Final June Financials
2. Preliminary July Financials

Now, onto the financial results.

I. June adjustments

As is customary, the first presentation of a month's financials get scrubbed a second time before they go final. In the second review of the financials, staff did not make any adjustments to the actual results. We did make a few adjustments to the budgets. The Academy expense budget was reduced by $7,930. In addition, there were adjustments made to the DPGS due to a change in the program of work. Both changes were small and did not impact the actual financial results in June.

II. Investments

July did not turn out to be a very good month for Investments. When I wrote this narrative last month, the combined investment portfolios were up in July by $430,000. Unfortunately, the combined investment portfolios actually ended up losing nearly $614,000. So, the month ended with a quick, hard drop. It kind of reminded me of the Tower of Terror at Disney World. You get that sudden jolt before the elevator drops and then it stabilizes and may go back up. It is scary, but, everything ends up fine and we end up enjoying the ride (Okay Mary, I know you will have a comment on this analogy!!! J). Well, it looks like August is giving us a lift. Through yesterday, the combined portfolios were up $1,314,000. So, through August 20th, we have recouped the losses from July and added another $700,000. So that's exciting. However, just like the Tower of Terror, there may be another jolt. So, I am cautiously optimistic, but, can't predict what will happen over the next 7 trading days. Today, the market has started higher. I hope it holds.

III. Academy preliminary July Financials (A10)

In July, the Academy operational results were better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $717,965 in July. The actual result is a loss of $685,077. Expense under-runs in July were the primary driver of the better operational performance. Expenses under-ran the budget by $84,528. This was offset by an under-run in Revenue of $51,640. The under-run in revenue sounds bad. However, in our original budget, the NDA revenue was to begin in July. Since the Board decided to move in another direction, this resulted in a revenue miss of $40,000. So, backing out the NDA, the revenue shortfall was only $11,640. For those of you that like percentages, that is 99.09920791%. That isn't too bad. The Investment results did make the picture less positive with losses of $225,387. So operationally, the Academy did $32,888 better than the budget, but, due to the investment losses, ended the month with a deficit of $910,465 which was $305,095 higher (worse) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues- This area is over budget by $7,081 in July and is over budget by $11,766 for the year. Membership dues continued the strong start to the year. Overall, the membership revenues are higher than budget by $10.2K. In July, the majority of this over-run is due to application and reinstatement fees. None-the-less, this is a good start for the year. Still too early to get excited. However, each month that we are over budget increases our optimism. The over-run in Membership was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.1K).
- b. Programs and Meetings- This area is under budget by $43,732 in July and is under budget by $37,709 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to NDA revenue (down $40K). This will continue throughout the fiscal year due to the decision by the Board to move forward with this program in another format. The FAC should discuss whether or not to recommend to the board that this revenue be removed from the budget. The remaining under-run in July was due to lower professional development (down $3.7K).
- c. Publications and Materials- This area is under budget by $16,330 in July and is under budget by $37,046 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $23.4K) and lower across all other (down $1.0K) offset by higher list rental (up $8.1K).

d. Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $1,074 in July and is under budget by $9,867 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products (down $1.2K).

e. Advertising- This area is on target in July and under budget by $1,696 for the year. Nothing was budgeted or received in July.

f. All grants - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Con Agra (down $6.9K) offset by higher Research (up $3.3K).

g. Sponsorships- This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.

h. Other- This area was over budget by $6,006 in July and is over budget by $7,908 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $1.2K), higher licensure revenue (up $5.0K) offset by lower across all other programs (down $0.2K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel - This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.

b. Publications - This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

c. Travel - This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).

e. Postage and Mailing Service- This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

f. Office Supplies and Equipment- This area is over budget by $956 in July and over budget by $1,315 for the year. No significant variances.

g. Rent and utilities- This area is under budget by $822 in July and under budget by $1,475 for the year. The under-run in July is due to the lower utility costs.

h. Telephone and communications- This is over budget by $153 in July and over budget by $421 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.

i. Commissions - This area is on target for July and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. No sales were recorded in July and, therefore, no commissions were recorded in July.

j. Computer Expenses- This area is under budget by $1,101 in July and under budget by $7,057 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower website hosting costs (down $4.3K) and lower maintenance costs (down $1.6K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine web hosting costs (up $4.8K).

k. Advertising and Promotion- This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).

l. Insurance- This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.

m. Depreciation- This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary

n. Bank and trust fees- This area is over budget by $6,251 in July and over budget by $5,955 for the year. The over-run in July is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.

o. Other - This area is under budget by $387 in July and under budget $1,142 for the year. No significant variances.

p. Expense allocation- This area is favorable to budget by $4,433 in July and is favorable to budget by $4,197 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.

q. Meeting services- This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Board meeting costs (down $4.3K), lower Informatics costs (down $2.8K), lower professional Development (down $1.3K), lower Research (down $1.3K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $1.9K).

r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.

s. Printing- This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

Overall, even with the shortfall in revenue (where 57% is due to the NDA), the Academy is off to a fairly good start to the year. After two months, the Academy's Operating Deficit results are $51,799 lower (better) than the budget. Even though investments are down, looking at today's results gives me great hope that August will recover the losses from July and more.

IV. Foundation Preliminary July Financials (A8)

The Foundation's results for the month of July were not positive. This is primarily due to a shortfall in Member Contribution revenue (down $17.8K). Expenses were slightly under budget to help offset the revenue shortfall. However, not enough to make up the difference. The Foundation had an Operating Deficit target of $13,501. Unfortunately, due to the revenue shortfall, this was $30,662. Investment losses, similar to the Academy, increased the deficit. The result was a Net Deficit of $251,076.

Again, assuming the investments hold or continue to grow in August, this should turn-around when August Financials are completed. The Foundation's returns for the month of August, through yesterday, were $480,696. So, this should help get the Foundation back onto solid ground. In addition, the shortfall in revenue is primarily due to Member Contributions. Since we are early in the year, I could see this area catching up to the budget at a later date.

On year to date basis, the Foundation is running an Operating Deficit of $109,057 which is $19,694 higher (worse) than budget. Again, it is primarily due to the timing of Member donations. So, this small gap may close as the year progresses. Even with the under-run in July, the Foundation's Net Assets are holding strong at $22.3M.

V. CDR's Preliminary July Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in July operationally. CDR had an Operating Deficit budget of $143,099. The actual results were $83,918 lower (better). This was due to higher revenue (up $44,690) and lower expenses (down $39,129). Unfortunately, as is the case with everyone else, CDR was hurt by Investment losses of $87,763.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGs/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small. Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

Donna,

We have lost another person. Aida, Milton and Terri will not be present. That leaves us with 5. Still enough for the meeting, but, if we lose anyone else, then nothing can be approved.

Hi Paul,

I will be in the air on my way to Cleveland for a Foundation meeting all day Tuesday (it is a long way from here to there!). My apologies. I had planned to review all the paperwork and send any questions via e-mail.

All,

Another month is rolling around and we have a call on Tuesday, August 26th at 1 p.m. CDT. I have heard from both Aida and Milton that they will not be able to attend. That still leaves us with enough voting members to have a meeting. If anyone cannot attend, please let me know as soon as possible. You should have received the webinar invitation from the IT team. If you have not, please let me know. Our focus of the call will be;

1. Final June Financials
2. Preliminary July Financials

Now, onto the financial results.

I. June adjustments

As is customary, the first presentation of a month's financials get scrubbed a second time before they go final. In the second review of the financials, staff did not make any adjustments to the actual results. We did make a few adjustments to the budgets. The Academy expense budget was reduced by $7,930. In addition, there were adjustments made to the DPGS due to a change in the program of work. Both changes were small and did not impact the actual financial results in June.

July did not turn out to be a very good month for Investments. When I wrote this narrative last month, the combined investment portfolios were up in July by $430,000. Unfortunately, the combined investment portfolios actually ended up losing nearly $614,000. So, the month ended with a quick, hard drop. It kind of reminded me of the Tower of Terror at Disney World. You get that sudden jolt before the elevator drops and then it stabilizes and may go back up. It is scary, but, everything ends up fine and we end up enjoying the ride (Okay Mary, I know you will have a comment on this analogy!!! J). Well, it looks like August is giving us a lift. Through yesterday, the combined portfolios were up $1,314,000. So, through August 20th, we have recouped the losses from July and added another $700,000. So that's exciting. However, just like the Tower of Terror, there may be another jolt. So, I am cautiously optimistic, but, can't predict what will happen over the next 7 trading days. Today, the market has started higher. I hope it holds.

III. Academy preliminary July Financials (A10)

In July, the Academy operational results were better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $717,965 in July. The actual result is a loss of $685,077. Expense under-runs in July were the primary driver of the better operational performance. Expenses under-ran the budget by $84,528. This was offset by an under-run in Revenue of $51,640. The under-run in revenue sounds bad. However, in our original budget, the NDA revenue was to begin in July. Since the Board decided to move in another direction, this resulted in a revenue miss of $40,000. So, backing out the NDA, the revenue shortfall was only $11,640. For those of you that like percentages, that is 99.09920791%. That isn't too bad. The Investment results did make the picture less positive with losses of $225,387. So operationally, the Academy did $32,888 better than the budget, but, due to the investment losses, ended the month with a deficit of $910,465 which was $305,095 higher (worse) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $7,081 in July and is over budget by $11,766 for the year. Membership dues continued the strong start to the year. Overall, the membership revenues are higher than budget by $10.2K. In July, the majority of this over-run is due to application and reinstatement fees. None-the-less, this is a good start for the year. Still too early to get excited. However, each month that we are over budget increases our optimism. The over-run in Membership was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.1K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $43,732 in July and is under budget by $37,709 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to NDA revenue (down $40K). This will continue throughout the fiscal year due to the decision by the Board to move forward with this program in another format. The FAC should discuss whether or not to recommend to the board that this revenue be removed from the budget. The remaining under-run in July was due to lower professional development (down $3.7K).

c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $16,330 in July and is under budget by $37,046 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $23.4K) and lower across all other (down $1.0K) offset by higher list rental (up $8.1K).

d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $1,074 in July and is under budget by $9,867 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products (down $1.2K).

- e. Advertising – This area is on target in July and under budget by $1,696 for the year. Nothing was budgeted or received in July.
- f. All grants - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Con Agra (down $6.9K) offset by higher Research (up $3.3K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.
- h. Other – This area was over budget by $6,006 in July and is over budget by $7,908 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $1.2K), higher licensure revenue (up $5.0K) offset by lower across all other programs (down $0.2K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.
- b. Publications – This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)
- c. Travel – This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).
- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).
- e. Postage and Mailing Service – This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is over budget by $956 in July and over budget by $1,315 for the year. No significant variances.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $822 in July and under budget by $1,475 for the year. The under-run in July is due to the lower utility costs.

h. Telephone and communications – This is over budget by $153 in July and over budget by $421 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.

i. Commissions – This area is on target for July and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. No sales were recorded in July and, therefore, no commissions were recorded in July.

j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $1,101 in July and under budget by $7,057 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower website hosting costs (down $4.3K) and lower maintenance costs (down $1.6K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine web hosting costs (up $4.8K).

k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).

l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.

m. Depreciation – This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary

n. Bank and trust fees – This area is over budget by $6,251 in July and over budget by $5,955 for the year. The over-run in July is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.

- o. Other – This area is under budget by $387 in July and under budget $1,142 for the year. No significant variances.
- p. Expense allocation – This area is favorable to budget by $4,433 in July and is favorable to budget by $4,197 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Board meeting costs (down $4.3K), lower Informatics costs (down $2.8K), lower professional Development (down $1.3K), lower Research (down $1.3K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $1.9K).
- r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.
- s. Printing – This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

Overall, even with the shortfall in revenue (where 57% is due to the NDA), the Academy is off to a fairly good start to the year. After two months, the Academy's Operating Deficit results are $51,799 lower (better) than the budget. Even though investments are down, looking at today's results gives me great hope that August will recover the losses from July and more.

IV. Foundation Preliminary July Financials (A8)

The Foundation's results for the month of July were not positive. This is primarily due to a shortfall in Member Contribution revenue (down $17.8K). Expenses were slightly under budget to help offset the revenue shortfall. However, not enough to make up the difference. The Foundation had an Operating Deficit target of $13,501. Unfortunately, due to the revenue shortfall, this was $30,662. Investment losses, similar to the Academy, increased the deficit. The result was a Net Deficit of $251,076.

Again, assuming the investments hold or continue to grow in August, this should turn-around when August Financials are completed. The Foundation's returns for the month of August, through yesterday, were $480,696. So, this should help get the Foundation back onto solid ground. In addition, the shortfall in revenue is primarily due to Member Contributions. Since we are early in the year, I could see this area catching up to the budget at a later date.

On year to date basis, the Foundation is running an Operating Deficit of $109,057 which is $19,694 higher (worse) than budget. Again, it is primarily due to the timing of Member donations. So, this small gap may close as the year progresses. Even with the under-run in July, the Foundation's Net Assets are holding strong at $22.3M.

V. CDR's Preliminary July Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in July operationally. CDR had an Operating Deficit budget of $143,099. The actual results were $83,918 lower (better). This was due to higher revenue (up $44,690) and lower expenses (down $39,129). Unfortunately, as is the case with everyone else, CDR was hurt by Investment losses of $87,763.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGS/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small.

Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

- ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

Donna,

I will adjust the wording on the "adding" versus "modifying". Also, I avoided saying it was Mary Beth due to this issue. I think if it comes up, I can address it. Essentially, the addition to Mary Beth's salary, in its entirety, will be the responsibility of the Academy. The Foundation will not be negatively impacted by this decision. She is still retaining her role as head of the Foundation and should still have some of her costs be picked up by the Foundation. I think in FY16's budget we can adjust it even further if necessary.

Paul, It is more than enough, actually, it is outstanding. You covered all the bases for all those people who were not on the board when all this went down. The only thing I am not sure that people might have trouble understanding is the difference between adding to the budget and modifying the budget. Is there a way to better state that modifying the budget would be moving funds around versus increasing the budget?

The other issue that we need to address, this year or next year, is how much of Mary Beth's salary should come out of the Foundation? Although since the Foundation is doing, technically, better than we are maybe we should let sleeping dogs lay?

Paul, I think they have taken the money out of the budget part of Pat's compensation as a result of the change. It should now not effect her bonus, but it will be aggravating for you if we do not make the change. I am OK with discussing it in September and then leaving the final action on it until October in Executive Session. At least we do not have to worry about Pat's Compensation.

We do have Six Flags in Georgia, so maybe we could use something from them for an idea for FNCE? You are so much better at this than I am!!!

Donna,

I agree. I did not put the COO salary issue onto the agenda because other staff see the e-mail. I will send to you a "write-up/request" this afternoon on the COO change. It will be on the Agenda as an action item. The NDA is on the Agenda, but, not as an action item. I thought for this meeting it would worth discussing potential action steps. There isn't any way the Academy can "make-up" the lost revenue on this initiative that was in the budget. So, in the event that the FAC wants to vote to adjust the budget, that would be fine. However, I think we could do that in September and then you could ask to discuss this in October. It might be something discussed in Executive Session to allow for a free and open dialog on this issue; especially since it now impacts Pat's compensation.

Since great minds think alike, I agree, we can address the cash as well. I am attaching the agenda for you. I did not include a FNCE update due to the time constraints, but, I can provide one during new business if you like. Let me know.

I don't know how Merievelyn took the news. Mary Gregoire expected it to happen. I mentioned to Mary that had Merievelyn been open to your suggestion of the Academy funding an "deficit" that ACEND had in FY15, then it probably would have not moved on to the loan. The lack of flexibility and willingness to evaluate options outside of the Academy funding it outright drove the committee to the resulting motion. Mary agreed. So, we shall see.

As for the Disney analogy; I will see what I can do. Maybe there is an imbedded video somewhere????

Paul, I think we need to go ahead and add three things to the agenda for next week.

1. NDA - I am in favor of amending the budget. If only, for the fact that you will not have to address it every month in your report as to why we are under budget. :)
2. I think we need to address Mary Beth's salary at some point.
3. We need to approve the moving of $500,000 into cash. (preferably into my checking account, I will gladly send you my information if you need it?)

I know we all will want a FNCE update on Tuesday if you can give us one please?

On another note, how did Merievelyn take the news about funding?

I love the Disney analogy. I just wish it would work for the FNCE presentation!

All,

Another month is rolling around and we have a call on Tuesday, August 26th at 1 p.m. CDT. I have heard from both Aida and Milton that they will not be able to attend. That still leaves us with enough voting members to have a meeting. If anyone cannot attend, please let me know as soon as possible. You should have received the webinar invitation from the IT team. If you have not, please let me know. Our focus of the call will be;

1. Final June Financials
2. Preliminary July Financials

Now, onto the financial results.

I. June adjustments

As is customary, the first presentation of a month's financials get scrubbed a second time before they go final. In the second review of the financials, staff did not make any adjustments to the actual results. We did make a few adjustments to the budgets. The Academy expense budget was reduced by $7,930. In addition, there were adjustments made to the DPGS due to a change in the program of work. Both changes were small and did not impact the actual financial results in June.

II. Investments

July did not turn out to be a very good month for Investments. When I wrote this narrative last month, the combined investment portfolios were up in July by $430,000. Unfortunately, the combined investment portfolios actually ended up losing nearly $614,000. So, the month ended with a quick, hard drop. It kind of reminded me of the Tower of Terror at Disney World. You get that sudden jolt before the elevator drops and then it stabilizes and may go back up. It is scary, but, everything ends up fine and we end up enjoying the ride (Okay Mary, I know you will have a comment on this analogy!!! J). Well, it looks like August is giving us a lift. Through yesterday, the combined portfolios were up $1,314,000. So, through August 20th, we have recouped the losses from July and added another $700,000. So that's exciting. However, just like the Tower of Terror, there may be another jolt. So, I am cautiously optimistic, but, can't predict what will happen over the next 7 trading days. Today, the market has started higher. I hope it holds.

III. Academy preliminary July Financials (A10)

In July, the Academy operational results were better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $717,965 in July. The actual result is a loss of $685,077. Expense under-runs in July were the primary driver of the better operational performance. Expenses under-ran the budget by $84,528. This was offset by an under-run in Revenue of $51,640. The under-run in revenue sounds bad. However, in our original budget, the NDA revenue was to begin in July. Since the Board decided to move in another direction, this resulted in a revenue miss of $40,000. So, backing out the NDA, the revenue shortfall was only $11,640. For those of you that like percentages, that is 99.09920791%. That isn't too bad. The Investment results did make the picture less positive with losses of $225,387. So operationally, the Academy did $32,888 better than the budget, but, due to the investment losses, ended the month with a deficit of $910,465 which was $305,095 higher (worse) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $7,081 in July and is over budget by $11,766 for the year. Membership dues continued the strong start to the year. Overall, the membership revenues are higher than budget by $10.2K. In July, the majority of this over-run is due to application and reinstatement fees. None-the-less, this is a good start for the year. Still too early to get excited. However, each month that we are over budget increases our optimism. The over-run in Membership was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.1K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $43,732 in July and is under budget by $37,709 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to NDA revenue (down $40K). This will continue throughout the fiscal year due to the decision by the Board to move forward with this program in another format. The FAC should discuss whether or not to recommend to the board that this revenue be removed from the budget. The remaining under-run in July was due to lower professional development (down $3.7K).

c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $16,330 in July and is under budget by $37,046 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $23.4K) and lower across all other (down $1.0K) offset by higher list rental (up $8.1K).

d. Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $1,074 in July and is under budget by $9,867 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products (down $1.2K).

e. Advertising - This area is on target in July and under budget by $1,696 for the year. Nothing was budgeted or received in July.

f. All grants - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Con Agra (down $6.9K) offset by higher Research (up $3.3K).

g. Sponsorships - This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.

h. Other - This area was over budget by $6,006 in July and is over budget by $7,908 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $1.2K), higher licensure revenue (up $5.0K) offset by lower across all other programs (down $0.2K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel - This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.

b. Publications - This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

c. Travel - This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher

IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).

e. Postage and Mailing Service - This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

f. Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is over budget by $956 in July and over budget by $1,315 for the year. No significant variances.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $822 in July and under budget by $1,475 for the year. The under-run in July is due to the lower utility costs.

h. Telephone and communications - This is over budget by $153 in July and over budget by $421 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.

i. Commissions - This area is on target for July and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. No sales were recorded in July and, therefore, no commissions were recorded in July.

j. Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $1,101 in July and under budget by $7,057 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower website hosting costs (down $4.3K) and lower maintenance costs (down $1.6K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine web hosting costs (up $4.8K).

k. Advertising and Promotion - This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).

l. Insurance - This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.

m. Depreciation - This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary

n. Bank and trust fees - This area is over budget by $6,251 in July and over budget by $5,955 for the year. The over-run in July is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.

o. Other - This area is under budget by $387 in July and under budget $1,142 for the year. No significant variances.

p. Expense allocation - This area is favorable to budget by $4,433 in July and is favorable to budget by $4,197 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.

q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Board meeting costs (down $4.3K), lower Informatics costs (down $2.8K), lower professional Development (down $1.3K), lower Research (down $1.3K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $1.9K).

r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.

s. Printing - This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

Overall, even with the shortfall in revenue (where 57% is due to the NDA), the Academy is off to a fairly good start to the year. After two months, the Academy's Operating Deficit results are $51,799 lower (better) than the budget. Even though investments are down, looking at today's results gives me great hope that August will recover the losses from July and more.

IV. Foundation Preliminary July Financials (A8)

The Foundation's results for the month of July were not positive. This is primarily due to a shortfall in Member Contribution revenue (down $17.8K). Expenses were slightly under budget to help offset the revenue shortfall. However, not enough to make up the difference. The Foundation had an Operating Deficit target of $13,501. Unfortunately, due to the revenue shortfall, this was $30,662. Investment losses, similar to the Academy, increased the deficit. The result was a Net Deficit of $251,076.

Again, assuming the investments hold or continue to grow in August, this should turn-around when August Financials are completed. The Foundation's returns for the month of August, through yesterday, were $480,696. So, this should help get the Foundation back onto solid ground. In addition, the shortfall in revenue is primarily due to Member Contributions. Since we are early in the year, I could see this area catching up to the budget at a later date.

On year to date basis, the Foundation is running an Operating Deficit of $109,057 which is $19,694 higher (worse) than budget. Again, it is primarily due to the timing of Member donations. So, this small gap may close as the year progresses. Even with the under-run in July, the Foundation's Net Assets are holding strong at $22.3M.

V. CDR's Preliminary July Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in July operationally. CDR had an Operating Deficit budget of $143,099. The actual results were $83,918 lower (better). This was due to higher revenue (up $44,690) and lower expenses (down $39,129). Unfortunately, as is the case with everyone else, CDR was hurt by Investment losses of $87,763.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGs/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small. Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

Donna,

I will adjust the wording on the "adding" versus "modifying". Also, I avoided saying it was Mary Beth due to this issue. I think if it comes up, I can address it. Essentially, the addition to Mary Beth's salary, in its entirety, will be the responsibility of the Academy. The Foundation will not be negatively impacted by this decision. She is still retaining her role as head of the Foundation and should still have some of her costs be picked up by the Foundation. I think in FY16's budget we can adjust it even further if necessary.

Paul, It is more than enough, actually, it is outstanding. You covered all the bases for all those people who were not on the board when all this went down. The only thing I am not sure that people might have trouble understanding is the difference between adding to the budget and modifying the budget. Is there a way to better state that modifying the budget would be moving funds around versus increasing the budget?

The other issue that we need to address, this year or next year, is how much of Mary Beth's salary should come out of the Foundation? Although since the Foundation is doing, technically, better than we are maybe we should let sleeping dogs lay?

Paul, I think they have taken the money out of the budget part of Pat's compensation as a result of the change. It should now not effect her bonus, but it will be aggravating for you if we do not make the change. I am OK with discussing it in September and then leaving the final action on it until October in Executive Session. At least we do not have to worry about Pat's Compensation.

We do have Six Flags in Georgia, so maybe we could use something from them for an idea for FNCE? You are so much better at this than I am!!!

III. Academy preliminary July Financials (A10)

The under-run in revenue sounds bad. However, in our original budget, the NDA revenue was to begin in July. Since the Board decided to move in another direction, this resulted in a revenue miss of $40,000. So, backing out the NDA, the revenue shortfall was only $11,640. For those of you that like percentages, that is 99.09920791%. That isn't too bad. The Investment results did make the picture less positive with losses of $225,387. So operationally, the Academy did $32,888 better than the budget, but, due to the investment losses, ended the month with a deficit of $910,465 which was $305,095 higher (worse) than the budget.

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $7,081 in July and is over budget by $11,766 for the year. Membership dues continued the strong start to the year. Overall, the membership revenues are higher than budget by $10.2K. In July, the majority of this over-run is due to application and reinstatement fees. None-the-less, this is a good start for the year. Still too early to get excited. However, each month that we are over budget increases our optimism. The over-run in Membership was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.1K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $43,732 in July and is under budget by $37,709 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to NDA revenue (down $40K). This will continue throughout the fiscal year due to the decision by the Board to move forward with this program in another format. The FAC should discuss whether or not to recommend to the board that this revenue be removed from the budget. The remaining under-run in July was due to lower professional development (down $3.7K).

c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $16,330 in July and is under budget by $37,046 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $23.4K) and lower across all other (down $1.0K) offset by higher list rental (up $8.1K).

d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $1,074 in July and is under budget by $9,867 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products (down $1.2K).

e. Advertising – This area is on target in July and under budget by $1,696 for the year. Nothing was budgeted or received in July.

f. All grants - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Con Agra (down $6.9K) offset by higher Research (up $3.3K).

g. Sponsorships – This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.

h. Other – This area was over budget by $6,006 in July and is over budget by $7,908 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $1.2K), higher licensure revenue (up $5.0K) offset by lower across all other programs (down $0.2K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

c. Travel – This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).

e. Postage and Mailing Service – This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

- f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is over budget by $956 in July and over budget by $1,315 for the year. No significant variances.
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $822 in July and under budget by $1,475 for the year. The under-run in July is due to the lower utility costs.
- h. Telephone and communications – This is over budget by $153 in July and over budget by $421 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.
- i. Commissions – This area is on target for July and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. No sales were recorded in July and, therefore, no commissions were recorded in July.
- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $1,101 in July and under budget by $7,057 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower website hosting costs (down $4.3K) and lower maintenance costs (down $1.6K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine web hosting costs (up $4.8K).
- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).
- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.
- m. Depreciation – This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary
- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is over budget by $6,251 in July and over budget by $5,955 for the year. The over-run in July is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.
- o. Other – This area is under budget by $387 in July and under budget $1,142 for the year. No significant variances.

- p. Expense allocation – This area is favorable to budget by $4,433 in July and is favorable to budget by $4,197 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Board meeting costs (down $4.3K), lower Informatics costs (down $2.8K), lower professional Development (down $1.3K), lower Research (down $1.3K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $1.9K).
- r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.
- s. Printing – This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

Overall, even with the shortfall in revenue (where 57% is due to the NDA), the Academy is off to a fairly good start to the year. After two months, the Academy's Operating Deficit results are $51,799 lower (better) than the budget. Even though investments are down, looking at today's results gives me great hope that August will recover the losses from July and more.

IV. Foundation Preliminary July Financials (A8)

The Foundation's results for the month of July were not positive. This is primarily due to a shortfall in Member Contribution revenue (down $17.8K). Expenses were slightly under budget to help offset the revenue shortfall. However, not enough to make up the difference. The Foundation had an Operating Deficit target of $13,501. Unfortunately, due to the revenue shortfall, this was $30,662. Investment losses, similar to the Academy, increased the deficit. The result was a Net Deficit of $251,076.

Again, assuming the investments hold or continue to grow in August, this should turn-around when August Financials are completed. The Foundation's returns for the month of August, through yesterday, were $480,696. So, this should help get the Foundation back onto solid ground. In addition, the shortfall in revenue is primarily due to Member Contributions. Since we are early in the year, I could see this area catching up to the budget at a later date.

On year to date basis, the Foundation is running an Operating Deficit of $109,057 which is $19,694 higher (worse) than budget. Again, it is primarily due to the timing of Member donations.

So, this small gap may close as the year progresses. Even with the under-run in July, the Foundation's Net Assets are holding strong at $22.3M.

V. CDR's Preliminary July Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in July operationally. CDR had an Operating Deficit budget of $143,099. The actual results were $83,918 lower (better). This was due to higher revenue (up $44,690) and lower expenses (down $39,129). Unfortunately, as is the case with everyone else, CDR was hurt by Investment losses of $87,763.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGS/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small. Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

- ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

Donna,

I will adjust the wording on the "adding" versus "modifying". Also, I avoided saying it was Mary Beth due to this issue. I think if it comes up, I can address it. Essentially, the addition to Mary Beth's salary, in its entirety, will be the responsibility of the Academy. The Foundation will not be negatively impacted by this decision. She is still retaining her role as head of the Foundation and should still have some of her costs be picked up by the Foundation. I think in FY16's budget we can adjust it even further if necessary.

Paul, It is more than enough, actually, it is outstanding. You covered all the bases for all those people who were not on the board when all this went down. The only thing I am not sure that people might have trouble understanding is the difference between adding to the budget and modifying the budget. Is there a way to better state that modifying the budget would be moving funds around versus increasing the budget?

The other issue that we need to address, this year or next year, is how much of Mary Beth's salary should come out of the Foundation? Although since the Foundation is doing, technically, better than we are maybe we should let sleeping dogs lay?

Donna,

Here is the "write-up" for the COO position request. I have coming from me. Let me know if you think it is enough.

Paul, I think they have taken the money out of the budget part of Pat's compensation as a result of the change. It should now not effect her bonus, but it will be aggravating for you if we do not make the change. I am OK with discussing it in September and then leaving the final action on it until October in Executive Session. At least we do not have to worry about Pat's Compensation.

We do have Six Flags in Georgia, so maybe we could use something from them for an idea for FNCE? You are so much better at this than I am!!!

Donna,

I agree. I did not put the COO salary issue onto the agenda because other staff see the e-mail. I will send to you a "write-up/request" this afternoon on the COO change. It will be on the Agenda as an action item. The NDA is on the Agenda, but, not as an action item. I thought for this meeting it would be worth discussing potential action steps. There isn't any way the Academy can "make-up" the lost revenue on this initiative that was in the budget. So, in the event that the FAC wants to vote to adjust the budget, that would be fine. However, I think we could do that in September and then you could ask to discuss this in October. It might be something discussed in Executive Session to allow for a free and open dialog on this issue; especially since it now impacts Pat's compensation.

Since great minds think alike, I agree, we can address the cash as well. I am attaching the agenda for you. I did not include a FNCE update due to the time constraints, but, I can provide one during new business if you like. Let me know.

I don't know how Merievelyn took the news. Mary Gregoire expected it to happen. I mentioned to Mary that had Merievelyn been open to your suggestion of the Academy funding an "deficit" that ACEND had in FY15, then it probably would have not moved on to the loan. The lack of flexibility and willingness to evaluate options outside of the Academy funding it outright drove the committee to the resulting motion. Mary agreed. So, we shall see.

As for the Disney analogy; I will see what I can do. Maybe there is an imbedded video somewhere????

Paul, I think we need to go ahead and add three things to the agenda for next week.

1. NDA - I am in favor of amending the budget. If only, for the fact that you will not have to address it every month in your report as to why we are under budget. :)
2. I think we need to address Mary Beth's salary at some point.
3. We need to approve the moving of $500,000 into cash. (preferably into my checking account, I will gladly send you my information if you need it?)

I know we all will want a FNCE update on Tuesday if you can give us one please?

On another note, how did Merievelyn take the news about funding?

I love the Disney analogy. I just wish it would work for the FNCE presentation!

All,

Another month is rolling around and we have a call on Tuesday, August 26th at 1 p.m. CDT. I have heard from both Aida and Milton that they will not be able to attend. That still leaves us with enough voting members to have a meeting. If anyone cannot attend, please let me know as soon as possible. You should have received the webinar invitation from the IT team. If you have not, please let me know. Our focus of the call will be;

1. Final June Financials
2. Preliminary July Financials

Now, onto the financial results.

I. June adjustments

As is customary, the first presentation of a month's financials get scrubbed a second time before they go final. In the second review of the financials, staff did not make any adjustments to the actual results. We did make a few adjustments to the budgets. The Academy expense budget was reduced by $7,930. In addition, there were adjustments made to the DPGS due to a change in the program of work. Both changes were small and did not impact the actual financial results in June.

II. Investments

July did not turn out to be a very good month for Investments. When I wrote this narrative last month, the combined investment portfolios were up in July by $430,000. Unfortunately, the combined investment portfolios actually ended up losing nearly $614,000. So, the month ended with a quick, hard drop. It kind of reminded me of the Tower of Terror at Disney World. You get that sudden jolt before the elevator drops and then it stabilizes and may go back up. It is scary, but, everything ends up fine and we end up enjoying the ride (Okay Mary, I know you will have a comment on this analogy!!! J). Well, it looks like August is giving us a lift. Through yesterday, the combined portfolios were up $1,314,000. So, through August 20th, we have recouped the losses from July and added another $700,000. So that's exciting. However, just like the Tower of Terror, there may be another jolt. So, I am cautiously optimistic, but, can't predict what will happen over the next 7 trading days. Today, the market has started higher. I hope it holds.

III. Academy preliminary July Financials (A10)

In July, the Academy operational results were better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $717,965 in July. The actual result is a loss of $685,077. Expense under-runs in July were the primary driver of the better operational performance. Expenses under-ran the budget by $84,528. This was offset by an under-run in Revenue of $51,640. The under-run in revenue sounds bad. However, in our original budget, the NDA revenue was to begin in July. Since the Board decided to move in another direction, this resulted in a revenue miss of $40,000. So, backing out the NDA, the revenue shortfall was only $11,640. For those of you that like percentages, that is 99.09920791%. That isn't too bad. The Investment results did make the picture less positive with losses of $225,387. So operationally, the Academy did $32,888 better than the budget, but, due to the investment losses, ended the month with a deficit of $910,465 which was $305,095 higher (worse) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $7,081 in July and is over budget by $11,766 for the year. Membership dues continued the strong start to the year. Overall, the membership revenues are higher than budget by $10.2K. In July, the majority of this over-run is due to application and reinstatement fees. None-the-less, this is a good start for the year. Still too early to get excited. However, each month that we are over budget increases our optimism. The over-run in Membership was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.1K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $43,732 in July and is under budget by $37,709 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to NDA revenue (down $40K). This will continue throughout the fiscal year due to the decision by the Board to move forward with this program in another format. The FAC should discuss whether or not to recommend to the board that this revenue be removed from the budget. The remaining under-run in July was due to lower professional development (down $3.7K).

c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $16,330 in July and is under budget by $37,046 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $23.4K) and lower across all other (down $1.0K) offset by higher list rental (up $8.1K).

d. Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $1,074 in July and is under budget by $9,867 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products (down $1.2K).

e. Advertising - This area is on target in July and under budget by $1,696 for the year. Nothing was budgeted or received in July.

f. All grants - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Con Agra (down $6.9K) offset by higher Research (up $3.3K).

g. Sponsorships - This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.

h. Other - This area was over budget by $6,006 in July and is over budget by $7,908 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $1.2K), higher licensure revenue (up $5.0K) offset by lower across all other programs (down $0.2K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel - This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.

b. Publications - This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

c. Travel - This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).

- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).
- e. Postage and Mailing Service - This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is over budget by $956 in July and over budget by $1,315 for the year. No significant variances.
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $822 in July and under budget by $1,475 for the year. The under-run in July is due to the lower utility costs.
- h. Telephone and communications - This is over budget by $153 in July and over budget by $421 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.
- i. Commissions - This area is on target for July and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. No sales were recorded in July and, therefore, no commissions were recorded in July.
- j. Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $1,101 in July and under budget by $7,057 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower website hosting costs (down $4.3K) and lower maintenance costs (down $1.6K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine web hosting costs (up $4.8K).
- k. Advertising and Promotion - This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).
- l. Insurance - This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.
- m. Depreciation - This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary
- n. Bank and trust fees - This area is over budget by $6,251 in July and over budget by $5,955 for the year. The over-run in July is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.
- o. Other - This area is under budget by $387 in July and under budget $1,142 for the year. No significant variances.
- p. Expense allocation - This area is favorable to budget by $4,433 in July and is favorable to budget by $4,197 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.

q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Board meeting costs (down $4.3K), lower Informatics costs (down $2.8K), lower professional Development (down $1.3K), lower Research (down $1.3K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $1.9K).

r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.

s. Printing - This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

Overall, even with the shortfall in revenue (where 57% is due to the NDA), the Academy is off to a fairly good start to the year. After two months, the Academy's Operating Deficit results are $51,799 lower (better) than the budget. Even though investments are down, looking at today's results gives me great hope that August will recover the losses from July and more.

IV. Foundation Preliminary July Financials (A8)

The Foundation's results for the month of July were not positive. This is primarily due to a shortfall in Member Contribution revenue (down $17.8K). Expenses were slightly under budget to help offset the revenue shortfall. However, not enough to make up the difference. The Foundation had an Operating Deficit target of $13,501. Unfortunately, due to the revenue shortfall, this was $30,662. Investment losses, similar to the Academy, increased the deficit. The result was a Net Deficit of $251,076.

Again, assuming the investments hold or continue to grow in August, this should turn-around when August Financials are completed. The Foundation's returns for the month of August, through yesterday, were $480,696. So, this should help get the Foundation back onto solid ground. In addition, the shortfall in revenue is primarily due to Member Contributions. Since we are early in the year, I could see this area catching up to the budget at a later date.

On year to date basis, the Foundation is running an Operating Deficit of $109,057 which is $19,694 higher (worse) than budget. Again, it is primarily due to the timing of Member donations. So, this small gap may close as the year progresses. Even with the under-run in July, the Foundation's Net Assets are holding strong at $22.3M.

V. CDR's Preliminary July Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in July operationally. CDR had an Operating Deficit budget of $143,099. The actual results were $83,918 lower (better). This was due to higher revenue (up $44,690) and lower expenses (down $39,129). Unfortunately, as is the case with everyone else, CDR was hurt by Investment losses of $87,763.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGs/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small. Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

Donna,

I will adjust the wording on the "adding" versus "modifying". Also, I avoided saying it was Mary Beth due to this issue. I think if it comes up, I can address it. Essentially, the addition to Mary Beth's salary, in its entirety, will be the responsibility of the Academy. The Foundation will not be negatively impacted by this decision. She is still retaining her role as head of the Foundation and should still have some of her costs be picked up by the Foundation. I think in FY16's budget we can adjust it even further if necessary.

Paul, It is more than enough, actually, it is outstanding. You covered all the bases for all those people who were not on the board when all this went down. The only thing I am not sure that people might have trouble understanding is the difference between adding to the budget and modifying the budget. Is there a way to better state that modifying the budget would be moving funds around versus increasing the budget?

The other issue that we need to address, this year or next year, is how much of Mary Beth's salary should come out of the Foundation? Although since the Foundation is doing, technically, better than we are maybe we should let sleeping dogs lay?

Donna,

Here is the "write-up" for the COO position request. I have coming from me. Let me know if you think it is enough.

Paul, I think they have taken the money out of the budget part of Pat's compensation as a result of the change. It should now not effect her bonus, but it will be aggravating for you if we do not make the change. I am OK with discussing it in September and then leaving the final action on it until October in Executive Session. At least we do not have to worry about Pat's Compensation.

We do have Six Flags in Georgia, so maybe we could use something from them for an idea for FNCE? You are so much better at this than I am!!!

Donna,

I agree. I did not put the COO salary issue onto the agenda because other staff see the e-mail. I will send to you a "write-up/request" this afternoon on the COO change. It will be on the Agenda as an action item. The NDA is on the Agenda, but, not as an action item. I thought for this meeting it would worth discussing potential action steps. There isn't any way the Academy can "make-up" the lost revenue on this initiative that was in the budget. So, in the event that the FAC wants to vote to adjust the budget, that would be fine. However, I think we could do that in September and then you could ask to discuss this in October. It might be something discussed in Executive Session to allow for a free and open dialog on this issue; especially since it now impacts Pat's compensation.

Since great minds think alike, I agree, we can address the cash as well. I am attaching the agenda for you. I did not include a FNCE update due to the time constraints, but, I can provide one during new business if you like. Let me know.

I don't know how Merievelyn took the news. Mary Gregoire expected it to happen. I mentioned to Mary that had Merievelyn been open to your suggestion of the Academy funding an "deficit" that ACEND had in FY15, then it probably would have not moved on to the loan. The lack of flexibility and willingness to evaluate options outside of the Academy funding it outright drove the committee to the resulting motion. Mary agreed. So, we shall see.

As for the Disney analogy; I will see what I can do. Maybe there is an imbedded video somewhere????

Paul, I think we need to go ahead and add three things to the agenda for next week.

1. NDA - I am in favor of amending the budget. If only, for the fact that you will not have to address it every month in your report as to why we are under budget. :)
2. I think we need to address Mary Beth's salary at some point.
3. We need to approve the moving of $500,000 into cash. (preferably into my checking account, I will gladly send you my information if you need it?)

I know we all will want a FNCE update on Tuesday if you can give us one please?

On another note, how did Merievelyn take the news about funding?

I love the Disney analogy. I just wish it would work for the FNCE presentation!

All,

Another month is rolling around and we have a call on Tuesday, August 26th at 1 p.m. CDT. I have heard from both Aida and Milton that they will not be able to attend. That still leaves us with enough voting members to have a meeting. If anyone cannot attend, please let me know as soon as possible. You should have received the webinar invitation from the IT team. If you have not, please let me know. Our focus of the call will be;

1. Final June Financials
2. Preliminary July Financials

Now, onto the financial results.

I. June adjustments

As is customary, the first presentation of a month's financials get scrubbed a second time before they go final. In the second review of the financials, staff did not make any adjustments to the actual results. We did make a few adjustments to the budgets. The Academy expense budget was reduced by $7,930. In addition, there were adjustments made to the DPGS due to a change in the program of work. Both changes were small and did not impact the actual financial results in June.

II. Investments

- July did not turn out to be a very good month for Investments. When I wrote this narrative last month, the combined investment portfolios were up in July by $430,000. Unfortunately, the combined investment portfolios actually ended up losing nearly $614,000. So, the month ended with a quick, hard drop. It kind of reminded me of the Tower of Terror at Disney World. You get that sudden jolt before the elevator drops and then it stabilizes and may go back up. It is scary, but, everything ends up fine and we end up enjoying the ride (Okay Mary, I know you will have a comment on this analogy!!! J). Well, it looks like August is giving us a lift. Through yesterday, the combined portfolios were up $1,314,000. So, through August 20th, we have recouped the losses from July and added another $700,000. So that's exciting. However, just like the Tower of Terror, there may be another jolt. So, I am cautiously optimistic, but, can't predict what will happen over the next 7 trading days. Today, the market has started higher. I hope it holds.

III. Academy preliminary July Financials (A10)

In July, the Academy operational results were better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $717,965 in July. The actual result is a loss of $685,077. Expense under-runs in July were the primary driver of the better operational performance. Expenses under-ran the budget by $84,528. This was offset by an under-run in Revenue of $51,640. The under-run in revenue sounds bad. However, in our original budget, the NDA revenue was to begin in July. Since the Board decided to move in another direction, this resulted in a revenue miss of $40,000. So, backing out the NDA, the revenue shortfall was only $11,640. For those of you that like percentages, that is 99.09920791%. That isn't too bad. The Investment results did make the picture less positive with losses of $225,387. So operationally, the Academy did $32,888 better than the budget, but, due to the investment losses, ended the month with a deficit of $910,465 which was $305,095 higher (worse) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $7,081 in July and is over budget by $11,766 for the year. Membership dues continued the strong start to the year. Overall, the membership revenues are higher than budget by $10.2K. In July, the majority of this over-run is due to application and reinstatement fees. None-the-less, this is a good start for the year. Still too early to get excited. However, each month that we are over budget increases our optimism. The over-run in Membership was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.1K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $43,732 in July and is under budget by $37,709 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to NDA revenue (down $40K). This will continue throughout the fiscal year due to the decision by the Board to move forward with this program in another format. The FAC should discuss whether or not to recommend to the board that this revenue be removed from the budget. The remaining under-run in July was due to lower professional development (down $3.7K).

c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $16,330 in July and is under budget by $37,046 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $23.4K) and lower across all other (down $1.0K) offset by higher list rental (up $8.1K).

- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $1,074 in July and is under budget by $9,867 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products (down $1.2K).
- e. Advertising – This area is on target in July and under budget by $1,696 for the year. Nothing was budgeted or received in July.
- f. All grants - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Con Agra (down $6.9K) offset by higher Research (up $3.3K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.
- h. Other – This area was over budget by $6,006 in July and is over budget by $7,908 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $1.2K), higher licensure revenue (up $5.0K) offset by lower across all other programs (down $0.2K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.
- b. Publications – This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)
- c. Travel – This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).
- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).

- e. Postage and Mailing Service – This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is over budget by $956 in July and over budget by $1,315 for the year. No significant variances.
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $822 in July and under budget by $1,475 for the year. The under-run in July is due to the lower utility costs.
- h. Telephone and communications – This is over budget by $153 in July and over budget by $421 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.
- i. Commissions – This area is on target for July and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. No sales were recorded in July and, therefore, no commissions were recorded in July.
- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $1,101 in July and under budget by $7,057 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower website hosting costs (down $4.3K) and lower maintenance costs (down $1.6K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine web hosting costs (up $4.8K).
- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).
- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.
- m. Depreciation – This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary
- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is over budget by $6,251 in July and over budget by $5,955 for the year. The over-run in July is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.

o. Other – This area is under budget by $387 in July and under budget $1,142 for the year. No significant variances.

p. Expense allocation – This area is favorable to budget by $4,433 in July and is favorable to budget by $4,197 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.

q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Board meeting costs (down $4.3K), lower Informatics costs (down $2.8K), lower professional Development (down $1.3K), lower Research (down $1.3K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $1.9K).

r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.

s. Printing – This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

Overall, even with the shortfall in revenue (where 57% is due to the NDA), the Academy is off to a fairly good start to the year. After two months, the Academy's Operating Deficit results are $51,799 lower (better) than the budget. Even though investments are down, looking at today's results gives me great hope that August will recover the losses from July and more.

IV. Foundation Preliminary July Financials (A8)

The Foundation's results for the month of July were not positive. This is primarily due to a shortfall in Member Contribution revenue (down $17.8K). Expenses were slightly under budget to help offset the revenue shortfall. However, not enough to make up the difference. The Foundation had an Operating Deficit target of $13,501. Unfortunately, due to the revenue shortfall, this was $30,662. Investment losses, similar to the Academy, increased the deficit. The result was a Net Deficit of $251,076.

Again, assuming the investments hold or continue to grow in August, this should turn-around when August Financials are completed. The Foundation's returns for the month of August, through yesterday, were $480,696. So, this should help get the Foundation back onto solid ground. In addition, the shortfall in revenue is primarily due to Member Contributions. Since we are early in the year, I could see this area catching up to the budget at a later date.

On year to date basis, the Foundation is running an Operating Deficit of $109,057 which is $19,694 higher (worse) than budget. Again, it is primarily due to the timing of Member donations. So, this small gap may close as the year progresses. Even with the under-run in July, the Foundation's Net Assets are holding strong at $22.3M.

V. CDR's Preliminary July Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in July operationally. CDR had an Operating Deficit budget of $143,099. The actual results were $83,918 lower (better). This was due to higher revenue (up $44,690) and lower expenses (down $39,129). Unfortunately, as is the case with everyone else, CDR was hurt by Investment losses of $87,763.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGS/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small. Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

- ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

Paul, It is more than enough, actually, it is outstanding. You covered all the bases for all those people who were not on the board when all this went down. The only thing I am not sure that people might have trouble understanding is the difference between adding to the budget and modifying the budget. Is there a way to better state that modifying the budget would be moving funds around versus increasing the budget?

The other issue that we need to address, this year or next year, is how much of Mary Beth's salary should come out of the Foundation? Although since the Foundation is doing, technically, better than we are maybe we should let sleeping dogs lay?

Paul, I think they have taken the money out of the budget part of Pat's compensation as a result of the change. I am OK with discussing it in September and then leaving the final action on it until October in Executive Session. At least we do not have to worry about Pat's Compensation.

Donna,

I agree. I did not put the COO salary issue onto the agenda because other staff see the e-mail. I will send to you a "write-up/request" this afternoon on the COO change. It will be on the Agenda as an action item. The NDA is on the Agenda, but, not as an action item. I thought for this meeting it would worth discussing potential action steps. There isn't any way the Academy can "make-up" the lost revenue on this initiative that was in the budget. So, in the event that the FAC wants to vote to adjust the budget, that would be fine. However, I think we could do that in September and then you could ask to discuss this in October. It might be something discussed in Executive Session to allow for a free and open dialog on this issue; especially since it now impacts Pat's compensation.

Since great minds think alike, I agree, we can address the cash as well. I am attaching the agenda for you. I did not include a FNCE update due to the time constraints, but, I can provide one during new business if you like. Let me know.

I don't know how Merievelyn took the news. Mary Gregoire expected it to happen. I mentioned to Mary that had Merievelyn been open to your suggestion of the Academy funding an "deficit" that ACEND had in FY15, then it probably would have not moved on to the loan. The lack of flexibility and willingness to evaluate options outside of the Academy funding it outright drove the committee to the resulting motion. Mary agreed. So, we shall see.

As for the Disney analogy; I will see what I can do. Maybe there is an imbedded video somewhere????

Paul, I think we need to go ahead and add three things to the agenda for next week.

1. NDA - I am in favor of amending the budget. If only, for the fact that you will not have to address it every month in your report as to why we are under budget. :)
2. I think we need to address Mary Beth's salary at some point.
3. We need to approve the moving of $500,000 into cash. (preferably into my checking account, I will gladly send you my information if you need it?)

I know we all will want a FNCE update on Tuesday if you can give us one please?

On another note, how did Merievelyn take the news about funding?

I love the Disney analogy. I just wish it would work for the FNCE presentation!

All,

Another month is rolling around and we have a call on Tuesday, August 26th at 1 p.m. CDT. I have heard from both Aida and Milton that they will not be able to attend. That still leaves us with enough voting members to have a meeting. If anyone cannot attend, please let me know as soon as possible. You should have received the webinar invitation from the IT team. If you have not, please let me know. Our focus of the call will be;

1. Final June Financials
2. Preliminary July Financials

Now, onto the financial results.

I. June adjustments

As is customary, the first presentation of a month's financials get scrubbed a second time before they go final. In the second review of the financials, staff did not make any adjustments to the actual results. We did make a few adjustments to the budgets. The Academy expense budget was reduced by $7,930. In addition, there were adjustments made to the DPGS due to a change in the program of work. Both changes were small and did not impact the actual financial results in June.

II. Investments

July did not turn out to be a very good month for Investments. When I wrote this narrative last month, the combined investment portfolios were up in July by $430,000. Unfortunately, the combined investment portfolios actually ended up losing nearly $614,000. So, the month ended with a quick, hard drop. It kind of reminded me of the Tower of Terror at Disney World. You get that sudden jolt before the elevator drops and then it stabilizes and may go back up. It is scary, but, everything ends up fine and we end up enjoying the ride (Okay Mary, I know you will have a comment on this analogy!!! J). Well, it looks like August is giving us a lift. Through yesterday, the combined portfolios were up $1,314,000. So, through August 20th, we have recouped the losses from July and added another $700,000. So that's exciting. However, just like the Tower of Terror, there may be another jolt. So, I am cautiously optimistic, but, can't predict what will happen over the next 7 trading days. Today, the market has started higher. I hope it holds.

III. Academy preliminary July Financials (A10)

In July, the Academy operational results were better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $717,965 in July. The actual result is a loss of $685,077. Expense under-runs in July were the primary driver of the better operational performance. Expenses under-ran the budget by $84,528. This was offset by an under-run in Revenue of $51,640. The under-run in revenue sounds bad. However, in our original budget, the NDA revenue was to begin in July. Since the Board decided to move in another direction, this resulted in a revenue miss of $40,000. So, backing out the NDA, the revenue shortfall was only $11,640. For those of you that like percentages, that is 99.09920791%. That isn't too bad. The Investment results did make the picture less positive with losses of $225,387. So operationally, the Academy did $32,888 better than the budget, but, due to the investment losses, ended the month with a deficit of $910,465 which was $305,095 higher (worse) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $7,081 in July and is over budget by $11,766 for the year. Membership dues continued the strong start to the year. Overall, the membership revenues are higher than budget by $10.2K. In July, the majority of this over-run is due to application and reinstatement fees. None-the-less, this is a good start for the year. Still too early to get excited. However, each month that we are over budget increases our optimism. The over-run in Membership was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.1K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $43,732 in July and is under budget by $37,709 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to NDA revenue (down $40K). This will continue throughout the fiscal year due to the decision by the Board to move forward with this program in another format. The FAC should discuss whether or not to recommend to the board that this revenue be removed from the budget. The remaining under-run in July was due to lower professional development (down $3.7K).

c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $16,330 in July and is under budget by $37,046 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $23.4K) and lower across all other (down $1.0K) offset by higher list rental (up $8.1K).

d. Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $1,074 in July and is under budget by $9,867 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products (down $1.2K).

e. Advertising - This area is on target in July and under budget by $1,696 for the year. Nothing was budgeted or received in July.

f. All grants - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Con Agra (down $6.9K) offset by higher Research (up $3.3K).

g. Sponsorships - This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.

h. Other - This area was over budget by $6,006 in July and is over budget by $7,908 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $1.2K), higher licensure revenue (up $5.0K) offset by lower across all other programs (down $0.2K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel - This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.

b. Publications - This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

c. Travel - This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).

e. Postage and Mailing Service - This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

f. Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is over budget by $956 in July and over budget by $1,315 for the year. No significant variances.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $822 in July and under budget by $1,475 for the year. The under-run in July is due to the lower utility costs.

h. Telephone and communications - This is over budget by $153 in July and over budget by $421 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.

i. Commissions - This area is on target for July and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. No sales were recorded in July and, therefore, no commissions were recorded in July.

j. Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $1,101 in July and under budget by $7,057 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower website hosting costs (down $4.3K) and lower maintenance costs (down $1.6K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine web hosting costs (up $4.8K).

k. Advertising and Promotion - This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).

l. Insurance - This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.

m. Depreciation - This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary

n. Bank and trust fees - This area is over budget by $6,251 in July and over budget by $5,955 for the year. The over-run in July is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.

o. Other - This area is under budget by $387 in July and under budget $1,142 for the year. No significant variances.

p. Expense allocation - This area is favorable to budget by $4,433 in July and is favorable to budget by $4,197 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.

- q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Board meeting costs (down $4.3K), lower Informatics costs (down $2.8K), lower professional Development (down $1.3K), lower Research (down $1.3K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $1.9K).
- r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.
- s. Printing - This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

Overall, even with the shortfall in revenue (where 57% is due to the NDA), the Academy is off to a fairly good start to the year. After two months, the Academy's Operating Deficit results are $51,799 lower (better) than the budget. Even though investments are down, looking at today's results gives me great hope that August will recover the losses from July and more.

IV. Foundation Preliminary July Financials (A8)

The Foundation's results for the month of July were not positive. This is primarily due to a shortfall in Member Contribution revenue (down $17.8K). Expenses were slightly under budget to help offset the revenue shortfall. However, not enough to make up the difference. The Foundation had an Operating Deficit target of $13,501. Unfortunately, due to the revenue shortfall, this was $30,662. Investment losses, similar to the Academy, increased the deficit. The result was a Net Deficit of $251,076.

Again, assuming the investments hold or continue to grow in August, this should turn-around when August Financials are completed. The Foundation's returns for the month of August, through yesterday, were $480,696. So, this should help get the Foundation back onto solid ground. In addition, the shortfall in revenue is primarily due to Member Contributions. Since we are early in the year, I could see this area catching up to the budget at a later date.

On year to date basis, the Foundation is running an Operating Deficit of $109,057 which is $19,694 higher (worse) than budget. Again, it is primarily due to the timing of Member donations. So, this small gap may close as the year progresses. Even with the under-run in July, the Foundation's Net Assets are holding strong at $22.3M.

V. CDR's Preliminary July Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in July operationally. CDR had an Operating Deficit budget of $143,099. The actual results were $83,918 lower (better). This was due to higher revenue (up $44,690) and lower expenses (down $39,129). Unfortunately, as is the case with everyone else, CDR was hurt by Investment losses of $87,763.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGs/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small. Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

2. I think we need to address Mary Beth's salary at some point.
3. We need to approve the moving of $500,000 into cash. (preferably into my checking account, I will gladly send you my information if you need it?)

I know we all will want a FNCE update on Tuesday if you can give us one please?

On another note, how did Merievelyn take the news about funding?

I love the Disney analogy. I just wish it would work for the FNCE presentation!

All,

Another month is rolling around and we have a call on Tuesday, August 26th at 1 p.m. CDT. I have heard from both Aida and Milton that they will not be able to attend. That still leaves us with enough voting members to have a meeting. If anyone cannot attend, please let me know as soon as possible. You should have received the webinar invitation from the IT team. If you have not, please let me know. Our focus of the call will be;

1. Final June Financials
2. Preliminary July Financials

Now, onto the financial results.

I. June adjustments

As is customary, the first presentation of a month's financials get scrubbed a second time before they go final. In the second review of the financials, staff did not make any adjustments to the actual results. We did make a few adjustments to the budgets. The Academy expense budget was reduced by $7,930. In addition, there were adjustments made to the DPGS due to a change in the program of work. Both changes were small and did not impact the actual financial results in June.

II. Investments

- July did not turn out to be a very good month for Investments. When I wrote this narrative last month, the combined investment portfolios were up in July by $430,000. Unfortunately, the combined investment portfolios actually ended up losing nearly $614,000. So, the month ended with a quick, hard drop. It kind of reminded me of the Tower of Terror at Disney World. You get that sudden jolt before the elevator drops and then it stabilizes and may go back up. It is scary, but, everything ends up fine and we end up enjoying the ride (Okay Mary, I know you will have a comment on this analogy!!! J). Well, it looks like August is giving us a lift. Through yesterday, the combined portfolios were up $1,314,000. So, through August 20th, we have recouped the losses from July and added another $700,000. So that's exciting. However, just like the Tower of Terror, there may be another jolt. So, I am cautiously optimistic, but, can't predict what will happen over the next 7 trading days. Today, the market has started higher. I hope it holds.

III. Academy preliminary July Financials (A10)

In July, the Academy operational results were better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $717,965 in July. The actual result is a loss of $685,077. Expense under-runs in July were the primary driver of the better operational performance. Expenses under-ran the budget by $84,528. This was offset by an under-run in Revenue of $51,640. The under-run in revenue sounds bad. However, in our original budget, the NDA revenue was to begin in July. Since the Board decided to move in another direction, this resulted in a revenue miss of $40,000. So, backing out the NDA, the revenue shortfall was only $11,640. For those of you that like percentages, that is 99.09920791%. That isn't too bad. The Investment results did make the picture less positive with losses of $225,387. So operationally, the Academy did $32,888 better than the budget, but, due to the investment losses, ended the month with a deficit of $910,465 which was $305,095 higher (worse) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $7,081 in July and is over budget by $11,766 for the year. Membership dues continued the strong start to the year. Overall, the membership revenues are higher than budget by $10.2K. In July, the majority of this over-run is due to application and reinstatement fees. None-the-less, this is a good start for the year. Still too early to get excited. However, each month that we are over budget increases our optimism. The over-run in Membership was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.1K).
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $43,732 in July and is under budget by $37,709 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to NDA revenue (down $40K). This will continue throughout the fiscal year due to the decision by the Board to move forward with this program in another format. The FAC should discuss whether or not to recommend to the board that this revenue be removed from the budget. The remaining under-run in July was due to lower professional development (down $3.7K).
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $16,330 in July and is under budget by $37,046 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $23.4K) and lower across all other (down $1.0K) offset by higher list rental (up $8.1K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $1,074 in July and is under budget by $9,867 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products (down $1.2K).

- e. Advertising – This area is on target in July and under budget by $1,696 for the year. Nothing was budgeted or received in July.
- f. All grants - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Con Agra (down $6.9K) offset by higher Research (up $3.3K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.
- h. Other – This area was over budget by $6,006 in July and is over budget by $7,908 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $1.2K), higher licensure revenue (up $5.0K) offset by lower across all other programs (down $0.2K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.
- b. Publications – This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)
- c. Travel – This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).
- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).
- e. Postage and Mailing Service – This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership

expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is over budget by $956 in July and over budget by $1,315 for the year. No significant variances.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $822 in July and under budget by $1,475 for the year. The under-run in July is due to the lower utility costs.

h. Telephone and communications – This is over budget by $153 in July and over budget by $421 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.

i. Commissions – This area is on target for July and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. No sales were recorded in July and, therefore, no commissions were recorded in July.

j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $1,101 in July and under budget by $7,057 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower website hosting costs (down $4.3K) and lower maintenance costs (down $1.6K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine web hosting costs (up $4.8K).

k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).

l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.

m. Depreciation – This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary

n. Bank and trust fees – This area is over budget by $6,251 in July and over budget by $5,955 for the year. The over-run in July is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.

- o. Other – This area is under budget by $387 in July and under budget $1,142 for the year. No significant variances.
- p. Expense allocation – This area is favorable to budget by $4,433 in July and is favorable to budget by $4,197 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Board meeting costs (down $4.3K), lower Informatics costs (down $2.8K), lower professional Development (down $1.3K), lower Research (down $1.3K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $1.9K).
- r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.
- s. Printing – This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

Overall, even with the shortfall in revenue (where 57% is due to the NDA), the Academy is off to a fairly good start to the year. After two months, the Academy's Operating Deficit results are $51,799 lower (better) than the budget. Even though investments are down, looking at today's results gives me great hope that August will recover the losses from July and more.

IV. Foundation Preliminary July Financials (A8)

The Foundation's results for the month of July were not positive. This is primarily due to a shortfall in Member Contribution revenue (down $17.8K). Expenses were slightly under budget to help offset the revenue shortfall. However, not enough to make up the difference. The Foundation had an Operating Deficit target of $13,501. Unfortunately, due to the revenue shortfall, this was $30,662. Investment losses, similar to the Academy, increased the deficit. The result was a Net Deficit of $251,076.

Again, assuming the investments hold or continue to grow in August, this should turn-around when August Financials are completed. The Foundation's returns for the month of August, through yesterday, were $480,696. So, this should help get the Foundation back onto solid ground. In addition, the shortfall in revenue is primarily due to Member Contributions. Since we are early in the year, I could see this area catching up to the budget at a later date.

On year to date basis, the Foundation is running an Operating Deficit of $109,057 which is $19,694 higher (worse) than budget. Again, it is primarily due to the timing of Member donations. So, this small gap may close as the year progresses. Even with the under-run in July, the Foundation's Net Assets are holding strong at $22.3M.

V. CDR's Preliminary July Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in July operationally. CDR had an Operating Deficit budget of $143,099. The actual results were $83,918 lower (better). This was due to higher revenue (up $44,690) and lower expenses (down $39,129). Unfortunately, as is the case with everyone else, CDR was hurt by Investment losses of $87,763.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGS/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small.

Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

- ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

That definitely is what this year is going to be like for sure!!!

Attached is the latest proposal for Pat's compensation. You can look at what is proposed for budget target, it specifically addresses the NDA issue.

Donna,

One of Pat's targets is actually achieving the Operating income target . Since this increases the expenses, it might make it more difficult to achieve the current target. At least that is what Pat gave to me on Wednesday!!! J.

Pat's compensation is covered and I did give Pat her bonus check on Wednesday. So, now it is just about her signing the contract and getting her increase.

I will look for a roller coaster for the presentation!!!

Paul, I think they have taken the money out of the budget part of Pat's compensation as a result of the change. It should now not effect her bonus, but it will be aggravating for you if we do not make the change. I am OK with discussing it in September and then leaving the final action on it until October in Executive Session. At least we do not have to worry about Pat's Compensation.

We do have Six Flags in Georgia, so maybe we could use something from them for an idea for FNCE? You are so much better at this than I am!!!

Donna,

I agree. I did not put the COO salary issue onto the agenda because other staff see the e-mail. I will send to you a "write-up/request" this afternoon on the COO change. It will be on the Agenda as an action item. The NDA is on the Agenda, but, not as an action item. I thought for this meeting it would worth discussing potential action steps. There isn't any way the Academy can "make-up" the lost revenue on this initiative that was in the budget. So, in the event that the FAC wants to vote to adjust the budget, that would be fine. However, I think we could do that in September and then you could ask to discuss this in October. It might be something discussed in Executive Session to allow for a free and open dialog on this issue; especially since it now impacts Pat's compensation.

Since great minds think alike, I agree, we can address the cash as well. I am attaching the agenda for you. I did not include a FNCE update due to the time constraints, but, I can provide one during new business if you like. Let me know.

I don't know how Merievelyn took the news. Mary Gregoire expected it to happen. I mentioned to Mary that had Merievelyn been open to your suggestion of the Academy funding an "deficit" that ACEND had in FY15, then it probably would have not moved on to the loan. The lack of flexibility and willingness to evaluate options outside of the Academy funding it outright drove the committee to the resulting motion. Mary agreed. So, we shall see.

As for the Disney analogy; I will see what I can do. Maybe there is an imbedded video somewhere????

B. Expenses

a. Personnel - This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.

b. Publications - This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

c. Travel - This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).

e. Postage and Mailing Service - This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

f. Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is over budget by $956 in July and over budget by $1,315 for the year. No significant variances.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $822 in July and under budget by $1,475 for the year. The under-run in July is due to the lower utility costs.

h. Telephone and communications - This is over budget by $153 in July and over budget by $421 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.

i. Commissions - This area is on target for July and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. No sales were recorded in July and, therefore, no commissions were recorded in July.

j. Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $1,101 in July and under budget by $7,057 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower website hosting costs (down $4.3K) and lower maintenance costs (down $1.6K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine web hosting costs (up $4.8K).

k. Advertising and Promotion - This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).

l. Insurance - This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.

m. Depreciation - This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary

n. Bank and trust fees - This area is over budget by $6,251 in July and over budget by $5,955 for the year. The over-run in July is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.

o. Other - This area is under budget by $387 in July and under budget $1,142 for the year. No significant variances.

p. Expense allocation - This area is favorable to budget by $4,433 in July and is favorable to budget by $4,197 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.

- q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Board meeting costs (down $4.3K), lower Informatics costs (down $2.8K), lower professional Development (down $1.3K), lower Research (down $1.3K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $1.9K).
- r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.
- s. Printing - This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

Overall, even with the shortfall in revenue (where 57% is due to the NDA), the Academy is off to a fairly good start to the year. After two months, the Academy's Operating Deficit results are $51,799 lower (better) than the budget. Even though investments are down, looking at today's results gives me great hope that August will recover the losses from July and more.

IV. Foundation Preliminary July Financials (A8)

The Foundation's results for the month of July were not positive. This is primarily due to a shortfall in Member Contribution revenue (down $17.8K). Expenses were slightly under budget to help offset the revenue shortfall. However, not enough to make up the difference. The Foundation had an Operating Deficit target of $13,501. Unfortunately, due to the revenue shortfall, this was $30,662. Investment losses, similar to the Academy, increased the deficit. The result was a Net Deficit of $251,076.

Again, assuming the investments hold or continue to grow in August, this should turn-around when August Financials are completed. The Foundation's returns for the month of August, through yesterday, were $480,696. So, this should help get the Foundation back onto solid ground. In addition, the shortfall in revenue is primarily due to Member Contributions. Since we are early in the year, I could see this area catching up to the budget at a later date.

On year to date basis, the Foundation is running an Operating Deficit of $109,057 which is $19,694 higher (worse) than budget. Again, it is primarily due to the timing of Member donations. So, this small gap may close as the year progresses. Even with the under-run in July, the Foundation's Net Assets are holding strong at $22.3M.

V. CDR's Preliminary July Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in July operationally. CDR had an Operating Deficit budget of $143,099. The actual results were $83,918 lower (better). This was due to higher revenue (up $44,690) and lower expenses (down $39,129). Unfortunately, as is the case with everyone else, CDR was hurt by Investment losses of $87,763.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGs/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small. Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

Donna,

One of Pat's targets is actually achieving the Operating income target. Since this increases the expenses, it might make it more difficult to achieve the current target. At least that is what Pat gave to me on Wednesday!!! J.

Pat's compensation is covered and I did give Pat her bonus check on Wednesday. So, now it is just about her signing the contract and getting her increase.

I will look for a roller coaster for the presentation!!!

Paul, I think they have taken the money out of the budget part of Pat's compensation as a result of the change. It should now not effect her bonus, but it will be aggravating for you if we do not make the change. I am OK with discussing it in September and then leaving the final action on it until October in Executive Session. At least we do not have to worry about Pat's Compensation.

We do have Six Flags in Georgia, so maybe we could use something from them for an idea for FNCE? You are so much better at this than I am!!!

Donna,

I agree. I did not put the COO salary issue onto the agenda because other staff see the e-mail. I will send to you a "write-up/request" this afternoon on the COO change. It will be on the Agenda as an action item. The NDA is on the Agenda, but, not as an action item. I thought for this meeting it would worth discussing potential action steps. There isn't any way the Academy can "make-up" the lost revenue on this initiative that was in the budget. So, in the event that the FAC wants to vote to adjust the budget, that would be fine. However, I think we could do that in September and then you could ask to discuss this in October. It might be something discussed in Executive Session to allow for a free and open dialog on this issue; especially since it now impacts Pat's compensation.

Since great minds think alike, I agree, we can address the cash as well. I am attaching the agenda for you. I did not include a FNCE update due to the time constraints, but, I can provide one during new business if you like. Let me know.

I don't know how Merievelyn took the news. Mary Gregoire expected it to happen. I mentioned to Mary that had Merievelyn been open to your suggestion of the Academy funding an "deficit" that ACEND had in FY15, then it probably would have not moved on to the loan. The lack of flexibility and willingness to evaluate options outside of the Academy funding it outright drove the committee to the resulting motion. Mary agreed. So, we shall see.

As for the Disney analogy; I will see what I can do. Maybe there is an imbedded video somewhere????

Paul, I think we need to go ahead and add three things to the agenda for next week.

1. NDA - I am in favor of amending the budget. If only, for the fact that you will not have to address it every month in your report as to why we are under budget. :)
2. I think we need to address Mary Beth's salary at some point.
3. We need to approve the moving of $500,000 into cash. (preferably into my checking account, I will gladly send you my information if you need it?)

I know we all will want a FNCE update on Tuesday if you can give us one please?

On another note, how did Merievelyn take the news about funding?

I love the Disney analogy. I just wish it would work for the FNCE presentation!

All,

Another month is rolling around and we have a call on Tuesday, August 26th at 1 p.m. CDT. I have heard from both Aida and Milton that they will not be able to attend. That still leaves us with enough voting members to have a meeting. If anyone cannot attend, please let me know as soon as possible. You should have received the webinar invitation from the IT team. If you have not, please let me know. Our focus of the call will be;

1. Final June Financials
2. Preliminary July Financials

Now, onto the financial results.

I. June adjustments

As is customary, the first presentation of a month's financials get scrubbed a second time before they go final. In the second review of the financials, staff did not make any adjustments to the actual results. We did make a few adjustments to the budgets. The Academy expense budget was reduced by $7,930. In addition, there were adjustments made to the DPGS due to a change in the program of work. Both changes were small and did not impact the actual financial results in June.

II. Investments

July did not turn out to be a very good month for Investments. When I wrote this narrative last month, the combined investment portfolios were up in July by $430,000. Unfortunately, the combined investment portfolios actually ended up losing nearly $614,000. So, the month ended with a quick, hard drop. It kind of reminded me of the Tower of Terror at Disney World. You get that sudden jolt before the elevator drops and then it stabilizes and may go back up. It is scary, but, everything ends up fine and we end up enjoying the ride (Okay Mary, I know you will have a comment on this analogy!!! J). Well, it looks like August is giving us a lift. Through yesterday, the combined portfolios were up $1,314,000. So, through August 20th, we have recouped the losses from July and added another $700,000. So that's exciting. However, just like the Tower of Terror, there may be another jolt. So, I am cautiously optimistic, but, can't predict what will happen over the next 7 trading days. Today, the market has started higher. I hope it holds.

III. Academy preliminary July Financials (A10)

In July, the Academy operational results were better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $717,965 in July. The actual result is a loss of $685,077. Expense under-runs in July were the primary driver of the better operational performance. Expenses under-ran the budget by $84,528. This was offset by an under-run in Revenue of $51,640. The under-run in revenue sounds bad. However, in our original budget, the NDA revenue was to begin in July. Since the Board decided to move in another direction, this resulted in a revenue miss of $40,000. So, backing out the NDA, the revenue shortfall was only $11,640. For those of you that like percentages, that is 99.09920791%. That isn't too bad. The Investment results did make the picture less positive with losses of $225,387. So operationally, the Academy did $32,888 better than the budget, but, due to the investment losses, ended the month with a deficit of $910,465 which was $305,095 higher (worse) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $7,081 in July and is over budget by $11,766 for the year. Membership dues continued the strong start to the year. Overall, the membership revenues are higher than budget by $10.2K. In July, the majority of this over-run is due to application and reinstatement fees. None-the-less, this is a good start for the year. Still too early to get excited. However, each month that we are over budget increases our optimism. The over-run in Membership was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.1K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $43,732 in July and is under budget by $37,709 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to NDA revenue (down $40K). This will continue throughout the fiscal year due to the decision by the Board to move forward with this program in another format. The FAC should discuss whether or not to recommend to the board that this revenue be removed from the budget. The remaining under-run in July was due to lower professional development (down $3.7K).

- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $16,330 in July and is under budget by $37,046 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $23.4K) and lower across all other (down $1.0K) offset by higher list rental (up $8.1K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $1,074 in July and is under budget by $9,867 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products (down $1.2K).
- e. Advertising – This area is on target in July and under budget by $1,696 for the year. Nothing was budgeted or received in July.
- f. All grants - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Con Agra (down $6.9K) offset by higher Research (up $3.3K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.
- h. Other – This area was over budget by $6,006 in July and is over budget by $7,908 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $1.2K), higher licensure revenue (up $5.0K) offset by lower across all other programs (down $0.2K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.
- b. Publications – This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)
- c. Travel – This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).
- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).

e. Postage and Mailing Service – This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).

l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. - q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. - r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.
- s. Printing – This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGS/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small. Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

- ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

Paul, I think they have taken the money out of the budget part of Pat's compensation as a result of the change. It should now not effect her bonus, but it will be aggravating for you if we do not make the change. I am OK with discussing it in September and then leaving the final action on it until October in Executive Session. At least we do not have to worry about Pat's Compensation.

We do have Six Flags in Georgia, so maybe we could use something from them for an idea for FNCE? You are so much better at this than I am!!!

Donna,

I agree. I did not put the COO salary issue onto the agenda because other staff see the e-mail. I will send to you a "write-up/request" this afternoon on the COO change. It will be on the Agenda as an action item. The NDA is on the Agenda, but, not as an action item. I thought for this meeting it would worth discussing potential action steps. There isn't any way the Academy can "make-up" the lost revenue on this initiative that was in the budget. So, in the event that the FAC wants to vote to adjust the budget, that would be fine. However, I think we could do that in September and then you could ask to discuss this in October. It might be something discussed in Executive Session to allow for a free and open dialog on this issue; especially since it now impacts Pat's compensation.

Since great minds think alike, I agree, we can address the cash as well. I am attaching the agenda for you. I did not include a FNCE update due to the time constraints, but, I can provide one during new business if you like. Let me know.

I don't know how Merievelyn took the news. Mary Gregoire expected it to happen. I mentioned to Mary that had Merievelyn been open to your suggestion of the Academy funding an "deficit" that ACEND had in FY15, then it probably would have not moved on to the loan. The lack of flexibility and willingness to evaluate options outside of the Academy funding it outright drove the committee to the resulting motion. Mary agreed. So, we shall see.

As for the Disney analogy; I will see what I can do. Maybe there is an imbedded video somewhere????

Paul, I think we need to go ahead and add three things to the agenda for next week.

1. NDA - I am in favor of amending the budget. If only, for the fact that you will not have to address it every month in your report as to why we are under budget. :)
2. I think we need to address Mary Beth's salary at some point.
3. We need to approve the moving of $500,000 into cash. (preferably into my checking account, I will gladly send you my information if you need it?)

I know we all will want a FNCE update on Tuesday if you can give us one please?

On another note, how did Merievelyn take the news about funding?

I love the Disney analogy. I just wish it would work for the FNCE presentation!

All,

Another month is rolling around and we have a call on Tuesday, August 26th at 1 p.m. CDT. I have heard from both Aida and Milton that they will not be able to attend. That still leaves us with enough voting members to have a meeting. If anyone cannot attend, please let me know as soon as possible. You should have received the webinar invitation from the IT team. If you have not, please let me know. Our focus of the call will be;

1. Final June Financials
2. Preliminary July Financials

Now, onto the financial results.

I. June adjustments

As is customary, the first presentation of a month's financials get scrubbed a second time before they go final. In the second review of the financials, staff did not make any adjustments to the actual results. We did make a few adjustments to the budgets. The Academy expense budget was reduced by $7,930. In addition, there were adjustments made to the DPGS due to a change in the program of work. Both changes were small and did not impact the actual financial results in June.

II. Investments

July did not turn out to be a very good month for Investments. When I wrote this narrative last month, the combined investment portfolios were up in July by $430,000. Unfortunately, the combined investment portfolios actually ended up losing nearly $614,000. So, the month ended with a quick, hard drop. It kind of reminded me of the Tower of Terror at Disney World. You get that sudden jolt before the elevator drops and then it stabilizes and may go back up. It is scary, but, everything ends up fine and we end up enjoying the ride (Okay Mary, I know you will have a comment on this analogy!!! J). Well, it looks like August is giving us a lift. Through yesterday, the combined portfolios were up $1,314,000. So, through August 20th, we have recouped the losses from July and added another $700,000. So that's exciting. However, just like the Tower of Terror, there may be another jolt. So, I am cautiously optimistic, but, can't predict what will happen over the next 7 trading days. Today, the market has started higher. I hope it holds.

III. Academy preliminary July Financials (A10)

In July, the Academy operational results were better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $717,965 in July. The actual result is a loss of $685,077. Expense under-runs in July were the primary driver of the better operational performance. Expenses under-ran the budget by $84,528. This was offset by an under-run in Revenue of $51,640. The under-run in revenue sounds bad. However, in our original budget, the NDA revenue was to begin in July. Since the Board decided to move in another direction, this resulted in a revenue miss of $40,000. So, backing out the NDA, the revenue shortfall was only $11,640. For those of you that like percentages, that is 99.09920791%. That isn't too bad. The Investment results did make the picture less positive with losses of $225,387. So operationally, the Academy did $32,888 better than the budget, but, due to the investment losses, ended the month with a deficit of $910,465 which was $305,095 higher (worse) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $7,081 in July and is over budget by $11,766 for the year. Membership dues continued the strong start to the year. Overall, the membership revenues are higher than budget by $10.2K. In July, the majority of this over-run is due to application and reinstatement fees. None-the-less, this is a good start for the year. Still too early to get excited. However, each month that we are over budget increases our optimism. The over-run in Membership was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.1K).
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $43,732 in July and is under budget by $37,709 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to NDA revenue (down $40K). This will continue throughout the fiscal year due to the decision by the Board to move forward with this program in another format. The FAC should discuss whether or not to recommend to the board that this revenue be removed from the budget. The remaining under-run in July was due to lower professional development (down $3.7K).

c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $16,330 in July and is under budget by $37,046 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $23.4K) and lower across all other (down $1.0K) offset by higher list rental (up $8.1K).

d. Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $1,074 in July and is under budget by $9,867 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products (down $1.2K).

e. Advertising - This area is on target in July and under budget by $1,696 for the year. Nothing was budgeted or received in July.

f. All grants - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Con Agra (down $6.9K) offset by higher Research (up $3.3K).

g. Sponsorships - This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.

h. Other - This area was over budget by $6,006 in July and is over budget by $7,908 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $1.2K), higher licensure revenue (up $5.0K) offset by lower across all other programs (down $0.2K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel - This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.

b. Publications - This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

c. Travel - This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).

- e. Postage and Mailing Service - This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is over budget by $956 in July and over budget by $1,315 for the year. No significant variances.
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $822 in July and under budget by $1,475 for the year. The under-run in July is due to the lower utility costs.
- h. Telephone and communications - This is over budget by $153 in July and over budget by $421 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.
- i. Commissions - This area is on target for July and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. No sales were recorded in July and, therefore, no commissions were recorded in July.
- j. Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $1,101 in July and under budget by $7,057 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower website hosting costs (down $4.3K) and lower maintenance costs (down $1.6K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine web hosting costs (up $4.8K).
- k. Advertising and Promotion - This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).
- l. Insurance - This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.
- m. Depreciation - This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary
- n. Bank and trust fees - This area is over budget by $6,251 in July and over budget by $5,955 for the year. The over-run in July is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.
- o. Other - This area is under budget by $387 in July and under budget $1,142 for the year. No significant variances.
- p. Expense allocation - This area is favorable to budget by $4,433 in July and is favorable to budget by $4,197 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.
- q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Board meeting costs (down $4.3K), lower Informatics costs (down $2.8K), lower professional Development (down $1.3K), lower Research (down $1.3K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $1.9K).
- r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.

s. Printing - This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

Overall, even with the shortfall in revenue (where 57% is due to the NDA), the Academy is off to a fairly good start to the year. After two months, the Academy's Operating Deficit results are $51,799 lower (better) than the budget. Even though investments are down, looking at today's results gives me great hope that August will recover the losses from July and more.

IV. Foundation Preliminary July Financials (A8)

The Foundation's results for the month of July were not positive. This is primarily due to a shortfall in Member Contribution revenue (down $17.8K). Expenses were slightly under budget to help offset the revenue shortfall. However, not enough to make up the difference. The Foundation had an Operating Deficit target of $13,501. Unfortunately, due to the revenue shortfall, this was $30,662. Investment losses, similar to the Academy, increased the deficit. The result was a Net Deficit of $251,076.

Again, assuming the investments hold or continue to grow in August, this should turn-around when August Financials are completed. The Foundation's returns for the month of August, through yesterday, were $480,696. So, this should help get the Foundation back onto solid ground. In addition, the shortfall in revenue is primarily due to Member Contributions. Since we are early in the year, I could see this area catching up to the budget at a later date.

On year to date basis, the Foundation is running an Operating Deficit of $109,057 which is $19,694 higher (worse) than budget. Again, it is primarily due to the timing of Member donations. So, this small gap may close as the year progresses. Even with the under-run in July, the Foundation's Net Assets are holding strong at $22.3M.

V. CDR's Preliminary July Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in July operationally. CDR had an Operating Deficit budget of $143,099. The actual results were $83,918 lower (better). This was due to higher revenue (up $44,690) and lower expenses (down $39,129). Unfortunately, as is the case with everyone else, CDR was hurt by Investment losses of $87,763.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGs/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small. Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

It kind of reminded me of the Tower of Terror at Disney World. You get that sudden jolt before the elevator drops and then it stabilizes and may go back up. It is scary, but, everything ends up fine and we end up enjoying the ride (Okay Mary, I know you will have a comment on this analogy!!! J). Well, it looks like August is giving us a lift. Through yesterday, the combined portfolios were up $1,314,000. So, through August 20th, we have recouped the losses from July and added another $700,000. So that's exciting. However, just like the Tower of Terror, there may be another jolt. So, I am cautiously optimistic, but, can't predict what will happen over the next 7 trading days. Today, the market has started higher. I hope it holds.

III. Academy preliminary July Financials (A10)

In July, the Academy operational results were better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $717,965 in July. The actual result is a loss of $685,077. Expense under-runs in July were the primary driver of the better operational performance. Expenses under-ran the budget by $84,528. This was offset by an under-run in Revenue of $51,640. The under-run in revenue sounds bad. However, in our original budget, the NDA revenue was to begin in July. Since the Board decided to move in another direction, this resulted in a revenue miss of $40,000. So, backing out the NDA, the revenue shortfall was only $11,640. For those of you that like percentages, that is 99.09920791%. That isn't too bad. The Investment results did make the picture less positive with losses of $225,387. So operationally, the Academy did $32,888 better than the budget, but, due to the investment losses, ended the month with a deficit of $910,465 which was $305,095 higher (worse) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $7,081 in July and is over budget by $11,766 for the year. Membership dues continued the strong start to the year. Overall, the membership revenues are higher than budget by $10.2K. In July, the majority of this over-run is due to application and reinstatement fees. None-the-less, this is a good start for the year. Still too early to get excited. However, each month that we are over budget increases our optimism. The over-run in Membership was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.1K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $43,732 in July and is under budget by $37,709 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to NDA revenue (down $40K). This will continue throughout the fiscal year due to the decision by the Board to move forward with this program in another format. The FAC should discuss whether or not to recommend to the board that this revenue be removed from the budget. The remaining under-run in July was due to lower professional development (down $3.7K).

c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $16,330 in July and is under budget by $37,046 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $23.4K) and lower across all other (down $1.0K) offset by higher list rental (up $8.1K).

- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $1,074 in July and is under budget by $9,867 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products (down $1.2K).
- e. Advertising – This area is on target in July and under budget by $1,696 for the year. Nothing was budgeted or received in July.
- f. All grants - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Con Agra (down $6.9K) offset by higher Research (up $3.3K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.
- h. Other – This area was over budget by $6,006 in July and is over budget by $7,908 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $1.2K), higher licensure revenue (up $5.0K) offset by lower across all other programs (down $0.2K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.
- b. Publications – This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)
- c. Travel – This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).
- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).

- e. Postage and Mailing Service – This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)
- f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is over budget by $956 in July and over budget by $1,315 for the year. No significant variances.
- g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $822 in July and under budget by $1,475 for the year. The under-run in July is due to the lower utility costs.
- h. Telephone and communications – This is over budget by $153 in July and over budget by $421 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.
- i. Commissions – This area is on target for July and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. No sales were recorded in July and, therefore, no commissions were recorded in July.
- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $1,101 in July and under budget by $7,057 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower website hosting costs (down $4.3K) and lower maintenance costs (down $1.6K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine web hosting costs (up $4.8K).
- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).
- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.
- m. Depreciation – This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary
- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is over budget by $6,251 in July and over budget by $5,955 for the year. The over-run in July is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.

o. Other – This area is under budget by $387 in July and under budget $1,142 for the year. No significant variances.

p. Expense allocation – This area is favorable to budget by $4,433 in July and is favorable to budget by $4,197 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.

q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Board meeting costs (down $4.3K), lower Informatics costs (down $2.8K), lower professional Development (down $1.3K), lower Research (down $1.3K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $1.9K).

r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.

s. Printing – This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

Overall, even with the shortfall in revenue (where 57% is due to the NDA), the Academy is off to a fairly good start to the year. After two months, the Academy's Operating Deficit results are $51,799 lower (better) than the budget. Even though investments are down, looking at today's results gives me great hope that August will recover the losses from July and more.

IV. Foundation Preliminary July Financials (A8)

The Foundation's results for the month of July were not positive. This is primarily due to a shortfall in Member Contribution revenue (down $17.8K). Expenses were slightly under budget to help offset the revenue shortfall. However, not enough to make up the difference. The Foundation had an Operating Deficit target of $13,501. Unfortunately, due to the revenue shortfall, this was $30,662. Investment losses, similar to the Academy, increased the deficit. The result was a Net Deficit of $251,076.

Again, assuming the investments hold or continue to grow in August, this should turn-around when August Financials are completed. The Foundation's returns for the month of August, through yesterday, were $480,696. So, this should help get the Foundation back onto solid ground. In addition, the shortfall in revenue is primarily due to Member Contributions. Since we are early in the year, I could see this area catching up to the budget at a later date.

On year to date basis, the Foundation is running an Operating Deficit of $109,057 which is $19,694 higher (worse) than budget. Again, it is primarily due to the timing of Member donations. So, this small gap may close as the year progresses. Even with the under-run in July, the Foundation's Net Assets are holding strong at $22.3M.

V. CDR's Preliminary July Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in July operationally. CDR had an Operating Deficit budget of $143,099. The actual results were $83,918 lower (better). This was due to higher revenue (up $44,690) and lower expenses (down $39,129). Unfortunately, as is the case with everyone else, CDR was hurt by Investment losses of $87,763.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGS/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small. Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

- ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

Paul, I think we need to go ahead and add three things to the agenda for next week.

1. NDA - I am in favor of amending the budget. If only, for the fact that you will not have to address it every month in your report as to why we are under budget. :)
2. I think we need to address Mary Beth's salary at some point.
3. We need to approve the moving of $500,000 into cash. (preferably into my checking account, I will gladly send you my information if you need it?)

I know we all will want a FNCE update on Tuesday if you can give us one please?

On another note, how did Merievelyn take the news about funding?

I love the Disney analogy. I just wish it would work for the FNCE presentation!

All,

Another month is rolling around and we have a call on Tuesday, August 26th at 1 p.m. CDT. I have heard from both Aida and Milton that they will not be able to attend. That still leaves us with enough voting members to have a meeting. If anyone cannot attend, please let me know as soon as possible. You should have received the webinar invitation from the IT team. If you have not, please let me know. Our focus of the call will be;

1. Final June Financials
2. Preliminary July Financials

Now, onto the financial results.

I. June adjustments

As is customary, the first presentation of a month's financials get scrubbed a second time before they go final. In the second review of the financials, staff did not make any adjustments to the actual results. We did make a few adjustments to the budgets. The Academy expense budget was reduced by $7,930. In addition, there were adjustments made to the DPGS due to a change in the program of work. Both changes were small and did not impact the actual financial results in June.

II. Investments

July did not turn out to be a very good month for Investments. When I wrote this narrative last month, the combined investment portfolios were up in July by $430,000. Unfortunately, the combined investment portfolios actually ended up losing nearly $614,000. So, the month ended with a quick, hard drop. It kind of reminded me of the Tower of Terror at Disney World. You get that sudden jolt before the elevator drops and then it stabilizes and may go back up. It is scary, but, everything ends up fine and we end up enjoying the ride (Okay Mary, I know you will have a comment on this analogy!!! J). Well, it looks like August is giving us a lift. Through yesterday, the combined portfolios were up $1,314,000. So, through August 20th, we have recouped the losses from July and added another $700,000. So that's exciting. However, just like the Tower of Terror, there may be another jolt. So, I am cautiously optimistic, but, can't predict what will happen over the next 7 trading days. Today, the market has started higher. I hope it holds.

III. Academy preliminary July Financials (A10)

In July, the Academy operational results were better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $717,965 in July. The actual result is a loss of $685,077. Expense under-runs in July were the primary driver of the better operational performance. Expenses under-ran the budget by $84,528. This was offset by an under-run in Revenue of $51,640. The under-run in revenue sounds bad. However, in our original budget, the NDA revenue was to begin in July. Since the Board decided to move in another direction, this resulted in a revenue miss of $40,000. So, backing out the NDA, the revenue shortfall was only $11,640. For those of you that like percentages, that is 99.09920791%. That isn't too bad. The Investment results did make the picture less positive with losses of $225,387. So operationally, the Academy did $32,888 better than the budget, but, due to the investment losses, ended the month with a deficit of $910,465 which was $305,095 higher (worse) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $7,081 in July and is over budget by $11,766 for the year. Membership dues continued the strong start to the year. Overall, the membership revenues are higher than budget by $10.2K. In July, the majority of this over-run is due to application and reinstatement fees. None-the-less, this is a good start for the year. Still too early to get excited. However, each month that we are over budget increases our optimism. The over-run in Membership was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.1K).
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $43,732 in July and is under budget by $37,709 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to NDA revenue (down $40K). This will continue throughout the fiscal year due to the decision by the Board to move forward with this program in another format. The FAC should discuss whether or not to recommend to the board that this revenue be removed from the budget. The remaining under-run in July was due to lower professional development (down $3.7K).
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $16,330 in July and is under budget by $37,046 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $23.4K) and lower across all other (down $1.0K) offset by higher list rental (up $8.1K).
- d. Subscriptions - This area is under budget by $1,074 in July and is under budget by $9,867 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products (down $1.2K).

- h. Other - This area was over budget by $6,006 in July and is over budget by $7,908 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $1.2K), higher licensure revenue (up $5.0K) offset by lower across all other programs (down $0.2K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel - This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.
- b. Publications - This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

c. Travel - This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).

e. Postage and Mailing Service - This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

f. Office Supplies and Equipment - This area is over budget by $956 in July and over budget by $1,315 for the year. No significant variances.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $822 in July and under budget by $1,475 for the year. The under-run in July is due to the lower utility costs.

h. Telephone and communications - This is over budget by $153 in July and over budget by $421 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.

i. Commissions - This area is on target for July and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. No sales were recorded in July and, therefore, no commissions were recorded in July.

j. Computer Expenses - This area is under budget by $1,101 in July and under budget by $7,057 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower website hosting costs (down $4.3K) and lower maintenance costs (down $1.6K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine web hosting costs (up $4.8K).

k. Advertising and Promotion - This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).

l. Insurance - This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.

m. Depreciation - This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary

- n. Bank and trust fees - This area is over budget by $6,251 in July and over budget by $5,955 for the year. The over-run in July is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.
- o. Other - This area is under budget by $387 in July and under budget $1,142 for the year. No significant variances.
- p. Expense allocation - This area is favorable to budget by $4,433 in July and is favorable to budget by $4,197 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.
- q. Meeting services - This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Board meeting costs (down $4.3K), lower Informatics costs (down $2.8K), lower professional Development (down $1.3K), lower Research (down $1.3K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $1.9K).
- r. Legal and Audit - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.
- s. Printing - This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

Overall, even with the shortfall in revenue (where 57% is due to the NDA), the Academy is off to a fairly good start to the year. After two months, the Academy's Operating Deficit results are $51,799 lower (better) than the budget. Even though investments are down, looking at today's results gives me great hope that August will recover the losses from July and more.

IV. Foundation Preliminary July Financials (A8)

The Foundation's results for the month of July were not positive. This is primarily due to a shortfall in Member Contribution revenue (down $17.8K). Expenses were slightly under budget to help offset the revenue shortfall. However, not enough to make up the difference. The Foundation had an Operating Deficit target of $13,501. Unfortunately, due to the revenue shortfall, this was $30,662. Investment losses, similar to the Academy, increased the deficit. The result was a Net Deficit of $251,076.

Again, assuming the investments hold or continue to grow in August, this should turn-around when August Financials are completed. The Foundation's returns for the month of August, through yesterday, were $480,696. So, this should help get the Foundation back onto solid ground. In addition, the shortfall in revenue is primarily due to Member Contributions. Since we are early in the year, I could see this area catching up to the budget at a later date.

On year to date basis, the Foundation is running an Operating Deficit of $109,057 which is $19,694 higher (worse) than budget. Again, it is primarily due to the timing of Member donations. So, this small gap may close as the year progresses. Even with the under-run in July, the Foundation's Net Assets are holding strong at $22.3M.

V. CDR's Preliminary July Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in July operationally. CDR had an Operating Deficit budget of $143,099. The actual results were $83,918 lower (better). This was due to higher revenue (up $44,690) and lower expenses (down $39,129). Unfortunately, as is the case with everyone else, CDR was hurt by Investment losses of $87,763.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGs/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small. Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

CEO Compensation Committee, I approve the contract.

On another note, evidently, I have not been being included on all the emails that have been being sent to the rest of the committee. Some of the members of the CEO Compensation committee have noticed that Glenna sent out an email to everyone, but left me off. As the Academy Treasurer I should be included on all emails being sent to the committee. Thanks to several of the committee members for noticing that and forwarding me the email. I would like to think that as elected officials we would include everyone in all email correspondence that pertains to any committee we serve on.

Thanks Sonja for getting this important business done. I know you have other things you would like to move on to!

Hi Glenna, Evelyn, Ethan, Mary, Donna, Kay, Terri and Kathy,

As you can see in the email below, the Academy lawyer, Paula Goedert, has given her blessing to the changes Pat requested in the contract.

Let me know that you also give your blessing (or not with your suggestions) so she and I can sign it.

Many thanks!

Pat, What you are doing in terms of meeting with the doctor is your number one job. Call me tomorrow at work between 8-4:30. I wanted to call her out, but wanted some guidance from you in terms of should we just let it drop or continue to stir things up. We got what we wanted, and that was you for at least 4 more years as our CEO. She and I have already had a 30 minute conversation, where I told her that what she wrote in that email about me was totally out of line and not necessary. We can talk about the issues, but we do not need to throw stones at people publicly. I think Mary and I are on the same page and we may just call for a vote, because this whole process has taken way too much time. I think she just wants to hold onto anything she can be in charge of. Mary, Kay and I have real jobs and all this nonsense she tries to keep going is getting very old. We have a lot more Important things to focus on than her need for power. She is a sore loser! Call me tomorrow please.

I am shocked about leaving you out!! Glenna was incensed when that happened to a member on ACEND last year, but decided it must be a good tactic. I am really shaken by the fact she purported that I wanted the two years. Ethan "has her back " as we all know too well, and don't think for a minute she didn't tell him what to say. Last year in May when meeting with you, Mary, Ethan, Sonja, Kathy and Glenna at HQ after the Board meeting, Ethan asked what contract length I wanted --I originally said another five years but then said my hope is to stay for the 100th anniversary. Ethan said that sounded good and that the contract can be renewed based thereafter based on circumstances. I also said that if they don't like my performance , the Board has 90 or 60 days (can't remember) to dismiss me regardless of a contract.

That's what makes the two years disingenuous. I even told the eteam that I asked to stay through 2017. The only conversation I had with Sonja re the contract was the result of Paul telling her that he would not work as I was without contract for two months, so Sonja called and asked if I was ok with waiting for the discussion after the retreat. That being the case, I am feeling resentful that Glenna intimates that I took too long to make my changes- I only received it at the meeting with Sonja, Glenna, Kay and I think Evelyn. If I hadn't received a very generous bonus and a great review, I could better understand the term length.

I made modifications to the contract I ordinarily wouldn't to protect myself since my trust in fairness and honesty is no longer the same. The sentence about going to the Board for approval of references I may give after leaving is it customary currently as an employee and would be very difficult to police once I leave.

You could always say no conference is needed, just you vote yes or no. You really need to call her out on omitting you as treasurer and member of the committee. By the way, Nancy F A asked Joan for the contract so Joan referred the request to Carolyn . Carolyn asked Glenna, who said not to share it. Interesting.

Thank you Ethan for your comments...and coming from a committee, I was also surprised at the outcome and response to the 2 year contract. With regards to the suggested changes to the contract (at this late date) I think we need to have our legal firm review the suggested edits since they previously reviewed the contract as part of our standard protocol. I need till next week to review the measurable goals and objectives, as I am on vacation with my husband till Sunday night.

Lastly, I suggest we have a CEO Compensation Committee conference call to discuss changes (which includes the members from 2013-2014 since we are still completing our work) – and I would like us to have a full discussion about what happened abruptly during the BOD Executive Session (and immediately before).

Hi all,

I am ok with these even though the compensation committee agreed to a 2 year contract in our discussions leading up to the retreat in July 2014. I understand some changes happened at the Retreat that I was not involved in. My understanding was that we would go with a 2 year contract with the possibility of an extension of one or more years if both the CEO and the Compensation Committee agreed. The 4 year contract will probably have the same end result. I must admit that I was a bit surprised when I saw that there was a flat 4 year contract after we had all agreed to a 2 year contract in our discussions and with Pat's input and agreement according to Sonja's discussions with her.

Regardless, thanks for all of your work on this.

HI Compensation Committee,

I have attached the revised Compensation Committee Charter that now includes the philosophy as suggested by Mary and Glenna. Let me know if you approve or have edits.

I have attached the Annual Incentive Plan for CEO that pertains to the contract and the CEO Performance Objectives for 2014-15.

I have attached the CEO contract with three changes suggested by Pat. We made one revision to the first suggested change during our 4 Ps call today. This was because it stated, if we were to not renew her contract, we would pay her 50% of the previous year's bonus, which could range from 0% to 20% of the base salary. We changed it to read 50% of the targeted bonus for the previous year, which would be 15% of the base salary. Please review the suggested changes and let me know if you approve, have questions or suggestions for revisions.

I have attached Pat's suggestions for Performance Objectives for 2014-15. Please review and let me know if you have questions or suggestions. It is important that we have clearly defined measures for each objective. We may need to have a call after each of you responds.

Thanks so much for attending to these important documents.

Subject: Re: Compensation Committee Business

Hi all,

I am ok with these even though the compensation committee agreed to a 2 year contract in our discussions leading up to the retreat in July 2014. I understand some changes happened at the Retreat that I was not involved in. My understanding was that we would go with a 2 year contract with the possibility of an extension of one or more years if both the CEO and the Compensation Committee agreed. The 4 year contract will probably have the same end result. I must admit that I was a bit surprised when I saw that there was a flat 4 year contract after we had all agreed to a 2 year contract in our discussions and with Pat's input and agreement according to Sonja's discussions with her.

Regardless, thanks for all of your work on this.

Take care,

HI Compensation Committee,

I have attached the revised Compensation Committee Charter that now includes the philosophy as suggested by Mary and Glenna. Let me know if you approve or have edits.

I have attached the Annual Incentive Plan for CEO that pertains to the contract and the CEO Performance Objectives for 2014-15.

I have attached the CEO contract with three changes suggested by Pat. We made one revision to the first suggested change during our 4 Ps call today. This was because it stated, if we were to not renew her contract, we would pay her 50% of the previous year's bonus, which could range from 0% to 20% of the base salary. We changed it to read 50% of the targeted bonus for the previous year, which would be 15% of the base salary. Please review the suggested changes and let me know if you approve, have questions or suggestions for revisions.

I have attached Pat's suggestions for Performance Objectives for 2014-15. Please review and let me know if you have questions or suggestions. It is important that we have clearly defined measures for each objective. We may need to have a call after each of you responds.

Thanks so much for attending to these important documents.

All,

Another month is rolling around and we have a call on Tuesday, August 26th at 1 p.m. CDT. I have heard from both Aida and Milton that they will not be able to attend. That still leaves us with enough voting members to have a meeting. If anyone cannot attend, please let me know as soon as possible. You should have received the webinar invitation from the IT team. If you have not, please let me know. Our focus of the call will be;

1. Final June Financials
2. Preliminary July Financials

Now, onto the financial results.

I. June adjustments

As is customary, the first presentation of a month's financials get scrubbed a second time before they go final. In the second review of the financials, staff did not make any adjustments to the actual results. We did make a few adjustments to the budgets. The Academy expense budget was reduced by $7,930. In addition, there were adjustments made to the DPGS due to a change in the program of work. Both changes were small and did not impact the actual financial results in June.

II. Investments

July did not turn out to be a very good month for Investments. When I wrote this narrative last month, the combined investment portfolios were up in July by $430,000. Unfortunately, the combined investment portfolios actually ended up losing nearly $614,000. So, the month ended with a quick, hard drop. It kind of reminded me of the Tower of Terror at Disney World. You get that sudden jolt before the elevator drops and then it stabilizes and may go back up. It is scary, but, everything ends up fine and we end up enjoying the ride (Okay Mary, I know you will have a comment on this analogy!!! J). Well, it looks like August is giving us a lift. Through yesterday, the combined portfolios were up $1,314,000. So, through August 20th, we have recouped the losses from July and added another $700,000. So that's exciting. However, just like the Tower of Terror, there may be another jolt. So, I am cautiously optimistic, but, can't predict what will happen over the next 7 trading days. Today, the market has started higher. I hope it holds.

III. Academy preliminary July Financials (A10)

In July, the Academy operational results were better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $717,965 in July. The actual result is a loss of $685,077. Expense under-runs in July were the primary driver of the better operational performance. Expenses under-ran the budget by $84,528. This was offset by an under-run in Revenue of $51,640. The under-run in revenue sounds bad. However, in our original budget, the NDA revenue was to begin in July. Since the Board decided to move in another direction, this resulted in a revenue miss of $40,000. So, backing out the NDA, the revenue shortfall was only $11,640. For those of you that like percentages, that is 99.09920791%. That isn't too bad. The Investment results did make the picture less positive with losses of $225,387. So operationally, the Academy did $32,888 better than the budget, but, due to the investment losses, ended the month with a deficit of $910,465 which was $305,095 higher (worse) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $7,081 in July and is over budget by $11,766 for the year. Membership dues continued the strong start to the year. Overall, the membership revenues are higher than budget by $10.2K. In July, the majority of this over-run is due to application and reinstatement fees. None-the-less, this is a good start for the year. Still too early to get excited. However, each month that we are over budget increases our optimism. The over-run in Membership was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.1K).
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is under budget by $43,732 in July and is under budget by $37,709 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to NDA revenue (down $40K). This will continue throughout the fiscal year due to the decision by the Board to move forward with this program in another format. The FAC should discuss whether or not to recommend to the board that this revenue be removed from the budget. The remaining under-run in July was due to lower professional development (down $3.7K).
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $16,330 in July and is under budget by $37,046 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $23.4K) and lower across all other (down $1.0K) offset by higher list rental (up $8.1K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $1,074 in July and is under budget by $9,867 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products (down $1.2K).
- e. Advertising – This area is on target in July and under budget by $1,696 for the year. Nothing was budgeted or received in July.
- f. All grants - This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Con Agra (down $6.9K) offset by higher Research (up $3.3K).
- g. Sponsorships – This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.

h. Other – This area was over budget by $6,006 in July and is over budget by $7,908 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $1.2K), higher licensure revenue (up $5.0K) offset by lower across all other programs (down $0.2K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $787 in July and under budget by $1,175 for the year. No significant variances.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $16,015 in July and under budget by $26,580 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $9.9K) and lower Research Publications (down $2.7K), lower Eatright Store (down $1.7K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

c. Travel – This area is under budget by $15,285 in July and under budget by $12,125 for the year. The under-run for July is primarily due to lower Informatics (down $7.3K), lower Alliances (down $6.5K), Lower Research (down $3.3K), lower Governance (down $2.6K), lower Membership (down $2.0K), lower PR (down $4.9K), lower Public Policy (down $1.4) and lower across all other projects (down $3.9K), offset by higher Board (up $16.6K).

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,683 in July and is under budget by $37,199 for the year. The under-run in July is being driven by lower Informatics (down $15.3K), lower Public Policy (down $5.1K), lower Journal (down $2.0K), lower Research (down $1.5K), and lower across all other projects (down $3.8K) offset by higher Brand Promise (up $4.3K), higher IT and web (up $1.0K), higher List Rental (up $0.8K), and higher Malnutrition Project expenses (up $3.0K).

e. Postage and Mailing Service – This area is under budget by $20,921 in July and under budget by $17,430 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $13.4), lower Traditional Publications (down $5.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $1.7K)

f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is over budget by $956 in July and over budget by $1,315 for the year. No significant variances.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $822 in July and under budget by $1,475 for the year. The under-run in July is due to the lower utility costs.

- h. Telephone and communications – This is over budget by $153 in July and over budget by $421 for the year. The over-run in July is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.
- i. Commissions – This area is on target for July and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. No sales were recorded in July and, therefore, no commissions were recorded in July.
- j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $1,101 in July and under budget by $7,057 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower website hosting costs (down $4.3K) and lower maintenance costs (down $1.6K) and higher Food and Nutrition Magazine web hosting costs (up $4.8K).
- k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $2,438 in July and under budget by $3,566 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower Traditional Publications (down $1.8K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.6K).
- l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $587 in July and is under budget by $1,674 for the year. The under-run in July is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.
- m. Depreciation – This area is on target in July and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary
- n. Bank and trust fees – This area is over budget by $6,251 in July and over budget by $5,955 for the year. The over-run in July is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.
- o. Other – This area is under budget by $387 in July and under budget $1,142 for the year. No significant variances.
- p. Expense allocation – This area is favorable to budget by $4,433 in July and is favorable to budget by $4,197 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $7,764 in July and is under budget by $11,605 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to lower Board meeting costs (down $4.3K), lower Informatics costs (down $2.8K), lower professional Development (down $1.3K), lower Research (down $1.3K) offset by higher across all other projects (up $1.9K).

r. Legal and Audit – This area is under budget by $3,592 in July and is under budget by $3,592 for the year. The under-run is due to lower legal expenses in July.

s. Printing – This area is over budget by $927 in July and is under budget by $569 for the year. The under-run in July is primarily due to higher Membership expenses (up $0.9K), higher Board expenses (up $0.9K), lower Public Policy (down $0.8K) and lower and lower across all other (down $0.1K).

Overall, even with the shortfall in revenue (where 57% is due to the NDA), the Academy is off to a fairly good start to the year. After two months, the Academy's Operating Deficit results are $51,799 lower (better) than the budget. Even though investments are down, looking at today's results gives me great hope that August will recover the losses from July and more.

IV. Foundation Preliminary July Financials (A8)

The Foundation's results for the month of July were not positive. This is primarily due to a shortfall in Member Contribution revenue (down $17.8K). Expenses were slightly under budget to help offset the revenue shortfall. However, not enough to make up the difference. The Foundation had an Operating Deficit target of $13,501. Unfortunately, due to the revenue shortfall, this was $30,662. Investment losses, similar to the Academy, increased the deficit. The result was a Net Deficit of $251,076.

Again, assuming the investments hold or continue to grow in August, this should turn-around when August Financials are completed. The Foundation's returns for the month of August, through yesterday, were $480,696. So, this should help get the Foundation back onto solid ground. In addition, the shortfall in revenue is primarily due to Member Contributions. Since we are early in the year, I could see this area catching up to the budget at a later date.

On year to date basis, the Foundation is running an Operating Deficit of $109,057 which is $19,694 higher (worse) than budget. Again, it is primarily due to the timing of Member donations. So, this small gap may close as the year progresses. Even with the under-run in July, the Foundation's Net Assets are holding strong at $22.3M.

V. CDR's Preliminary July Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in July operationally. CDR had an Operating Deficit budget of $143,099. The actual results were $83,918 lower (better). This was due to higher revenue (up $44,690) and lower expenses (down $39,129). Unfortunately, as is the case with everyone else, CDR was hurt by Investment losses of $87,763.

On a year to date basis, CDR has an Operating Deficit of $60,369. This deficit is $96,507 lower (better) than the budget. So, overall, a great start to the year for CDR.

VI. DPGS/MIGs/ACEND Preliminary July Financials (A12)

In July, I have combined ACEND with the DPGS and MIGs (for illustrative purposes only). They are not really combined within Accounting J. In any event the combined groups had a positive month in July reflecting an Operating Income of $59,434. However, it was not as positive as the budget, falling short by $57,789. We have made some changes to the DPGS/MIG budgets and may continue to do so. So, part of the problem could be the distribution of the monthly financials. That being said, the results, operationally, for the month were positive. That is always a good sign if it is maintained. As was the case with everyone else, the DPGS/MIGS/ACEND were negatively impacted by the Investment results. However, since the results look strong for August, we will chalk that up to timing.

Looking at the year to date numbers, the combined DPGS/MIGS/ACEND have Operating Income of $87,074 which is $159,209 higher (better) than the budget. If you look at the investment reserves for the DPGS/MIGS on page A16, you will see we have two that are having some difficulty; Dietitians in Business and Communications (72%) and the Asian Indian in Nutrition and Dietetics (39%). We will keep a watch on these two groups, but at this stage, we not very concerned. Asian Indian MIG is very small with a budget of $333. I don't think we should be concerned about this level. I am checking to see if this is correct, since it appears so small. Dietitians in Business and Communications still holds over $121,000 in reserve. This is sufficient to handle any problems that may arise.

VII. ANDPAC Preliminary July Financials (A14)

- ANDPAC had a great month in July. Revenue exceeded budget by $5,049 primarily due to a donation to the PAC by the Diabetes Care and Education practice group ($5K). This money goes towards the administrative expenses of the PAC and covers overhead expenses. Expenses were well under budget in July (down $15.2K). The result was Net Income of $9,344 which was $20,285 higher (better) than budget.

On a year to date basis, ANDPAC has an Net Deficit of $36,712. This is $11,806 higher (worse) than budget. As I mentioned last month, this is due to higher contributions to political candidates and is by design. The ANDPAC board felt it was appropriate to make the contributions even though they were higher than budget. The ANDPAC reserves were high enough to handle this outlay.

After factoring everything into the equation, the ANDPAC reserves ended July at nearly $226K. This is nearly 138% of their FY15 operating budget. So, the PAC is in a very strong financial position.

VIII. Cash

As I mentioned in June, our budget requires us to take money from reserves. I believe the first amount will be necessary next week. Therefore, I will be moving $500,000 from reserves into operational cash. Even with this reduction, the Academy reserve levels will be at $20,012,221 or 80.8% if you look just at July's values (A15) and eliminate $500,000. If the market continues to hold the gains from August, even with the reduction for operations, you may not notice any change in the total Academy reserve balance. We can discuss this further on our call next week.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers when you look at the package for July. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. The information will be put onto the portal in the morning and Maria will notify you when it is available. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

Both you and Sonja and "the team" have done a fantastic PR job this week.

I have had two RD's, (unsolicited) tell me that in the past two days they have seen both the current and incoming Presidents. One commented that many members never have a chance to see and hear the President speak live and it makes her feel more a part of the whole. Both are very proud to be members of the Academy.

Thanks to you both for "being live and approachable".

Subject: Exciting NASDAQ News - Closing Bell on Wednesday, August 20

Importance: High

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics has just been invited to ring the closing bell tomorrow, Wednesday, August 20, at NASDAQ, the largest electronic equities exchange in the United States! Hello All:

Thank you Ethan for your comments...and coming from a committee, I was also surprised at the outcome and response to the 2 year contract. With regards to the suggested changes to the contract (at this late date) I think we need to have our legal firm review the suggested edits since they previously reviewed the contract as part of our standard protocol. I need till next week to review the measurable goals and objectives, as I am on vacation with my husband till Sunday night.

Lastly, I suggest we have a CEO Compensation Committee conference call to discuss changes (which includes the members from 2013-2014 since we are still completing our work) – and I would like us to have a full discussion about what happened abruptly during the BOD Executive Session (and immediately before).

Hi all,

I am ok with these even though the compensation committee agreed to a 2 year contract in our discussions leading up to the retreat in July 2014. I understand some changes happened at the Retreat that I was not involved in. My understanding was that we would go with a 2 year contract with the possibility of an extension of one or more years if both the CEO and the Compensation Committee agreed. The 4 year contract will probably have the same end result. I must admit that I was a bit surprised when I saw that there was a flat 4 year contract after we had all agreed to a 2 year contract in our discussions and with Pat's input and agreement according to Sonja's discussions with her.

Regardless, thanks for all of your work on this.

Take care,

HI Compensation Committee,

I have attached the revised Compensation Committee Charter that now includes the philosophy as suggested by Mary and Glenna. Let me know if you approve or have edits.

I have attached the Annual Incentive Plan for CEO that pertains to the contract and the CEO Performance Objectives for 2014-15.

I have attached the CEO contract with three changes suggested by Pat. We made one revision to the first suggested change during our 4 Ps call today. This was because it stated, if we were to not renew her contract, we would pay her 50% of the previous year's bonus, which could range from 0% to 20% of the base salary. We changed it to read 50% of the targeted bonus for the previous year, which would be 15% of the base salary. Please review the suggested changes and let me know if you approve, have questions or suggestions for revisions.

I have attached Pat's suggestions for Performance Objectives for 2014-15. Please review and let me know if you have questions or suggestions. It is important that we have clearly defined measures for each objective. We may need to have a call after each of you responds.

Thanks so much for attending to these important documents.

Re: Update on Standards Development and Release of the Background Report

We are excited to share an update on our work to create new degree-based education standards and competencies for nutrition and dietetic practitioners that will reflect future practice needs. The recently released Background Report (attached) provides a summary of currently existing information, the gaps in the information, and an overview of the groups and information that need to be included in our future work in this process. A webinar, available at <https://eatright.webex.com/eatright/ldr.php?RCID=c862cbbcf1ceb1938125f33caf04f906>, provides further explanation of the development of the Background Report and the upcoming work of the committee. Our committee continues to guide an ongoing effort to compile a Rationale Document that will serve as the foundation for the standards development process and to assist with decisions that will be made related to the education structure, accreditation standards, and education competencies.

Please contact us at ACEND@eatright.org, if you have any questions about our work.

Evelyn,

The office is a buzz with excitement at today's NASDAQ closing bell ceremony. You did a great job positioning the profession. We think it was brilliant having the kids on stage with you and our New York members.

For those of you who were not able to view the closing bell live, the video and photos will be posted to NASDAQ's website later this evening, <http://www.nasdaq.com/>.

Thank you!

Importance: High

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics has just been invited to ring the closing bell tomorrow, Wednesday, August 20, at NASDAQ, the largest electronic equities exchange in the United States! This is the sixth year in which the Academy has been invited to be part of NASDAQ's trading day. We receive the invite with a twenty-four hour turnaround. Sonja Connor has a schedule conflict and cannot represent the Academy, therefore President-elect Evelyn Crayton will do the honors. Evelyn will be joined by Academy members who live in the New York area to ring the closing bell and will make remarks about the Academy, Foundation and Kids Eat Right Month. The NASDAQ closing ceremony will be broadcast on NASDAQ's website. The ceremony will also be broadcast on videoscreens in Times Square. The Academy's name and logo will be on NASDAQ's tower with the message "The Stock Exchange Welcomes the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics." The ceremony starts at 3:50 p.m. Eastern Time and Evelyn will be joined by Academy members who live in the New York area.

This is an exciting opportunity for the Foundation and the Academy, and we are thrilled to be a part of the ceremony. Please share this with colleagues, family and friends so that they can view the video live on Webcast or view it later on Facebook and Twitter.

Re: Update on Standards Development and Release of the Background Report

We are excited to share an update on our work to create new degree-based education standards and competencies for nutrition and dietetic practitioners that will reflect future practice needs. The recently released Background Report (attached) provides a summary of currently existing information, the gaps in the information, and an overview of the groups and information that need to be included in our future work in this process. A webinar, available at <https://eatright.webex.com/eatright/ldr.php?RCID=c862cbbcf1ceb1938125f33caf04f906>, provides further explanation of the development of the Background Report and the upcoming work of the committee. Our committee continues to guide an ongoing effort to compile a Rationale Document that will serve as the foundation for the standards development process and to assist with decisions that will be made related to the education structure, accreditation standards, and education competencies.

Please contact us at ACEND@eatright.org, if you have any questions about our work.

Evelyn,

The office is a buzz with excitement at today's NASDAQ closing bell ceremony. You did a great job positioning the profession. We think it was brilliant having the kids on stage with you and our New York members.

For those of you who were not able to view the closing bell live, the video and photos will be posted to NASDAQ's website later this evening, <http://www.nasdaq.com/>.

Thank you!

Importance: High

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics has just been invited to ring the closing bell tomorrow, Wednesday, August 20, at NASDAQ, the largest electronic equities exchange in the United States! This is the sixth year in which the Academy has been invited to be part of NASDAQ's trading day. We receive the invite with a twenty-four hour turnaround. Sonja Connor has a schedule conflict and cannot represent the Academy, therefore President-elect Evelyn Crayton will do the honors. Evelyn will be joined by Academy members who live in the New York area to ring the closing bell and will make remarks about the Academy, Foundation and Kids Eat Right Month. The NASDAQ closing ceremony will be broadcast on NASDAQ's website. The ceremony will also be broadcast on video screens in Times Square. The Academy's name and logo will be on NASDAQ's tower with the message "The Stock Exchange Welcomes the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics." The ceremony starts at 3:50 p.m. Eastern Time and Evelyn will be joined by Academy members who live in the New York area.

This is an exciting opportunity for the Foundation and the Academy, and we are thrilled to be a part of the ceremony. Please share this with colleagues, family and friends so that they can view the video live on Webcast or view it later on Facebook and Twitter.

5. Scroll down to the bottom of the grey area and click on "add files" button (lower left side)
6. Browse for your file.
7. Click open.
8. To add another file choose "Add Files" button again to add another file to the list.
9. When you have all the files that you would like to add, click on the "Start Upload" button (lower left side). When upload had finished press "Continue."

Kathy,

This has come up from time to time. I did put together a Q&A for Jo Jo back in June. I will look for it again. Essentially, it lays out why, and how, the DPG can give to the PAC. We will make sure it gets modified and clearly communicated at the DPG treasurers meeting. On a side note; last year it was discussed briefly. We just them know that they could give to the PAC and how. This was done because there was conflicting information about whether or not they could.

I'm pretty sure we discussed this on our last PAC call, but just to be sure, I was talking to Jo Jo Dantone today. She reminded me that when we discuss PAC contributions with the Treasurers, we also give them a "soft sell." She said DCE BOD members asked her: "What will our members think about our contributing to the PAC? How do we show this in our Annual Report?" We discussed providing some wording to them that discusses the direct results of our relationships with our representatives: CMS regs, being at the table in the White House many times (yeah, Donna), etc.

Not a big long paragraph....just a sentence to let our members know that this is both legal and beneficial. We can discuss more on our next PAC call, but I didn't want to lose track of this thought.

I'm pretty sure we discussed this on our last PAC call, but just to be sure, I was talking to Jo Jo Dantone today. She reminded me that when we discuss PAC contributions with the Treasurers, we also give them a "soft sell." She said DCE BOD members asked her: "What will our members think about our contributing to the PAC? How do we show this in our Annual Report?" We discussed providing some wording to them that discusses the direct results of our relationships with our representatives: CMS regs, being at the table in the White House many times (yeah, Donna), etc.

Not a big long paragraph....just a sentence to let our members know that this is both legal and beneficial. We can discuss more on our next PAC call, but I didn't want to lose track of this thought.

Re: 2014 Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation Corporate Award

Each year, the Academy Foundation Corporate Award Selection Committee is charged with selecting a recipient for the Academy Foundation Board's consideration and approval.

The corporate award is given to a corporation or group that has demonstrated meaningful support to the Academy Foundation through the Scholarship and Awards Program, Research Endowment, Kids Eat Right Initiative, Annual Fund or activities of the Academy through the Foundation. The support may come in the form of financial contributions, organizational service or committee involvement. A copy of this criteria document is attached.

A crystal apple is presented each year to the recipient at the Academy Foundation Gala, which takes place during the Academy's Food & Nutrition Conference & Expo. This year's event is scheduled for Monday, October 20, 2014 in Atlanta.

The 2014 Academy Foundation Corporate Award Selection Committee included: Constance J. Geiger, PhD, RD, CD, Jean H. Ragaile, RDN and Terri J. Raymond, MA, RDN, FAND

The following organizations were considered for this year's award. Attached is an overview of the organizations giving histories.

Dear Academy Member,

We emailed you two weeks ago inviting you to take part in a survey of Academy members conducted by the Dietitians in Integrative and Functional Medicine DPG and the Dietetics Practice Based Research Network about knowledge, beliefs and use of Integrative Medicine. If you have not yet completed the survey, we would appreciate your responses.

This anonymous survey will take 15 minutes to complete and will ask questions about your knowledge, beliefs and use of Integrative Medicine. We are looking for participants (students, interns, practitioners, and educators) in all practice areas; you do NOT need to practice in Integrative Medicine to participate.

The survey will be open until August 25 and we would appreciate your responses. This survey can be completed in multiple sittings but you must return using the same computer.

Thanks for being so understanding. I really try to do my best, but I need to keep my real job. And let me tell you that being a mother and grandmother are the best jobs you can have, and the most important ones!!! I really do appreciate you more than you know.

That's a very valid excuse! Plus, that you hold direct a huge SN program, have lots of FAC and BOD and workgroup responsibilities, and have family events and grandmother J activities...

A little busy!

But, thanks for sending!

The FAC recommends that the Academy Board approve a loan to ACEND for standards development for an amount not to exceed $126,200 in accordance with the proposed deliverables, timeline and budget dated August 11, 2014 and contingent upon reimbursement terms negotiated

Subject: ACEND Funding request motion
Attachment:

All,

As we addressed on the Finance and Audit Committee call on Monday, August 11th, the Committee needs to approve the motion discussed for the ACEND funding. The motion is as follows;

The FAC recommends that the Academy Board approve a loan to ACEND for standards development for an amount not to exceed $126,200 in accordance with the proposed deliverables, timeline and budget dated August 11, 2014 and contingent upon reimbursement terms negotiated between the Academy and ACEND.

Since we are asking for the Committee to vote on this via e-mail, I will need everyone to either vote yes or no. If I have my rules correct, one no vote or abstention would negate this motion. The belief is that electronic voting does not allow for open dialog and debate. Therefore, this needs to be unanimous. If it is not, we can address all concerns on our call on August 26th. Please vote your preference by Monday, August 18th.

If you have any questions or concerns, please let me know.

Paul

Mary Pat, Sounds good to me. I just friended Sam Kass on facebook so I had another avenue to contact him by. Do we not think that Michelle might still be coming to FNCE? Even if she comes a video would be a nice touch. I do not see how that could offend anyone to talk about the great things everyone is doing. A shout out to Kids Eat Right would be perfect. If you can draft something I could tweak it and then send it to Sam. Thanks for all you and Jenn are doing for us!!! We really do appreciate it. I will help Janey with her FNCE events. We are thrilled to have her wanting to be involved. It looks really good to our members also that we have her there.

Sounds good, I knew we had a few too many cooks in this area. LOL I will let Jenn know as well as she is the one working with USDA and SNS. Good job! I know Janey appreciates you and your efforts.

I am thinking that a very short video from the First Lady could be shown during either the opening session or member showcase. She could congratulate the Academy on their work in helping families have healthier meals. I do not want this to be too long, so perhaps a few examples and also a shout out to Kids Eat Right helping to lead the way for healthier kids. A congratulations and recognition to our SNS group might be good as well. However the last thing I want is to be inflammatory on this issue which is a major concern for me.

I would be glad to draft something for you to send. But first I wanted your input.

Many thanks!

I wonder if we could move this further along with a supportive note on this from you to Sam. Thoughts?

Hi Donna,

Thanks for your offer to help revise the transition plan document to reflect the motion passed at the Board retreat. Attached is the previous transition plan based on the composition of 3 national Leaders, 3 BOD expertise members and 3 former presidents. The composition of the committee now will eventually be:

9 members, each with 3 year staggered term

- 3 members with Academy BOD experience with in the last 8 years
- 5 members with experience on an Academy national level committee, workgroup or taskforce or as a Board member of an affiliate or DPG within the past 8 years
- The immediate past president – with voting rights

CEO, as a non-voting member

It looks like the 2015 election will have two positions to fill, one for a member with Academy BOD experience with in the last 8 years and another with member experience on an Academy national level. However, with the eventual makeup of the committee being 5 with national level and 3 with BOD experience, it appears to make the transitioning more challenging.

I appreciate any assistance you can provide.

Pat,

Donna,

Mary,

I believe I have all of the comments and the motion would now look as follows;

“The FAC recommends that the Academy Board approve a loan to ACEND for standards development for an amount not to exceed $126,200 in accordance with the proposed deliverables, timeline and budget dated August 11, 2014 and contingent upon reimbursement terms negotiated between the Academy and ACEND.”

I eliminated “acceptable”. Let me know if this is consistent with the thoughts on this issue.

AMEN!!!! Exactly, how I felt. I think we won this one and will just have to deal with Marievleyn the best we can until the chair-elect takes over.

Between us, Mary G told me the stance is : you want us to do this, then pay for it! It came out loud and clear when Marievelyn spoke. That's not how the chair- elect feels or Mary. The past three chairs are on record in a communication to the Board that they don't want graduate level for entry. I couldn't help myself from saying that neither the Visioning Report or CFP didn't specify timelines and that this has been a professional issue for 30+ years. If the profession is ready to move with this change, their role is to develop the standards.

Looks good. I suggest specifying in accordance with the proposed deliverables, timeline and budget dated August 1, 2014.

I would also quote the MOU line about loans, either in the motion or rationale, since most Board and ACEND members are not aware of the provision (it's in my Sunday email to you).

Joan, I worked on the transition plan. See what you think? I highlighted in orange when that person would be up for election. I did tables at the bottom to show who many people would be in what year on the Nominating Committee to make sure we had people for chairman. I also did a table to show how many people would be on the ballot that year and for what position. I will be glad to make changes after you look at it. I think it works.

Hi Donna,

Thanks for your offer to help revise the transition plan document to reflect the motion passed at the Board retreat. Attached is the previous transition plan based on the composition of 3 national Leaders, 3 BOD expertise members and 3 former presidents. The composition of the committee now will eventually be:

9 members, each with 3 year staggered term

- 3 members with Academy BOD experience with in the last 8 years
- 5 members with experience on an Academy national level committee, workgroup or taskforce or as a Board member of an affiliate or DPG within the past 8 years

- The immediate past president – with voting rights

CEO, as a non-voting member

It looks like the 2015 election will have two positions to fill, one for a member with Academy BOD experience with in the last 8 years and another with member experience on an Academy national level. However, with the eventual makeup of the committee being 5 with national level and 3 with BOD experience, it appears to make the transitioning more challenging.

I appreciate any assistance you can provide.

Best regards,

Joan

I agree. Kay knows the issues and she too thought the undergrad practice audit would inform the competencies at that level. Clearly there are people (Kay for example) who have lots of information and knowledge and who disagreed with the approaches being suggested by ACEND. Maybe we need a 3 day on site to iron this out lol.

Overall, I so agree--there is a desire to be autonomous but "if you make us do something then you have to pay"???

I really did not understand why undergrad stds are being developed at all. As someone who precepted many interns but never ran an internship, I was continuously appalled by how the defined standards were clearly not met in so many cases, with physical assessment and ability to manage tube feedings and parenteral nutrition three obvious ones.

All,

This may be a repeat message. However, I can't find the e-mail in my outbox, so I will send it anyway. I want you to keep in mind this morning that the FAC can only approved up to $100,000 of unbudgeted expense per policy. If you choose to approve the ACEND proposal, as it currently stands, it will require an Academy Board approval. So, if you do agree, it would then have to be forwarded to the Board with your recommendation. If you have any questions, please let me know.

All,

I did receive some information from Chris Reidy on the cost of practice competency development. Chris felt this might be comparable to the ACEND request. The overall costs when developing practice competencies were as follows;

Total Cost $170,000

Consulting Costs (Project Consultant and Editorial services) $100,000

Meeting Costs, printing copying, Travel, Hotel, per diem, audio visual and foodservice $70,000

I hope this helps provide a range of costs. The categories; Consulting and Travel, appear to be comparable to the request that ACEND has put together.

Evelyn, ACEND does have money and you are right that we used to help fund them. They even have built up a nice reserve. With the Academy having a deficit budget this year I am personally not in favor of funding them. We gave them a good deal of money last year to fund the initial stages of the process and at that time we felt like that was being generous and that we would probably not want to give them any more money for the second half of the project. I would like to do something that would provide them funding if for some reason they wind up with a deficit. The reason they want us to fund it is because they say that the Academy made them do these Standards, and that they were not in favor of them, and do not see the rationale for them. You are asking very good questions and thinking along the same lines as I am. Talk to you Monday!

I did not copy everyone on this email, but we can discuss this as a committee on Monday.

Thanks Paul,

Help me to remember, did we not finance ACEND once before when they had no money? They do have money now right? Do they not have money in reserve? If so, is there a need for the BOD to fund this activity? I was not on the BOD last year. I do realize that a number of things may have happened since then.

As we discussed on our last call, we will have a special Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Monday, August 11 th at 10EDT/9CDT/7PDT to discuss the request for Funding from ACEND. This is an important call, so please try to attend. If you cannot, please let me know as soon as possible. Right now, the only person I am aware cannot attend is Kathryn Hamilton.

Right now, in order to save your time, this is the only agenda item. There may be one more. However, if necessary, it can wait until the end of August. I don't want the call to last more than an hour. I am attaching the supporting documentation provided by ACEND for your review. Maria will also put it onto the portal.

You will receive a Webinar request by tomorrow. We will go back to our usual conference all in number and conference code. If that changes, I will let you know. I will also make sure it is on top of the agenda when it gets finalized.

If you have any questions, or concerns, please let me know. I can be reached either by e-mail or by phone at extension 4730 at 1-800-877-1600.

Sounds good, I knew we had a few too many cooks in this area. LOL I will let Jenn know as well as she is the one working with USDA and SNS. Good job! I know Janey appreciates you and your efforts.

I am thinking that a very short video from the First Lady could be shown during either the opening session or member showcase. She could congratulate the Academy on their work in helping families have healthier meals. I do not want this to be too long, so perhaps a few examples and also a shout out to Kids Eat Right helping to lead the way for healthier kids. A congratulations and recognition to our SNS group might be good as well. However the last thing I want is to be inflammatory on this issue which is a major concern for me.

I would be glad to draft something for you to send. But first I wanted your input.

Many thanks!

How are you? How was the wedding? Any photos?

I know you are working with SNS on meeting with Janey during FNCE. We too have been doing the same not aware of your great efforts. Moving forward we will make sure you are included in any communication.

Also I have asked for a video piece from the First Lady highlighting our efforts especially with school meals.

I wonder if we could move this further along with a supportive note on this from you to Sam. Thoughts?

It was nice to see you in Portland. Looking forward to connecting soon.

Hi Donna,

Thanks for your offer to help revise the transition plan document to reflect the motion passed at the Board retreat. Attached is the previous transition plan based on the composition of 3 national Leaders, 3 BOD expertise members and 3 former presidents. The composition of the committee now will eventually be:

9 members, each with 3 year staggered term

- 3 members with Academy BOD experience with in the last 8 years
- 5 members with experience on an Academy national level committee, workgroup or taskforce or as a Board member of an affiliate or DPG within the past 8 years
- The immediate past president – with voting rights

CEO, as a non-voting member

It looks like the 2015 election will have two positions to fill, one for a member with Academy BOD experience with in the last 8 years and another with member experience on an Academy national level. However, with the eventual makeup of the committee being 5 with national level and 3 with BOD experience, it appears to make the transitioning more challenging.

I appreciate any assistance you can provide.

Best regards,

Joan

Tomorrow you will be considering ACEND's funding request, and I want to bring to your attention the following statement from the Academy/ACEND MOU: "In the event that ACEND requires additional funding for capital investment or otherwise, the ACADEMY will provide such funding with the understanding that ACEND will reimburse the ACADEMY on mutually agreeable terms." This is one section of the MOU we both agree upon.

ACEND's objective of a 50% operational reserve is a good thing, but developing education competencies/standards is the primary goal of ACEND. That the Academy asked ACEND to do it is tangential, since educators have been asking for guidance ever since CDR announced the graduate degree for entry level requirement. Many programs are ready for the switch but understandably want to be in compliance from the start. ACEND is responding to educators, since the Visioning Report made general recommendations without timelines/deadlines. CDR's requirement does not stipulate ACEND accreditation so the expedited timeframe may be self-imposed. From my perspective, I am glad ACEND is moving forward expeditiously, and if the funding is given I suggest it be tied to deliverables, as per last year's agreement, and in accordance with the MOU stipulation of repayment, should you agree.

I would encourage the Council to invest its money to help it grow its reserves. The fact that the full amount was not used last time has been used as an argument, but that may be a result of not following the time and task schedule.

Just wanted to share my thinking, albeit late.

Hi Paul,

I guess I need "granular" as well, actual budget figures, are these available?

Are there other organizational units, e.g. CDR which just developed competencies, or outside groups that we can use to compare costs?

There are several consultants named but a challenge for this mere human to understand what they all do. Are there companies that combine the services necessary? Will volunteers provide some of the manpower?

Thanks!

Hi Paul,

Thanks for this information. The agenda item summary refers to "the enclosed budget proposal". The "Timeline and Budget" document lists time points, expenses and deliverables.

The budget information appears much less detailed than what I would need to fully evaluate the financial "ask". Is it feasible to obtain more granular data?

All,

As we discussed on our last call, we will have a special Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Monday, August 11th at 10EDT/9CDT/7PDT to discuss the request for Funding from ACEND. This is an important call, so please try to attend. If you cannot, please let me know as soon as possible. Right now, the only person I am aware cannot attend is Kathryn Hamilton.

Right now, in order to save your time, this is the only agenda item. There may be one more. However, if necessary, it can wait until the end of August. I don't want the call to last more than an hour. I am attaching the supporting documentation provided by ACEND for your review. Maria will also put it onto the portal.

You will receive a Webinar request by tomorrow. We will go back to our usual conference all in number and conference code. If that changes, I will let you know. I will also make sure it is on top of the agenda when it gets finalized.

If you have any questions, or concerns, please let me know. I can be reached either by e-mail or by phone at extension 4730 at 1-800-877-1600.

All,

I did receive some information from Chris Reidy on the cost of practice competency development. Chris felt this might be comparable to the ACEND request. The overall costs when developing practice competencies were as follows;

Total Cost $170,000

Consulting Costs (Project Consultant and Editorial services) $100,000

Meeting Costs, printing copying, Travel, Hotel, per diem, audio visual and foodservice $70,000

I hope this helps provide a range of costs. The categories; Consulting and Travel, appear to be comparable to the request that ACEND has put together.

Evelyn, ACEND does have money and you are right that we used to help fund them. They even have built up a nice reserve. With the Academy having a deficit budget this year I am personally not in favor of funding them. We gave them a good deal of money last year to fund the initial stages of the process and at that time we felt like that was being generous and that we would probably not want to give them any more money for the second half of the project. I would like to do something that would provide them funding if for some reason they wind up with a deficit. The reason they want us to fund it is because they say that the Academy made them do these Standards, and that they were not in favor of them, and do not see the rationale for them. You are asking very good questions and thinking along the same lines as I am. Talk to you Monday!

I did not copy everyone on this email, but we can discuss this as a committee on Monday.

Thanks Paul,

Help me to remember, did we not finance ACEND once before when they had no money? They do have money now right? Do they not have money in reserve? If so, is there a need for the BOD to fund this activity? I was not on the BOD last year. I do realize that a number of things may have happened since then.

All,

As we discussed on our last call, we will have a special Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Monday, August 11th at 10EDT/9CDT/7PDT to discuss the request for Funding from ACEND. This is an important call, so please try to attend. If you cannot, please let me know as soon as possible. Right now, the only person I am aware cannot attend is Kathryn Hamilton.

Right now, in order to save your time, this is the only agenda item. There may be one more. However, if necessary, it can wait until the end of August. I don't want the call to last more than an hour. I am attaching the supporting documentation provided by ACEND for your review. Maria will also put it onto the portal.

You will receive a Webinar request by tomorrow. We will go back to our usual conference all in number and conference code. If that changes, I will let you know. I will also make sure it is on top of the agenda when it gets finalized.

If you have any questions, or concerns, please let me know. I can be reached either by e-mail or by phone at extension 4730 at 1-800-877-1600.

Hi Donna,

I just want to confirm that I am removing the Healthy Hunger Free Kids Act of 2010 reference from the self-study module and including the five included below. Also, I see that four of the new references are from the USDA website, and I don't need copyright permission. What about the New Meal Pattern Summary from FRAC? It appears to be a pdf of a PowerPoint presentation.

We are currently conducting a review of the Certificate of Training in Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management self-study module. We have given you access to the 2013 online childhood and adolescent weight management self-study module at www.cdrnet.org.

To login choose the “Login” option on the upper right-hand side of the page.

1. Sign-in using your e-mail address and the password - welcome
2. On the purple banner, hover over the “Portal” option on the right-hand side and choose the “Library” option from the drop-down menu.
3. Click on the “2013 Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management Online Module link located to the left.

A paper copy of the module is attached. The copies does not include the actual articles. Would you please review the articles included in the module and identify if there are any articles that should be added, subtracted, or replaced. Keep in mind that the intent of the self-study is to provide attendees with the foundation knowledge to allow richer discussions at the onsite workshop (in other words, they should be consistent with the self-study learning objectives identified within the module). The articles should not present the content that will be covered onsite. However, if you have suggested changes to the learning objectives, please do provide those too!

A paper copy of the current pre-test is also attached. Please review the test and identify items that should be deleted, edited or added. We have included the source and performance of each item. Those poor performing questions are indicated in red. We anticipate that the items will have a performance of 70%.

Please send your feedback to me by e-mail or fax (312/899-4772) by August 15, 2014. After we receive all the feedback, we will send you a summary of recommendations and, if warranted, schedule a faculty teleconference to finalize the changes. Note that changes in articles will also change the learning activities and pre-test so we will be following up later for your input on those as well. All changes will be implemented as of November 1, 2014.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact me. Have a great summer!

"[...] I made up my mind definitely on one or two fundamental points. I determined: First, that I should at all times be perfectly frank and honest in dealing with each of the three classes of people that I have mentioned; Second, that I should not depend upon any "short-cuts" or expedients merely for the sake of gaining temporary popularity or advantage, whether for the time being such action brought me popularity or the reverse. With these two points clear before me as my creed, I began going forward." -Booker T. Washington, "My Larger Education," (1911)

Presidential Commentary by Dr. Brian Johnson

While one may have great difficulty in successfully appealing to multiple constituents and interests, the surest way to fail at doing so is pandering to the opinions of all. And there is no better blueprint for negotiating the pitfalls of paltry politics and partisanship than to follow Booker T. Washington's two-part course of action throughout his 34-year Presidency (1881-1915): 1. Speak clearly, frankly and honestly at all times. 2. Though laborious-and often painstaking-let your work speak for itself. "Integrity," the single greatest 9-letter word, speaks to the former. Consistency in communication across constituencies produces confidence. (For conversations spoken in one arena are bound to be communicated to other arenas, and multiple constituencies will quickly discover inconsistencies and inequity when conversations are compared to one another.) "Purpose," the single greatest 7-letter word, speaks to Washington's latter formulation. Persons consumed with purpose have little time for pandering and cronyism because they are consumed with performance. (For, in the end, performance and accomplishment-not political expediency-is the primary currency needed in communication across constituent groups.) Mr. Washington's signal accomplishments-best evidenced in the past, present and future testament of Tuskegee University-provides the clearest telltale signs of his philosophy's success. And it was no "short cut."

Take Action to Help Stop Diabetes

Congress is heading back home soon. Before they leave Washington, D.C., ask your senators and representatives to take action to stop the growing problem of diabetes. The Academy needs every member to support the National Diabetes Clinical Care Commission Act. This bill will establish a commission to make recommendations to better coordinate and leverage existing federal programs for people with diabetes and prediabetes. The commission, which will include Academy members and other expert practitioners, would also determine how the government could support clinicians in providing high-quality care to people with diabetes. Take action today to support this bill.

Hi Donna,

I just want to confirm that I am removing the Healthy Hunger Free Kids Act of 2010 reference from the self-study module and including the five included below. Also, I see that four of the new references are from the USDA website, and I don't need copyright permission. What about the New Meal Pattern Summary from FRAC? It appears to be a pdf of a PowerPoint presentation.

We are currently conducting a review of the Certificate of Training in Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management self-study module. We have given you access to the 2013 online childhood and adolescent weight management self-study module at www.cdrnet.org.

To login choose the "Login" option on the upper right-hand side of the page.

1. Sign-in using your e-mail address and the password - welcome
2. On the purple banner, hover over the "Portal" option on the right-hand side and choose the "Library" option from the drop-down menu.
3. Click on the "2013 Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management Online Module link located to the left.

A paper copy of the module is attached. The copies does not include the actual articles. Would you please review the articles included in the module and identify if there are any articles that should be added, subtracted, or replaced. Keep in mind that the intent of the self-study is to provide attendees with the foundation knowledge to allow richer discussions at the onsite workshop (in other words, they should be consistent with the self-study learning objectives identified within the module). The articles should not present the content that will be covered onsite. However, if you have suggested changes to the learning objectives, please do provide those too!

A paper copy of the current pre-test is also attached. Please review the test and identify items that should be deleted, edited or added. We have included the source and performance of each item. Those poor performing questions are indicated in red. We anticipate that the items will have a performance of 70%.

Please send your feedback to me by e-mail or fax (312/899-4772) by August 15, 2014. After we receive all the feedback, we will send you a summary of recommendations and, if warranted, schedule a faculty teleconference to finalize the changes. Note that changes in articles will also change the learning activities and pre-test so we will be following up later for your input on those as well. All changes will be implemented as of November 1, 2014.

All,

It has come to my attention that my fat fingers typed in a number that my mind did not tell them to do. Thered below should have been November 2013, not November 2014. I am also attaching the request that was made, and approved, by the FAC in November for additional background.

All,
There is one thing I forgot to answer; ACEND asked for $70,326 in FY14 and $86,938 in FY15 to support standards development. The FAC approved the funding for FY14 in November 2014. Out of the $70,326 that was approved, ACEND spent $18,080.
I hope this helps.

All,

I also want to add that out of respect for ACEND and to ensure that we don't provide ACEND any additional reason to reach out to the Department of Education, I have asked Mary Gregoire to answer the questions posed by each of you. I believe she will this morning. I have recommended that she answer the questions honestly and directly. Again, I believe she will. I wanted you to know that I have not provided the specifics because ACEND has stated that the Department of Education requires that any "budget" information not be disclosed to the Academy. Our attorneys, as do I, believe this is a stretch. That being said, I don't want to add to the fracture between the two groups. The questions you are asking are all great;

1. How much do you have in reserve?
2. Does your FY15 budget have an operating surplus or deficit?
3. What is the operating surplus/deficit?
4. If they have an operating surplus, why should the Academy provide the full funding?
5. Can anything be changed in the funding requests to reduce costs?
6. What is ACEND doing to reduce costs to help fund this program?
7. What would happen if the Academy did not fund this proposal?

One that I don't have the answer too, but, I am curious to know the answer is;

8. Since CDR is changing the criteria for the RD what happens if ACEND does not move forward? Are they still relevant? Do they need to change the standards to remain relevant? I know I am ignorant on this issue, so, I will leave to the experts. However, I am curious to understand the answer to this question.

To add another variable to the mix, our policies provide a criteria to adjust the budget in the following manner;

- Business demands may require a modification to the budget during the fiscal year. Authorization for unbudgeted expense approvals that will impact the respective organization's ability to meet the budgeted net income targets are as follows:

Level of Adjustment

Required Approval

- Up to $3,000

Group Vice President

- $3,001 - $10,000

Chief Financial Officer

- $10,001 - $25,000

Chief Executive Officer

- $25,001 - $100,000

Finance and Audit Committee

- More than $100,000

Board of Directors

So, even if the FAC decides to fund this program, anything over $100,000 would have to go to the Board of Directors for approval. I think this is an important factor. Does ACEND continue until the Board approves the FAC recommendation (if you approve it)? I can't transfer any funding over $100,000 without Board approval.

In any event, if Mary does not provide to you the information you have requested, I will provide some of it during the call. As I mentioned to Mary yesterday; This is like going to the bank and asking for a loan. If any of us did, we would have to provide access to all of our financials; bank accounts, income, etc. If we did not, the bank would say no. I believe the FAC is in the same situation. If all of the financial information is not provided, you can just say no.

Let me know if there is anything else I can do.

Paul

Evelyn, ACEND does have money and you are right that we used to help fund them. They even have built up a nice reserve. With the Academy having a deficit budget this year I am personally not in favor of funding them. We gave them a good deal of money last year to fund the initial stages of the process and at that time we felt like that was being generous and that we would probably not want to give them any more money for the second half of the project. I would like to do something that would provide them funding if for some reason they wind up with a deficit. The reason they want us to fund it is because they say that the Academy made them do these Standards, and that they were not in favor of them, and do not see the rationale for them. You are asking very good questions and thinking along the same lines as I am. Talk to you Monday! I did not copy everyone on this email, but we can discuss this as a committee on Monday.

Thanks Paul,

Help me to remember, did we not finance ACEND once before when they had no money? They do have money now right? Do they not have money in reserve? If so, is there a need for the BOD to fund this activity? I was not on the BOD last year. I do realize that a number of things may have happened since then.

As we discussed on our last call, we will have a special Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Monday, August 11 th at 10EDT/9CDT/7PDT to discuss the request for Funding from ACEND. This is an important call, so please try to attend. If you cannot, please let me know as soon as possible. Right now, the only person I am aware cannot attend is Kathryn Hamilton.

Right now, in order to save your time, this is the only agenda item. There may be one more. However, if necessary, it can wait until the end of August. I don't want the call to last more than an hour. I am attaching the supporting documentation provided by ACEND for your review. Maria will also put it onto the portal.

You will receive a Webinar request by tomorrow. We will go back to our usual conference all in number and conference code. If that changes, I will let you know. I will also make sure it is on top of the agenda when it gets finalized.

If you have any questions, or concerns, please let me know. I can be reached either by e-mail or by phone at extension 4730 at 1-800-877-1600.

Hi Donna,

I just want to confirm that I am removing the Healthy Hunger Free Kids Act of 2010 reference from the self-study module and including the five included below. Also, I see that four of the new references are from the USDA website, and I don't need copyright permission. What about the New Meal Pattern Summary from FRAC? It appears to be a pdf of a PowerPoint presentation.

Remove the one?

We are currently conducting a review of the Certificate of Training in Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management self-study module. We have given you access to the 2013 online childhood and adolescent weight management self-study module at www.cdrnet.org.

To login choose the "Login" option on the upper right-hand side of the page.

1. Sign-in using your e-mail address and the password - welcome
2. On the purple banner, hover over the "Portal" option on the right-hand side and choose the "Library" option from the drop-down menu.
3. Click on the "2013 Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management Online Module link located to the left.

A paper copy of the module is attached. The copies does not include the actual articles. Would you please review the articles included in the module and identify if there are any articles that should be added, subtracted, or replaced. Keep in mind that the intent of the self-study is to provide attendees with the foundation knowledge to allow richer discussions at the onsite workshop (in other words, they should be consistent with the self-study learning objectives identified within the module). The articles should not present the content that will be covered onsite. However, if you have suggested changes to the learning objectives, please do provide those too!

A paper copy of the current pre-test is also attached. Please review the test and identify items that should be deleted, edited or added. We have included the source and performance of each item. Those poor performing questions are indicated in red. We anticipate that the items will have a performance of 70%.

Please send your feedback to me by e-mail or fax (312/899-4772) by August 15, 2014. After we receive all the feedback, we will send you a summary of recommendations and, if warranted, schedule a faculty teleconference to finalize the changes. Note that changes in articles will also change the learning activities and pre-test so we will be following up later for your input on those as well. All changes will be implemented as of November 1, 2014.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact me. Have a great summer!

Dear FAC Members,

I want to provide some additional historical and financial information related to the ACEND request for financial support of the Standards development process to hopefully help answer some of the questions you are raising.

ACEND sets the accreditation standards for dietetic education programs and reviews and revises as needed those standards every five years; the most recent standards were released in 2012. Shortly after their release, the Council on Future Practice Visioning Report, encouraging the elevation of educational preparation for the future entry-level RD to a minimum of a graduate degree, was released.

In January, 2013 a Joint Meeting was held that included representatives from ACEND, CDR, CFP and the Education Committee to discuss the Visioning Report and its impact. At the April, 2013 ACEND Board meeting, the ACEND board discussed the Visioning Report and the Joint Meeting discussions and determined that the proposed changes in educational preparation would not be a mere revision of current dietetic education accreditation standards but instead would involve development of new standards and competencies for baccalaureate and graduate prepared practitioners.

An Expanded Standards Committee was formed to begin work on this development project. As the Committee began its work, members realized that two types of consultants were needed to facilitate this work. One consultant to guide the development of the knowledge and competency statements for the two levels of practitioners and a second consultant to assist with the development of new accreditation standards for the academic programs to prepare these practitioners.

In July, 2013, the Academy president sent a letter to the ACEND Board Chair requesting that “ACEND require an ACEND-accredited graduate degree program and/or consortium that integrates both the academic coursework and supervised practice components into a seamless (1-step) program as a requirement to obtain the future entry-level credential”. The president indicated in the letter that Academy looked forward to receiving ACEND’s proposal for funding of this work suggesting a willingness to provide financial support for ACEND’s work to meet this request.

At the October, 2013 ACEND Board meeting, the Expanded Standards Committee presented a timeline for the standards and competency development work and a budget needed to cover the expenses of the work. The decision was made to ask the Academy’s Finance and Audit Committee (FAC) to assist with the funding of the standards and competency development process, because the work would require multiple face-to-face meetings, use of consultants, the ACEND annual operating income could not cover the expenses, and the Academy was requesting the work to be done and had requested a proposal for funding. In November, 2013 a proposal was submitted to the FAC requesting $70,326 for FY 14 and $86,938 for FY 15 for the standards and competency development. The Academy Board approved funding of up to $70,326 for the project for FY 14.

In February, 2014 the Expanded Standards Committee and a Visioning group representing other health professions (medicine, nursing, public health, physical therapy) met to review data available about possible roles for baccalaureate and graduate trained professionals, explore what other disciplines had done when increasing education requirements, determine gaps, and begin discussion of competencies. The group members concurred that evidence-based practice information should be used to determine knowledge and skills needed for nutrition and dietetics practice to assure that the resultant education requirements were ethically and legally sound, met requirements of the United States Department of Education, maintained national recognition, and assured high quality accreditation practices and standards. The group concluded that before these competencies could be written though, a Background Report needed to be developed to better summarize the existing data and identify gaps/additional data that needed to be gathered from constituencies that were not represented in the current data available to help differentiate the roles of baccalaureate and graduate prepared practitioners. The group recommended that all of this information should then be compiled in a Rationale Document that would serve as the foundation for the accreditation standards revisions. The ACEND Board approved the development of the Background and Rationale Documents, revised the time schedule for the standards development process, and voted to fund the Background and Rationale Documents work from the ACEND reserves rather than use funding awarded by the Academy. As a result, the originally planned progress on the standards and competency development slowed and only $18,000 of the Academy-granted $70,326 was used in FY 14.

As the ACEND executive team planned the budget for FY 15, they wanted a budget that allowed some cushion for unexpected operating expenses (such as upgrades to technology, increases in costs for site visits, etc), provided funding to help support the continued standards and competency development project, and did not reduce ACEND reserves, which were not yet at the level specified in ACEND policies. The resulting FY 15 budget was developed with a positive bottom line cushion of only $37,000 (2% of total expenses) for unexpected expenses during the year. The FY15 budget included $54,220 for the standards and competency development project (30% of the total needed budget). ACENDs reserves were at $532,000 at the end of FY14, which was only 2/3 of what is needed to meet ACEND policy of having funds equal half of annual expenses in reserves.

Under the new Executive Director, ACEND has planned an aggressive timeline to try to assure that the new standards and competencies can be developed, vetted with constituent groups, and a final version ready for review by the ACEND Board in July, 2015. The ACEND Board is concerned about the financial impact of trying to complete this work within the year, which prompted the ACEND Board to again approach the FAC to request financial support for the project.

Development of new competencies and standards differentiating the role of baccalaureate and graduate level practitioners will benefit the nutrition and dietetics profession and the public by producing graduates of ACEND accredited programs who are able to provide safe, effective care to patients, clients and the public. Thank you for allowing us to provide additional information. Please let me know if any additional information is needed prior to the FAC meeting on Monday.

All,

It has come to my attention that my fat fingers typed in a number that my mind did not tell them to do. The red below should have been November 2013, not November 2014. I am also attaching the request that was made, and approved, by the FAC in November for additional background.

All,

There is one thing I forgot to answer; ACEND asked for $70,326 in FY14 and $86,938 in FY15 to support standards development. The FAC approved the funding for FY14 in November 2014. Out of the $70,326 that was approved, ACEND spent $18,080.

I hope this helps.

All,

I also want to add that out of respect for ACEND and to ensure that we don't provide ACEND any additional reason to reach out to the Department of Education, I have asked Mary Gregoire to answer the questions posed by each of you. I believe she will this morning. I have recommended that she answer the questions honestly and directly. Again, I believe she will. I wanted you to know that I have not provided the specifics because ACEND has stated that the Department of Education requires that any "budget" information not be disclosed to the Academy. Our attorneys, as do I, believe this is a stretch. That being said, I don't want to add to the fracture between the two groups. The questions you are asking are all great;

1. How much do you have in reserve?

2. Does your FY15 budget have an operating surplus or deficit?
3. What is the operating surplus/deficit?
4. If they have an operating surplus, why should the Academy provide the full funding?
5. Can anything be changed in the funding requests to reduce costs?
6. What is ACEND doing to reduce costs to help fund this program?
7. What would happen if the Academy did not fund this proposal?

One that I don't have the answer too, but, I am curious to know the answer is;

8. Since CDR is changing the criteria for the RD what happens if ACEND does not move forward? Are they still relevant? Do they need to change the standards to remain relevant? I know I am ignorant on this issue, so, I will leave to the experts. However, I am curious to understand the answer to this question.

To add another variable to the mix, our policies provide a criteria to adjust the budget in the following manner;

•Business demands may require a modification to the budget during the fiscal year. Authorization for unbudgeted expense approvals that will impact the respective organization's ability to meet the budgeted net income targets are as follows:

Level of Adjustment

Required Approval

- Up to $3,000

Group Vice President

- $3,001 - $10,000

Chief Financial Officer

- $10,001 - $25,000

Chief Executive Officer

- $25,001 - $100,000

Finance and Audit Committee

- More than $100,000

Board of Directors

So, even if the FAC decides to fund this program, anything over $100,000 would have to go to the Board of Directors for approval. I think this is an important factor. Does ACEND continue until the Board approves the FAC recommendation (if you approve it)? I can't transfer any funding over $100,000 without Board approval.

In any event, if Mary does not provide to you the information you have requested, I will provide some of it during the call. As I mentioned to Mary yesterday; This is like going to the bank and asking for a loan. If any of us did, we would have to provide access to all of our financials; bank accounts, income, etc. If we did not, the bank would say no. I believe the FAC is in the same situation. If all of the financial information is not provided, you can just say no.

Let me know if there is anything else I can do.

Evelyn, ACEND does have money and you are right that we used to help fund them. They even have built up a nice reserve. With the Academy having a deficit budget this year I am personally not in favor of funding them. We gave them a good deal of money last year to fund the initial stages of the process and at that time we felt like that was being generous and that we would probably not want to give them any more money for the second half of the project. I would like to do something that would provide them funding if for some reason they wind up with a deficit. The reason they want us to fund it is because they say that the Academy made them do these Standards, and that they were not in favor of them, and do not see the rationale for them. You are asking very good questions and thinking along the same lines as I am. Talk to you Monday!

All,

There is one thing I forgot to answer; ACEND asked for $70,326 in FY14 and $86,938 in FY15 to support standards development. The FAC approved the funding for FY14 in November 2014. Out of the $70,326 that was approved, ACEND spent $18,080.

I hope this helps.

All,

I also want to add that out of respect for ACEND and to ensure that we don't provide ACEND any additional reason to reach out to the Department of Education, I have asked Mary Gregoire to answer the questions posed by each of you. I believe she will this morning. I have recommended that she answer the questions honestly and directly. Again, I believe she will. I wanted you to know that I have not provided the specifics because ACEND has stated that the Department of Education requires that any "budget" information not be disclosed to the Academy. Our attorneys, as do I, believe this is a stretch. That being said, I don't want to add to the fracture between the two groups. The questions you are asking are all great;

1. How much do you have in reserve?
2. Does your FY15 budget have an operating surplus or deficit?
3. What is the operating surplus/deficit?
4. If they have an operating surplus, why should the Academy provide the full funding?
5. Can anything be changed in the funding requests to reduce costs?
6. What is ACEND doing to reduce costs to help fund this program?
7. What would happen if the Academy did not fund this proposal?

One that I don't have the answer too, but, I am curious to know the answer is;

8. Since CDR is changing the criteria for the RD what happens if ACEND does not move forward? Are they still relevant? Do they need to change the standards to remain relevant? I know I am ignorant on this issue, so, I will leave to the experts. However, I am curious to understand the answer to this question.

To add another variable to the mix, our policies provide a criteria to adjust the budget in the following manner;

•Business demands may require a modification to the budget during the fiscal year. Authorization for unbudgeted expense approvals that will impact the respective organization's ability to meet the budgeted net income targets are as follows:

Level of Adjustment

Required Approval

- Up to $3,000

Group Vice President

- $3,001 - $10,000

Chief Financial Officer

- $10,001 - $25,000

Chief Executive Officer

- $25,001 - $100,000

Finance and Audit Committee

- More than $100,000

Board of Directors

So, even if the FAC decides to fund this program, anything over $100,000 would have to go to the Board of Directors for approval. I think this is an important factor. Does ACEND continue until the Board approves the FAC recommendation (if you approve it)? I can't transfer any funding over $100,000 without Board approval.

In any event, if Mary does not provide to you the information you have requested, I will provide some of it during the call. As I mentioned to Mary yesterday; This is like going to the bank and asking for a loan. If any of us did, we would have to provide access to all of our financials; bank accounts, income, etc. If we did not, the bank would say no. I believe the FAC is in the same situation. If all of the financial information is not provided, you can just say no.

Let me know if there is anything else I can do.

Evelyn, ACEND does have money and you are right that we used to help fund them. They even have built up a nice reserve. With the Academy having a deficit budget this year I am personally not in favor of funding them. We gave them a good deal of money last year to fund the initial stages of the process and at that time we felt like that was being generous and that we would probably not want to give them any more money for the second half of the project. I would like to do something that would provide them funding if for some reason they wind up with a deficit. The reason they want us to fund it is because they say that the Academy made them do these Standards, and that they were not in favor of them, and do not see the rationale for them. You are asking very good questions and thinking along the same lines as I am. Talk to you Monday!

I did not copy everyone on this email, but we can discuss this as a committee on Monday.

Thanks Paul,

Help me to remember, did we not finance ACEND once before when they had no money? They do have money now right? Do they not have money in reserve? If so, is there a need for the BOD to fund this activity? I was not on the BOD last year. I do realize that a number of things may have happened since then.

Thanks Paul,

Help me to remember, did we not finance ACEND once before when they had no money? They do have money now right? Do they not have money in reserve? If so, is there a need for the BOD to fund this activity? I was not on the BOD last year. I do realize that a number of things may have happened since then.

Hi Paul,

I guess I need "granular" as well, actual budget figures, are these available?

Are there other organizational units, e.g. CDR which just developed competencies, or outside groups that we can use to compare costs?

There are several consultants named but a challenge for this mere human to understand what they all do. Are there companies that combine the services necessary? Will volunteers provide some of the manpower?

Thanks!

Hi Donna. Thank you for your support of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation through your service on the Foundation's Board of Directors. Each summer, the Foundation develops personal service plans for each member. These serve as a discussion starting point for how we can make your time on the Board meaningful while fulfilling the mission and vision of the Foundation. A draft of this plan is attached. We would like to set up a call to discuss your plan and anticipate no more than 30 minutes of your time. I have copied Martha Ontiveros who is coordinating these calls and will reach out to you shortly with some suggested time over the next two months. Thanks.

Yes, a preliminary recommendation although the press release did not make that clear. The GSNA website says:

The State Board will be voting on this issue at their August 21st board meeting. You all know this is a time of great challenge in school nutrition. It is very important that each of you contact the Board with your comments and local "stories" about how the snack policy will affect your program and your bottom line. They have heard from others in the educational community---now they need to hear from you.

If you would like to provide feedback, please send an e-mail to policy@doe.k12.ga.us.

Below are links to the press release from the Georgia Department of Education and a recent 11 Alive story about Georgia's State Board of Education amending the state's rule regarding the new smart snack guidelines that went into effect July 1, 2014. An email contact is provided in the GA DOE press release should you wish to submit a comment on this proposed amendment.

Superintendent Barge and State Board of Education Initiate Rule Regarding Food and Beverage School Fundraisers

<http://www.gadoe.org/External-Affairs-and-Policy/communications/Pages/PressReleaseDetails.aspx?PressView=default&pid=202>

This press release dated July 18, 2014 says in part:

In response to new federal school nutrition regulations, State School Superintendent Dr. John Barge and the State Board of Education today initiated the rulemaking process to amend the state board rule to comply with the federal Healthy, Hunger-free Kids Act of 2010. Federal regulations require these new standards beginning July 1, 2014. The proposed amended rule will include provisions that require local school systems to have policies regarding the sale of competitive foods during school and school-related activities (fundraisers). The rule will also contain new definitions for "competitive foods", school campus, and school day.

The initiated rule will allow schools to hold 30 fundraisers per school per school year that are food-related and that do not meet the nutrition standards established by federal law.

The GaDOE will also develop a procedure for school districts to obtain a temporary exemption from the SBOE approved fundraiser limit (30) on a case-by-case basis.

The initiated rule will allow schools to hold 30 fundraisers per school per school year that are food-related and that do not meet the nutrition standards established by federal law.

The GaDOE will also develop a procedure for school districts to obtain a temporary exemption from the SBOE approved fundraiser limit (30) on a case-by-case basis.

To Our Fellow Academy Members:

We have exciting news to share! To celebrate the contributions of food and nutrition professionals in helping children eat well, and to encourage all Academy members to help ensure the next generation of Americans is the healthiest ever, the Academy and the Foundation announce the first-ever Kids Eat Right Month.

For the entire month of August, we are spotlighting healthy nutrition and active lifestyles for children and families, as well as the role Academy members play as the food and nutrition experts when it comes to eating right.

Kids Eat Right Month is devoted to nutrition education and action. Find out how you can get involved by visiting KidsEatRight.org, where you can also sign up to become a Kids Eat Right campaign member. As a campaign member, you can access free resources and toolkits, as well as grant opportunities to support your work.

Please encourage your community to celebrate Kids Eat Right Month as well. Solving childhood obesity and improving the nutritional health of children requires all of us working together. That's why we're calling on all stakeholders—parents and kids, schools, community leaders, faith groups, public policy leaders and organizations—to visit www.KidsEatRight.org where they will find action items and opportunities to collaborate with registered dietitian nutritionists like you in local communities across the country. Together, our local outreach can result in a big impact nationwide and turn the tide in improving children's health.

Throughout August, share photos and stories of your Kids Eat Right Month activities for a chance to be highlighted in the Academy's social media accounts and in Eat Right Weekly.

Join the thousands of Academy members who have already signed up as Kids Eat Right campaign members and help make the first Kids Eat Right Month one to remember!

Sincerely,

Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD, FAND

Connect with the Academy:

To my fellow Academy members:

At the FNCE Opening Session in 2010, then Academy President Judith Rodriguez, PhD, RD, LDN, FADA, announced a need for a certification option for baccalaureate degree graduates who meet Didactic Program in Dietetics (DPD) requirements. A certification would respond to the demand for increased consumer access to credible food and nutrition information and would allow DPD graduates, who have completed an Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics (ACEND)-accredited program to remain connected to our profession.

In July 2013, the Board approved the Nutrition and Dietetics Associate (NDA) designation. Since then, the NDA and associated issues have generated many discussions. Recently, the Board of Directors appointed a Task Force to look more closely at moving to multi-levels of practice, and Academy members were asked for comments and recommendations. We were delighted that hundreds of members offered thoughtful, passionate remarks on all sides of the issue. Thank you to all members who provided feedback. We assure you that your voices were heard and your viewpoints were considered.

The Task Force reviewed all the information surrounding the NDA designation, including:

- Comments from educators, employers, practitioners and students dating back to 2011
- The Academy's ongoing need to proactively and strategically position the nutrition and dietetics profession in the marketplace now and in the future
- The fact that individuals with a baccalaureate degree are qualified for licensure/certification in 30 states if they complete a licensure board approved supervised practice/work experience and examination. These states do not require completion of ACEND-accredited academic programs or ACEND-accredited supervised practice.
- Recommendations from the 2012 Visioning Report and related House of Delegates (HOD) dialogue

- Recommendations from the Individualized Supervised Practice Pathways Workgroup
- ACEND, Commission on Dietetic Registration (CDR) and Council on Future Practice documents
- Data analysis from Nutrition and Dietetic Educators and Preceptors (NDEP) area meetings and member polls
- HOD portal postings, member emails
- Feedback to the online Change Management matrix for five key constituent groups (RDNs, DTRs, DPD graduates, employers and public/consumers).

The Board accepted the Task Force recommendation that builds upon the existing DTR Pathway III and differentiates between degree levels to obtain the credential Nutrition and Dietetics Technician, Registered (PhD, MS, BS or AS-NDTR). This recommendation follows the nursing model (the RN examination is open to AS-, BS-, and MS-prepared individuals). Individuals who have earned the DTR credential could choose to retain this designation or adopt the NDTR; those with the four year degree likewise could choose BS-DTR or BS-NDTR.

The Board believes this decision takes into account thoughtful member feedback and provides several advantages, including:

- Maintaining the integrity of current professional designations (RDN, RD, NDTR, DTR)
- Providing a timely opportunity for eligible DPD graduates to become certified and to remain connected to the Academy
- Allowing the Academy to collect and analyze data on the utilization and practice implications of the enhanced DTR Pathway III, and making evidence-based decisions on what, if any, changes are needed.

DTR Pathway III requires Completion of a Baccalaureate degree granted by a U.S. regionally accredited college/university, or foreign equivalent, and completion of an ACEND DPD. After successfully passing the NDTR exam, credentialed individuals will be required to comply with CDR recertification requirements, the Code of Ethics for the Profession of Dietetics and the Standards of Practice. In 2015, CDR will conduct a practice audit to differentiate practice parameters of NDTRs (DTRs) and RDNs. The results will provide valuable information about evolving practice roles to inform future deliberations on title, practice role and examination for NDTRs.

More information on the NDTR credential will be made available as it is developed. All members and students who are interested in the NDTR credential should visit <http://www.cdrnet.org/certifications/registration-eligibility-requirements-for-dietetic-technicians>.

Thank you again to all members who made their voices heard during the past several weeks. As a Board, we are committed to listening to you and carefully examining every issue as we continue to move the profession forward. We can only do that as members passionately engage in providing feedback, responding to calls for action and volunteering their time to continue to tackle the challenges that arise, including our current preceptor shortage. Working together we can help ensure the public has access to credible food and nutrition guidance from our credentialed practitioners.

Sincerely,

On behalf of the 2014-2015 Academy Board of Directors

With these two points clear before me as my creed, I began going forward." -Booker T. Washington, "My Larger Education," (1911)

Presidential Commentary by Dr. Brian Johnson

While one may have great difficulty in successfully appealing to multiple constituents and interests, the surest way to fail at doing so is pandering to the opinions of all. And there is no better blueprint for negotiating the pitfalls of paltry politics and partisanship than to follow Booker T. Washington's two-part course of action throughout his 34-year Presidency (1881-1915): 1. Speak clearly, frankly and honestly at all times. 2. Though laborious-and often painstaking-let your work speak for itself. "Integrity," the single greatest 9-letter word, speaks to the former. Consistency in communication across constituencies produces confidence. (For conversations spoken in one arena are bound to be communicated to other arenas, and multiple constituencies will quickly discover inconsistencies and inequity when conversations are compared to one another.) "Purpose," the single greatest 7-letter word, speaks to Washington's latter formulation. Persons consumed with purpose have little time for pandering and cronyism because they are consumed with performance. (For, in the end, performance and accomplishment-not political expediency-is the primary currency needed in communication across constituent groups.) Mr. Washington's signal accomplishments-best evidenced in the past, present and future testament of Tuskegee University-provides the clearest telltale signs of his philosophy's success. And it was no "short cut."

Evelyn has requested that I forward her inspirational philosophy and that of Booker T. Washington. I believe the Board's deliberations reflected this philosophy when considering the NDA/NDTR.

"[...] I made up my mind definitely on one or two fundamental points. I determined: First, that I should at all times be perfectly frank and honest in dealing with each of the three classes of people that I have mentioned; Second, that I should not depend upon any "short-cuts" or expedients merely for the sake of gaining temporary popularity or advantage, whether for the time being such action brought me popularity or the reverse. With these two points clear before me as my creed, I began going forward." -Booker T. Washington, "My Larger Education," (1911)

Presidential Commentary by Dr. Brian Johnson

While one may have great difficulty in successfully appealing to multiple constituents and interests, the surest way to fail at doing so is pandering to the opinions of all. And there is no better blueprint for negotiating the pitfalls of paltry politics and partisanship than to follow Booker T. Washington's two-part course of action throughout his 34-year Presidency (1881-1915): 1. Speak clearly, frankly and honestly at all times. 2. Though laborious-and often painstaking-let your work speak for itself. "Integrity," the single greatest 9-letter word, speaks to the former. Consistency in communication across constituencies produces confidence. (For conversations spoken in one arena are bound to be communicated to other arenas, and multiple constituencies will quickly discover inconsistencies and inequity when conversations are compared to one another.) "Purpose," the single greatest 7-letter word, speaks to Washington's latter formulation. Persons consumed with purpose have little time for pandering and cronyism because they are consumed with performance. (For, in the end, performance and accomplishment-not political expediency-is the primary currency needed in communication across constituent groups.) Mr. Washington's signal accomplishments-best evidenced in the past, present and future testament of Tuskegee University-provides the clearest telltale signs of his philosophy's success. And it was no "short cut."

Kay and all,

I received the final letter from Doris this morning and as is customary, a group like the TF would get the letter just prior to it going out to all the Academy members. I have already sent that letter to the TF members and Doris was going to wait a very short time and send to members.

Of importance is the fact that the vast majority of members are not aware of this information and the discussions surrounding this over the past several months even though the concept has been discussed since 2010. My understanding is that for those members, having some of the history up front might be more easily read and understood.

Glad you enjoyed your vacation! I am a little jealous, still wanting one!

Hello,

Ok, I apologize as I am really late in the game of reading this information (but I did enjoy my vacation) I strongly agree with Don about putting the punch line up front. The history is nice, but people will be looking for this information. I also think we thank people for their participation in the discussion early... Kay

All,

At this point, I can't claim "newbie" status, but I did read this letter as if I was an AND member not regularly immersed in the Nutrition and Dietetics Associate (NDA)/[Nutrition and] Dietetics Technician ([N]DTR) issue.

First, thanks for defining the acronyms!

Second, I'm a great proponent in delivering the punchline early. I've attached an edited copy of the letter with a possible opening/executive summary.

After the key message is stated, the history and process of reaching the decision is well detailed in the current form. Those who wish to know more detail can read on. I think the various edits suggested by others are on target, and I defer to the experts about specific technical terms and process descriptions. I agree with the comment that URL hyperlinks can be used liberally to provide more detailed information, and to keep the letter as brief as possible.

Finally, the closing paragraph might provide the anticipated timeline for implementation (to whatever level of specificity can be provided), and what members (and DPD grads) need to do at this point, even if it is just looking out for more information.

My comments are just one person's opinion, so feel free to use them or not.

Don

FYI I spent the weekend as the BOD/ HLT liaison for the Council of Future Practice with five members on the committee that are NDEP members. One member was very vocal during the meeting about having to wait for the announcement of NDA task force and even speculated that the BOD surely was going to announce moving forward with the NDA. How the message is rolled out to members that do not have preconceived bias is of utmost importance. Remembering to manage polarity for the naysayers is probably a separate issue. Look forward to seeing Sonia's video and keeping to the "talk it up" theme.

All my best,
Marcy Kyle

We had talked briefly about the need to engage the educators. As your liaison to NDEP, I will definitely be making that point on the next call as follow up to this. That said, I wonder too if it would be great to incorporate the “talk it up” message in Sonja’s video to the members. Then the marketing/communications team would obviously be working on a roll out plan as Pat had said earlier, and we could reach out to NDEP to add comments/suggestions to a planas we bring them back into a better relationship with us.

Thoughts?

Hello All:

Before the final draft....

I agree with the edits thus far including, adding the many Presidents who have worked on this issue, the licensure issue (delicately included) and I would like consideration of the following:

1. I think we need to ask for the engagement of our members, and particularly our educators to “get the word out and promote this opportunity for our DPD graduates”. They have been very vocal and we need to encourage their positive engagement

2. We discussed the 3 year review....so that data could be gathered. Even more important for #1 above

3. The word "thrilled" catches me – perhaps we were "glad"

The letter looks good. I think since it is going electronically, the length may be less of an issue. Sonja and all, I wonder if we want to add a statement that really affected the TF quite a bit about the national landscape; that point was specifically about the issue of licensure/certification in 30 states at present.....which do not require ACEND accredited program completion to be recognized for practice & the fact that these grads are already practicing & competing with our credentials. The TF was shocked & that is why I mentioned that again at our BOD meeting. I just don't think our members are aware of that fact..... Would you consider adding that to the letter? It could go into the paragraph that talks about the many things that we reviewed.

Hi Pat and Board Members,

I have attached my edited version. I think it should be kept to one page. The one thing that needs to be resolved is if this is from me or from me on behalf of the Board, the latter of which I favor. If so, the signature needs to say me on behalf of the Academy Board of Directors.

Thanks. That video can be a great addition to the campaign to spotlight the issues and the opportunities for our members as a whole, and member-educator/preceptors. We need them all for sure. Go Sonja, go on that tape!

We had talked briefly about the need to engage the educators. As your liaison to NDEP, I will definitely be making that point on the next call as follow up to this. That said, I wonder too if it would be great to incorporate the "talk it up" message in Sonja's video to the members. Then the marketing/communications team would obviously be working on a roll out plan as Pat had said earlier, and we could reach out to NDEP to add comments/suggestions to a planas we bring them back into a better relationship with us.

Thoughts?

Hello All:

Before the final draft....

I agree with the edits thus far including, adding the many Presidents who have worked on this issue, the licensure issue (delicately included) and I would like consideration of the following:

1. I think we need to ask for the engagement of our members, and particularly our educators to "get the word out and promote this opportunity for our DPD graduates". They have been very vocal and we need to encourage their positive engagement
2. We discussed the 3 year review....so that data could be gathered. Even more important for #1 above
3. The word "thrilled" catches me – perhaps we were "glad"

Hi Pat and Board Members,

I have attached my edited version. I think it should be kept to one page. The one thing that needs to be resolved is if this is from me or from me on behalf of the Board, the latter of which I favor. If so, the signature needs to say me on behalf of the Academy Board of Directors.

On the Pulse of Public Policy

Take Action to Help Stop Diabetes

Congress is heading back home soon. Before they leave Washington, D.C., ask your senators and representatives to take action to stop the growing problem of diabetes. The Academy needs every member to support the National Diabetes Clinical Care Commission Act. This bill will establish a commission to make recommendations to better coordinate and leverage existing federal programs for people with diabetes and prediabetes. The commission, which will include Academy members and other expert practitioners, would also determine how the government could support clinicians in providing high-quality care to people with diabetes. Take action today to support this bill.

Tiny edit: next to the last sentence, page 2 reads:

We can do that as only members passionately engage in providing feedback, responding to calls for action and volunteering their time to continue to tackle the challenges that arise, including our current preceptor shortage.

Should be:

We can only do that as....

this was likely my error earlier.

Looks great!

Tiny edit: next to the last sentence, page 2 reads:

We can do that as only members passionately engage in providing feedback, responding to calls for action and volunteering their time to continue to tackle the challenges that arise, including our current preceptor shortage.

Should be:

We can only do that as....

this was likely my error earlier.

Looks great!

Then the marketing/communications team would obviously be working on a roll out plan as Pat had said earlier, and we could reach out to NDEP to add comments/suggestions to a planas we bring them back into a better relationship with us.

Hello All:

Before the final draft....

I agree with the edits thus far including, adding the many Presidents who have worked on this issue, the licensure issue (delicately included) and I would like consideration of the following:

1. I think we need to ask for the engagement of our members, and particularly our educators to “get the word out and promote this opportunity for our DPD graduates”. They have been very vocal and we need to encourage their positive engagement
3. The word “thrilled” catches me – perhaps we were “glad”

Sonja and all, I wonder if we want to add a statement that really affected the TF quite a bit about the national landscape; that point was specifically about the issue of licensure/certification in 30 states at present.....which do not require ACEND accredited program completion to be recognized for practice & the fact that these grads are already practicing & competing with our credentials. The TF was shocked & that is why I mentioned that again at our BOD meeting. I just don't think our members are aware of that fact..... Would you consider adding that to the letter? It could go into the paragraph that talks about the many things that we reviewed.

I have attached my edited version. I think it should be kept to one page. The one thing that needs to be resolved is if this is from me or from me on behalf of the Board, the latter of which I favor. If so, the signature needs to say me on behalf of the Academy Board of Directors.

Did not mention the reason for my absence because I did not want to incite a mass exodus from Chicago to the Caribbean! Actually, summertime is not get-the-heck-out-of-Dodge/Midwest and go south weather but my mother who lives in Minnesota wants to go, so I am taking her and my two daughters. Should be great fun in the sun.

I can recommend reasonable condos in the low-rise district for the next face to face meeting of FAC in April. Will be warmer than Chicago but we might not get much work done. J

Aida, Thanks so much for the request you made to the FAC concerning the very important issue of Corporate Sponsorship. This had been an issue that the BOD has been dealing with for a very long time. The issue with FAC and corporate sponsorships is that we have to live with the results of whether or not we get any money from corporate sponsors. Although it is a small part of our budget, it is still a significant amount of non-dues revenue. Those of us that are "in the know" feel like we have an excellent sponsorship program that is handled with integrity. The problems seem to come from the fact that there is a very small group of people who do not think we ought to have any sponsors at all.

With that being said, I think this issue would be best discussed at a BOD meeting. The BOD have established The Sponsorship Advisor Task Force to deal with this issue. We have not gotten a report back from them yet, but I think it we will be seeing something soon. I have included more information on this task force below. Hopefully, this gives you a direction in which to pursue your question. I look forward to a healthy discussion on the BOD when we get the recommendations from the Task Force. Again, thank you for your question.

The Sponsorship Advisor Task Force is made up of eight Academy members and one former public Board member. The scope of the task force's deliberations include:

- Making recommendations regarding the guidelines
- Suggesting criteria for establishing a 'pro-bono' category for sponsorship
- Reviewing policies and practices regarding industry-sponsored continuing education in conjunction with the Scientific Integrity Policy committee's work

Task Force committee members have a wide scope of practice and expertise including consumer trends and insights.

Hi Donna, Mary and Kay,

I did not want to send this to the entire FA committee as this may be dumb...

I was wondering if we could discuss the issues that the "Dietitians for Professional Integrity" have with AND and corporate sponsorship.

I was looking through my emails this morning and found that someone had forwarded their newsletter via the Weight Management DPG listserve. I copied and pasted what appeared on the listserve, and am attaching it as a Word doc (it is LONG...).

They are actively pursuing media coverage and member support of their issues, which just hurts the academy and hurts them too!

I realize that we cannot address every member or group concern or issue, yet I would also hope to be "proactive" if it is even possible, and engage in a conversation.

I can tell you that it was a shock to me to see that only a TINY amount of our budget comes from corporate sponsorship. And in only a few weeks I have tremendous respect for how our finances are handled. I wish the membership could also experience this in some way, so that they could help be a part of solutions, not run the Academy through the mud.

Not sure if I am making sense. Would it be possible to talk about this during the July call?
Unfortunately I am not able to join the meeting in June (although I am trying to work something out... but right now I have a prior commitment).

Thanks for "listening!" and happy weekend! Summer has arrived to Minnesota.

The 3-5 year review was also discussed in the context of a CDR practice audit. The next audit is scheduled to be conducted in 2015, and if we get a larger database of these graduates with the help of our members, especially the educators and students, we can conduct the evaluation sooner than 3 years. We do need the audit to report the practice roles these individuals are engaged in. Original paragraph 6 of the letter to members states: "In 2015, CDR will conduct a practice audit to differentiate practice parameters between NDTRs (DTRs) and RDNs. The results will inform us of evolving practice roles for future deliberations on titles, scope, and examination for the BS- NDTR population." We will incorporate the word " evaluation" to stress the potential of the program's components changing.

Tangential to this letter, there's one thing that does worry us as staff re the evaluation, which we all hope will show a role differentiation. The last DPD audit showed no differences between baccalaureate DPD program graduates, who were not credentialed as DTRs and associate degree DTRs. We are concerned that employers (primarily RDNs) seeing the DTR within the title will continue to assign DTR functions to this group, and the results of the next audit may be similar to the last one. Chris Reidy tells me the issue in the last audit wasn't really about a larger baccalaureate sample, but that the group was functioning at the DTR level or lower, rather than in expanded roles in wellness, industry, school and community nutrition. The challenge will be to increase the NDTR response from those working in these non-traditional roles, and we will target the BS-NDTR population with incentives to respond and to bolster the likelihood of a role differentiation. The graduate degree competencies will also help distinguish practice roles over time, but unfortunately implementation spans a decade or more.

CDR is developing an FAQ and revising website information to incorporate NDTR in the Pathway III information to accommodate the link.

Hello All:

Before the final draft....

I agree with the edits thus far including, adding the many Presidents who have worked on this issue, the licensure issue (delicately included) and I would like consideration of the following:

1. I think we need to ask for the engagement of our members, and particularly our educators to “get the word out and promote this opportunity for our DPD graduates”. They have been very vocal and we need to encourage their positive engagement
2. We discussed the 3 year review....so that data could be gathered. Even more important for #1 above
3. The word “thrilled” catches me – perhaps we were “glad”

Should be great fun in the sun.

I can recommend reasonable condos in the low-rise district for the next face to face meeting of FAC in April. Will be warmer than Chicago but we might not get much work done. J

All,

At this point, I can't claim "newbie" status, but I did read this letter as if I was an AND member not regularly immersed in the Nutrition and Dietetics Associate (NDA)/[Nutrition and] Dietetics Technician ([N]DTR) issue.

First, thanks for defining the acronyms!

Second, I'm a great proponent in delivering the punchline early. I've attached an edited copy of the letter with a possible opening/executive summary.

After the key message is stated, the history and process of reaching the decision is well detailed in the current form. Those who wish to know more detail can read on. I think the various edits suggested by others are on target, and I defer to the experts about specific technical terms and process descriptions. I agree with the comment that URL hyperlinks can be used liberally to provide more detailed information, and to keep the letter as brief as possible.

Finally, the closing paragraph might provide the anticipated timeline for implementation (to whatever level of specificity can be provided), and what members (and DPD grads) need to do at this point, even if it is just looking out for more information.

My comments are just one person's opinion, so feel free to use them or not.

Hi everyone,

I worked on this a little bit trying to incorporate feedback so far. Lo-and-behold, I did not read Cathy's input about past presidents, so that is not here.

I admit that it took me a while to figure out that TF is not "Tube Feeding" (grading too many clinical assignments this week), but Task Force!

About licensure, I added it, although I vaguely remember Jeannie saying that they try to not "publicize" this fact, as our competitors could get wind of it (or something along those lines?) I think the way I added it would not hurt, but it needs some wordsmithing.

Attached is my attempt at incorporating feedback and adding an ending. It still needs some help.

I was in the process of reviewing all the changes recommended yesterday and was about to try to compile it all in one document when I checked my new emails and saw Aida's email!

Aida did such a great job of incorporating all of the comments to date including some additional wording...I really like the tone of her changes and suggest we use her draft for any additional comments before our noon deadline!

Thanks Aida!

I will be in Aruba with family the week you have selected for the additional call. I am dedicated but the charges for a long, long distance call would be outrageous.

If we have the call on the 11th, does that mean our regular call toward the end of the month is cancelled?

I thank you very much, Donna! Board members have been reaching out to me and they will recognize this email as her way of saving face. Aida asked Joan when will someone tell Glenna she's no longer president (hopefully Sonja plans to) and Sandra in a conversation with a staff member said it must be hard to work with "some presidents". Her pounding the table at the Nominating Committee dinner in a restaurant yelling at the committee did little to promote "understanding and clarity." By the way, Denice asked for a copy of the contract and Carolyn was told specifically by Glenna to share it only with the 3Ps.

Donna, do you have time to speak with me tomorrow?

My second slap on the hand. First from Sonya and now Glenna. I will take it!! I got what I and the rest of the board wanted in spite of her bullying.

Dear Board:

There is much to learn from this experience and dialogue and input from many of you has been insightful, helping us improve things for the future. Only one comment I would like to make in addition to those given, is what Sandra Gill emphasized at the end of the meeting: Though all voices in the room were not in total agreement, once the vote has been taken - we speak as one voice. Having more time for dialogue, clarity, understanding and decision making is critical as we move forward.

Donna, I would like to respond to your comment specifically, particularly after having time to reflect on what happened at the meeting (I'm like Aida...I need thinking and reflecting time:)). Once in Executive Session, I did not need to state your comments, as those whom you talked to in the hallway, sharing your opinion, were already commenting. The disappointment - the CEO

Compensation Committee had been working together since January in a very diligent and thoughtful manner. My disappointment... even though I spoke with you directly prior to our F-2-F Chicago meeting July 11th to finalize our discussion and details of the contract, the job descriptions and to review the new evaluation - though you could not be present, you never mentioned any of the comments I heard you making in the hallway, nor did you contact Ethan and Sonja who had been the team to secure the details of the contract. Though I was glad to listen - your comments should have gone back through the Committee for discussion. I think that would have helped to minimize confusion within the committee as well as the board, and retain the integrity and work of the committee.

Lessons to be learned, but once again I will state what Sandra Gill did - once a committee or a board have voted (regardless if we all vote the same), the majority has the vote and ALL speak as one voice from that point on:) It will promote healthy dissent, collaboration, trust and integrity of all involved.

I support the vote of the board.

Sonya, In response to your email about the executive session you were correct that I was absent for the meeting. I had a lengthy conversation with Glenna about my concerns about the 2 year contract and wanted it to be 4 years. I told her that I was disappointed that I was not going to be at the Executive Committee meeting to express my concerns. She assured me that she would notify the board of my two major concerns. The first being that I wanted the contract to be four years so Pat would be there for the 100th year anniversary. The second reason being that I thought a 2 year contract would send the wrong signal to the Academy staff that we did not have confidence in Pat. I assume she let you all know of my concerns, so if I had been there my vote for the record would have been a yes!!

The Academy attorney has recommended that we not put peoples names in minutes of who made the motion and who seconded it, etc., due to the threat of law suits.

Dear Academy Board Members,

I am writing up the executive session minutes and wanted to double check the vote on the contract.

Donna was absent

12 voted yes

4 abstained (Don, Sandra, Nancy and Evelyn)

Please confirm this is accurate for you.

Many thanks!

Hi Pat and Board Members,

I have attached my edited version. I think it should be kept to one page. The one thing that needs to be resolved is if this is from me or from me on behalf of the Board, the latter of which I favor. If so, the signature needs to say me on behalf of the Academy Board of Directors.

The letter looks good. I think since it is going electronically, the length may be less of an issue. Sonja and all, I wonder if we want to add a statement that really affected the TF quite a bit about the national landscape; that point was specifically about the issue of licensure/certification in 30 states at present.....which do not require ACEND accredited program completion to be recognized for practice & the fact that these grads are already practicing & competing with our credentials. The TF was shocked & that is why I mentioned that again at our BOD meeting. I just don't think our members are aware of that fact..... Would you consider adding that to the letter? It could go into the paragraph that talks about the many things that we reviewed.

I will be in Aruba with family the week you have selected for the additional call. I am dedicated but the charges for a long, long distance call would be outrageous.

If we have the call on the 11th, does that mean our regular call toward the end of the month is cancelled?

Hi Pat and Board Members,

I have attached my edited version. I think it should be kept to one page. The one thing that needs to be resolved is if this is from me or from me on behalf of the Board, the latter of which I favor. If so, the signature needs to say me on behalf of the Academy Board of Directors.

I will be in Aruba with family the week you have selected for the additional call. I am dedicated but the charges for a long, long distance call would be outrageous.

If we have the call on the 11th, does that mean our regular call toward the end of the month is cancelled?

I thank you very much, Donna! Board members have been reaching out to me and they will recognize this email as her way of saving face. Aida asked Joan when will someone tell Glenna she's no longer president (hopefully Sonja plans to) and Sandra in a conversation with a staff member said it must be hard to work with "some presidents". Her pounding the table at the Nominating Committee dinner in a restaurant yelling at the committee did little to promote "understanding and clarity." By the way, Denice asked for a copy of the contract and Carolyn was told specifically by Glenna to share it only with the 3Ps.

Donna, do you have time to speak with me tomorrow?

Best,

Pat

Dear Board:

There is much to learn from this experience and dialogue and input from many of you has been insightful, helping us improve things for the future. Only one comment I would like to make in addition to those given, is what Sandra Gill emphasized at the end of the meeting: Though all voices in the room were not in total agreement, once the vote has been taken - we speak as one voice. Having more time for dialogue, clarity, understanding and decision making is critical as we move forward.

Donna, I would like to respond to your comment specifically, particularly after having time to reflect on what happened at the meeting (I'm like Aida...I need thinking and reflecting time:)). Once in Executive Session, I did not need to state your comments, as those whom you talked to in the hallway, sharing your opinion, were already commenting. The disappointment - the CEO Compensation Committee had been working together since January in a very diligent and thoughtful manner. My disappointment... even though I spoke with you directly prior to our F-2-F Chicago meeting July 11th to finalize our discussion and details of the contract, the job descriptions and to review the new evaluation - though you could not be present, you never mentioned any of the comments I heard you making in the hallway, nor did you contact Ethan and Sonja who had been the team to secure the details of the contract. Though I was glad to listen - your comments should have gone back through the Committee for discussion. I think that would have helped to minimize confusion within the committee as well as the board, and retain the integrity and work of the committee.

Lessons to be learned, but once again I will state what Sandra Gill did - once a committee or a board have voted (regardless if we all vote the same), the majority has the vote and ALL speak as one voice from that point on:) It will promote healthy dissent, collaboration, trust and integrity of all involved.

I support the vote of the board.

Sonya, In response to your email about the executive session you were correct that I was absent for the meeting. I had a lengthy conversation with Glenna about my concerns about the 2 year contract and wanted it to be 4 years. I told her that I was disappointed that I was not going to be at the Executive Committee meeting to express my concerns. She assured me that she would notify the board of my two major concerns. The first being that I wanted the contract to be four years so Pat would be there for the 100th year anniversary. The second reason being that I thought a 2 year contract would send the wrong signal to the Academy staff that we did not have confidence in Pat. I assume she let you all know of my concerns, so if I had been there my vote for the record would have been a yes!!

The Academy attorney has recommended that we not put peoples names in minutes of who made the motion and who seconded it, etc., due to the threat of law suits.

Donna,

Sorry for not getting back to you yesterday. Sorry about your voice! I am glad all went well with the wedding. As for the call today, I mentioned to Mary Gregoire that I don't think we would have this on our all today. I have not yet shared the information with Pat. I told Mary, the FAC would either have a separate call or it would be done at the end of August. She was comfortable with that timeline. I also mentioned that if I had a position on the FAC, I would not approve the funding. What I would do is approve that the Academy would provide funding to cover any deficit generated by ACEND for FY15 up to the amount of the request. On the record, you would have to ask them what their budget looks like in FY15. Off the record, I will tell you they budgeted a $35,000 surplus. So, I could see funding any operating deficit due to this project. Assuming their budget is correct, this would say that they have responsibility for the first $35,000 and the Academy would pay the rest. Now, if they have a larger surplus, then they would pick up more. Above all else, the Academy would not expect ACEND to dip into their reserves to cover this expense. However, we would not want them to build reserves while asking for funding. I hope this makes sense.

As for Aida's comments below; I would not have Mary Beth on the call today. I am not sure what her concerns/questions really are based on the information below. I did go onto the websites, so, I understand some of "DPIs" concerns. That being said, I don't believe at the outset that this is a FAC issue. First and foremost, it is a Board issue. If the Board chooses to address this issue, then the FAC can address the consequences of any actions taken. I believe strongly in that sequence. Now, one could say we are losing members because of Sponsorship. That may be true, but, our membership is growing.

This issue is one that has been an ongoing concern for years. The Academy has always run the sponsorship program with integrity. We have also begun to adjust the program, based on feedback and analysis, and tapered our revenue from the program. The major issue; members who are the most outspoken, generally don't want us to have any sponsors. Once you start down this path, it will then become advertisers in the Journal, exhibitors at FNCE, companies we invest in, etc. All valid concerns, but, every vendor, advertiser, investment has someone who does not like it. Not to mention, many of these same companies that some members are concerned about are employers of RDNs. We have to trust in the integrity of the program and the integrity of the Board.

I apologize if you feel otherwise. My comments are not meant to offend anyone. I just believe the sponsorship direction is a Board issue and the consequences are a FAC issue. AIDA's questions/concerns are not wrong or inappropriate. I just think this should be raised with the Board. I have made Pat and Mary Beth aware of this inquiry. So, I will let you know their thoughts.

On another topic, I need from either you or Sonja the final compensation for Pat. In an email, I need to know her salary, start date of salary and her bonus. That way, I can begin the process to modify payroll and to pay Pat.

If you have any questions, I am available all morning.

Paul

Subject: Re: Miscellaneous

Paul, I am disappointed in their stance on these issues, but I agree that we should not rock the boat. I assume you have let Pat and Mary Gregorie know? Do you have a feel for what Mary's stance is on this issue? Does she agree with what Merievelyn is doing? The only good thing about this is that we will be able to talk more freely about the fact we will not be giving them any money from the Academy to fund standards development! Always looking for the silver lining!

We also need to talk a little about the question that Aida Miles had about sponsorship. I think we could handle it under new business. Do you think we ought to have Mary Beth on the call to address this?

I just got back from my son's wedding and everything went extremely well. The only problem is that I have lost my voice. I am on some medicine and hopefully I will be able to get it back enough by tomorrow so I can conduct the call. I will let you know if that is going to be a problem. I think I caught a bug on the flight home. I am around if you need to call and talk. If not we can handle things tomorrow.

Her question was:

Hi Donna, Mary and Kay,

I did not want to send this to the entire FA committee as this may be dumb...

I was wondering if we could discuss the issues that the "Dietitians for Professional Integrity" have with AND and corporate sponsorship.

I was looking through my emails this morning and found that someone had forwarded their newsletter via the Weight Management DPG listserve. I copied and pasted what appeared on the listserve, and am attaching it as a Word doc (it is LONG...).

They are actively pursuing media coverage and member support of their issues, which just hurts the academy and hurts them too!

I realize that we cannot address every member or group concern or issue, yet I would also hope to be "proactive" if it is even possible, and engage in a conversation.

I can tell you that it was a shock to me to see that only a TINY amount of our budget comes from corporate sponsorship. And in only a few weeks I have tremendous respect for how our finances are handled. I wish the membership could also experience this in some way, so that they could help be a part of solutions, not run the Academy through the mud.

Not sure if I am making sense. Would it be possible to talk about this during the July call? Unfortunately I am not able to join the meeting in June (although I am trying to work something out... but right now I have a prior commitment).

This was what was on the list serve:

Advocating for ethical and responsible sponsorship within the Academy of Nutrition & Dietetics to help advance the dietetic profession and credential. When we first created Dietitians For Professional Integrity, we were not sure what to expect. Would our dietitian colleagues, other health professionals, and the general public share our concerns regarding the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics' problematic sponsorship model? Could we gradually build a solid coalition?

We are now four months past our one-year anniversary and, while we certainly have plenty of work ahead of us, we are very pleased at our progress thus far -- in large part thanks to your continued support. We were especially thrilled to receive coverage in Mother Jones magazine and NPR this past month. And, we are excited to share with you our sponsorship rubric -- guidelines for sponsorship that we think can be implemented to determine what kinds of companies are a good fit for a nutrition organization, and which are best avoided.

Systemic change does not happen quickly, but there is no doubt that our efforts and concerns have come at a time when the conversation about public health and nutrition is largely centered on similar issues. Let's continue to speak up, speak out, and take an active role in shaping the kind of future we want for ourselves and our country.

Andy Bellatti, MS, RD DFPI Strategic Director & Co-Founder

What Does Sponsorship with Integrity Look Like?

DFPI is in the process of finalizing a sponsorship rubric that we think best reflects responsible and ethical sponsorship guidelines for a nutrition organization. We want to hear your thoughts on our latest draft. You review see the draft here

The comment period is open for two weeks, from May 29, 2014 until June 12, 2014.

Your feedback will help us later this Summer when we create a final draft of our sponsorship rubric, which will be submitted to Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics leadership.

Donna,

Thank you for your call yesterday. I was glad to hear everything went well. I forgot to give you a "heads-up" on an issue. As you know, we are having on-going issues with ACEND. Merievelyn Stuber and I talked about ACEND's participation on the FAC. She feels that she should not be on the Committee due to the Department of Education "independence" criteria. We discussed this for about 30 minutes. Even though I don't agree, I understand her perspective. So, I don't believe she will be joining us going forward. In addition, ACEND has asked that we remove the ACEND financial statements from our FAC calls. I am comfortable doing so. At this time, I don't think we need to "rock the boat" so to speak.

Let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Thanks Sonja for inviting us to your beautiful home. The food was delicious. Once again the retreat was a very busy time, lots of learning opportunities for addressing the challenges that we are facing in our profession.

Thanks to the staff, our consultants, task forces and volunteers who made everything work well for all.

Pat, That would be fine. I don't have any pictures yet, but I will be glad to share when I do. I am in meetings and inservice all day tomorrow. Anytime Wednesday, Thursday afternoon or Friday afternoon would work for me. Call and if for some reason I am on the phone, I will call you back. Glad you talked to Margaret. She had conversations with Sonya and got mixed vibes from her. I think Sonya flips around and it is hard to read.

I spoke with Margaret today and she filled in some details. I am shocked that Glenna said she discussed a two-year contract with me since the first I heard of a two-year one was from Paul. Believe me, I would have remembered since it wasn't going to take me through the 100th Anniversary. Nixing a trip to China, Mexico, a separate COO position, a handler and a specially dedicated office for her did not earn me any points!! If ok with you, I would like to call you later this week. The fact that EC abstained during the vote makes me think she and Glenna have come to some agreement. Again, many, many thanks!!

Can't wait to see the photos!!

Hi Donna,

Just checking about the contract conversation. The Compensation Committee had agreed to the contract details earlier. I presented them to the Board during the executive session on May. This is just to remind the Board what has already been recommended by the committee.

In the event you have changed your mind it would be best to talk with the committee.

All,

Let me add my congratulations and thanks to Sonja, the AND executive leadership team and staff, and to my colleagues, the AND Board members, for a thoroughly enjoyable and successful Board Retreat.

Echoing the sentiment of several, thank you, Sonja, for graciously hosting us in your home- a beautiful setting and with wonderful (and healthy) food for us to enjoy and meet and greet each other.

To the AND executive team and staff, the agenda and venue were well-planned and executed, allowing us to learn a great deal (at least I did), and to discern the challenging strategic and tactical issues we faced.

And finally, to my fellow Board members and guests, I was truly impressed at our ability to listen, to incorporate and integrate feedback and new information, and arrive at what I consider to be wise decisions (especially as they related to the NDA issue and the nominating committee).

That said, the Academy has a great deal of work to do- branding the profession, better defining the role of research and international collaboration, executing the enhanced DTR strategy, coming to grips with the dietetic clinical practicum issue, and figuring out how to best understand and encourage diversity for the good of the people we serve, the profession, and the Academy.

I look forward to working with and supporting the profession and the Academy in any way I can.

Don

I will send you the information well ahead of time with a cover letter explaining as much as possible.

Again, thanks for helping us have an excellent retreat. Pat was happy with the discussion about the strategic plan. Also, we talked about ways to get the goals and work plan in sync with the budget. Pat is going to work on this.

I spoke with Margaret today and she filled in some details. I am shocked that Glenna said she discussed a two-year contract with me since the first I heard of a two-year one was from Paul. Believe me, I would have remembered since it wasn't going to take me through the 100th Anniversary. Nixing a trip to China, Mexico, a separate COO position, a handler and a specially dedicated office for her did not earn me any points!! If ok with you, I would like to call you later this week. The fact that EC abstained during the vote makes me think she and Glenna have come to some agreement. Again, many, many thanks!!

Can't wait to see the photos!!

Hi Donna,

Just checking about the contract conversation. The Compensation Committee had agreed to the contract details earlier. I presented them to the Board during the executive session on May. This is just to remind the Board what has already been recommended by the committee.

In the event you have changed your mind it would be best to talk with the committee.

Paul, I am disappointed in their stance on these issues, but I agree that we should not rock the boat. I assume you have let Pat and Mary Gregorie know? Do you have a feel for what Mary's stance is on this issue? Does she agree with what Merievelyn is doing? The only good thing about this is that we will be able to talk more freely about the fact we will not be giving them any money from the Academy to fund standards development! Always looking for the silver lining!

We also need to talk a little about the question that Aida Miles had about sponsorship. I think we could handle it under new business. Do you think we ought to have Mary Beth on the call to address this?

I just got back from my son's wedding and everything went extremely well. The only problem is that I have lost my voice. I am on some medicine and hopefully I will be able to get it back enough by tomorrow so I can conduct the call. I will let you know if that is going to be a problem. I think I caught a bug on the flight home. I am around if you need to call and talk. If not we can handle things tomorrow.

Her question was:

Hi Donna, Mary and Kay,

I did not want to send this to the entire FA committee as this may be dumb...

I was wondering if we could discuss the issues that the "Dietitians for Professional Integrity" have with AND and corporate sponsorship.

I was looking through my emails this morning and found that someone had forwarded their newsletter via the Weight Management DPG listserve. I copied and pasted what appeared on the listserve, and am attaching it as a Word doc (it is LONG...).

They are actively pursuing media coverage and member support of their issues, which just hurts the academy and hurts them too!

I realize that we cannot address every member or group concern or issue, yet I would also hope to be "proactive" if it is even possible, and engage in a conversation.

I can tell you that it was a shock to me to see that only a TINY amount of our budget comes from corporate sponsorship. And in only a few weeks I have tremendous respect for how our finances are handled. I wish the membership could also experience this in some way, so that they could help be a part of solutions, not run the Academy through the mud.

Not sure if I am making sense. Would it be possible to talk about this during the July call? Unfortunately I am not able to join the meeting in June (although I am trying to work something out... but right now I have a prior commitment).

This was what was on the list serve:

Advocating for ethical and responsible sponsorship within the Academy of Nutrition & Dietetics to help advance the dietetic profession and credential. When we first created Dietitians For Professional Integrity, we were not sure what to expect. Would our dietitian colleagues, other health professionals, and the general public share our concerns regarding the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics' problematic sponsorship model? Could we gradually build a solid coalition?

We are now four months past our one-year anniversary and, while we certainly have plenty of work ahead of us, we are very pleased at our progress thus far -- in large part thanks to your continued support. We were especially thrilled to receive coverage in Mother Jones magazine and NPR this past month. And, we are excited to share with you our sponsorship rubric -- guidelines for sponsorship that we think can be implemented to determine what kinds of companies are a good fit for a nutrition organization, and which are best avoided.

Systemic change does not happen quickly, but there is no doubt that our efforts and concerns have come at a time when the conversation about public health and nutrition is largely centered on similar issues. Let's continue to speak up, speak out, and take an active role in shaping the kind of future we want for ourselves and our country.

Andy Bellatti, MS, RD DFPI Strategic Director & Co-Founder

What Does Sponsorship with Integrity Look Like?

DFPI is in the process of finalizing a sponsorship rubric that we think best reflects responsible and ethical sponsorship guidelines for a nutrition organization. We want to hear your thoughts on our latest draft. You review see the draft here

Donna,

Thank you for your call yesterday. I was glad to hear everything went well. I forgot to give you a "heads-up" on an issue. As you know, we are having on-going issues with ACEND. Merievelyn Stuber and I talked about ACEND's participation on the FAC. She feels that she should not be on the Committee due to the Department of Education "independence" criteria. We discussed this for about 30 minutes. Even though I don't agree, I understand her perspective. So, I don't believe she will be joining us going forward. In addition, ACEND has asked that we remove the ACEND financial statements from our FAC calls. I am comfortable doing so. At this time, I don't think we need to "rock the boat" so to speak.

Let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

In the last sentence, I said " Please let us know if you can't make the call on Friday ". Why I wrote Friday is beyond me. Maybe I was thinking of the weekend. Even after reading this twice, I didn't notice "Friday" until now. So, just to be clear, our call is on Tuesday!!! Sorry about the typo.

Subject: Finance and Audit Committee Meeting on Tuesday, July 29th at 1:00 p.m. CDT

All,

As I mentioned in my e-mail yesterday, we have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday. I hope everyone can attend. Our focus of the call will be;

1. Final May Financials
2. Preliminary June Financials.

Each month, I provide a "high-level" narrative of the results for the current or preliminary month's financials (June in this case). This allows staff to get information into your hands, as soon as the books can be closed, with some information. On the second pass, when the financials are final, Christian will provide a more detailed narrative for your review. So, essentially, the Committee will see all of the financial information twice before it becomes final. We don't anticipate too many changes from the first, to the second, time you will see the information. However, at the beginning and at the end of the fiscal year adjustments might be necessary. In the beginning of the year, staff is still "smoothing out" the budgets. We have quite a few projects and business entities. Therefore, the first cut on projecting the monthly budgets may not be correct and may require some changes. By August, we tend to have this completed. At the end of the year, the changes occur due to the timing of the final bills that are submitted to close out a Fiscal Year. We keep the books open to make sure all of the expenses have been recorded in the correct year. Sometimes, bills that are processed in May are for June (the next fiscal year) and vice versa. So, each bill has to be scrutinized. Remember, In most cases, the Accounting team records financials in the period in which the benefit has been provided; not when the money comes in or the check goes out. This requires a great deal of review at the end of the year.

Two of the Finance and Audit Committee's responsibilities are the Tax Returns and the Audit.

Since all of the organizational results get included in these items, we provide to you the full financial picture; not just for the Academy. We understand the need for each entity within the Academy to be administratively autonomous. As such, we don't get into any great detail in our explanations except for the Academy. After considering the Department of Education's requirements on ACEND, it has been decided that ACEND's financials should not be separated out when being discussed with the Finance and Audit Committee. We will still keep ACEND in the Consolidated results (A1) and on the Balance Sheet (A18). However, they will not show up independently in your financial package. In the package on the portal, pages A6 and A13 are missing. As we go forward, we will reconstruct the package to renumber each page. However, at this time, I wanted you to see what we eliminated. I will discuss this further on our call. In addition to the financials being adjusted, Merievelyn Stuber, ACEND's FAC representative, will be leaving the Committee. I always hate to lose good Committee members and I know I can speak for the Committee when I say she will be missed. ACEND will not have a representative on the Committee in the future.

Now, onto the financial results.

I. May adjustments

As I mentioned last month, I expected adjustments to the May information that was presented in June. I will let Christian's write-up stand as the basis for any explanations.

II. Investments

- June was a good month for our investments. The Academy and Foundation portfolios returned a $764,500. This gets even better when you compare the results to June, 2013. In June, 2013, the combined portfolios lost nearly $709,000. So, our results in June this year are nearly $1.5 million higher than last year!! I looked at how the investments have done in July. Through yesterday, the combined portfolio's are up another $430,000. Looking at today's market, we will give back a little of that gain. However, since we have another four trading days (after today) in the month, we have a good chance of seeing our portfolios hold onto gains for the month.

III. Academy preliminary June Financials (A10)

In June, the Academy operational results were slightly better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $715,609 in June. The actual result is a loss of $688,767. Revenue was the primary culprit. Revenue missed the budget by $18,595. The misses are in two primary areas; Publications and Subscriptions. June expenses were lower than budget by $45,437. The Investment results added to the positive picture. Investments returned $305,829 which was $193,234 better than the budget. So, overall, the Academy is starting the year with a Net Deficit of $382,939 which is $220,075 smaller (better) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

- a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $4,684 in June and is over budget by $4,684 for the year. Membership dues are starting the year well. Overall, the membership is a little higher resulting in higher revenue (up $10.2K). We don't want to get too excited since it is early in the year. However, we have reversed the trend of membership dues revenue falling short of budget in the early months. So, we will be cautiously optimistic. This was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.4K) and lower membership application and reinstatement fees (down $2.0K).
- b. Programs and Meetings - This area is over budget by $6,023 in June and is over budget by $6,023 for the year. The over-run in June is all due to higher Professional Development revenue.
- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $20,716 in June and is under budget by $20,716 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $21.2K) offset by all other (up $0.5K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $8,793 in June and is under budget by $8,793 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products.
- e. Advertising – This area is under budget by $1,696 in June and under budget by $1,696 for the year. The under-run in June is due to lower advertising for the Food and Nutrition Magazine.
- f. All grants - This area is on target in June and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation

g. Sponsorships – This area is on target in June and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.

h. Other – This area was over budget by $1,903 in June and is over budget by $1,903 for the year. The over-run in June is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $2.5K), higher licensure revenue (up $3.0K) offset by lower member benefit program revenue (down $3.6K).

B. Expenses

a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $388 in June and under budget by $388 for the year. No significant variances.

b. Publications – This area is under budget by $10,565 in June and under budget by $10,565 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $12.6K) and lower Research Publications (down $1.6) offset by higher Journal costs (up $1.6K), higher Library Services costs (up $1.3K) and higher across all other (up $0.5K).

c. Travel – This area is over budget by $207 in June and over budget by $207 for the year. No significant variances for the month.

d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,516 in June and is under budget by $18,516 for the year. The under-run in June is being driven by lower Research (down $9.0K), lower Public Policy (down $3.7K), lower IT and web (down $3.1K), lower Marketing (down $2.5K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.2K).

e. Postage and Mailing Service – This area is over budget by $3,491 in June and over budget by $3,491 for the year. The over-run in June is primarily due to the Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $3.3K) and all other (up $0.2K).

f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $649 in June and under budget by $649 for the year. No significant variances.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $653 in June and under budget by $653 for the year. The under-run in June is due to the lower utility costs.

h. Telephone and communications – This is over budget by $268 in June and over budget by $268 for the year. The over-run in June is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.

i. Commissions – This area is under budget by $339 in June and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. Since advertising revenues are lower, the correlating commissions will be lower.

j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $5,956 in June and under budget by $5,956 for the year. The under-run in June is due to lower Website hosting costs. Hosting the website off premise has been delayed until later in the year.

k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $1,128 in June and under budget by $1,128 for the year. No significant variances.

l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $1,087 in June and is under budget by $1,087 for the year. The under-run in June is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.

m. Depreciation – This area is on target in June and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a “recovery” of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary

n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $296 in June and under budget by $296 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.

o. Other – This area is under budget by $3,826 in June and under budget $3,826 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily due to lower Food and Nutrition Magazine (down $2.6K), lower Brand Promise (down $1.1K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.1K).

p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $236 in June and is unfavorable to budget by $236 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.

q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $4,740 in June and is under budget by $4,740 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily due to lower Journal costs (down $1.2K), lower Web costs (down $1.6K), lower Traditional Publication’s costs (down $1.0K) and lower across all other programs (down $0.9K).

r. Legal and Audit – This area is on target in June and is on target for the year. No significant variances.

s. Printing – This area is under budget by $1,496 in June and is under budget by $1,496 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $0.8K) and lower across all other (down $0.7K).

Even though it is important to recognize that one month in a year does not yet provide us enough insight, I would be remiss if I did not say that June provided the Academy a very good start to the Fiscal Year. We will have a better understanding of the financial direction for the Fiscal Year once FNCE is completed. We had a few misses on revenue in June (Traditional Publications and Subscriptions) and few hits (Professional Development and Membership Dues). None-the-less, I like saying the Academy started off the Fiscal Year with a positive result when compared to the budgets.

IV. Foundation Preliminary June Financials (A8)

The Foundation had a good overall result, generating Net Income of $187,753. This was helped along by $266,149 in investment income/returns. Revenue was short of budget by $2,908. Not a bad start. Expenses were nearly on target. The only material variances on revenue would be Member Contributions which were down by $3.1K. Expenses had variances, but, the only one of significance was Scholarships and Awards((under $5K) which received a return of an award. This is reflected as reduction in expenses.

Starting the year in the black with $187,753 in Net Income helps push the Foundations Net Assets to nearly $22.6M (A9)!! A great way to start the year.

V. CDR's Preliminary June Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in June. Overall results reflected nearly $100,000 in Net Income. Again, helped along by $100,696 in investment returns. Revenue and expenses were lower primarily due to the timing of Weight Management programs. We will be working with CDR to make sure the budget does not need to be redistributed.

Regardless of the budget, like the Foundation, starting the Fiscal year in the black ($100K) is a great way to start the year.

VI. DPGs/MIGs Preliminary June Financials (A12)

The DPGS/MIGs give us the most difficulty when spreading the budgets. I would expect the distributions to change in the next month. That being said, the combined DPGs/MIGS generated $94K in Net Income. Again, helped along by investment income of nearly $92K. However, the combined DPGs/MIGs had Operating Income of $2,167. As long as Operating Income remains positive, the DPGS and MIGS will have great success and be able to implement their Programs of Work. Even with the positive results, sometimes a specific DPG or MIG might not be doing well. So, we check the percent of reserves each DPG and MIG retains (A16). As you can see, none of the DPGS/MIGS were a concern in June. Another good signal that the year is starting off strong.

VII. ACEND Preliminary June Financials

VIII. ANDPAC Preliminary June Financials (A14)

- ANDPAC did not have a good month in June. However, this was by design. Revenues were slightly higher than the budget (up $0.8K). However, expenses far exceeded the original budget by nearly $33K. As you can see on A14, this is due to higher donations to political candidates than originally planned. Since the PAC is on a calendar year schedule, this is both a timing issue and a discreet decision of the ANDPAC board. The PAC board felt their reserve levels were high enough to contribute more to candidates in June. Even with the increased donations, the ANDPAC ended the month with $216.5K in reserves.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers. Keep in mind, these narratives will become more insightful as the year progresses. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Tuesday (not Friday). You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

All,

As I mentioned in my e-mail yesterday, we have a Finance and Audit Committee meeting on Tuesday. I hope everyone can attend. Our focus of the call will be;

1. Final May Financials
2. Preliminary June Financials.

Each month, I provide a "high-level" narrative of the results for the current or preliminary month's financials (June in this case). This allows staff to get information into your hands, as soon as the books can be closed, with some information. On the second pass, when the financials are final, Christian will provide a more detailed narrative for your review. So, essentially, the Committee will see all of the financial information twice before it becomes final. We don't anticipate too many changes from the first, to the second, time you will see the information. However, at the beginning and at the end of the fiscal year adjustments might be necessary. In the beginning of the year, staff is still "smoothing out" the budgets. We have quite a few projects and business entities. Therefore, the first cut on projecting the monthly budgets may not be correct and may require some changes. By August, we tend to have this completed. At the end of the year, the changes occur due to the timing of the final bills that are submitted to close out a Fiscal Year. We keep the books open to make sure all of the expenses have been recorded in the correct year. Sometimes, bills that are processed in May are for June (the next fiscal year) and vice versa. So, each bill has to be scrutinized. Remember, In most cases, the Accounting team records financials in the period in which the benefit has been provided; not when the money comes in or the check goes out. This requires a great deal of review at the end of the year.

Two of the Finance and Audit Committee's responsibilities are the Tax Returns and the Audit.

Since all of the organizational results get included in these items, we provide to you the full financial picture; not just for the Academy. We understand the need for each entity within the Academy to be administratively autonomous. As such, we don't get into any great detail in our explanations except for the Academy. After considering the Department of Education's requirements on ACEND, it has been decided that ACEND's financials should not be separated out when being discussed with the Finance and Audit Committee. We will still keep ACEND in the Consolidated results (A1) and on the Balance Sheet (A18). However, they will not show up independently in your financial package. In the package on the portal, pages A6 and A13 are missing. As we go forward, we will reconstruct the package to renumber each page. However, at this time, I wanted you to see what we eliminated. I will discuss this further on our call. In addition to the financials being adjusted, Merievelyn Stuber, ACEND's FAC representative, will be leaving the Committee. I always hate to lose good Committee members and I know I can speak for the Committee when I say she will be missed. ACEND will not have a representative on the Committee in the future.

Now, onto the financial results.

I. May adjustments

As I mentioned last month, I expected adjustments to the May information that was presented in June. I will let Christian's write-up stand as the basis for any explanations.

June was a good month for our investments. The Academy and Foundation portfolios returned a $764,500. This gets even better when you compare the results to June, 2013. In June, 2013, the combined portfolios lost nearly $709,000. So, our results in June this year are nearly $1.5 million higher than last year!! I looked at how the investments have done in July. Through yesterday, the combined portfolio's are up another $430,000. Looking at today's market, we will give back a little of that gain. However, since we have another four trading days (after today) in the month, we have a good chance of seeing our portfolios hold onto gains for the month.

III. Academy preliminary June Financials (A10)

In June, the Academy operational results were slightly better than the budget. The operating budget called for a loss of $715,609 in June. The actual result is a loss of $688,767. Revenue was the primary culprit. Revenue missed the budget by $18,595. The misses are in two primary areas; Publications and Subscriptions. June expenses were lower than budget by $45,437. The Investment results added to the positive picture. Investments returned $305,829 which was $193,234 better than the budget. So, overall, the Academy is starting the year with a Net Deficit of $382,939 which is $220,075 smaller (better) than the budget.

The following is a breakdown of the various categories for June:

A. Revenues

a. Membership Dues - This area is over budget by $4,684 in June and is over budget by $4,684 for the year. Membership dues are starting the year well. Overall, the membership is a little higher resulting in higher revenue (up $10.2K). We don't want to get too excited since it is early in the year. However, we have reversed the trend of membership dues revenue falling short of budget in the early months. So, we will be cautiously optimistic. This was offset by lower Fellow revenue (down $3.4K) and lower membership application and reinstatement fees (down $2.0K).

b. Programs and Meetings - This area is over budget by $6,023 in June and is over budget by $6,023 for the year. The over-run in June is all due to higher Professional Development revenue.

- c. Publications and Materials - This area is under budget by $20,716 in June and is under budget by $20,716 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily due to lower Traditional Publications (down $21.2K) offset by all other (up $0.5K).
- d. Subscriptions – This area is under budget by $8,793 in June and is under budget by $8,793 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily is due to lower NCM and related products.
- e. Advertising – This area is under budget by $1,696 in June and under budget by $1,696 for the year. The under-run in June is due to lower advertising for the Food and Nutrition Magazine.
- f. All grants - This area is on target in June and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation
- g. Sponsorships – This area is on target in June and is on target for the year. Since this is on target, no need to offer a variance explanation.
- h. Other – This area was over budget by $1,903 in June and is over budget by $1,903 for the year. The over-run in June is due to higher American Express/Visa rebates (up $2.5K), higher licensure revenue (up $3.0K) offset by lower member benefit program revenue (down $3.6K).

B. Expenses

- a. Personnel – This area is under budget by $388 in June and under budget by $388 for the year. No significant variances.
- b. Publications – This area is under budget by $10,565 in June and under budget by $10,565 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily due to lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $12.6K) and lower Research Publications (down $1.6) offset by higher Journal costs (up $1.6K), higher Library Services costs (up $1.3K) and higher across all other (up $0.5K).
- c. Travel – This area is over budget by $207 in June and over budget by $207 for the year. No significant variances for the month.
- d. Professional Fees - This area is under budget by $18,516 in June and is under budget by $18,516 for the year. The under-run in June is being driven by lower Research (down $9.0K), lower Public Policy (down $3.7K), lower IT and web (down $3.1K), lower Marketing (down $2.5K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.2K).
- e. Postage and Mailing Service – This area is over budget by $3,491 in June and over budget by $3,491 for the year. The over-run in June is primarily due to the Food and Nutrition Magazine (up $3.3K) and all other (up $0.2K).

f. Office Supplies and Equipment – This area is under budget by $649 in June and under budget by $649 for the year. No significant variances.

g. Rent and utilities - This area is under budget by $653 in June and under budget by $653 for the year. The under-run in June is due to the lower utility costs.

h. Telephone and communications – This is over budget by $268 in June and over budget by $268 for the year. The over-run in June is due to higher telecommunication's costs in the Washington and Chicago offices.

i. Commissions – This area is under budget by $339 in June and is under budget by $339 for the year. Commissions are associated with the Food and Nutrition Magazine's advertising sales. Since advertising revenues are lower, the correlating commissions will be lower.

j. Computer Expenses – This area is under budget by $5,956 in June and under budget by $5,956 for the year. The under-run in June is due to lower Website hosting costs. Hosting the website off premise has been delayed until later in the year.

k. Advertising and Promotion – This area is under budget by $1,128 in June and under budget by $1,128 for the year. No significant variances.

l. Insurance – This area is under budget by $1,087 in June and is under budget by $1,087 for the year. The under-run in June is due to lower insurance premiums at this time. The first round of policies that renewed came in at a lower price than budgeted. The remaining renewals begin in October. We will know at that time if this is a permanent savings.

m. Depreciation – This area is on target in June and is on target for the year. Depreciation is a "recovery" of capital expenditures. We cannot begin depreciating capital expenditures until the work is completed and the services are up and running. Therefore, we estimate the costs in the beginning of the year. We continue to monitor the timelines for completion of current projects and will make adjustments later in the year if necessary

n. Bank and trust fees – This area is under budget by $296 in June and under budget by $296 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily due to higher credit card fees for normal operations.

o. Other – This area is under budget by $3,826 in June and under budget $3,826 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily due to lower Food and Nutrition Magazine (down $2.6K), lower Brand Promise (down $1.1K) and lower across all other projects (down $0.1K).

- p. Expense allocation – This area is unfavorable to budget by $236 in June and is unfavorable to budget by $236 for the year. The favorable result is due to lower costs expended for CDR support.
- q. Meeting services – This area is under budget by $4,740 in June and is under budget by $4,740 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily due to lower Journal costs (down $1.2K), lower Web costs (down $1.6K), lower Traditional Publication's costs (down $1.0K) and lower across all other programs (down $0.9K).
- r. Legal and Audit – This area is on target in June and is on target for the year. No significant variances.
- s. Printing – This area is under budget by $1,496 in June and is under budget by $1,496 for the year. The under-run in June is primarily due to lower Membership expenses (down $0.8K) and lower across all other (down $0.7K).

Even though it is important to recognize that one month in a year does not yet provide us enough insight, I would be remiss if I did not say that June provided the Academy a very good start to the Fiscal Year. We will have a better understanding of the financial direction for the Fiscal Year once FNCE is completed. We had a few misses on revenue in June (Traditional Publications and Subscriptions) and few hits (Professional Development and Membership Dues). None-the-less, I like saying the Academy started off the Fiscal Year with a positive result when compared to the budgets.

IV. Foundation Preliminary June Financials (A8)

The Foundation had a good overall result, generating Net Income of $187,753. This was helped along by $266,149 in investment income/returns. Revenue was short of budget by $2,908. Not a bad start. Expenses were nearly on target. The only material variances on revenue would be Member Contributions which were down by $3.1K. Expenses had variances, but, the only one of significance was Scholarships and Awards((under $5K) which received a return of an award. This is reflected as reduction in expenses.

Starting the year in the black with $187,753 in Net Income helps push the Foundations Net Assets to nearly $22.6M (A9)!! A great way to start the year.

V. CDR's Preliminary June Financials (A11)

CDR had a very good month in June. Overall results reflected nearly $100,000 in Net Income. Again, helped along by $100,696 in investment returns. Revenue and expenses were lower primarily due to the timing of Weight Management programs. We will be working with CDR to make sure the budget does not need to be redistributed.

Regardless of the budget, like the Foundation, starting the Fiscal year in the black ($100K) is a great way to start the year.

VI. DPGs/MIGs Preliminary June Financials (A12)

The DPGS/MIGs give us the most difficulty when spreading the budgets. I would expect the distributions to change in the next month. That being said, the combined DPGs/MIGS generated $94K in Net Income. Again, helped along by investment income of nearly $92K. However, the combined DPGs/MIGs had Operating Income of $2,167. As long as Operating Income remains positive, the DPGS and MIGS will have great success and be able to implement their Programs of Work. Even with the positive results, sometimes a specific DPG or MIG might not be doing well. So, we check the percent of reserves each DPG and MIG retains (A16). As you can see, none of the DPGS/MIGS were a concern in June. Another good signal that the year is starting off strong.

VII. ACEND Preliminary June Financials

VIII. ANDPAC Preliminary June Financials (A14)

ANDPAC did not have a good month in June. However, this was by design. Revenues were slightly higher than the budget (up $0.8K). However, expenses far exceeded the original budget by nearly $33K. As you can see on A14, this is due to higher donations to political candidates than originally planned. Since the PAC is on a calendar year schedule, this is both a timing issue and a discreet decision of the ANDPAC board. The PAC board felt their reserve levels were high enough to contribute more to candidates in June. Even with the increased donations, the ANDPAC ended the month with $216.5K in reserves.

I hope this helps when you look at the numbers. Keep in mind, these narratives will become more insightful as the year progresses. We will also take some additional time to answer questions or address any other issues you may like to discuss. Please let us know if you can't make the call on Friday. You can do so either by e-mail or call me at 800-877-1600, ext. 4730.

Have a great weekend.

Dear Academy Board Members,

I so enjoyed having you in Portland for our Board retreat!

I am so sorry our executive sessions were much too short. I plan to ensure we have ample time for our sessions at future board meetings. At our October meeting, I will be sure to have a session to thoroughly review the new variable compensation (bonus) plan as well as the performance objectives that I will finalize with Pat and the Compensation Committee in the coming weeks. I will send you the information well ahead of time with a cover letter explaining as much as possible.

Let me know what other wishes you may have regarding future board meetings.

Again, thanks for helping us have an excellent retreat. Pat was happy with the discussion about the strategic plan. Also, we talked about ways to get the goals and work plan in sync with the budget. Pat is going to work on this.

Hi Carrolyn,

Two things:

One, the Board approved a four year contract for Pat. I have attached the contract that says it is for four years.

Two, when talking with Pat yesterday I realized we had not revised the variable compensation section to reflect our new plan (item 6. On page 2). Do you and/or Lynn have appropriate wording for this section?

I plan to sign the contract with Pat when I come to Headquarters on August 5.

Many thanks!

All,

The information for our call next week will be put onto the portal this afternoon. I will provide a narrative tomorrow on the June results. We are making some last minute adjustments as we speak. Maria will let you know when the information is available on the portal. You should have already received the webinar invitation. Please let me know if you have not.

When you look at the package for June, you will notice two pages missing; A6 and A13. Both of these reflect information for ACEND. After reviewing the Department of Education requirements, we felt the information should not be included if it was directly identifiable. We want to make sure we don't violate the "separate and independent" criteria set forth by the Department of Education. I will reshape the package as we go forward. For now, I will just eliminate the two pages. The "Consolidated Financials" on A1 will still include ACEND. So too will our Balance Sheet information on A18. I will go into more detail on our call.

If you have any questions, or can't make the call, please let me know.

Paul

Dear Academy Board Members,

I so enjoyed having you in Portland for our Board retreat!

I am so sorry our executive sessions were much too short. I plan to ensure we have ample time for our sessions at future board meetings. At our October meeting, I will be sure to have a session to thoroughly review the new variable compensation (bonus) plan as well as the performance objectives that I will finalize with Pat and the Compensation Committee in the coming weeks. I will send you the information well ahead of time with a cover letter explaining as much as possible.

Let me know what other wishes you may have regarding future board meetings.

Again, thanks for helping us have an excellent retreat. Pat was happy with the discussion about the strategic plan. Also, we talked about ways to get the goals and work plan in sync with the budget. Pat is going to work on this.

Your hospitality was wonderful.
Enjoyed our time at your home. Thank you.

The additional time for discussion will be helpful.
Also, fully vetting the options in committee before it comes to the full BOD would facilitate our

I appreciated our public members perspectives a great deal. Thank you.

Hi Carrolyn,

Two things:

One, the Board approved a four year contract for Pat. I have attached the contract that says it is for four years.

Two, when talking with Pat yesterday I realized we had not revised the variable compensation section to reflect our new plan (item 6. On page 2). Do you and/or Lynn have appropriate wording for this section?

I plan to sign the contract with Pat when I come to Headquarters on August 5.

Many thanks!

Donna,

Thank you for your call yesterday. I was glad to hear everything went well. I forgot to give you a “heads-up” on an issue. As you know, we are having on-going issues with ACEND. Merievelyn Stuber and I talked about ACEND’s participation on the FAC. She feels that she should not be on the Committee due to the Department of Education “independence” criteria. We discussed this for about 30 minutes. Even though I don’t agree, I understand her perspective. So, I don’t believe she will be joining us going forward. In addition, ACEND has asked that we remove the ACEND financial statements from our FAC calls. I am comfortable doing so. At this time, I don’t think we need to “rock the boat” so to speak.

Let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Subject: Certificate of Training in Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management

We thank you for your ongoing support and commitment to make the Certificate of Training in Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management a continued success! We especially appreciate your responsiveness to participants concerns.

Based on review of the participant comments on program evaluations for the past several programs, we have identified the following recurrent issues:

- Long days

- Not enough time to pose questions to the presenter
- Inconsistency between slides included in meeting materials and onsite presentation

As a first step, we contacted the Academy Professional Development Team to ask guidance that they would have from their long years of experience with the FNCE program.

They provided us with the attached helpful presentation tips to assist in presentation preparation. Two of the guidelines included relate specifically to this program.

- one minute of presentation time should be allowed for each slide
- No one presenter should speak for more than 1-1/2 hours

In reviewing the childhood weight management program slides, several presenters exceed the one minute per slide guidelines. Please review and edit your presentation to address this issue. As you edit your presentation, please be sure to cross reference your presentation with the post-test to ensure you are including content that addresses post-test questions. If you need to adjust the post-test questions, please let me know.

In an effort to adhere more closely to the second guideline regarding presentation length and the participant comments regarding the length of each day, the program agenda times have been adjusted to ensure that no single presentation exceeds 1½ hours , and that each day ends no later than 5:00 pm. You will also note that we have separated the Q &A on the agenda to allow sufficient time for participants to pose questions following each presentation. Insufficient time for questions was also noted as an issue by participants. In making these agenda adjustments we have tried to maintain faculty presentation day preferences, which is why the second day ends much earlier than day one. We will continue to make adjustments to accommodate faculty preference, provided we can stay within the established 5:00 pm end time.

To assist you in identifying and deleting duplicative content, we are providing a link to the presentations from our last program. Please coordinate with other faculty presenters to address any content over-lap issues. For the keynote presentation, we are including Dr. Hassink's last presentation as she will be the keynote presentation in Buffalo.

<https://app.box.com/s/0ib0isq1boji9esmkb5e>

We have adjusted the deadline to upload your presentations to allow time for all faculty to review your presentation in advance of the onsite program so that any necessary revisions may be made prior to distributing to participants. The deadline to upload your presentation is Friday, May 9, 2014. Instructions to upload your presentations are included below.

To address participants' concerns regarding the consistency of the handouts with the onsite presentations, we will not allow any changes to presentations onsite.

Dear AND Officers and Staff,

I would like to take this opportunity to voice my opposition to the proposal of creating an NDA designation that does not require any type of exit exam, does not provide ongoing oversight, and dilutes our profession that the Academy has fought so hard to promote. The way that the Academy is going about pushing this designation forward is shameful, sloppy, and un-ethical. Instead of cooperative collaboration with all members, the Board has chosen to push forward despite opposition of it's members.

I fully recognize that there is a shortage of dietetic internships, however credentialing unqualified individuals is not the answer. For my part I can say that here at Stanford, we are actively trying to expand our internship program.

Please take this opportunity to listen to your members.

I am writing to express my views on the NDA designation currently being proposed. I know you will be discussing this issue today and tomorrow so I respectfully ask that you consider my input on this issue.

For years I have questioned why we are graduating as many RDN's in the field as we are, without being able to secure their path into internships. I would like to suggest that we consider limiting the number of graduates we are turning out because there is a glut of RDN's in the marketplace now. And we are forced to compete with other less qualified individuals and other professionals with scope creep that are now giving nutrition advice and posing as nutrition experts. The current marketplace not only serves to keep salaries low, but severely limits the number of viable employment opportunities. The internet has changed the game in terms of the dispensing of credible and valued nutrition information so we are already challenged to be more and do more to establish visibility and promote our expertise/profession.

I disagree with this proposal for these reasons:

- I feel it will confuse an already confusing situation by mudding the credential waters. Consumers and other health professionals, in fact, are confused over what an RDN is versus a Nutritionist and I constantly have to educate people on what an RDN is and what our training and scope of practice areas are. The public has no idea what we do or what training we have or the difference between us and a Nutritionist with no RDN.
- Adding another credential serves no purpose to us as existing RDN professionals or the DPD graduates that cannot find internships. DPD graduates would not be able to work in hospitals that require the RDN credential. (I would like to see viewer credentials rather than adding another one)
- There are not enough jobs out there for RDN's and we will dilute those opportunities with this approach.

- The NDA designation and its effects on our profession as a whole, has not been researched fully nor has there been adequate time or discussion taken to evaluate the long-term consequences of this move.
- As members, we deserve the right to vote on such an important issue.

I will make this brief as I know you are deliberating on this at this very moment. Thank you for your consideration of my opinions voiced in this email.

With sincere regards,

Kim Larson

To: Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Board of Directors

From: Laura Lutz MS, RD/LDN

RE: Nutrition Dietetics Associate (NDA)

I understand that the Board of Directors will be voting on the NDA proposal at the board meeting July 21-22.

Members of the Nutrition Entrepreneurs (NE) Executive Committee are very concerned about the status of the NDA. I know a task force was assigned to review this issue after many concerns were voiced by various DPGs and Academy members.

I would like to register a vote of no confidence on this proposal, meaning we need more information and further vetting of issues and implications for NE members, particularly those who practice in non-clinical environments like health and wellness.

Decision is based upon several factors:

1. It is crucial that the public be protected and adequate nutrition care is provided safely and effectively. The NDA is not set up to offer protection or safety to the public. There is consideration at present per the NDA FAQs on eatright.org that an exam may not be needed to obtain the credential/designation. The requirement of continuing education has yet to be determined.

2. The issue as presented is there are DPD graduates but not enough internship positions. The Academy feels an obligation to these DPD baccalaureates. It is our understanding that many students are not accepted into internships because they were not ranked. The Academy should reinstate the three-year pre-planned route to registration as another internship option.

3. Although the HOD discussed the NDA, the HOD did not vote on it. We believe that professional issues of this magnitude should be fully debated and voted on in the HOD.

4. It is our understanding that NDEP members—the educators interacting with DPD students regularly—overwhelmingly voted the NDA down. Of the 553 NDEP members that voted, 72 percent did not support the NDA yet the BOD chose to ignore this information. Obviously there are concerns of the quality of potential NDA candidates.

5. Question 5 in the Questions and Answers regarding the NDA on the Academy website states in part, "CDR's practice audit results compared DPD Program graduates practicing in nutrition and dietetics-related positions and practicing DTRs and found there was no differentiation in practice."

6. Other medical professions, such as MDs are also struggling with economic reasons for a decline in internships/residencies. We can't imagine they are considering approving a track that allows for non-MD Board Certified individuals to be allowed to practice. Securing new internships and alternative routes to achieving education to be RDN-eligible makes sense.

Will we be creating our competition? Many of us believe so. Although we have come a long way, people still do not know the difference between a nutritionist and RD/RDN. We are the Academy and our efforts/your efforts should go towards the promotion of us and the DTR.

I recommend that the Academy BOD eliminate the idea of the NDA because it is not in the best interest of Academy members or send the proposal to the HOD for deliberations and voting before advancing it further.

Thank you in advance for your consideration of our recommendation.

Attached is this letter from the DPG Nutrition Entrepreneurs.

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing you in my opposition to the NDA designation. The way this matter has been handled as well as its potential to take away jobs from practicing and future registered dietitian nutritionist is unacceptable and leads me to question your commitment to those of us who have been loyal to the Academy.

Why create this credential when the opportunity of obtaining a DTR is available for those who do not obtain the RDN credential? At least the DTR has meaning and requires effort to obtain. I find it absurd to handing create credential for no reason.

Please reconsider this matter as it only imposes confusion and competition for those of us who rightfully obtained our credentials. Together we are stronger.

From: Jeannette Davidson, DPD Director

RE: Nutrition Dietetics Associate (NDA) Certificate Proposal

I understand that you will be voting on the NDA Certificate proposal in your upcoming board meeting on July 21-22, 2014.

I urge you to register a "no confidence vote" on this proposal, to provide more time to to objectively evaluate the evidence of the necessity and professional implications of this new certificate.

My request is based on the following:

1. Although the HOD discussed the NDA Certificate, the HOD did not vote on it. We believe that professional issues of this magnitude should be fully debated and voted on in the HOD.
2. The new certification scope of practice has not been defined.
3. This need for this certification has not been constructed with wide input from educators and employers.
4. There is insufficient evidence so far presented that we need an additional certification beyond the two levels of RDA and DTR. The DTR is a recognized credential that requires passing an exam assuring individuals are safe to practice (to protect the public) and will deliver safe and effective care within their scope of practice. Educators will continue to encourage students who do not get internships to take the DTR exam. Most of us will not support the NDA.

5. The NDA is a participation ribbon. It does not mean they are safe to practice – even if other groups competing with RD/RDNs and DTRs are already out there handing out nutrition advice and are ready to offer those DPD graduates some sort of letters after their names.

6. There will be no continuing education required for people with this certification, meaning that there is no protection for the public that they are current and knowledgeable in their practice.

7. As there is no scope of practice defined, who will decide what they can and can't do? We were told at the Area 2/5 meeting that the employers would be the ones to do this, so how do we get consistency?

8. Adding yet another “certification” will simply create a greater confusion to the public perception of what it is we do! Following other professions, I can see the value of a RD with one lower level, e.g. PT and PTA. Why do we see the need to have a third one, and one that does not require supervised practice or continuing education?

9. Again, I strongly recommend that the Academy Board send this proposal back to the HOD for deliberations and voting before advancing it further.

Thank you in advance for your consideration of our recommendation.

Subject: NDA Opposition

In regards to the NDA credential, I would like to express my opposition for multiple reasons. I am a new RD (1 year) and so the processes is still very fresh to me including where I was as a professional after graduation, what I learned during the internship and the challenge of finding employment. When I graduated, I understood the science of nutrition and some basic counseling techniques. Beyond that, I was pretty ignorant. At the time, I felt qualified to practice but looking back, I was thoroughly unqualified. It was the internship that turned me into a professional that was actually able to give sound nutrition advice. I now understand the real life consequences of bad information (especially MNT), the nuances of delivering information and now have the confidence to admit when I need to seek another opinion or research something further. These are critical skills that if missing, can put the public in danger.

In regards to finding employment, it took me 6 months of actively job searching to secure a full time position. And this position requires a 2 hour commute. At least in my region, the north east, the market is saturated with RD/RDNs. We don't need more employees, but mores positions.

Here are my reasons for oposing the NDA credential. quotes where taken from <http://www.eatright.org/BecomeanRDorDTR/content.aspx?id=6442480930> and <http://www.eatright.org/BecomeanRDorDTR/content.aspx?id=6442480931>

1) There may be a shortage of internships for DPG graduates, but at the same time, it is still very challenging to find full time employment in many ares of the country as an RD/RDN. If here are DPG students that are not matched multiple times, it may reflect that they are in fact not qualified. Not all those who graduate undergrad as pre-med students get into med school. I think that the current "shortage" of internships allows programs to be more selective and produces higher quality professionals in the end.

- 2) Recent graduates will have their education on their resume, which will include the DPD distinction from other general nutrition students. For those hiring for positions that would care about an NDA, they could just as easily look for the program in their education.
- 3) "Notably, 81% of respondents believe they would gain a competitive market advantage by participating in a program such as the NDA Program." - Of course they would, but that doesn't mean its in the best interest of the profession or the public. This makes it easier for students to practice, but removes a significant portion of training that is key to their development.
- 4) In response to the reasoning that this would help keep track of graduates, a credential is unnecessary. Simply have graduates join a list or have their colleges/universities do it for them and send out emails/other communication on an annual basis to track professional progress. Many schools already do this for their own knowledge.
- 5) This is being marketed as a way to distinguish between DTRs and those eligible for internships. There is a very minimal difference in their education and training, mostly consisting of general requirements needed to graduate with a bachelor degree vs an associates degree. On the academy website, it also states that the benefits of the NDA would be "Employment opportunities within prevention and wellness areas not requiring the skill set of a RDN or DTR./Gain skills necessary to advance within the profession, such as obtaining the RDN or DTR credential." This implies that the DTR is a more aspirational credential. Why should the Academy bother the to add NDA as a stepping stone, rather than encourage students to take the DTR exam, which they are qualified to take after graduation. It may be more appropriate to expand the area of practice of the DTR to meet the demands of the market.
- 6) It is proposed that these individuals will fill roles in "community and school nutrition settings, WIC, supermarkets and wellness centers." Many RD/RDNs want to work in these sectors (myself included) and it seems this would add more competition. These organizations may be tempted to hire a NDA over an RD/RDN because they would be cheaper while maintaining the appearance of quality.
- 7) Adding another credential to an already confusing area will complicate matters for the public, as well as other health professionals not actively invested with the Academy.

These are my concerns with the NDA and I hope you are able to take them into consideration when moving forward with this initiative. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing to provide you feedback on the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21st meeting. I understand that the Board has not asked for feedback on the proposed NDA designation but as a loyal Academy member and educator I feel our voices should be heard since you represent each and every one of the 70,000+ members. I appreciate your service and time you have dedicated to the Academy and the profession.

With that being said, I do not support the NDA designation and would like for the Academy to abandon this designation. I am disappointed in the lack of transparency and the fact that the Academy membership will not be allowed to vote on such a life changing decision for our profession. I do not feel the NDA designation is appropriate to give DPD graduates. It will give a title to someone who did not receive an internship position (for whatever reason) and just graduated from a program. Without some type of experiential supervised practice there is no guarantee the NDA would not function the same as an RD in the marketplace. I believe a third designation will definitely dilute and confuse the marketplace. It would be more appropriate to support the already existing DTR who does have a clearly defined scope of practice that does not infringe on the job of the RD. Creating the NDA designation does not solve the overarching problem of not enough Dietetic Internship positions or RD's willing to become preceptors and train our future RDs which is really the root of the problem.

Again thank you for your service to our profession and I look forward to hearing about the discussions at the July 21st Board meeting.

I am writing you in my opposition to the NDA designation. The way this matter has been handled as well as its potential to take away jobs from practicing and future registered dietitian nutritionist is unacceptable and leads us to question your commitment to those of us who have been loyal to the Academy.

Why create this credential when the opportunity of obtaining a DTR is available for those who do not obtain the RDN credential? At least the DTR has meaning and requires effort to obtain. Simply handing out or creating a credential for no reason is absurd.

Please reconsider this matter as it only imposes confusion and competition for those of us who rightfully obtained our credentials. Together we are stronger.

This letter is in regards to the Nutrition and Dietetic Associate (NDA) designation that will be discussed during the Academy Board of Directors meeting on July 21st. I am a loyal Academy member and acknowledge that we all want what is best for the profession. I do appreciate your service and strongly encourage you to abandon the NDA designation all together. For those graduates who do not get internships, there is already a plan in place for those individuals - the DTR route. As the DTR is a recognized credential that requires passing an exam, it establishes standards for safe and effective nutrition care and protects the public. To take and pass the DTR exam enables one to earn a credential that establishes their credibility in our profession. The NDA is at best a participation ribbon and we do not need that in our profession or for the public.

Good evening!

I am writing to ask you to discontinue the effort to create the NDA designation. As a recent affiliate president and current active member of the profession and the Virginia Dietetic Association I have heard much resistance to this designation and no support among the many dietitians I am in contact with. Though your effort is intended to avoid disenfranchisement of DPD graduates, moving forward will provide greater disenfranchisement of current members and leaders within the field.

As an educator of future dietitians, I am also personally resistant to the designation. DPD graduates who do not match with an internship are eligible to become DTRs, a recent and well considered solution that allows these individuals to both earn a credential. Adding another designation will only add confusion.

Thank you for your service to the organization and the profession.

To Whom It May Concern:

I have been an RD and an Academy member for the past five years and currently work in clinical dietetics. I also have a private practice, am involved in community nutrition affairs, and am affiliated with a local university and have mentored hundreds of nutrition students and dietetic interns.

After being alerted to the Academy's proposed NDA credential and having reviewed the details on the www.eatright.org website, I feel obligated to notify any and all parties involved of my significant displeasure and disappointment with this proposal. I take offense to this proposal because it is an attack on all my hard work, sacrifice, and dedication to the profession (as well as my colleagues).

Briefly, I am most concerned with the following (please note, this is not an exhaustive list):

>>To address regulator issues: "Gainful employment" is more a reflection of our deplorable economy and also reflects the failure of higher institutions to be realistic to students for post-graduation employment as well as a failure of DPD programs to create a competitive program with meaningful GPA, extracurricular, and application standards as seen with many nursing programs. Therefore, logically, this is not an Academy problem or obligation to ameliorate.

>>What are the consequences of no action: The website makes an interesting use of the word "disenfranchise" to describe DPD graduates. Per the dictionary, disenfranchise means to "deprive of a right or a privilege," which begs the question - is being a nutrition expert a right or a privilege? To what should someone be entitled by getting a dietetics degree? What about the hard work and determination already shown by those who achieved acceptance into a DI and sat for and passed the RD exam and continue to meet professional standards? Tens of thousands of people audition for American Idol, for example, does that mean all of them are deserving of advancing and/or winning the grand prize? It would be more valuable for the Academy to investigate WHY there is a shortage and understand the reasons more RD's cannot accept and precept interns - and it often boils down to money. My hospital organization alone is facing a deficit in the hundreds of millions of dollars - and nutrition departments are not allocated the resources necessary to host extensive and appropriate internship programs. Because nutrition services are rarely reimbursable in the setting of inadequate efficacy data of ambulatory and non-ambulatory services.

>>Will the NDA replace the dietetic technician, registered (DTR)?: How many more CDR credentials are we going to put out there? It's bad enough I get called a nutritionalist by my family members (after years of ongoing corrections to my title), then we have to explain how to spell dietitian (no "c"), explain the difference between an RD and a DTR, and now an NDA? And all this we're supposed to compare to a nutritionist?!

>>How will the practice roles of NDAs be monitored?: The fact that NDA's would fulfill employer-based standards and expectations is grossly concerning because it could mean endless possibilities with endless problems!

Sadly, if this credential were to proceed as suggested, I will have no choice but to withdraw any future funding to the Academy, including memberships/dues, DPG's, FNCE and other such events. I will also strongly advocate to my extensive network of RD friends, associates, and colleagues to do the same.

I cannot encourage you enough to curb this proposal and instead focus your energy, attention, and resources on already credentialed practitioners in a changing healthcare environment and further advocate "RD = Expert" instead of instigating further confusion to the public on who to turn to for nutrition advice.

Sincerely,
Ginny R. King, RD/LDN, CPT

As your inboxes have all been flooded in response to the NDA proposal, I must add my opinion of NDA being the wrong route to go for our profession.

You have all heard many reasons and I must agree that this will be nothing but watering down our profession.

There are many other routes that can be taken, more internships, to required masters or doctorate for RDs to many other ways. Though the job market already seems to be flooded, it's very difficult to get RD jobs in many cities.

This is too important of an issue to not have the delegates or members vote on this. This clearly affects all of our jobs and if anything, will not lead to higher pay for RDs.

Please allow the members to vote on this vital decision or please do not proceed with NDA.

Thank you,

Subject: NDA Credential Attachment:

Hi all,

I hope you're all well. I am writing to express my disagreement with the NDA designation proposal. In short, the credential would damage legitimacy within the field of nutrition. I am not aware of a healthcare profession in which individuals can take a test in lieu of clinical training to provide the same level of care to people. You would not want a provider giving you care who got to skip his/her residency by taking an exam. So, what makes it okay for nutrition professionals?

The education, research, and work experience that goes into becoming an RD is necessary to provide RDs with the skills and knowledge required for their job, and to provide the public, healthcare providers, and media with accurate information.

I understand and appreciate the problem with disenfranchised graduates of DPD programs. I have had several friends who are smart and extremely dedicated to nutrition. They would have excelled in an internship program and made highly effective dietitians, but were not matched several years in a row. I also manage a large number of volunteers at Brigham and Women's Hospital who are aspiring RDs and who are truly passionate and career driven. Knowing some of them will not be able to follow-through on their goals is disappointing.

The NDA credential is not the problem. Instead, there are two main problems:

1- There are not enough internships for graduating DPD students. This needs to change. We need to work on having more internship opportunities, and these opportunities need to be financially compensated. This speaks to legitimizing the field of nutrition. In other fields/specialties, the opportunities for specialized training has grown along with the need. For instance, as the individuals becoming medical doctors has grown, so has the number of residencies. And, these residencies are paid. I'd be more than happy to start this dialogue and help this process. I have many ideas.

2- The fact that DPD graduates receive different levels of education is another problem, and this contributes to why some of these individuals are not getting matched for an internship. For those who do get matched, they may not have the skills to become effective RDs and this damages our profession. DPD candidates should be provided with a rigorous education, that is standardized to a higher level than it is now.

If we were able to fix these two problems together, we would not only be providing more internship opportunities but also more effectively preparing DPD graduates for these internships. Our profession would grow and the professionals within it would be highly skilled, articulate, knowledgeable individuals. This would then increase our visibility within communities, hospitals, media, research, etc and we'd have a bigger effect changing the health landscape of our country.

Lastly, I understand RDs will be required to have a Masters degree in the future. This is another problem that needs to be addressed. A Masters degree does not equal competence. It certainly may bring opportunity and provide new skills/knowledge not found elsewhere, but it should not be a requirement. A Masters degree can lead to financial strain in a field with low salaries and generally, may detract great potential RDs from the field. This is coming from someone who has a Masters degree and does not regret getting one.

Thank you for your attention to this letter.

Best,

Dear A.N.D BOD,

I am writing to strongly discourage the approval of the NDA designation. It is crucial that the public be protected and that standards for safe and effective nutrition care be established; however, I feel the NDA will do the complete opposite. The NDA will add greater confusion among the public, who remains confused as to who the nutrition experts are (nutritionist vs. RD/RDN) and undermine the effort and hard work of RDN's and DTRs. I feel the NDA will compete with RDNs and DTRs and negatively hurt the profession. Lastly, the justification for creating the NDA is not at all based on valid data collection and should NOT become an approved designation.

Dear Academy Board:

As we near the start of our retreat where we will be discussing imperative issues impacting the future of our profession, I wanted to make sure you received the email from Past-President, Judy Rodriquez. Though we have attempted to provide a response to member concerns with a continual update on the NDA Q &A, Judy's comments speak very clearly to the reality of issues we are facing with this decision.

MY REQUEST: Please take the time to review Judy's response below and then I ask you "Cut and Past" her email to the DPGs, MIGs, Affiliate listserves to which you belong. It would also be helpful if it was posted to the HOD as our delegates have the responsibility of sharing a balanced voice to our membership.

I look forward to seeing you in Portland,

Dr. Glenna McCollum, MPH, RDN, Immediate Past-President

FROM JUDY RODRIQUEZ:

As an RD with over 30 years in the profession I am wholly in favor of the NDA. I would like to take this opportunity to explain why before the Board meets next week.

1) This problem of internship shortages has been in existence for decades - even when I applied in the early 1970's - and became ever more serious in the 1980's - and has continued to worsen. We can blame the Academy all we want, but as you have heard, WE are the Academy, and WE have failed to step up and volunteer to be preceptors and to create more internships. I am saddened by all the persons that I see practicing, who have excellent skills and potential for precepting who do not step forward to help prepare others. Some are constrained by organizations who don't see the value but this continued reliance on other RDs to do the work is burdensome to those who step up to help. We need to convince those organizations of the value of training new professionals. If they don't see it, that reflects on us. But remember, we have been working on this aspect of the problem for 30 years and there is no sign of improvement. Some would argue, it is getting worse. How long does it take us to change course and try something new to act on a problem?

2) As an educator I have spent countless hours preparing persons qualified to enter the profession - only to lose them, with all that knowledge - to another career or to have them walk away disenfranchised and worse, become our competitor and detractor. I take offense at others who say these persons are unprepared. They came from programs WE accredited and where we taught. And they are competing with others who may have had one or no accredited nutrition courses. How can we say there is nothing they are qualified to do in the realm of nutrition?

3) There are likely, about this time, about 20,000-30,000 who graduated from those programs and did not get internships. We can't even figure out where they went, what they do - and how many are now our detractors and members of other organizations. What a waste of my - and other educators - teaching time and resources!

4) These 20,000 - 30,000 persons are now members of competitor organizations and another competitor organization waiting to happen. Some organizations have already recognized this and are aggressively recruiting these graduates. So we prepare them and then give them away to the competition. Then we complain about those "other" persons that we cannot hold accountable to a code of ethics or competent practice. If they have designations created by us and developed by our standards we can hold them accountable and delineate their scope of practice.

5) We are coming very late to the trend of the health professions moving to multi-levels of practice. Like the physical therapist and nurses, by creating levels below and above the RD you demonstrate the complexity of your profession and its science. Actually, as we reach the 100 years and move to the 200 years, it would be sad to think that our field is so simple that only one credential or level is all we have to offer - while the other health professions have grown in complexity and levels. What kind of credibility would we have then?

6) As in the other health professions, as we create technicians and associates, we elevate the functions of the RD to higher level practice. This fits well with the move to a Master's as the entry level practitioner coming in 2024, with higher level recognitions for advanced practice such as PhDs and DCNs.

7) The 1:8000 ratio of dietitians to the public will increase as the population increases. We cannot meet the demand for preventive services with our current numbers. And nutrition is HOT. Others are jumping to grab that market, as you all know. As they do that, without our control or oversight, our voice and influence will decrease - exactly the opposite of our goal. Let's continue to invest in those we have already taken the time and resources to prepare, give them career options, create a career ladder, strengthen our voice with allies rather than detractors, and strengthen our position and profession.

Let me add, this issue has been studied and discussed extensively over the past 30 years by many professional entities and multiple AND Boards. It's hard to remember every internal and external study reviewed, let alone keep track, since the HOD, Board and committees change often and individuals come and go. It is critically important to get member input and to design plans based on input. All of these previous boards, committees and task forces were made up of members who are our peers. All the information you have been sharing about potential issues with the NDA is heard and important, but it just as important for leaders to make decisions and take calculated risks. The option, in my mind, to just increase internships, has been tried for 30 years and has not worked. The risk of staying status quo has just created a flurry of others who are trying to take over our jobs and are unregulated. Isn't that what we don't want? It is time to act in the best interest of the profession and the public to provide another level of membership in the Academy that can work with the public and current RDs and DTRs to improve all of our nutritional status and health at multiple levels.

The information that has been voiced, in my opinion, has been very important in that it helps identify potential pitfalls and ways to address them and must be considered in Task Force deliberations. It would also be very good to hear from others who think it is a good idea, and also get their suggestions on how to possibly strengthen and improve the designation. Your opinions will be respected, too.

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing to provide you feedback on the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21st meeting. I understand that the Board has not asked for feedback on the proposed NDA designation but I feel our voices should be heard. I appreciate your service and time you have dedicated to the Academy and the profession.

With that being said, I do not support the NDA designation and would like for the Academy to abandon this designation. I am disappointed in the lack of transparency and the fact that the Academy membership will not be allowed to vote on such a life changing decision for our profession. I do not feel the NDA designation is appropriate to give DPD graduates. It will give a title to someone who did not receive an internship position (for whatever reason) and just graduated from a program. Without some type of experiential supervised practice there is no guarantee the NDA would not function the same as an RD in the marketplace. I believe a third designation will definitely dilute and confuse the marketplace. It would be more appropriate to support the already existing DTR who does have a clearly defined scope of practice that does not infringe on the job of the RD. Creating the NDA designation does not solve the overarching problem of not enough Dietetic Internship positions or RD's willing to become preceptors and train our future RDs which is really the root of the problem.

Again thank you for your service to our profession and I look forward to hearing about the discussions at the July 21st Board meeting.

Sincerely,

Melissa E. Chadwick, RD, LDN, CNSC

Dear Academy Board of Directors,

I believe the Nutrition and Dietetic Associate will not be a benefit to our profession, and would only further confuse the public. Current graduates of didactic programs who do not participate in an internship have the opportunity to take the DTR exam. This credential will ensure that students have acquired the appropriate knowledge to practice safely, unlike the NDA, which requires no measurement of a student's understanding and knowledge. Any designation or credential that is backed by the AND should have a measurement to verify the knowledge and understanding of the student, as well as a continuing education requirement. The public's current understanding of the difference among people who call themselves nutrition professionals is very limited, and a new designation would just add to the confusion, and consequently, add to the disrespect for our profession.

For these reasons, I respectfully request that you do not support the Nutrition and Dietetic Associate designation.

Sincerely,

Jeanne Arbuckle

Fellow Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Board of Directors and Retreat participants,

I am truly looking forward to meeting and working with you at the upcoming AND Board retreat in Portland, and I specifically want to thank the AND executive team and staff for the forethought and effort they have put into preparing us for what I believe will be thought-provoking and productive discussions. For me, the monograph, Good to Great and the Social Sectors by Jim Collins is a great pre-read- meaty but concise.

I've been impressed in my short tenure that the Board, and Pat Babjak and her team have worked diligently over the last several years to raise the level of sophistication and effectiveness of AND in the midst of a tumultuous healthcare, economic, and political environment.

The email Pat sent this morning regarding chickens crossing the road was certainly humorous, but I also think she wanted us to think why, in fact, we are as a BOT, crossing the road. Certainly the traffic on the road has been busy (as of yesterday I've received 84 member emails regarding the NDA designation), and there's no ready bridge over the road. And there are other important issues for us to consider.

Looking at the agenda, our facilitator, and our keynote speaker, the atmosphere for our conversations should be well-primed.

Noting that the Board has used BoardSource for evaluation of its effectiveness, I pulled out a reference, Governing as Leadership, published by BoardSource, that we might want to think about in terms of framing our work. The book is too long and expensive to use as a pre-read at this point, but I identified the key table for our consideration (the Board may have already seen this, and if so, pardon my redundancy). The authors argue that all three types of governance are important, but that most not-for-profit boards tend to slight the third type of governance- generative thinking.

Having served on the executive team side of board-executive team interactions, and having seen the value (and yes, the potential disruption) of a board that engages in generative thinking with the CEO and executive team, I encourage us to give it a try. It's not easy, it's not always polite (but it is respectful); but it is productive, and it results in better discernment of difficult issues.

I'll see you in Portland!

Don Bradley

Dear Academy BOD,

I write you today to respectfully request that the Academy removes the proposal for add the “certification” of NDA for future graduates of nutrition programs. Please see my rationale below:

- I believe this certification will confuse federal and state policymakers and businesses with what our profession does and the education it requires.
- The NDA is not needed and it does not protect the public. No exam is required for the NDA, no continuing education is required, and there is no code of ethics established for NDAs. This is a huge safety issue for the public!
- CDR itself found insufficient evidence to proceed with an additional certification other than DTR. DTR is a recognized credential that required passing an advanced exam assuring individuals will deliver safe and effective care within their scope of practice.
- This certification reduces the value of the RD/DTR and puts your own Academy members jobs on the line.

The NDA does not make sense. I urge each of you to reconsider your evaluation of this certification and listen to the members who voted you into office. Please don't try to solve the shortage of internship positions crisis with a certification that can harm the public and current jobs of RD/LDs and DTRs. I am an active member of the Academy, previously participating at the local level and now the state level. I believe in the Academy and trust that this board will make the right decision.

If you have any further questions about my viewpoint on this matter, feel free to email or call me via the contact information below.

Dear AND Board of Directors:

Attached is a letter expressing my opposition regarding the NDA designation. I am passionate about our profession but felt that I needed to express my opinion regarding the NDA designation for DPD graduates. I would really appreciate you taking time in reading this letter. I attempted to be as succinct as possible but the letter ended up being two pages long.

I have cc'd past AND past presidents, current state presidents, state president-elects and certain DPG leadership groups that may be impacted by the NDA designation.

Respectfully,

Janet Beary

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I understand that the Board has not asked for feedback on the proposed NDA designation. As one of over 70,000 NAND members, I write to you as my representatives to provide my feedback on the proposed NDA designation you will be considering this Monday, July 21st.

I do not support the NDA designation and would like for the Academy to abandon this designation. I am disappointed in the lack of transparency and the fact that the Academy membership will not be allowed to vote on such a life changing decision for our profession. In the least we should have a voice in this decision. I do not feel the NDA designation is appropriate to give DPD graduates. It will give a title to someone who did not receive an internship position, who did not pass a credentialing exam, and who will not be required to complete continuing professional education. I firmly believe a third designation will definitely dilute and confuse the marketplace. It is more appropriate to support the already existing DTR who does have a clearly defined scope of practice that does not infringe on the job of the RD. Creating the NDA designation does not solve the overarching problem of not enough Dietetic Internship positions or RD's willing to become preceptors and train our future RDs, which is really the root of the problem.

I appreciate your service and the many hours you have dedicated to the Academy and the profession. I look forward to hearing about the discussions at the July 21st Board meeting.

Sincerely,

Stephanie

Good afternoon,

Please find attached a letter from concerned members of the Nutrition Entrepreneurs DPG. Understandably you may be hesitate to open attachments so have copied the content below. Thank you for your time and look forward to hearing the outcome of your BOD discussion. We can only imagine it will be a most spirited discussion!

July 18, 2014

From: Members of the Nutrition Entrepreneurs Executive Committee

RE: Nutrition Dietetics Associate (NDA)

We understand that the Board of Directors will be voting on the NDA proposal at the board meeting July 21-22.

Members of the Nutrition Entrepreneurs (NE) Executive Committee are very concerned about the status of the NDA. We know a task force was assigned to review this issue after many concerns were voiced by various DPGs and Academy members.

We would like to register a vote of no confidence on this proposal, meaning we need more information and further vetting of issues and implications for NE members, particularly those who practice in non-clinical environments like health and wellness.

Our decision is based upon several factors:

1. It is crucial that the public be protected and adequate nutrition care is provided safely and effectively. The NDA is not set up to offer protection or safety to the public. There is consideration at present per the NDA FAQs on eatright.org that an exam may not be needed to obtain the credential/designation. The requirement of continuing education has yet to be determined.
2. The issue as presented is there are DPD graduates but not enough internship positions. The Academy feels an obligation to these DPD baccalaureates. It is our understanding that many students are not accepted into internships because they were not ranked. The Academy should reinstate the three-year pre-planned route to registration as another internship option.
3. Although the HOD discussed the NDA, the HOD did not vote on it. We believe that professional issues of this magnitude should be fully debated and voted on in the HOD.
4. It is our understanding that NDEP members—the educators interacting with DPD students regularly—overwhelmingly voted the NDA down. Of the 553 NDEP members that voted, 72 percent did not support the NDA yet the BOD chose to ignore this information. Obviously there are concerns of the quality of potential NDA candidates.
5. Question 5 in the Questions and Answers regarding the NDA on the Academy website states in part, "CDR's practice audit results compared DPD Program graduates practicing in nutrition and dietetics-related positions and practicing DTRs and found there was no differentiation in practice."
6. — Other medical professions, such as MDs are also struggling with economic reasons for a decline in internships/residencies. We can't imagine they are considering approving a track that allows for non-MD Board Certified individuals to be allowed to practice. Securing new internships and alternative routes to achieving education to be RDN-eligible makes sense.

Will we be creating our competition? Many of us believe so. Although we have come a long way, people still do not know the difference between a nutritionist and RD/RDN. We are the Academy and our efforts/your efforts should go towards the promotion of us and the DTR.

We recommend that the Academy BOD eliminate the idea of the NDA because it is not in the best interest of Academy members or send the proposal to the HOD for deliberations and voting before advancing it further.

Thank you in advance for your consideration of our recommendation.

With respect,

Members of Nutrition Entrepreneurs DPG Executive Committee

As an RD with over 30 years in the profession I am wholly in favor of the NDA. I would like to take this opportunity to explain why before the Board meets next week.

1) This problem of internship shortages has been in existence for decades - even when I applied in the early 1970's - and became ever more serious in the 1980's - and has continued to worsen. We can blame the Academy all we want, but as you have heard, WE are the Academy, and WE have failed to step up and volunteer to be preceptors and to create more internships. I am saddened by all the persons that I see practicing, who have excellent skills and potential for precepting who do not step forward to help prepare others. Some are constrained by organizations who don't see the value but this continued reliance on other RDs to do the work is burdensome to those who step up to help. We need to convince those organizations of the value of training new professionals. If they don't see it, that reflects on us. But remember , we have been working on this aspect of the problem for 30 years and there is no sign of improvement. Some would argue, it is getting worse. How long does it take us to change course and try something new to act on a problem?

2) As an educator I have spent countless hours preparing persons qualified to enter the profession - only to lose them, with all that knowledge - to another career or to have them walk away disenfranchised and worse, become our competitor and detractor. I take offense at others who say these persons are unprepared. They came from programs WE accredited and where we taught. And they are competing with others who may have had one or no accredited nutrition courses. How can we say there is nothing they are qualified to do in the realm of nutrition?

3) There are likely, about this time, about 20,000-30,000 who graduated from those programs and did not get internships. We can't even figure out where they went, what they do - and how many are now our detractors and members of other organizations. What a waste of my - and other educators - teaching time and resources!

4) These 20.000 - 30,000 persons are now members of competitor organizations and another competitor organization waiting to happen. Some organizations have already recognized this and are aggressively recruiting these graduates. So we prepare them and then give them away to the competition. Then we complain about those "other" persons that we cannot hold accountable to a code of ethics or competent practice. If they have designations created by us and developed by our standards we can hold them accountable and delineate their scope of practice.

5) We are coming very late to the trend of the health professions moving to multi-levels of practice. Like the physical therapist and nurses, by creating levels below and above the RD you demonstrate the complexity of your profession and its science. Actually, as we reach the 100 years and move to the 200 years, it would be sad to think that our field is so simple that only one credential or level is all we have to offer - while the other health professions have grown in complexity and levels. What kind of credibility would we have then?

6) As in the other health professions, as we create technicians and associates, we elevate the functions of the RD to higher level practice. This fits well with the move to a Master's as the entry level practitioner coming in 2024, with higher level recognitions for advanced practice such as PhDs and DCNs.

7) The 1:8000 ratio of dietitians to the public will increase as the population increases. We cannot meet the demand for preventive services with our current numbers. And nutrition is HOT. Others are jumping to grab that market, as you all know. As they do that, without our control or oversight, our voice and influence will decrease - exactly the opposite of our goal. Let's continue to invest in those we have already taken the time and resources to prepare, give them career options, create a career ladder, strengthen our voice with allies rather than detractors, and strengthen our position and profession.

Let me add, this issue has been studied and discussed extensively over the past 30 years by many professional entities and multiple AND Boards. It's hard to remember every internal and external study reviewed, let alone keep track, since the HOD, Board and committees change often and individuals come and go. It is critically important to get member input and to design plans based on input. All of these previous boards, committees and task forces were made up of members who are our peers. All the information you have been sharing about potential issues with the NDA is heard and important, but it just as important for leaders to make decisions and take calculated risks. The option, in my mind, to just increase internships, has been tried for 30 years and has not worked. The risk of staying status quo has just created a flurry of others who are trying to take over our jobs and are unregulated. Isn't that what we don't want? It is time to act in the best interest of the profession and the public to provide another level of membership in the Academy that can work with the public and current RDs and DTRs to improve all of our nutritional status and health at multiple levels.

The information that has been voiced, in my opinion, has been very important in that it helps identify potential pitfalls and ways to address them and must be considered in Task Force deliberations. It would also be very good to hear from others who think it is a good idea, and also get their suggestions on how to possibly strengthen and improve the designation. Your opinions will be respected, too.

An age old question, answered by the “The Experts”...

Why Did The Chicken Cross The Road?

BARACK OBAMA: Let me be perfectly clear, if the chickens like their eggs they can keep their eggs. No chicken will be required to cross the road to surrender her eggs. Period.

JOHN McCain: My friends, the chicken crossed the road because he recognized the need to engage in cooperation and dialogue with all the chickens on the other side of the road.

HILLARY CLINTON: What difference at this point does it make why the chicken crossed the road?

GEORGE W. BUSH: We don't really care why the chicken crossed the road. We just want to know if the chicken is on our side of the road or not. The chicken is either with us or against us. There is no middle ground here.

DICK CHENEY: Where is my gun?

COLIN POWELL: Now to the left of the screen, you can clearly see the satellite image of the chicken crossing the road.

BILL CLINTON: I did not cross the road with that chicken.

AL GORE: I invented the chicken.

JOHN KERRY: Although I voted to let the chicken cross the road, I am now against it! It was the wrong road to cross, and I was misled about the chicken's intentions. I am not for it now, and will remain against it.

SARAH PALIN: The chicken crossed the road because, gosh-darn it, he's a maverick!

AL SHARPTON: Why are all the chickens white?

DR. PHIL: The problem we have here is that this chicken won't realize that he must first deal with the problem on this side of the road before it goes after the problem on the other side of the road. What we need to do is help him realize how stupid he is acting by not taking on his current problems before adding any new problems.

OPRAH: Well, I understand that the chicken is having problems, which is why he wants to cross the road so badly. So instead of having the chicken learn from his mistakes and take falls, which is a part of life, I'm going to give this chicken a NEW CAR so that he can just drive across the road and not live his life like the rest of the chickens.

ANDERSON COOPER: We have reason to believe there is a chicken, but we have not been allowed to have access to the other side of the road.

NANCY GRACE: That chicken crossed the road because he's guilty! You can see it in his eyes and the way he walks.

PAT BUCHANAN: To steal the job of a decent, hardworking American.

MARTHA STEWART: No one called me to warn me which way the chicken was going. I had a standing order at the Farmer's Market to sell my eggs when the price dropped to a certain level. No little bird gave me any insider information.

DR. SEUSS: Did the chicken cross the road? Did he cross it with a toad? Yes, the chicken crossed the road, but why it crossed I've not been told.

ERNEST HEMINGWAY: To die in the rain, alone.

GRANDPA: In my day, we didn't ask why the chicken crossed the road. Somebody told us the chicken crossed the road, and that was good enough for us.

BARBARA WALTERS: Isn't that interesting? In a few moments, we will be listening to the chicken tell, for the first time, the hear warming story of how it experienced a serious case of molding, and went on to accomplish it's lifelong dream of crossing the road.

Fellow Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Board of Directors and Retreat participants,

I am truly looking forward to meeting and working with you at the upcoming AND Board retreat in Portland, and I specifically want to thank the AND executive team and staff for the forethought and effort they have put into preparing us for what I believe will be thought-provoking and productive discussions. For me, the monograph, Good to Great and the Social Sectors by Jim Collins is a great pre-read- meaty but concise.

I've been impressed in my short tenure that the Board, and Pat Babjak and her team have worked diligently over the last several years to raise the level of sophistication and effectiveness of AND in the midst of a tumultuous healthcare, economic, and political environment.

The email Pat sent this morning regarding chickens crossing the road was certainly humorous, but I also think she wanted us to think why, in fact, we are as a BOT, crossing the road. Certainly the traffic on the road has been busy (as of yesterday I've received 84 member emails regarding the NDA designation), and there's no ready bridge over the road. And there are other important issues for us to consider.

Looking at the agenda, our facilitator, and our keynote speaker, the atmosphere for our conversations should be well-primed.

Noting that the Board has used BoardSource for evaluation of its effectiveness, I pulled out a reference, Governing as Leadership, published by BoardSource, that we might want to think about in terms of framing our work. The book is too long and expensive to use as a pre-read at this point, but I identified the key table for our consideration (the Board may have already seen this, and if so, pardon my redundancy). The authors argue that all three types of governance are important, but that most not-for-profit boards tend to slight the third type of governance- generative thinking.

Having served on the executive team side of board-executive team interactions, and having seen the value (and yes, the potential disruption) of a board that engages in generative thinking with the CEO and executive team, I encourage us to give it a try. It's not easy, it's not always polite (but it is respectful); but it is productive, and it results in better discernment of difficult issues.

I'll see you in Portland!

Don Bradley

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

My name is Ginny Bogle and I have been an RD since 2000 and a member of the Academy since before that. I am writing to ask that you do not move forward with the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21st meeting. I believe it's addition will not benefit our profession. Personally, I do not understand why feedback is not being requested on the proposed NDA designation, especially since so many of our fellow dietitians still have major concerns.

I have been serving as a full-time temporary instructor for the last 6 years and support the educators and DPD directors as they express concerns with the designation. The hard-working and strong students in our program that do not make an internship end up becoming a DTR, a certified health coach, or go to graduate school becoming a well-educated professional working in their desired field. We have a decent number of our non-matching students reapply the next year after improving their work experience and some do get that internship on the next shot. They are striving to become credentialed. Each year at match time I think of one of our past students that did not match the year she graduated. She had a GPA of almost 4.0, active in volunteer efforts, and held part-time jobs in the kitchens of local healthcare facilities. But if I am completely honest she was truly a BETTER candidate when she applied the second time. Not being selected the first time forced her to really look at herself and to strengthen even the smallest flaws therefore making her the perfect choice the second time AND an excellent RD today. If the NDA designation had been around for that student she could have gone that direction never realizing her full potential and seeing true success of her dream. But without it she worked harder and got further ahead.

I have to say my biggest concern are the students that barely pass our program that I believe may utilize the new (and in my opinion a freebie) designation. These students are not good examples of our profession's education standards and ethics. Isn't the mission to empower members to be food and nutrition leaders - how does this do that by giving every graduate a designation/credential? Giving a graduate a credential/designation/certificate (anything that provides an impression of authority) that does not require an exam, continuing education, or even specific college courses does not demonstrate to the public that Academy members are educated food and nutrition leaders.

As a RD that must continue to meet education requirements and continue to pay for credentialing and licensing, I am very concerned with what this designation will do to my job prospects in the future. Not to mention my concerns regarding my or my families personal healthcare provided by the recipients of this designation. Since budgets are always a concern who's to say that the individuals with the NDA designation might be hired in place of RDs or DTRs as an attempt to save money?

I have learned of this credential because of our DPD director and as an last minute afterthought via listservs from other DPGs. As a loyal member to the Academy, I do not understand why I have not been educated on this topic by the Academy. Maybe I might view things differently if I could understand the logic behind the designation? (I do hope there is more logic behind this than just monetary reasons.)

I do appreciate your service and time you have dedicated to the Academy and the profession. You make many sacrifices with your time - away from families and cutting into your personal life. Thank you. I also understand that change is hard, but at least educate me on why the change is needed and ask for my opinion. I do feel like the Academy has recently been making changes without letting their members know until after the changes are implemented. That does not seem like a fair way to operate and, though this would be a very difficult decision, I may have no choice but to begin to investigate other professional organizations if the credential is passed without more input from the members.

Thank you for taking the time to read this note,
Ginny Bogle MS RD LDN

The public is already confused about what an RD or DTR does and how we are different than all the others that call themselves "Nutritionists". For the sake of the integrity of the profession (which is already diluted by those that are not qualified to practice nutrition including chiropractors and physicians), the public's safety and our compensation and job opportunities, I strongly recommend that you abandon moving towards this designation.

An age old question, answered by the “The Experts”...

Why Did The Chicken Cross The Road?

BARACK OBAMA: Let me be perfectly clear, if the chickens like their eggs they can keep their eggs. No chicken will be required to cross the road to surrender her eggs. Period.

JOHN MCCAIN: My friends, the chicken crossed the road because he recognized the need to engage in cooperation and dialogue with all the chickens on the other side of the road.

HILLARY CLINTON: What difference at this point does it make why the chicken crossed the road?

GEORGE W. BUSH: We don't really care why the chicken crossed the road. We just want to know if the chicken is on our side of the road or not. The chicken is either with us or against us. There is no middle ground here.

DICK CHENEY: Where is my gun?

COLIN POWELL: Now to the left of the screen, you can clearly see the satellite image of the chicken crossing the road.

BILL CLINTON: I did not cross the road with that chicken.

AL GORE: I invented the chicken.

JOHN KERRY: Although I voted to let the chicken cross the road, I am now against it! It was the wrong road to cross, and I was misled about the chicken's intentions. I am not for it now, and will remain against it.

SARAH PALIN: The chicken crossed the road because, gosh-darn it, he's a maverick!

AL SHARPTON: Why are all the chickens white?

DR. PHIL: The problem we have here is that this chicken won't realize that he must first deal with the problem on this side of the road before it goes after the problem on the other side of the road. What we need to do is help him realize how stupid he is acting by not taking on his current problems before adding any new problems.

OPRAH: Well, I understand that the chicken is having problems, which is why he wants to cross the road so badly. So instead of having the chicken learn from his mistakes and take falls, which is a part of life, I'm going to give this chicken a NEW CAR so that he can just drive across the road and not live his life like the rest of the chickens.

ANDERSON COOPER: We have reason to believe there is a chicken, but we have not been allowed to have access to the other side of the road.

NANCY GRACE: That chicken crossed the road because he's guilty! You can see it in his eyes and the way he walks.

PAT BUCHANAN: To steal the job of a decent, hardworking American.

MARTHA STEWART: No one called me to warn me which way the chicken was going. I had a standing order at the Farmer's Market to sell my eggs when the price dropped to a certain level. No little bird gave me any insider information.

DR. SEUSS: Did the chicken cross the road? Did he cross it with a toad? Yes, the chicken crossed the road, but why it crossed I've not been told.

ERNEST HEMINGWAY: To die in the rain, alone.

GRANDPA: In my day, we didn't ask why the chicken crossed the road. Somebody told us the chicken crossed the road, and that was good enough for us.

BARBARA WALTERS: Isn't that interesting? In a few moments, we will be listening to the chicken tell, for the first time, the hear warming story of how it experienced a serious case of molding, and went on to accomplish it's lifelong dream of crossing the road.

ARISTOTLE: It is the nature of chickens to cross the road.

JOHN LENNON: Imagine all the chickens in the world crossing roads together, in peace.

BILL GATES: I have just released eChicken2014, which will not only cross roads, but will lay eggs, file your important documents and balance your checkbook. Internet Explorer is an integral part of eChicken2014. This new platform is much more stable and will never reboot.

ALBERT EINSTIEN: Did the chicken really cross the road, or did the road move beneath the chicken?

COLONEL SANDERS: Did I miss one?

Dear BOD of the Academy:

As an educator and the DPD director, I want to please advise you to WITHDRAW THE PROPOSAL FOR NDA DESIGNATION. I tell all my DPD graduates to take the DTR or CDM exam so they can get a job and build their resume to be more qualified for the DI/ISPP Programs. As Patti LANDERS indicated in her message. NDA is another participation ribbon (everyone gets a ribbon) and it only confuses the public as if we need more public confusion about RD/N as professionals. NUTRITIONIST in California do not need any training except to be able to sell a product to a confused customer.

I have been a royal member of the ADA/AND and an advocate of the profession since 1981. I established a fund with California Dietetic Association Foundation for RD/N, DTR, and students to apply for membership to the Academy. In exchange for the membership, they need to volunteer at a national, state, or local dietetic association. I am a true believer that one must support the profession so that everyone can thrive as a professional. This NDA designation is not a professional acronym since it does not meet the criteria of professional which includes accountability and maintenance of continuing education. There are other ways to deal with the lack of space in supervised-practice programs and we need to make sure that we maintain the integrity and quality that we can still call ourselves dietetic professionals. The NDA is not an answer to this problem.

Thank you for your dedication to the profession and we are all here to lift the profession to a higher level and maintain the standard. I hope you will do the same and get rid of the NDA designation.

An age old question, answered by the “The Experts”...

Why Did The Chicken Cross The Road?

BARACK OBAMA: Let me be perfectly clear, if the chickens like their eggs they can keep their eggs. No chicken will be required to cross the road to surrender her eggs. Period.

JOHN McCain: My friends, the chicken crossed the road because he recognized the need to engage in cooperation and dialogue with all the chickens on the other side of the road.

HILLARY CLINTON: What difference at this point does it make why the chicken crossed the road?

GEORGE W. BUSH: We don't really care why the chicken crossed the road. We just want to know if the chicken is on our side of the road or not. The chicken is either with us or against us. There is no middle ground here.

DICK CHENEY: Where is my gun?

COLIN POWELL: Now to the left of the screen, you can clearly see the satellite image of the chicken crossing the road.

BILL CLINTON: I did not cross the road with that chicken.

AL GORE: I invented the chicken.

JOHN KERRY: Although I voted to let the chicken cross the road, I am now against it! It was the wrong road to cross, and I was misled about the chicken's intentions. I am not for it now, and will remain against it.

SARAH PALIN: The chicken crossed the road because, gosh-darn it, he's a maverick!

AL SHARPTON: Why are all the chickens white?

DR. PHIL: The problem we have here is that this chicken won't realize that he must first deal with the problem on this side of the road before it goes after the problem on the other side of the road. What we need to do is help him realize how stupid he is acting by not taking on his current problems before adding any new problems.

OPRAH: Well, I understand that the chicken is having problems, which is why he wants to cross the road so badly. So instead of having the chicken learn from his mistakes and take falls, which is a part of life, I'm going to give this chicken a NEW CAR so that he can just drive across the road and not live his life like the rest of the chickens.

ANDERSON COOPER: We have reason to believe there is a chicken, but we have not been allowed to have access to the other side of the road.

NANCY GRACE: That chicken crossed the road because he's guilty! You can see it in his eyes and the way he walks.

PAT BUCHANAN: To steal the job of a decent, hardworking American.

MARTHA STEWART: No one called me to warn me which way the chicken was going. I had a standing order at the Farmer's Market to sell my eggs when the price dropped to a certain level. No little bird gave me any insider information.

DR. SEUSS: Did the chicken cross the road? Did he cross it with a toad? Yes, the chicken crossed the road, but why it crossed I've not been told.

ERNEST HEMINGWAY: To die in the rain, alone.

GRANDPA: In my day, we didn't ask why the chicken crossed the road. Somebody told us the chicken crossed the road, and that was good enough for us.

BARBARA WALTERS: Isn't that interesting? In a few moments, we will be listening to the chicken tell, for the first time, the hear warming story of how it experienced a serious case of molding, and went on to accomplish it's lifelong dream of crossing the road.

ARISTOTLE: It is the nature of chickens to cross the road.

JOHN LENNON: Imagine all the chickens in the world crossing roads together, in peace.

BILL GATES: I have just released eChicken2014, which will not only cross roads, but will lay eggs, file your important documents and balance your checkbook. Internet Explorer is an integral part of eChicken2014. This new platform is much more stable and will never reboot.

ALBERT EINSTEIN: Did the chicken really cross the road, or did the road move beneath the chicken?

COLONEL SANDERS: Did I miss one?

An age old question, answered by the “The Experts”...

Why Did The Chicken Cross The Road?

BARACK OBAMA: Let me be perfectly clear, if the chickens like their eggs they can keep their eggs. No chicken will be required to cross the road to surrender her eggs. Period.

JOHN McCain: My friends, the chicken crossed the road because he recognized the need to engage in cooperation and dialogue with all the chickens on the other side of the road.

HILLARY CLINTON: What difference at this point does it make why the chicken crossed the road?

GEORGE W. BUSH: We don't really care why the chicken crossed the road. We just want to know if the chicken is on our side of the road or not. The chicken is either with us or against us. There is no middle ground here.

DICK CHENEY: Where is my gun?

COLIN POWELL: Now to the left of the screen, you can clearly see the satellite image of the chicken crossing the road.

BILL CLINTON: I did not cross the road with that chicken.

AL GORE: I invented the chicken.

JOHN KERRY: Although I voted to let the chicken cross the road, I am now against it! It was the wrong road to cross, and I was misled about the chicken's intentions. I am not for it now, and will remain against it.

SARAH PALIN: The chicken crossed the road because, gosh-darn it, he's a maverick!

AL SHARPTON: Why are all the chickens white?

DR. PHIL: The problem we have here is that this chicken won't realize that he must first deal with the problem on this side of the road before it goes after the problem on the other side of the road. What we need to do is help him realize how stupid he is acting by not taking on his current problems before adding any new problems.

OPRAH: Well, I understand that the chicken is having problems, which is why he wants to cross the road so badly. So instead of having the chicken learn from his mistakes and take falls, which is a part of life, I'm going to give this chicken a NEW CAR so that he can just drive across the road and not live his life like the rest of the chickens.

ANDERSON COOPER: We have reason to believe there is a chicken, but we have not been allowed to have access to the other side of the road.

NANCY GRACE: That chicken crossed the road because he's guilty! You can see it in his eyes and the way he walks.

PAT BUCHANAN: To steal the job of a decent, hardworking American.

MARTHA STEWART: No one called me to warn me which way the chicken was going. I had a standing order at the Farmer's Market to sell my eggs when the price dropped to a certain level. No little bird gave me any insider information.

DR. SEUSS: Did the chicken cross the road? Did he cross it with a toad? Yes, the chicken crossed the road, but why it crossed I've not been told.

ERNEST HEMINGWAY: To die in the rain, alone.

GRANDPA: In my day, we didn't ask why the chicken crossed the road. Somebody told us the chicken crossed the road, and that was good enough for us.

BARBARA WALTERS: Isn't that interesting? In a few moments, we will be listening to the chicken tell, for the first time, the hear warming story of how it experienced a serious case of molding, and went on to accomplish it's lifelong dream of crossing the road.

ARISTOTLE: It is the nature of chickens to cross the road.

BILL GATES: I have just released eChicken2014, which will not only cross roads, but will lay eggs, file your important documents and balance your checkbook. Internet Explorer is an integral part of eChicken2014. This new platform is much more stable and will never reboot.

I have been an RD for over 34 years and a dietetic educator and DP director for 31 of those years. I am very opposed to the NDA for many reasons which include:

1. Many didactic programs have limited or no hands on experience associated with their program of study which makes it hard to say that they have the same abilities as a DTR
2. Many students have no desire to complete a Masters
3. Many students do not have the money and/or time to complete a Masters
4. Universities with internships may not have the capacity in terms of staff, money and/or administrative support to have a Masters program

5. The possibility that some internships will discontinue being a supervised practice program thus making fewer internship slots
6. The possibility that some employers will have fewer RDs and more DTRs or NDAs which they can pay less than what they do the RDs

Like nursing, we should have BS RDs, MS RDs and PhD RD that are required to have a supervised practice experience, an exam and continuing education requirements.

Subject: NDA designation
Attachment:

Dear members of the Academy BOD,

I am displeased and concerned with the current move forward towards the Nutrition and Dietetic Associate designation. As the current Central Illinois Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Association (CIAND) Media Representative and past President of CIAND, I question how this protects the public. I feel that it is my duty to provide evidenced-based nutrition education to the public, yet can't imagine that someone with an NDA would ever be able to provide the same kind of quality information in an effective manner without further education. These individuals would be allowed to practice with this designation, creating more confusion to the public regarding who they are and what their credentials mean. It was noted that the exam component may be taken away, leaving even more unqualified, less credible practitioners. If these graduates feel the need to get further education while waiting to re-apply for a dietetic internship, the DTR should be the default option. I have been on the dietetic internship review board for 7 ½ years here at OSF Saint Francis Medical Center and have sifted through many of our applicants' packets. So many of these graduates do not exude what it takes to be a competent nutrition professional, illustrated by poor grades and poorly written cover letters. An undergraduate degree certainly does not give someone the responsibility and or the knowledge needed to provide good nutritional care to the public. The NDEP survey demonstrated that 52% of those that completed the survey disagreed with eliminating the designation exam, 84% agreed that CPEs need to be required and 72% did not support the NDA as a whole. So, where are the standards? It seems that the BOD are making independent decisions, not cohesive with what the Academy members want. This will not solve any problems, but instead create larger problems for the dietetics world. We already have big enough problems in regards to clearing up nutrition misinformation and fighting the practice of unqualified healthcare professionals. Please reconsider your decision to proceed with the NDA designation and put an end to it now.

One minor technical detail: I don't think the references need to have parentheses. I just added those when I had them following the quotes from the references in one paragraph in order to separate the two.

Dear Donna,

In the wake of major policy success involving therapeutic diet orders, the Academy has put together resources for members to help you implement the rule in your states.

As a reminder, in May the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) issued a final rule enabling registered dietitian nutritionists (RDNs) in the hospital setting to become privileged to independently order therapeutic diets. On Friday, July 11, the rule officially became effective. Members can now start working toward becoming privileged to independently order diets in the hospital setting.

Since the rule leaves it up to the hospital to make the decision about who can become privileged to independently order diets (in accordance with state law), the Academy is providing members with helpful information to navigate the intricacies of implementation. These resources will include a brief analysis of each states ability to implement this new rule and practice tips.

Specifically, the Academy is providing members with:

1. A brief analysis of the impact of state licensure laws and regulations on implementation.
2. Suggestions for discussing this issue with employers and medical staff.
3. Detailed processes and strategies for obtaining privileges.
4. Guidance on how to implement the RDN privilege for diet orders in hospitals.

In addition, members will have access to FAQs and the final rule.

The rule continues to be a major achievement for the Academy, as it is a substantial move forward for our profession, our members and the health of Americans.

We remain committed to extending the ability to order therapeutic diets across the continuum of care and will be working with CMS to allow RDNs in long-term care settings to independently order therapeutic diets.

Sincerely,

Sonja L. Connor, MS, RDN, LD

Dear Academy Board of Directors:

In addition, members will have access to FAQs and the final rule.

The rule continues to be a major achievement for the Academy, as it is a substantial move forward for our profession, our members and the health of Americans.

We remain committed to extending the ability to order therapeutic diets across the continuum of care and will be working with CMS to allow RDNs in long-term care settings to independently order therapeutic diets.

The success of this effort reflects the ongoing commitment of the executive team and Board of Directors to allocate additional resources in that are needed to achieve the Academy's policy and advocacy goals that not only affect members but enhance the profession. Thank you very much for your leadership and commitment on this vital issue.

An all-member email will be sent by Sonja Connor later today highlighting the resources for implementation. All Academy organizational units and committees are being made aware of this anticipated information and guidance.

We are happy to answer any questions you might have and look forward to providing a verbal update at the next Board meeting.

To: Academy Board of Directors

I am a long term A.N.D. member in good standing, and am writing to express my view regarding Nutrition and Dietetic Associate (NDA) designation. I am opposed to adding another designation for nutrition professionals. As you are very well aware, the public, and even other health care professionals, are confused already regarding the various terms that describe individuals in the field of nutrition and dietetics.

CDR found insufficient evidence to proceed with NDA certification. The DTR certification is available to graduates who do not get a didactic internship. An exam is not available for the NDA certification, or requirements for continuing professional education. Any nutrition professional should be required to take an exam to exhibit their knowledge base as one part of keeping the public safe and update their knowledge constantly.

The Academy would be much more supportive of its members and professional in the face of the public and other health care disciplines, to work on improving internship opportunities. I also would like to note that the best students typically are accepted at internships, and it would benefit the profession as well as the public who puts their trust in A.N.D and its registered and certified members, to maintain a level of excellence.

The code of ethics must apply to all nutrition professionals. Individuals who are certified as NDA's are NOT qualified, knowledgeable enough or experienced enough to practice nutrition care safely. It is unethical to certify an individual who does not NOT have the experience and knowledge that RDN's and DTR's have earned. It is appalling that such individuals would be exempt from following the Academy's code of ethics.

The Academy has been fighting for years for licensure of RDN's. A non-qualified designation will not help the Academy achieve the goal of licensure.

I am strongly urging you, as the BOD, whom I helped to vote in office, to vote "NO" to the NDA designation. The safety of the general public, as well as maintenance of RDN and DTR's professional standing the health care community, would be better served by staying with two credentials, RDN and DTR. NDA is not needed or helpful to the Profession or patients.

Sincerely,

JoAnn Cooper RDN CDN

Hello,

I want to express my opinion that the NDA credential should not be approved. The addition of NDA practitioners could confuse employers and the public, cost RDs jobs, and potentially put the public at risk. This designation is not backed by a national examination and is not regulated.

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing to provide you feedback on the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21st meeting. I understand that the Board has not asked for feedback on the proposed NDA designation but as a loyal Academy member and educator I feel our voices should be heard since you represent each and every one of the 70,000+ members. I appreciate your service and time you have dedicated to the Academy and the profession.

With that being said, I do not support the NDA designation and would like for the Academy to abandon this designation. I am disappointed in the lack of transparency and the fact that the Academy membership will not be allowed to vote on such a life changing decision for our profession. I do not feel the NDA designation is appropriate to give DPD graduates. It will give a title to someone who did not receive an internship position (for whatever reason) and just graduated from a program. Without some type of experiential supervised practice there is no guarantee the NDA would not function the same as an RD in the marketplace. I believe a third designation will definitely dilute and confuse the marketplace. It would be more appropriate to support the already existing DTR who does have a clearly defined scope of practice that does not infringe on the job of the RD. Creating the NDA designation does not solve the overarching problem of not enough Dietetic Internship positions or RD's willing to become preceptors and train our future RDs which is really the root of the problem.

Again thank you for your service to our profession and I look forward to hearing about the discussions at the July 21st Board meeting.

We are looking forward to seeing you at the Board retreat!

The purpose of the retreat is two-pronged: to conduct business by planning for the continuing execution of the strategic plan and to network. The agenda is primarily focused on planning our direction, short and long-term, and the dialogue is generative and strategic.

The agenda and corresponding attachments for the retreat are now available on the Board of Directors' communication platform. Please login to the communications platform using the link <http://academybod.webauthor.com> and enter your Academy website username and password.

The agenda and attachments are located under the Library tab, Board Meetings and Teleconferences, 2014 Board Meetings, July 21-23 Board Retreat. The size of the meeting packet is reduced, therefore paper copies will not be provided. The attachments for agenda items 9.1 – Member Feedback Results, 9.2 – NDA Ad Hoc Committee Recommendations and 10.1 - Brutal Facts: Strategic Challenges and Opportunities will be posted by Friday, July 18. Executive session materials will be emailed to the Board separately on Friday.

Elizabeth Monroe-Cook has been engaged to facilitate the retreat. Some of you know her from the great job she performed facilitating our Board retreat in 2012 and 2011, and most recently the June HLT Retreat.

To foster collaboration and open dialogue with the Academy's major organization units, we welcome their representatives to the retreat: Kathryn Hamilton, chair of the Commission on Dietetic Registration; Merievelyn Stuber, chair of the Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics; Linda Snetselaar, Editor of the Journal of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics; and Julie Grim, chair of the Nominating Committee.

In addition to these member leaders, other guests include: Bob Treadway, an internationally respected futurist, who will help us identify current and future trends, customizing them to our profession; and Dr. Andrew Brown, a scientist with the Office of Energetics and Nutrition Obesity Research Center at the University of Alabama at Birmingham, who will help us understand the distortion of nutrition research that contributes to unscientific beliefs about science topics in nutrition.

For those of you who wish to travel together to/from the airport, attached is a list of itineraries for the Board retreat participants. Transportation information from Portland's airport (PDX) follows.

Valet parking at the Heathman Hotel is $34.00 per night for anyone driving in.

Hello!

We wanted to share with you a very successful Hill briefing today that captures the impact of budget reductions on public health. As we continue to see the decline of funding, we felt strongly that Congress needed to be aware of their actions on the health of Americans. The briefing was standing room only and had to turn away attendees. The Academy was a key contributor to the Faces of Austerity project with kudos going to Whitney Brown of the PIA staff. (Although Whitney has left to attend law school, we still consider a valued staffer for us).

The press release with powerful quotes from Sonja sent out yesterday explains briefly the project. The full report is attached that provides the background of the reductions within the different federal agencies. We were honored to have our story be one of the four presented to Hill staffers. Whitney, working with Missy Cody, captured the story of the impact on Meals on Wheels reduction for seniors in Georgia. The speaker was riveting for the audience and put in perspective the importance of nutrition on many levels.

Although the subject matter is sobering, we are proud that nutrition is recognized as a important pillar in public health. All members of Congress will receive a copy of this report.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Have a great night!

To whom it may concern. After learning more details about this new designation, I am in agreement with educators of nutrition that this is not the way to go. We need to keep the credentialing strong and follow the paths that have taken years to evolve. Its already a battle in many states to get a license. What will this new status mean for those who have gone through the channels to get the credentials we have been working for to be recognized by our employers and payers. Please work to get the number of internship opportunities available rather than dilute the system. Thank you.

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing to provide feedback on the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21st meeting. I understand that the Board has not asked for feedback on the proposed NDA designation but as a loyal Academy member and educator I feel our voices should be heard since you represent each one of the 70,000+ members. I appreciate your service and time you have dedicated to the Academy and the profession.

With that being said, I do not support the NDA designation and would like for the Academy to abandon this designation and the process involved in pursuing the designation. I am disappointed in the lack of transparency and the fact that the Academy membership will not be allowed to vote on such a life changing decision for our profession. I do not feel the NDA designation is appropriate to give DPD graduates. It will give a title to someone who did not receive an internship position (for whatever reason) and just graduated from a program without some type of experiential supervised practice. There is no guarantee the NDA would not function the same as an RD in the marketplace; I believe a third designation will definitely dilute and confuse the marketplace. It would be more appropriate to support the already existing DTR who does have a clearly defined scope of practice that does not infringe on the job of the RD. Creating the NDA designation does not solve the overarching problem of not enough Dietetic Internship positions or RD's willing to become preceptors and train our future RDs which is really the root of the problem.

Again thank you for your service to our profession and I look forward to hearing about the discussions at the July 21st Board meeting.

Mary Beth, I would absolutely love to come, as you know I am very interested in this project, but that is the very first day of school. While I feel like I could be absent on that day and my staff could handle things, I am afraid the superintendent would not look at it that way. If for some reason the date gets changed, please let me know. If you need to talk to me before the meeting please do not hesitate to reach out. I would be glad to help in anyway I can. Would love to see the survey results. Thanks for including me.

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing to give you feedback about the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21 meeting. I do not agree with the way this matter has been handled, and I am now a disgruntled Academy member and know that I want what is best for the profession. I almost did not renew my membership for the first time in 27 years due to the required master's and NDA designation.

I strongly encourage you to abandon the Nutrition and Dietetic Associate designation all together. I believe the NDA is a bad idea. The straw votes at NDEP area meetings and the formal survey of all NDEP members in May make it obvious that the vast majority of educators and preceptors oppose the NDA and will advise students against it. While we are not a large group in the Academy, educators are very influential with students and practitioners who serve as preceptors. We will continue to advise graduates who do not get internships to take and pass the DTR exam and earn a credential that means something. The NDA is at best a participation ribbon and we do not need that in our profession. Please listen to the professionals that actually do the work every day.

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I would like to take this opportunity to express my concerns against the NDA credential. It is my understanding that you will be discussing this matter during a meeting on July 21. I do appreciate the Academy's concern for the number of graduates that do not get matched with an internship program. However, I do not believe the NDA designation is in the best interest of our profession. I have provided a list of concerns below.

1) I have precepted over 20 interns. Internships provide a significant learning curve for future RDs. Even the best interns have knowledge gaps when entering a program. An internship teaches a student how to critically think, evaluate and apply research in a real-life situation, and develop a better understanding of physiology and anatomy. College students can pass classes and not really have an in-depth understanding of the subject matter. Most students don't know where certain nutrients are absorbed in the small bowel or how poor glucose control can contribute to poor wound healing and increased infection risk. These things are learned in an internship and I don't feel that the Academy should be supporting the ability of professionals that have not had to demonstrate their competencies beyond a handful of college courses.

- 2) The NDA FAQ states that the NDAs will have access to practice standards published by the AND. What if the NDA is never a member? At least an RDN that never becomes a member was exposed to position statements during their internship.
- 3) #11 in the FAQ states that the employers will be responsible for determining the practice roles. NDAs will likely be working in community settings where the employer will likely NOT be an RDN. I am not convinced the employer will know the difference between NDA and RDN. Therefore, NDAs may be in roles that should only be filled with RDNs. If this happens, I feel it will discredit the RDN credential.
- 4) According the FAQ, one of the biggest reasons for the NDA designation is because of the number of graduates that are not matched to an internship program. However, it seems as if this problem is only going to grow once a Master's degree is required to become an RDN. Why are we requiring a Master's degree if we are acknowledging this problem?
- 5) I also find it very concerning that there is no plan for a competency exam or the requirement of CEUs. We are a profession that prides ourselves on the fact that we provide evidence-based interventions. There is no mechanism in place to determine if the NDAs know what the current literature supports or if they are staying abreast. The NDA designation is down-grading the DTR and RDN credentials.

I hope you will re-evaluate the potential consequences the NDA will have on the profession. Thank you for your time and consideration of my concerns.

Attachment:

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing to provide you feedback on the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21st meeting. I understand that the Board has not asked for feedback on the proposed NDA designation but as a loyal Academy member and educator I feel our voices should be heard since you represent each and every one of the 70,000+ members. I appreciate your service and time you have dedicated to the Academy and the profession.

With that being said, I do not support the NDA designation and would like for the Academy to abandon this designation. I am disappointed in the lack of transparency and the fact that the Academy membership will not be allowed to vote on such a life changing decision for our profession. I do not feel the NDA designation is appropriate to give DPD graduates. It will give a title to someone who did not receive an internship position (for whatever reason) and just graduated from a program. Without some type of experiential supervised practice there is no guarantee the NDA would not function the same as an RD in the marketplace. I believe a third designation will definitely dilute and confuse the marketplace. It would be more appropriate to support the already existing DTR who does have a clearly defined scope of practice that does not infringe on the job of the RD. Creating the NDA designation does not solve the overarching problem of not enough Dietetic Internship positions or RD's willing to become preceptors and train our future RDs which is really the root of the problem.

Again thank you for your service to our profession and I look forward to hearing about the discussions at the July 21st Board meeting.

Sincerely,

Dan Thomas, MS,RD,CNSC, LDN

Dear BOD,

I vote no for the NDA. I feel that this designation is not needed in our profession. Students who are not matched to an internship, but would like to pursue a career in the field have the option to study for and take the DTR exam. Providing the NDA designation would weaken the credibility of the DTR and RD/RDN credentials and the work that goes along with earning and maintaining them.

NC Workgroup members,

In preparation for our call in a few minutes, I put together a draft response as a starting point for our discussion. I have no pre-conceived idea of what or how we should respond but thought it might be helpful to have something to launch the call.

I simply copied and pasted from Pat's recent email to our group (first paragraph), Margaret's comments related to the NC's alternate proposal (2nd and 3rd paragraphs) and Ellen Shanley's comments in reviewing references the NC used (4th and 5th paragraphs.)

I vote not to NDA.

Date: July 8, 2014

To: All Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics members

From: Patti Landers, PhD, RDN, LD, FAND

Subject: Nutrition and Dietetic Associate (NDA) designation

The Academy is promoting a set of letters that could confuse employers, cost us jobs and put the public at risk. This designation is not backed by a national examination and is not regulated.

The purpose of this letter is to provide information about this important issue. On June 25, an announcement about repeal of Michigan licensure appeared in the Eat Right Weekly. It included Licensure is critical for public protection and establishing standards for safe and effective nutrition care. Thanks to the help of its members, the Academy has initiated a national strategy to ensure all Americans have access to qualified and competent practitioners.

I bolded and made the text red to draw attention to an important point. I am not exactly sure what the phrase the Academy has initiated a national strategy to ensure all Americans have access to qualified and competent practitioners means, but does that strategy include the Nutrition and Dietetic Associate designation?

The Academy's Board of Directors (BOD) will meet on July 21 to consider the status of the NDA designation that was announced by Glenna McCollum during the FNCE 2013 opening session. As an educator who has directed three accredited programs (didactic, internship, and coordinated) I sincerely believe that the NDA will not protect the public, nor will it establish standards for safe and effective nutrition care.

On May 31, I completed two years as chair of Nutrition and Dietetic Educators and Preceptors (NDEP). We are the people who educate our students and provide supervised practice. At each of four regional meetings held in March and April we had a presentation with representation from the BOD and Academy staff who were there to answer questions and "listen" to what NDEP members had to say. Educators were so upset about the NDA they took straw votes at some of the meetings and there was overwhelming opposition to the proposed designation. After all the meetings were concluded, the executive committee of NDEP sent a survey to over 1200 NDEP members in May. We received 553 responses – almost a 50% response rate. Please see the PowerPoint slides contained later in this document for a summary of what was presented to the BOD. Below are the primary concerns about the NDA who wrote comments why they are opposed to the NDA.

- CDR found insufficient evidence to proceed with an additional certification (e.g. the NDA).

The Commission on Dietetic Registration did a practice audit of 665 Pathway 3 baccalaureate DPD graduate DTRs, 695 baccalaureate DPD graduates not on CDR's database as either eligible or credentialed as DTRs, and 1,148 baccalaureate DPD graduates on CDR's database as eligible for the DTR examination who were not yet DTRs. Findings showed no difference in what associate degreed DTRs and baccalaureate degreed DTRs do. An article presenting results the audit will appear in the October 14 issue of Journal of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics. (*note – corrected per information posted by CDR on NDEP EML 7/10/2014).

- Current graduates of didactic programs who do not get dietetic internships can take the DTR exam without supervised practice (Pathway III). The DTR is a recognized credential that requires passing an exam assuring individuals will deliver safe and effective care within their scope of practice. This is vital in order to protect the public. Educators will continue to encourage students who do not get internships to take the DTR exam. Most educators will not recommend the NDA.

- No exam for the NDA: As a bit of background, the NDEP leaders had been working with the Academy CEO on a timeline for educators to develop a content exam for the NDA. However, when the NDEP members were so opposed to the NDA designation, NDEP decided not to participate. There is nobody else to write an exit exam covering DPD content since CDR has already said they cannot do it (they must base their exams on practice audits, and at this time there is no difference in 2-year with supervised practice and Pathway III 4-year DPD graduates with no supervise practice who take and pass the DTR exam). At the request of Academy staff, NDEP added questions to its May survey about whether an exam should be required for the NDA designation. A majority of respondents said an exam is needed. However, now the BOD seems to think that if a student earns a DPD verification statement they know enough to practice safely as an NDA.

- The NDA is a participation ribbon. The Academy has told us they surveyed 17,000 students who liked the idea of a certificate for those who do not take the DTR or do an internship. Although I and other educators have repeatedly asked how many of the 17,000 surveyed actually responded, neither newly named Vice President, Professional Development and Assessment Diane Moore-Enos or anyone on the BOD has given an answer. There is no obligation to provide the NDA to graduates who do not get internships. In May, educators received the following information from ACEND. From the past Dietetic Internship Spring match rates (2011-2013), approximately 35%-39% of the candidates were NEVER ranked by any internship. From 2013 data, there were 4,851 applicants for 2,745 total dietetic internship slots. If you remove the 39% not ranked by any program, the total QUALIFIED applicant pool was 2959. This leaves a difference of 214 applicants. The shortage of internship slots is not as serious a problem as the Academy wishes to portray. As someone who has reviewed applications for years, I can tell you that unfortunately many of the students who earn a verification statement and apply to internships have poor grades and really are not qualified. They will not listen to their teachers and some apply over and over again. This makes the situation look worse than it really is. Completing the DPD curriculum and receiving a verification statement does not mean they are safe to practice – even if other groups competing with RD/RDNs and DTRs are already out there handing out nutrition advice and are ready to offer those DPD graduates some sort of letters after their names. These graduates are eligible through Pathway III to sit for the DTR exam. They should study for and pass it so they can earn a real credential that means something – not a participation ribbon.

- Continuing Professional Education: 84% of NDEP survey respondents said that CPE should be required. CDR should not administer CPE for anyone except RD/RDNs and DTRs. So, who will do this? Should we add even more staff at the Academy level to administer continuing education for NDAs?

- Employers: Will employers hire NDAs rather than RD/RDNs or DTRs? The public is plenty confused already about what we do. The BOD has not shown us any data from an employer survey. Why add one more layer to the mix? Certification as an RD/RDN or DTR is a means to protect the public.

- Code of Ethics: We were also told that NDAs would have to follow the Academy's Code of Ethics. If these individuals quit paying Academy dues after they get the NDA designation and they are not credentialed by CDR, who is going to make them follow the Code? The NDA just does not make sense!

- Stay with our current two-level credentialing system. Recently in Oklahoma, HB1020 passed in the House and Senate. Effective November 1, 2014, physical therapists will be able to evaluate and treat patients for up to 30 days without a physician's referral. This is a HUGE step in their profession. They have two levels: physical therapists (PT) and physical therapy assistants (PTAs) and they stay on message. We should follow the physical therapy model and have two credentials: RD/RDN and DTR. No NDA is needed.

While the NDA is not licensure, I think we all agree that it is crucial that the public be protected and that standards for safe and effective nutrition care be established. This is why we have ACEND to set standards and CDR to provide exams and continuing education. Let them do their jobs! In my opinion, the BOD has no business coming up with a new “designation” such as the NDA. Because of the extremely negative feedback about the NDA from educators and preceptors, we were told at NDEP spring meetings that they are now considering requiring continuing education for NDAs. Who will administer the CPE credit if not CDR?

Concerned educators are taking the lead to circulate this information widely throughout the membership. Will you help us? Names and contact information for the BOD is on the table below. Please send email to let them know you are concerned about the NDA. Educators overwhelmingly do not support this unneeded “designation”. Most of us will be telling our students to take the DTR exam and get experience if they failed to get an internship on their first try. Yes, we have a problem with an inadequate number of supervised practice opportunities and we face competition from other groups. The NDA is not the answer to those problems.

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing to provide you feedback on the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21st meeting. I understand that the Board has not asked for feedback on the proposed NDA designation but as a practicing registered dietitian who oversees interns in various dietetic internship programs and believes in the importance of supervised practice, I feel our voices should be heard since you represent each and every one of the 70,000+ members. I appreciate your service and time you have dedicated to the Academy and the profession.

With that being said, I do NOT support the NDA designation and would like for the Academy to abandon this designation. I am disappointed in the lack of transparency and the fact that the Academy membership will not be allowed to vote on such a life changing decision for our profession. I do not feel the NDA designation is appropriate to give DPD graduates. It will give a title to someone who did not receive an internship position (for whatever reason) and just graduated from a program without any type of accountability for that designation (no CPEUs required and no supervised practice needed along with a VOLUNTARY comprehensive exam that does not include MNT!). Without some type of experiential supervised practice there is no guarantee the NDA would not function the same as an RD in the marketplace. I believe a third designation will definitely dilute and confuse the marketplace. It would be more appropriate to support the already existing DTR who does have a clearly defined scope of practice that does not infringe on the job of the RD. Creating the NDA designation does not solve the overarching problem of not enough Dietetic Internship positions or RD's willing to become preceptors and train our future RDs which is really the root of the problem. I feel there needs to be some serious discussion on how to solve the problem we have using current resources. Could there be as incentives to those institutions that take interns? What about evaluating new internship sites (the state of Arkansas currently only has TWO internship sites for their entire state)? What about helping sites that desire to open by helping support them to develop a Master's program component since they will be required to have this to open?? Again, I think looking at current resources to solve the problem is more helpful than creating new options that do not appear to solve the problem and may only make things worse.

Again thank you for your service to our profession and I look forward to hearing about the discussions at the July 21st Board meeting.

Good afternoon,

I am writing to express my concerns over the potential NDA designation. As a dietetics instructor, I strongly support the DTR credential as an alternative to graduates of didactic programs who did not receive an internship. I certainly understand the concerns about having a large number of students NOT receive internships after completing undergraduate degrees, but as someone who works both in the academic realm as an instructor and “real” world as a dietitian, adding this designation would only further confuse consumers and clients about what we do as dietetics professionals. Additionally, I believe the NDA may de-emphasize the value of the RD credential as well encourage the spread of inaccurate nutrition information. Passing the DTR exam or RD exam is a sign of an individual who is competent in providing accurate nutrition information to consumers, which is ultimately the goal of our profession.

Instead of focusing on creating another credential/designation, I feel we can better focus our energies in other directions such as strengthening our students’ skills, creating more internship opportunities, and building up the value of the RD and RDN credentials. The NDA designation is not something I will encourage for my students.

Thank you for your time.

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

My name is Lauren Cromer and I have been a member since my junior year in undergrad and I am writing to ask that you do not move forward with the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21st meeting.

Personally, I do not understand why feedback is not being requested on the proposed NDA designation, especially since so many of our educators and DPD directors still have major concerns with the credential.

I have been serving as a full-time temporary instructor for the last 4 years and I really believe this credential will not benefit our profession. The hard-working and strong students in our program that do not make an internship end up becoming a DTR, a certified health coach, or something to where they are working in their desired field. We have a decent number of our non-matching students reapply the next year after improving their work experience and some do get that internship on the next shot. They are striving to become credentialed. Yet on the other hand, there are a few students that barely pass our program that I believe may utilize the new (and in my opinion a freebie) credential that are not good examples of our profession's education standards.

Isn't the mission to empower members to be food and nutrition leaders - how does this do that by giving every graduate a credential? Does it not dilute the profession? A credential that does not require an exam or CPE does not seem like a sound move for our profession during a time when I feel that we really have moved forward and increased respect for our education and training. As a RD that must continue to meet education requirements and continue to pay for credentialing and licensing, I am very concerned with what this new credential will do to my job prospects in the future as I plan to return to field work. I have had jobs in the past that did not require my RD status; however, once I left, they would have only hired a RD after being educated on the knowledge our credential had to offer. Will they begin hiring this new credential thinking they are getting the same type of candidate?

I have only learned of this credential because of our DPD director. As a loyal member to the Academy, I do not understand why I have not been educated on this topic by the Academy.

Maybe I might view things differently if I could understand the logic behind the credential? (I do hope there is more logic behind this credential than monetary reasons.) If the Academy must create some type of credential other than the DTR (which I finally think this credential is starting to take off for my students that want something besides the internship/RD), I think it should look into a wellness/health coach credential (and one with an exam and CEUs).

I do appreciate your service and time you have dedicated to the Academy and the profession. I serve on the state level and know the sacrifices you make with your time - away from families and cutting into your personal life. Thank you. I also understand that change is hard, but at least educate me on why the change is needed and ask for my opinion. I do feel like the Academy has recently been making changes without letting their members know until after the changes are implemented. That does not seem like a fair way to operate and, though this would be a very difficult decision, I may have no choice but to begin to investigate other professional organizations if the credential is passed without more input from the members.

Thank you for taking the time to read this note,

Lauren Cromer, MS, RD, LDN

I am concerned over the possible new designation of NDA. We have struggled enough as dietitians to gain creditability. Here are my reasons I am NOT in support of the NDA:

1. No evidence of the need for an additional credential (we have the DTR).
2. No evidence for improved support (and financial benefit) for the profession (in fact it could hurt the RDN credential).
3. NDA graduates WILL take jobs away from RDNs who will be required to get a Master's degree.
4. Employers will be even more confused on the qualifications of an RDN.

I am and will continue to be a member of the Academy and hope my words are well heard.

Dear Academy Leaders,

I am writing to you as a delegate, dietetic internship director and dietitian with a 24 year career in our profession. I feel very strongly about the NDA and I can't support this new designation. I want to share some of my thoughts with you:

1. This past year our program had 196 applicants for our 10 internship spots. I read all the applications and approximately 25% are eliminated from the start because of poor GPA's, they are not appropriately qualified or they do not follow the application instructions.
2. ACEND needs to continue to work with universities to reduce the number of poorly qualified students, rather than have them become NDAs.
3. We have the DTR pathway for students that I feel should be utilized rather than the NDA. DTR requires continuing education and I don't support the fact that continuing education is not a requirement for the NDA. If people will practice with the NDA, they need continuing education to keep current.

4. Many of my educator peers and Illinois constituents have the same feelings as I do. I encourage you to reach out to those you represent and ask their thoughts about the NDA designation. Talk to educators about their thoughts about the NDA.

I ask you, as leaders of our profession, to reconsider the NDA designation at your upcoming board meeting.

Thank you,

Golda Ewalt

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing to provide you feedback on the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21st meeting. I understand that the Board has not asked for feedback on the proposed NDA designation but as a loyal Academy member and educator I feel our voices should be heard since you represent each and every one of the 70,000+ members. I appreciate your service and time you have dedicated to the Academy and the profession.

With that being said, I do not support the NDA designation and would like for the Academy to abandon this designation. I am disappointed in the lack of transparency and the fact that the Academy membership will not be allowed to vote on such a life changing decision for our profession. I do not feel the NDA designation is appropriate to give DPD graduates. It will give a title to someone who did not receive an internship position (for whatever reason) and just graduated from a program. Without some type of experiential supervised practice there is no guarantee the NDA would not function the same as an RD in the marketplace. I believe a third designation will definitely dilute and confuse the marketplace. It would be more appropriate to support the already existing DTR who does have a clearly defined scope of practice that does not infringe on the job of the RD. Creating the NDA designation does not solve the overarching problem of not enough Dietetic Internship positions or RD's willing to become preceptors and train our future RDs which is really the root of the problem. Perhaps providing an incentive to those facilities that are willing to take on interns is a more appropriate solution.

Again thank you for your service to our profession and I look forward to hearing about the discussions at the July 21st Board meeting.

Dear Idaho Academy Members,

BE INFORMED! Along with the new required MSRD, The Academy has also approved a new credential NDA (Nutrition and Dietetics Associate).

Personally, I DO NOT support this action. Many other RD/RDNs DO NOT support this as well, which is demonstrated by The Academy's recent action to form a committee to review their decision.

WE NEED ACTION FROM MEMBERS. Please voice your thoughts.

While I encourage everyone to voice their own opinions, I want to share a few of my major concerns.

1. No evidence of the need for an additional credential (we have the DTR).
2. No evidence for improved support (and financial benefit) for the profession (in fact it could hurt the RDN credential).
3. Creates additional challenges for Academic programs – this WILL hurt Dietetics education.
4. NDA graduates WILL take jobs away from RDNs who will be required to get a Master's degree.
5. Your employers will be even more confused on the qualifications of an RDN.

Please write your comments to the following individuals to make YOUR voice heard. Even a simple email that says "I do not support this action" can be sent.

FEI Chicago Chapter Golf Outing and Craft Beer Tasting/BBQ Dinner

Friday, August 22

White Deer Run Golf Club, Vernon Hills

Join us for a great day of golf, craft beer and a delicious BBQ on Friday, August 22 at White Deer Run Golf Club in Vernon Hills.

We start the day with a shotgun start golf outing. All players start and finish the round together! White Deer Run offers the essential ingredients to an enjoyable day on the golf course...240 acres of rolling terrain, picturesque lakes, generous landing areas, and immaculately groomed bent grass greens and fairways. The outing will be a scramble format, tailored to all skill levels! In a scramble, each player tees off on each hole. The best of the tee shots is selected and all players play their second shots from that spot. The best of the second shots is determined, then all play their third shots from that spot, and so on until the ball is holed. This format keeps your foursome together for the entire round. It's a great way to really get to know other players! We have fun contests lined up such as longest drive, closest to the pin, and longest putt.

Put your own foursome together or let us do it for you!

After golf, other FEI members and guests will join us for our craft beer tasting and BBQ dinner. Don't miss out on this day of fun. We work so hard, don't we deserve some fun?!

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing to provide you feedback on the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21st meeting. I understand that the Board has not asked for feedback on the proposed NDA designation but as a loyal Academy member and educator I feel our voices should be heard since you represent each and every one of the 70,000+ members. I appreciate your service and time you have dedicated to the Academy and the profession.

With that being said, I do not support the NDA designation and would like for the Academy to abandon this designation. I am disappointed in the lack of transparency and the fact that the Academy membership will not be allowed to vote on such a life changing decision for our profession. I do not feel the NDA designation is appropriate to give DPD graduates. It will give a title to someone who did not receive an internship position (for whatever reason) and just graduated from a program. Without some type of experiential supervised practice there is no guarantee the NDA would not function the same as an RD in the marketplace. I believe a third designation will definitely dilute and confuse the marketplace. It would be more appropriate to support the already existing DTR who does have a clearly defined scope of practice that does not infringe on the job of the RD. Creating the NDA designation does not solve the overarching problem of not enough Dietetic Internship positions or RD's willing to become preceptors and train our future RDs which is really the root of the problem.

Again thank you for your service to our profession and I look forward to hearing about the discussions at the July 21st Board meeting.

Sincerely,

Jessica Landsgesell, RD, LDN, CNSC

Good morning Academy BOD and staff members,

I am part of the NDEP group and have received information that there will be another meeting on July 21st about the NDA credential. I wanted to communicate my concerns with this proposed credential.

Please consider not moving forward with this credential; at least not at this time. I am confused as to why we are not pushing the DTR education requirements to four years, then encouraging unmatched students to take the DTR exam and gain valuable work experience with an already established credential? We are raising the level of an entry-level RD/RDN to a master's degree by 2024, why are we rushing with this credential, that many members don't even know about? I have a lot of questions and I know my colleagues do as well.

Thank you for your time and service, as well as noting my concerns.

Rayane,

Thank you for this concerning update. In discussion with the staff, they feel betrayed that their own organization is not promoting the RD credential in terms of publicizing our expertise for better pay. One RD said, (who is now leaving the field), "what do they (ADA) expect us to do? We're stuck with 80K worth of school loans to be paid 40K, and the NDAs will be hired over us to get paid even less." What's worse is that The NDAs will promote themselves to the public, now having a nutrition credential, with less training, and probably be paid more what an RD achieves in perhaps, doing infomercials! This is why a PHD requirement is completely ridiculous. We already have more training than non-RD's, and financially, they are doing just as well- if not better. A PHD is not what the bulk employers are willing to pay for if they can have a non-RD perform similar functions for less.

Instead of ADA creating another new set of initials AND should be promoting the RD credential to the public- on TV, social media, etc. Most laymen confusingly ask if I am a nurse when I tell them I am a dietitian, because they don't even know what a RD is. ADA (or AND) is not recognized by the public because it refuses to reach the public. I've been practicing for 27 years and still love my career, but this is why I am not a AND member. I don't need to market myself to other RDs. We have an alarming rate of obesity, Diabetes, etc.- there must be some way for RDs to be educated in these areas and actually profit from their extensive education.

Through the years, I've seen many talented RDs leave the field for this reason. AND should be doing something to prevent this- instead, it is driving RDs right out of the field.

Just a few thoughts...

Andrea Aidone

Dear all,

As you know the Academy president announced during FNCE a new "designation": Nutrition and Dietetic Associate. This designation was to be provided to nutrition graduates who do not secure a dietetic internship. The graduate would take the NDA exam and receive the designation. There were no suggestions that those holding the NDA would abide by the Academy's Code of Ethics or would need to remain current (have CEUs).

Nutrition and Dietetics educators are in an uproar about the NDA. They felt it was rushed, poorly thought out, determined without member input, and especially without employers' input. Market confusion and competition with the RD and DTR are major concerns. During the educators' regional meetings (Nutrition and Dietetics Educators and Preceptors NDEP regional meetings) they fiercely opposed it. The terms of the NDA kept changing indicating poor planning and forethought. Currently, the NDA is a certificate and no longer a designation. An exam is no longer required from dietetics graduates (they just apply for it and pay their dues), they must abide by the Code of Ethics and CEUs are required.

Close to 73% of educators voted against the NDA; yet, the Academy's Board of Directors is still planning on moving forward. The Board assigned a task force to discuss the issues, but it appears that the task force is made-up mainly of Board members, previous Academy presidents and NDA supporters.

Attached you will find a letter from the NDEP past-chair, Patti Landers, providing some history on the subject.

I do not support NDA.

There is a reason there are limited internships available – and only the best get into these. It's so we have the BEST working as registered dietitians. I have had some interns who had to shop around to finally find an internship program that would accept them. These individuals lacked knowledge and drive to be RDs. Not everyone has what it takes to be a RD. This is why we have a DTR option.

Please don't confuse people by moving forward with NDA. It isn't needed and it will result in less qualified individuals working in the field.

To whom it may concern:

I am a future graduate at University Idaho's CPD (2015). The creation of the NDA credential is very disheartening. One of the greatest sector of need for qualified nutrition professionals is in community nutrition. Allowing "prepared" but not "professional" people into the field to me seems like a desperate attempt to increase the community health professionals. My internships next year include a management rotation within the public school sector, and a clinical rotation in a non-profit hospital. An internship is best way to mold professional, ethical, and beneficial behaviors. This new credential I feel will not only take jobs away from highly qualified graduates, but may also subject our at-risk communities with sub-par nutritional services.

Below is a list of reasons which am passing on to you from Dr. Samantha Ramsay, Idaho Academy President, and respected dietetics professional, mentor, and professor. Please consider the issues on hand.

1. No evidence of the need for an additional credential (we have the DTR).

2. No evidence for improved support (and financial benefit) for the profession (in fact it could hurt the RDN credential).
3. Creates additional challenges for Academic programs – this WILL hurt Dietetics education.
4. NDA graduates WILL take jobs away from RDNs who will be required to get a Master's degree.
5. Your employers will be even more confused on the qualifications of an RDN.

Feel free to contact me through email.

With respect,

Michelle Tonna, University of Idaho Coordinated Program in Dietetics, Class of 2015

Hello AND Board of Directors,

I am a registered dietitian and I believe the NDA will not benefit the profession. Instead, it may be better for our profession to have more opportunities, higher paying jobs, and not have so many young dietitians leave the profession after 2-3 years in the field. I vote no for NDA.

I am opposed to the Nutrition and Dietetic Associate (NDA) designation, as I feel it is unnecessary and demeaning to the profession. It is my understanding that the majority of dietitians feel the same way.

Thank you for opposing it in your discussion on July 21, 2014.

Dear Board of Directors, I'm contacting you to inform you that I along with other RD's are very concerned with the idea of a NDA designation. I feel this is an unnecessary designation and will only confuse the public and employers. We have plenty of confusion today as is and we need to streamline rather add additional layers to ensure the ethical practice of our profession. I'm well aware that we have a problem regarding an inadequate number of supervised practice opportunities and we face competition from other groups, but NDA is not the answer to those problems. Please do not support NDA.

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing to provide you feedback on the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21st meeting. I understand that the Board has not asked for feedback on the proposed NDA designation, but as a loyal Academy member and dietitian, I feel our voices should be heard since you represent each and every one of the 70,000+ members. I appreciate your service and time you have dedicated to the Academy and the profession.

With that being said, I do not support the NDA designation and would like for the Academy to abandon this designation. I am disappointed in the lack of transparency and the fact that the Academy membership will not be allowed to vote on such a life changing decision for our profession. I do not feel the NDA designation is appropriate to give DPD graduates. It will give a title to someone who did not receive an internship position (for whatever reason) and just graduated from a program. Without some type of experiential supervised practice there is no guarantee the NDA would not function the same as an RD in the marketplace. I believe a third designation will definitely dilute and confuse the marketplace. It would be more appropriate to support the already existing DTR who does have a clearly defined scope of practice that does not infringe on the job of the RD. Creating the NDA designation does not solve the overarching problem of not enough Dietetic Internship positions or RD's willing to become preceptors and train our future RDs which is really the root of the problem.

Again thank you for your service to our profession and I look forward to hearing about the discussions at the July 21st Board meeting.

It will give a title to someone who did not receive an internship position (for whatever reason) and just graduated from a program. Without some type of experiential supervised practice there is no guarantee the NDA would not function the same as an RD in the marketplace. I believe a third designation will definitely dilute and confuse the marketplace. It would be more appropriate to support the already existing DTR who does have a clearly defined scope of practice that does not infringe on the job of the RD. Creating the NDA designation does not solve the overarching problem of not enough Dietetic Internship positions or RD's willing to become preceptors and train our future RDs which is really the root of the problem.

Again thank you for your service to our profession and I look forward to hearing about the discussions at the July 21st Board meeting.

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, I am writing to inform you of my disagreement with the new designation of NDA proposed by the BOD. I see no reason for this designation. As an employer of nutrition professionals, 7 RDNs and 1 DTR, I see no use for an employee with that designation. I do not understand what the BOD feels a person with this designation would have to offer our department and what position they would fill. I also believe this will add to the public confusion concerning who an appropriate person is to provide nutrition information and education. Thank you. Chris Goglia 680007

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing to provide you feedback on the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21st meeting. I understand that the Board has not asked for feedback on the proposed NDA designation but as a loyal Academy member and educator I feel our voices should be heard since you represent each and every one of the 70,000+ members. I appreciate your service and time you have dedicated to the Academy and the profession. As a new dietitian who has received her dream job as a sports dietitian, I feel obligated to do so and thank you for your time.

With that being said, I do not support the NDA designation and would like for the Academy to abandon this designation. I am disappointed in the lack of transparency and the fact that the Academy membership will not be allowed to vote on such a life changing decision for our profession. I do not feel the NDA designation is appropriate to give DPD graduates. It will give a title to someone who did not receive an internship position (for whatever reason) and just graduated from a program. Without some type of experiential supervised practice there is no guarantee the NDA would not function the same as an RD in the marketplace. I believe a third designation will definitely dilute and confuse the marketplace. It would be more appropriate to support the already existing DTR who does have a clearly defined scope of practice that does not infringe on the job of the RD. Creating the NDA designation does not solve the overarching problem of not enough Dietetic Internship positions or RD's willing to become preceptors and train our future RDs which is really the root of the problem.

I am a new dietitian who just passed the Registered Dietitian exam in May. From the perspective of someone who has a fresh view on the field and the hard work it takes to become a registered dietitian, I do not feel that this new associate position given freely to undergraduates is acceptable. By doing so, we are yet again decreasing the value of seeking us as the nutrition experts to our clients, patients or athletes.

Again thank you for your service to our profession and I look forward to hearing about the discussions at the July 21st Board meeting.

Sincerely,

Hi Donna, I just noted your comment regarding adding the new pre-test questions for the September 2014 class. Because have over 80 people registered for the program and have access to the pre-work materials, adding the questions at this time would be very difficult.

We are currently conducting a review of the Certificate of Training in Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management self-study module. We have given you access to the 2013 online childhood and adolescent weight management self-study module at www.cdrnet.org.

To login choose the "Login" option on the upper right-hand side of the page.

1. Sign-in using your e-mail address and the password - welcome
2. On the purple banner, hover over the "Portal" option on the right-hand side and choose the "Library" option from the drop-down menu.
3. Click on the "2013 Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management Online Module link located to the left.

A paper copy of the module is attached. The copies does not include the actual articles. Would you please review the articles included in the module and identify if there are any articles that should be added, subtracted, or replaced. Keep in mind that the intent of the self-study is to provide attendees with the foundation knowledge to allow richer discussions at the onsite workshop (in other words, they should be consistent with the self-study learning objectives identified within the module). The articles should not present the content that will be covered onsite. However, if you have suggested changes to the learning objectives, please do provide those too!

A paper copy of the current pre-test is also attached. Please review the test and identify items that should be deleted, edited or added. We have included the source and performance of each item. Those poor performing questions are indicated in red. We anticipate that the items will have a performance of 70%.

Please send your feedback to me by e-mail or fax (312/899-4772) by August 15, 2014. After we receive all the feedback, we will send you a summary of recommendations and, if warranted, schedule a faculty teleconference to finalize the changes. Note that changes in articles will also change the learning activities and pre-test so we will be following up later for your input on those as well. All changes will be implemented as of November 1, 2014.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact me. Have a great summer!

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing today to give you feedback on the NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21 meeting. I have been a loyal Academy member as a student and wish to continue my membership as a registered dietitian. I acknowledge that we all want what is best for the profession but as a recent dietetic internship graduate who will soon be entering the field as an RDN, I vote NO to the NDA designation, as do many of my fellow graduates. Not only is this designation confusing to employers but it creates confusion in the field in terms of scope of practice, similarly to RDNs versus nutritionists.

I believe that instead of creating designations for simply participating in a DPD program (college graduates in other majors do not receive credentials other than "B.S." or "B.A." after completing their 4-year degree), we should focus on increasing the reach and spaces available in programs for RDNs and DTRs that already exist - as these are practice-based credentials intended to protect the public from harm.

I strongly urge you to reconsider the NDA designation to continue protecting the public and our profession and to provide more transparency in the decision-making process. Thank you.

Respectfully,

Stacy (Doyoung) Kim

We are currently conducting a review of the Certificate of Training in Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management self-study module. We have given you access to the 2013 online childhood and adolescent weight management self-study module at www.cdrnet.org.

To login choose the "Login" option on the upper right-hand side of the page.

1. Sign-in using your e-mail address and the password - welcome
2. On the purple banner, hover over the "Portal" option on the right-hand side and choose the "Library" option from the drop-down menu.
3. Click on the "2013 Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management Online Module link located to the left.

A paper copy of the module is attached. The copies does not include the actual articles. Would you please review the articles included in the module and identify if there are any articles that should be added, subtracted, or replaced. Keep in mind that the intent of the self-study is to provide attendees with the foundation knowledge to allow richer discussions at the onsite workshop (in other words, they should be consistent with the self-study learning objectives identified within the module). The articles should not present the content that will be covered onsite. However, if you have suggested changes to the learning objectives, please do provide those too!

A paper copy of the current pre-test is also attached. Please review the test and identify items that should be deleted, edited or added. We have included the source and performance of each item. Those poor performing questions are indicated in red. We anticipate that the items will have a performance of 70%.

Please send your feedback to me by e-mail or fax (312/899-4772) by August 15, 2014. After we receive all the feedback, we will send you a summary of recommendations and, if warranted, schedule a faculty teleconference to finalize the changes. Note that changes in articles will also change the learning activities and pre-test so we will be following up later for your input on those as well. All changes will be implemented as of November 1, 2014.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact me. Have a great summer!

Hello,

As a long time RD, (over 40 years), and as an education (DI coordinator) I am very opposed to the NDA credential. I think it is confusing not only to the public but to those in the profession as well. CDR will not be issuing a test for them, and they cannot be held to the Code of Ethics if they do not stay members of the Academy.

There is already a credential in place for these graduates, and it is the DTR. We do not need a third tier with no practice audit to delineate the difference in practice levels.

Please do not go forward with the HDA "credential."

Hello AND Board of Directors,

As a fellow RD and 20+ year member of the Academy, I respectfully ask that you more carefully consider the input from NDEP before you finalize the NDA.

I strongly agree that we need a CREDENTIAL for our four-year DPD graduates, but the NDA is not the best choice of terminology. I teach in a School of Health Sciences within a College of Health and Human Sciences and the other professional health care educators (Nursing, PT...) have all laughed at the title Nutrition and Dietetics Associate because "everyone in education knows that an associate is a two year degree". If you really want to keep the NDA name, make it a CREDNENTIAL for the current two year degree programs and use the DTR title for the four year DPD CREDENTIAL. Better yet, find a title other than "associate", which sounds a bit too much like workers employed in retail stores.

I totally support the concept of a qualifying exam and a TRUE credential for our DPD graduates. However, as currently proposed I cannot support the NDA and will continue to encourage DPD graduates to take the DTR exam if they do not pursue a dietetic internship. Please, please, please, change the title and make it a TRUE credential with an exam that would be administered by CDR and a requirement for continuing education that would also be tracked by CDR. Anything less is just that... LESS and NOT truly representative of the professional level of preparation achieved by DPD graduates.

Thank you for considering this request.

Dear Academy Board of Directors,

I vote NO for the NDA.

As a recent graduate from a dietetic internship, I do not believe it is fair that those who simply completed their undergraduate DPD Program to receive credentials. My undergraduate program was very rigorous and I worked very hard to achieve good grades throughout my collegiate career and to make myself competitive for a dietetic internship match. Of my classmates who did not get matched to an internship, many of them had failed required classes and did not have the work ethic required to become a dietetic intern, much less a registered dietitian. Therefore, I do not believe they should receive credentials for (barely) graduating from their DPD Program.

Sincerely,

Christina Kalafsky, Dietetic Intern

Greetings,

As a new RD and recent student who applied three consecutive years before finding placement in an internship I am enraged with the NDA. I believe this is stemming from the current generation who thinks everyone deserves a trophy. For those of us who truly want to be in this field we will stop at nothing until we reach our goals regardless of the lack of internships, preceptors, etc. However the NDA is going to confuse the work place as well as the community and dilute the RD, DTR credential. Please review the attached letter written by Patti Landers, PhD, RDN, LD, FAND for a list of arguments against the NDA.

Thank you,
Kasandra Davis, RD, LD

CDR has made a posting on the NDEP website with a correction for some information I included in my letter. I appreciate this and have changed my text (highlighted). I admit my understanding is not always 100% accurate and I am glad to revise where I have erred. I hope you are hearing from many Academy members with their thoughts about the NDA.

Again, thanks for listening.

Subject: Say NO to NDA

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I have written the attached letter to give you feedback about the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21 meeting. While I do not agree with the way this matter has been handled, please know I am a loyal Academy member and acknowledge that we all want what is best for the profession. I do appreciate your service and strongly encourage you to abandon the Nutrition and Dietetic Associate designation all together. As I told many of you in person at the NDEP spring area meetings, I believe the NDA is a bad idea. The straw votes at NDEP area meetings and the formal survey of all NDEP members in May make it obvious that the vast majority of educators and preceptors oppose the NDA and will advise students against it. While we are not a large group in the Academy, educators are very influential with students and practitioners who serve as preceptors. We will continue to advise graduates who do not get internships to take and pass the DTR exam and earn a credential that means something. The NDA is at best a participation ribbon and we do not need that in our profession.

Respectfully,

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I am writing to state my opposition to the proposed NDA designation that the HOD will be considering at the July 21, 2014 meeting.

The NDA designation erodes the professional credentials of the RD/RDN and the DTR thereby undermining the members of the Academy. It will confuse healthcare administrators who hire RDs/RDNs and DTRs; and it will not serve to promote and maintain the health and welfare of the public as we are charged to do as professionals.

The Academy's responsibility is to promote and support the RD/RDN; and to widely promote and support the professional level of the DTR. The DTR has for too long been viewed as a stepchild of the Academy and RDs/RDNs have been slow to embrace this professional level.

DPD directors need to better promote and support the alternate credential of DTR to their graduates who do not get admitted to a dietetic internship.

I respectfully request that this certification be dropped and at the very least a moratorium be placed on its consideration.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Dear AND Board of Directors

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics for over 30 years and I am dismayed and disappointed in the action of the Board of the creation of the Nutrition and Dietetic Associate. Why the association would even consider developing this designation seems like a major step back for our profession. Why would you go from two designations that require accreditation, supervised practice and passing a national credentialing exam to one that is like receiving a ribbon. If the Board continues on this path we will be losing respect of the public, our members and the health professions we work with. If the Board is truly initiating a national strategy to ensure all Americans have access to qualified and competent practitioners then this NDA designation is not a step in the right direction. As an educator who has directed two accredited programs (didactic and internship) and is now a Department Chair for a department with a Coordinated Program, I sincerely believe that the NDA will not protect the public, nor will it establish standards for safe and effective nutrition care.

My other concern is employers. Will employers hire NDAs rather than RD/RDNs or DTRs? The public is plenty confused already about what we do. The BOD has not shown any data from an employer survey. Why add one more layer to the mix? Certification as an RD/RDN or DTR is a means to protect the public. Why add a person who is not certified and has no supervised practice.

I feel that members will all be asking these questions. Can the Academy afford a drop in membership? I have been a long and proud member of the Academy and the profession. I would hate to see this issue proceed without some serious discussion on the ramification of our profession as a whole. I hope the Board will really consider what is best for our members and the NDA is not it. Thank you for your time in reading my concerns. I want to make it clear that I am writing this email as a member of the academy of not as a Department Chair or North Dakota Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Board Member.

Dear Academy Board of Directors and Staff,

As a clinical practitioner and educator, I have much respect for the Academy and those who serve to ensure the integrity of our profession. I have been following the NDA designation issue with great interest since my exposure to the proposed designation at the NDEP sectional meeting in Chicago in March. Since that time, I have reserved any outspoken opinion on the subject while I have been researching documentation from AND as well as NDEP as to how and why the NDA concept was initiated. I kept waiting to hear a profound reasoning for the NDA, but to date I have not. The main thrust of the designation seems to be geared towards the thousands of graduates who cannot find an internship for whatever reason and giving them “something” for their college work. This is where I, and many of my colleagues, find possible misaligned reasoning. These students do have a Bachelor’s degree. Does the NDA give them anything that their degree does not provide? Are they not able to give general nutrition education to a healthy population? Why would we, as an association, consider adding a designation that would give the graduating students nothing but letters behind their name and give the public a confusing message as to who the nutrition expert is? Do we not have enough of a battle trying to differentiate the “registered dietitian” and the “nutritionist” with the public already? These 4-year graduates are eligible to sit for the DTR exam and obtain a credential that is bolstered with continuing CPEU’s and monitoring from CDR. In talking with other program directors, this is the pathway that is currently being offered to graduates who cannot find an internship or who do not qualify for an internship for various reasons. I have heard comments that these students think the DTR credential is “beneath” them and that they have a 4-year degree, yet they would be agreeable to take a designation that has “associate” in the title? I am more concerned that this type of mentality combined with a NDA designation will have graduates providing nutritional counseling outside of their scope of practice without monitoring.

I welcome any clarification of information that I may have overlooked or misconstrued in my review of the proposed NDA designation. At this time, I respectfully request that the NDA is not considered.

Subject: Say NO to NDA

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I have written the attached letter to give you feedback about the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21 meeting. While I do not agree with the way this matter has been handled, please know I am a loyal Academy member and acknowledge that we all want what is best for the profession. I do appreciate your service and strongly encourage you to abandon the Nutrition and Dietetic Associate designation all together. As I told many of you in person at the NDEP spring area meetings, I believe the NDA is a bad idea. The straw votes at NDEP area meetings and the formal survey of all NDEP members in May make it obvious that the vast majority of educators and preceptors oppose the NDA and will advise students against it. While we are not a large group in the Academy, educators are very influential with students and practitioners who serve as preceptors. We will continue to advise graduates who do not get internships to take and pass the DTR exam and earn a credential that means something. The NDA is at best a participation ribbon and we do not need that in our profession.

Subject: Say "NO" to NDA

It is vitally important that you listen to the Academy membership, especially those of us in education and members of NDEP regarding "NO" to the NDA. It just doesn't make sense!

To add insult to injury, Glenna even had the gall to come out to the NDEP Area 1 Meeting (CA), and LIE to our faces. A sad day in the history of our organization!

I strongly agree with the quote below from Patti Landers, PhD, RD, LD, FAND:

The NDA is not needed, does not protect the public and is not based on valid data collection.

- CDR found insufficient evidence to proceed with an additional certification (e.g. the NDA). The Commission on Dietetic Registration did a practice audit of the didactic program in dietetics (DPD) graduates who have taken the DTR exam and found there was no difference in what associate degreed DTRs and baccalaureate degreed DTRs do. An article presenting results the audit will appear in the October 14 issue of Journal of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics.
- Current graduates of didactic programs who do not get dietetic internships can take the DTR exam without supervised practice (Pathway III). The DTR is a recognized credential that requires passing an exam assuring individuals will deliver safe and effective care within their scope of practice. This is vital in order to protect the public. Educators will continue to encourage students who do not get internships to take the DTR exam. Most educators will not recommend the NDA.
- No exam for the NDA: As a bit of background, the NDEP leaders had been working with the Academy CEO on a timeline for educators to develop a content exam for the NDA. However, when the NDEP members were so opposed to the NDA designation, NDEP decided not to participate. There is nobody else to write an exit exam covering DPD content since CDR has already said they cannot do it (they must base their exams on practice audits, and at this time there is no difference in 2-year with supervised practice and Pathway III 4-year DPD graduates with no supervised practice who take and pass the DTR exam). At the request of Academy staff, NDEP added questions to its May survey about whether an exam should be required for the NDA designation. A majority of respondents said an exam is needed. However, now the BOD seems to think that if a student earns a DPD verification statement they know enough to practice safely as an NDA.

- The NDA is a participation ribbon. The Academy has told us they surveyed 17,000 students who liked the idea of a certificate for those who do not take the DTR or do an internship. Although I and other educators have repeatedly asked how many of the 17,000 surveyed actually responded, neither newly named Vice President, Professional Development and Assessment Diane Moore-Enos nor anyone on the BOD has given an answer. There is no obligation to provide the NDA to graduates who do not get internships. In May, educators received the following information from ACEND. From the past Dietetic Internship Spring match rates (2011-2013), approximately 35%-39% of the candidates were NEVER ranked by any internship. From 2013 data, there were 4,851 applicants for 2,745 total dietetic internship slots. If you remove the 39% not ranked by any program, the total QUALIFIED applicant pool was 2959. This leaves a difference of 214 applicants. The shortage of internship slots is not as serious a problem as the Academy wishes to portray. As someone who has reviewed applications for years, I can tell you that unfortunately many of the students who earn a verification statement and apply to internships have poor grades and really are not qualified. They will not listen to their teachers and some apply over and over again. This makes the situation look worse than it really is. Completing the DPD curriculum and receiving a verification statement does not mean they are safe to practice – even if other groups competing with RD/RDNs and DTRs are already out there handing out nutrition advice and are ready to offer those DPD graduates some sort of letters after their names. These graduates are eligible through Pathway III to sit for the DTR exam. They should study for and pass it so they can earn a real credential that means something – not a participation ribbon.

- Continuing Professional Education: 84% of NDEP survey respondents said that CPE should be required. CDR should not administer CPE for anyone except RD/RDNs and DTRs. So, who will do this? Should we add even more staff at the Academy level to administer continuing education for NDAs?

- Employers: Will employers hire NDAs rather than RD/RDNs or DTRs? The public is plenty confused already about what we do. The BOD has not shown us any data from an employer survey. Why add one more layer to the mix? Certification as an RD/RDN or DTR is a means to protect the public.

- Code of Ethics: We were also told that NDAs would have to follow the Academy's Code of Ethics. If these individuals quit paying Academy dues after they get the NDA designation and they are not credentialed by CDR, who is going to make them follow the Code? The NDA just does not make sense!

- Stay with our current two-level credentialing system. Recently in Oklahoma, HB1020 passed in the House and Senate. Effective November 1, 2014, physical therapists will be able to evaluate and treat patients for up to 30 days without a physician's referral. This is a HUGE step in their profession. They have two levels: physical therapists (PT) and physical therapy assistants (PTAs) and they stay on message. We should follow the physical therapy model and have two credentials: RD/RDN and DTR. No NDA is needed.

While the NDA is not licensure, I think we all agree that it is crucial that the public be protected and that standards for safe and effective nutrition care be established. This is why we have ACEND to set standards and CDR to provide exams and continuing education. Let them do their jobs! In my opinion, the BOD has no business coming up with a new “designation” such as the NDA. Because of the extremely negative feedback about the NDA from educators and preceptors, we were told at NDEP spring meetings that they are now considering requiring continuing education for NDAs. Who will administer the CPE credit if not CDR?

They have two levels: physical therapists (PT) and physical therapy assistants (PTAs) and they stay on message. We should follow the physical therapy model and have two credentials: RD/RDN and DTR. No NDA is needed.

While the NDA is not licensure, I think we all agree that it is crucial that the public be protected and that standards for safe and effective nutrition care be established. This is why we have ACEND to set standards and CDR to provide exams and continuing education. Let them do their jobs! In my opinion, the BOD has no business coming up with a new "designation" such as the NDA. Because of the extremely negative feedback about the NDA from educators and preceptors, we were told at NDEP spring meetings that they are now considering requiring continuing education for NDAs. Who will administer the CPE credit if not CDR?

Hi Nancy,

I would be happy to give you a little more information about myself. As of this month, I have been a Registered Dietitian for 2 years. I have been lucky enough to have spent that entire time doing my true passion, sports nutrition at EXOS (formerly Athletes' Performance). We are the leading sports performance company in the world and provide an integrated system of performance nutrition, performance training, physical therapy and mindset coaching.

I spend my time as a performance dietitian at our Phoenix, AZ facility and intern preceptor. As of about 1 year ago I was promoted to also manage and direct nutrition programming and systems at 8 of our other facilities across the country. I lead a team of 11 sports dietitians and personally precept over 25 interns/year from all levels of education (undergraduate students, masters students, dietetic interns, and registered dietitians). As part of my role, I took it upon myself to develop a performance nutrition internship to teach upcoming dietitians of the world of sports nutrition. We have had huge success and have over 100 applicants/year.

I truly think that the RD credential is crucial to the success and longevity of our profession. Thank you all for your time!

Best in health,

Erika Wincheski

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I have written the attached letter to give you feedback about the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21 meeting. While I do not agree with the way this matter has been handled, please know I am a loyal Academy member and acknowledge that we all want what is best for the profession. I do appreciate your service and strongly encourage you to abandon the Nutrition and Dietetic Associate designation all together. As I told many of you in person at the NDEP spring area meetings, I believe the NDA is a bad idea. The straw votes at NDEP area meetings and the formal survey of all NDEP members in May make it obvious that the vast majority of educators and preceptors oppose the NDA and will advise students against it. While we are not a large group in the Academy, educators are very influential with students and practitioners who serve as preceptors. We will continue to advise graduates who do not get internships to take and pass the DTR exam and earn a credential that means something. The NDA is at best a participation ribbon and we do not need that in our profession.

You all received the attached communication from Patti Landers. She has been thanked for her feedback and told that it has been forwarded to the NDA ad hoc task force. The next meeting of the task force is scheduled for tomorrow. We have checked, and the communication did not go to all Academy members, as stated.

Dear Academy BOD and staff members,

I have written the attached letter to give you feedback about the proposed NDA designation you will be considering at the July 21 meeting. While I do not agree with the way this matter has been handled, please know I am a loyal Academy member and acknowledge that we all want what is best for the profession. I do appreciate your service and strongly encourage you to abandon the Nutrition and Dietetic Associate designation all together. As I told many of you in person at the NDEP spring area meetings, I believe the NDA is a bad idea. The straw votes at NDEP area meetings and the formal survey of all NDEP members in May make it obvious that the vast majority of educators and preceptors oppose the NDA and will advise students against it. While we are not a large group in the Academy, educators are very influential with students and practitioners who serve as preceptors. We will continue to advise graduates who do not get internships to take and pass the DTR exam and earn a credential that means something. The NDA is at best a participation ribbon and we do not need that in our profession.

Academy Committee Evaluation NC 2014 .doc

You are correct, Ellen, the 2007 Nominating Committee Governance and Structure Workgroup looked at the structure most recently and changed composition from 15 to 10 committee members. The 2007 workgroup was comprised of four past chairs of the Nominating Committee. Previously the Nominating Committee structure, qualifications, processes, etc. were based on the 2000 Governance White Paper. The paper included recommendations about structure and composition which were in place through 2007.

In January 2014 the Nominating Committee chair and chair-elect completed the Academy Committee Evaluation (results attached). Considering decreasing voting statistics and feedback from members regarding the slate (i.e., favoritism, demographics, qualifications/skills sets) the decision was made to establish a Board workgroup to review the structure, roles and qualifications of the Nominating Committee. As a Board workgroup you sent your recommendations appropriately to the Board. In March the Board accepted the recommendations of your workgroup. The minutes show the new structure and transition plan were to be presented to the Nominating Committee "for feedback."

The Nominating Committee decided not to include the workgroup report on their April 11 debriefing call but convened a separate call on June 9 to discuss it. The outcome of the call was the formation of a subcommittee to review the report. Last week the Nominating Committee revised the subcommittee's recommendations, which you now have as the alternate proposal. To more succinctly answer the process/communication concerns in the emails below, the process included the opportunity for feedback, per Board instruction. You now have the feedback (alternate proposal) and are asked to provide your recommendations back to the Board in time for the retreat. Julie Grim, the chair of the Nominating Committee, is attending the retreat, as has been our annual practice so that the chair is aware of the strategic direction and opportunities and challenges facing the organization and profession. Unfortunately the information has not been shared by the chairs in the slate selection process. I will make sure Julie and her successors understand the intent of participating in the retreat and then communicating the information to the Nominating Committee during the selections process.

Subject: RE: Nominating Committee Alternate Proposal

Might I add a bit of history in terms of committee evaluations. When I was on the Board the Nominating Committee did have an extensive review. I believe (Pat, please correct me if I am wrong) but a group (thinking they were NC members but not sure) looked at the structure. At that time they really reduced the number of people on the NC- I believe from 13 to 9. I do not believe we have ever looked at changing the structure.

I do think our group came up with a very good report and new concept for structure of the NC; definitely out of the box thinking. After reviewing the NC rebuttal I felt our proposal was even better as I reviewed their references and saw the support in the articles cited indicating having more BOD members being on a NC as they are the ones who understand the needs of the organization.

I do not have an issue with the NC Chair explaining their view. Many of our group will be at the Board meeting and can address our thoughts. Do think a call might be helpful for this. I think it is important that the Board is willing to hear the NC thoughts as they are elected by our members.

I personally am most bothered by the NC rebuttal with the emphasis on dissent. I would hope the emphasis is on the strategic plan and the best leadership for the Academy and not any personal agendas.

Glenna,

Does the NC feel that they should have been interviewed or otherwise asked for feedback before the Task Force did its work?

Definitely seems reasonable if this is the typical process used for committee evaluations.

If not it should be (viewed through the retrospectascope)--most evaluations include a self-assessment component.

Lots of lessons learned in this process.

Excellent point Mary! I also agree with previous comments. If they (NC) had previously realized there was a problem with the NC, then we wouldn't have had to do this extensive evaluation of what they were doing. No one is going to complain that they do not like the outcomes of the NC to the people who did the nominating. We all just complain to each other and not to the NC. You would especially not complain if you were wanting to run for office and some of the NC members would still be on the NC when you wanted to be put on the ballot.

If everyone wants to have a call, can we do it this week? Joan, does that work for you? Would a summary of all the comments made on the original version be a good starting point for our discussions?

On a technical note (Pat or Joan, correct me if I'm wrong) of what can happen with this report from a parliamentary procedure perspective, here is what I believe based on my previous study and use of Roberts Rules of Order. In order for the Board to accept the NC's revised recommendations, a Board member would need to make a motion to rescind the previous motion to accept the recommendations of our workgroup. Then someone would need to move to accept the recommendations in the NC's report. Or a Board member could move to "amend something previously adopted" (the motion to move forward with the recs in our report). The amendment would be to substitute the NC's recs for ours.

Having said that and knowing a majority of the previous Board members who supported our recs are still on the Board, I have a fairly good feeling that they are not going to do the above. I assume we need to be prepared with our perspective on their report.

Develop and implement a formal, objective and transparent evaluation process for the Nominating Committee. This would include an objective assessment of the Nominating Committee outcomes as well as an assessment of the effectiveness of elected leaders over the past several years as a measure of Nominating Committee effectiveness. The evaluation process would include an assessment of skills, qualifications, roles, responsibilities and background of Nominating Committee members.

Institute a transparent, formal feedback loop whereby the Nominating Committee can receive and review all complaints, comments, and questions from members and establish procedures to address issues and concerns as part of the continual improvement process.

Consider a third-party consultant (i.e. Mark Thorsby of Smith Bucklin) to evaluate the nominations process including Nominating Committee qualifications and composition.

Committees are evaluated by the BOD and this practice is not new. We simply should not engage in an outside consultant for a BOD function at a time when our priorities are so great and the funding to do all that we want and need to do never quite enough.

Subject: Academy Committee Restructure Proposal

The Board of Directors requested Academy staff to develop a proposal for committee restructure for their consideration. This request was made in March 2014 and a draft proposal was shared with the Board in May 2014, which was accepted for further development. The intent of this proposal is to enhance to the members experience, increase the number of members who can participate in Academy projects, enhance communications and collaboration between committees and create a more clear understanding of the Academy, its committees and resources.

This proposal has been further developed through collaboration with the Academy's committee staff partners during June 2014. The input of the staff partners has resulted in a more defined proposal. However, we need the input of all the Academy's committees. Please include this proposal on future committee conference call or meeting agendas for discussion. We want your committee's consolidated feedback for use in further refining this proposal. Please return your committee's feedback by August 30, 2014.

Based on the input provided, we will further revise the proposal for submission to the Board of Directors at its October 22, 2014 meeting. The proposal will be accompanied by an implementation plan. Further communications following the October 2014 BOD meeting will be provided to update you on next steps.

We look forward to your committee's input. Thank you in advance for the time and energy to review this proposal. If there are any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me (hholler@eatright.org).

We are currently conducting a review of the Certificate of Training in Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management self-study module. We have given you access to the 2013 online childhood and adolescent weight management self-study module at www.cdrnet.org.

To login choose the "Login" option on the upper right-hand side of the page.

1. Sign-in using your e-mail address and the password - welcome
2. On the purple banner, hover over the "Portal" option on the right-hand side and choose the "Library" option from the drop-down menu.

3. Click on the “2013 Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management Online Module link located to the left.

A paper copy of the module is attached. The copies does not include the actual articles. Would you please review the articles included in the module and identify if there are any articles that should be added, subtracted, or replaced. Keep in mind that the intent of the self-study is to provide attendees with the foundation knowledge to allow richer discussions at the onsite workshop (in other words, they should be consistent with the self-study learning objectives identified within the module). The articles should not present the content that will be covered onsite. However, if you have suggested changes to the learning objectives, please do provide those too!

A paper copy of the current pre-test is also attached. Please review the test and identify items that should be deleted, edited or added. We have included the source and performance of each item. Those poor performing questions are indicated in red. We anticipate that the items will have a performance of 70%.

Please send your feedback to me by e-mail or fax (312/899-4772) by August 15, 2014. After we receive all the feedback, we will send you a summary of recommendations and, if warranted, schedule a faculty teleconference to finalize the changes. Note that changes in articles will also change the learning activities and pre-test so we will be following up later for your input on those as well. All changes will be implemented as of November 1, 2014.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact me. Have a great summer!

Subject: Letter regarding NDA designation
Attachment: Letter to Academy Board of Directors.docx

July 9, 2014

Dear BOD member,

I was notified that you are having your next meeting on July 21, 2014 to discuss the NDA. As a Registered Dietitian, 36 year Academy member, and instructor, I am writing this letter to let you know that I do not support the proposed Nutrition and Dietetic Associate (NDA) presented at the 2013 FNCE meeting by Glenna McCollum. I am asking that you consider repeal of the NDA.

My basis for this request is outlined below:

1) CDR did not find the evidence needed to justify implementing the NDA. Per the Academy website and members of the practice audit committee, the results from the practice audit did not show a clear difference between the job responsibilities of an individual with the DTR credential or someone with a BS degree in nutrition. If there is no evidence that shows there is a difference, then how can we promote this designation as practicing at "higher level" than the DTR credential?

2) The NDA is not set up to offer protection or safety to the public. One of the arguments presented by the Academy is that the NDA will provide a level of nutrition expertise that offers protection to the public compared to other certificate options. How can it offer protection when it does NOT: 1) have standards set for the educational requirements for the types of jobs the NDA will do? 2) offer a supervised practice component, 3) required a national board examination, and 4) does not require continuing education requirements? CDR clearly stated they would not administer the exam or offer support for continuing education. ACEND has clearly stated they do NOT support the NDA because they have not collected enough evidence to create the standards for the NDA.

3) The rationale presented by the Academy on the website focuses on the benefit to the undergraduates who were unable to get into an internship. Most these students are not accepted into internships because they were not ranked. If they are not ranked to enter an internship, I question their ability to offer nutrition information to the public that is based on evidenced based practice. The survey data presented on the Academy website lacks important details. What was the response rate? You quote 81% responded they wanted the NDA credential but if the response rate was 2% out of 19k, that data is not valid. How were the questions phrased? Did they introduce bias? There is no evidence of survey data provided by employers that they would even recognize or acknowledge the NDA if it were to move forward. There is no evidence that shows that the NDA would give an individual an advantage over another certificate or designation in obtaining employment. It has been my experience that most employers don't even consider the DTR to be necessary, why would they consider the NDA?

4) The NDEP members overwhelmingly voted the NDA down, yet the Academy Leaders have ignored this piece of data. The very day that 72% of the 553 NDEP members voted that they did NOT support the NDA, the Academy sent out a letter to undergraduates in the DPD programs inviting them to get the NDA. This, in my mind is not an example of leadership who strives to serves its members. I am well aware of the NDA Task Force that has since been appointed by the Academy leaders to look deeper into the NDA. My concern with the individuals who have been appointed is they all were members of the original BOD that initiated the NDA and that there is an imbalance toward supporting the NDA rather than having equal representation for members, who support, don't support the NDA, and that might be on the fence.

I appreciate that the Academy is trying to address the excess number of undergraduates graduating from DPD programs that are not accepted into internships. As you are working to resolve this issue, I encourage the Academy to consider these solutions:

1) Do more to promote the DTR credentialed individuals so employers want them. If needed, update the name of the DTR so it includes the word "nutrition" as you have done with every other name associated with our organization. I am well aware that you are concerned about the consequences of the USDE – the fact of the matter is that the USDE only cares about financial aid. The government agencies you should be scared of are those associated with anti-trust violations. This is more likely with the implementation of the NDA since there are no standards; there is no supervised practice, no national examination and the fact that state licensure boards will not recognize the NDA for licensure.

2) Continue your efforts to increase the number of DI programs and do more to support the preceptors. Offer more than 8 CEUs for the time and energy preceptors put into guiding our future RDs. Think of other incentive programs that will motivate individuals to serve.

3) Continue with your efforts to promote the RD/RDN as the nutrition expert and to support state licensure so RD/RDNs can be reimbursed for their services. Michigan just had its licensure law repealed – why did the Academy allow this to happen? What does this mean for other states? We are also under siege from many other health professionals carving up our specialty, this is not the time to further confuse the public.

In summary, I don't support the NDA and ask that you move the idea off the table. If the USDE is that much of a threat, then wait until ACEND has enough data and evidence to create a separate set of standards before moving forward with the NDA. I firmly believe that if you move this forward with the current evidence you have, you are setting the organization, future "NDA" holders, and the RD credential up for failure.

Thank you for taking time to read my concerns.

Sincerely,

Lynn Parker Klees,MA,RDN,LDN,CDE

Might I add a bit of history in terms of committee evaluations. When I was on the Board the Nominating Committee did have an extensive review. I believe (Pat, please correct me if I am wrong) but a group (thinking they were NC members but not sure) looked at the structure. At that time they really reduced the number of people on the NC- I believe from 13 to 9. I do not believe we have ever looked at changing the structure.

I do think our group came up with a very good report and new concept for structure of the NC; definitely out of the box thinking. After reviewing the NC rebuttal I felt our proposal was even better as I reviewed their references and saw the support in the articles cited indicating having more BOD members being on a NC as they are the ones who understand the needs of the organization.

I do not have an issue with the NC Chair explaining their view. Many of our group will be at the Board meeting and can address our thoughts. Do think a call might be helpful for this. I think it is important that the Board is willing to hear the NC thoughts as they are elected by our members.

I personally am most bothered by the NC rebuttal with the emphasis on dissent. I would hope the emphasis is on the strategic plan and the best leadership for the Academy and not any personal agendas.

Glenna,

Does the NC feel that they should have been interviewed or otherwise asked for feedback before the Task Force did its work?

Definitely seems reasonable if this is the typical process used for committee evaluations.

If not it should be (viewed through the retrospectascope)--most evaluations include a self-assessment component.

Lots of lessons learned in this process.

Excellent point Mary! I also agree with previous comments. If they (NC) had previously realized there was a problem with the NC, then we wouldn't have had to do this extensive evaluation of what they were doing. No one is going to complain that they do not like the outcomes of the NC to the people who did the nominating. We all just complain to each other and not to the NC. You would especially not complain if you were wanting to run for office and some of the NC members would still be on the NC when you wanted to be put on the ballot.

One thought has been troubling me--is it "appropriate" for a committee to provide a rebuttal to a scheduled evaluation commissioned by the BoD?

If everyone wants to have a call, can we do it this week? Joan, does that work for you? Would a summary of all the comments made on the original version be a good starting point for our discussions?

On a technical note (Pat or Joan, correct me if I'm wrong) of what can happen with this report from a parliamentary procedure perspective, here is what I believe based on my previous study and use of Roberts Rules of Order. In order for the Board to accept the NC's revised recommendations, a Board member would need to make a motion to rescind the previous motion to accept the recommendations of our workgroup. Then someone would need to move to accept the recommendations in the NC's report. Or a Board member could move to "amend something previously adopted" (the motion to move forward with the recs in our report). The amendment would be to substitute the NC's recs for ours.

Having said that and knowing a majority of the previous Board members who supported our recs are still on the Board, I have a fairly good feeling that they are not going to do the above. I assume we need to be prepared with our perspective on their report.

I have concerns about the following because they seem to subjugate the role of the Board. The NC is not an island, as this direction seems to be leading.

Develop and implement a formal, objective and transparent evaluation process for the Nominating Committee. This would include an objective assessment of the Nominating Committee outcomes as well as an assessment of the effectiveness of elected leaders over the past several years as a measure of Nominating Committee effectiveness. The evaluation process would include an assessment of skills, qualifications, roles, responsibilities and background of Nominating Committee members.

Institute a transparent, formal feedback loop whereby the Nominating Committee can receive and review all complaints, comments, and questions from members and establish procedures to address issues and concerns as part of the continual improvement process.

Consider a third-party consultant (i.e. Mark Thorsby of Smith Bucklin) to evaluate the nominations process including Nominating Committee qualifications and composition.

Committees are evaluated by the BOD and this practice is not new. We simply should not engage in an outside consultant for a BOD function at a time when our priorities are so great and the funding to do all that we want and need to do never quite enough.
