Food is Medicine Coalition Survey, Due August 14

Academy members, we encourage you to take part in the Food is Medicine Coalition survey. The survey responses will enable FIMC to:

- Quantify the depth, breadth, impact, and geographic reach of our collective programs
- Highlight funding gaps nationally, especially through Ryan White
- Understand who we are serving

You should fill out this survey if:

1. Your food and nutrition services program focuses services specifically on people living with severe or life-altering illnesses such as HIV/AIDS, cancer, kidney disease, Alzheimer's, etc.; and
2. Your food and nutrition services program in some way tailors its services to the nutritional needs of people living with severe or life-altering illnesses.

Responses are due by August 14, in order to allow the Research Committee to complete analysis in advance of the 2018 FIMC National Symposium - September 24-26.

Complete the survey today.

Pat, I got this invitation from Angie Tagtow and wanted to send it to you so we could discuss it please? I know you said you needed to call me this week so hopefully, we can make time to talk about it. It is hard to tell from the invitation if I would have to pay the $625 to attend. When I went to the link it looked like they were requesting payment, so I did not go any further. We can see if you think I should go or if there is someone else who you would want to send or if it is worth the money? I am available most anytime this week to talk. Thanks!

Subject: Invitation: KFLA 2018 Global Summit on Food Security & Thriving Communities, Atlanta, Nov 30 - Dec 2, 2018

Dear Donna:

Happy Summer! Hope this invitation finds you well.

On behalf of the Kellogg Fellows Leadership Alliance (KFLA) it is my honor and privilege to invite you to KFLA's Global Summit on Food Security & Thriving Communities, held November 29 – December 2, 2018 in Atlanta, Georgia at the Grand Hyatt Atlanta. The Global Summit is partially sponsored by a grant through the WK Kellogg Foundation.

We hope you will join a unique, interdisciplinary gathering of over 200 Kellogg Foundation Leadership Fellows, community leaders, interdisciplinary changemakers, funders, and experts – such as yourself - drawn from communities and organizations around the world—including delegations from Latin America and Southern Africa. We also anticipate delegations representing Hawaii, Native American communities, and other specific geographic regions of the U.S.

At this Summit, we see food as the gateway to address the complex, cross-sector challenges that communities face today. We believe that at the core of these challenges are our fundamental, shared commitments to equity and social justice—regardless if we approach equity using a social justice, health, economic, and/or environmental perspective.

Though each of us may take a unique approach to community building—this Summit is intentionally designed using the intersection of our common values while creating a space for cross-pollination and bold collective action. Using food as the lens, Summit participants will engage in courageous exploration and co-discovery of how oppression and discrimination produce social inequality and limit self-determination. Provocative speakers and facilitators will empower participants to examine failed, promising, and successful strategies to address inequity, enabling all to formulate and implement more effective, community-based action strategies on a global scale.

As a thought leader and expert in this arena, I know you appreciate the urgency of this gathering and hope you accept this invitation to be at the table in Atlanta. And, not only is this event in your backyard, you have a wealth of knowledge of healthy food access in schools which is a very valuable perspective for this gathering. I believe it would be of great mutual benefit as your participation will be a crucial addition to the equity and social justice conversation – not only in the US, but globally.

Throughout the Global Summit, you will engage with our distinguished speaking faculty including: Ricardo Salvador, Director and Senior Scientist at the Union of Concerned

Scientists; Food Tank President Danielle Nierenberg; Aimee Witteman of the McKnight Foundation; Michelle Nunn, CEO of CARE USA; and Ashoka's Global Chair for Framework Change, Henry DeSio among many others. (See attachment, additional announcements forthcoming)

The Global Summit also will offer a unique forum through which you and your organization may connect and collaborate with Summit participants. Organizations are invited to share the breadth of their work during the Changemakers Showcase on Friday evening, November 30th. There is no cost to participate in this Showcase, and more information and registration can be found at kfla.org/changemakers.

Additionally, I'm delighted to invite you to join the Global Summit Opening Reception on the evening of November 29th at The Carter Center, during which KFLA will present the inaugural Russell G. Mawby People Helping People Award, recognizing those who support and promote long-term community change and improvement in the human condition. This inspirational evening will also feature a special address from King Letsie III of Lesotho, the United Nations Food & Agriculture Organization's Special Ambassador for Nutrition.

I hope you are able to join us in Atlanta and, if appropriate, please feel free to forward this invitation to others within your organization who may be interested. To register, simply access the self-service registration form for invited guests at: kfla.org/guest. Early registration ends September 14, 2018.

I have attached speaker and agenda highlights. For further information, you can reach me or the Global Summit team at summit@kfla.org or 303-839-5352. You can find the latest on the Global Summit at kfla.org/summit.

Pat, I got this invitation from Angie Tagtow and wanted to send it to you so we could discuss it please? I know you said you needed to call me this week so hopefully, we can make time to talk about it. It is hard to tell from the invitation if I would have to pay the $625 to attend. When I went to the link it looked like they were requesting payment, so I did not go any further. We can see if you think I should go or if there is someone else who you would want to send or if it is worth the money? I am available most anytime this week to talk. Thanks!

Subject: Invitation: KFLA 2018 Global Summit on Food Security & Thriving Communities, Atlanta, Nov 30 - Dec 2, 2018

Dear Donna:

Happy Summer! Hope this invitation finds you well.

On behalf of the Kellogg Fellows Leadership Alliance (KFLA) it is my honor and privilege to invite you to KFLA's Global Summit on Food Security & Thriving Communities, held November 29 – December 2, 2018 in Atlanta, Georgia at the Grand Hyatt Atlanta. The Global Summit is partially sponsored by a grant through the WK Kellogg Foundation.

We hope you will join a unique, interdisciplinary gathering of over 200 Kellogg Foundation Leadership Fellows, community leaders, interdisciplinary changemakers, funders, and experts – such as yourself - drawn from communities and organizations around the world—including delegations from Latin America and Southern Africa. We also anticipate delegations representing Hawaii, Native American communities, and other specific geographic regions of the U.S.

At this Summit, we see food as the gateway to address the complex, cross-sector challenges that communities face today. We believe that at the core of these challenges are our fundamental, shared commitments to equity and social justice—regardless if we approach equity using a social justice, health, economic, and/or environmental perspective.

Though each of us may take a unique approach to community building—this Summit is intentionally designed using the intersection of our common values while creating a space for cross-pollination and bold collective action. Using food as the lens, Summit participants will engage in courageous exploration and co-discovery of how oppression and discrimination produce social inequality and limit self-determination. Provocative speakers and facilitators will empower participants to examine failed, promising, and successful strategies to address inequity, enabling all to formulate and implement more effective, community-based action strategies on a global scale.

As a thought leader and expert in this arena, I know you appreciate the urgency of this gathering and hope you accept this invitation to be at the table in Atlanta. And, not only is this event in your backyard, you have a wealth of knowledge of healthy food access in schools which is a very valuable perspective for this gathering. I believe it would be of great mutual benefit as your participation will be a crucial addition to the equity and social justice conversation – not only in the US, but globally.

Throughout the Global Summit, you will engage with our distinguished speaking faculty including: Ricardo Salvador, Director and Senior Scientist at the Union of Concerned Scientists; Food Tank President Danielle Nierenberg; Aimee Witteman of the McKnight Foundation; Michelle Nunn, CEO of CARE USA; and Ashoka's Global Chair for Framework Change, Henry DeSio among many others. (See attachment, additional announcements forthcoming)

The Global Summit also will offer a unique forum through which you and your organization may connect and collaborate with Summit participants. Organizations are invited to share the breadth of their work during the Changemakers Showcase on Friday evening, November 30th. There is no cost to participate in this Showcase, and more information and registration can be found at kfla.org/changemakers.

Additionally, I'm delighted to invite you to join the Global Summit Opening Reception on the evening of November 29th at The Carter Center, during which KFLA will present the inaugural Russell G. The CEO Patti Montague is coming on the one comp registration we give to SNA. I really appreciate you doing this. They are strategic partners and she would benefit from seeing the outstanding job you and your team do on the meeting.

I know you said you needed to call me this week so hopefully, we can make time to talk about it. It is hard to tell from the invitation if I would have to pay the $625 to attend. When I went to the link it looked like they were requesting payment, so I did not go any further. We can see if you think I should go or if there is someone else who you would want to send or if it is worth the money? I am available most anytime this week to talk. Thanks!

Dear Donna:

Happy Summer! Hope this invitation finds you well.

On behalf of the Kellogg Fellows Leadership Alliance (KFLA) it is my honor and privilege to invite you to KFLA's Global Summit on Food Security & Thriving Communities, held November 29 – December 2, 2018 in Atlanta, Georgia at the Grand Hyatt Atlanta. The Global Summit is partially sponsored by a grant through the WK Kellogg Foundation.

We hope you will join a unique, interdisciplinary gathering of over 200 Kellogg Foundation Leadership Fellows, community leaders, interdisciplinary changemakers, funders, and experts – such as yourself - drawn from communities and organizations around the world—including delegations from Latin America and Southern Africa. We also anticipate delegations representing Hawaii, Native American communities, and other specific geographic regions of the U.S.

At this Summit, we see food as the gateway to address the complex, cross-sector challenges that communities face today. We believe that at the core of these challenges are our fundamental, shared commitments to equity and social justice—regardless if we approach equity using a social justice, health, economic, and/or environmental perspective.

Though each of us may take a unique approach to community building—this Summit is intentionally designed using the intersection of our common values while creating a space for cross-pollination and bold collective action. Using food as the lens, Summit participants will engage in courageous exploration and co-discovery of how oppression and discrimination produce social inequality and limit self-determination. Provocative speakers and facilitators will empower participants to examine failed, promising, and successful strategies to address inequity, enabling all to formulate and implement more effective, community-based action strategies on a global scale.

As a thought leader and expert in this arena, I know you appreciate the urgency of this gathering and hope you accept this invitation to be at the table in Atlanta. And, not only is this event in your backyard, you have a wealth of knowledge of healthy food access in schools which is a very valuable perspective for this gathering. I believe it would be of great mutual benefit as your participation will be a crucial addition to the equity and social justice conversation – not only in the US, but globally.

Throughout the Global Summit, you will engage with our distinguished speaking faculty including: Ricardo Salvador, Director and Senior Scientist at the Union of Concerned Scientists; Food Tank President Danielle Nierenberg; Aimee Witteman of the McKnight Foundation; Michelle Nunn, CEO of CARE USA; and Ashoka's Global Chair for Framework Change, Henry DeSio among many others. (See attachment, additional announcements forthcoming)

The Global Summit also will offer a unique forum through which you and your organization may connect and collaborate with Summit participants. Organizations are invited to share the breadth of their work during the Changemakers Showcase on Friday evening, November 30th. There is no cost to participate in this Showcase, and more information and registration can be found at kfla.org/changemakers.

Additionally, I'm delighted to invite you to join the Global Summit Opening Reception on the evening of November 29th at The Carter Center, during which KFLA will present the inaugural Russell G. Mawby People Helping People Award, recognizing those who support and promote long-term community change and improvement in the human condition. This inspirational evening will also feature a special address from King Letsie III of Lesotho, the United Nations Food & Agriculture Organization's Special Ambassador for Nutrition.

I hope you are able to join us in Atlanta and, if appropriate, please feel free to forward this invitation to others within your organization who may be interested. To register, simply access the self-service registration form for invited guests at: kfla.org/guest. Early registration ends September 14, 2018.

I have attached speaker and agenda highlights. For further information, you can reach me or the Global Summit team at summit@kfla.org or 303-839-5352. You can find the latest on the Global Summit at kfla.org/summit.

Best Regards,
Angie Tagtow

Subject: Annual Review - Certificate of Training in Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management Self-Study Module

It is that time of the year to a review the Certificate of Training in Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management self-study module. We have given you access to the 2017 childhood program pre-work materials at www.cdrnet.org. Instructions to access the module are included below.

A paper copy of the module is attached. The paper copy module does not include the actual articles. Would you please review the articles included in the module and identify if there are any articles that should be added, subtracted, or replaced. Keep in mind that the intent of the self-study is to provide attendees with the foundation knowledge to allow richer discussions at the onsite workshop (in other words, they should be consistent with the self-study learning objectives identified within the module). The articles should not present the content that will be covered onsite. However, if you have suggested changes to the learning objectives, please do provide those too!

A paper copy of the current pre-test is also attached. Please review the test and identify items that should be deleted, edited or added. We have included the source and performance of each item for May 2018 program. There are seven poor performing questions on the pre-test. The questions are number 16, 27, 29, 37, 53, 59, 67. The anticipation is that the items will perform at 70%.

Please send your feedback to me by e-mail or fax (312/899-4772) by August 1, 2018. After we receive all the feedback, we will send you a summary of recommendations. Note that changes in articles will also change the learning activities and pre-test so we will be following up later for your input on those as well. All changes will be implemented effective with the November 2018 program

Please note the following:

- 1) The PNCM is linked in Learning Activity 1 - Confirm that this should remain
- 2) Counseling Videos and Documents are linked in Learning Activity 4 – Confirm that these should remain
- 3) We remove the Jeffreys MR. A model to guide cultural competence education. In Teaching Cultural Competence in Nursing and Health Care. Chapter 2, pgs. 24-38. Springer Publishing Company, NY, c2006 article from Learning Activity 4 because we were unable to obtain copyright permission.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact me. Have a great summer!

CDR News Highlights

New Online Assess and Learn Module

The Role of Nutrition in Health Promotion and Prevention

7 CPEUs $64.99

Assess and Learn modules provide feedback on your performance to assist you in determining your current and future learning needs. After completion, you will be able to use your assessment results to help complete the learning needs assessment and establish your learning action plan for CDR's Professional Development Portfolio.

In this module, there are five case scenarios, each one addressing one of the five levels of the social ecological model. The scenarios are somewhat interrelated to reinforce the concept that RDNs can address primary prevention of overweight and obesity through many diverse approaches. The scenarios also demonstrate the interconnectedness of RDs' work across a community and the need for RDs to be players and leaders at all levels and in all sectors of society. The content provided for any one level is not intended to be a comprehensive assessment of competencies for that level but the knowledge, competencies and skills assessed across all five levels will give RDs a good sense of their role in the social ecological approach to promotion nutrition in health promotion and disease prevention.

While RDs have always played a significant role in health promotion and disease prevention, the increased emphasis on prevention in federal policy and legislation, by healthcare and health insurance systems, and among consumers creates a growing need for RDs to be competent in promoting the role of diet and nutrition in sustaining optimal health for all. the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics has published a position paper and supporting practice paper on the role of nutrition in health promotion and disease prevention in support of these realities. These documents define the vast breadth of the RD's health promotion opportunities at the individual, organizational, community and policy levels. Specifically, RDs:

- deliver nutrition-focused prevention services;
- advocate for policy and programmatic initiatives that support healthy programs and communities; and,
- lead research in disease prevention and health promotion.

The purpose of this “Assess and Learn” module is to allow RDs to assess their knowledge and skills in primary prevention, with a focus on overweight and obesity prevention, and to assist them in determining their current and future learning needs in this area. Social ecological models are typically organized into different layers or levels of individual, social, and environmental influences that encompass the factors which determine health in a population. The Academy has adopted a five-level model that includes:

1. Intrapersonal – an individual's knowledge, beliefs, attitudes, skills, health status, economic status
2. Interpersonal – support and influence of family, peers, cultural norms
3. Institutional – factors such as access to healthy food, school/worksites policies or programs that support healthy habits
4. Community – physical, social, municipal, and economic factors that can influence the day-to-day choices of residents
5. Policy – local, state and national policies, regulations, reforms, and advocacy efforts to promote and support healthy habits

1073. Call for ACEND Program Reviewers

ACEND is recruiting nutrition and dietetics educators and practitioners to become ACEND Program Reviewers! ACEND Program Reviewers examine nutrition and dietetics educational programs and conduct site visits to universities and other organizations with ACEND-accredited programs. This peer-review accreditation process strengthens nutrition and dietetics education and the profession as a whole.

ACEND Program Reviewers serve for three-year terms, beginning June 2019. This year, we are especially in need of reviewers with experience running ACEND-accredited Coordinated Programs and Dietetic Technician Programs, as well as reviewers with doctoral degrees. Criteria include the following:

- Active Membership in the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and registration (RDN or NDTR) by the Commission on Dietetic Registration
- Master's or higher degree preferred
- Willing to provide professional leadership
- Employed in education or practice for more than three years
- Have a commitment to quality nutrition and dietetics education programs
- Represent a major area or area of nutrition and dietetics practice
- Meet the time commitment required by the position (prepare for and conduct two site visits per year and review two to four program reports per year, estimated to be 20 days annually)
- Be able to attend a Program Reviewer Training workshop following their appointment
- Program Reviewers may not serve simultaneously on other groups within the Academy that may represent a conflict of interest with ACEND® activities or violate U.S Department of Education regulations (i.e., member of the Academy Board of Directors, Academy BOD Executive Committee, HOD Leadership Team, member of the Commission on Dietetic Registration)

In addition to learning about current nutrition and dietetics education and “giving back” to the profession, there are several benefits. You will further develop leadership and communication skills, travel to universities and practice sites across the country (expenses covered by ACEND) and enjoy the camaraderie of peers in the profession. Many ACEND Program Reviewers comment that the experience has helped them to improve their own practice or educational programs. ACEND Program Reviewers are also eligible to receive CEUs for their service. Finally, ACEND Program Reviewers can add to their leadership experience by running for positions on the ACEND Board of Directors after at least three years of experience as a Program Reviewer.

Visit <http://www.eatrightpro.org/resources/acend/training-and-volunteer-opportunities/program-reviewers> to learn more about the position and to access the application. If you know someone who would make a great reviewer, please pass along this opportunity. Applications are due by November 1, 2018 for terms beginning June 1, 2019.

Please contact acendnominations@eatright.org with any questions.

Thumbs Up

Academy Member, Patty Keane, MS RD recently gave her thoughts on the importance of protecting SNAP as part of former Congresswoman Michelle Lujan Grisham's poverty plan. Grisham is currently running for Governor of New Mexico.

"Removing food from New Mexico's tables doesn't help workers find a job, or a better paying job, any faster, and in fact can make it more difficult to find work. Restricting food access for New Mexicans also reduces the ability to consume a culturally appropriate diet that so deeply reflects New Mexico's diversity, heritage, and values. Moving healthy foods further out of the reach of New Mexicans contradicts everything we know about health promotion and chronic disease prevention. On the flip side, keeping healthy foods within reach of New Mexicans supports strong families, promotes health, and can help prevent nutrition-related chronic disease. That's why I strongly support Michelle's proposal to ensure New Mexicans have consistent access to healthy foods through SNAP participation." - Patty Keane, MS, RD, Past President of NM Academy of Nutrition & Dietetics

Kudos to Patty Keane!

Last Call - Affiliate and DPG Responses Still Missing for FY18 Strategic Measures

The Academy's Policy Initiatives and Advocacy staff is missing survey responses for strategic measures for Fiscal Year 2018. These responses help us get a better sense of how the Affiliates and DPGs are progressing in the advocacy efforts. The results from the survey helps us fill in the gaps and guide us on ways to provide better advocacy and policy resources to our members. Below are the affiliates and DPGs who have not submitted responses:

Affiliate responses still missing: CT, HI, MO, MS, NV and VT. If you are the PPC for one of these states, complete and submit the survey. The final deadline is July 31.

DPG responses still missing: BHN, ON and SCAN. If you are the PAL for the listed DPG, complete and submit the survey. The final deadline is July 31. 100% participation from all affiliates and DPGs is required.

We all knew it was coming, but I had hoped she would hang on a little longer. She promised Pat 5 years and she was true to her word. Hopefully, she will have some good suggestions for a replacement. Good luck trying to fill her shoes, she is leaving an amazing legacy. She stepped to the plate when we were down and out and hit a grand slam. Cudos to her, we are all better for knowing her.

Hi

I wanted to confirm in writing my retirement plans that I shared verbally with all of you this past week. This was not an easy decision to make as I love the work I am doing and the people I work with, but I am also ready for the next chapter in my life.

I would like to retire no later than the end of June, 2019. I am happy to leave earlier, if you are able to fill the position sooner. I am very willing to be involved in the training/transition of leadership with the new Executive Director, if you desire me to do so.

I want to thank all of you for the tremendous support you have given me during my time with ACEND. I am proud of the many things we were able to accomplish.

Subject: Annual Review - Certificate of Training in Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management Self-Study Module

It is that time of the year to a review the Certificate of Training in Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management self-study module. We have given you access to the 2017 childhood program pre-work materials at www.cdrnet.org. Instructions to access the module are included below.

A paper copy of the module is attached. The paper copy module does not include the actual articles. Would you please review the articles included in the module and identify if there are any articles that should be added, subtracted, or replaced. Keep in mind that the intent of the self-study is to provide attendees with the foundation knowledge to allow richer discussions at the onsite workshop (in other words, they should be consistent with the self-study learning objectives identified within the module). The articles should not present the content that will be covered onsite. However, if you have suggested changes to the learning objectives, please do provide those too!

A paper copy of the current pre-test is also attached. Please review the test and identify items that should be deleted, edited or added. We have included the source and performance of each item for May 2018 program. There are seven poor performing questions on the pre-test. The questions are number 16, 27, 29, 37, 53, 59, 67. The anticipation is that the items will perform at 70%.

Please send your feedback to me by e-mail or fax (312/899-4772) by August 1, 2018. After we receive all the feedback, we will send you a summary of recommendations. Note that changes in articles will also change the learning activities and pre-test so we will be following up later for your input on those as well. All changes will be implemented effective with the November 2018 program

Please note the following:

- 1) The PNCM is linked in Learning Activity 1 - Confirm that this should remain
- 2) Counseling Videos and Documents are linked in Learning Activity 4 – Confirm that these should remain
- 3) We remove the Jeffreys MR. A model to guide cultural competence education. In Teaching Cultural Competence in Nursing and Health Care. Chapter 2, pgs. 24-38. Springer Publishing Company, NY, c2006 article from Learning Activity 4 because we were unable to obtain copyright permission.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact me. Have a great summer!

Instructions to access the online 2018 childhood program pre-work materials. You can also email me your documents. I will confirm.

Mary,

Thank you for your leadership and commitment to ACEND. I remember with fondness the first time we met... in an elevator! It was your first FNCE as Executive Director of ACEND and you were very excited. Now I know why. You knew the challenge ahead and you have come through with flying colors. ACEND is in a better place because of you. You will be missed.

It is with mixed emotions that I inform you that Mary Gregoire will retire as Executive Director of the Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics on May 31, 2019. In her five years with the Academy, Mary has shown amazing dedication, skill and leadership with ACEND and the education community.

One of Mary's most significant accomplishments this past year was the positive review of ACEND's petition for renewal of its recognition by the U.S. Department of Education. USDE staff and the National Advisory Committee on Institutional Quality and Integrity reviewed ACEND's petition and recommended to the Secretary of Education that ACEND be recognized for a full five-year period with no citations. In contrast, ACEND's previous USDE petition review, which occurred prior to Mary's employment, resulted in 23 citations for noncompliance with USDE criteria for recognition and a shortened period of full recognition.

Mary, ACEND's executive committee and I will review the executive director's position description, and we will begin a national search for her successor. Internal and external candidates alike will be considered. I very much welcome your nominations for this position. Mary has informed ACEND's council that, should her successor be recruited prior to May 31, she would retire sooner so the new executive director can start immediately.

While it is always sad to say farewell, I know you are happy for Mary as she begins to plan the next chapter in her life. I know she intends to travel with her husband; you may have met him at the retreat in Asheville. I will make sure there is an opportunity at an upcoming meeting for Board members to thank Mary for her remarkable service and wish her well on her retirement.

Sincerely,

Pat

Hi Donna,

I would love to setup a call to walk through this with you. Want to make sure we are on the same page moving forward.

Also, I do have the updated CEO Compensation letter from the consultant and that is attached to this email. We will discuss this as well on our call. I forgot to include this with the CEO Competency results for your review. My apologies...

Please let me know your availability and I will get the call scheduled.

Thanks!

Subject: CEO Evaluation

Carrolyn, I think the next steps in trying to get Pat's evaluation completed is that we need to get the information for her bonus based on the CEO objectives she provided us. I am attaching them to this email.

The only thing the Compensation committee wanted us to add to her evaluation was that they would like her to keep us informed when "key employees" leave so that we can answer members questions about who has left. Can you add something like that to her board evaluation in the needs improvement section? Hopefully, we can do all this and have her raise and bonus information for the September board meeting.

Have you based on the new updated salary information any recommendations on how she falls on the scale and if we need to give her a raise based on how she falls? We like to stay at the median range. We can set up a call if we need to do this to discuss next steps. Thanks!

Credential Opportunity for your Employees — Dietetic Technician, Registered (DTR)

Are you interested in helping your employees advance themselves professionally? Individuals who have successfully completed both a bachelor's degree and an Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics (ACEND) accredited Didactic Program in Dietetics (DPD) are eligible to take the registration examination for dietetic technicians without meeting additional academic or supervised practice requirements. Once credentialed, these individuals are required to comply with the Commission on Dietetic Registration's (CDR) professional development/recertification requirements, the Code of Ethics for the Profession of Dietetics and the Standards of Practice.

Employers who want to better utilize and/or integrate DTRs into their workplace can also access eight sample position descriptions written with consideration of the DT education and training curriculum, the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Standards of Practice (SOP) and Standards of Professional Performance (SOPP). These position descriptions as well as informational DTR brochures, videos and a printable poster can be accessed on the CDR website.

HOW TO TAKE THE REGISTRATION EXAMINATION FOR DIETETIC TECHNICIANS

If you have an employee who has met these eligibility requirements, but has not yet established eligibility with CDR, they should contact the current program director from their ACEND accredited DPD program to initiate the eligibility application process. Candidates who are already eligible for the examination for dietetic technicians would have previously received an Authorization to Test email from CDR's testing vendor Pearson VUE. This email contains information on how to schedule their examination.

Additional information about this path to registration eligibility is located here.

If you have comments or questions about eligibility to take the registration examination for dietetic technicians, please contact CDR at cdrexams@eatright.org.

News from the Hill and Beyond
Advocacy Day Focuses on Diabetes Prevention and Treatment

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics hosted an advocacy day with our partners in the Diabetes Advocacy Alliance on July 24 to encourage members of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives to support better access to nutrition services for diabetes prevention and treatment. Academy members visited congressional offices to inform policymakers about the important role registered dietitian nutritionists' play in diabetes prevention and treatment.

Unable to attend the advocacy day in Washington, D.C.? Academy members are encouraged to take action on the three bills discussed at the advocacy day. The Academy also has a social media toolkit with helpful hashtags, Twitter handles and sample messages that you can share with your followers, other stakeholders and members of Congress to promote better access to nutrition services for diabetes prevention and treatment.

Academy Member Testifies during Congressional Briefing

On July 23, prior to the advocacy day, Academy member Carol Brunzell, RDN, LD, CDE, FAND, University of Minnesota Health, Gretchen Youssef, Medstar Diabetes Institute, and Amy Wotring, Novo Nordisk Inc., spoke at a congressional briefing, "Addressing Gaps in Prevention and Care for Medicare Beneficiaries with Prediabetes and Diabetes." The briefing was hosted by the Diabetes Advocacy Alliance.

House Leaders Appoint Farm Bill Conference Committee Members

Last month, the House and Senate each passed their own versions of the farm bill. The next step for the farm bill is establishing a conference committee, consisting of a selection of members from each chamber, to reconcile the differences.

Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives Paul Ryan and Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi each appointed members of Congress to serve on the farm bill conference committee. Twenty-nine Republicans and 18 Democrats will serve on the conference committee from the House. Once the Senate votes to move forward to conference, which is expected to happen soon, the Senate conferees will be named.

The Academy asks that the Senate and House work together to advance a farm bill in a timely fashion that improves health for all, especially those most at risk of experiencing food insecurity.

Action Required: There are three action alerts available that need your immediate attention. Take action today!

- Preventative Health Savings Act, H.R. 2953/S. 2164: As the chronic disease epidemic continues to worsen, the need is critical for legislation that will allow Congress to accurately assess the full savings of enacting prevention-focused measures. This bill would encourage a sensible economic review of proposed health policies and programs that Congress believes will improve public health.
- The Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act, H.R. 3124/S. 1299: which would allow Medicare coverage of medical nutrition therapy provided by registered dietitian nutritionists for patients with pre-diabetes.

- The Expanding Access to Diabetes Self-Management Training in Medicare Act, H.R. 5768 which would remove existing barriers to Diabetes Self-Management Training and improve utilization.

Academy Thanks Affiliates Who Joined Sign-On Letter in Support of Breast-feeding

New Jersey, Florida, Arkansas, Iowa, Oregon, Tennessee, Utah, Wisconsin and Washington affiliates joined a sign-on letter, organized by the U.S. Breastfeeding Committee, expressing concern about reports that the U.S. delegation to the World Health Assembly undermined a global resolution aimed at supporting breast-feeding. The letter, addressed to Health and Human Services Secretary Alex Azar and Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross, is aligned with the position of the Academy that breast-feeding provides optimal nutrition and health protection for infants and that it is an important public health strategy for improving infant and child morbidity and mortality, and improving maternal morbidity.

The Academy thanks the affiliates for their support on this important issue. Great job, New Jersey, Florida, Arkansas, Iowa, Oregon, Tennessee, Utah, Wisconsin and Washington.

Carrolyn, I think the next steps in trying to get Pat's evaluation completed is that we need to get the information for her bonus based on the CEO objectives she provided us. I am attaching them to this email.

The only thing the Compensation committee wanted us to add to her evaluation was that they would like her to keep us informed when "key employees" leave so that we can answer members questions about who has left. Can you add something like that to her board evaluation in the needs improvement section? Hopefully, we can do all this and have her raise and bonus information for the September board meeting.

Have you based on the new updated salary information any recommendations on how she falls on the scale and if we need to give her a raise based on how she falls? We like to stay at the median range. We can set up a call if we need to do this to discuss next steps. Thanks!

German researchers found that nearly 75% of parents undervalued the amount of sugar in foods, especially those considered as "healthful," consumed by their children. The findings in the International Journal of Obesity, based on data involving 305 German families with at least one child between 6 and 12 years old, also showed the highest body mass index among those whose parents had the largest underestimation of sugar content in foods.

Research IDs characteristics of severe hypoglycemia in diabetes

A study in Diabetes Care showed that patients with type 2 diabetes and severe hypoglycemia had similar average A1C levels and had a prior diagnosis of non-severe hypoglycemia, compared with those who did not experience severe hypoglycemia. Researchers analyzed 50,439 patients from the Cleveland Clinic Health System and found an association between an increased risk for severe hypoglycemia and A1C level of less than 6%, insulin, increased number of diabetes medications, sulfonylureas, increased Charlson comorbidity index and black race.

Adolescents with major depressive disorder who received omega-3 fatty acids had similar improvements in self-rated suicidality and clinician-rated depression severity, as well as similar treatment response, compared with those who took placebo, according to a study in the Journal of Clinical Psychiatry. Researchers also found similar improvements in anhedonia and irritability between both groups.

Hi Jeanne and Pepin,

I want to share with you some of Florida's concerns about the Model Practice Act in advance of our discussion. These were discussed at our state meeting over the weekend ending yesterday. The biggest issue is the narrow focus on clinical nutrition and MNT. The battle in Florida and in many other states is not about clinical practice. Hospitals and health care facilities will not hire unqualified people to work in medical settings due to potential liability. The battle and where we need to have an aggressive stance was in the arenas of private practice, public health, and community nutrition. The "Model" Practice Act does not mention them under our scope of practice. So, we are at risk with school nutrition, public health, and other community based jobs, many of whom work with at risk populations with unique nutritional needs and problems. Some of them will also require MNT due to chronic disease. This community practice was a major part of the fight in Florida this year and we were fortunate it did not pass. If this is to be a model practice act, it should be our best scenario, not one which limits our scope. I understand that it takes compromise and negotiation in states to pass any legislation but I want us to lead with our best expression of our entire scope of practice that illustrates what dietitian/nutritionists are trained to do in all segments, not just in clinical MNT which is already protected in health care settings.

The consensus at the Florida meeting was we would like to see the Scope of Practice Section 4, A include what is currently there with additional language reflecting Public Health/Community practice such as : "..... and provide safe, effective, quality nutrition services such as nutrition assessment and counseling and medical nutrition therapy for patients and clients in both clinical and community settings." That reflects our current practice in mental health clinics and in-patient units, children's homes and child service agencies, public health, WIC clinics, food safety and sanitation, sports nutrition, and exercise facilities such as gyms, school nutrition, independent living centers for disabled and/or autistic clients, foster homes, correctional facilities, and child care agencies. The leadership in the Florida Academy is very concerned that we are ignoring the many member practitioners in these areas by being silent about the work they do in community settings especially when these settings are increasingly where current opportunities for job growth exist.

I also have a list of more specific issues and questions by page number and item that are listed below.

Direct Supervision definition only applies to technicians, but “supervision” appears in other sections. Sounds like it is up to the state to determine whether to use either or both terms

Evidenced-based - should there be some reference to the source, the way it is worded seems loose “most appropriate information available”

Medical Nutrition Therapy, where would providing life cycle information fall? I know the WIC nutritionists are concerned about this so it is addressed above.

Page 5 Section 4 C Could we include placing feeding tubes since some of our hospital based members do it?

Page 6 Section 5 B and C Would this preclude anyone from using a title such as clinical nutritionist or holistic nutritionist? Perhaps C should include “in combination with any words” like D does?

Page 7 Section 6 B. Could the membership titles on the board be proportional to the number of each type of licensee? Also what about considering a minimum number of licensees to qualify for a seat? In Florida, there are now only ~50 licensed nutrition counselors who were grandfathered in when there were 300 of them and nearly 5000 LDNs, and the LNC’s still have one representative on our board. As for the MD required on the licensure board, why? How about instead one licensed allied health professional who works with RDNs?

Page 12 Section 8 A 1. Do we want to accept degrees in nutrition education or nutritional biochemistry with no training related to health care?

8 1B Is it a good idea to specify a specific number of hours? Later states this would be better in Rules. Also, the word “supervision” is used, if this is not going to be direct, do we need to define it? Also, we don’t think any state licensed health professional is qualified to supervise nutrition practice. We are limiting it to licensed dietitian nutritionists in Florida. This would allow supervision by physicians, nurses, chiropractors, physical therapists, etc. with varying and in some cases no formal nutrition training. This occurs again on page 15 2. The term “reasonable threshold” is also used. Would this be defined in rules? We are having a discussion about what constitutes a “major course of study” in Florida.

Page 15 Number 2. This says 1000 hours vs the 900 hours used before. Consistency?

On a different note, our students are also very concerned about this especially those who have taken out loans and worked multiple jobs to earn their degrees. As you know, they are now looking at a Master's requirement in 2014.

It also seems we currently are seeing more examples of encroachment from other health professions.

Recently, one of our public health faculty wanted to teach nutrition for public health and an exercise science faculty wanted to teach nutrition for exercise science. Thankfully, our dean said both needed to be taught by one of our nutrition faculty. And this week, I heard from a Physical Therapy colleague that at their annual meeting a few weeks ago, one of their major sessions was a pro and con discussion around the question of "should physical therapists do nutrition counseling?"

Looking forward to talking more about this in Asheville!

Academy Supports Access to Breast-Feeding

The Academy signed on to a letter organized by the United States Breastfeeding Committee to Health and Human Services Secretary Alex Azar and Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross, expressing concern about reports that the U.S. delegation to the World Health Assembly undermined a global resolution supporting breast-feeding. The letter is aligned with the Academy's position that breast-feeding provides optimal nutrition and health protection for infants and is an important public health strategy for improving infant and child morbidity and mortality, as well as maternal morbidity.

News from the Hill and Beyond
Academy, Affiliates Join Sign-On Letter in Support of Breast-feeding

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and seven affiliates signed on to a letter, organized by the U.S. Breast Committee, expressing concern about reports that the U.S. delegation to the World Health Assembly undermined a global resolution aimed at supporting breast-feeding. The letter, addressed to Health and Human Services Secretary Alex Azar and Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross, is aligned with the position of the Academy that breastfeeding provides optimal nutrition and health protection for infants and that it is an important public health strategy for improving infant and child morbidity and mortality, and improving maternal morbidity.

The Academy thanks the Arkansas, Iowa, Oregon, Tennessee, Utah, Wisconsin and Washington affiliates who joined the letter.

Potential Farm Bill Action

The House is expected to vote this week on a motion to move to conference. This is the next step in the process to move toward conference negotiations with the Senate.

The differences between the House and Senate's approaches to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program is expected to be a major area of contention. Under the House farm bill, more than 2 million people would lose access to critical food assistance or have their benefits cut. In stark contrast, the Senate bill would protect the integrity of SNAP, strengthen employment opportunities for beneficiaries and modernize systems and technology.

Members who contribute in advance of FNCE will have a commemorative brick on the "Pathway to Nutrition Policy Goals." The bricks can be inscribed with the donor's name or in memory or in honor of someone (or an inscription of choice limited to space).

Bricks can also be purchased and inscribed at the ANDPAC booth at FNCE. These bricks will be part of the pathway set up at the booth. Suggested donations will be $20 per brick or $35 for two bricks. Learn more about how to purchase the bricks in next week's PPWN.

You Help ANDPAC Create Meaningful Impact

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Political Action Committee, the only PAC broadly focused on food, nutrition and health, helps the Academy amplify our policy priorities and concerns on health and nutrition legislation. In June, ANDPAC supported 18 bipartisan members of Congress who are pro-nutrition. Through ANDPAC, the Academy is able to create meaningful impact on the Hill and in-district by mobilizing member engagement and advocacy. It is thanks to members like you that the Academy is able to elevate our profession and have our voice heard. If dietetics is your profession, policy should be your passion!

TAND Hill Day Gets Results

On February 21, the Tennessee Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics held a Hill Day with the goal to find a legislator who would write a budget amendment to cover one-time costs for schools to modernize their breakfast program. The modernization would include money for infrastructure and other items necessary to take breakfast out of the cafeteria and into the classroom. The funding would be used specifically for low-income schools, where breakfast is already funded, but needs strengthened in order to ensure children start their day with a healthy breakfast, enabling them to concentrate and perform better in the classroom.

State Senator Bo Watson agreed to file the budget amendment and it passed the General Assembly, where $500,000 will be allocated in the budget for this Breakfast After the Bell Program. Great job, TAND!

FYI. Please read bottom up. The Diane Missy is referring to is Heller. The Board will come up with useful tactics at the retreat and work can continue subsequently on developing a strategic plan with experts in the area. Missy and Barbara know this is a Board priority and have already drafted a proposal to share with the Board. They are currently obtaining feedback from other educators before sending it to us. Julie can fill us in on her conversation with Missy.

Safe travels!

Dear Missy,

Thank you so much for your willingness to help the Board address this need. I can guarantee that both you and Barbara will be asked to serve on a special task force. This is one task force I also want to assist with. Again, many thanks for the proposal you're working on!!

I hope we can get started prior to FNCE.

Hi, Pat.

Diane will likely thank you for me, but I wanted to let you know how much I appreciated your willingness to have me participate in the PhD/RDN discussion that Julie will lead at the BOD meeting. I talked with Julie this afternoon. I think that we are on the same general path and that it would be less confusing to have her speak without phone interruption.

I have told both Diane and Julie that Barbara Bowman, PhD (ret. CDC; formerly Chief/Acting Director/Director for several Divisions, including Science, Cancer Prevention and Control, Heart Disease and Stroke Prevention) and I would both like to serve on the committee, if one is established to consider paths for PhD --> RDN.

I wish you a pleasant and productive meeting and hope to see you at FNCE.

Hi Missy!

I had a conversation this morning with Julie and she would be available to speak with you today between 2:30-4:30 and tomorrow between 11:30 -1 and 2:30-4:30.

I mentioned to Julie that if you both thought it would be helpful to be a part of the conversation at the retreat Pat Babjak said they can have you call in.

Please let me know what the two of you decide!

Thanks for your contribution to this important discussion!

Pat, Allison did get back to me and we were not able to get her on the phone call, but I did call and talk to her about this project and she is very excited about it. Expect a letter from Mary Story, PhD, RD requesting two people to serve on this very important consensus panel. They will be requesting two people, one with research expertise and one with practitioner knowledge. They might have people in mind. I told them to send the letter to you. This project aligns very well with our goals of prevention and health. I talked to her about presenting at FNCE next year and about getting the Pediatric DPG involved with disseminating the consensus paper. This will not cost the Academy any money, but probably will involve some staff time. They have decided to only work with AND, the American Academy of Pediatrics and the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry to develop the initial consensus. Both people working on the project from DUKE are RDN's. I am not expecting to be the one they ask to serve on the panel from AND, but told them we would probably honor their wishes unless it is someone that red flags go up about. I talked one of them into coming to FNCE this year. We can talk more about this in Asheville. All good stuff though. At the table again!

Pat and Joan, I know this is short notice, but do we have a position paper on this (sugar sweetened beverages consumption in children) or anything in the EAL on it? I am having a phone conversation with Mary Story from the RWJ Foundation at noon today and I wanted to see if we had anything I could use to talk with her. Sorry to burden you all, but I just set up this meeting and don't have time to look the information up myself. I think they might want AND to be on this consensus project and I know we would like to be on the project so I wanted to be as prepared as possible. Thanks!

Pat and Joan, I know this is short notice, but do we have a position paper on this (sugar sweetened beverages consumption in children) or anything in the EAL on it? I am having a phone conversation with Mary Story from the RWJ Foundation at noon today and I wanted to see if we had anything I could use to talk with her. Sorry to burden you all, but I just set up this meeting and don't have time to look the information up myself. I think they might want AND to be on this consensus project and I know we would like to be on the project so I wanted to be as prepared as possible. Thanks!

News from the Hill and Beyond
Farm Bill Negotiations Teed Up

The U.S. House of Representatives and Senate are beginning farm bill negotiations to work out the differences between the House and Senate bills. The first task will be to establish which members of Congress will participate in the conference committee. The differences between the House and Senate's approaches to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program is expected to be a major area of contention. Under the House farm bill, more than 2 million people would lose access to critical food assistance or have their benefits cut. In stark contrast, the Senate bill would protect the integrity of SNAP, strengthen employment opportunities for beneficiaries and modernize systems and technology. Differences between the two bills' conservation titles may also prove challenging.

House Committee to Review Health Spending Legislation

The U.S. House Appropriations Committee will consider the Fiscal Year 2019 Labor, Health and Human Services spending on Wednesday, July 11 starting at 10 a.m. (Eastern Time), and the live stream of the hearing can be viewed here. As you may recall, this is the rescheduled hearing from before the July 4th recess. The spending bill includes funding for senior nutrition programs, health care workforce and disease prevention and promotion interventions where Academy members work. The full text of the legislation can be found here, and the Academy will provide analysis of the final bill after Wednesday's hearing.

Seeing is believing! Members of Congress create legislation that directly impacts you and your profession. And what is the best way to show legislators the important role RDNs play? It's to invite them to your workplace!

role RDNs play in improving the health and wellbeing of the nation. It is also an opportunity for elected officials to see how federal programs work in their local communities.

The Academy will host a webinar to help you plan the site visit and provide tips and talking points on the Academy's legislative priorities. The webinar will be on July 17 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time). Register today.

Action Center

Action Required: Preventative Health Savings Act

There is one action alert now open. Take action today!

•Preventative Health Savings Act, H.R. 2953/S. 2164: As the chronic disease epidemic continues to worsen, the need is critical for legislation that will allow Congress to accurately assess the full savings of enacting prevention-focused measures. The conventional 10-year budget window that is used by the Congressional Budget Office fails to give Congress a complete picture of long-term savings from disease prevention efforts. Urge your members of Congress to co-sponsor the Preventive Health Savings Act ( H.R. 2953/S. 2164). This bill would encourage a sensible economic review of proposed health policies and programs that Congress believes will improve public health.

Take Action!

Cut and past the following message and post to your communication platforms.

(PPCs/PALs, Please Post this Message to Your Communication Channels)

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, urge your legislators to support and co-sponsor the Preventative Health Savings Act. This legislation will stimulate a sensible economic review of proposed health policies and programs that Congress believes will improve public health. Contact your Representatives today and send them the latest action alert message. Let them know how legislation would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Nomination Notices

Nomination Call: Council on Graduate Medical Education

One obstacle to increasing physician referrals to registered dietitian nutritionists is the limited nutrition content in the medical education curriculum. Academy members have an opportunity to influence physician education and workforce training through the Council on Graduate Medical Education, a unit of the Health Resources and Services Administration (an agency under the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services).

COGME is seeking nominations for new members to serve four-year terms, and the Academy would like to nominate someone who is an MD/RDN. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

Nomination Call: National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps

In order to improve health equity and access to care, which are Academy priorities, the Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, administers the National Health Service Corps program, which offers financial support to providers and students pursuing selected careers in exchange for commitments to work in medically underserved areas. Unfortunately, the agency has been slow to recognize the rationale for reinstating RDN as an approved career option (approval was terminated in the 1980s).

Academy members have an opportunity to influence policy through the National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps, which is seeking nominations for new members to serve three-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate someone with expertise addressing workforce shortages and barriers to access to care, especially for underserved populations. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

PALs, please plan to review the nomination opportunities section and share the information with your executive board or team.

In Case You Missed It

Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program Map Highlights Need for More Programs & Opportunities for Academy Members, July 17

Health care providers and Medicare beneficiaries can now search for Medicare Diabetes Prevention Programs by Zip Code. Demand still exceeds supply for this new Medicare benefit, so RDNs and NDTRs should seize the opportunity to fill the gaps. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently updated its program recognition requirements, reducing some of the barriers to achievement of the requirements (a necessary step to becoming a Medicare MDPP supplier).

An upcoming webinar will help Academy members learn how to integrate and leverage diabetes prevention programs in corporate, community and health care settings. Register for the live webinar on Tuesday, July 17 at 12 p.m. (Central Time) and earn 1.5 free CPEs. The webinar will be recorded and posted to the Academy's Payment webpage for future viewing.

For more information, visit the Academy's Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program website.

Affiliate and DPG Responses Still Missing for FY18 Strategic Measures

The Academy's Policy Initiatives and Advocacy staff is missing survey responses for strategic measures for Fiscal Year 2018. These responses help us get a better sense of how the Affiliates and DPGs are progressing in the advocacy efforts. The results from the survey helps us fill in the gaps and guide us on ways to provide better advocacy and policy resources to our members.

Below are the affiliates and DPGs who have not submitted responses:

Affiliate responses still missing: CT, HI, ID, KY, MO, MI, NH, NV, SC, TX, VT and WA. If you are the PPC for one of these states, complete and submit the survey today.

DPG responses still missing: BHN, DTP, DHCC, DBC, ON, PNPG and SCAN. If you are the PAL for the listed DPG, complete and submit the survey today.

PAL Monthly Call, July 26

The PIA team will host monthly PAL calls on the last Thursday of each month. The calls are an opportunity for DPG PALs to learn more about upcoming federal regulatory issues and offer feedback on comments.

Join the first call on Thursday, July 26 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time).

All PALs are strongly strongly encouraged to attend.

Subject: July 18-20 Board Retreat

We are looking forward to seeing you at the Board retreat! The purpose of the retreat is three-pronged: to conduct a Board orientation focused on governance, to advance the Academy's strategic plan, and to network socially so we get to know each other better, enhancing group dynamics. The agenda for the retreat differs from our regular agenda format. Since the purpose of the retreat is primarily focused on planning our direction for the coming year, it is dialogue-focused, rather than deliberative. The agenda includes questions to help focus the discussions for strategic thinking. The agenda and corresponding materials for the retreat are attached. Since there are very few attachments, a paper packet will not be provided.

Glenn Tecker, of Tecker International, LLC, has been engaged to present an orientation on governance and facilitate the retreat. His biographical sketch is attached. To foster collaboration and open dialogue with the Academy's organization units, we welcome their representatives to the retreat: Linda Gigliotti, chair of the Commission on Dietetic Registration; Chris Hartney, chair of the Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics; and Linda Snetselaar, Editor of the Journal of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics. Former Academy President Julie O'Sullivan Maillet will join us on Thursday to present a report on Doctorate Capacity Building.

Attached is the transportation schedule which shows the group you will be traveling with to and from the Asheville airport. An individual greeter from Accents on Asheville, the transportation company, will be awaiting you in the baggage claim area with an "Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics" sign. All fees and gratuities for Accents on Asheville have been master billed by the Academy. In the event you do not meet up with your greeter, please contact Erin Cannon at 847-809-4500 or me at 847-337-3082. For those of you driving to the retreat, we will distribute vouchers onsite for parking.

Please contact me if you have any questions or need assistance. Safe travels!

Study ties normal-weight obesity to increased cardiometabolic risks

Chinese adults considered to have normal-weight obesity had a higher risk of cardiometabolic events -- including hypertension, hyperlipidemia, metabolic syndrome and diabetes -- compared with their normal-weight counterparts, according to a study in Nutrition, Metabolism & Cardiovascular Diseases. The findings, based on data from 23,748 Chinese adults, "suggests that [normal-weight obesity], a subtype of obesity, may provide more information about the cardiometabolic risks compared with the more traditional obesity types based on BMI or [waist circumference]," researchers said.

Bad habits can keep people from achieving health goals

Eating too fast, eating too much at night and using big plates are some of the habits that can keep people from improving their health or losing weight, writes registered dietitian nutritionist Leslie Bonci. Exercising on an empty stomach and not consuming enough carbohydrates also can prevent people from improving their fitness, Bonci adds.

RDs: Hummus is nutrient-dense and has health benefits

Registered dietitians say hummus is nutrient-dense and can help stabilize blood sugar and prevent heart disease, but portion control is important because hummus is higher in calories. RD Lindsey Pine said some hummus brands can be high in sodium, so shoppers should read nutrition labels and choose one that has ingredients close to a traditional hummus recipe.

A study in the Journal of the American Heart Association found patients with obesity who had experienced myocardial infarction were at an almost threefold increased three-year risk of sudden cardiac death, compared with people who had a normal BMI. The findings were based on data from 6,216 patients who were discharged alive following acute heart attack and took part in one of two Japanese cohort studies.

Regular teen drinking may lead to substance use problems later

Teens who drank alcohol weekly before age 17 had an up to threefold increased likelihood of binge drinking, drunk driving, developing alcohol dependence and using other drugs in adulthood, compared with those who didn't drink, New Zealand and Australian researchers reported in the journal Addiction. However, the findings showed that regular adolescent drinking wasn't directly associated with adverse psychosocial outcomes, such as mental health problems, risky sexual behaviors or early parenthood.

ON THE PULSE OF PUBLIC POLICY

ANDPAC Helps Academy Build Relationships with Congress

It is a common misconception that donating to political action committees like ANDPAC amounts to buying votes. ANDPAC contributions are used to support pro-nutrition candidates for federal office, but do not guarantee support for the Academy's issues. Relationships with members of Congress help create opportunities to educate members and their staff on our priority issues. Affiliates can request ANDPAC funds to attend events in your congressional district to help build those relationships; our messages are even more powerful when they are delivered by constituents.

Academy Highlights Cost-Effectiveness of MNT for Medicare Survey

In comments to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services regarding the Medicare Current Beneficiary Survey, the Academy emphasized the potential for cost-effective medical nutrition therapy to prevent or delay admission to hospitals and long-term care. Since hospitalization is itself a risk factor for conditions including malnutrition, the Academy encouraged CMS to add survey questions to determine patients' and providers' experience and interest in RDN-delivered MNT services. Research indicates many primary providers may not be sufficiently aware of MNT's potential role in addressing chronic conditions.

Academy's Comments: USDA's Genetically Engineered Foods Labeling Proposal

The Academy offered recommendations to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service for improving the proposed National Bioengineered Food Disclosure Standard, which includes significant loopholes, exemptions and unfamiliar terminology likely to confuse consumers. Using the Academy's Labeling Principles and the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine's "Genetically Engineered Crops: Experiences and Prospects" as benchmarks, comments objected to use of term "bioengineered" rather than "genetically engineered" or "genetically modified"; the use of a process-based definition of "bioengineered"; the need for a consistent method of disclosure; and the possibility of a QR code being sufficient for disclosure despite consumers' lack of access to, familiarity with and understanding of the code.

News from the Hill and Beyond
Farm Bill Negotiations Teed Up

The U.S. House of Representatives and Senate are beginning farm bill negotiations to work out the differences between the House and Senate bills. The first task will be to establish which members of Congress will participate in the conference committee. The differences between the House and Senate's approaches to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program is expected to be a major area of contention. Under the House farm bill, more than 2 million people would lose access to critical food assistance or have their benefits cut. In stark contrast, the Senate bill would protect the integrity of SNAP, strengthen employment opportunities for beneficiaries and modernize systems and technology. Differences between the two bills' conservation titles may also prove challenging.

House Committee to Review Health Spending Legislation

The U.S. House Appropriations Committee will consider the Fiscal Year 2019 Labor, Health and Human Services spending on Wednesday, July 11 starting at 10 a.m. (Eastern Time), and the live stream of the hearing can be viewed here. As you may recall, this is the rescheduled hearing from before the July 4th recess. The spending bill includes funding for senior nutrition programs, health care workforce and disease prevention and promotion interventions where Academy members work. The full text of the legislation can be found here, and the Academy will provide analysis of the final bill after Wednesday's hearing.

Action Center

Action Required: Preventative Health Savings Act

There is one action alert now open. Take action today!

•Preventative Health Savings Act, H.R. 2953/S. 2164: As the chronic disease epidemic continues to worsen, the need is critical for legislation that will allow Congress to accurately assess the full savings of enacting prevention-focused measures. The conventional 10-year budget window that is used by the Congressional Budget Office fails to give Congress a complete picture of long-term savings from disease prevention efforts. Urge your members of Congress to co-sponsor the Preventive Health Savings Act ( H.R. 2953/S. 2164). This bill would encourage a sensible economic review of proposed health policies and programs that Congress believes will improve public health.

Take Action!

Cut and past the following message and post to your communication platforms.

(PPCs/PALs, Please Post this Message to Your Communication Channels)

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, urge your legislators to support and co-sponsor the Preventative Health Savings Act. This legislation will stimulate a sensible economic review of proposed health policies and programs that Congress believes will improve public health. Contact your Representatives today and send them the latest action alert message. Let them know how legislation would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Nomination Notices

Nomination Call: Council on Graduate Medical Education

One obstacle to increasing physician referrals to registered dietitian nutritionists is the limited nutrition content in the medical education curriculum. Academy members have an opportunity to influence physician education and workforce training through the Council on Graduate Medical Education, a unit of the Health Resources and Services Administration (an agency under the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services).

COGME is seeking nominations for new members to serve four-year terms, and the Academy would like to nominate someone who is an MD/RDN. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

Nomination Call: National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps

In order to improve health equity and access to care, which are Academy priorities, the Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, administers the National Health Service Corps program, which offers financial support to providers and students pursuing selected careers in exchange for commitments to work in medically underserved areas. Unfortunately, the agency has been slow to recognize the rationale for reinstating RDN as an approved career option (approval was terminated in the 1980s).

Academy members have an opportunity to influence policy through the National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps, which is seeking nominations for new members to serve three-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate someone with expertise addressing workforce shortages and barriers to access to care, especially for underserved populations. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

PALs, please plan to review the nomination opportunities section and share the information with your executive board or team.

Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program Map Highlights Need for More Programs & Opportunities for Academy Members, July 17

Health care providers and Medicare beneficiaries can now search for Medicare Diabetes Prevention Programs by Zip Code. Demand still exceeds supply for this new Medicare benefit, so RDNs and NDTRs should seize the opportunity to fill the gaps. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently updated its program recognition requirements, reducing some of the barriers to achievement of the requirements (a necessary step to becoming a Medicare MDPP supplier).

An upcoming webinar will help Academy members learn how to integrate and leverage diabetes prevention programs in corporate, community and health care settings. Register for the live webinar on Tuesday, July 17 at 12 p.m. (Central Time) and earn 1.5 free CPEs. The webinar will be recorded and posted to the Academy's Payment webpage for future viewing.

Affiliate and DPG Responses Still Missing for FY18 Strategic Measures

The Academy's Policy Initiatives and Advocacy staff is missing survey responses for strategic measures for Fiscal Year 2018. These responses help us get a better sense of how the Affiliates and DPGs are progressing in the advocacy efforts. The results from the survey helps us fill in the gaps and guide us on ways to provide better advocacy and policy resources to our members.

Below are the affiliates and DPGs who have not submitted responses:

Affiliate responses still missing: CT, HI, ID, KY, MO, MI, NH, NV, SC, TX, VT and WA. If you are the PPC for one of these states, complete and submit the survey today.

DPG responses still missing: BHN, DTP, DHCC, DBC, ON, PNPG and SCAN. If you are the PAL for the listed DPG, complete and submit the survey today.

Dear NDEP Members,

The Ethics Education Facilitator's Guide has been updated to reflect the four principles and 32 standards of the 2018 Academy/CDR Code of Ethics for the Nutrition and Dietetics Profession. This tool is intended to assist educators and leaders in providing education to current and future members and credentialed practitioners about the Academy/CDR Code of Ethics.

The Guide offers an overview of the updated Code of Ethics along with a facilitator's script, handouts, case studies and an optional quiz. It is not intended to be an in depth study of professional ethics. Facilitators are welcome to adapt time frames to their individual schedules; however, these educational resources have been designed for a two hour presentation, or longer, depending on the discussion and the number of case scenarios reviewed.

Ethics Education Resources, including the Facilitator's Guide, are available on the Academy's website at: <https://www.eatrightpro.org/practice/code-of-ethics/ethics-education-resources>. These resources may be downloaded and used by all nutrition and dietetics practitioners for their personal use. Please note they are not available for resale or any commercial use.

This program has been approved for 2.0 (Level 1) continuing professional education credits for RDNs and NDTRs by the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics. The session facilitator may also receive up to 3.0 (level 2) continuing professional education credits for preparation (eg, professional reading) and should refer to the CDR Professional Development Portfolio Guide for more information.

We hope you will find this information useful. Please forward any questions to the Ethics committee via the Academy's Ethics mailbox: ethics@eatright.org

Greetings from ACEND,

The Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics (ACEND®) is writing to keep you informed of our standards development work. A copy of the July Standards Update is posted on the ACEND webpage: Monthly Standards Update. In this issue there is an update on the Pearson VUE ACEND Summary of Candidate Testing Report.

In March 2018, the ACEND Board updated the 2017 Accreditation Standards; those changes became effective July 1, 2018. Among the changes is the requirement that ACEND-required objectives (Standard 3, Required Element 3.3) must be written verbatim and be evaluated annually using an average of data from the previous three years. The revised standards are available at www.eatrightpro.org/2017Standards.

Due to decreased participation and discussion, the Virtual Town Hall meetings will be held quarterly rather than monthly. The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday September 19 at 3 pm CT. The town hall provides a time for ACEND to share updates on its standards work and for stakeholders to ask questions. Information on joining the town hall can be found at www.eatrightpro.org/FutureModel.

Please share this information with your constituents/colleagues. If you or they have questions, send them to acend@eatright.org or call 312-899-4872, so we can respond to them. Future editions of the monthly update will include these questions and an ACEND response.

Thank you.

Welcome to Membership in NDEP

Congratulations on being a member of the Nutrition and Dietetic Educators and Preceptors (NDEP) Group. To see our new higher profile page, log into www.eatrightpro.org and select the orange Member Benefits button on the green menu bar at the top. From the left sidebar, select Academy Groups, and then click Other Academy Groups. You will see:

- Nutrition and Dietetic Educators and Preceptors (NDEP)

Click More Information to read our new Vision, Mission and Values. A list of the officers on the NDEP Council can be located there as well.

Want to volunteer for a committee or task force? Contact Vice Chair Kendra Kattelman at Kendra.kattelman@sdstate.edu

WEBPAGE

Our webpage is: www.ndepnet.org Log in the same way you do at the Academy's homepage (www.eatrightpro.org). On this page, you can find information about the NDEP Council members, the upcoming regional meetings, the NDEP portal and electronic mailing list (EML), and other pertinent information.

The NDEP Portal and the Electronic Mailing List (formerly known as the LISTSERV)

The NDEP online portal is a communication and networking tool for the members of the Nutrition and Dietetic Educators and Preceptors (NDEP) Group. The portal includes a message board, an electronic mailing list (EML), a resource library and calendars for all NDEP events. This portal will be the main communication system between the NDEP leadership and the members through email blasts and messages.

Once you become a member of the NDEP group, you are automatically a member of the portal. There is no need to sign up! You can visit the portal at <http://ndep.webauthor.com> to access all the features of the portal. Your user name and password are the same as your Academy member ID and password that you use to log into the Academy's eatrightpro.org website. If you do not remember your Academy user name and password, please call Member Services at 800-877-1600 ext. 5000 and ask for your Academy user name and password.

There are two ways to begin using the EML. One way is to log into the portal, visit the Discussions tab, which is the EML, and post a new message. Your message will be posted both as a discussion in the portal and also be sent out to NDEP members as an EML via email. Another way is by emailing ndep@ndep.webauthor.com directly. All instructions, which include a webinar, are listed in the library tab. You can, as an NDEP member, opt out or change settings of the EML by updating your settings under My Profile once you have logged into the portal. The current default setting is “Daily Digest,” which means you will receive an email with all the EML messages once per day. If you want an alternative setting such as “Real Time” or “No” EML messages, you can update these preferences by going to the Settings button in the upper right hand corner and then to “My Profile.” In “Real Time,” the EML messages will come to your email as they are posted, the same as any email message.

If you have any questions regarding the EML or the portal, please contact ndep@eatright.org.

NDEP Regions

Check out the NDEP website – www.ndepnet.org for each regional director’s contact information

2019 Regional Meetings

NDEP holds spring meetings throughout the country each year. These are a great place to earn CPEU credits, keep up with what is happening in the education, accreditation, and registration worlds, and network with other educators and preceptors. Online registration for the 2019 area meetings will begin in January 2019; however, dates and locations will be announced this Fall. Check the NDEP website for more information later this year.

NDEP-Line*Newsletter

NDEP-Line is the quarterly newsletter. To submit an article to the NDEP-Line, contact the Newsletter Editor, Colleen McGrief at mccric@sage.edu. We especially welcome articles from preceptors about how you teach interns during supervised practice. Have an interesting case study or learning activity? Please share it!

NDEP - Journal of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics

NDEP holds a section in the Journal where four times each year a Practice Applications article written by an NDEP member is published. If you have a Best Practice, an educational topic, or other application paper that is pertinent to educator issues, you are encouraged to submit the article to the NDEP section of the Journal. The NDEP Council can work directly with members who wish to submit articles on emerging studies in Education for the Practice Applications section, and has designated expert peer reviewers to provide streamlined feedback to assist with the publication process. To review author guidelines for submission of Practice Applications articles to the Journal go to www.andjrnl.org. Contact Mary-Jon Ludy at mludy@bgsu.edu for details about submitting an article.

EBlast

Not everyone wants to subscribe to the EML, so an eblast is a service by which we send out important messages to all NDEP members. Your NDEP-Line newsletter will arrive as a .pdf file attached to an eblast message directly to your inbox.

Again, thanks for joining NDEP. We have exciting things ahead this year!

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact me, or email ndep@eatright.org.

Carrolyn, Thanks for doing all of this. I sure wish this was my evaluation. I think we can share this Performance document with the CEO Compensation Committee in two weeks.

What I am concerned about now is evaluating her on her Performance Objectives. I have her performance objectives that she and Lucille agreed upon, but they are not in a measurable format? I am attaching them for you. Do I need to convert them into measurable objectives that we can base her bonus on? Not sure how we missed doing this?

Please feel free to include Mary on future emails. I am copying her on this one.

The Academy initiated and led a collaborative of more than a dozen health organizations in strongly encouraging the U.S. Department of Homeland Security to ensure the mental and physical well-being of children affected by its immigration policy. At the request of the Academy, the organizations sent a letter on July 2 to DHS Secretary Kirstjen Nielsen, expressing concerns about children and the long-term impact on their mental and physical well-being.

The Academy is partnering with the Diabetes Advocacy Alliance in the Diabetes Treatment and Prevention Advocacy Day, which is free and open to members. A July 12 webinar will help you prepare for the advocacy day.

Senate Passes Academy-Supported Farm Bill

The U.S. Senate passed its version of the 2018 farm bill with strong bipartisan support on June 28. The Academy supports the bill, which builds on successful nutrition programs; makes strategic investments to further strengthen programs and ensure food access for families in need; continues advancement in agricultural research; and supports nutrition education to empower people to make lasting, healthful food choices. Thanks to all Academy members who called, wrote and participated in the April Farm Bill Advocacy Day.

PTAC members serve three-year terms and may not be employees of the federal government; candidates should be nationally recognized for expertise in physician-focused payment models and related delivery of care under Medicare. #### Update on Federal Health Spending Activities

The House Appropriations Committee has postponed the full committee markup of the Fiscal Year 2019 Labor, Health and Human Services and Education Appropriation bill until after the July 4 recess. The full Senate Appropriations Committee voted June 28 to approve its spending bill, which included funding for many of the Academy's priority areas, as outlined in recent testimony. The Academy will provide analysis of both bills after the House holds its hearing and will continue to advocate for a strong investment in health and nutrition programs.

Hello Donna,

I hope this email finds you doing well.

Attached you will find a few documents for your review, including the individual results and the summary results from the CEO Performance Survey. Also, I have taken the survey comments for each competency and consolidated them into the performance management form so that you can see them in one place.

Please review and let me know how you would like me to share this information with the CEO Compensation Committee in preparation for your meeting at the Board Retreat. Also, would you like me to include Mary Russell on future communications?

Happy 4th of July!

Health Care Organizations Join the Academy-Led Letter to DHS

The Academy initiated and led a collaborative of more than a dozen health organizations in sending a letter to U.S. Department of Homeland Security Secretary Kristjen Nilsen, regarding the nutrition and health of families affected by immigration policy. While many organizations issued statements on the issue, the Academy had been the only organization to communicate directly with DHS to advocate for the nutrition well-being of children and families. The collaborative letter signed by other organizations gives a strong voice to the recommendations it contained.

A press release announcing the action is posted on the Academy's website and can be viewed here.

The Academy also initiated a previous letter sent to DHS to strongly encourage DHS to ensure the mental and physical well-being of children affected by immigration policy. The Academy also put out a statement.

Senate Passes Farm Bill

The U.S. Senate passed its version of the 2018 farm bill with strong bipartisan support on June 28 with a vote of 86-11. The Academy supports the Senate farm bill, S. Amdt. 3224 to H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018, which continues to build on successful nutrition programs with strategic investments to further strengthen nutrition programs to ensure critical food access for families in need, continue advancement in agricultural research and support nutrition education to empower people to make lasting, healthful food choices. We thank all of our members who urged their Senators to support nutrition programs in the farm bill.

With the House and Senate each passing their versions of the farm bill, this clears the way for the two chambers to hammer out their differences in committee before voting on a final version of the legislation and moving the final bill to the president's desk for his signature. The goal is to have this done by Sept. 30 when the current farm bill expires. However, it is unclear if this will be achieved.

In a Statement of the Administration Policy, the White House criticized the Senate farm bill for not further increasing work requirements for recipients of the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program among other critiques but did not go as far as to threaten a presidential veto of the legislation.

Update on Federal Health Spending Activities

The House Appropriations Committee postponed the full committee markup of the House Fiscal Year 2019 Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education Appropriation bill until after the July 4 congressional recess.

The full Senate Appropriations Committee voted to approve the Fiscal Year 2019 LHHS spending bill by a 30-1 vote on June 28, which included funding for many of the Academy's priority areas outlined in recent submitted testimony. The Academy will provide analysis of both spending bills after the House holds its hearing and will continue to advocate for a strong investment in health and nutrition programs.

Affiliate and DPG Responses Still Missing for FY18 Strategic Measures

The Academy's PIA staff is missing survey responses for strategic measures for Fiscal Year 2018. These responses help us get a better sense of how the Affiliates and DPGs are progressing in the advocacy efforts. The results from the survey helps us fill in the gaps and guide us on ways to provide better advocacy and policy resources to our members. Below are the affiliates and DPGs who have not submitted responses:

Affiliate responses still missing: CT, HI, ID, KY, MA, MO, MI, NH, NV, SC, TX, VT and WA. If you are the PPC for one of these states, complete and submit the survey today.

DPG responses still missing: BHN, DTP, DHCC, DBC, ON, PNPG and SCAN. If you are the PAL for the listed DPG, complete and submit the survey today.

Action Center

Action Required: Preventative Health Savings Act

There is one action alert now open. Even if you have taken action on the Senate farm bill, please take action again.

•Preventative Health Savings Act, H.R. 2953/S. 2164: As the chronic disease epidemic continues to worsen, the need is critical for legislation that will allow Congress to accurately assess the full savings of enacting prevention-focused measures. The conventional 10-year budget window that is used by the Congressional Budget Office fails to give Congress a complete picture of long-term savings from disease prevention efforts. Urge your members of Congress to co-sponsor the Preventive Health Savings Act ( H.R. 2953/S. 2164). This bill would encourage a sensible economic review of proposed health policies and programs that Congress believes will improve public health.

Take Action!

Cut and past the following message and post to your communication platforms.

(PPCs/PALs, Please Post this Message to Your Communication Channels)

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, urge your legislators to support and co-sponsor the Preventative Health Savings Act. This legislation will stimulate a sensible economic review of proposed health policies and programs that Congress believes will improve public health. Contact your Representatives today and send them the latest action alert message. Let them know how legislation would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Nomination Notices

Nomination Call: Physician-Focused Payment Model Technical Advisory Committee

The Academy is seeking candidates to nominate to the Physician-Focused Payment Model Technical Advisory Committee, which evaluates the innovative delivery and payment models pitched by physicians and other clinicians that fall outside other CMS Innovation Models. PTAC members, who serve three-year terms and may not be employees of the federal government, should be nationally recognized for their expertise in physician-focused payment models and related delivery of care under the Medicare program. Learn more about the role of the PTAC and the detailed qualifications for this position, here. Interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

Nomination Call: National Advisory Council for Healthcare Research and Quality

The Agency on Healthcare Research and Quality, an agency within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, seeks nominees to the National Advisory Council for Healthcare Research and Quality to provide guidance to the agency regarding research concerning low-income groups; minority groups; women; children; the elderly; and individuals with special health care needs, including individuals with disabilities and individuals who need chronic care or end-of-life health care.

The Council meets in the Washington, D.C., metro area about three times a year and members serve 3-year terms. If you would like to be considered for nomination by the Academy, please submit a letter of interest describing why you are a good fit and your CV by Saturday, July 7 to Mark Rifkin, manager, consumer protection and regulation.

Nomination Call: Council on Graduate Medical Education

One obstacle to increasing physician referrals to registered dietitian nutritionists is the limited nutrition content in the medical education curriculum. Academy members have an opportunity to influence physician education and workforce training through the Council on Graduate Medical Education, a unit of the Health Resources and Services Administration (an agency under the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services).

COGME is seeking nominations for new members to serve four-year terms, and the Academy would like to nominate someone who is an MD/RDN. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

Nomination Call: National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps

In order to improve health equity and access to care, which are Academy priorities, the Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, administers the National Health Service Corps program, which offers financial support to providers and students pursuing selected careers in exchange for commitments to work in medically underserved areas. Unfortunately, the agency has been slow to recognize the rationale for reinstating RDN as an approved career option (approval was terminated in the 1980s).

Academy members have an opportunity to influence policy through the National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps, which is seeking nominations for new members to serve three-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate someone with expertise addressing workforce shortages and barriers to access to care, especially for underserved populations. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

PALs, please plan to review the nomination opportunities section and share the information with your executive board or team.

NMAND Shares Policy Priorities with Sen. Heinrich

On behalf of ANDPAC, Academy members from the New Mexico Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics had the opportunity to attend a reception in Albuquerque in support of Senator Martin Heinrich.

Ten NMAND members from diverse practice areas attended the event to thank Sen. Heinrich for introducing the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act, and to continue conversations about protecting nutrition programs in the Farm Bill, preventing diabetes by reimbursing RDNs to see patients with prediabetes, and scoring bills to better estimate the cost savings of prevention programs. The members also shared the Academy's concerns of the mental and physical well-being of children affected by immigration policy.

Great job, NMAND!

Health care providers and Medicare beneficiaries can now search for Medicare Diabetes Prevention Programs by Zip Code. Demand still exceeds supply for this new Medicare benefit, so RDNs and NDTRs should seize the opportunity to fill the gaps. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently updated its program recognition requirements, reducing some of the barriers to achievement of the requirements (a necessary step to becoming a Medicare MDPP supplier).

An upcoming webinar will help Academy members learn how to integrate and leverage diabetes prevention programs in corporate, community and health care settings. Register for the live webinar on Tuesday, July 17 at 12 p.m. (Central Time) and earn 1.5 free CPEs. The webinar will be recorded and posted to the Academy's Payment webpage for future viewing.

The Value of School Meals: Activation Plan

Overview/Objective

National Dairy Council (NDC), School Nutrition Association (SNA) and Midwest Dairy partnered to develop a paper and a series of 7 video vignettes highlighting the value of school meals to health and wellness professionals (HWPs) and school stakeholders. This was such a terrible situation and could have been even worse given the information that has been uncovered. Such a loss of many very talented and dedicated journalists. Erin previously worked with some of the those who were injured and near this office when she was with the State of Maryland. It seems like we all have connected to violence and its extremely sad.

Thanks for sharing this connection.

You might be aware that our community here in Annapolis is very sad with the recent killings of staff of the Capital Gazette. Living in a small community, it is numbing.

But I want to put a face on this and give a shout-out to MAND, Lise Sanchez of Marsha's team and Ryan OMalley who was with Doris's group.

Wendy Winters who was killed was a wonderful mentor to MAND to establishing our state media person. Lise and Ryan worked together with Wendy to mentor and teach our members on the importance of media relations for RDNs.

I am so proud of these efforts again highlighting our volunteer members work with their community.

The shootings took place across the hall from my physician's office. Very sad.

Sending hugs and good thoughts.

Mary Pat thank you so much for connecting these dots, remembering the amazing Wendy who died so senselessly and recognizing the valuable work of Lisa and Ryan and Wendy in mentoring RDNs to use the media effectively and honorably.

The barrage of news over the last weeks has indeed been numbing; this horrific shooting, among other recent events, haunts me.

Dear Author Team:

I have great news – all 43 chapters and 8 section showcases have been completed and submitted for review! We are now in the process of revisions for 4 out of 8 sections, so progress is on track. Thank you for all of your hard work to make this milestone a reality! You are part of an impressive team of 57 contributing authors.

The purpose of this letter is to outline our next steps and keep us moving forward towards publication. Our target publication date is fall 2019. A book of this magnitude requires about 9 months of production time (like a baby), so our goal is to have a complete copy-edited manuscript ready by the end of 2018/beginning of 2019. We will continue to complete revisions by section and as they are completed, forward them in batches to the copy editor.

As you make revisions, please secure permissions for any material you plan to use, such as a figure, image, or table from another source, if you have not already done so. Submit the record of permission along with the final draft of your chapter. I will maintain copies of all permissions.

To assist you in obtaining permissions, I have attached a copy of these instructions, and an updated version of the Academy permissions form I sent to you long ago, with additional information inserted to make your job easier. The form lists our editor at the Academy at the top, and if they return the form to her that is fine, but it is preferable that it is sent back to you so you can handle creating an accurate acknowledgment in the final draft of your chapter.

One source asked for a bit more detail about the book, so I have created a summary page and attached that as well. That can be included with your request or provided if requested.

If you plan to use material from JAND, we are able to submit those requests internally. Fill out a permissions form and submit it along with the final draft of your chapter and the Academy editorial staff will work directly with the managing editor of JAND.

If a source directs you to Copyright Clearance, please let me know. If needed, we will set up an account. We have a limited budget to cover permission fees, so avoid using anything that has a cost attached. That doesn't preclude paying for anything – so please ask before deciding against something.

Let me know if you have any questions about this process.

All the best,

Academy Statement: Children Affected by Immigration Policy

In a June 22 letter to the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, the Academy strongly encouraged DHS to ensure the mental and physical well-being of children affected by immigration policy. Guaranteeing that food and nutrition requirements are met, and access to medical care is provided to families who are placed in temporary detention facilities or care provider facilities, remain areas of serious concern. The Academy will continue to work with DHS to ensure appropriate food and nutrition conditions for families - children and adults alike - who are placed in these facilities.

and food ingredients; the Academy will submit comments supporting a label with clarity, consistency and utility to consumers in mind. Following an intensive and systematic review by the Academy Positions Committee, Evidence Based Practice Committee and the GMO Task Force to identify a reputable and complete scientific report to guide policy decisions on GMOs, the Academy's Board of Directors has accepted the recommendation to support the National Academy of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine's "Genetically Engineered Crops: Experiences and Prospects." #### White House Proposal: Government Reorganization

The Trump administration released a proposal June 21 to reorganize the federal government. The proposed changes would affect vital food, nutrition and health programs that employ Academy members working to improve peoples health and well-being. #### House Passes Farm Bill That Academy Opposes

The House of Representatives on June 21 narrowly passed the farm bill in its second attempt. The Academy opposed the bill, which would result in more than 2 million people losing food assistance benefits or having benefits reduced, and would undermine the Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Program. The Academy supports the Senate's farm bill, S. 3042, the Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018, and asks the House and Senate to work together to advance a bill in a timely fashion.

House Subcommittee Hearing: Improving Occupational Licensure

The House Subcommittee on Higher Education and Workforce Development held a June 20 hearing on "Occupational Licensing: Reducing Barriers to Economic Mobility and Growth." Pat,

Your support means so much. 1:45 is the start of the state licensure agenda item and 2:45 is a first amendment discussion. So maybe 2 would be good. I don't know how much will be presentation and how much of each will be discussion. Regardless, I will bring it up sooner rather than later. I don't buy the first amendment argument when it comes to healthcare!

Hi Pat,

Yesterday, I received an email from our Executive Director, Chris Stapell at our Florida Headquarters about the attached notice on the AND website. The concern we have is that this legislation is somewhat similar to what we fortunately defeated in the Florida Legislature this year. I don't think our members who felt their licensure was threatened this year will feel supported when the Academy "applauds" a bill that essentially allows through the stipulations on page 12 anyone to provide individualized nutrition information for a fee as long as they don't call themselves a nutritionist or dietitian. This in effect makes this a title act not a practice act. The exception of medical nutrition therapy does not help because it would not prevent people with no formal education in nutrition to open a private practice and see anyone who comes in the door whether they disclose a medical condition or not. This is the same concern I sent you looking at the model practice act. A person with no credentials or training in nutrition could be hired to provide nutrition advice in mental health settings, children's homes and services, public health, food safety and sanitation, sports nutrition and exercise facilities such as gyms, school nutrition, community service centers, independent living centers with disabled and/or autistic clients, foster homes, and child care agencies. There are many doing it on the sly and we had an example when a lady testified before our legislative committee about her work with foster children. As I said in my last email on this subject, I am very concerned that we are giving up our practice in these areas by allowing this language and this is an area unlike clinical settings where there is currently job growth.

I am fortunate to work with students every day, many of whom are working 2 jobs, going into debt in order to get the required education to earn the RDN credential. They are highly concerned and fired up about what licensure changes might do to their future practice opportunities. They have expressed to be that allowing those with no formal education or credentialing to work in these arenas devalues their degree and all of their hard work and expense. It would be so much better if the notice on our website simply announced the bill's passage rather than stating "the Academy applauds it"!

(10) An herbalist or other person who does not hold himself or herself out to be a dietitian or nutritionist when the person furnishes nonfraudulent specific nutritional information and counseling about the reported or historical use of herbs, vitamins, minerals, amino acids, carbohydrates, sugars, enzymes, food concentrates, or other foods.

(11) Any individual who provides nutrition services without remuneration to family members.

(12) Any individual who provides nutrition information, guidance, encouragement, individualized nutrition recommendations, or weight control services that do not constitute medical nutrition therapy as defined in G.S. 90-352, provided that the individual (i) does not hold himself or herself out as a licensed dietitian/nutritionist or a licensed nutritionist as prohibited under G.S. 90-365 and (ii) does not seek to provide medical nutrition therapy as defined in G.S. 90-352."

I will be at the CPLS meeting Wednesday and Thursday next week. I will bring this up there and let you know how it goes. I know that I may be in the minority there.

Thanks for allowing me to share my thoughts and concerns.

After this call was scheduled, I received an invitation to attend the United Fresh School Foodservice Forum in Chicago.

I sincerely apologize for not immediately sending you a note about the conflict ... the past few weeks have been crazy.

- If things are slow at the event, I may be able to join you for a little while, but I doubt it.
- IMO ... you should go ahead and have the call ... given how difficult it was to schedule.
- I think that you can move forward with planning at this point without my specific input.
- I am honored to be included ... and will participate in any way that is helpful.
- At this point, thanks to our previous work on the hearing, I have a deep knowledge about the state of equipment and infrastructure in school nutrition programs.

Basically, I will do anything and everything to make this session as extraordinary as possible. After this trip to Chicago, I am not traveling for two months ... and I can do whatever needs to be done in terms of the slide presentation.

Again, my sincere apologies ... I am sorry to miss the call tomorrow,

Public Policy Weekly News

News from the Hill and Beyond

Academy Strongly Encourages DHS to Ensure Well-Being of Children Affected by Immigration Policy

In a letter to the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, the Academy strongly encouraged DHS to ensure the mental and physical well-being of children affected by immigration policy.

Ensuring that food and nutrition requirements are met, and access to medical care is provided to families who are placed in temporary detention facilities or care provider facilities, remain areas of serious concern for the Academy. To learn more, read the Academy's statement and letter to DHS.

The Academy welcomes other organizations to sign a similar letter concerning access to nutrition, breastfeeding and health care for children and families impacted by the recent immigration policy decisions. Public Policy Panel Leaders and Members can add their organizations to the letter or can circulate the opportunity to sign on within their professional circles. Please email Stefanie Winston Rinehart for more information or to sign onto the letter. The deadline to sign on is Friday, June 29.

House Passes Farm Bill; Senate Will Vote Soon on its Farm Bill

The U.S. House of Representatives narrowly passed the farm bill 213-211 on June 21. However, this is not the final language for the farm bill. The Senate debates its bipartisan farm bill this week. Should the Senate farm bill pass as expected, it will clear the way for the House and Senate to begin negotiations on a final version of the farm bill after the July 4 recess.

The Academy supports the S. 3042, the Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018 but opposed H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018, the same bill that failed in May.

The Congressional Budget Office estimates that 1.2 million people, in an average month, would lose access to critical food assistance due to the bill's proposed SNAP work requirements. CBO also estimates that 265,000 children would lose access to free school meals, in an average year, as a result of the proposed change to categorical eligibility. Children would then only be eligible for reduced-price or paid meals, while their household simultaneously loses SNAP eligibility. Additionally, CBO estimates that 560,000 households would have their SNAP benefits reduced, by an average of $84 per month, as a result of the proposed change to standard utility allowances.

Take action today and urge your Senators to vote in favor of the Senate farm bill.

White House Proposes to Reorganize Federal Government

The Trump administration released a proposal on June 21 to reorganize the federal government. The Academy recognizes that the proposed changes would impact vital food, nutrition and health programs that employ Academy members working to improve the nations' health and well-being. The Academy will send a letter to members of Congress and the Administration outlining how the proposal would impact access to evidence-based nutrition programs and the public health infrastructure.

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' Health Resources and Services Administration's Office of Regional Operations in Kansas will host the "Heartland Childhood Obesity Summit — Factors of Health: Addressing the Systems Influencing Childhood Obesity," on June 27-28.

Watch the two-day summit online to learn more about the "Factors of Health" – socioeconomic factors, physical environment, health behaviors and health care – that influence childhood obesity. Data show there is a greater prevalence of childhood obesity in rural areas.
CDC Report Shows Obesity Prevalence in Rural Areas

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention released data showing a significantly higher prevalence of obesity (34 percent) among adults in rural counties compared to those in urban counties (29 percent). The CDC's Division of Nutrition, Physical Activity and Obesity looked at self-reported data from 2016 in the Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System and found that "in 24 of 47 states, obesity prevalence was significantly higher among persons in non-metropolitan counties than among those in metropolitan counties; only in Wyoming was obesity prevalence higher among metropolitan county residents."

Join the Academy for a Capitol Hill Rally, Legislative Meetings During PPW, October 23-24

Regulatory Roundup

Regulatory Roundup

The regulatory items are ordered by date and open for comment, but note that some deadlines are very soon. If you would like to comment on any of these items, please contact the Policy and Advocacy Leader of a relevant DPG. If you have any questions, please contact Mark Rifkin or TenáshaEbrahimkhel.

PALs, please plan to review the regulatory opportunities section each week and share the information with your executive board or team.

Action Center

Action Required: House Farm Bill and Preventative Health Savings Act

There are two action alerts now open. Even if you have taken action on the Senate farm bill, please take action again.

- Support the Senate Farm Bill: The Senate is expected to vote on its farm bill, the Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018, by the end of June. We are asking Academy members to take action today. Urge your senators to vote in favor of this bill that reauthorizes and builds on the successes of important nutrition programs, and urge them to oppose any harmful amendments.
- Preventative Health Savings Act, H.R. 2953/S. 2164: As the chronic disease epidemic continues to worsen, the need is critical for legislation that will allow Congress to accurately assess the full savings of enacting prevention-focused measures. The conventional 10-year budget window that is used by the Congressional Budget Office fails to give Congress a complete picture of long-term savings from disease prevention efforts. Urge your members of Congress to co-sponsor the Preventive Health Savings Act ( H.R. 2953/S. 2164). This bill would encourage a sensible economic review of proposed health policies and programs that Congress believes will improve public health.

Take Action!

Cut and past the following message and post to your communication platforms.

(PPCs/PALs, Please Post this Message to Your Communication Channels)

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, please urge your Senators to support the Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018. The Senate is expected to consider a farm bill that would sustain our nation's largest and most effective food assistance program, the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. SNAP is highly effective in helping working families, seniors, military members and veterans put food on their tables.

Please send the new action alert message to your Senators. Let them know how legislation would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.

Take Action

Having technical difficulties taking action? Contact Nate Stritzinger for any action alert issues.

Nomination Notices

Nomination Call: Physician-Focused Payment Model Technical Advisory Committee [new]

The Academy is seeking candidates to nominate to the Physician-Focused Payment Model Technical Advisory Committee, which evaluates the innovative delivery and payment models pitched by physicians and other clinicians that fall outside other CMS Innovation Models. PTAC members, who serve three-year terms and may not be employees of the federal government, should be nationally recognized for their expertise in physician-focused payment models and related delivery of care under the Medicare program. Learn more about the role of the PTAC and the detailed qualifications for this position, here. Interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

Nomination Call: National Advisory Council for Healthcare Research and Quality

The Agency on Healthcare Research and Quality, an agency within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, seeks nominees to the National Advisory Council for Healthcare Research and Quality to provide guidance to the agency regarding research concerning low-income groups; minority groups; women; children; the elderly; and individuals with special health care needs, including individuals with disabilities and individuals who need chronic care or end-of-life health care.

The Council meets in the Washington, D.C., metro area about three times a year and members serve 3-year terms. If you would like to be considered for nomination by the Academy, please submit a letter of interest describing why you are a good fit and your CV by Saturday, July 7 to Mark Rifkin, manager, consumer protection and regulation.

Nomination Call: Council on Graduate Medical Education

One obstacle to increasing physician referrals to registered dietitian nutritionists is the limited nutrition content in the medical education curriculum. Academy members have an opportunity to influence physician education and workforce training through the Council on Graduate Medical Education, a unit of the Health Resources and Services Administration (an agency under the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services).

COGME is seeking nominations for new members to serve four-year terms, and the Academy would like to nominate someone who is an MD/RDN. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

Nomination Call: National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps

In order to improve health equity and access to care, which are Academy priorities, the Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, administers the National Health Service Corps program, which offers financial support to providers and students pursuing selected careers in exchange for commitments to work in medically underserved areas. Unfortunately, the agency has been slow to recognize the rationale for reinstating RDN as an approved career option (approval was terminated in the 1980s).

Academy members have an opportunity to influence policy through the National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps, which is seeking nominations for new members to serve three-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate someone with expertise addressing workforce shortages and barriers to access to care, especially for underserved populations. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

PALs, please plan to review the nomination opportunities section and share the information with your executive board or team.

Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program Map Highlights Need for More Programs & Opportunities for Academy Members

Health care providers and Medicare beneficiaries can now search for Medicare Diabetes Prevention Programs by Zip Code. Demand still exceeds supply for this new Medicare benefit, so RDNs and NDTRs should seize the opportunity to fill the gaps. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently updated its program recognition requirements, reducing some of the barriers to achievement of the requirements (a necessary step to becoming a Medicare MDPP supplier).

An upcoming webinar will help Academy members learn how to integrate and leverage diabetes prevention programs in corporate, community and health care settings. Register for the live webinar on Tuesday, July 17 at 12 p.m. (Central Time) and earn 1.5 free CPEs. The webinar will be recorded and posted to the Academy's Payment webpage for future viewing.

For more information, visit the Academy's Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program website.
Call for Member Input: Use of ERS Resources

The Academy has heard that there may be an effort to consolidate the National Agricultural Statistics Service and the Economic Research Service at the U.S. Department of Agriculture. We are concerned that research capacity could be lost should this consolidation occur, and would like to impress upon the administration how important ERS research activities are to our members.

Please fill out the short Google form with information regarding how you use ERS reports, data and other publications. For additional questions, contact Nicole Burda.

2018 Award for Grassroots Excellence, Nominations Due July 6

Nominations for the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics' 2018 Award for Grassroots Excellence are open. If you believe that someone exemplified leadership and grassroots qualities, nominate them today! All nomination must be received by 5 p.m. (Eastern Time) on Friday, July 6.

Past award winners and current members of the Academy's Legislative and Public Policy Committee (LPPC), Consumer Protection and Licensure Subcommittee (CPLS) or the Academy's Political Action Committee (ANDPAC) Board of Directors are ineligible.

For more information and the nomination form, contact Tenásha Ebrahimkhel.

NQF Endorses Measure for BMI and Nutrition Counseling

The National Quality Forum has endorsed measures in the areas of patient experience and function, surgery, cardiovascular and prevention and population health from the Fall 2017 cycle of each project. One of the measures in the prevention and population health area was the Weight Assessment and Counseling for Nutrition and Physical Activity for Children/Adolescents. The measure description included the percentage of patients three to 17-years old who had an outpatient visit with a primary care physician or an OB-GYN and who had evidence of a body mass index percentile documentation, counseling for nutrition and counseling for physical activity. Appeals for these measures must be submitted through appeals@qualityforum.org or the NQF Measure Database no later than 6 p.m. (Eastern Time) on July 6.

PAL Monthly Call, July 26

The Policy Initiatives and Advocacy Team will host monthly PAL calls on the last Thursday of each month. The calls are an opportunity for DPG PALs to learn more about upcoming federal regulatory issues and offer feedback on comments.

Join the first call on Thursday, July 26 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time).

All PALs are strongly encouraged to attend.

Op-ed Member Survey

We asked members and affiliates to raise their voice in support of nutrition programs in the farm bill by submitting an op-ed to your local paper. Please let us know if you submitted an op-ed and if it was published by taking this quick survey. Thanks in advance!

Haven't submitted an op-ed yet? There is still time to show support for nutrition programs in the farm bill by submitting an op-ed. The Academy has developed op-ed templates on the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and nutrition education programs to get you started.

Publishing an op-ed is a great way to get the attention of your members of Congress. The op-ed should ideally come from the president or public policy coordinator, but each affiliate can identify who will submit the op-ed(s) on behalf of the affiliate. For templates, please contact Erin Zumbrun.

PPCs, remember to report your op-eds via the survey for your affiliates.

Importance: High

FROM: Donna S. Martin

One of our Board responsibilities is to annually evaluate the CEO's performance. It is time for us Board members to complete section II of the evaluation - Competency Evaluation. It is available on survey monkey. Prior to doing the evaluation, take a look at Board agendas, general communications to the Board, CEO summary reports in Board meeting packets, executive session discussions with Pat as well as minutes from our Board meetings.

Please complete the questionnaire by Friday, June 15, 2018. The CEO Compensation Committee will summarize the responses, provide you with a summary report and recommendation regarding the CEO base salary for 2018-19 that will be discussed and voted on during the Board of Directors meeting in September.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you for participating!

TO BEGIN THE SURVEY click or copy this link into your browser:

The survey does not need to be completed in one sitting. If you wish to exit the survey and return to complete it later, please feel free to do so. Prior to the deadline, you will be able to log back in and resume the survey from where you left off by using the link above, which is unique to you.

If you have any questions about the evaluation, please contact me at DMartin@Burke.k12.ga.us.

Sorry! I thought that since I was officially off the Board it would be inappropriate for me to fill one out.

Please confirm that you still want me to do so. It would also be helpful if someone can send along a blank evaluation form.

Steve, I hope you are having a good summer and are spending some quality time with your family. If you could spare us a few minutes and fill out Pat's CEO evaluation that would be very helpful. You are the last one I need to get to fill it out so we can tabulate the results. I would be most appreciative if you could give us some of your valuable time.

I still feel so lucky to have gotten to know you while serving on the board. You are one impressive person and made a tremendous impact on our board.

I so hope our paths cross again in the future.

Once completed, I will send you the responses for your review and then begin to summarize them into the performance management form. We will discuss the summary document prior to the call with the compensation committee that we still need to schedule in July or August. Hope you are doing well. I wanted to provide you with an update on the responses so far. As of today we have received 10 responses so I will send out a reminder email this afternoon.

I will update you next week where we no later than Tuesday or Wednesday. At that time, we may need to either extend the deadline or have you reach out individually to the remaining folks to see if we can get them to respond. I am confident we can wrap this up next week.

Once completed, I will send you the responses for your review and then begin to summarize them into the performance management form. We will discuss the summary document prior to the call with the compensation committee that we still need to schedule in July or August. Please let me know your availability and I will create the request for schedule availability in survey monkey to determine the best date for the call.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Jeanne and Donna:

After this call was scheduled, I received an invitation to attend the United Fresh School Foodservice Forum in Chicago.

I sincerely apologize for not immediately sending you a note about the conflict ... the past few weeks have been crazy.

BOTTOM LINE:

- I am pretty certain that I will not be able to join the call. Donna knows all about this event.
- If things are slow at the event, I may be able to join you for a little while, but I doubt it.
- IMO ... you should go ahead and have the call ... given how difficult it was to schedule.
- I think that you can move forward with planning at this point without my specific input.
- I am honored to be included ... and will participate in any way that is helpful.
- At this point, thanks to our previous work on the hearing, I have a deep knowledge about the state of equipment and infrastructure in school nutrition programs.

Basically, I will do anything and everything to make this session as extraordinary as possible. After this trip to Chicago, I am not traveling for two months ... and I can do whatever needs to be done in terms of the slide presentation.

Again, my sincere apologies ... I am sorry to miss the call tomorrow,

Dayle

Academy Applauds North Carolina Legislature for Passing Bill to Modernize the Dietetics Practice

The Modernize Dietetics/Nutrition Practice Act, H.B. 357, passed the North Carolina legislature on June 14 and is a significant win for the Academy, the North Carolina Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, and the people of North Carolina. It represents the culmination of more than three years of negotiations to draft legislation that ensures high standards of qualifications for licensure and opens up additional professional opportunities for RDNs to practice at the height of their scope of practice.

Farm Bill Action in Full Swing

The U.S. Senate Agriculture Committee advanced its version of the 2018 farm bill with bipartisan support on June 13. The Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018, S. 3042, would build on what has worked in the past with common sense investments and targeted improvements to strengthen nutrition programs to ensure critical food access for families in need, continue advancement in agricultural research and support nutrition education to empower people to make lasting, healthful food choices. We expect to see the farm bill on the Senate floor the final week of June.

Additionally, we expect to see the House vote on H.R. 2 once again later this week, which would end or reduce food assistance benefits for a substantial number of people who are struggling to put food on the table.

Take action today to support the Senate farm bill and put a stop the damaging House farm bill.

To learn more about the farm bill and the Academy's recommendations, visit our farm bill webpage .

Congress Begins Consideration of Health Spending Legislation

The U.S. House Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education Appropriations Subcommittee passed the Fiscal Year 2019 Labor, Health and Human Services spending bill on June 15. The bill will now be considered by the full Appropriations Committee on Tuesday, June 26, and the live stream of the hearing can be viewed here.

Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program Map Highlights Need for More Programs & Opportunities for Academy Members

Health care providers and Medicare beneficiaries can now search for Medicare Diabetes Prevention Programs by Zip Code. Demand still exceeds supply for this new Medicare benefit, so RDNs and NDTRs should seize the opportunity to fill the gaps. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently updated its program recognition requirements, reducing some of the barriers to achievement of the requirements (a necessary step to becoming a Medicare MDPP supplier).

An upcoming webinar will help Academy members learn how to integrate and leverage diabetes prevention programs in corporate, community and health care settings. Register for the live webinar on Tuesday, July 17 at 12 p.m. (Central Time) and earn 1.5 free CPEs. The webinar will be recorded and posted to the Academy's Payment webpage for future viewing.

For more information, visit the Academy's Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program website.
PAL Monthly Call, July 26

The Policy Initiatives and Advocacy Team will host monthly PAL calls on the last Thursday of each month. The calls are an opportunity for DPG PALs to learn more about upcoming federal regulatory issues and offer feedback on comments.

The Academy will host a webinar to help you plan the site visit and provide tips and talking points on the Academy’s legislative priorities. The webinar will be on July 17 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time). Register today.

Leading the Way: PPW Prep for PPCs and PALs, August 21 - Register

Regulatory Roundup

Regulatory Roundup

The regulatory items are ordered by date and open for comment, but note that some deadlines are very soon. If you would like to comment on any of these items, please contact the Policy and Advocacy Leader of a relevant DPG. If you have any questions, please contact Mark Rifkin or TenáshaEbrahimkhel.

PALs, please plan to review the regulatory opportunities section each week and share the information with your executive board or team.

Notice of Proposed Rulemaking: National Bioengineered Food Disclosure Standard to provide a mandatory uniform labeling standard for bioengineered food without conveying any claims about health, safety or environmental attributes. (AMS)

Draft Research Plan for High Blood Pressure in Adults: Screening to define the research questions for assessing the validity of blood pressure screening in adults. (USPSTF)

Info Collection: National Universal Product Code (NUPC) Database to continue collection of standardized information from manufacturers and retailers about WIC-eligible foods for distribution to State agencies. (FNS)

Facilitation of Public-Private Dialogue to Increase Innovation and Investment in the Healthcare Sector to develop a workgroup to facilitate constructive, high-level dialogue between HHS leadership and those focused on innovating and investing in the healthcare industry. (HHS)

National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey (NHANES)—Revision to revise the NHANES survey by adding and removing various items, and apply the survey biannually instead of annually. (CDC)

Draft Research Plan: Diet and Physical Activity Counseling for Cardiovascular Disease Prevention in Adults with Cardiovascular Risk Factors - to define the research questions for assessing the effectiveness of counseling adults with CVD risk factors. (USPSTF)

(AHRQ)

Action Center

Action Required: House Farm Bill and Preventative Health Savings Act

There are three action alerts now open. Even if you have taken action on the House farm bill, please take action again.

- Support the Senate Farm Bill: The Senate is expected to vote on its farm bill, the Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018, by the end of June. We are asking Academy members to take action today. Urge your senators to vote in favor of this bill that reauthorizes and builds on the successes of important nutrition programs, and urge them to oppose any harmful amendments.
- Oppose the House Farm Bill: The U.S. House of Representatives may vote again on the farm bill. The Academy opposes the House Farm Bill, which as written would make a number of changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program that could result in 2 million people losing their benefits or having their benefits reduced. The Academy is also concerned that the bill would make substantial changes to nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthful choices. Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.
- Preventative Health Savings Act, H.R. 2953/S. 2164: As the chronic disease epidemic continues to worsen, the need is critical for legislation that will allow Congress to accurately assess the full savings of enacting prevention-focused measures. The conventional 10-year budget window that is used by the Congressional Budget Office fails to give Congress a complete picture of long-term savings from disease prevention efforts. Urge your members of Congress to co-sponsor the Preventive Health Savings Act ( H.R. 2953/S. 2164). This bill would encourage a sensible economic review of proposed health policies and programs that Congress believes will improve public health.

Take Action!

Cut and past the following message and post to your communication platforms.

(PPCs/PALs, Please Post this Message to Your Communication Channels)

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, please urge your representative to oppose H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018. The U.S. House of Representatives is expected to consider a farm bill that would make harmful changes to our nation's largest and most effective food assistance program, the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. SNAP is highly effective in helping working families, seniors, military members and veterans put food on their tables. However, the House farm bill could result in more than 2 million people losing access to critical food assistance or having their benefits reduced.

Please send the new action alert message to your representative. Let them know how legislation would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Nomination Notices

Nomination Call: National Advisory Council for Healthcare Research and Quality [new]

The Agency on Healthcare Research and Quality, an agency within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, seeks nominees to the National Advisory Council for Healthcare Research and Quality to provide guidance to the agency regarding research concerning low-income groups; minority groups; women; children; the elderly; and individuals with special health care needs, including individuals with disabilities and individuals who need chronic care or end-of-life health care.

The Council meets in the Washington, D.C., metro area about three times a year and members serve 3-year terms. If you would like to be considered for nomination by the Academy, please submit a letter of interest describing why you are a good fit and your CV by Saturday, July 7 to Mark Rifkin, manager, consumer protection and regulation.

Nomination Call: Advisory Committee on Infant Mortality

The Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, is seeking nominations of qualified candidates for consideration for appointment as members of the Advisory Committee on Infant Mortality for four-year terms. ACIM provides advice to the HHS Secretary on activities and programs directed at reducing infant mortality, improving the health status of pregnant women and infants and reducing perinatal health disparities. ACIM also provides advice on how best to coordinate the myriad of federal, state, local and private programs and efforts around the health and social problems affecting infant mortality.

If you would like to nominate a colleague (or yourself) for the committee, please send a letter of interest describing why you are a good fit and your CV to Mark Rifkin. Today is the deadline for nominations- submit as soon as possible.

Nomination Call: Council on Graduate Medical Education

One obstacle to increasing physician referrals to registered dietitian nutritionists is the limited nutrition content in the medical education curriculum. Academy members have an opportunity to influence physician education and workforce training through the Council on Graduate Medical Education, a unit of the Health Resources and Services Administration (an agency under the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services).

COGME is seeking nominations for new members to serve four-year terms, and the Academy would like to nominate someone who is an MD/RDN. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

Nomination Call: National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps

In order to improve health equity and access to care, which are Academy priorities, the Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, administers the National Health Service Corps program, which offers financial support to providers and students pursuing selected careers in exchange for commitments to work in medically underserved areas. Unfortunately, the agency has been slow to recognize the rationale for reinstating RDN as an approved career option (approval was terminated in the 1980s).

Academy members have an opportunity to influence policy through the National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps, which is seeking nominations for new members to serve three-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate someone with expertise addressing workforce shortages and barriers to access to care, especially for underserved populations. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

PALs, please plan to review the nomination opportunities section and share the information with your executive board or team.

Dietary Guidelines for Americans 2020-2025, Call for Experts

Experts needed! The Academy will be seeking input from Academy members and DPGs over the next two years as we make recommendations on the upcoming Dietary Guidelines 2020-2025.

Additionally, the Academy will select nominees to serve on the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee. Nomination criteria for the most recent 2015 DGAC was detailed as:

“Prospective members of the DGAC should be knowledgeable of current scientific research in human nutrition and chronic disease and be respected and published experts in their fields. The prospective members also should be familiar with the purpose, communication, and application of the Guidelines and have demonstrated interest in the public's health and well-being through research and/or educational endeavors. Expertise will be sought in specific specialty areas that may include, but are not limited to, cardiovascular disease; type 2 diabetes, overweight and obesity; osteoporosis; cancer; pediatrics; gerontology; maternal/gestational nutrition; epidemiology; general medicine; energy balance, which includes physical activity; nutrient bioavailability; nutrition biochemistry and physiology; food processing science, safety and technology; public health; nutrition education and behavior change; and/or nutrition-related systematic review methodology.”

If you would like to nominate any qualified experts, including yourself, who meet the criteria for DGAC nominations, please submit their name(s), credentials and contact information to Nate Stritzinger. Contact Pepin Tuma to learn more.

Call for Member Input: Use of ERS Resources

The Academy has heard that there may be an effort to consolidate the National Agricultural Statistics Service and the Economic Research Service at the U.S. Department of Agriculture. We are concerned that research capacity could be lost should this consolidation occur, and would like to impress upon the administration how important ERS research activities are to our members.

Please fill out the short Google form with information regarding how you use ERS reports, data and other publications. For additional questions, contact Nicole Burda.

Medicare Learning Network Call: Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program Supplier Enrollment, June 20

On June 20 from 1:30 to 3 p.m. (Eastern Time), the Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program team will present information about the MDPP supplier enrollment requirements and process on a Medicare Learning Network call.

During this call, find out about the MDPP, the processes organizations and health care providers must go through to enroll as MDPP suppliers and how to bill for services. A question and answer session will follow the presentation.

The audience for the call is individuals working at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recognized Diabetes Prevention Program organizations; organizations interested in becoming MDPP suppliers, including existing Medicare providers/suppliers, community organizations, non-for-profits; associations, and advocacy groups focused on seniors or diabetes; and other interested stakeholders, including health plans, primary care providers and internal medicine specialties are encouraged to attend.

Register for Medicare Learning Network events for more information.

Op-ed Member Survey

We asked members and affiliates to raise their voice in support of nutrition programs in the farm bill by submitting an op-ed to your local paper. Please let us know if you submitted an op-ed and if it was published by taking this quick survey. Thanks in advance!

Haven't submitted an op-ed yet? There is still time to show support for nutrition programs in the farm bill by submitting an op-ed. The Academy has developed op-ed templates on the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and nutrition education programs to get you started.

Publishing an op-ed is a great way to get the attention of your members of Congress. The op-ed should ideally come from the president or public policy coordinator, but each affiliate can identify who will submit the op-ed(s) on behalf of the affiliate. For templates, please contact Erin Zumbrun.

PPCs, remember to report your op-eds via the survey for your affiliates.

I will update you next week where we no later than Tuesday or Wednesday. At that time, we may need to either extend the deadline or have you reach out individually to the remaining folks to see if we can get them to respond. I am confident we can wrap this up next week.

Once completed, I will send you the responses for your review and then begin to summarize them into the performance management form. We will discuss the summary document prior to the call with the compensation committee that we still need to schedule in July or August. Please let me know your availability and I will create the request for schedule availability in survey monkey to determine the best date for the call.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Can't wait to meet him at the Board retreat. Another fabulous benefit of being on the board is meeting these incredible public members.

I will be interested to see the response to the labeling of bioengineered food and food ingredients. It will be an opportunity to see how the HLT leadership team handles any issues that might come up.

Just returning from the Menus of Change Culinary Institute of America leadership conference. It was great so see so many RDN's speaking and the conference was fantastic. Very impressive.

The communication is clear so I don't understand what talking points are needed. Alison, please provide the names of members serving on the three groups, but they should not be released unless there's a groundswell demanding them. I don't want our members who offer their expertise and time to be potentially attacked or bullied. Much depends on the Speaker's message, which I'm assuming is straightforward about the labeling draft rule and that resources are available to guide consumers. The rest follows naturally.

Labeling of Bioengineered Food and Food Ingredients

The U.S. Department of Agriculture recently proposed a draft rule on the labeling of bioengineered food and food ingredients. The new labels will be released in July. Continuing our work in this area, the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics will submit comments that focus on support for a label that is consistent with the organization's Labeling Principles, which emphasize clarity, consistency and utility to consumers.

The Academy Positions Committee, the Evidence Based Practice Committee and the GMO Task Force followed a systematic process to identify a reputable and complete scientific report on GMOs and the Academy Board of Directors accepted their recommendation to support the National Academy of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine's report as the most reputable and complete scientific report available to guide policy decisions. The report states in part:

While recognizing the inherent difficulty of detecting subtle or long-term effects in health or the environment, the study committee found no substantiated evidence of a difference in risks to human health between currently commercialized genetically engineered (GE) crops and conventionally bred crops, nor did it find conclusive cause-and-effect evidence of environmental problems from the GE crops.

NASEM's study, developed by experts representing 15 scientific societies, provides an independent, objective examination of what has been learned since the introduction of GE crops, based on current evidence.

NASEM's rich resources and the USDA's materials help guide consumers and provide clarity regarding the safety and scientific evidence surrounding bioengineered foods and food ingredients. Visit both websites for detailed information.

Hi Marsha,

Pat indicated that Marcy wanted to inform the delegates prior to the general membership getting this notice on the labeling of bioengineered food and food ingredients. We recommend sending this out tomorrow, Thursday, June 21.

Here is the information that will be posted on Friday, June 22, to the Latest News section on the EatRightPRO homepage and will also be promoted on social PRO channels. In addition, it will run in next week's Eat Right Weekly.

It is that time of the year to a review the Certificate of Training in Childhood and Adolescent Weight Management self-study module. We have given you access to the 2017 childhood program pre-work materials at www.cdrnet.org. Instructions to access the module are included below.

A paper copy of the module is attached. The paper copy module does not include the actual articles. Would you please review the articles included in the module and identify if there are any articles that should be added, subtracted, or replaced. Keep in mind that the intent of the self-study is to provide attendees with the foundation knowledge to allow richer discussions at the onsite workshop (in other words, they should be consistent with the self-study learning objectives identified within the module). The articles should not present the content that will be covered onsite. However, if you have suggested changes to the learning objectives, please do provide those too!

A paper copy of the current pre-test is also attached. Please review the test and identify items that should be deleted, edited or added. We have included the source and performance of each item for May 2018 program. There are seven poor performing questions on the pre-test. The questions are number 16, 27, 29, 37, 53, 59, 67. The anticipation is that the items will perform at 70%.

Please send your feedback to me by e-mail or fax (312/899-4772) by August 1, 2018. After we receive all the feedback, we will send you a summary of recommendations. Note that changes in articles will also change the learning activities and pre-test so we will be following up later for your input on those as well. All changes will be implemented effective with the November 2018 program

Please note the following:

- 1) The PNCM is linked in Learning Activity 1 - Confirm that this should remain
- 2) Counseling Videos and Documents are linked in Learning Activity 4 – Confirm that these should remain
- 3) We remove the Jeffreys MR. A model to guide cultural competence education. In Teaching Cultural Competence in Nursing and Health Care. Chapter 2, pgs. 24-38. Springer Publishing Company, NY, c2006 article from Learning Activity 4 because we were unable to obtain copyright permission.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact me. Have a great summer!

Pat, This is a great response and one that I will save for future “incidents” when people try and complain about the name changes. I can’t believe people are still bringing it up. I saw a post today on Facebook from an RDN talking about going against how the “American Dietetic Association” requires her to practice. She was promoting integrative nutrition. Very scary. No reason to wonder if she is a member. I wonder if she just came out of a coma? Thanks for sharing.

Hello Christine,

I was a little surprised that you didn't have all the information related to the organizational name change and option to use the RDN designation. As a legal matter, the decision to change the organization's name is the responsibility of the Board, elected by the membership to act on its behalf. After the consideration of a name change was announced, all members had the opportunity to provide input on potential names as well as to suggest new names through focus groups and an all-member survey. When the name change was implemented, the Academy noted an increase in the number of media impressions (print, broadcast and electronic) from the Academy's media outreach activities; twenty billion media impressions were obtained in 2011, prior to the Academy's name change; contrasted with 30 billion impressions during the first six months of 2012 alone.

In 2013, the Board and CDR approved the optional use of the credential "registered dietitian nutritionist" (RDN) by registered dietitians (RD) to further enhance the RD brand and more accurately reflect to consumers who registered dietitians are and what they do. It was supported by participants in the 2011 Future Connections Summit and the Council on Future Practice in its 2012 Visioning Report. The recommendation was shared and discussed in the HOD at the Fall 2012 meeting. The 2013 joint meeting of the major organizational units (CDR, ACEND, CFP, the Education Committee, and Nutrition and Dietetics Educators and Preceptors DPG) supported moving forward. The RDN provides a wonderful opportunity for members, and the majority are using it.

The response to both changes has been extremely positive from both internal and external stakeholders. The FAQs are attached for additional background. I hope this brings clarity to why and how the decisions were made.

Great seeing you!

The communication is clear so I don't understand what talking points are needed. Alison, please provide the names of members serving on the three groups, but they should not be released unless there's a groundswell demanding them. I don't want our members who offer their expertise and time to be potentially attacked or bullied. Much depends on the Speaker's message, which I'm assuming is straightforward about the labeling draft rule and that resources are available to guide consumers. The rest follows naturally.

Hi Doris,

Thanks again for sharing this communication piece. I have one quick follow-up question. Are any talking points being developed for the BOD and/or spokespersons to address member questions/comments that may come up? Or are the potential talking points essentially what is already said in the message? For example, I can see us getting questions as to who was on the GMO Task Force.

Thanks,

Labeling of Bioengineered Food and Food Ingredients

The U.S. Department of Agriculture recently proposed a draft rule on the labeling of bioengineered food and food ingredients. The new labels will be released in July. Continuing our work in this area, the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics will submit comments that focus on support for a label that is consistent with the organization's Labeling Principles, which emphasize clarity, consistency and utility to consumers.

The Academy Positions Committee, the Evidence Based Practice Committee and the GMO Task Force followed a systematic process to identify a reputable and complete scientific report on GMOs and the Academy Board of Directors accepted their recommendation to support the National Academy of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine's report as the most reputable and complete scientific report available to guide policy decisions. The report states in part:

While recognizing the inherent difficulty of detecting subtle or long-term effects in health or the environment, the study committee found no substantiated evidence of a difference in risks to human health between currently commercialized genetically engineered (GE) crops and conventionally bred crops, nor did it find conclusive cause-and-effect evidence of environmental problems from the GE crops.

NASEM's study, developed by experts representing 15 scientific societies, provides an independent, objective examination of what has been learned since the introduction of GE crops, based on current evidence.

NASEM's rich resources and the USDA's materials help guide consumers and provide clarity regarding the safety and scientific evidence surrounding bioengineered foods and food ingredients. Visit both websites for detailed information.

ON THE PULSE OF PUBLIC POLICY

Senate Committee Advances Farm Bill

The Senate Agriculture Committee has advanced its version of the 2018 farm bill with bipartisan support. The Academy believes the Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018 would build on what has worked in the past, with common-sense investments and targeted improvements to strengthen programs that ensure critical food access for families in need; continue advancement in agricultural research; and support nutrition education to empower people to make lasting, healthful choices. Majority Leader Mitch McConnell (Ky.) expressed his intent to bring the bill to the Senate floor before July 4. The Academy asks members: Urge your senators to vote "Yes" on the bill, and urge them to oppose any harmful amendments.

When I was running for Pres. I went to every affiliate and DEP web page and got the email that was available/posted for a couple key leaders (e.g., Pres or chair or the newsletter editor) and sent promo material (cannot believe I took all that time and did all that work!). I guess my point is we should not stop candidates from being creative in campaigning, just stop them from being unethical or non compliant. We need to think about what is what and also what is not appropriate but not get so restrictive we actually discourage campaigning - and subsequent voting.

The concern, I feel, is that it may come across like one must have a campaign manager to win. It might also bring up the question why a staff member was doing the campaigning, which is against policy. What we are trying to do is clarify that DPGs must promote all candidates associated with their unit equally via the group's communication channels. It may look like an expectation that DPGs and Executive Directors (staff) follow suit.

I wanted to pass by a thought before I talk to Barb Pyper. As much as I can change a can't to a can, I try to do it. I will be talking to Barb Pyper to let her know that as an Executive Director that she can no longer "run" one candidate's campaign. But, would you think it would be helpful to have her to present a part or a part 2 of the guidelines webinar to all candidates (reinforcing she cannot do this preferentially) on the how-to's of campaigning with social media (not just the what's which is in the campaign guidelines)? Some candidates will have these skills already so not everyone will need it but some (like me) would appreciate this "how to" help.

My thinking is that if all candidates do more campaigning (I know it is their decision whether they want to or not), then maybe our members will get to know the candidates better before voting, feel better about voting--and actually vote. I have to be honest, Terri Raymond's campaign was how I got to know her. I had no clue about her before.

Again, just a thought before I talk to Barb.

Academy Applauds North Carolina Legislature for Passing Bill to Modernize the Dietetics Practice

The Modernize Dietetics/Nutrition Practice Act, H.B. 357, passed the North Carolina legislature on June 14 and is a significant win for the Academy, the North Carolina Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, and the people of North Carolina. It represents the culmination of more than three years of negotiations to draft legislation that ensures high standards of qualifications for licensure and opens up additional professional opportunities for RDNs to practice at the height of their scope of practice.

Farm Bill Action in Full Swing

The U.S. Senate Agriculture Committee advanced its version of the 2018 farm bill with bipartisan support on June 13. The Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018, S. 3042, would build on what has worked in the past with common sense investments and targeted improvements to strengthen nutrition programs to ensure critical food access for families in need, continue advancement in agricultural research and support nutrition education to empower people to make lasting, healthful food choices. We expect to see the farm bill on the Senate floor the final week of June.

Additionally, we expect to see the House vote on H.R. 2 once again later this week, which would end or reduce food assistance benefits for a substantial number of people who are struggling to put food on the table.

Take action today to support the Senate farm bill and put a stop the damaging House farm bill.

To learn more about the farm bill and the Academy's recommendations, visit our farm bill webpage .

Congress Begins Consideration of Health Spending Legislation

The U.S. House Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education Appropriations Subcommittee passed the Fiscal Year 2019 Labor, Health and Human Services spending bill on June 15. The bill will now be considered by the full Appropriations Committee on Tuesday, June 26, and the live stream of the hearing can be viewed here.

Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program Map Highlights Need for More Programs & Opportunities for Academy Members

Health care providers and Medicare beneficiaries can now search for Medicare Diabetes Prevention Programs by Zip Code. Demand still exceeds supply for this new Medicare benefit, so RDNs and NDTRs should seize the opportunity to fill the gaps. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently updated its program recognition requirements, reducing some of the barriers to achievement of the requirements (a necessary step to becoming a Medicare MDPP supplier).

An upcoming webinar will help Academy members learn how to integrate and leverage diabetes prevention programs in corporate, community and health care settings. Register for the live webinar on Tuesday, July 17 at 12 p.m. (Central Time) and earn 1.5 free CPEs. The webinar will be recorded and posted to the Academy's Payment webpage for future viewing.

For more information, visit the Academy's Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program website.
PAL Monthly Call, July 26

Take Your Congressman to Work, July 17 - Register

The Academy invites RDNs to “Take Your Congressman to Work” in August. Inviting elected officials and their staff to your practice or facility helps them understand the important and valuable role RDNs play in improving the health and wellbeing of the nation. It is also an opportunity for elected officials to see how federal programs work in their local communities.

The Academy will host a webinar to help you plan the site visit and provide tips and talking points on the Academy’s legislative priorities. The webinar will be on July 17 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time). Register today.

Leading the Way: PPW Prep for PPCs and PALs, August 21 - Register

During the 2018 Public Policy Workshop, on October 23 - 24, Academy members will have the opportunity to influence food and nutrition policy on Capitol Hill. PPCs and PALs should attend the webinar to prepare for PPW. The policy and advocacy training will provide tips on how to become voice of nutrition that Congress trusts. The webinar will be August 21 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time). Register today.

Regulatory Roundup

Regulatory Roundup

The regulatory items are ordered by date and open for comment, but note that some deadlines are very soon. If you would like to comment on any of these items, please contact the Policy and Advocacy Leader of a relevant DPG. If you have any questions, please contact Mark Rifkin or TenáshaEbrahimkhel.

PALs, please plan to review the regulatory opportunities section each week and share the information with your executive board or team.

Notice of Proposed Rulemaking: National Bioengineered Food Disclosure Standard to provide a mandatory uniform labeling standard for bioengineered food without conveying any claims about health, safety or environmental attributes. (AMS)

Draft Research Plan for High Blood Pressure in Adults: Screening to define the research questions for assessing the validity of blood pressure screening in adults. (USPSTF)

Info Collection: National Universal Product Code (NUPC) Database to continue collection of standardized information from manufacturers and retailers about WIC-eligible foods for distribution to State agencies. (FNS)

Facilitation of Public-Private Dialogue to Increase Innovation and Investment in the Healthcare Sector to develop a workgroup to facilitate constructive, high-level dialogue between HHS leadership and those focused on innovating and investing in the healthcare industry. (HHS)

National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey (NHANES)—Revision to revise the NHANES survey by adding and removing various items, and apply the survey biannually instead of annually. (CDC)

Draft Research Plan: Diet and Physical Activity Counseling for Cardiovascular Disease Prevention in Adults with Cardiovascular Risk Factors - to define the research questions for assessing the effectiveness of counseling adults with CVD risk factors. (USPSTF)

(AHRQ)

Action Center

Action Required: House Farm Bill and Preventative Health Savings Act

There are three action alerts now open. Even if you have taken action on the House farm bill, please take action again.

- Support the Senate Farm Bill: The Senate is expected to vote on its farm bill, the Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018, by the end of June. We are asking Academy members to take action today. Urge your senators to vote in favor of this bill that reauthorizes and builds on the successes of important nutrition programs, and urge them to oppose any harmful amendments.
- Oppose the House Farm Bill: The U.S. House of Representatives may vote again on the farm bill. The Academy opposes the House Farm Bill, which as written would make a number of changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program that could result in 2 million people losing their benefits or having their benefits reduced. The Academy is also concerned that the bill would make substantial changes to nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthful choices. Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.
- Preventative Health Savings Act, H.R. 2953/S. 2164: As the chronic disease epidemic continues to worsen, the need is critical for legislation that will allow Congress to accurately assess the full savings of enacting prevention-focused measures. The conventional 10-year budget window that is used by the Congressional Budget Office fails to give Congress a complete picture of long-term savings from disease prevention efforts. Urge your members of Congress to co-sponsor the Preventive Health Savings Act ( H.R. 2953/S. 2164). This bill would encourage a sensible economic review of proposed health policies and programs that Congress believes will improve public health.

Take Action!

Cut and past the following message and post to your communication platforms.

(PPCs/PALs, Please Post this Message to Your Communication Channels)

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, please urge your representative to oppose H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018. The U.S. House of Representatives is expected to consider a farm bill that would make harmful changes to our nation's largest and most effective food assistance program, the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. SNAP is highly effective in helping working families, seniors, military members and veterans put food on their tables. However, the House farm bill could result in more than 2 million people losing access to critical food assistance or having their benefits reduced.

Please send the new action alert message to your representative. Let them know how legislation would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Nomination Notices

Nomination Call: National Advisory Council for Healthcare Research and Quality [new]

The Agency on Healthcare Research and Quality, an agency within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, seeks nominees to the National Advisory Council for Healthcare Research and Quality to provide guidance to the agency regarding research concerning low-income groups; minority groups; women; children; the elderly; and individuals with special health care needs, including individuals with disabilities and individuals who need chronic care or end-of-life health care.

The Council meets in the Washington, D.C., metro area about three times a year and members serve 3-year terms. If you would like to be considered for nomination by the Academy, please submit a letter of interest describing why you are a good fit and your CV by Saturday, July 7 to Mark Rifkin, manager, consumer protection and regulation.

Nomination Call: Advisory Committee on Infant Mortality

The Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, is seeking nominations of qualified candidates for consideration for appointment as members of the Advisory Committee on Infant Mortality for four-year terms. ACIM provides advice to the HHS Secretary on activities and programs directed at reducing infant mortality, improving the health status of pregnant women and infants and reducing perinatal health disparities. ACIM also provides advice on how best to coordinate the myriad of federal, state, local and private programs and efforts around the health and social problems affecting infant mortality.

If you would like to nominate a colleague (or yourself) for the committee, please send a letter of interest describing why you are a good fit and your CV to Mark Rifkin. Today is the deadline for nominations- submit as soon as possible.

Nomination Call: Council on Graduate Medical Education

One obstacle to increasing physician referrals to registered dietitian nutritionists is the limited nutrition content in the medical education curriculum. Academy members have an opportunity to influence physician education and workforce training through the Council on Graduate Medical Education, a unit of the Health Resources and Services Administration (an agency under the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services).

COGME is seeking nominations for new members to serve four-year terms, and the Academy would like to nominate someone who is an MD/RDN. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

Nomination Call: National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps

In order to improve health equity and access to care, which are Academy priorities, the Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, administers the National Health Service Corps program, which offers financial support to providers and students pursuing selected careers in exchange for commitments to work in medically underserved areas. Unfortunately, the agency has been slow to recognize the rationale for reinstating RDN as an approved career option (approval was terminated in the 1980s).

Academy members have an opportunity to influence policy through the National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps, which is seeking nominations for new members to serve three-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate someone with expertise addressing workforce shortages and barriers to access to care, especially for underserved populations. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

PALs, please plan to review the nomination opportunities section and share the information with your executive board or team.

Dietary Guidelines for Americans 2020-2025, Call for Experts

Experts needed! The Academy will be seeking input from Academy members and DPGs over the next two years as we make recommendations on the upcoming Dietary Guidelines 2020-2025.

Additionally, the Academy will select nominees to serve on the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee. Nomination criteria for the most recent 2015 DGAC was detailed as:

“Prospective members of the DGAC should be knowledgeable of current scientific research in human nutrition and chronic disease and be respected and published experts in their fields. The prospective members also should be familiar with the purpose, communication, and application of the Guidelines and have demonstrated interest in the public's health and well-being through research and/or educational endeavors. Expertise will be sought in specific specialty areas that may include, but are not limited to, cardiovascular disease; type 2 diabetes, overweight and obesity; osteoporosis; cancer; pediatrics; gerontology; maternal/gestational nutrition; epidemiology; general medicine; energy balance, which includes physical activity; nutrient bioavailability; nutrition biochemistry and physiology; food processing science, safety and technology; public health; nutrition education and behavior change; and/or nutrition-related

If you would like to nominate any qualified experts, including yourself, who meet the criteria for DGAC nominations, please submit their name(s), credentials and contact information to Nate Stritzinger. Contact Pepin Tuma to learn more.

Call for Member Input: Use of ERS Resources

The Academy has heard that there may be an effort to consolidate the National Agricultural Statistics Service and the Economic Research Service at the U.S. Department of Agriculture. We are concerned that research capacity could be lost should this consolidation occur, and would like to impress upon the administration how important ERS research activities are to our members.

Please fill out the short Google form with information regarding how you use ERS reports, data and other publications. For additional questions, contact Nicole Burda.

Medicare Learning Network Call: Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program Supplier Enrollment, June 20

On June 20 from 1:30 to 3 p.m. (Eastern Time), the Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program team will present information about the MDPP supplier enrollment requirements and process on a Medicare Learning Network call.

During this call, find out about the MDPP, the processes organizations and health care providers must go through to enroll as MDPP suppliers and how to bill for services. A question and answer session will follow the presentation.

The audience for the call is individuals working at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recognized Diabetes Prevention Program organizations; organizations interested in becoming MDPP suppliers, including existing Medicare providers/suppliers, community organizations, non-for-profits; associations, and advocacy groups focused on seniors or diabetes; and other interested stakeholders, including health plans, primary care providers and internal medicine specialties are encouraged to attend.

Register for Medicare Learning Network events for more information.

Op-ed Member Survey

We asked members and affiliates to raise their voice in support of nutrition programs in the farm bill by submitting an op-ed to your local paper. Please let us know if you submitted an op-ed and if it was published by taking this quick survey. Thanks in advance!

Haven't submitted an op-ed yet? There is still time to show support for nutrition programs in the farm bill by submitting an op-ed. The Academy has developed op-ed templates on the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and nutrition education programs to get you started.

Publishing an op-ed is a great way to get the attention of your members of Congress. The op-ed should ideally come from the president or public policy coordinator, but each affiliate can identify who will submit the op-ed(s) on behalf of the affiliate. For templates, please contact Erin Zumbrun.

PPCs, remember to report your op-eds via the survey for your affiliates.

NQF Endorses Measure for BMI and Nutrition Counseling

All,

While including Barb is a great idea, it may bring the unintended consequences that Joan has identified. It may be best to go with the original plan of Eileen having a conversation with Barb to clarify the campaign policies. Eileen, thanks for thinking out of the box!

Any other comments or suggestions?

Thanks,

The concern, I feel, is that it may come across like one must have a campaign manager to win. It might also bring up the question why a staff member was doing the campaigning, which is against policy. What we are trying to do is clarify that DPGs must promote all candidates associated with their unit equally via the group's communication channels. It may look like an expectation that DPGs and Executive Directors (staff) follow suit.

All, it was such a pleasure spending the two days with you in Chicago. I thought it was a very productive meeting and got so much out of the time together.

I wanted to pass by a thought before I talk to Barb Pyper. As much as I can change a can't to a can, I try to do it. I will be talking to Barb Pyper to let her know that as an Executive Director that she can no longer "run" one candidate's campaign. But, would you think it would be helpful to have her to present a part or a part 2 of the guidelines webinar to all candidates (reinforcing she cannot do this preferentially) on the how-to's of campaigning with social media (not just the what's which is in the campaign guidelines)? Some candidates will have these skills already so not everyone will need it but some (like me) would appreciate this "how to" help.

My thinking is that if all candidates do more campaigning (I know it is their decision whether they want to or not), then maybe our members will get to know the candidates better before voting, feel better about voting--and actually vote. I have to be honest, Terri Raymond's campaign was how I got to know her. I had no clue about her before.

Again, just a thought before I talk to Barb.

The concern, I feel, is that it may come across like one must have a campaign manager to win. It might also bring up the question why a staff member was doing the campaigning, which is against policy. What we are trying to do is clarify that DPGs must promote all candidates associated with their unit equally via the group's communication channels. It may look like an expectation that DPGs and Executive Directors (staff) follow suit.

I will be talking to Barb Pyper to let her know that as an Executive Director that she can no longer "run" one candidate's campaign. But, would you think it would be helpful to have her to present a part or a part 2 of the guidelines webinar to all candidates (reinforcing she cannot do this preferentially) on the how-to's of campaigning with social media (not just the what's which is in the campaign guidelines)? Some candidates will have these skills already so not everyone will need it but some (like me) would appreciate this "how to" help.

My thinking is that if all candidates do more campaigning (I know it is their decision whether they want to or not), then maybe our members will get to know the candidates better before voting, feel better about voting--and actually vote. I have to be honest, Terri Raymond's campaign was how I got to know her. I had no clue about her before.

Again, just a thought before I talk to Barb.

Pat, I would not say it was tabled as much as very few people were in favor of it. Kris was, but everyone else felt like it would take care of itself in a few years. I would like to maybe have a discussion at the retreat when I bring up the motion to add someone to the nominating committee. What is interesting is that three of the people who won who did not have an advanced degree ran against people without an advanced degree. That really makes only two people who beat someone with an advanced degree. We can talk more about this on our call Friday.

I am not sure if you have worked with Susie Nanney an RD, Ph.D. from U Minnesota School of Public Health. Susie was killed this weekend in a motorcycle crash with her husband. She was an amazing member known for her research and advocacy for food security for children. Her passion was next to none and her smile engaged us all.

She was a recent RWJ fellow working on Senate staff of Senator Amy Klobuchar. Her work resulted in some quality legislation being written on nutrition and nutrition education.

Please share if you would like with others. I am numb with this news.

This has been a sad weekend for our Academy members.

His life was more than that-he had a huge warm heart, an amazing smile, he was a talented athlete, body builder and top of his class in vocational school. If you knew him you know he loved baseball, a good Italian meal, a lover of diverse music styles. He loved his family and God very much and in his short and troubled life, he touched our hearts and made a difference in surprising ways. The journey was not easy for him or us, but we are better people because of it. The struggle is over for my son, for that I am grateful. It is a great comfort to know he is in the loving arms of our Savior. May he Rest In Peace.”

Some of you have asked about public transportation options to the hotel. If taking the CTA Blue line from O'Hare, exit at the Grand stop and it is a 15 minute walk (.7 miles) to the Hampton Inn. Be the Expert: Write for National Publications

Date: Tuesday, June 19, 12 PM CST (1 hr. event)

CPEU: 1 credit

In this world of emerging media, it's entirely possible to see your name and credentials in a byline for a national publication. But there's a lot to learn about the writing world that isn't taught in the traditional dietetics training path. This session will cover everything RDNs need to know about writing for national publications, such as the anatomy of a successful pitch, unique challenges dietitians may face with editors and readers, finding the right point of contact at the publication, and what to do after landing the writing gig.

Learning Objectives:

1. List the components of a successful article pitch.
2. Leverage their credentials, skills and knowledge to promote RDNs as the nutrition and food experts in the media.
3. Successfully pitch articles to top-tier publications and establish ongoing relationships with editors.

Some of you have asked about public transportation options to the hotel. If taking the CTA Blue line from O'Hare, exit at the Grand stop and it is a 15 minute walk (.7 miles) to the Hampton Inn. ## ON THE PULSE OF PUBLIC POLICY

Senate Is Expected to Advance Farm Bill

The Senate Agriculture Committee is expected to advance its version of the farm bill out of committee June 13 with bipartisan support. Majority Leader Mitch McConnell (Ky.) has said the full Senate plans to consider the bill by the end of June. The House of Representatives' path is less clear; its farm bill failed and the House has until June 22 to reconsider it, although the deadline could be extended.

Academy's Past President Quoted: Article on Farm Bill and School Lunch

Past President Donna S. Martin, EdS, RDN, LD, SNS, FAND, was interviewed by the news site Bloomberg Government for an article on provisions of the farm bill that would raise income requirements for students to be eligible for free school lunches. "Education is no cost, busing is no cost, books are no cost," Martin said. "All of that should be equal to lunch. I don't see why that's the only part of the day where the child has to pay."

White House Proposal: Reorganize Federal Government

The Trump administration is expected to release a proposal in June to reorganize the federal government, including the consolidation of "welfare" programs and renaming the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The proposal is expected to move the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and others from the Department of Agriculture to HHS. Since Congressional action usually is required for such a reorganization, the changes are considered unlikely to be implemented.

The Academy's political action committee makes it possible for the Academy to have a seat at the table on Capitol Hill and in Congressional districts, where we can advocate for priority issues broadly focused on prevention, health care and nutrition. In May, ANDPAC supported 23 members of Congress on both sides of the aisle. Of these events, nearly one-quarter were attended by state affiliates, who help advance the Academy's efforts by developing relationships with legislators. Special thanks to Alabama, California, Nebraska, Washington and Wisconsin affiliates for their recent efforts.

Thank you, Sandy.

The following changes to the MIGS have been made:

- Filipino Americans in Dietetics and Nutrition to Filipino Americans in Nutrition and Dietetics
- National Organization of Men in Nutrition to National Organization of Men in Nutrition and Dietetics

The DPGs match the current list online. A revised copy of the Organizational Unit assignments is attached. If there are any assignments you'd like to change, you will have an opportunity to swap assignments at the meeting.

Safe travels!

Hi Donna-

Regarding the World Central Kitchen staff, the preferred contact is Jeanette Morelan since she is actively facilitating points of contact with Jose and his team traveling in Guatemala for the next month. Her email is jmorelan@worldcentralkitchen.org

An additional point of consideration: If Alice is reaching out based on her role with the Academy's nutrition efforts in Guatemala, if she copies in a leader (one of the Presidents) and/or staff (Pat, myself, Doris) so we can make sure we align the conversation with his preparations for the keynote presentation at FNCE based on the information she provides.

Thanks,

Diane

I hope this message finds you well. How is your summer going so far? I was reaching out to you to ask for your input. As you know, Guatemala just suffered a major natural disaster after the explosion of a volcano. Thousands of families have been displaced and harmed. Chef Jose Andres through his charity World Central Kitchen is currently deploying food aid on the ground. I am interested in volunteering to help the people of Guatemala, since my ANDF project is focused on reducing malnutrition in Guatemala. Chef Jose is the keynote speaker for FNCE this year. I was wondering if you would be able to connect me with Chef Jose or someone in his staff, so I can learn more about his project? I also think it would be amazing if he learned about the Academy's nutrition efforts in Guatemala.

Diane, Do you think you could send me Chef Jose Andres contact information for me to share with Alice Figueroa? Please see her message below. Thanks!

His foundation has a contact form, but it so much more effective to email with someone directly. Thank you so much,

Hi Donna-

Regarding the World Central Kitchen staff, the preferred contact is Jeanette Morelan since she is actively facilitating points of contact with Jose and his team traveling in Guatemala for the next month. Her email is jmorelan@worldcentralkitchen.org

An additional point of consideration: If Alice is reaching out based on her role with the Academy's nutrition efforts in Guatemala, if she copies in a leader (one of the Presidents) and/or staff (Pat, myself, Doris) so we can make sure we align the conversation with his preparations for the keynote presentation at FNCE based on the information she provides.

Thanks,

Diane

Let me find a contact for his Foundation as Jose is currently in Guatemala right now with his team. Additionally, we are bound by contract to not share his direct contact information (all keynotes have this clause for privacy), so I will have to use one of his staff contacts.

I will work on this today.

As you know, Guatemala just suffered a major natural disaster after the explosion of a volcano. Thousands of families have been displaced and harmed. Chef Jose Andres through his charity World Central Kitchen is currently deploying food aid on the ground. I am interested in volunteering to help the people of Guatemala, since my ANDF project is focused on reducing malnutrition in Guatemala. Chef Jose is the keynote speaker for FNCE this year. I was wondering if you would be able to connect me with Chef Jose or someone in his staff, so I can learn more about his project? I also think it would be amazing if he learned about the Academy's nutrition efforts in Guatemala.

Diane, Do you think you could send me Chef Jose Andres contact information for me to share with Alice Figueroa? Please see her message below. Thanks!

His foundation has a contact form, but it so much more effective to email with someone directly.

Hi Donna-

Let me find a contact for his Foundation as Jose is currently in Guatemala right now with his team. Additionally, we are bound by contract to not share his direct contact information (all keynotes have this clause for privacy), so I will have to use one of his staff contacts.

I will work on this today.

Thanks,
Diane

Senate Agriculture Committee Expected to Advance Farm Bill

The Senate Agriculture Committee released its version of the farm bill last week. The bill is expected to advance the Senate farm bill out of committee with bipartisan support on Wednesday, June 13. Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell (Ky.) has announced that the full chamber plans to consider the bill by the end of the month. The House of Representatives' path forward is less clear. The House failed to pass H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018, and has until June 22 to reconsider its bill, although this deadline could be extended. Visit the Action Alert section below for a new action on H.R. 2.

Watch the Senate Agriculture Committee markup the farm bill live at 9:30 a.m. (Eastern Time) on June 13 here.

Bloomberg: No Free Lunch? Schools Worry Kids Left Out by Meal Program Cuts

More than a quarter of a million students could lose their eligibility for free school meals if the current version of the House farm bill passes, according to Bloomberg Government. Many of these students would remain eligible for reduced-price lunches, but for some families, particularly those with multiple children, the costs could remain a burden.

Less funding means a county's school nutrition program could need to lower the quality of food or reduce staff, Donna S. Martin, past president of the Academy, said in the story.

"Education is no cost, busing is no cost, books are no cost," she said. "All of that should be equal to lunch. I don't see why that's the only part of the day where the child has to pay."

Webinar on Promoting Diabetes Prevention Programs and New Payment Options, June 13

Join Healthy People 2020 and the Diabetes Advocacy Alliance on Wednesday, June 13 at 12 p.m. (Eastern Time) for a Spotlight on Health webinar about diabetes prevention programs and new payment options. The Academy is a member of the Diabetes Advocacy Alliance and continues to work with our partners to improve access to diabetes prevention programs.

Updated Resources on State-level Prevention Fund Activities

The Academy's partner Trust for America's Health has updated its Prevention Fund at Work, which details state-level investments made by the Prevention and Public Health Fund. Academy members play a critical role in the successful planning and implementation of nutrition programs receiving support from the Prevention Fund. Learn more about the Prevention Fund here.

Nominations for the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics' 2018 Award for Grassroots Excellence are open. If you believe that someone exemplified leadership and grassroots qualities, nominate them today! All nomination must be received by 5 p.m. (Eastern Time) on Friday, July 6.

Past award winners and current members of the Academy's Legislative and Public Policy Committee (LPPC), Consumer Protection and Licensure Subcommittee (CPLS) or the Academy's Political Action Committee (ANDPAC) Board of Directors are ineligible.

Action Center

Action Required: House Farm Bill and Preventative Health Savings Act

There are two action alerts now open. Even if you have taken action on the House farm bill, please take action again.

- Farm Bill: The U.S. House of Representatives may vote again on the farm bill. The Academy opposes the bill, which as written would make a number of changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program that could result in 2 million people losing their benefits or having their benefits reduced. The Academy is also concerned that the bill would make substantial changes to nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthful choices. Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.

- Preventative Health Savings Act, H.R. 2953/S. 2164: As the chronic disease epidemic continues to worsen, the need is critical for legislation that will allow Congress to accurately assess the full savings of enacting prevention-focused measures. The conventional 10-year budget window that is used by the Congressional Budget Office fails to give Congress a complete picture of long-term savings from disease prevention efforts. Urge your members of Congress to co-sponsor the Preventive Health Savings Act ( H.R. 2953/S. 2164). This bill would encourage a sensible economic review of proposed health policies and programs that Congress believes will improve public health.

Take Action!

Cut and past the following message and post to your communication platforms.

(PPCs/PALs, Please Post this Message to Your Communication Channels)

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, please urge your representative to oppose H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018. The U.S. House of Representatives is expected to consider a farm bill that would make harmful changes to our nation's largest and most effective food assistance program, the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. SNAP is highly effective in helping working families, seniors, military members and veterans put food on their tables. However, the House farm bill could result in more than 2 million people losing access to critical food assistance or having their benefits reduced.

Please send the new action alert message to your representative. Let them know how legislation would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.

Nomination Notices

Nomination Call: Advisory Committee on Infant Mortality

The Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, is seeking nominations of qualified candidates for consideration for appointment as members of the Advisory Committee on Infant Mortality for four-year terms. ACIM provides advice to the HHS Secretary on activities and programs directed at reducing infant mortality, improving the health status of pregnant women and infants and reducing perinatal health disparities. ACIM also provides advice on how best to coordinate the myriad of federal, state, local and private programs and efforts around the health and social problems affecting infant mortality.

If you would like to nominate a colleague (or yourself) for the committee, please send a letter of interest describing why you are a good fit and your CV to Mark Rifkin. The deadline for nominations is Tuesday, June 19.

Nomination Call: Council on Graduate Medical Education

One obstacle to increasing physician referrals to registered dietitian nutritionists is the limited nutrition content in the medical education curriculum. Academy members have an opportunity to influence physician education and workforce training through the Council on Graduate Medical Education, a unit of the Health Resources and Services Administration (an agency under the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services).

COGME is seeking nominations for new members to serve four-year terms, and the Academy would like to nominate someone who is an MD/RDN. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

Nomination Call: National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps

In order to improve health equity and access to care, which are Academy priorities, the Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, administers the National Health Service Corps program, which offers financial support to providers and students pursuing selected careers in exchange for commitments to work in medically underserved areas. Unfortunately, the agency has been slow to recognize the rationale for reinstating RDN as an approved career option (approval was terminated in the 1980s).

Academy members have an opportunity to influence policy through the National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps, which is seeking nominations for new members to serve three-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate someone with expertise addressing workforce shortages and barriers to access to care, especially for underserved populations. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

PALs, please plan to review the nomination opportunities section and share the information with your executive board or team.

Call for Member Input: Use of ERS Resources

The Academy has heard that there may be an effort to consolidate the National Agricultural Statistics Service and the Economic Research Service at the U.S. Department of Agriculture. We are concerned that research capacity could be lost should this consolidation occur, and would like to impress upon the administration how important ERS research activities are to our members.

Please fill out the short Google form with information regarding how you use ERS reports, data and other publications. For additional questions, contact Nicole Burda.

Op-ed Member Survey

We asked members and affiliates to raise their voice in support of nutrition programs in the farm bill by submitting an op-ed to your local paper. Please let us know if you submitted an op-ed and if it was published by taking this quick survey. Thanks in advance!

Haven't submitted an op-ed yet? There is still time to show support for nutrition programs in the farm bill by submitting an op-ed. The Academy has developed op-ed templates on the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and nutrition education programs to get you started.

Publishing an op-ed is a great way to get the attention of your members of Congress. The op-ed should ideally come from the president or public policy coordinator, but each affiliate can identify who will submit the op-ed(s) on behalf of the affiliate. For templates, please contact Erin Zumbrun.

PPCs, remember to report your op-eds via the survey for your affiliates.

All,

In preparation for our subcommittee breakouts, I'd like to suggest that the respective committees review carefully the following sections from the interviewees and member surveys:

- Campaign Guidelines, Attachment 7.1, questions 7,8, 9 and 10.
- Young member category, Attachment 7.2, questions 1,2 and 4 (with 439 comments)
- Interview questions, Attachment 7.1, questions 11 and 12
- Member engagement, Attachment 7.2, questions 4 and 6
- Biographic information committee has met and will have a motion to present on Friday.

Of course, there is lots of duplication in the comments and information will be sprinkled throughout the surveys. I hope that you will have time to review the entire surveys for data and sometimes comic relief.

Each year the NC has the opportunity to refine the process so kudos to the past committees.

See you soon.

Molly

Some of you have asked about public transportation options to the hotel. If taking the CTA Blue line from O'Hare, exit at the Grand stop and it is a 15 minute walk (.7 miles) to the Hampton Inn. If taking the CTA Orange line from Midway, exit at the Washington/Wells stop and it is a 10 minute walk (.5 miles) to the Hampton. Attached is a map and more detailed information. Taxis and Uber/Lyft are also available at the airports. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Happy Monday!

I look forward to seeing everyone this Friday in Chicago.

To get a head start on introductions, I'm attaching a slide that highlights my professional journey and some fun facts about me. I will take clarifying questions at the meeting!

I'm inviting you to do the same. The template provides a photo (does not have to be a headshot), contact information, career highlights, etc. Please share anything you'd like. This will be take the place of an ice breaker. So have fun with it.

I apologize for the short time frame. Please do your best to get your introduction slide to Joan by EOD on Thursday.

If you have any questions, please contact Joan or me.

Thanks for all you do.

Hello Donna,

Your joint proposal with Lucille on Childhood Obesity was submitted to the Association for Dietetics in South Africa for ICD 2020. Pat shared with me that you are also interested in submitting a presentation on the state of global school nutrition programs and how they differ from country to country. The proposals are limited to 300 words and deadline for submission is June 15. If could send me your presentation/outline from the talk on school nutrition you gave in Mexico, maybe we could use it as a springboard to prepare the ICD proposal for your review.

Thanks!

Hello Donna,

Your joint proposal with Lucille on Childhood Obesity was submitted to the Association for Dietetics in South Africa for ICD 2020. Pat shared with me that you are also interested in submitting a presentation on the state of global school nutrition programs and how they differ from country to country. The proposals are limited to 300 words and deadline for submission is June 15. If could send me your presentation/outline from the talk on school nutrition you gave in Mexico, maybe we could use it as a springboard to prepare the ICD proposal for your review.

Thanks!

Hello Academy Board,

I am pleased to share that the National Dairy Council will be renewing their three year-commitment to support the Foundation and our work with the Academy and Feeding America to advance the Future of Food Initiative. As part of this work, we will be hiring a Healthy and Sustainable Food Systems fellow.

The fellowship application opened on Monday on the Foundation's website. The application will be open until Sunday, June 17.

This opportunity will fund an RDN member of the Academy to participate full-time in a one-year project in collaboration with the Foundation's Future of Food (FOF) initiative to plan and convene a Healthy and Sustainable Food Systems roundtable; present at professional meetings; promote the Foundation's Sustainable, Resilient, and Healthy Food and Water Systems (SRHFWS) dietetic internship concentration; as well as facilitating a variety of additional FOF projects. The fellow will work closely with the Foundation, Academy, National Dairy Council, and partner staff to accomplish the goals of the fellowship. The fellowship begins on or around July 16, 2018.

Please let us know if you have any questions and feel free share this opportunity with your networks.

In the spirit of health and happiness,

Nicci

I appreciate that Diane is giving us a heads up, but since Lucille is speaking for herself we should not escalate the differing perspectives. As a past president, that is her right. The CPE event that landed us on probation w CDR represented the Academy's viewpoint, and since that's not being alluded to by Lucille I say we keep out of the debate. Thanks.

Hi all,

I check Lucille's Twitter and Facebook profiles and if she is criticizing detoxification (which I don't believe would be any less appropriate than an integrative dietitian criticizing whatever they don't support), she is doing so with her private following. I could not find any public posts on this topic in her feed.

Hope this helps,

Hi Amy,

I haven't seen anything on the EML about this.

DIFM EC uses Slack to communicate and then the chair brings relevant topics to me if there are any major concerns/follow up needed. I haven't heard anything about this from them thus far. I think they tend to get most upset if DIFM is called out specifically (to pick their battles), which doesn't look like what happened here, so I can see this not coming back to me. I'm happy to reach out to the chair to see if there's been Slack communication about this, but obviously that might just fan the flames.

To Whom It May Concern:

Lucille Beseler has been on Facebook just tearing apart the concept of “detoxification”. Several of us have mentioned it is disrespectful to the rest of the dietitians who practice integrative and functional nutrition, namely the DIFM group, regarding the concept of detoxification. We do not feel it is a “fad” as Lucille so adamantly proclaims to the whole world, but a process that is needed in the treatment process. I think it is unethical and disrespectful to be so naïve, condescending and outspoken against an accepted part of a therapeutic treatment process supported by an entire DPG group and included in a continuing education program put out by the Academy.

Several of us have mentioned it is disrespectful to the rest of the dietitians who practice integrative and functional nutrition, namely the DIFM group, regarding the concept of detoxification. We do not feel it is a “fad” as Lucille so adamantly proclaims to the whole world, but a process that is needed in the treatment process. I think it is unethical and disrespectful to be so naïve, condescending and outspoken against an accepted part of a therapeutic treatment process supported by an entire DPG group and included in a continuing education program put out by the Academy.

Hi Donna-

My name is Emily Wilkins and I'm Bloomberg Government's education reporter.

I'm working on a story about a provision in the Farm Bill that would raise the requirements for which students are eligible for a free school lunch – an estimated 265,000 kids would no longer qualify if the bill passes into law.

I'm trying to get a sense of just how important free school lunches are to districts and was told you'd be a good person to chat with about how your district has been impacted from the program allowing free meals for all students.

My deadline is tomorrow by noon (although I can potentially speak with someone later tomorrow.) I estimate an interview would take about 15-20 minutes.

Thanks for any help!

-Emily

ON THE PULSE OF PUBLIC POLICY

Senate Farm Bill Expected Soon

The Senate may introduce its farm bill as early as June 6. The bill is expected to be a bipartisan effort by Chairman Pat Roberts (Kan.) and Ranking Member Debbie Stabenow (Mich.), who are working on final details. While the Academy does not expect the bill to make significant changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program or nutrition education, as the House's bill did, amendments could be introduced when the bill moves to the Senate floor.

Academy Comments: Healthy Weight Gain During Pregnancy

For the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force's review of research regarding counseling to support healthy weight gain during pregnancy, the Academy has asked the task force to clarify if the review will address women planning pregnancy and women with low weight gain or low pre-pregnancy. The Academy also encouraged the task force to address the effectiveness of interventions by registered dietitian nutritionists. Members are invited to attend a June 13 Roundtable on Obesity Solutions webinar "The Current Understanding of Pre-Pregnancy Weight, Gestational Weight Gain and the Impacts on Maternal and Child Health among Women with Obesity."

Academy Submits Testimony on Senate Appropriations

The Academy submitted testimony June 1 for the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education's Fiscal Year 2019 spending bill. The testimony highlighted the Academy's support for senior nutrition programs, nutrition research and evidence-based public health nutrition programs.

Member Opportunity: Serve on Council on Graduate Medical Education

A lack of nutrition content in the medical education curriculum is an obstacle to increasing physicians' referrals to registered dietitian nutritionists. Academy members have an opportunity to influence physician education and workforce training through the Council on Graduate Medical Education, which is seeking nominations for new members to serve four-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate an MD/RDN for the council. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV and a letter describing their interest and basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin at mrifkin@eatright.org.

Member Opportunity: Serve on National Health Service Corps' National Advisory Council

The Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency of the U.S. Health and Human Services, administers the National Health Service Corps program, which offers financial support to providers and students pursuing selected careers in exchange for commitments to work in medically underserved areas. The agency has been slow to recognize the rationale for adding registered dietitian nutritionist as an approved career option (approval was ended in the 1980s). The Corps' National Advisory Council is seeking nominations for new members to serve three-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate an RDN with expertise in workforce shortages and barriers to access to care, especially for underserved populations. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV and a letter describing their interest and basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin at mrifkin@eatright.org.

PACs: Highly Regulated, They Help Build Relationships on Capitol Hill

It is a common myth that the Academy's political action committee gives lawmakers free gifts and expensive meals. In truth, PACs are an acceptable and highly regulated way for individuals to make a political donation. ANDPAC contributions are used to build relationships and to create an awareness on Capitol Hill for Academy members' issues and priorities. ANDPAC directly supports candidates for federal congressional office who are pro-nutrition, food and health.

Hi Donna-

My name is Emily Wilkins and I'm Bloomberg Government's education reporter.

I'm working on a story about a provision in the Farm Bill that would raise the requirements for which students are eligible for a free school lunch – an estimated 265,000 kids would no longer qualify if the bill passes into law.

I'm trying to get a sense of just how important free school lunches are to districts and was told you'd be a good person to chat with about how your district has been impacted from the program allowing free meals for all students.

My deadline is tomorrow by noon (although I can potentially speak with someone later tomorrow.) I estimate an interview would take about 15-20 minutes.

Thanks for any help!

-Emily

Dante, thanks for arranging this. I noticed they are still picking me up at 3:45 am in Vancouver on Saturday even though my flight is an hour later than the original reservation. Am I reading it wrong? I was hoping to be able to get 1 more hour of sleep since the flight was leaving at 7am instead of 6am. Any help would be appreciated. Thanks!

Step 1: Register today for the advocacy day in Washington, D.C.

Step 2: Register for the Diabetes Treatment and Prevention Webinar on July 12 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time) to prepare for the advocacy day.

If you cannot join us on Capitol Hill, we will share opportunities to engage in advocacy efforts in your own backyard during the webinar. Contact Tenásha Ebrahimkhel for more information.

PPCs and PALs, please share with your team and encourage people to attend.

Medicare Learning Network Call: Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program Supplier Enrollment, June 20

On June 20 from 1:30 to 3 p.m. (Eastern Time), the Medicare Diabetes Prevention Program team will present information about the MDPP supplier enrollment requirements and process on a Medicare Learning Network call.

During this call, find out about the MDPP, the processes organizations and health care providers must go through to enroll as MDPP suppliers and how to bill for services. A question and answer session will follow the presentation.

The audience for the call is individuals working at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recognized Diabetes Prevention Program organizations; organizations interested in becoming MDPP suppliers, including existing Medicare providers/suppliers, community organizations, non-profits; associations, and advocacy groups focused on seniors or diabetes; and other interested stakeholders, including health plans, primary care providers and internal medicine specialties are encouraged to attend.

Register for Medicare Learning Network events for more information.

Join the Next Farm Bill Monthly Call, June 28

Want to stay engaged with the farm bill? The Academy's PIA staff is hosting a monthly call to discuss the latest news from Capitol Hill and share how you can get involved with our advocacy efforts. The next call will be on Thursday, June 28 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time). Please RSVP to Nicole Burda, if you would like to join the call and stay informed.

Op-ed Member Survey

We asked members and affiliates to raise their voice in support of nutrition programs in the farm bill by submitting an op-ed to your local paper. Please let us know if you submitted an op-ed and if it was published by taking this quick survey. Thanks in advance!

Haven't submitted an op-ed yet? There is still time to show support for nutrition programs in the farm bill by submitting an op-ed. The Academy has developed op-ed templates on the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and nutrition education programs to get you started.

Publishing an op-ed is a great way to get the attention of your members of Congress. The op-ed should ideally come from the president or public policy coordinator, but each affiliate can identify who will submit the op-ed(s) on behalf of the affiliate. For templates, please contact Erin Zumbrun.

PPCs, remember to report your op-eds via the survey for your affiliates.

Senate Farm Bill Coming Soon

The Senate is expected to introduce its farm bill as early as June 6. Senate Agriculture Committee Chairman Pat Roberts (Kan.) would like to move the bill to the Senate floor one week after committee approval, possibly June 12, but has noted that the exact date is “a moving target.” The bill is expected to be the product of a bipartisan effort with Chairman Roberts and Ranking Member Debbie Stabenow (Mich.) continuing to work together to hash out the final details. While the Academy does not expect the Senate bill to make any major changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program or nutrition education like the House bill, it is possible that we could see problematic amendments when the bill moves to the Senate floor.

Nutrition Programs and Prevention of Elder Abuse Showcased During Congressional Hearing

June 15 is World Elder Abuse Awareness Day. We all have a role to play in preventing and detecting elder abuse; Older Americans Act (OAA) nutrition programs are a good starting point in that effort.

Recently, Bob Blancato, national coordinator of the Elder Justice Coalition and national coordinator of Defeat Malnutrition Today, testified before the House Appropriations Labor-HHS Subcommittee and made the connection between nutrition programs and prevention of elder abuse. He thanked Chairman Tom Cole (Okla.) and Ranking Member Rosa DeLauro (Conn.) for their support in increasing the OAA nutrition programs by $59 million and said, “A home-delivered meal is more than a meal; it is a daily safety check which can prevent elder abuse. Meals provided under the OAA can also prevent malnutrition, which contributes to elder abuse, most notably self-neglect.”

For more resources on elder abuse, visit the National Center for Elder Abuse website.

Regulatory Roundup

PALs, please plan to review the regulatory opportunities section each week and share the information with your executive board or team.

Nomination Notices

Nomination Call: Advisory Committee on Infant Mortality [new]

The Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, is seeking nominations of qualified candidates for consideration for appointment as members of the Advisory Committee on Infant Mortality (ACIM) for four-year terms. ACIM provides advice to the HHS Secretary on activities and programs directed at reducing infant mortality, improving the health status of pregnant women and infants and reducing perinatal health disparities. ACIM also provides advice on how best to coordinate the myriad of federal, state, local and private programs and efforts around the health and social problems affecting infant mortality.

If you would like to nominate a colleague (or yourself) for the Council, please send a letter of interest describing why you are a good fit and your CV to Mark Rifkin. The deadline for nominations is Tuesday, June 19.

Nomination Call: Council on Graduate Medical Education

One obstacle to increasing physician referrals to registered dietitian nutritionists is the limited nutrition content in the medical education curriculum. Academy members have an opportunity to influence physician education and workforce training through the Council on Graduate Medical Education, a unit of the Health Resources and Services Administration (an agency under Health and Human Services). COGME is seeking nominations for new members to serve four-year terms, and the Academy would like to nominate someone who is an MD/RDN. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

Nomination Call: National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps

In order to improve health equity and access to care, which are Academy priorities, the Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency of Health and Human Services, administers the National Health Service Corps program, which offers financial support to providers and students pursuing selected careers in exchange for commitments to work in medically underserved areas. Unfortunately, the agency has been slow to recognize the rationale for reinstating RDN as an approved career option (approval was terminated in the 1980s).

Academy members have an opportunity to influence policy through the National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps, which is seeking nominations for new members to serve three-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate someone with expertise addressing workforce shortages and barriers to access to care, especially for underserved populations. The agency is accepting nominations on a continuous basis, but interested candidates should send their CV along with a letter describing their interest in being nominated and the basis for the nomination as soon as possible to Mark Rifkin.

PALs, please plan to review the nomination opportunities section and share the information with your executive board or team.

ANDPAC Corner

PACS are Highly Regulated and Help Build Relationships on Capitol Hill

It is a common myth that the Academy's political action committee gives lawmakers free gifts and expensive meals. In fact, ANDPAC contributions are used to build relationships and to create an awareness on Capitol Hill for the issues and priorities of the members of the Academy. PACs are an acceptable and highly regulated way individuals can make a political donation. ANDPAC funds are used to directly support candidates for federal congressional office who are pro-nutrition, food, and health.

Join ANDPAC for a Walking Tour of DC Monuments

On Saturday, October 20 from 9-11 a.m. (Eastern Time), join ANDPAC for an architectural walking tour of historic DC. The multi-mile walk will kick-off at the Marriott Marquis and participants will walk by the White House, presidential memorials, the Smithsonian and historic downtown D.C. The walk will include a short break for refreshments. Participation is secured with a $25 ANDPAC contribution for this limited-participation event during FNCE. Come get your steps in, learn tidbits about the nation's capital and support ANDPAC! Register today.

Academy Members Highlight Nutrition Programs in Op-eds

Thank you to the Academy members whose tireless advocacy efforts helped build opposition to the House farm bill that failed earlier this month. You helped to protect food assistance for millions of people.

One of the ways Academy members spoke out against the SNAP provisions in the farm bill and in support of SNAP-Ed and the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program was by submitting op-eds to newspapers across the country. The Academy applauds Elaine M. Long, Ph.D., RDN, LD, the executive director of the Idaho Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, Crystal Wilson, EdS, RDN, LD, the president of the Idaho Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, and Mandy Enright, MS, RDN, for having their op-eds published, and a big thank you to our members who also submitted op-eds: Pat McKnight, MS, LD, FADA, FAND, Kendra Schmuck, RDN, LD, CDE, Catherine Mussatti, RD CD and Meghan Lyle, MPH, RD.

Read the editorials that were published in the Idaho State Journal, the Spokesman-Review (Idaho), the Idaho Press-Tribune and the Courier Post Online (New Jersey).

Submitted an op-ed but don't see your name above? Fill out the survey by June 15.

If you have been making strides in your community (attending ANDPAC events, meeting with policy makers, etc.) – let us spread the word! Send photos and a quick write-up about your recent policy accomplishments to Tenásha Ebrahimkhel. We would love to share your story and inspire others.

Experts needed! The Academy will be seeking input from Academy members and DPGs over the next two years as we make recommendations on the upcoming Dietary Guidelines 2020-2025.

Additionally, the Academy will select nominees to serve on the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee. Nomination criteria for the most recent 2015 DGAC was detailed as:

“Prospective members of the DGAC should be knowledgeable of current scientific research in human nutrition and chronic disease and be respected and published experts in their fields. The prospective members also should be familiar with the purpose, communication, and application of the Guidelines and have demonstrated interest in the public's health and well-being through research and/or educational endeavors. Expertise will be sought in specific specialty areas that may include, but are not limited to, cardiovascular disease; type 2 diabetes, overweight and obesity; osteoporosis; cancer; pediatrics; gerontology; maternal/gestational nutrition; epidemiology; general medicine; energy balance, which includes physical activity; nutrient bioavailability; nutrition biochemistry and physiology; food processing science, safety and technology; public health; nutrition education and behavior change; and/or nutrition-related systematic review methodology.”

If you would like to nominate any qualified experts, including yourself, who meet the criteria for DGAC nominations, please submit their name(s), credentials and contact information to Nate Stritzinger. Contact Pepin Tuma to learn more.

Call for Member Input: Use of ERS Resources

The Academy has heard that there may be an effort to consolidate the National Agricultural Statistics Service and the Economic Research Service at the U.S. Department of Agriculture. We are concerned that research capacity could be lost should this consolidation occur, and would like to impress upon the administration how important ERS research activities are to our members.

Please fill out the short Google form with information regarding how you use ERS reports, data and other publications. For additional questions, contact Nicole Burda.

Be the Expert: Write for National Publications

CPEU: 1 credit

In this world of emerging media, it's entirely possible to see your name and credentials in a byline for a national publication. But there's a lot to learn about the writing world that isn't taught in the traditional dietetics training path. This session will cover everything RDNs need to know about writing for national publications, such as the anatomy of a successful pitch, unique challenges dietitians may face with editors and readers, finding the right point of contact at the publication, and what to do after landing the writing gig.

Learning Objectives:

1. List the components of a successful article pitch.
2. Leverage their credentials, skills and knowledge to promote RDNs as the nutrition and food experts in the media.
3. Successfully pitch articles to top-tier publications and establish ongoing relationships with editors.

Your ANDPAC contribution helps us make a difference in improving our nation's health and nutrition.

Dear Donna,

Thank you for your contribution in May of $250 to the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Political Action Committee (ANDPAC). You have contributed $270 to ANDPAC in 2018 so far. As a reminder, ANDPAC contributions are totaled over a calendar year (January 1 – December 31). You can now check your donation online. Simply go to ANDPAC, sign in and click on Donation Summary.

ANDPAC donor levels in a calendar year are as follows:

- Champions donate $1000 or more
- Eagles contribute $500 to $999
- President's Circle donors contribute $250 to $499
- Capitol Club donors contribute $100 to $249
- Student Stars are student members who donate $25 or more

The funds we receive from generous members like you make it possible for the Academy to articulate its legislative objectives directly with members of Congress and to engage in a dialogue with the elected officials who lead our country. In the month of May, ANDPAC supported 23 bipartisan members of Congress, allowing the Academy to connect both on Capitol Hill and in-district. This provides us with a seat at the table to advocate for prevention and well being, food and nutrition safety and security, and health care and health systems issues the Academy cares about.

As members of the Academy, we have the opportunity to support food, nutrition and health initiatives at federal, state and local levels. Your donation to ANDPAC helps the Academy achieve its vision of optimizing the nation's health through food and nutrition.

Thank you again for your support and contribution to ANDPAC!

Sincerely,

Trisha Fuhrman, MS, RDN, LD, FAND, FASPEN

Hi All,

Our friend Carl Barnes is at Walter Reed - I am sure he will have some scoop! Look forward to seeing him this fall at FNCE.

Committee Purpose and Functions

The main charge of this committee is to recommend to the Board of Directors (BOD) candidates for the Academy's national honors and awards. The committee's functions are to solicit nominations, review nomination packets and recommend recipients to the BOD; evaluate the national honors and awards process; and review proposals for new Academy national honors and awards.

Composition

The committee is comprised of the immediate past Academy president, who serves as Chair; the immediate past Honors Committee Chair (Ex Officio); three former Academy National Honors and Award recipients, including a former Copher Award recipient; a Dietetic Technician, Registered; one BOD Director-at-Large; and three Academy members, including one new practitioner (practicing dietetics seven years or less).

Upcoming Teleconferences

The Honors Committee meets via teleconference around 4 times per year (September, February, April, and May). Prior to our first call in September, you will receive an email containing a Doodle scheduling poll to determine the date and time of the call.

Time Commitment

Please be advised that the bulk of the work occurs in March and April when the online honors and awards packets are reviewed and scored. Committee members should allot approximately 30 minutes per honors packet for review, with an average of 20-30 packets per committee member.

Thanks again for your willingness to serve on this committee – volunteers like you are vital to the Academy. I look forward to speaking with all of you soon!

Donna

Hi Donna,

Marsha Schofield and I have discussed Michele Lites' position as BOD Liaison to the Honors Committee. The question about her continuing to serve on the committee after coming off the BOD actually came up during this year's committee appointment process and it was determined that there are historical precedents for serving in that capacity while no longer serving on the Board. Additionally, Michele has accepted the two-year term and is expecting to be on the committee for another year. As a result, Mary Russell and Marcy Kyle chose to let Michele fulfill her term of office.

If you would like to pursue ending Michele's term before its time is up at the end of next year, Marsha is willing to convene a call between Pat Babjak, Mary Russell, Marcy Kyle and yourself to determine next steps.

How would you like to proceed?

Thank you,

Matthew Novotny

Thank you for noticing this. Honors Committee members serve two year terms, so she was left on the committee. However, since she's not on the BOD anymore, we need a BOD Liaison. Would you like me to ask Marsha and Mary to appoint another BOD member, perhaps a new member who could serve for two years like Sharon Cox?

No, I am not willing to go that far. We can let it stand and I can be the liaison to the BOD. Please feel free to send out the welcome letter. Thanks for checking this out and giving me the back story.

As a result, Mary Russell and Marcy Kyle chose to let Michele fulfill her term of office.

If you would like to pursue ending Michele's term before its time is up at the end of next year, Marsha is willing to convene a call between Pat Babjak, Mary Russell, Marcy Kyle and yourself to determine next steps.

How would you like to proceed?

Hi Donna,

Thank you for noticing this. Honors Committee members serve two year terms, so she was left on the committee. However, since she's not on the BOD anymore, we need a BOD Liaison. Would you like me to ask Marsha and Mary to appoint another BOD member, perhaps a new member who could serve for two years like Sharon Cox?

Thank you,

Well long range forecasts are notoriously unreliable-but I am hoping this one is right! At the moment Vancouver may have rain on Wed 6/6 but sun on 6/7 and partly cloudy on 6/8! With temps of close to 70- how good is that??

I found some well rated restaurants on Open Table however am sure the Westin concierge will have great ideas.

Terri your stories are amazing!!! I can see you in that white fur clutching a bottle of cold duck. We will have a **blast****!!

OK P's, you now have me more fired up about Vancouver than I already was. I head to Portland tomorrow to talk to the child and adolescent weight management program so hopefully I will have plenty of time to peruse the program. Looking forward to being with all of you as we network, learn and show them how the Academy collaborates to further our strategic plan. I do not have any knowledge of Vancouver so I cannot be any help, but am willing to try or do anything. See you soon!

Hi Donna-

My name is Emily Wilkins and I'm Bloomberg Government's education reporter.

I'm working on a story about a provision in the Farm Bill that would raise the requirements for which students are eligible for a free school lunch – an estimated 265,000 kids would no longer qualify if the bill passes into law.

I'm trying to get a sense of just how important free school lunches are to districts and was told you'd be a good person to chat with about how your district has been impacted from the program allowing free meals for all students.

My deadline is tomorrow by noon (although I can potentially speak with someone later tomorrow.) I estimate an interview would take about 15-20 minutes.

Thanks for any help!

-Emily

Pat, thanks very much for the update and the information on Wed and Thurs dinner plans. I downloaded the app and the general conference guide and plan to review in detail and select sessions tomorrow.

It will be such a pleasure to dialogue with the board members, and to connect with “regular” members attending the conference.

Op-ed Member Survey

We asked members and affiliates to raise their voice in support of nutrition programs in the farm bill by submitting an op-ed to your local paper. Please let us know if you submitted an op-ed and if it was published by taking this quick survey. Thanks in advance!

PPCs, remember to report for your affiliates!

Call for Member Input: Use of ERS Resources

The Academy has heard that there may be an effort to consolidate the National Agricultural Statistics Service and the Economic Research Service at the U.S. Department of Agriculture. We are concerned that research capacity could be lost should this consolidation occur, and would like to impress upon the administration how important ERS research activities are to our members. Please fill out the short Google form with information regarding how you use ERS reports, data and other publications. For additional questions, contact Nicole Burda, Director, Legislative and Government Affairs.

News from the Hill and Beyond

Senate Passes Resolution Honoring Older Americans Month

The U.S. Senate unanimously passed a bipartisan resolution designating the month of May as “Older Americans Month.” Senate Aging Committee Chairwoman Susan Collins (Maine) and Ranking Member Bob Casey (Pa.) introduced the resolution which recognizes the success of older Americans and the important role they play in society.

During Older Americans Month, the Academy highlighted legislation that supports older adults, including the Nourishing Our Golden Years Act and the Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act.

The Nourishing Our Golden Years Act (S. 2085), sponsored by Sens. Casey and Collins, would set the Commodity Supplemental Food Program certification period for one year and provide states the flexibility to extend CSFP certification period beyond the set minimum. The Academy continues to work to ensure seniors experiencing food insecurity have access to nutritious food to preserve and improve their health and independence.

The Academy supports the Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act (H.R. 3124/S. 1299), which would allow RDNs to provide MNT for prediabetes to patients who are Medicare beneficiaries. The House bill is sponsored by Reps. Diana DeGette (Colo.) and Lynn Jenkins (Kan.) and the Senate version is sponsored by Sen. Gary Peters (Mich.) and Sen. Shelley Moore Capito (W.Va.)

The Zombie House Farm Bill

After the House farm bill, H.R. 2, failed on the House floor, a motion was filed to reconsider the measure which has since been extended. The House now has until June 22 to decide if they want to reconsider the bill.

The manager’s amendment accompanying H.R. 2, included an amendment that would reopen the nutrition standards for meals, foods and beverages sold in schools, which the Academy publicly opposed in advance of amendment consideration. The amendment process also intensified the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program work requirement provisions, including an amendment that would make it more difficult for states to get federal waivers for high-unemployment areas

The Center on Budget and Policy Priorities estimates that this would result in an additional 600,000 people losing SNAP compared with the original bill. House Agriculture Chairman Michael Conaway has stated that there is no reason for him to change any language in the farm bill and is pushing for a second vote on the farm bill immediately following the majority leadership striking a deal on a pathway forward for immigration.

We expect to see the Senate version of the farm bill in early June. The current farm bill expires on Sept. 30.

Appropriations Committees Approve Funding Levels

The Senate and House Appropriations Committees approved their fiscal year 2019 302(b) allocations, the topline funding levels for each of the 12 appropriations subcommittees. With small to no increases in the topline allocations for the subcommittees with jurisdiction over the Departments of Agriculture and Health and Human Services, it will be challenging for federal nutrition programs to obtain increased investments.

Both chambers have also advanced their fiscal year 2019 agriculture spending bills out of committee. The Senate bill would provide $23.2 billion in discretionary funding, a $225 million increase over the FY 2018 enacted level for the Department of Agriculture and Food and Drug Administration and the House bill would provide $14 million above the FY 2018 level.

The Labor-HHS spending bills are often the final spending bills to move through each chamber given that a number of the programs in the bills are seen as more politically controversial. The Academy will continue to advocate for health and nutrition program funding.

Regulatory Roundup Coming Soon, June 5

Starting next week, PPWN will contain a new section titled "Regulatory Roundup," detailing the open federal regulatory proposals with suitable links. This is intended to increase member opportunities for input, and further enhance the overall quality of Academy comments to federal agencies. This means all PALs could begin receiving comments from members who have not previously submitted input.

We understand there may be glitches in the process, but ultimately we look forward to a smoothly-running process facilitating the delivery of high-quality comments from DPG members to PALs, and from PALs to the Policy Initiatives and Advocacy Team. If you have any questions, please contact Mark Rifkin or TenáshaEbrahimkhel.

PALs, please plan to review the regulatory opportunities section each week and share the information with your executive board or team.

Academy Nominates Members to Serve on National Clinical Care Commission

Thanks to the Diabetes Care and Education DPG instrumental help in the Academy's nomination process, Academy members Melinda Maryniuk, MEd, RDN, CDE, FADA, and Anna Parker DCN, MS, RD, CDE, CCRC, have been nominated to serve on the National Clinical Care Commission. The commission will evaluate and recommend solutions for better coordination and use of federal programs to support care for people with diabetes and metabolic syndromes and disorders. The commission will consist of health care experts including registered dietitian nutritionists who will offer practical insights on how to improve clinical care for people with diabetes. The Academy helped bring the commission to fruition by supporting legislation sponsored by U.S. Reps. Dave Loebsack (Iowa) and Pete Olson (Texas) and U.S. Sens. Susan Collins (Maine) and Jeanne Shaheen (N.H.) which created the commission.

Nomination Call: Council on Graduate Medical Education

One obstacle to increasing physician referrals to registered dietitian nutritionist is limited nutrition content in the medical education curriculum. Academy members have an opportunity to influence physician education and workforce training through the Council on Graduate Medical Education, which is seeking nominations for new members to serve four-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate someone who is a MD/RDN. If you would like to nominate a colleague (or yourself) for the Council, please contact Mark Rifkin, manager, consumer protection and regulation.

Nomination Call: National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps

In order to improve health equity and access to care, which are Academy priorities, the Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency of the U.S. Health and Human Services, administers the National Health Service Corps program, which offers financial support to providers and students pursuing selected careers in exchange for commitments to work in medically underserved areas. Unfortunately, the agency has been slow to recognize the rationale for adding RDN as an approved career option.

Academy members have an opportunity to influence policy through the National Advisory Council on the National Health Service Corps, which is seeking nominations for new members to serve three-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate someone with expertise addressing workforce shortages and barriers to access to care, especially for underserved populations. If you would like to nominate a colleague (or yourself) for the Council, please contact Mark Rifkin, manager, consumer protection and regulation.

PALs, please plan to review the nomination opportunities section and share the information with your executive board or team.

Dietary Guidelines for Americans 2020-2025, Call for Experts

Experts needed! The Academy will be seeking input from Academy members and DPGs over the next two years as we make recommendations on the upcoming Dietary Guidelines 2020-2025.

Additionally, the Academy will select nominees to serve on the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee. Nomination criteria for the most recent 2015 DGAC was detailed as:

“Prospective members of the DGAC should be knowledgeable of current scientific research in human nutrition and chronic disease and be respected and published experts in their fields. The prospective members also should be familiar with the purpose, communication, and application of the Guidelines and have demonstrated interest in the public's health and well-being through research and/or educational endeavors. Expertise will be sought in specific specialty areas that may include, but are not limited to, cardiovascular disease; type 2 diabetes, overweight and obesity; osteoporosis; cancer; pediatrics; gerontology; maternal/gestational nutrition; epidemiology; general medicine; energy balance, which includes physical activity; nutrient bioavailability; nutrition biochemistry and physiology; food processing science, safety and technology; public health; nutrition education and behavior change; and/or nutrition-related systematic review methodology.”

If you would like to nominate any qualified experts, including yourself, who meet the criteria for DGAC nominations, please submit their name(s), credentials and contact information to Nate Stritzinger. Contact Pepin Tuma to learn more.

Congressional Management Foundation Webinar, Creating Events Back Home, May 31

Join the Congressional Management Foundation for the “Creating Events Back Home” webinar on Thursday at 1 p.m. (Eastern Time). As Tip O'Neill once stated, "all politics is local." CMF research shows that members of Congress consider visits to local facilities to be one of the most valuable ways to understand constituent views and opinions – more than any other source of information.

During this program, participants will learn the following:

- How should advocates prepare to host an event?
- How to entice Members of Congress to attend local events or meet with key stakeholders?
- What steps should advocates take to invite legislators to attend an event in their district?

The webinar will be conducted by Bradford Fitch, CMF president and CEO, and Seth Turner, director of citizen engagement. If you have any questions regarding this presentation, please contact Jaime Werner at CMF. To watch the presentation, register today.

Thanks Mary Pat,

It has been really great to have an energetic team and to have Nicole's leadership. We have been trying to look for ways to engage our members and better develop the grassroots activities and the farm bill was a perfect place to do that! The monthly call with stakeholders has been really well received and we hear from the policy leaders and volunteers that they appreciate the communication. Nicole and Erin worked to develop a series of Op-Ed articles and we were successful in getting them published in a few locations and hope to build on this effort moving forward. The advocacy day with our partners was a great opportunity to talk about nutrition education and research – a nice follow up to last year's PPW on the same topic, and we did build on our relationship with ASN. One of my favorite campaigns has been the social media images and messages that Erin and strategic communications developed. There was a lot of positive feedback from members and we had good presence.

The Senate language is due out soon and we have been having conversations with the committee and leadership and feel like it will be a more reasonable bill. We also anticipate that the House may reconsider its version, so have been doing some targeted advocacy to address that as well. As you know, the work is never done!

It has been great to see the funding progress for the Dietary Guidelines. Nicole has been communicating regularly with USDA about this and other issues and we have met with them about the DGA's and have a good plan in place.

Glad your trip was a success and always appreciate your support and experience as we navigate the rough waters!

Thanks again for the message, very much appreciated!

Hello!

I am just back from an amazing Alaska trip, wow! Never experienced anything like this.

I want to say "great job" to the Academy for the wonderful leadership during this difficult time of the Farm Bill reauthorization. I am very proud of the work that Nicole and Jeanne have done. It has not been easy with the division in Congress not seen before with the Agriculture committees. I have been contacted occasionally by members and their staff on thoughts. I have never spoken on behalf of the Academy but rather as an individual. But honestly, the Academy does not need me to do that...Nicole has gotten outstanding comments on her work shared by others.

And on another note, The Academy has been leaders in getting funding for the first time for the Dietary Guidelines! This is absolutely amazing and gives recognition to the importance of nutrition science and research. Our USDA members are thrilled with this outcome and feel very supported. And other members understand the importance of the DG for guiding Americans in healthy eating.

Kudos and wine to Jeanne and Nicole!

ON THE PULSE OF PUBLIC POLICY

Academy Nominates Members to Serve on National Clinical Care Commission

The Diabetes Care and Education dietetic practice group provided valuable assistance in the Academy's nomination of Melinda Maryniuk, MEd, RDN, CDE, FADA, and Anna Parker, DCN, MS, RD, CDE, CCRC, to the National Clinical Care Commission. The commission will evaluate and recommend solutions for better coordination and use of federal programs to support care for people with diabetes and metabolic syndromes and disorders. The Academy helped bring the commission to fruition by supporting legislation sponsored by U.S. Reps. Dave Loebsack (Iowa) and Pete Olson (Texas) and U.S. Sens. Susan Collins (Maine) and Jeanne Shaheen (N.H.).

Member Opportunity: Serve on Council on Graduate Medical Education

A lack of nutrition content in the medical education curriculum is an obstacle to increasing physicians' referrals to registered dietitian nutritionists. Academy members have an opportunity to influence physician education and workforce training through the Council on Graduate Medical Education, which is seeking nominations for new members to serve four-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate an MD/RDN for the council. To nominate a colleague or yourself, email Mark Rifkin, manager of consumer protection and regulation, at mrifkin@eatright.org.

Learn More

Member Opportunity: Serve on National Health Service Corps' National Advisory Council

The Health Resources and Services Administration, an agency of the U.S. Health and Human Services, administers the National Health Service Corps program, which offers financial support to providers and students pursuing selected careers in exchange for commitments to work in medically underserved areas. The agency has been slow to recognize the rationale for adding registered dietitian nutritionist as an approved career option. Academy members can influence HRSA's policy through the corps' National Advisory Council, which is seeking nominations for new members to serve three-year terms. The Academy would like to nominate an RDN with expertise in workforce shortages and barriers to access to care, especially for underserved populations. To nominate a colleague or yourself, email Mark Rifkin, manager of consumer protection and regulation, at mrifkin@eatright.org.

House Farm Bill May Still Be Alive

Following a motion to reconsider its recent vote against the farm bill, H.R. 2, the House has until June 22 to decide whether to reconsider the bill. Potential amendments include reopening nutrition standards for meals, foods and beverages sold in schools, which the Academy has opposed; and intensifying the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program work requirement provisions to make it more difficult for states to get federal waivers for high-unemployment areas. The Center on Budget and Policy Priorities estimates this would result in 600,000 more people losing SNAP, compared with the original bill. The Senate's version of the farm bill is expected in early June.

Senate and House Appropriations Committees Approves FY 2019 Topline Allocations

The Senate and House Appropriations committees have approved their Fiscal Year 2019 topline funding levels for the 12 appropriations subcommittees. With little to no increases in allocations for subcommittees with jurisdiction over the Departments of Agriculture and Health and Human Services, it will be challenging for federal nutrition programs to obtain increased investments. Each chamber has advanced its FY 2019 agriculture spending bills out of committee; the Senate bill would provide a $225 million increase over the 2018 levels for the USDA and Food and Drug Administration, and the House bill would provide $14 million above FY 2018 levels. The Labor-HHS spending bills are often the final spending bills to move through each chamber, since many programs are considered more politically controversial. The Academy will continue to advocate for health and nutrition program funding.

Senate Passes Older Americans Month Resolution

The U.S. Senate unanimously passed a bipartisan resolution designating May as Older Americans Month. Aging Committee Chairwoman Susan Collins (Maine) and Ranking Member Bob Casey (D-Pa.) introduced the resolution, which recognizes the success of older Americans and the important role they play in society.

Hello!

I am just back from an amazing Alaska trip, wow! Never experienced anything like this.

I want to say "great job" to the Academy for the wonderful leadership during this difficult time of the Farm Bill reauthorization. I am very proud of the work that Nicole and Jeanne have done. It has not been easy with the division in Congress not seen before with the Agriculture committees. I have been contacted occasionally by members and their staff on thoughts. I have never spoken on behalf of the Academy but rather as an individual. But honestly, the Academy does not need me to do that...Nicole has gotten outstanding comments on her work shared by others.

And on another note, The Academy has been leaders in getting funding for the first time for the Dietary Guidelines! This is absolutely amazing and gives recognition to the importance of nutrition science and research. Our USDA members are thrilled with this outcome and feel very supported. And other members understand the importance of the DG for guiding Americans in healthy eating.

Kudos and wine to Jeanne and Nicole!

Hey guys, I am speaking at this great workshop in Asheville, NC and they asked me to see if there was anyway eatright and eatrightpro could tweet out about the workshop. I saw that you all liked one of my tweets on the workshop, but was not sure if you all could also do a tweet? See information below. I know they would really appreciate the help and they are putting on a great program. Thanks!

Good morning Donna

Hope this finds you well. It's been raining for DAYS up here and it's soggy and dreary. The farmers are having a time of it too.

I know that Sarah sent you and all the other Healthy Eating in Practice conference speakers an email last week, asking for your help in spreading the word. Are you able to get eatright.org and eatrightpro.org to tweet and facebook about the conference? They have so many followers that we believe this to be an effective outreach. We are considering renting some of their lists as well.

Any help that you can provide to get the word out there would be so appreciated. I think we have a marvelous line up, great sessions and field trips, but we need to get the folks there.

Thanks so much,

Emily

Yes Matthew, I think we need a BOD member. I think she served 2 years didn't she? I thought we only appointed BOD liaisons for one year anyway?

Hi Donna,

Thank you for noticing this. Honors Committee members serve two year terms, so she was left on the committee. However, since she's not on the BOD anymore, we need a BOD Liaison. Would you like me to ask Marsha and Mary to appoint another BOD member, perhaps a new member who could serve for two years like Sharon Cox?

Thank you,

Hi Donna-

My name is Emily Wilkins and I'm Bloomberg Government's education reporter.

I'm working on a story about a provision in the Farm Bill that would raise the requirements for which students are eligible for a free school lunch – an estimated 265,000 kids would no longer qualify if the bill passes into law.

I'm trying to get a sense of just how important free school lunches are to districts and was told you'd be a good person to chat with about how your district has been impacted from the program allowing free meals for all students.

My deadline is tomorrow by noon (although I can potentially speak with someone later tomorrow.) I estimate an interview would take about 15-20 minutes.

Thanks for any help!

-Emily

Love, love these! I'm adding my little critter to the mix...a baby owl that we found in our garden this weekend. Not much bigger than a tennis ball. He was clapping his beak and fluffing himself up to scare us off :) We didn't touch him as we read that baby owl chicks are very self sufficient. Who knew? (See pic at bottom of this string).

Hi Donna-

My name is Emily Wilkins and I'm Bloomberg Government's education reporter.

I'm working on a story about a provision in the Farm Bill that would raise the requirements for which students are eligible for a free school lunch – an estimated 265,000 kids would no longer qualify if the bill passes into law.

I'm trying to get a sense of just how important free school lunches are to districts and was told you'd be a good person to chat with about how your district has been impacted from the program allowing free meals for all students.

My deadline is tomorrow by noon (although I can potentially speak with someone later tomorrow.) I estimate an interview would take about 15-20 minutes.

Thanks for any help!

Hello!

I am just back from an amazing Alaska trip, wow! Never experienced anything like this.

I want to say "great job" to the Academy for the wonderful leadership during this difficult time of the Farm Bill reauthorization. I am very proud of the work that Nicole and Jeanne have done. It has not been easy with the division in Congress not seen before with the Agriculture committees. I have been contacted occasionally by members and their staff on thoughts. I have never spoken on behalf of the Academy but rather as an individual. But honestly, the Academy does not need me to do that...Nicole has gotten outstanding comments on her work shared by others.

And on another note, The Academy has been leaders in getting funding for the first time for the Dietary Guidelines! This is absolutely amazing and gives recognition to the importance of nutrition science and research. Our USDA members are thrilled with this outcome and feel very supported. And other members understand the importance of the DG for guiding Americans in healthy eating.

Kudos and wine to Jeanne and Nicole!

2017- 2018 Year in Review

Hello fellow health professionals!

Thank you for allowing me to serve as your president. It's been an honor and I am grateful for the opportunity.

Don't the years seem to fly by? As my term ends and the new president's term begins, I am reminded of the Japanese word "Kaizen." It means "continuous improvement." Every year is a chance for change. It's a chance to improve and make things better.

This has been a busy year. Thanks to the ideas, guidance and dedication of the Executive Board, the CA Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics has made great progress, and as a result, is a better affiliate.....

As your president, I was fortunate enough to have experienced a couple of rewarding moments: 1) It was a privilege to attend a Los Angeles City Council meeting and receive a proclamation for the Academy's 100th anniversary. 2) We were on the Senate floor in Sacramento to receive a Resolution for National Nutrition Month during our Public Policy Workshop.....

As I hand over the "torch" to our new president, I look forward to continuing to improve the California Academy next year and for many more years in the future.

Ruth Frechman, MA, RDN, CPT
CA Academy President 2017-2018

Marvelous Start to a Delicious End

The CAND 2018 Annual Conference began marvelously and ended deliciously!

From the AND President, Donna Martin's inspirational presentation to Wendy Bazilian's closing session and culinary delight, the Conference was splendid! The educational sessions were very highly rated and some sessions had standing room only! The exhibit hall had sponsors and vendors who offered tasty food and beverage samples along with products and resources of great value to the profession. And, many had job opportunities available.

Check out the sponsor and advertisers Flip Book. Job opportunities are listed and product information is included.

Make plans now to attend the 2019 Annual Conference. It will be held at the Riverside Convention Center, April 11-13!

Subject: Meeting Announcement: Community Preventive Services Task Force

Dear Donna, Carol, Jessica, Marti, Nina, Lisa, Linette, Phyllis, Charlotte and Jill,

As experts in the field, you may already be aware of the referenced meeting, but I wanted to share it with each of you. Details are below.

The meeting will be held on Wednesday, June 13 from 8:30 am to 6:00 pm and Thursday, June 14 from 8:30 am to 1:00 pm ET at the CDC Edward R. Roybal Campus, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Headquarters (Building 19), 1600 Clifton Road NE, Atlanta, GA 30329.

All meeting attendees must register. Those unable to attend the meeting in person are able to do so via webcast. CDC will send the webcast URL to registrants upon receipt of their registration. All remote attendees must register by June 8, 2018 to receive the webcast information. CDC will email webcast information from the CPSTF@cdc.gov mailbox.

Public Comment: A public comment period, limited to three minutes per person, will follow the CPSTF's discussion of each systematic review. Individuals wishing to make public comments must indicate their desire to do so with their registration by providing their name, organizational affiliation, and the topic to be addressed (if known). Public comments will become part of the meeting summary. Public comment is not possible via webcast.

Background on the CPSTF: The CPSTF is an independent, nonfederal panel whose members are appointed by the CDC Director. CPSTF members represent a broad range of research, practice, and policy expertise in prevention, wellness, health promotion, and public health. The CPSTF was convened in 1996 by the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to identify community preventive programs, services, and policies that increase healthy longevity, save lives and dollars, and improve Americans' quality of life. CDC is mandated to provide ongoing administrative, research, and technical support for the operations of the CPSTF. During its meetings, the CPSTF considers the findings of systematic reviews on existing research and practice-based evidence and issues recommendations. CPSTF recommendations are not mandates for compliance or spending. Instead, they provide information about evidence-based options that decision makers and stakeholders can consider when they are determining what best meet the specific needs, preferences, available resources, and constraints of their jurisdictions and constituents. The CPSTF's recommendations, along with the systematic reviews of the evidence on which they are based, are compiled in the Guide to Community Preventive Services (The Community Guide).

Matters proposed for discussion: Mental Health (Effectiveness of School-Based Depression and Anxiety Prevention Interventions); Obesity Prevention and Control (Combined School-Based Diet and Physical Activity Interventions); Physical Activity (Effectiveness of Active Transportation to School Interventions); Women's Health (Exercise-based Interventions for Gestational Hypertension); and discussion of Community Guide effectiveness and economic methods. The agenda is subject to change without notice.

I hope each of you will consider attending or asking a colleague to do so.

Please advise us of your plans.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me.

Thanks again for your interest in public policy issues.

Dear Angela,

On behalf of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics' Board of Directors, we are pleased to inform you that you have been selected to receive the Academy's 2018 Medallion Award, recognizing your lifetime of contributions to the nutrition and dietetics profession and the Academy. Congratulations on this remarkable achievement.

The 2018 Medallion Awards will be presented at a special Honors Breakfast on Sunday, October 21, at 7 a.m. at the 2018 Food & Nutrition Conference & Expo™ (FNCE®) in Washington, D.C. Please prepare a 60-second acceptance speech in advance of the presentation. Presenting the awards early in the FNCE® program allows you to wear the Medallion throughout the week to celebrate your leadership. Recognizing the importance of having family and friends share in this celebration, you are welcome to invite nine guests to the breakfast. Medallion recipients will also be recognized in a brief ceremony at the Member Showcase on Monday, October 22. Additionally, we can provide one (1) complimentary guest pass for a non-member-eligible guest to attend the Member Showcase.

Additional information regarding FNCE® is attached for your review, and more information will follow as it becomes available. The attached document also includes the specifications for a high-resolution color photo that we hope you will be able to provide for use on the FNCE® Digital Honors Display by June 15.

Congratulations again, and we look forward to seeing you in Washington, D.C.

Join the Next Farm Bill Monthly Call, May 31

Want to stay engaged with the farm bill? The Academy's PIA staff is hosting a monthly call to discuss the latest news from Capitol Hill and share how you can get involved with our advocacy efforts. The next call will be May 31 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time). To join the call and stay informed, RSVP to Nicole Burda.

Save the Date - Diabetes Prevention and Treatment Advocacy Day, July 24

Mark your calendars! The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics will be hosting a Diabetes Prevention and Treatment Advocacy Day on July 24 in Washington, D.C. The Academy will be advocating for expanded medical nutrition therapy and same day DSMT and MNT services. The event is free and open to all members and the public. For more information, stay tuned for the next issue of PPWN.

Call for Member Input: Use of ERS Resources

The Academy has heard that there may be an effort to consolidate the National Agricultural Statistics Service and the Economic Research Service at the U.S. Department of Agriculture. We are concerned that research capacity could be lost should this consolidation occur, and would like to impress upon the administration how important ERS research activities are to our members.

Please share how you use ERS reports, data and other publications with Nicole Burda

New Report Shows Health Professionals Are Trusted Source About Foods to Eat

Health care professionals are the most trusted source about which foods to eat or avoid, according to the 13th Annual Food and Health Survey, released by the International Food Information Council Foundation. The report showed that Americans age 65 and older were more likely (76 percent) to trust a registered dietitian compared to adults age 35 and younger (65 percent). The report also showed that more than one in three U.S. consumers are following a specific diet or eating pattern.

News from the Hill and Beyond

Farm Bill Fails the House; Academy Asks House and Senate to Work Together

The House of Representatives failed to pass its farm bill, H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018, on May 18. We would like to thank Academy members for your advocacy work to build opposition to H.R. 2 and protect food assistance for millions of Americans. The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics opposed the House's version of the farm bill. Read the Academy's statement, here.

House Speaker Paul Ryan has called for a motion to reconsider the bill, which means H.R. 2 will be brought back to the House floor for another vote on June 22. The Academy expects the Senate Agriculture Committee to release and advance its version of the farm bill in June, then head to the floor for a full Senate vote. The Academy urges the Senate and House to work in a bipartisan manner, and will continue to work with Congress to develop a farm bill that improves health for all, especially those most susceptible to experiencing food insecurity.

Regulatory Roundup

Regulatory Roundup Coming Soon, June 5

Starting June 5, PPWN will contain a new section titled "Regulatory Roundup," detailing the open federal regulatory proposals with suitable links. This is intended to increase member opportunities for input, and further enhance the overall quality of Academy comments to federal agencies. This means all PALs could begin receiving comments from members who have not previously submitted input.

We understand there may be glitches in the process, but ultimately we look forward to a smoothly-running process facilitating the delivery of high-quality comments from DPG members to PALs, and from PALs to the Policy Initiatives and Advocacy Team. If you have any questions, please contact Mark Rifkin or Tenasha Ebrahimkhel.

PALs, please plan to review the regulatory opportunities section each week and share the information with your executive board or team.

Thumbs Up

If you have been making strides in your community (attending ANDPAC events, meeting with policy makers, etc.) – let us spread the word! Send photos and a quick write-up about your recent policy accomplishments to Tenásha Ebrahimkhel. We would love to share your story and inspire others.

Public Policy Workshop

Register for FNCE® 2018 and PPW Today

For the first time, the Academy's Public Policy Workshop (PPW) will immediately follow FNCE®. PPW at FNCE® 2018 will feature pre-event training webinars, a face-to-face training session on Tuesday, October 23 (after Closing Session), and a visit to Capitol Hill on Wednesday, October 24.

Features will include:

- Advanced Policy & Advocacy educational track
- Public Policy Workshop (PPW) beginning after Closing Session on October 23
- Meeting with Policy makers on Capitol Hill on October 24

Included in FNCE® 2018 registration, PPW will be an ideal opportunity for members to advance your advocacy skills, gain policy experience and be proficient in the Academy's key policy messages to present during visits to the Hill. We encourage members who plan to attend FNCE® to extend their stay for PPW. Registration is now open.

A training will be held in August 2018 to prepare the affiliate public policy coordinators and the DPG policy and advocacy leaders for their respective roles during PPW. Registrants for PPW will be asked to attend or listen to two webinars in September to become familiar with the messaging and advocacy materials. The focus of the Hill meetings will be on malnutrition.

The Academy is planning to convene a rally on the steps of the U.S. Capitol on October 24 to kick off the day and increase awareness of malnutrition and the role of RDNs and NDTRs. Learn more and register today.

'Tis the Primary Season

Primary season in full swing across the U.S. Ten states have already held their primary elections – not including Arkansas, Georgia and Kentucky which have their elections today – and there are 40 more states to go by the beginning of September. ANDPAC has supported more than 70 candidates so far, which is more than the total number of candidates supported all last year! Dietary Guidelines for Americans 2020-2025, Call for Experts

Experts needed! The Academy will be seeking input from Academy members and DPGs over the next two years as we make recommendations on the upcoming Dietary Guidelines 2020-2025.

Additionally, the Academy will select nominees to serve on the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee. Nomination criteria for the most recent 2015 DGAC was detailed as:

“Prospective members of the DGAC should be knowledgeable of current scientific research in human nutrition and chronic disease and be respected and published experts in their fields. The prospective members also should be familiar with the purpose, communication, and application of the Guidelines and have demonstrated interest in the public's health and well-being through research and/or educational endeavors. Expertise will be sought in specific specialty areas that may include, but are not limited to, cardiovascular disease; type 2 diabetes, overweight and obesity; osteoporosis; cancer; pediatrics; gerontology; maternal/gestational nutrition; epidemiology; general medicine; energy balance, which includes physical activity; nutrient bioavailability; nutrition biochemistry and physiology; food processing science, safety and technology; public health; nutrition education and behavior change; and/or nutrition-related systematic review methodology.”

If you would like to nominate any qualified experts, including yourself, who meet the criteria for DGAC nominations, please submit their name(s), credentials and contact information to Nate Stritzinger. Contact Pepin Tuma to learn more.

Congressional Management Foundation Webinar, Creating Events Back Home, May 31

Join the Congressional Management Foundation for the “Creating Events Back Home” webinar on May 31 at 1 p.m. (Eastern Time). As Tip O'Neill once stated, "all politics is local." CMF research shows that members of Congress consider visits to local facilities to be one of the most valuable ways to understand constituent views and opinions – more than any other source of information.

During this program, participants will learn the following:

- How should advocates prepare to host an event?
- How to entice Members of Congress to attend local events or meet with key stakeholders?
- What steps should advocates take to invite legislators to attend an event in their district?

The webinar will be conducted by Bradford Fitch, CMF president and CEO, and Seth Turner, director of citizen engagement. If you have any questions regarding this presentation, please contact Jaime Werner at CMF. To watch the presentation, register today.

Lessons in Leadership: How to Manage Conflict and Ethical Challenges

Date: Tuesday, May 22, 12 PM CST (1 hr. event)

CPEU: 1 credit (Note: this event fulfills CDR's Ethics CPE requirement.)

What do leaders do when faced with challenging situations, including working with difficult personalities? Reflective practice is critical to learn how to handle yourself under pressure and has an immediate influence on how you are perceived within your professional community. This session will focus on active strategies for dealing with conflict and ethical dilemmas by considering actual case examples shared by other members.

Learning Objectives:

1. Identify the role that the perception of others plays in an individual's leadership growth and development.
2. List personal emotional responses and triggers that can result in poor decision-making and a lack of best ethical judgement.
3. Create a reflective image of "self as leader" to enhance competence to serve in leadership roles, as a volunteer, staff, team member and entrepreneur to take your career to a new level of success.

The newly revised Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Code of Ethics goes into effect June 1, 2018. Professional codes of ethics are dynamic documents, modified and adapted as society and professions change. This is true of the Academy/CDR Code of Ethics which has evolved over time as health care has become more complex. The variety of arenas in which nutrition and dietetics practitioners work is now more multifaceted and challenging than ever. A Code review and revision recognizes the changes in nutrition and dietetics practice and is responsive to trends in digital health care, social media and the evolving use of other technologies. The newly revised Code is comprised of a Preamble, four main Principles and 31 standards.

You may have noticed a new online group called Diversify Dietetics. It is not a formal Academy group, but it is comprised of our members, including former spokespeople, who encourage interns and students to go into nutrition and dietetics and provide them with information by linking to Academy resources. They complement the work of our Diversity Committee in very positive ways, and we are looking to arrange a discussion between the leaders of the group and the committee to identify ways we can assist each other.

Hi, Donna: As you know, the House is scheduled to vote today on the farm bill. The DC office has prepared two statements – one for use if it passes, the other if it's defeated. Both statements quote you. We have made some very small edits to the statements. Could you please review them (below) and let us know if they are OK or if you would like us to make any edits? ### Academy Opposes House-passed Farm Bill (if it passes)

CHICAGO – The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, the world's largest organization of food and nutrition professionals, is disappointed that the House on May 18 passed H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018. The Academy opposed the House's version of the farm bill.

The bill would make numerous changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program that are in contradiction to the Academy's position that systematic and sustained action is needed to achieve food and nutrition security in the U.S. SNAP is highly effective in preventing food insecurity and is linked with improved health and lower health care costs. SNAP helps one in eight Americans put food on the table and keeps more than 8 million people out of poverty, including nearly 4 million children.

"The House-passed legislation has the potential to harm the health, nutrition and food security of millions of Americans," said registered dietitian nutritionist and Academy President Donna S. Martin. "We understand this is another step in a long process to bring the bill to fruition, and as the Senate Agriculture Committee moves forward with its bill, we encourage the Senate to advance a bill that strengthens important nutrition programs.”

The Academy expects the Senate Agriculture Committee to release and advance its version of the farm bill in June, then head to the floor for a full Senate vote. The Academy urges the Senate and House to work in a bipartisan manner, and the Academy will continue to work with Congress to develop a farm bill that improves health for all, especially those most susceptible to experiencing food insecurity.

Credential Opportunity for your Employees—Dietetic Technician, Registered (DTR)

Are you interested in helping your employees advance themselves professionally? Individuals who have successfully completed both a bachelor's degree and an Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics (ACEND) accredited Didactic Program in Dietetics (DPD) are eligible to take the registration examination for dietetic technicians without meeting additional academic or supervised practice requirements. Once credentialed, these individuals are required to comply with the Commission on Dietetic Registration's (CDR) professional development/recertification requirements, the Code of Ethics for the Profession of Dietetics and the Standards of Practice.

HOW TO TAKE THE REGISTRATION EXAMINATION FOR DIETETIC TECHNICIANS

If you have an employee who has met these eligibility requirements, but has not yet established eligibility with CDR, they should contact the current program director from their ACEND accredited DPD program to pursue the application process for submission to CDR. Candidates who are already eligible for the examination for dietetic technicians would have previously received an Authorization to Test email from CDR's testing vendor Pearson VUE. This email contains information on how to schedule their examination.

Candidates approved for registration eligibility are authorized to test for one year at a time. The one-year authorization period is indicated in their Authorization to Test email. If the candidate's one-year authorization period has expired, they should reauthorize on the CDR website (<https://reps.cdrnet.org/reauth/>) or by contacting Elaine Butler at ebutler@eatright.org. If the candidate has misplaced their current Authorization to Test email and would like it resent or would like to schedule their examination by phone, they can contact Pearson VUE at 888-874-7651.

For additional information, please visit: <https://www.cdrnet.org/three>.

If you have comments or questions about eligibility to take the registration examination for dietetic technicians, please contact Peggy Anderson at panderson@eatright.org or Rebecca Beavers at rbeavers@eatright.org.

Hi Beth,

Thanks for your response and the NFPE workshop overview information you provided. Unfortunately this was not my experience when I attended the NFPE training on 27 Sep 2016 in Columbia, Maryland. It was provided by Abbott Nutrition and lasted 4 hours with only the presenter. As I noted in my email to Donna there was no hands on activities as part of the training as it was all done by Powerpoint. Also, there was no information provided about monthly phone call discussion or any type of follow-up after the training to help with the implementation of this practice. I will check the site for locations close to me and consider attending the training again.

Respectfully,

Jen

Hi Jennifer,

Thank you for your inquiry and comments.

I could not agree with you more on the importance of the hands-on NFPE training and implementation with patients. The Academy addresses this need with the NFPE Hands-on Training Workshop.

The Academy developed the NFPE Hands-on Training Workshop with the pilot conducted in December of 2014 and actively providing the NFPE workshops around the country since 2015. I have attached the article that provides data on how the NFPE was implemented and the financial benefits the pilot health system showed. Additional information on the NFPE workshops can be found at www.eatrightpro.org/nfpe.

But here is an overview of what we provide in the workshop and after that addresses many of the concerns you mentioned...

- The Academy's NFPE Hands-on Training Workshop is a full day, interactive training that combines lecture, trainer demonstrations, breakout sessions throughout the day, case study simulation for each participant with their trainer, and then the unique, vital experience of performing an NFPE on a patient with their trainer during patient rounds as the NFPE workshops are held in medical facilities.
- The workshop covers an overview of malnutrition and NFPE; assessment for fat and muscle loss, micronutrient deficiencies, fluid accumulation (provide edema pads), and functional status (provide dynamometer); provide case study with trainer demo; review documentation and coding; patient rounds; NFPE Skills Assessment.
- The ratio is 1 trainer per 6 RDN participants. And the Academy NFPE Trainers are clinically practicing RDNs, which allows us to provide our own experience examples and relate to the participants.
- Feedback on the workshop has been very favorable as we really breakdown each portion and provide multiple breakout sessions to perform/practice the hands-on portion with your trainer by your side to provide feedback and answer questions.

- The participants receive pre-workshop articles and then post-workshop support with an optional monthly phone call discussion and access to an online communication system where all participants are able to communicate and ask questions.
- The online communication system also houses the workshop's peer champion guidelines for the RDN participants who are interested to go back to their facilities and train their staff RDNs on NFPE with provided materials and pre-recorded WebEx presentation.
- The call and online system help to connect RDNs from around the country and in many different settings to help each other discuss what has worked - get advice - on communicating with other disciplines (MDs, administration, etc.).

And regarding your question on how many RDNs are performing NFPE, while there are still RDN that need training, the needle has moved some. An article should be published soon in JAND that provides the data from our survey sent to RDNs in 2014 and then again in 2017. We keep working to provide the education and training from undergrad, to graduate, to internships, and beyond.

A full list of upcoming NFPE workshops can be found on the NFPE website, but we are always accepting host site applications to schedule more!

Please let me know if you have any follow-up questions or if you would like to connect over the phone.

~Beth

Subject: Nutrition-Focused Physical Examination (NFPE)

Hi Donna,

It was a pleasure meeting you today and having the opportunity to speak with you. I just wanted to follow-up with an email about NFPE and it's practice in the hospital setting. The training I attended a few years ago was provided by Abbott Nutrition and it was a 4-hour session. The training consisted of powerpoint slides with very little hands on experience and the training slides used were not reflective of the diverse patient population we encounter every day. We are being trained with very little practical application and what we have learnt is not being used in many hospitals.

The transition from NFPE training to actual practice in the hospital is nonexistent in most cases. Patient physical examinations by dietitians is a change in the current hospital culture especially at local or community hospitals. The culture in teaching hospitals is unique and an exception as touching and examining patients by various disciplines is common as part of the teaching experience.

I have worked at three different hospitals since my NFPE training and I have yet to touch a patient. I was told I could not conduct the NFPE on patients as this needed to be approved by the hospital. Also, some of my colleagues were not trained on NFPE. As a preceptor for dietetic interns I was unable to provide adequate training in this area during their clinical rotation. We used the NFPE pocket guide, the review of body systems information provided by the attending physician's notes, wound care nurse/nursing notes on skin issues along with evaluating parts of the patient's body we can see without any touching such as the mouth/teeth, lips, clavicle, orbital and hands. There was no grip strength testing done.

Education and awareness to the change in the clinical dietitian's patient care practice is needed for the medical staff as well as patients who are not use to us conducting physical examinations. We definitely need a champion in the hospital such as a physician to help us as well as collaboration with nursing. Approval could be challenging for dietitians working for a contract company versus those who work directly for the hospital. I have worked in both situations and was not able to conduct the NFPE on patients because I was told the hospital has to give the approval. Unfortunately my clinical nutrition managers had other priorities so no effort was made to try and push this through which is also part of the problem. It would be interesting find out just how many dietitians are actually conducting a full NFPE on patients at their hospitals. Survey says...

So, how do we solve this problem? Please let me know if you have any questions. Take care and have a great weekend!

Respectfully,

Jennifer Linton, MS, RDN, LDN

Hi Donna,

It was a pleasure meeting you today and having the opportunity to speak with you. I just wanted to follow-up with an email about NFPE and its practice in the hospital setting. The training I attended a few years ago was provided by Abbott Nutrition and it was a 4-hour session. The training consisted of powerpoint slides with very little hands on experience and the training slides used were not reflective of the diverse patient population we encounter every day. We are being trained with very little practical application and what we have learnt is not being used in many hospitals.

The transition from NFPE training to actual practice in the hospital is nonexistent in most cases. Patient physical examinations by dietitians is a change in the current hospital culture especially at local or community hospitals. The culture in teaching hospitals is unique and an exception as touching and examining patients by various disciplines is common as part of the teaching experience.

I have worked at three different hospitals since my NFPE training and I have yet to touch a patient. I was told I could not conduct the NFPE on patients as this needed to be approved by the hospital. Also, some of my colleagues were not trained on NFPE. As a preceptor for dietetic interns I was unable to provide adequate training in this area during their clinical rotation. We used the NFPE pocket guide, the review of body systems information provided by the attending physician's notes, wound care nurse/nursing notes on skin issues along with evaluating parts of the patient's body we can see without any touching such as the mouth/teeth, lips, clavicle, orbital and hands. There was no grip strength testing done.

Education and awareness to the change in the clinical dietitian's patient care practice is needed for the medical staff as well as patients who are not use to us conducting physical examinations. We definitely need a champion in the hospital such as a physician to help us as well as collaboration with nursing. Approval could be challenging for dietitians working for a contract company versus those who work directly for the hospital. I have worked in both situations and was not able to conduct the NFPE on patients because I was told the hospital has to give the approval. Unfortunately my clinical nutrition managers had other priorities so no effort was made to try and push this through which is also part of the problem. It would be interesting find out just how many dietitians are actually conducting a full NFPE on patients at their hospitals. Survey says...

So, how do we solve this problem? Please let me know if you have any questions. Take care and have a great weekend!

Respectfully,

Jennifer Linton, MS, RDN, LDN

Hi Jennifer,

Thank you for your inquiry and comments.

I could not agree with you more on the importance of the hands-on NFPE training and implementation with patients. The Academy addresses this need with the NFPE Hands-on Training Workshop.

The Academy developed the NFPE Hands-on Training Workshop with the pilot conducted in December of 2014 and actively providing the NFPE workshops around the country since 2015. I have attached the article that provides data on how the NFPE was implemented and the financial benefits the pilot health system showed. Additional information on the NFPE workshops can be found at www.eatrightpro.org/nfpe.

But here is an overview of what we provide in the workshop and after that addresses many of the concerns you mentioned...

- The Academy's NFPE Hands-on Training Workshop is a full day, interactive training that combines lecture, trainer demonstrations, breakout sessions throughout the day, case study simulation for each participant with their trainer, and then the unique, vital experience of performing an NFPE on a patient with their trainer during patient rounds as the NFPE workshops are held in medical facilities.
- The workshop covers an overview of malnutrition and NFPE; assessment for fat and muscle loss, micronutrient deficiencies, fluid accumulation (provide edema pads), and functional status (provide dynamometer); provide case study with trainer demo; review documentation and coding; patient rounds; NFPE Skills Assessment.

- The ratio is 1 trainer per 6 RDN participants. And the Academy NFPE Trainers are clinically practicing RDNs, which allows us to provide our own experience examples and relate to the participants.
  - Feedback on the workshop has been very favorable as we really breakdown each portion and provide multiple breakout sessions to perform/practice the hands-on portion with your trainer by your side to provide feedback and answer questions.
  - The participants receive pre-workshop articles and then post-workshop support with an optional monthly phone call discussion and access to an online communication system where all participants are able to communicate and ask questions.
  - The online communication system also houses the workshop's peer champion guidelines for the RDN participants who are interested to go back to their facilities and train their staff RDNs on NFPE with provided materials and pre-recorded WebEx presentation.
- The call and online system help to connect RDNs from around the country and in many different settings to help each other discuss what has worked - get advice - on communicating with other disciplines (MDs, administration, etc.).

And regarding your question on how many RDNs are performing NFPE, while there are still RDN that need training, the needle has moved some. An article should be published soon in JAND that provides the data from our survey sent to RDNs in 2014 and then again in 2017. We keep working to provide the education and training from undergrad, to graduate, to internships, and beyond.

A full list of upcoming NFPE workshops can be found on the NFPE website, but we are always accepting host site applications to schedule more!

Please let me know if you have any follow-up questions or if you would like to connect over the phone.

Best Regards,

~Beth

The House Appropriations Committee is scheduled this week to consider the Fiscal Year 2019 agriculture spending bill. Provisions include first-time funding for the development and release of the 2020-2025 Dietary Guidelines for Americans, which the Academy actively supports. The bill did not include language to support the America's Harvest Box concept as part of the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. The Trump administration submitted to Congress a $15.4 billion package of proposed rescissions that would cancel previously approved spending that includes a number of programs at the U.S. Departments of Health and Human Services and Agriculture. The Academy joined more than 500 organizations "urging members of Congress to reject the proposal and any attempt to reduce government spending on the backs of children's health." The Academy's partners at the Coalition for Health Funding said the rescissions will have "a detrimental effect" on public health and research.

Pat, I was going to plan on attending this Nourish to Flourish Summit 2 at the end of my School Nutrition Association meeting in Las Vegas since I will already be there. They planned this meeting to coincide with the School Nutrition Association's Annual Nutrition Conference. Would the Academy be willing to pay for my extra hotel room night for me to attend this? If not, I can ask the Dairy Council or possibly the school board to pay for it. It really is a group of very influential leaders, so I feel like I want to stay to have someone there representing the Academy. I attended the first conference they had in Chicago and felt like it was worth my time to network with the influential people who attended. It will make for a long week for me away from work, but since we are working 4-10 hour days this summer I would already be off on that Friday so I won't miss another day of work to attend. I will apply to get the registration fee waived, but will have to stay an extra night. No pressure I promise.

Show Support for Nutrition Programs in the Farm Bill by Submitting Op-ed

Now is a critical time to raise your voice in support of nutrition programs in the farm bill. The Academy has developed op-ed templates on the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and nutrition education programs to get you started. Publishing an op-ed is a great way to get the attention of your members of Congress. The op-ed should ideally come from the president or public policy coordinator, but each affiliate can identify who will submit the op-ed(s) on behalf of the affiliate.

Note, submitting an op-ed this week is great timing as the House may vote on its farm bill as early as next week.

Reminder to PPCs (or other members of the PPP), submit your op-eds today. Please share your published op-eds with Erin Zumbrun.

Appropriations Subcommittee Releases FY 2019 Agriculture Appropriations Bill

On May 9, the House Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Appropriations Subcommittee advanced its Fiscal Year 2019 Agriculture Appropriations spending bill. The House Appropriations Committee is scheduled to consider the bill this week. The bill would provide an additional $14 million more than the current funding level for a total of $23 billion in discretionary funding for the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Food and Drug Administration. If enacted, the spending would: provide first-time funding for the development and release of the 2020-2025 Dietary Guidelines for Americans, which the Academy is actively engaged in supporting; fund the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children at $6 billion, which would be $15 million less than the current funding level; provide a small increase for agricultural research programs, including the Agricultural Research Service and the National Institute of Food and Agriculture; and exempt honey and maple syrup products from disclosing how much added sugars are in their products, a measure the Academy has opposed.

The bill did not include any language to support the administration's proposal for the America's Harvest Box concept as part of the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. The Academy will continue to engage with Congress to support strong funding for federal nutrition programs.

Louisiana Effort to Weaken Occupational Licensure Laws Suffers Setback

Legislation to eliminate many occupational license requirements and cut back on Louisiana's consumer protections had already passed the Louisiana House of Representatives when it ran into substantial opposition from the Academy, the public and numerous other organizations representing state-regulated professionals.

The bill that the full Louisiana Senate will now vote on no longer includes language that would impact registered dietitian nutritionists, such as preventing the use of "certified" or "registered," and instead has been amended only to require a task force to review 20 percent of licensure boards on a rolling five-year basis to assess whether they are necessary. Be aware -- legislation like this may well be introduced in your state —necessitating that affiliates keep a close eye on any developments and connect as soon as possible with the Academy to ensure we can work effectively together to protect consumers in your state as we did in Louisiana.

Regulatory Roundup Coming Soon, June 1

Starting June 1, Public Policy Weekly News will contain a new section titled "Regulatory Roundup," detailing the open federal regulatory proposals with suitable links. This is intended to increase member opportunities for input, and further enhance the overall quality of Academy comments to federal agencies. This means all PALs could begin receiving comments from members who have not previously submitted input.

We understand there may be glitches in the process, but ultimately we look forward to a smoothly-running process facilitating the delivery of high-quality comments from DPG members to PALs, and from PALs to the Policy Initiatives and Advocacy Team. If you have any questions, please contact Mark Rifkin or Tenasha Ebrahimkhel for more information.

PALs, please plan to review the regulatory opportunities section each week and share the information with your executive board or team.

Action Alerts

Action Required: Farm Bill

Changes to the farm bill need your immediate attention:

•Farm Bill: The U.S. House of Representatives may vote on its farm bill this week. The Academy opposes the bill, which as written would make a number of changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program that could result in 2 million people losing their benefits or having their benefits reduced. The Academy is also concerned that the bill would make substantial changes to nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthful choices. Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.

Take Action!

Cut and past the following message and post to your communication platforms.

(PPCs/PALs, Please Post this Message to Your Communication Channels)

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, please urge your representative to oppose H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018. The U.S. House of Representatives is expected to consider a farm bill that would make harmful changes to our nation's largest and most effective food assistance program, the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. SNAP is highly effective in helping working families, seniors, military members and veterans put food on their tables. However, the House farm bill could result in more than 2 million people losing access to critical food assistance or having their benefits reduced.

Please send the new action alert message to your representative. Let them know how the changes in the farm bill would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Congressional Management Foundation Webinar, Creating Events Back Home, May 31

Join the Congressional Management Foundation for the “Creating Events Back Home” webinar on May 31 at 1 p.m. (Eastern Time). As Tip O'Neill once stated, "all politics is local." CMF research shows that members of Congress consider visits to local facilities to be one of the most valuable ways to understand constituent views and opinions – more than any other source of information.

During this program, participants will learn the following:

- How should advocates prepare to host an event?
- How to entice Members of Congress to attend local events or meet with key stakeholders?
- What steps should advocates take to invite legislators to attend an event in their district?

The webinar will be conducted by Bradford Fitch, CMF president and CEO, and Seth Turner, director of citizen engagement. If you have any questions regarding this presentation, please contact Jaime Werner at CMF. To watch the presentation, register today.

Joan, If you can make my hotel reservations for the Annual Nutrition Conference I would appreciate it. I will arrive on Monday, July 9 and return on Friday July 13th. I am staying an extra day for the Nourish to Flourish National Dairy Council Meeting on Friday. I assume that the Dairy Council will pay for my extra night's hotel stay. Thanks!

You may have noticed a new online group called Diversify Dietetics. It is not a formal Academy group, but it is comprised of our members, including former spokespeople, who encourage interns and students to go into nutrition and dietetics and provide them with information by linking to Academy resources. They complement the work of our Diversity Committee in very positive ways, and we are looking to arrange a discussion between the leaders of the group and the committee to identify ways we can assist each other.

Best regards,

Your ANDPAC contribution helps us make a difference in improving our nation's health and nutrition.

Dear Donna,

Thank you for your contribution in April of $20 to the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Political Action Committee (ANDPAC). You have contributed $20 to ANDPAC in 2018 so far. As a reminder, ANDPAC contributions are totaled over a calendar year (January 1 – December 31). You can now check your donation online. Simply go to ANDPAC, sign in and click on Donation Summary.

ANDPAC donor levels in a calendar year are as follows:

- Champions donate $1000 or more
- Eagles contribute $500 to $999
- President's Circle donors contribute $250 to $499
- Capitol Club donors contribute $100 to $249
- Student Stars are student members who donate $25 or more

The funds we receive from generous members like you make it possible for the Academy to articulate its legislative objectives directly with members of Congress and to engage in a dialogue with the elected officials who lead our country. In the month of April, ANDPAC supported 26 bipartisan members of Congress both on Capitol Hill and in-district. Connecting with members of Congress provides us with the opportunity to advocate for food access and safety, nutrition and health services.

As members of the Academy, we have the opportunity to support food, nutrition and health initiatives at federal, state and local levels. Your donation to ANDPAC helps the Academy achieve its vision of optimizing the nation's health through food and nutrition.

Thank you again for your support and contribution to ANDPAC!

Sincerely,

Trisha Fuhrman, MS, RDN, LD, FAND, FASPEN

Pat, This is great news, but with all we have been seeing and hearing from Mary I am not surprised. When I run into educators all over the country they all talk about how much they love Mary and what a great job she has done. Definitely one of the best hires you have made. What a nice change in that department she has been. She is always so calm about any situation and always seems to have everything under control .

Hi

I wanted to share the final USDE staff analysis of our petition for renewal. Our analyst, Dr. Harris, found no problems or issues and is recommending renewal for a full five year term. We go before the National Advisory Committee on Institutional Quality and Integrity (NACIQI) next week; they also make a recommendation to the USDE secretary on our petition for renewal. The final agenda for the NACIQI meeting has not yet been posted so I am not sure which day we will actually go before them. But having a perfect report from the USDE staff analyst is definitely a great accomplishment.
