Hi

I wanted to share the final USDE staff analysis of our petition for renewal. Our analyst, Dr. Harris, found no problems or issues and is recommending renewal for a full five year term. We go before the National Advisory Committee on Institutional Quality and Integrity (NACIQI) next week; they also make a recommendation to the USDE secretary on our petition for renewal. The final agenda for the NACIQI meeting has not yet been posted so I am not sure which day we will actually go before them. But having a perfect report from the USDE staff analyst is definitely a great accomplishment.

Note this report has not yet been released to the public so should be treated as a confidential document at this point.

Thanks

Hi Donna,

We are aware of this group, and think they complement the work of our Diversity Committee in very positive ways. Most of them are our members, including former spokespeople, who encourage interns and students to go into dietetics and provide information by linking to Academy resources. Their resources are all Academy groups: <https://www.diversifydietetics.org/resources>

There may just be a disconnect, or they are looking for an overarching place to share resources and not specific groups that single out areas. Either way, a discussion with the Diversity Committee would be helpful in seeing what the gaps are. The organization supports the Academy (and rightfully so with so many past spokespeople being a part of it). Barbara, who oversees our Diversity Committee, is identifying ways we can additionally assist each other. One way is to refer to the group as our Diversity Ambassadors.

Best regards,

Pat

Here is my meeting evaluation. I really wanted to put something on my evaluation about how bad JoJo's report was, but I felt like she won't be treasurer anymore so it was a moot point. Her report was not organized and she did not even seem to understand the material. Very disappointing and I was not the only one who felt that way. Thanks for all your help with the end of the year stuff. I loved all the gifts and have put up my towel, used my Tervis tumbler and wore my apron on Mother's Day. Hope you had a great day. I was able to get my mother to my house for supper last night for Mother's day in a special handicapped van that can carry a large wheelchair. That made me very happy!

Thank you everyone for the advice, support, suggestions and forwards to the right people at AND. I seem to be missing some AND communication, I'll try to get on other AND mailing lists.

I still firmly believe that some decisions are too big and important and that they need to be made by member vote, not a board or delegates.

I posted my message and then went away for a long weekend in the middle of the woods and have just returned to internet. I will read and reflect and respond throughout the week.

It is getting more and more difficult for me to pay my AND dues. I want to be an active member in our profession, but I don't feel that AND is a member-driven association anymore. I feel that something else is driving AND, something that I'm not pleased about. I want a member-driven, democratic association and I don't know how to get it or where to turn.

Over the past few years there have been big decisions made that I do not feel were well-discussed within the membership as well as a long history of questionable corporate relationships (I've only been a member since 1989), but at least that issue is being covered by Dietitians for Professional Integrity ( <https://web.facebook.com/DietitiansForProfessionalIntegrity/>). I'm extremely frustrated with the promotion of unsustainable agriculture and food systems, hence my love for being a HEN member as I feel I have a voice and that we listen to each other and try to improve things together. We seem to be making progress. I feel the same about FCP and NEP - I get the most out of the technical issues we work on together within AND through the DPGs and other small groups. And I love many other things that we members do together and the power of all of us, as one voice, such as the policy arm of our association.

It is the professional issues that I struggle with. Our brand and our relationship with the public.

I was very discouraged with the lack of discussion around changing our name to AND and our professional title to RDN (even with the option to keep RD). These are key brand decisions that need to be thought about strategically. We aren't an academy, we are an association - or we were supposed to be. Tacking on nutritionist to our name adds to confusion, though I can live with it more than 'AND'. I want to openly discuss these issues with the 70,000 or so members that we have and if two-thirds think AND and RDN are best for the profession, then I can be satisfied with the outcome and either leave, or stay and live with it.

I don't know what to do with my frustrations. The HOD system is seemingly good for what it does with mega-issues, but what about other issues that anyone might have? There used to be a membership@eatright.org email that anyone could raise an issue to and then the issues were compiled and members had access to the issues - that has unfortunately stopped, but could be instituted in a different way if there were problems with it.

If anyone else has these issues and is willing to discuss them openly or on the side, I welcome your replies.

Best,

Stacia

I'm extremely frustrated with the promotion of unsustainable agriculture and food systems, hence my love for being a HEN member as I feel I have a voice and that we listen to each other and try to improve things together. We seem to be making progress. I feel the same about FCP and NEP - I get the most out of the technical issues we work on together within AND through the DPGs and other small groups. And I love many other things that we members do together and the power of all of us, as one voice, such as the policy arm of our association.

It is the professional issues that I struggle with. Our brand and our relationship with the public.

I was very discouraged with the lack of discussion around changing our name to AND and our professional title to RDN (even with the option to keep RD). These are key brand decisions that need to be thought about strategically. We aren't an academy, we are an association - or we were supposed to be. Tacking on nutritionist to our name adds to confusion, though I can live with it more than 'AND'. I want to openly discuss these issues with the 70,000 or so members that we have and if two-thirds think AND and RDN are best for the profession, then I can be satisfied with the outcome and either leave, or stay and live with it.

I don't know what to do with my frustrations. The HOD system is seemingly good for what it does with mega-issues, but what about other issues that anyone might have? There used to be a membership@eatright.org email that anyone could raise an issue to and then the issues were compiled and members had access to the issues - that has unfortunately stopped, but could be instituted in a different way if there were problems with it.

If anyone else has these issues and is willing to discuss them openly or on the side, I welcome your replies.

Best,
Stacia

Thank you Pat. As I mentioned earlier, I've seen this person demonstrate a pattern of trying to rally people, to pull them into toxic conversation. Diane's note is perfect for the situation because others will be looking and following what the Academy says. When they go low, we go high ... but sometimes I just want to go lower! (No!)

Some of the discussion in the list in response to Stacia has brought up legitimate concerns pertaining to the HOD. But none of the concerns are new to us, and I look forward to the next iteration of the House—even if it's not a deliberative body anymore.

Hi Pat-

Here is the final draft that will be posted to the HEN listserv. I will ensure the hyperlinks and spacing remain intact.

Diane

Diane M. Enos, MPH, RDN, FAND

Chief Learning Officer

Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics

Dear Stacia-

Your inquiries posted to the HEN listserv was forwarded to me for a response. As a member-focused organization, the Academy is committed to amplifying the many contributions of nutrition and dietetics practitioners. The new Strategic Plan has impact goals on food and nutrition safety and security, specifically:

- Increase equitable access to and utilization of safe nutritious food and water
- Advance sustainable nutrition and resilient food systems
- Leverage innovations in the reduction of food waste and loss
- Champion legislation and regulations that increase food and nutrition security throughout the lifecycle

You may remember, I addressed the name change and the optional RDN credential in a May 2017 email. I want to reiterate that both were widely shared with members at every stage of planning and discussion and members' feedback was taken into account on both initiatives. Here is the information I shared with you a year ago:

Regarding the organization name change in 2012, the Academy experienced a noticeable increase in the numbers of organizations who were interested in collaborating with us on initiatives to improve the public's health – in many cases, these are initiatives in which the Academy is taking the lead. Our positive media coverage also increased significantly, over 7 billion impressions, after the name change. Additionally, professional and student membership has risen to its highest levels since the name change. In short, our objectives in making the change were achieved.

Regarding the RDN credential, let me emphasize that this credential is offered as an option to RDs who want to convey the nutrition aspect of the credential to the public and to other health practitioners. Use of the RDN credential is totally optional. A resource page of frequently asked questions is available here, which provides the history back to 2010 regarding this topic.

The membership email address still exists. If members have any questions, comments, issues, they can forward an email to membership@eatright.org.

I appreciate the opportunity to address your concerns. I hope you renew your membership in the Academy and continue to take advantage of the multitude of valued benefits designed to advance your career and help you achieve your professional goals.

Sincerely,

Diane

It is getting more and more difficult for me to pay my AND dues. I want to be an active member in our profession, but I don't feel that AND is a member-driven association anymore. I feel that something else is driving AND, something that I'm not pleased about. I want a member-driven, democratic association and I don't know how to get it or where to turn.

Over the past few years there have been big decisions made that I do not feel were well-discussed within the membership as well as a long history of questionable corporate relationships (I've only been a member since 1989), but at least that issue is being covered by Dietitians for Professional Integrity ( <https://web.facebook.com/DietitiansForProfessionalIntegrity/>). I'm extremely frustrated with the promotion of unsustainable agriculture and food systems, hence my love for being a HEN member as I feel I have a voice and that we listen to each other and try to improve things together. We seem to be making progress. I feel the same about FCP and NEP - I get the most out of the technical issues we work on together within AND through the DPGs and other small groups. And I love many other things that we members do together and the power of all of us, as one voice, such as the policy arm of our association.

It is the professional issues that I struggle with. Our brand and our relationship with the public.

I was very discouraged with the lack of discussion around changing our name to AND and our professional title to RDN (even with the option to keep RD). These are key brand decisions that need to be thought about strategically. We aren't an academy, we are an association - or we were supposed to be. Tacking on nutritionist to our name adds to confusion, though I can live with it more than 'AND'. I want to openly discuss these issues with the 70,000 or so members that we have and if two-thirds think AND and RDN are best for the profession, then I can be satisfied with the outcome and either leave, or stay and live with it.

I don't know what to do with my frustrations. The HOD system is seemingly good for what it does with mega-issues, but what about other issues that anyone might have? There used to be a membership@eatright.org email that anyone could raise an issue to and then the issues were compiled and members had access to the issues - that has unfortunately stopped, but could be instituted in a different way if there were problems with it.

If anyone else has these issues and is willing to discuss them openly or on the side, I welcome your replies.

Best,
Stacia

Join the Next Farm Bill Monthly Call, May 31

Want to stay engaged with the farm bill? The Academy's PIA staff is hosting a monthly call to discuss the latest news from Capitol Hill and share how you can get involved with our advocacy efforts. The next call will be May 31 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time). Please RSVP to Nicole Burda, if you would like to join the call and stay informed.

Farm Bill Social Media Images

Following are images that can be shared on Twitter or Facebook. Just right-click and save! When sharing the importance of nutrition programs in the farm bill, please tag your U.S. Senators and Representative to bring additional visibility to the posts. C-SPAN has compiled a list of Twitter handles for members of Congress. And don't forget the hashtags, #FarmBill and #eatrightPRO. To retweet the farm bill images or to see more images, visit the Academy's Twitter account.

Show Support for Nutrition Programs in the Farm Bill by Submitting Op-ed

Now is a critical time to raise your voice in support of nutrition programs in the farm bill. The Academy has developed op-ed templates on the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and nutrition education programs to get you started. Publishing an op-ed is a great way to get the attention of your members of Congress. The op-ed should ideally come from the president or public policy coordinator, but each affiliate can identify who will submit the op-ed(s) on behalf of the affiliate.

Note, submitting an op-ed by May 15 is great timing as the House may vote on its farm bill as early as next week.

Reminder to PPCs (or other members of the PPP), submit your op-eds today. Please share your published op-eds with Erin Zumbun.

Academy Member Presents in Bread for the World Webinar, May 15

Bread for the World is hosting a national grassroots webinar and conference call on the farm bill on May 15 at 4 p.m. (Eastern Time). Learn how Academy member Karen Ehrens, RD, LRD, and Ryan Taylor, a rancher and author of Cowboy Logic, are working together to advocate for a farm bill that helps end hunger and are joining forces and using their influence to make an impact in North Dakota. Register here.

PAL Debriefing Teleconference, May 21

The Policy Initiatives and Advocacy Team would like to invite all current DPG PALs (and those occupying the role) to an end-of-term debriefing on May 21 from 1–2 p.m. (Eastern Time) to review our collective successes and areas in which we have room for growth. Our intended outcome is to address any shortcomings and share our successes, thus maximizing the potential for effective and meaningful DPG input on federal regulatory issues.

ALL PALs are strongly encouraged to attend, even if you are continuing in the position for another year. We want to hear from YOU -- whether your comments are praise or concerns!

Register to join the webex here. For those who will not have access to a laptop or tablet, please use the webex app for your mobile phone.

If you are not able to attend live, the event will be recorded and posted on the COI. Any PAL who was not able to attend live is encouraged to send us an email detailing your contribution to the discussion.

FNCE® 2018 and PPW Registration Now Open

For the first time, the Academy's Public Policy Workshop (PPW) will immediately follow FNCE®. PPW at FNCE® 2018 will feature pre-event training webinars, a face-to-face training session on Tuesday, October 23 (after Closing Session), and a visit to Capitol Hill on Wednesday, October 24.

Features will include:

- Advanced Policy & Advocacy educational track
- Public Policy Workshop (PPW) beginning after Closing Session on October 23

- Meeting with Policy makers on Capitol Hill on October 24

Included in FNCE® 2018 registration, PPW will be an ideal opportunity for members to advance your advocacy skills, gain policy experience and be proficient in the Academy's key policy messages to present during visits to the Hill. We encourage members who plan to attend FNCE® to extend their stay for PPW. Registration is now open.

A training will be held in August 2018 to prepare the affiliate public policy coordinators and the DPG policy and advocacy leaders for their respective roles during PPW. Registrants for PPW will be asked to attend or listen to two webinars in September to become familiar with the messaging and advocacy materials. The focus of the Hill meetings will be on malnutrition.

The Academy is planning to convene a rally on the steps of the U.S. Capitol on October 24 to kick off the day and increase awareness of malnutrition and the role of RDNs and NDTRs. Learn more

News from the Hill and Beyond

Academy Urges President Trump to Appoint RDNs to Nutrition Council

Academy president Donna S. Martin, EdS, RDN, LD, SNS, FAND, on behalf of the Academy and the country's registered dietitian nutritionists, sent a letter to President Donald Trump, urging him to appoint an RDN to the President's Council on Sports, Fitness and Nutrition. This council advises the White House and the Department of Health and Human Services on healthy lifestyle, and includes athletes, chefs, physicians, fitness professionals and educators.

The letter to the president says that RDN's belong among this group and "would help give our fellow citizens the tools they need to make the best food choices for health, while preventing food and nutrition confusion that hurts our citizens.”

Academy Opposes House Farm Bill, New Farm Bill Action Alert

Congress is back in session and the House may vote on its farm bill as early as next week. The Academy opposes the House’s version of the farm bill. The bill would make a number of changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program that could result in 2 million people losing their benefits or having their benefits reduced. The Academy is also concerned that the bill would make substantial changes to nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthful choices.

The bill also would provide $65 million in loans and grants to establish agricultural-related “association health plans,” which would not have to cover essential health benefits that include preventive health care. The Academy continues to be concerned with the impact of these types of plans on access to vital nutrition and health services.

A new Congressional Budget Office report estimates that 1.2 million people in an average month would lose access to critical food assistance due to the bill’s proposed work requirements for SNAP; 265,000 children would lose access to free school meals in an average year as a result of the proposed change to categorical eligibility; and 560,000 households would have their SNAP benefits reduced by an average of $84 per month as a result of the change to standard utility allowances.

The Academy released a new farm bill action alert today. Please take action, and we ask that the Public Policy Coordinators and Policy Advocacy Leaders share the new alert (more details below in “Action Alerts”).

Trump Administration Submits Rescissions; Academy Will Monitor

The Trump administration has submitted to lawmakers a $15.4 billion package of proposed rescissions. The rescission package would cancel previously approved spending, including funding for a number of programs at the U.S. Departments of Health and Human Services and Agriculture. It is unclear what the rescissions would mean for the overall impact of available funds for federal programs or how the rescission process might be used in the future. The Academy will continue to monitor the rescission and budget process, and will provide a more detailed update in next week’s PPWN.

Academy Opposes Efforts to Weaken Hiring Standards for School Nutrition Professionals

The Academy urged the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service not to finalize proposed changes lowering the experience and education requirements for school nutrition program directors in certain smaller school food authorities. The Academy outlined the importance of maintaining high standards for school nutrition professionals, particularly as some schools struggle to meet the improved nutrition standards for healthier foods sold in school. In addition, the Academy offered some potential solutions for additional flexibility that may help smaller districts find qualified candidates for these important positions.

Older Americans Month: Key Legislation Supports Access to MNT for Seniors

May is Older Americans Month and represents an opportunity to highlight key legislation supported by the Academy that would improve access to medical nutrition therapy for the Medicare population. The Academy supports the Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act (H.R. 3124/S. 1299), which would allow RDNs to provide MNT for prediabetes to patients who are Medicare beneficiaries.

Regulatory Roundup

Regulatory Roundup Coming Soon, June 1

Starting June 1, Public Policy Weekly News will contain a new section titled “Regulatory Roundup,” detailing the open federal regulatory proposals with suitable links. This is intended to increase member opportunities for input, and further enhance the overall quality of Academy comments to federal agencies. This means all PALs could begin receiving comments from members who have not previously submitted input.

We understand there may be glitches in the process, but ultimately we look forward to a smoothly-running process facilitating the delivery of high-quality comments from DPG members to PALs, and from PALs to the Policy Initiatives and Advocacy Team. If you have any questions, please contact Mark Rifkin or Tenasha Ebrahimkhel for more information.

PALs, please plan to review the regulatory opportunities section each week and share the information with your executive board or team.

Action Alerts

Action Required: Farm Bill

Changes to the farm bill need your immediate attention:

- Farm Bill: The U.S. House of Representatives may vote on its farm bill as early as next week. The Academy opposes the bill, which as written would make a number of changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program that could result in 2 million people losing their benefits or having their benefits reduced. The Academy is also concerned that the bill would make substantial changes to nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthful choices. Learn more about the Academy’s farm bill priorities here.

Take Action!

Cut and past the following message and post to your communication platforms.

(PPCs/PALs, Please Post this Message to Your Communication Channels)

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, please urge your representative to oppose H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018. The U.S. House of Representatives is expected to consider a farm bill that would make harmful changes to our nation's largest and most effective food assistance program, the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. SNAP is highly effective in helping working families, seniors, military members and veterans put food on their tables. However, the House farm bill could result in more than 2 million people losing access to critical food assistance or having their benefits reduced.

Please send the new action alert message to your representative. Let them know how the changes in the farm bill would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Academy Member Raises Awareness of SNAP in Op-ed

Academy member Mandy Enright, MS, RDN, RYT, RDN writes in an op-ed published by The Courier Post Online, "Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, or SNAP, the nation's largest food assistance program, strengthens families and the nation by keeping more than 8 million people out of poverty, including over 360,000 children, 128,000 seniors and 218,000 disabled in New Jersey as of January, while improving health and lowering healthcare costs." Great job, Mandy, for highlighting the importance of nutrition programs in the farm bill.

Reminder to PPCs (or other members of the PPP), submit your op-eds today! Please share your published op-eds with Erin Zumbun.

Northeast Pennsylvania Academy of Nutrition & Dietetics 7th Annual Legislative Breakfast

The Northeast Pennsylvania Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics held their seventh annual Legislative Breakfast on April 19. Staff from Sen. Bob Casey (Pa.) and Rep. Lou Barletta (Pa.-11) and state representatives attended the event. Academy members had the opportunity to share personal, relevant stories, and discuss priorities, including the farm bill and the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act with the state and federal representatives.

If you have been making strides in your community (attending ANDPAC events, meeting with policy makers, etc.) – let us spread the word! Send photos and a quick write-up about your recent policy accomplishments to Tenásha Ebrahimkhei. We would love to share your story and inspire others.

ANDPAC Corner

ANDPAC: Cultivating New and Sustaining Old Relationships

In April, the Academy supported 26 members of Congress, on a bipartisan basis, thanks to ANDPAC. Attending events directly with members of Congress enables the Academy to continue dialogue about strengthening nutrition education, research and assistance programs in the 2018 farm bill.

ANDPAC also hosted a Washington, D.C. evening reception for Felicia Stoler, DCN, MS, RDN, FACSM, FAND, who is one of our own dietitians running for Congress in New Jersey's 4th Congressional District.

On behalf of ANDPAC, Academy Past-President Lucille Beseler, MS, RDN, LDN, CDE, and Darlene Moppert, MS, RDN, LDN, attended an event with Rep. Debbie Wasserman Shultz (FL-23). There, they were able to touch upon their longstanding relationship with the Congresswoman to increase support for the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act and the Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act.

ANDPAC helps to further the Academy's priorities by building new connections and sustaining lasting relationships over time.

Join the Center for Health Law & Policy Innovation of Harvard Law School, Friedman School of Nutrition Science & Policy at Tufts University and Food is Medicine Coalition, in conjunction with the House Hunger Caucus Food is Medicine Working Group, to learn more about the health care outcomes and cost implications of medically-tailored nutrition interventions.

The briefing will be on May 9 at 3:30 p.m. (Eastern Time) in the Cannon House Office Building, room 121. If you are in the Washington, D.C. area and interested in attending the briefing, RSVP here. Please note, the briefing room is small and space is limited.

Congressional Management Foundation Webinar, Creating Events Back Home, May 31

Join the Congressional Management Foundation for the "Creating Events Back Home" webinar on May 31 at 1 p.m. (Eastern Time). As Tip O'Neill once stated, "all politics is local." CMF research shows that members of Congress consider visits to local facilities to be one of the most valuable ways to understand constituent views and opinions – more than any other source of information.

During this program, participants will learn the following:

- How should advocates prepare to host an event?
- How to entice Members of Congress to attend local events or meet with key stakeholders?
- What steps should advocates take to invite legislators to attend an event in their district?

The webinar will be conducted by Bradford Fitch, CMF president and CEO, and Seth Turner, director of citizen engagement. If you have any questions regarding this presentation, please contact Jaime Werner at CMF. To watch the presentation, register today.

Reply-To: HENDPG@yahoogroups.com

It is getting more and more difficult for me to pay my AND dues. I want to be an active member in our profession, but I don't feel that AND is a member-driven association anymore. I feel that something else is driving AND, something that I'm not pleased about. I want a member-driven, democratic association and I don't know how to get it or where to turn.

Over the past few years there have been big decisions made that I do not feel were well-discussed within the membership as well as a long history of questionable corporate relationships (I've only been a member since 1989), but at least that issue is being covered by Dietitians for Professional Integrity ( <https://web.facebook.com/DietitiansForProfessionalIntegrity/>). I'm extremely frustrated with the promotion of unsustainable agriculture and food systems, hence my love for being a HEN member as I feel I have a voice and that we listen to each other and try to improve things together. We seem to be making progress. I feel the same about FCP and NEP - I get the most out of the technical issues we work on together within AND through the DPGs and other small groups. And I love many other things that we members do together and the power of all of us, as one voice, such as the policy arm of our association.

It is the professional issues that I struggle with. Our brand and our relationship with the public.

I was very discouraged with the lack of discussion around changing our name to AND and our professional title to RDN (even with the option to keep RD). These are key brand decisions that need to be thought about strategically. We aren't an academy, we are an association - or we were supposed to be. Tacking on nutritionist to our name adds to confusion, though I can live with it more than 'AND'. I want to openly discuss these issues with the 70,000 or so members that we have and if two-thirds think AND and RDN are best for the profession, then I can be satisfied with the outcome and either leave, or stay and live with it.

I don't know what to do with my frustrations. The HOD system is seemingly good for what it does with mega-issues, but what about other issues that anyone might have? There used to be a membership@eatright.org email that anyone could raise an issue to and then the issues were compiled and members had access to the issues - that has unfortunately stopped, but could be instituted in a different way if there were problems with it.

If anyone else has these issues and is willing to discuss them openly or on the side, I welcome your replies.

Best,
Stacia

Dear Joe,

Wow-THANK YOU is so insufficient here! Your eloquence and kindness touched me beyond words-and of course I will try to find a few in spite of that.

Positivity and energy and commitment and excellence are just a few of the words that describe both you and Donna. It is my great pleasure to have the opportunity to see those outstanding qualities in action and learn from the experts.

The work you and your team do in each and every aspect of LLL-and of course FNCE-provides outstanding value to members and potential members-and positions us so strongly to meet our goal of recruiting every credentialed practitioner to membership.

Cant't wait to work with you this year and to try to follow in the incredible footsteps of Donna. Again, your outreach warmed my heart and reinforced belief that you are simply the best. Bless you Joe!!

Donna- Thank you so, so much for sharing this letter with me. I am thrilled that Joe shared this with you and Mary as it is so well deserved.

I feel a bit like a proud mom right now! J

I hope you know how much the LLPE team loves you for all you have done and continue to do to represent the Academy, its members, and the support you have shown to the staff.

Dear Joe,

Wow-THANK YOU is so insufficient here! Your eloquence and kindness touched me beyond words-and of course I will try to find a few in spite of that.

Positivity and energy and commitment and excellence are just a few of the words that describe both you and Donna. It is my great pleasure to have the opportunity to see those outstanding qualities in action and learn from the experts.

The work you and your team do in each and every aspect of LLL-and of course FNCE-provides outstanding value to members and potential members-and positions us so strongly to meet our goal of recruiting every credentialed practitioner to membership.

Cant't wait to work with you this year and to try to follow in the incredible footsteps of Donna. Again, your outreach warmed my heart and reinforced belief that you are simply the best. Bless you Joe!!

Donna,

I'm writing to schedule a quick introductory call.

My name is John and I'm the VP of Business Development at Cureo. There are plenty of solutions for internal communication – Slack, Google Drive, etc. But they're built for competitive business, not nonprofits, and won't cut it when it comes to collaborating with your board, committees, and partners.

Put simply, our platform is like Siri for nonprofits. By managing internal and external access to your collaborative assets on one, easy-to-navigate platform, we protect you from crossed wires and email overload.

If you're tired of cramming square pegs into round holes when it comes to your collaboration software, then let's discuss a solution.

How's next Tuesday work for a quick call?

Thanks,
John

Your ANDPAC contribution helps us make a difference in improving our nation's health and nutrition.

Dear Donna,

Thank you for your contribution in April of $20 to the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Political Action Committee (ANDPAC). You have contributed $20 to ANDPAC in 2018 so far. As a reminder, ANDPAC contributions are totaled over a calendar year (January 1 – December 31). You can now check your donation online. Simply go to ANDPAC, sign in and click on Donation Summary.

ANDPAC donor levels in a calendar year are as follows:

- Champions donate $1000 or more
- Eagles contribute $500 to $999
- President's Circle donors contribute $250 to $499
- Capitol Club donors contribute $100 to $249
- Student Stars are student members who donate $25 or more

The funds we receive from generous members like you make it possible for the Academy to articulate its legislative objectives directly with members of Congress and to engage in a dialogue with the elected officials who lead our country. In the month of April, ANDPAC supported 26 bipartisan members of Congress both on Capitol Hill and in-district. Connecting with members of Congress provides us with the opportunity to advocate for food access and safety, nutrition and health services.

As members of the Academy, we have the opportunity to support food, nutrition and health initiatives at federal, state and local levels. Your donation to ANDPAC helps the Academy achieve its vision of optimizing the nation's health through food and nutrition.

Thank you again for your support and contribution to ANDPAC!

Sincerely,

Trisha Fuhrman, MS, RDN, LD, FAND, FASPEN

Hi Donna and Mary Russell!

I just wanted to reach out and wish you both the best of luck in today's gavel ceremony! It saddens me that I am unable to witness this special moment but I will be there in spirit!

Donna – You have done such an amazing job representing the Academy as our President and this goes far beyond all of the great work you have accomplished. It's your interactions with our members, providing each one with your full attention and energy, it's gifting a FNCE® attendee with your bracelet even though it meant so much to you, it's being positive and happy - even during those long and demanding FNCE® days, it's being an absolute pleasure to Academy staff and always making sure they feel appreciated for their efforts, and so much more! THANK YOU for everything you have done and will continue to do for the Academy. I look forward to many more years of working with you!

Mary Russell – Words can't express how excited our Lifelong Learning team is knowing you will be our new Academy President! The positive buzz surrounding your presidency, from both staff and our membership, has set the tone of how amazing this year will be. We can't wait to continue working with you in making this the most exciting, memorable year in Academy history!

Our organization is lucky to have such amazing women leading our profession in back-to-back years. The time and energy you both have invested is truly inspiring and we cannot thank you enough!

Have fun today and here's to another successful year! I look forward to seeing you both in D.C.!

Best,

Dear Donna,

I'll make this short but sweet. As you probably know SuperTracker is no longer an option as a free nutrient analysis ap. There aren't any replacements. This would be a perfect place for the Academy to step in. Please, please!

Thanks, Jil

Agree that she seems happy which is great. I noticed much use of AND by individuals in the various places I visited. My tendency was to correct them however did not want to seem punitive or preachy. So glad this will be a "DYK" point!!

Subject: New "Did you know?" Series

Thanks go to Donna, Mary, Lucille and Board members for presenting the Academy Update at affiliate and DPG meetings. One of the results is the realization that both members and nonmembers are not aware of many Academy programs, products and services. To close the gap, we are developing a "Did you know?" series. This communication will inform RDNs and NDTRs about Academy activities and benefits. DYK will run for three months on eatrightPRO social media channels, Eat Right Weekly, listservs and eatrightPRO website. DYK will highlight one Academy factoid and will have a call to action (visit the website, join, download the infographic, learn more about the program, etc.) and encourage members to share the information far and wide on their social media channels.

Here is an initial list of DYK that will be featured:

Week of May 22      *Did you know the Academy has 59 career-enhancing benefits?

The list of member benefits includes...

- Free and member-discounted CPE opportunities
- Advocacy for the profession at the local and federal level
- Code of Ethics for the profession
- Subscriptions to the Journal and to Food & Nutrition Magazine
- Salary and compensation data for the dietetics profession
- National awards to recognize those who have made major contributions to the field
- Networking through DPGs, MIGs and Affiliates as well as online listservs
- Member discounts on professional liability insurance

- Quality management and reimbursement tools and knowledge
- Over 30 online certificates of training ...

View and share the infographic at eatrightpro.org/benefits.

June 12                      Did you know the Academy has many resources – an online Career Toolbox – to help you succeed and advance at all stages of your professional development?

One of the most important tools that the Academy makes available for members is information on how you can talk to your employer about paying your membership dues.

July 5                         Did you know a major underpinning across the Academy Strategic Plan's focus areas is to have a global impact on eliminating all forms for malnutrition?

The Academy is involved in a several important initiatives designed to help us face challenges and seize opportunities, now and in coming years to have a global impact in eliminating all forms of malnutrition. Visit www.eatrightpro.org/malnutrition to access all of the tools today!

July 26                        Did you know Academy membership offers you more than $3,000 in savings and benefits you can't get anywhere else?

The Academy offers the tools and resources you need. Take a close look at your Academy membership savings, including access to 54 free CPEU opportunities annually in the Journal – all included in your membership. Learn more visit eatrightPRO.org/membervalue. That's where you'll also find our multi-page Benefits Guide with even more information!

We look forward to exploring more DYK questions when the Board meets in July. In the interim, please let me know if you have any questions to include.

Best regards,

Pat

Subject: New "Did you know?" Series

Thanks go to Donna, Mary, Lucille and Board members for presenting the Academy Update at affiliate and DPG meetings. One of the results is the realization that both members and nonmembers are not aware of many Academy programs, products and services. To close the gap, we are developing a "Did you know?" series. This communication will inform RDNs and NDTRs about Academy activities and benefits. DYK will run for three months on eatrightPRO social media channels, Eat Right Weekly, listservs and eatrightPRO website. DYK will highlight one Academy factoid and will have a call to action (visit the website, join, download the infographic, learn more about the program, etc.) and encourage members to share the information far and wide on their social media channels.

Here is an initial list of DYK that will be featured:

Week of May 22      *Did you know the Academy has 59 career-enhancing benefits?

The list of member benefits includes...

- Free and member-discounted CPE opportunities
- Advocacy for the profession at the local and federal level
- Code of Ethics for the profession
- Subscriptions to the Journal and to Food & Nutrition Magazine
- Salary and compensation data for the dietetics profession
- National awards to recognize those who have made major contributions to the field
- Networking through DPGs, MIGs and Affiliates as well as online listservs
- Member discounts on professional liability insurance
- Quality management and reimbursement tools and knowledge
- Over 30 online certificates of training ...

View and share the infographic at eatrightpro.org/benefits.

June 12      *Did you know the Academy has many resources – an online Career Toolbox – to help you succeed and advance at all stages of your professional ## development?

One of the most important tools that the Academy makes available for members is information on how you can talk to your employer about paying your membership dues.

July 5                    Did you know a major underpinning across the Academy Strategic Plan's focus areas is to have a global impact on eliminating all forms for malnutrition?

The Academy is involved in a several important initiatives designed to help us face challenges and seize opportunities, now and in coming years to have a global impact in eliminating all forms of malnutrition. Visit www.eatrightpro.org/malnutrition to access all of the tools today!

July 26                    Did you know Academy membership offers you more than $3,000 in savings and benefits you can't get anywhere else?

The Academy offers the tools and resources you need. Take a close look at your Academy membership savings, including access to 54 free CPEU opportunities annually in the Journal – all included in your membership. Learn more visit eatrightPRO.org/membervalue. That's where you'll also find our multi-page Benefits Guide with even more information!

We look forward to exploring more DYK questions when the Board meets in July. In the interim, please let me know if you have any questions to include.

Hello Katie~

Ms. Hayes (640275) is seeking to gain reimbursement for activities rendered for the School Nutrition Services Group (DPG 42). After several unsuccessful attempts to log in to the portal, and not being able to directly connect with Eduardo Ortiz, she reached out to us.

I was able to speak with Eduardo, and he informed me that Ms. Hayes had to be set up in the system by her "Academy contact" and that the contact would depend on what type of reimbursement she's seeking.

Since this is for a practice group that you oversee, we thought we'd check with you for direction.

Are you able to assist, or point us in the right direction?

I've copied Ms. Hayes on this correspondence for ease of communication. Please advise.

I respectively disagree that the members are bothered by the travel we all are doing as the P's. I think they so appreciate us coming to their affiliates. I think this is an isolated case (although there may be others). They always thank me for coming and taking the time. Anybody who travels a lot does not see it as a glamorous activity. Especially the way we all do it to fly in and fly out and get back to work. You cannot please everyone so I think we take it as food for thought.

Excellent points Lucille!! And worth a thoughtful discussion. We need more "voice of the members" (who are the customers) on this topic. Maybe a focus group at FBCE or ???

Perhaps members don't care whether leader travel is funded by the Academy itself or affiliates or DPGs-there may be a sense that resources could be used for other purposes (or perhaps even that dues could be less??)

Donna, Thank you for the response. I do understand that there are many members who volunteer there time. I have held several leadership positions in the organization over my career. Doris and Pat, I sent Gail Doris' well worded response and this is what I got back from her.

Donna, Thank you for the response. I do understand that there are many members who volunteer there time. I have held several leadership positions in the organization over my career. Not a spokesperson, but I have been President of a local affiliate and served on leadership boards of MNPG and GN dietitians. I have also been active in the CNM DGP. I have never been tapped to run for a national office but I believe that is because of my career. I work for the Veterans Administration in a supervisory rule. In my position, seperating me from my work title is difficult and requires much paperwork. For example, since I handle fund control points I am prohibited from holding the position of treasure in any part of AND. That said, not just with the Academy Spokes people but also with other DPG and leadership roles in AND it seems that a good deal of money (by appearance) goes to funding travel for "leaders". I do my part to always promote AND and the important work but I think the organization is losing groups. Especially in this case, as you wrote, that no RDN was asked to be on the Presidents Board. It is difficult to see us slip behind. I will think about my decision. Please know that many people that I know no longer are members. The only people I know who pay the dues either are or want to be in leadership/volunteer roles in AND. Thank you again, Gail (Gail.Schechter@va.gov)

See you guys tomorrow!

ON THE PULSE OF PUBLIC POLICY

New Member Engagement Zone Question: Reevaluating Research Priorities

The Academy is reevaluating its research priorities and is asking for members' assistance by answering a short survey: Based on your experience in nutrition and dietetics, please identify up to three research needs or gaps of primary importance to the future of the field. Consider whether there are there any topics for which registered dietitian nutritionists lack sufficient research to conduct evidence-based practice and programming.

The Need for an RDN on President's Council on Sports, Fitness and Nutrition: Letter from Academy's President

On behalf of the Academy and the country's registered dietitian nutritionists, President Donna S. Martin, EdS, RDN, LD, SNS, FAND, wrote to President Trump, urging the president to appoint an RDN to the President's Council on Sports, Fitness and Nutrition. The letter notes that the presence of an RDN on the Council "would help give our fellow citizens the tools they need to make the best food choices for health, while preventing food and nutrition confusion that hurts our citizens." The letter noted the many highly qualified candidates among the ranks of the nation's RDNs, and said the Academy would be happy to work with the White House to identify potential Council members.

New Action Alert: Academy Opposes House Farm Bill

The Academy opposes the House of Representatives' version of the H.R. 2, the farm bill, which as written could result in more than 2 million people losing access to critical food assistance or having their benefits reduced. The Academy has released a new action alert: Contact your member of Congress and ask the House to develop a farm bill that strengthens nutrition programs and builds upon the successes of nutrition programs.

Potential Negative Impact of Farm Bill

A new Congressional Budget Office report estimates 1.2 million people in an average month would lose access to critical food assistance due to the farm bill's proposed work requirements for the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. In addition, 265,000 children would lose access to free school meals in an average year as a result of the proposed change to categorical eligibility. And 560,000 households would have their SNAP benefits reduced by an average of $84 per month as a result of a change to standard utility allowances.

House Launches Food Waste Caucus

U.S. Reps. David Young (Iowa) and Chellie Pingree (Maine) have created a Food Waste Caucus in the House of Representatives. The U.S. wastes 40 percent of the food available for consumption throughout the supply chain; identifying where waste occurs is necessary to increase efficiencies. The Academy's farm bill recommendations empower consumers to choose healthful foods and reduce waste, while supporting producers and retailers in meeting demand for a healthful and safe system.

Menu Labeling Takes Effect

After several years of delays, the country's menu labeling rule, created under the Affordable Care Act, took effect May 7; it applies nationwide to standard menu items in restaurants and similar retail food establishments with 20 or more locations. The final rule and industry guidance from the Food and Drug Administration were the result of a deliberate process including input from stakeholders across industry, government and public health. The Academy has long supported Americans' ability to know what is in their food and make healthy choices at the point of purchase.

Academy Monitors Food and Nutrition Issues in NAFTA Negotiations

The Academy is monitoring the North American Free Trade Agreement negotiations, especially their impact on food labeling of products from abroad. Recognizing that trade is a complex, multifaceted issue, the Academy is withholding formal comment while considering how negotiations may implicate our food labeling principles. The Academy continues to support policies that ensure all labels are truthful and provide information to help consumers make healthful choices.

Academy Opposes Efforts to Weaken Hiring Standards for School Nutrition Professionals

The Academy urged the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service not to finalize proposed changes lowering the experience and education requirements for school nutrition program directors in certain smaller areas. The Academy outlined the importance of maintaining high standards for directors, particularly as some schools struggle to meet improved standards for healthier foods sold in school. The Academy offered potential solutions for additional flexibility that may help smaller districts find qualified candidates for these important positions.

Members Write to Raise Awareness of SNAP

Academy members are the best advocates for our profession and for valuable nutrition services. Members recently published op-ed articles in several newspapers highlighting the importance of the SNAP program in the farm bill. Elaine M. Long, PhD, RDN, LD, executive director of the Idaho affiliate, and Crystal Wilson, EdS, RDN, LD, the Idaho president, wrote an article that was published in the Idaho State Journal, Spokane Spokesman-Review and Idaho Press-Tribune. Mandy Enright, MS, RYT, RDN, wrote an article on SNAP that appeared in the Courier Post, which covers southern New Jersey.

During Older Americans Month: Legislation Supports Access to MNT for Seniors

Older Americans Month, in May, represents an opportunity to highlight legislation supported by the Academy that would improve access to medical nutrition therapy for the Medicare population. The Academy supports the Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act (H.R. 3124/S. 1299), which would allow RDNs to provide MNT for prediabetes to patients who are Medicare beneficiaries.

ANDPAC Builds New Relationships - and Sustains Existing Ones

Attending events with members of Congress enables the Academy to open dialogue about strengthening nutrition education, research and assistance programs in the 2018 farm bill. Thanks to ANDPAC, the Academy supported 26 members of Congress in April on a bipartisan basis. ANDPAC hosted an April 24 reception in Washington, D.C., for Academy member Felicia Stoler, DCN, MS, RDN, FACSM, FAND, who is running for Congress in New Jersey's 4th District. In addition, Past President Lucille Beseler, MS, RDN, LDN, CDE, and Darlene Moppert, MS, RDN, LDN, past president of the Florida affiliate, attended a fundraiser for Rep. Debbie Wasserman Schultz (Fla.), with whom they have a longstanding relationship, to increase support for the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act and the Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act.

Dear Donna, Carol, Jessica, Marti, Nina, Lisa, Linette, Phyllis, Charlotte and Jill,

As experts in the field, you may already be aware of the referenced meeting, but I wanted to share it with each of you. Details are below.

The meeting will be held on Wednesday, June 13 from 8:30 am to 6:00 pm and Thursday, June 14 from 8:30 am to 1:00 pm ET at the CDC Edward R. Roybal Campus, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Headquarters (Building 19), 1600 Clifton Road NE, Atlanta, GA 30329.

All meeting attendees must register. Those unable to attend the meeting in person are able to do so via webcast. CDC will send the webcast URL to registrants upon receipt of their registration. All remote attendees must register by June 8, 2018 to receive the webcast information. CDC will email webcast information from the CPSTF@cdc.gov mailbox.

Public Comment: A public comment period, limited to three minutes per person, will follow the CPSTF's discussion of each systematic review. Individuals wishing to make public comments must indicate their desire to do so with their registration by providing their name, organizational affiliation, and the topic to be addressed (if known). Public comments will become part of the meeting summary. Public comment is not possible via webcast.

Background on the CPSTF: The CPSTF is an independent, nonfederal panel whose members are appointed by the CDC Director. CPSTF members represent a broad range of research, practice, and policy expertise in prevention, wellness, health promotion, and public health. The CPSTF was convened in 1996 by the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to identify community preventive programs, services, and policies that increase healthy longevity, save lives and dollars, and improve Americans' quality of life. CDC is mandated to provide ongoing administrative, research, and technical support for the operations of the CPSTF. During its meetings, the CPSTF considers the findings of systematic reviews on existing research and practice-based evidence and issues recommendations. CPSTF recommendations are not mandates for compliance or spending. Instead, they provide information about evidence-based options that decision makers and stakeholders can consider when they are determining what best meet the specific needs, preferences, available resources, and constraints of their jurisdictions and constituents. The CPSTF's recommendations, along with the systematic reviews of the evidence on which they are based, are compiled in the Guide to Community Preventive Services (The Community Guide).

Matters proposed for discussion: Mental Health (Effectiveness of School-Based Depression and Anxiety Prevention Interventions); Obesity Prevention and Control (Combined School-Based Diet and Physical Activity Interventions); Physical Activity (Effectiveness of Active Transportation to School Interventions); Women's Health (Exercise-based Interventions for Gestational Hypertension); and discussion of Community Guide effectiveness and economic methods. The agenda is subject to change without notice.

I hope each of you will consider attending or asking a colleague to do so.

Please advise us of your plans.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me.

Thanks again for your interest in public policy issues.

Show Support for Nutrition Programs in the Farm Bill by Submitting Op-ed

Now is a critical time to raise your voice in support of nutrition programs in the farm bill. The Academy has developed op-ed templates on the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and nutrition education programs to get you started. Publishing an op-ed is a great way to get the attention of your members of Congress. The op-ed should ideally come from the president or public policy coordinator, but each affiliate can identify who will submit the op-ed(s) on behalf of the affiliate.

Note, submitting an op-ed by May 15 is great timing as the House may vote on its farm bill as early as next week.

Reminder to PPCs (or other members of the PPP), submit your op-eds today. Please share your published op-eds with Erin Zumbrun.

Academy Member Presents in Bread for the World Webinar, May 15

Bread for the World is hosting a national grassroots webinar and conference call on the farm bill on May 15 at 4 p.m. (Eastern Time). Learn how Academy member Karen Ehrens, RD, LRD, and Ryan Taylor, a rancher and author of Cowboy Logic, are working together to advocate for a farm bill that helps end hunger and are joining forces and using their influence to make an impact in

PAL Debriefing Teleconference, May 21

The Policy Initiatives and Advocacy Team would like to invite all current DPG PALs (and those occupying the role) to an end-of-term debriefing on May 21 from 1–2 p.m. (Eastern Time) to review our collective successes and areas in which we have room for growth. Our intended outcome is to address any shortcomings and share our successes, thus maximizing the potential for effective and meaningful DPG input on federal regulatory issues.

ALL PALs are strongly encouraged to attend, even if you are continuing in the position for another year. We want to hear from YOU -- whether your comments are praise or concerns!

Register to join the webex here. For those who will not have access to a laptop or tablet, please use the webex app for your mobile phone.

If you are not able to attend live, the event will be recorded and posted on the COI. Any PAL who was not able to attend live is encouraged to send us an email detailing your contribution to the discussion.

FNCE® 2018 and PPW Registration Now Open

For the first time, the Academy's Public Policy Workshop (PPW) will immediately follow FNCE®. PPW at FNCE® 2018 will feature pre-event training webinars, a face-to-face training session on Tuesday, October 23 (after Closing Session), and a visit to Capitol Hill on Wednesday, October 24.

Features will include:

- Advanced Policy & Advocacy educational track
- Public Policy Workshop (PPW) beginning after Closing Session on October 23
- Meeting with Policy makers on Capitol Hill on October 24

Included in FNCE® 2018 registration, PPW will be an ideal opportunity for members to advance your advocacy skills, gain policy experience and be proficient in the Academy's key policy messages to present during visits to the Hill. We encourage members who plan to attend FNCE® to extend their stay for PPW. Registration is now open.

A training will be held in August 2018 to prepare the affiliate public policy coordinators and the DPG policy and advocacy leaders for their respective roles during PPW. Registrants for PPW will be asked to attend or listen to two webinars in September to become familiar with the messaging and advocacy materials. The focus of the Hill meetings will be on malnutrition.

The Academy is planning to convene a rally on the steps of the U.S. Capitol on October 24 to kick off the day and increase awareness of malnutrition and the role of RDNs and NDTRs. Learn more

News from the Hill and Beyond

Academy Urges President Trump to Appoint RDNs to Nutrition Council

Academy president Donna S. Martin, EdS, RDN, LD, SNS, FAND, on behalf of the Academy and the country's registered dietitian nutritionists, sent a letter to President Donald Trump, urging him to appoint an RDN to the President's Council on Sports, Fitness and Nutrition. This council advises the White House and the Department of Health and Human Services on healthy lifestyle, and includes athletes, chefs, physicians, fitness professionals and educators.

The letter to the president says that RDN's belong among this group and "would help give our fellow citizens the tools they need to make the best food choices for health, while preventing food and nutrition confusion that hurts our citizens."

Academy Opposes House Farm Bill, New Farm Bill Action Alert

Congress is back in session and the House may vote on its farm bill as early as next week. The Academy opposes the House's version of the farm bill. The bill would make a number of changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program that could result in 2 million people losing their benefits or having their benefits reduced. The Academy is also concerned that the bill would make substantial changes to nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthful choices.

The bill also would provide $65 million in loans and grants to establish agricultural-related "association health plans," which would not have to cover essential health benefits that include preventive health care. The Academy continues to be concerned with the impact of these types of plans on access to vital nutrition and health services.

A new Congressional Budget Office report estimates that 1.2 million people in an average month would lose access to critical food assistance due to the bill's proposed work requirements for SNAP; 265,000 children would lose access to free school meals in an average year as a result of the proposed change to categorical eligibility; and 560,000 households would have their SNAP benefits reduced by an average of $84 per month as a result of the change to standard utility allowances.

The Academy released a new farm bill action alert today. Please take action, and we ask that the Public Policy Coordinators and Policy Advocacy Leaders share the new alert (more details below in "Action Alerts").

Trump Administration Submits Rescissions; Academy Will Monitor

The Trump administration has submitted to lawmakers a $15.4 billion package of proposed rescissions. The rescission package would cancel previously approved spending, including funding for a number of programs at the U.S. Departments of Health and Human Services and Agriculture. It is unclear what the rescissions would mean for the overall impact of available funds for federal programs or how the rescission process might be used in the future. The Academy will continue to monitor the rescission and budget process, and will provide a more detailed update in next week's PPWN.

Academy Opposes Efforts to Weaken Hiring Standards for School Nutrition Professionals

The Academy urged the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service not to finalize proposed changes lowering the experience and education requirements for school nutrition program directors in certain smaller school food authorities. The Academy outlined the importance of maintaining high standards for school nutrition professionals, particularly as some schools struggle to meet the improved nutrition standards for healthier foods sold in school. In addition, the Academy offered some potential solutions for additional flexibility that may help smaller districts find qualified candidates for these important positions.

Older Americans Month: Key Legislation Supports Access to MNT for Seniors

May is Older Americans Month and represents an opportunity to highlight key legislation supported by the Academy that would improve access to medical nutrition therapy for the Medicare population. The Academy supports the Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act (H.R. 3124/S. 1299), which would allow RDNs to provide MNT for prediabetes to patients who are Medicare beneficiaries.

Regulatory Roundup

Regulatory Roundup Coming Soon, June 1

Starting June 1, Public Policy Weekly News will contain a new section titled "Regulatory Roundup," detailing the open federal regulatory proposals with suitable links. This is intended to increase member opportunities for input, and further enhance the overall quality of Academy comments to federal agencies. This means all PALs could begin receiving comments from members who have not previously submitted input.

We understand there may be glitches in the process, but ultimately we look forward to a smoothly-running process facilitating the delivery of high-quality comments from DPG members to PALs, and from PALs to the Policy Initiatives and Advocacy Team. If you have any questions, please contact Mark Rifkin or Tenasha Ebrahimkhel for more information.

PALs, please plan to review the regulatory opportunities section each week and share the information with your executive board or team.

Action Alerts

Action Required: Farm Bill

Changes to the farm bill need your immediate attention:

- Farm Bill: The U.S. House of Representatives may vote on its farm bill as early as next week. The Academy opposes the bill, which as written would make a number of changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program that could result in 2 million people losing their benefits or having their benefits reduced. The Academy is also concerned that the bill would make substantial changes to nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthful choices. Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, please urge your representative to oppose H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018. The U.S. House of Representatives is expected to consider a farm bill that would make harmful changes to our nation's largest and most effective food assistance program, the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. SNAP is highly effective in helping working families, seniors, military members and veterans put food on their tables. However, the House farm bill could result in more than 2 million people losing access to critical food assistance or having their benefits reduced.

Please send the new action alert message to your representative. Let them know how the changes in the farm bill would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Academy Member Raises Awareness of SNAP in Op-ed

Academy member Mandy Enright, MS, RDN, RYT, RDN writes in an op-ed published by The Courier Post Online, "Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, or SNAP, the nation's largest food assistance program, strengthens families and the nation by keeping more than 8 million people out of poverty, including over 360,000 children, 128,000 seniors and 218,000 disabled in New Jersey as of January, while improving health and lowering healthcare costs." Great job, Mandy, for highlighting the importance of nutrition programs in the farm bill.

The Northeast Pennsylvania Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics held their seventh annual Legislative Breakfast on April 19. Staff from Sen. Bob Casey (Pa.) and Rep. Lou Barletta (Pa.-11) and state representatives attended the event. Academy members had the opportunity to share personal, relevant stories, and discuss priorities, including the farm bill and the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act with the state and federal representatives.

ANDPAC: Cultivating New and Sustaining Old Relationships

In April, the Academy supported 26 members of Congress, on a bipartisan basis, thanks to ANDPAC. Attending events directly with members of Congress enables the Academy to continue dialogue about strengthening nutrition education, research and assistance programs in the 2018 farm bill.

ANDPAC also hosted a Washington, D.C. evening reception for Felicia Stoler, DCN, MS, RDN, FACSM, FAND, who is one of our own dietitians running for Congress in New Jersey's 4th Congressional District.

On behalf of ANDPAC, Academy Past-President Lucille Beseler, MS, RDN, LDN, CDE, and Darlene Moppert, MS, RDN, LDN, attended an event with Rep. Debbie Wasserman Schultz (FL-23). There, they were able to touch upon their longstanding relationship with the Congresswoman to increase support for the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act and the Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act.

ANDPAC helps to further the Academy's priorities by building new connections and sustaining lasting relationships over time.

CMF research shows that members of Congress consider visits to local facilities to be one of the most valuable ways to understand constituent views and opinions – more than any other source of information.

During this program, participants will learn the following:

- How should advocates prepare to host an event?
- How to entice Members of Congress to attend local events or meet with key stakeholders?
- What steps should advocates take to invite legislators to attend an event in their district?

The webinar will be conducted by Bradford Fitch, CMF president and CEO, and Seth Turner, director of citizen engagement. If you have any questions regarding this presentation, please contact Jaime Werner at CMF. To watch the presentation, register today.

Hi Donna,

Please review and let me know your thoughts.

Hello, Gail: I'm happy to address the concerns you expressed in your May 9 Facebook posting.

Every year, our 30 volunteer Spokespeople conduct more than 2,500 media interviews, totaling billions of media impressions. The cost of advertising space in local and national print, broadcast and electronic media that is comparable to the media coverage generated by the Academy and our spokespeople would easily run into the tens or hundreds of millions of dollars per year, a prohibitive amount for a nonprofit like the Academy.

Being a Spokesperson requires a significant commitment from our volunteer members. Over the course of his or her three-year term, a Spokesperson can expect to invest at least ten hours per week, and often substantially more, above and beyond their jobs, families and other responsibilities. For each interview, a Spokesperson devotes time to preparing sound bites and key messages prior to speaking with journalists; doing research to augment his or her existing knowledge; fact-checking and other follow-up with the media; pitching stories; travel to and from studios; shopping for props; and similar duties.

To keep our Spokespeople at the leading edge of the knowledge and the ability they need to represent us to the public, the Academy provides Spokespeople with professional media training, informational resources, access to experts including scientific researchers and other ongoing support.

The Spokesperson program is a real success story for the Academy and plays a vital role in the Academy's ongoing commitment to educate the public and promote RDNs as the best sources of food and nutrition information and services. The work our volunteer spokespeople do on the behalf of the organization and the profession is invaluable.

I appreciate your post and hope this helps to clarify your concerns. I hope you will seriously consider joining the Academy. I encourage you to keep your membership current and take advantage of the multitude of valued benefits designed to advance your career and help you achieve your professional goals.

Sincerely,

Donna S. Martin, EdS, RDN, LD, SNS

Ms. Martin, I have been an AND member for over 20 years. Over that time I have seen the organization really, in my opinion, go on a downward spiral. Many of my colleges have left the organization and this may be the first year during my entire career that I don't renew. Why I am glad you wrote the letter I am frustrated by the fact that my Facebook feed was loaded this weekend on a free trip (paid by members) to Chicago for training. In my opinion the training seems to further their careers and not those of the organization. I don't have your email but feel free to email me at: Gail.schechter@gmail.com if you would like to discuss this further. Sincerely, Gail Schechter, MBA, RD, CDN, CSG

Pat and Doris, This message did not make my day. Basically because she is so misinformed about what our media spokespersons program does for the health of Americans and to promote our brand. Doris would you please draft a response that I can send her? I could do one, but yours will be so much better. Maybe this needs to be a Did you know topic!!!! I am so proud of this program and it does so much to counter the misinformation that is out there. Thanks!

Ms. Martin, I have been an AND member for over 20 years. Over that time I have seen the organization really, in my opinion, go on a downward spiral. Many of my colleges have left the organization and this may be the first year during my entire career that I don't renew. Why I am glad you wrote the letter I am frustrated by the fact that my Facebook feed was loaded this weekend on a free trip (paid by members) to Chicago for training. In my opinion the training seems to further their careers and not those of the organization. I don't have your email but feel free to email me at: Gail.schechter@gmail.com if you would like to discuss this further. Sincerely, Gail Schechter, MBA, RD, CDN, CSG

Pat and Doris, This message did not make my day. Basically because she is so misinformed about what our media spokespersons program does for the health of Americans and to promote our brand. Doris would you please draft a response that I can send her? I could do one, but yours will be so much better. Maybe this needs to be a Did you know topic!!!! I am so proud of this program and it does so much to counter the misinformation that is out there. Thanks!

Practice Tips

The Academy Quality Management Committee and CDR have collaborated to provide the following four downloadable Practice Tips at no cost to CDR credentialed practitioners:

- Considerations for the Non-Registered Status Individual - (June 2016)
- Hospital Regulation Ordering Privileges - (Revised July 2017)
- Implementation Steps Ordering Privileges - (Revised July 2018)
- Reform Requirements for RDNs + NDTRs in LTC Facilities (Revised November 2017)

Additional practice tips are available through the Academy Store.

Did You Know?

The revised 2018 Code of Ethics for the Profession of Dietetics is now available on the CDR and Academy websites at the following link? Final Approved Code of Ethics for the Nutrition and Dietetics Profession – Effective June 1, 2018.

Dietetics practitioners have voluntarily adopted this Code of Ethics to reflect the values and ethical principles guiding the dietetics profession and to set forth commitments and obligations of the dietetics practitioner to the public, clients, the profession, colleagues and other professionals.

Additional ethics related resources are available at the following links:

- Code of Ethics for the Profession of Dietetics
- Resources Ethics Complaints and Violations

The enforcement process for the Code of Ethics establishes a fair system to deal with complaints about members and credentialed practitioners from peers or the public. Support of the Code of Ethics by members and credentialed practitioners is vital to guiding the profession's actions and to strengthening its credibility.

In addition, all CDR credentialed practitioners are required to complete one hour of CPE related to the topic of ethics within each 5-year recertification period. Resources and guidelines for this requirement can be found here: cdrnet.org/ethics.

Maintaining Your Credential

You can find all you need to manage your credential by logging into the MyCDR page on CDR's website at cdrnet.org . Once logged in, you will see the MyCDR link in the upper right hand corner

CDR News Highlights

Advanced Practitioner in Clinical Nutrition Certification

Because clinical nutrition is who you are not just what you do.

The perfect opportunity to advance your credential has arrived: CDR Advanced Practitioner Certification in Clinical Nutrition.

The Commission on Dietetic Registration (CDR) is offering an advanced practitioner certification in clinical nutrition for registered dietitians (RD) with at least four years of clinical nutrition practice. The next examination administrations will be in November 2018.

Exam dates, fee and deadlines are available at the following link:

New CDR Specialist Certification

CDR recently made the decision to move forward with the development of a Board Certified Specialist in Pediatric Nutrition with a Critical Care emphasis. This new certification will address practice in critical care units for the pediatric patient population. The designation for this new specialist certification will be CSPCC.

The first examination administration is scheduled for September 2018. Applications are now available. For more information, please visit the CDR website:

<https://www.cdrnet.org/certifications/pediatric-critical-care-nutrition>

Continuing Professional Education Approval Criteria

CDR has revised the current continuing professional education approval criteria to require that all continuing professional education activity types (excluding academic coursework) addressing diet and nutrition topics, include an RD or DTR in program planning. This policy change is effective for continuing professional activities offered on or after June 1, 2018 and for CDR credentialed practitioners recertifying beginning a new recertification cycle on or after June 2, 2018.

Practice Competencies Initiative

The CDR Competency Assurance Panel collaborated with the Academy's Quality Management Committee on the development of dietetics practice competencies and performance indicators. These competencies and performance indicators will replace the current learning need codes for the Professional Development Portfolio recertification system in 2015 beginning with new registrants whose registration begins on or after June 2, 2015 and current registrants beginning their June 1, 2016 recertification cycle. An article describing the development and validation of the practice competencies was published in the June 2015 Journal of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics.

Informational webinars are scheduled for noon central time on each of the following dates:

May 3, 2018 (designed for students)

May 10, 2018

To register for these webinars, access past webinar recordings, or any additional information, go to: <http://www.cdrnet.org/competencies>.

This page also includes several practitioner, educator, and student resources. Recordings of webinar presentations made during 2016–2017 are available at the following link:

<https://www.cdrnet.org/competencies/webinars>.

Board Certified Specialist In Obesity and Weight Management

The Commission on Dietetic Registration is pleased to announce the Interdisciplinary Specialist Certification in Obesity and Weight Management (CSOWM) credential. This credential will not only raise the standards in evidence-based practice benefiting clients and supporting CDR's mission of protecting the public, but it also emphasizes the importance of the healthcare team. Board Certification is granted in recognition of an applicant's documented practice experience and successful completion of an examination in the specialty area.

The CSOWM examination is administered annually in March and September. The content outline and eligibility requirements are available at the following link:

We've had a Penny and Sue Finn serve in the past on the Council. I will reach out to Rachel for more info on the Science Board and if she can assist us getting on. We'll definitely submit names in a follow up communication. Jim White and Roberta Anding are just a couple good suggestions for the Council but the the Board may require a different background.

Subject: Nutrition-Focused Physical Examination (NFPE)

Hi Donna,

It was a pleasure meeting you today and having the opportunity to speak with you. I just wanted to follow-up with an email about NFPE and it's practice in the hospital setting. The training I attended a few years ago was provided by Abbott Nutrition and it was a 4-hour session. The training consisted of powerpoint slides with very little hands on experience and the training slides used were not reflective of the diverse patient population we encounter every day. We are being trained with very little practical application and what we have learnt is not being used in many hospitals.

The transition from NFPE training to actual practice in the hospital is nonexistent in most cases. Patient physical examinations by dietitians is a change in the current hospital culture especially at local or community hospitals. The culture in teaching hospitals is unique and an exception as touching and examining patients by various disciplines is common as part of the teaching experience.

I have worked at three different hospitals since my NFPE training and I have yet to touch a patient. I was told I could not conduct the NFPE on patients as this needed to be approved by the hospital. Also, some of my colleagues were not trained on NFPE. As a preceptor for dietetic interns I was unable to provide adequate training in this area during their clinical rotation. We used the NFPE pocket guide, the review of body systems information provided by the attending physician's notes, wound care nurse/nursing notes on skin issues along with evaluating parts of the patient's body we can see without any touching such as the mouth/teeth, lips, clavicle, orbital and hands. There was no grip strength testing done.

Education and awareness to the change in the clinical dietitian's patient care practice is needed for the medical staff as well as patients who are not use to us conducting physical examinations. We definitely need a champion in the hospital such as a physician to help us as well as collaboration with nursing. Approval could be challenging for dietitians working for a contract company versus those who work directly for the hospital. I have worked in both situations and was not able to conduct the NFPE on patients because I was told the hospital has to give the approval. Unfortunately my clinical nutrition managers had other priorities so no effort was made to try and push this through which is also part of the problem. It would be interesting find out just how many dietitians are actually conducting a full NFPE on patients at their hospitals. Survey says...

So, how do we solve this problem? Please let me know if you have any questions. Take care and have a great weekend!

Respectfully,

Jennifer Linton, MS, RDN, LDN

She addresses the fact that she was on the Science Board and that we should be focusing on that board and not the Council. I will respond to her on facebook messenger. All in all this has been a good letter and good PR for the Academy to be doing what we are doing.

Dear Donna, I was honored to serve on President Obama's Fitness, Sports and Nutrition Science Board from 2011-2014. During President Obama's administration the Fitness, Sports and Nutrition Council was where the well known athletes and celebrities were appointed. The scientists, including PhD,RDs like myself as well as exercise physiologists, MDs etc. were appointed to the Science Board. Penny Kris-Etherton, PhD, RD, also served on the Science Board during the Obama administration. It seems to me the Science Board is where AND should focus on - not the Council. If I can provide more information please let me know. My best, Rachel Johnson

Hi Donna,

It was a pleasure meeting you today and having the opportunity to speak with you. I just wanted to follow-up with an email about NFPE and it's practice in the hospital setting. The training I attended a few years ago was provided by Abbott Nutrition and it was a 4-hour session. The training consisted of powerpoint slides with very little hands on experience and the training slides used were not reflective of the diverse patient population we encounter every day. We are being trained with very little practical application and what we have learnt is not being used in many hospitals.

The transition from NFPE training to actual practice in the hospital is nonexistent in most cases. Patient physical examinations by dietitians is a change in the current hospital culture especially at local or community hospitals. The culture in teaching hospitals is unique and an exception as touching and examining patients by various disciplines is common as part of the teaching experience.

I have worked at three different hospitals since my NFPE training and I have yet to touch a patient. I was told I could not conduct the NFPE on patients as this needed to be approved by the hospital.

Also, some of my colleagues were not trained on NFPE. As a preceptor for dietetic interns I was unable to provide adequate training in this area during their clinical rotation. We used the NFPE pocket guide, the review of body systems information provided by the attending physician's notes, wound care nurse/nursing notes on skin issues along with evaluating parts of the patient's body we can see without any touching such as the mouth/teeth, lips, clavicle, orbital and hands. There was no grip strength testing done.

Education and awareness to the change in the clinical dietitian's patient care practice is needed for the medical staff as well as patients who are not use to us conducting physical examinations. We definitely need a champion in the hospital such as a physician to help us as well as collaboration with nursing. Approval could be challenging for dietitians working for a contract company versus those who work directly for the hospital. I have worked in both situations and was not able to conduct the NFPE on patients because I was told the hospital has to give the approval. Unfortunately my clinical nutrition managers had other priorities so no effort was made to try and push this through which is also part of the problem. It would be interesting find out just how many dietitians are actually conducting a full NFPE on patients at their hospitals. Survey says...

So, how do we solve this problem? Please let me know if you have any questions. Take care and have a great weekend!

Respectfully,

Jennifer Linton, MS, RDN, LDN

Upon review of the selections for the President's Council on Sports, Fitness and Nutrition I was disappointed that none of the 100,000 members of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics was selected to serve.

The members of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics are the nation's leading experts on the science of nutrition educating individuals, families and communities make healthful eating a part of a healthy lifestyle. Nutrition is just as important to health as exercise – as seen by the inclusion of “nutrition” in the name of the President's Council.

RDNs have the most extensive education and experience in nutrition of any health professional. We translate nutrition science into practical ways for people to bring nutritious foods into their lives and improve their health. Every day, RDNs change people's lives for the better.

In addition, RDNs have been recognized by Congress and by federal health agencies such as the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services as the leading provider of lifesaving medical nutrition therapy services for millions of Americans including Medicare beneficiaries. RDN's provide low cost nutrition services that produce effective outcomes for chronic disease.

The presence of an RDN on the President's Council would help give our fellow citizens the tools they need to make the best food choices for health while preventing food and nutrition confusion that hurts our citizens. If and when the opportunity arises for you to make future appointments to the Council, I hope very much you will consider naming a registered dietitian nutritionist for the post.

There are many highly qualified candidates among the ranks of the nation's RDNs, and the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics would be happy to work with your team to identify potential Council members.

Thank you for your time and attention, and for your interest in the health of all Americans.

Hello Friends,

I would be happy to continue as the NDEP Board Representative, and I thank you for this opportunity. This is one role in particular where some multi-year continuity is advantageous for all of us. Please let me apologize that my NDEP #3 debriefing did not make it out of my draft folder. End of semester "stuff" and the number of graduate student defenses got the best of me. Pat, I suspect that Chris and Mary provided an update too. The audience was a bit "stronger" for certain, especially regarding the graduate degree requirement. A few other diverse comments/concerns were raised (I can summarize next week with you), while the talking points provided regarding more common issues were again invaluable. Upon conclusion of the panel phase of the meeting, I did attempt a more direct summary of the collective and collaborative processes that have been used for BOD decisions to this point, that support sound and logical decisions for the future of the profession. Chris and Mary seemed to feel this helped us/audience turn a positive corner as matters calmed a bit after that.

Also, regarding 2018-2019 appointments - while I have you all here. I recently received a letter confirming my BOD representative role on the CFP. My response was WOW, I can't wait. Mary, I just couldn't remember if we chatted about this one, and if I had forgotten, or if it was an error. I do recall chatting about NDEP though - so wanted to be sure some wires didn't get crossed. In the end, I would give this CFP role my full attention too, but wanted to make sure it wasn't an error, and I didn't want to be a hoarder of BOD committee roles too.

I can't wait to see everyone next week. I have enjoyed seeing so many of the affiliate meeting updates online too - well done everyone!

Best, Kevin

Dear Kevin,

We are finalizing appointments for the 2018-19 program year and the Board representative to NDEP is the remaining one. On behalf of Donna, Mary and Lucille, we are grateful for your efforts this past year as our NDEP representative and hope you will consider continuing in this role for 2018-19. Your education background and exceptional communication skills in providing feedback to the Board have been very helpful. Thank you for your consideration and we look forward to your reply.

Best regards,

Pat

Hi Doris,

I attempted posting the response this morning - but for some reason I am not not seeing it. May I ask if you (or others) see it before I re-post?

Thank you for the supportive guidance and assistance with monitoring the dialog. As we know, there were discussions resulting from the original post that may or may not benefit from additional responses.

Thanks again - looking forward to seeing you all next week. Kevin

Also, regarding 2018-2019 appointments - while I have you all here. I recently received a letter confirming my BOD representative role on the CFP. My response was WOW, I can't wait. Mary, I just couldn't remember if we chatted about this one, and if I had forgotten, or if it was an error. I do recall chatting about NDEP though - so wanted to be sure some wires didn't get crossed. In the end, I would give this CFP role my full attention too, but wanted to make sure it wasn't an error, and I didn't want to be a hoarder of BOD committee roles too.

I can't wait to see everyone next week. I have enjoyed seeing so many of the affiliate meeting updates online too - well done everyone!

Hi Doris,

I attempted posting the response this morning - but for some reason I am not seeing it. May I ask if you (or others) see it before I re-post?

Thank you for the supportive guidance and assistance with monitoring the dialog. As we know, there were discussions resulting from the original post that may or may not benefit from additional responses.

Thanks again - looking forward to seeing you all next week. Kevin

Thank you so much for this lovely announcement. I join you in thanking everyone involved, most especially all my co-authors and Mary Kay Meyer who was super helpful at several key junctures!

I also want to thank YOU Donna ... for your never-ending patience and your attention to every little detail. After working on four papers together, I can honestly say that the Academy and all its members are incredibly lucky to have you in this position.

I have a bottle of bubbly in the fridge ... and I just might break it out tonight!

NDEP - Parade Magazine says - Dietetic Technician requires ONLY a HS diploma View Post Message

Dear Phyllis,

Thank you for sharing this disappointing error in Parade Magazine. I think it may speak to a larger issue regarding the general public's perception of "what makes" both registered professionals. Specifically:

“Love to cook? Consider dietetic technician..... Education required: high school diploma. Median salary: $26,000.”

Clearly, all that is required to be a dietetic technician is a love of cooking...

1. As educators we know a (registered) Dietetic Technician needs more than a high school diploma to be hired/ practice.
2. The distinction between “Dietetic Technician” and “Registered Dietetic Technician”, with the latter title being defined in some state’s licensure laws, is probably not clear to the general public, i.e. the general public may see these titles as one and the same.

Not probably not clear, Phyllis...definitely not clear! The general public does not see any differentiation between titles. I would like to bring the groups attention to a TV commercial that you might have seen. The individual in the commercial is Joy Bauer, MS, RD. Now, I have NOTHING against Ms. Bauer - I have never met her. But if you notice, Ms. Bauer calls herself a "nutritionist" and the caption under her name is "nutritionist". So, I ask you...what IS a Registered Dietitian?

1. High school guidance counselors probably have greater access to Parade Magazine than either the AND ACEND website (with our educational requirements) or the 2017 AND Salary Survey.
2. As educators (and increasingly recruiters for our respective DPD or DI programs) we need the public to know what the educational requirements actually are required for careers in our profession.

Not only the education requirements, but what our profession actually does that differentiates us from any other person who may call themselves a nutritionist.

**So how does this type of error get fixed? Who is responsible for sending a letter to Parade Magazine and asking them to correct this statement. Does ACEND, AND or some other AND group in Chicago send such a letter? Or, do we as educators need to send letters to get this clarified?

I would think that a response should come directly from AND. My suggestion is to make Donna Martin aware of this issue.

** Has the Academy developed Video clips describing the role of RDs and DTRs that can be shared with high school guidance counselors, college career counselors and Parade Magazine? This writer was not able to find it on the AND/ADA website. Any offline suggestions would be welcome.

I think this is more of a PR issue that The Academy should approach directly. I have often thought that a media (TV) and print add that is constructed to educate the general public about what a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist is, does, and how they are educated would go a long way...

I'm not sure about the tone in a couple places and whether it is too harsh; there are a couple sections highlighted that are particularly aggressive. I'm also likely to slightly edit and reorganize before seeking final approval from the LPPC leadership. (I also make no representations about typos in this state, but I did a quick review and corrected the few I saw and will do another before the next draft.)

NDEP - Parade Magazine says - Dietetic Technician requires ONLY a HS diploma View Post Message

Dear Phyllis,

Thank you for sharing this disappointing error in Parade Magazine. I think it may speak to a larger issue regarding the general public's perception of "what makes" both registered professionals. Specifically:

“Love to cook? Consider dietetic technician..... Education required: high school diploma. Median salary: $26,000.”

Clearly, all that is required to be a dietetic technician is a love of cooking...

1. As educators we know a (registered) Dietetic Technician needs more than a high school diploma to be hired/ practice.
2. The distinction between “Dietetic Technician” and “Registered Dietetic Technician”, with the latter title being defined in some state’s licensure laws, is probably not clear to the general public, i.e. the general public may see these titles as one and the same.

Not probably not clear, Phyllis...definitely not clear! The general public does not see any differentiation between titles. I would like to bring the groups attention to a TV commercial that you might have seen. The individual in the commercial is Joy Bauer, MS, RD. Now, I have NOTHING against Ms. Bauer - I have never met her. But if you notice, Ms. Bauer calls herself a "nutritionist" and the caption under her name is "nutritionist". So, I ask you...what IS a Registered Dietitian?

1. High school guidance counselors probably have greater access to Parade Magazine than either the AND ACEND website (with our educational requirements) or the 2017 AND Salary Survey.
2. As educators (and increasingly recruiters for our respective DPD or DI programs) we need the public to know what the educational requirements actually are required for careers in our profession.

Not only the education requirements, but what our profession actually does that differentiates us from any other person who may call themselves a nutritionist.

**So how does this type of error get fixed? Who is responsible for sending a letter to Parade Magazine and asking them to correct this statement. Does ACEND, AND or some other AND group in Chicago send such a letter? Or, do we as educators need to send letters to get this clarified?

I would think that a response should come directly from AND. My suggestion is to make Donna Martin aware of this issue.

** Has the Academy developed Video clips describing the role of RDs and DTRs that can be shared with high school guidance counselors, college career counselors and Parade Magazine? This writer was not able to find it on the AND/ADA website. Any offline suggestions would be welcome.

I think this is more of a PR issue that The Academy should approach directly. I have often thought that a media (TV) and print add that is constructed to educate the general public about what a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist is, does, and how they are educated would go a long way...

Donna and Lucille,

Hello, I hope you're having a great day so far. Just a little update about Nutrition Trends Forum. There will be a farm tour on Friday, May 4, from about 1:15 p.m. until 4:30 p.m.

The farm is located west of downtown at 4250 W Chicago Avenue. <http://www.metro-farms.com>. We are arranging travel to and from the hotel.

Will the two of you be able to attend?

Here is some additional information about the tour: Metropolitan Farms is a commercial aquaponics farm offering tours of our 10,000 square foot greenhouse which was formerly a dairy packaging plant. During tours, visitors learn about aquaponics and sustainable urban closed-loop food production, hear the founder recount his journey building the farm, and even sample some of the extensive crop on display. Our warm greenhouse is open year round and produces locally sourced tilapia, salad greens, and artisanal culinary herbs. We showcase our products while educating visitors about sustainable urban aquaponic farming practices, local markets, composting, water recycling, science and biology, urban agriculture, and more.

Thanks,

Donna, hello.

This is a very good question.

The Nutrition Care Process Terminology (NCPT) is updated annually by the Academy with ongoing regular input from the US and many countries around the world.

The NCPT has grown to exceed 1,700 terms. Sometimes terms are modified but primarily new terms are added to allow granular description and documentation of the unique contributions of RDNs delivered in the form of nutrition care. Terms are accompanied by reference sheets that we develop to define each term in detail and ultimately support appropriate use.

We also continuously submit NCP terms to be included to SNOMED and LOINC.

The development and maintenance of NCPT incurs a sizeable cost that needs to be recovered hence the annual subscription cost for those who wish to use the NCPT in its most current form.

In general, the cost is nominal for individual members ($50/yr). Hospitals and other organizations purchase organizational subscriptions (the cost here varies by number of seats purchased). The costing scheme is similar to other online Academy products such as the Nutrition Care Manual which is also available for a subscription annual fee.

A predominant majority of RDNs access the NCPT through their workplace where the hospital or other organization pays and makes it available to employed RDNs.

I hope this explanation provides answers to the member's questions. Let me know if I can be of further help.

Hi,

Got it! So yes, the AMA publishes a CPT (Correct Procedural Terminology) manual each year since they are always revising codes and approving new ones (we have Academy representatives who are part of that process). The MNT CPT codes have not changed since their creation, so there's no need to buy a new CPT manual each year just for that information. I can understand her not wanting to buy a new manual each year. I would suggest that she should regularly read our MNT Provider newsletter (we announce each new monthly edition in Eat Right Weekly) as we always use it to communicate any changes in CPT codes that impact RDNs. We also maintain a list of common CPT codes that RDNs can use on our website (<https://www.eatrightpro.org/payment/coding-and-billing/diagnosis-and-procedure-codes/cpt-and-g-codes-for-rdns>). So if we make any major changes, she may just want to purchase a CPT manual for that year. Two good reasons to be an Academy member!

FYI - the AMA owns the CPT code set and sells the manuals - it's a huge revenue stream for them :).

Let me know if that helps.

Hi all,

Please find a draft of the model comments I drafted for the NANA coalition attached. Please feel free to review and let me know any thoughts. I'm happy to chat about these also if you'd like, and am very open to any advice or suggestions. I'm not sure about the tone in a couple places and whether it is too harsh; there are a couple sections highlighted that are particularly aggressive. I'm also likely to slightly edit and reorganize before seeking final approval from the LPPC leadership. (I also make no representations about typos in this state, but I did a quick review and corrected the few I saw and will do another before the next draft.)

Thanks,

Donna, hello.

This is a very good question.

The Nutrition Care Process Terminology (NCPT) is updated annually by the Academy with ongoing regular input from the US and many countries around the world.

The NCPT has grown to exceed 1,700 terms. Sometimes terms are modified but primarily new terms are added to allow granular description and documentation of the unique contributions of RDNs delivered in the form of nutrition care. Terms are accompanied by reference sheets that we develop to define each term in detail and ultimately support appropriate use.

We also continuously submit NCP terms to be included to SNOMED and LOINC.

The development and maintenance of NCPT incurs a sizeable cost that needs to be recovered hence the annual subscription cost for those who wish to use the NCPT in its most current form.

In general, the cost is nominal for individual members ($50/yr). Hospitals and other organizations purchase organizational subscriptions (the cost here varies by number of seats purchased). The costing scheme is similar to other online Academy products such as the Nutrition Care Manual which is also available for a subscription annual fee.

A predominant majority of RDNs access the NCPT through their workplace where the hospital or other organization pays and makes it available to employed RDNs.

I hope this explanation provides answers to the member's questions. Let me know if I can be of further help.

Best regards,

I would suggest that she should regularly read our MNT Provider newsletter (we announce each new monthly edition in Eat Right Weekly) as we always use it to communicate any changes in CPT codes that impact RDNs. We also maintain a list of common CPT codes that RDNs can use on our website (<https://www.eatrightpro.org/payment/coding-and-billing/diagnosis-and-procedure-codes/cpt-and-g-codes-for-rdns>). So if we make any major changes, she may just want to purchase a CPT manual for that year. Two good reasons to be an Academy member!

Hi,

Got it! So yes, the AMA publishes a CPT (Correct Procedural Terminology) manual each year since they are always revising codes and approving new ones (we have Academy representatives who are part of that process). The MNT CPT codes have not changed since their creation, so there's no need to buy a new CPT manual each year just for that information. I can understand her not wanting to buy a new manual each year. So if we make any major changes, she may just want to purchase a CPT manual for that year. Two good reasons to be an Academy member!

FYI - the AMA owns the CPT code set and sells the manuals - it's a huge revenue stream for them :).

Let me know if that helps.

Hi Judy,

Thanks for your patience. Nicci provided me with an update.

I believe you sent some questions back to ICDA after they initially sent these proposals through last summer, and I don't think we have received answers from them.

- For the ICDA Welcome Fund, we are working to release $3,500 for the seven newest country members as a grant from the Foundation to ICDA. Paul and Mary Beth gave the green light late last week and I am working to identify the appropriate person at ICDA to work with to get the funds transferred.

- For the new proposal that evolves the ICDA Welcome Fund ("Empowering At-Need Nutrition and Dietetic Organizations"):

- o I have had very preliminary conversations with Alice, and this is something that she would be interested in funding.

- o For next steps, it would be great to see a more detailed breakdown of the budget and timeline as well as a list of current and potential new members that the ICDA Board has in mind for this program.

- For the second new proposal, I think we need a much more detailed proposal than what was shared, including a budget. I am not sure if it's appropriate, but it might be nice to have them draft a proposal based on the Foundation's unsolicited grant program template, which I have attached here.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Best,

Pat

Good update, thx. I will mention it. Only Carole and Marsha from the old Board are still on the board so unless they bring up that history others won't know it. I do agree that since the 2024 meeting is in Canada we are not likely to win a bid for 2028, so I can also mention that as part of the offer for a board meeting in Chicago 2019.

Thx

Hi Judy and Donna,

I am waiting for an update from Nicci regarding the proposals and will get back to you. Marsha and I did not discuss them when we met. We did discuss having the Board meet in the U.S. and I mentioned that we might put in a bid for a future ICD in Chicago. She said that she knows the Board will not come to the U.S. any time soon since Glenna M and Sylvia so rudely dropped the ball when they met in Arizona. They asked for a reception which was ignored, and Sylvia and her son went sightseeing without helping to arrange anything for the Board. She also thinks we wouldn't win the bid for ICD since it'll be in North America ( Canada) after South Africa and that there is a perception that Chicago is the Wild West with people shooting on the streets- they all seem to know from CNN that we hold the #1 crime city award. That being said, I think we should definitely invite the Board to Chicago and offer them HQ. We would certainly roll out the red carpet and plan activities for them, including a reception with members of the IL affiliate. The meeting could alleviate their concerns about a Congress here.

I'll give you an update on the proposals as soon as I receive it. Thanks!

Pat

The ICDA Board meeting is next week. Do you recall that ICDA has submitted two proposals for possible support? Did you and Marsha ever discuss that? What has been the outcome or is there anything you want me to relay about that?

Also they will probably discuss where the Board might meet in 2019. What do you think about my suggesting Chicago and AND headquarters? I don't know if they will agree since they might want somewhere in Asia given we met in Mexico last year but worth a try. I also think it would be good for them to see the AND operations center. Might help them think of a future vision for ICDA

Hope all is well. Nothing to report about ICDA except for the upcoming meeting, but hopefully an update will come after the meeting.

ON THE PULSE OF PUBLIC POLICY

Seeing the Benefits of Nutrition Studies: Academy Organizes Congressman's Visit to USDA Research Center

The Academy organized a May 1 tour by U.S. Rep. Anthony Brown (Md.) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Beltsville Human Nutrition Research Center, in Maryland. At the 6,500-acre facility, Brown, members of U.S. Sen Ben Cardin's (Md.) staff and representatives of the Academy and the American Society for Nutrition received an overview of research supported and conducted by USDA that improves people's health and well-being; reduces long-term health care costs; and creates a safe, nutritious, affordable and sustainable food supply. This timely site visit came as the House of Representatives begins work on Fiscal Year 2019 appropriations.

Pending: House Farm Bill Floor Debate

When Congress returns to Washington, D.C., on May 7 after a week-long recess, House Agriculture Committee Chairman Mike Conaway (Texas) will need to secure 215 votes to pass the House farm bill, H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018. The recess, when members of Congress are in their home districts, is a critical time for advocates to express concerns with the House bill. The Academy recently outlined our concerns in a letter to the committee. In the Senate, Agriculture Committee Chairman Pat Roberts (Kan.) says he and Debbie Stabenow (Mich.), the committee's ranking member, are close to an agreement on the Senate's version of the farm bill.

Fiscal Year 2019 HHS Funding: Academy Submits Testimony

The Academy submitted testimony April 26 to the House Appropriations Committees requesting Fiscal Year 2019 funding for federal nutrition programs at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The testimony highlighted the Academy's support for senior nutrition programs, research and evidence-based public health programs. After passing the FY 2018 omnibus spending bill in March, Congress is working on spending bills for FY 2019, which begins October 1. The Academy will continue to update members as legislation is released.

Academy Letter Urges Sufficient Funding for HHS and USDA

The Academy sent a letter to House and Senate Appropriations Committee chairs and ranking members calling for proportional relief in Fiscal Year 2019 302(b) allocations that support agencies and programs of the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Health and Human Services. The Academy continues to ask Congress to provide strong investment to support evidence-based nutrition and public health programs.

Academy Urges USDA: Identify and Consider Impact of SNAP Changes Before Making Them

The Academy has responded to an advance notice from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service that FNS would propose future regulatory changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program to "better promote work and self-sufficiency" and reduce program dependence. The Academy expressed our willingness to work with the agency on initiatives that encourage meaningful employment and training that facilitate adequate incomes. The Academy believes USDA must consider the impact of proposed changes on food insecurity and help achieve SNAP's goals, not serve as a pretext for cutting benefits. The Academy also continues to track congressional efforts to make changes to SNAP's work requirements and eligibility in the farm bill.

Hello, NDEP members –

For the past nearly 11 months, four of your colleagues and fellow NDEP members have been working with the Academy's Quality Management Committee (QMC) to review and update the following guiding document that was originally published in 2009:
Standards of Professional Performance (SOPP) for Registered Dietitian Nutritionists (RDNs) in Education of Dietetics Practitioners

The revised document is now ready for review:
Revised 2018 Standards of Professional Performance for Registered Dietitian Nutritionists (RDNs) in Education of Nutrition and Dietetics Practitioners (EONDP)

Kathy Border, Malinda Cecil, and Cyndy Endrizal are the authors for our updated SOPP, with Robyn Osborn as lead reviewer.

I would like to ask NDEP members who are interested and able to assist in reviewing this document within a short time frame to contact me. Presently, this is a confidential document that will be released for publication once it is approved by NDEP Council.

Reviewers will need to have their comments/input/feedback submitted no later than Thursday, May 17. This will allow me to consolidate your feedback into a single summary by the next day and provide it to Robyn as part of the consensus review process. We would like to be able to vote to approve the updated SOPP at our NDEP Council meeting in late May if possible.

Since the turnaround time is so short, please let me know of your interest/willingness to review this important guiding document no later than Friday, May 4 . You can contact me at pmk356@aol.com. Please include your resume/CV in order to assist me in ensuring that we have representation of as many practice areas as possible - thanks!
Please don't hesitate to let me know if you have any questions – I look forward to hearing from you.

Maryland Congressman Visits Human Nutrition Research Center

On May 1, Congressman Anthony Brown (Md.-4) and the staff of Sen. Ben Cardin (Md.) toured the Beltsville Human Nutrition Research Center, the oldest of six Agricultural Research Service Human Nutrition Research Centers. This site visit was timely as the U.S. House of Representatives begins work on Fiscal Year 2019 appropriations.

The Academy organized the tour for Rep. Brown to highlight the nutrition research supported and conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture that leads to discoveries to improve the health and well-being of individuals, reduce long-term health care costs and create a safe, nutritious, affordable and sustainable food supply for our growing global population. The American Society for Nutrition joined the tour.

Upcoming Workshop: Understanding and Overcoming the Challenge of Obesity and Overweight in the Armed Forces, May 7

From recruitment, to readiness, retention, resilience and retirement, obesity affects the military every day. Between 2002 and 2011, the rate of obesity among active duty service members increased by more than half. Maintaining the health and wellness of service members is critical for national security. But like many Americans, service members, veterans, retirees and their families need community support to maintain a healthy weight.

The Roundtable on Obesity Solutions will host a workshop, on May 7 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. (Eastern Time), to explore the challenges posed by obesity and overweight in the armed forces and opportunities to overcome them. The workshop will examine the magnitude of obesity and overweight in the military, highlight existing approaches that support a healthy weight, and explore innovative cross-sector opportunities to overcome this challenge. Register to attend via webcast. For more information, visit the Academies' website.

Congressional Management Foundation Webinar, Creating Events Back Home, May 31

Join the Congressional Management Foundation for the "Creating Events Back Home" webinar on May 31 at 1 p.m. (Eastern Time). As Tip O'Neil once stated, "all politics is local." CMF research shows that members of Congress consider visits to local facilities to be one of the most valuable ways to understand constituent views and opinions – more than any other source of information.

During this program, participants will learn the following:

- How should advocates prepare to host an event?
- How to entice Members of Congress to attend local events or meet with key stakeholders?
- What steps should advocates take to invite legislators to attend an event in their district?

The webinar will be conducted by Bradford Fitch, CMF president and CEO, and Seth Turner, director of citizen engagement. If you have any questions regarding this presentation, please contact Jaime Werner at CMF. To watch the presentation, register today.

Public Policy Trainings

Save the Date –Strategizing for the Future: Academy Strategic Measures Webinar, May 22

The Academy's PIA team will share the results of the Fiscal Year 2017 strategic measures in a webinar on May 22 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time). Register today.

PPCs and PALs should attend and other members of the PPP are encouraged to attend.

News from the Hill and Beyond

Congress is On Recess, but House Farm Bill Floor Debate Still Pending

H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act 2018 was introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives on April 12. House Agriculture Chairman Mike Conaway (Texas) will need to secure a total of 215 votes to pass the House farm bill, H.R. 2. When members of Congress will return to Capitol Hill next Monday after a week-long recess, Chairman Conaway will begin a more intensive effort to whip votes for the bill that cleared the committee. It is a critical time for advocates to speak out and express their concerns with the flawed House bill while members of Congress are home for recess through May 6.

Concurrently, Senate Agriculture Committee Chairman Pat Roberts (Kansas) has reported that he and Sen. Debbie Stabenow (Michigan), ranking member of the committee, are close to reaching an agreement on a Senate farm bill.

Older American Month: Key Legislation to Support This Important Issue

Older American Month represents an opportunity to highlight key legislation, supported by the Academy, to help older Americans, especially those struggling with food insecurity. The Academy supports the evidence-based senior nutrition programs in the Older Americans Act, including home-delivered and congregate meals. The Academy also supports the Chronic Disease Self-Management program in this bill.

Action Alerts

Action Required: Farm Bill and Treat and Reduce Obesity Act

There's still time to make your voice heard:

- Farm Bill: Congress is currently working on the 2018 farm bill, which is the primary legislation that authorizes many of our nation's food and nutrition programs. The farm bill includes nutrition assistance programs that help people access nutritious food; nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthy choices; and nutrition research that addresses the nutrition-related health concerns we face as a nation. We are asking Academy members to take action and urge Congress to support the important nutrition programs in the farm bill that contribute to the health of all, especially those most susceptible to experiencing insecurity. Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.

Take Action!

Cut and past the following message and post to your communication platforms.

(PPCs/PALs, Please Post this Message to Your Communication Channels)

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, please urge your representative to support legislation that protects and values nutrition programs in the farm bill. The U.S. House of Representatives recently released farm bill text that would make harmful cuts and changes to our nation's largest and most effective food assistance program, the Supplemental Assistance Nutrition Program. The bill would also create an uncertain future for the two nutrition education programs, the SNAP Nutrition Education and Obesity Prevention Grant Program, and the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program. The House Agriculture Committee marked up the bill, and the next step is a full House vote.

Please send the new action alert message to your representative. Let them know how the changes in the farm bill would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.

Academy Members Raise Awareness of SNAP in Op-eds Across Idaho

Several Idaho newspapers published an op-ed written by Elaine M. Long, Ph.D., RDN, LD, the executive director of the Idaho Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, and Crystal Wilson, EdS, RDN, LD, the president of the Idaho Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics. The op-eds in the Idaho State Journal, The Spokesman-Review and the Idaho Press-Tribune show how changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program as part of the farm bill reauthorization could put those who receive SNAP benefits at risk for food and financial insecurity.

Great job Elaine and Crystal for highlighting the importance of these programs in the farm bill!

Reminder to PPCs (or other members of the PPP), submit your Op-Ed's today!

If you have been making strides in your community (attending ANDPAC events, meeting with policy makers, etc.) – let us spread the word! Send photos and a quick write-up about your recent policy accomplishments to Tenášha Ebrahimkhel. We would love to share your story and inspire others.

Academy Dues Do Not Support ANDPAC

It is a common myth that members' annual membership dues support the Academy's political action committee ANDPAC. In fact, under federal campaign finance law, dues cannot be used for political action purposes. However, members may contribute separately to ANDPAC when renewing membership each year. Your donation to ANDPAC helps support candidates for federal office who are pro-nutrition, food and health.

Dietary Guidelines for Americans 2020-2025, Call for Experts

Experts needed! The Academy will be seeking input from Academy members and DPGs over the next two years as we make recommendations on the upcoming Dietary Guidelines 2020-2025.

Additionally, the Academy will select nominees to serve on the Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee. Nomination criteria for the most recent 2015 DGAC was detailed as:

“Prospective members of the DGAC should be knowledgeable of current scientific research in human nutrition and chronic disease and be respected and published experts in their fields. The prospective members also should be familiar with the purpose, communication, and application of the Guidelines and have demonstrated interest in the public's health and well-being through research and/or educational endeavors. Expertise will be sought in specific specialty areas that may include, but are not limited to, cardiovascular disease; type 2 diabetes, overweight and obesity; osteoporosis; cancer; pediatrics; gerontology; maternal/gestational nutrition; epidemiology; general medicine; energy balance, which includes physical activity; nutrient bioavailability; nutrition biochemistry and physiology; food processing science, safety and technology; public health; nutrition education and behavior change; and/or nutrition-related systematic review methodology.”

If you would like to nominate any qualified experts, including yourself, who meet the criteria for DGAC nominations, please submit their name(s), credentials and contact information to Nate Stritzinger. Contact Pepin Tuma to learn more.

Tom, Several questions about this article. We say there are six sites, but we mention going to Maryland and then list that there are sites in six more states. That makes 7? Something wrong with our math.

In my quote we say America Public. Shouldn't it be American Public or some other wording? Let me know what you think about the edits?

Dear NDEP Members,

The Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics (ACEND®) is writing to keep you informed of our standards development work. A copy of the May Standards Update is posted on the ACEND webpage: Monthly Standards Update. In this issue there is an overview of the Student Learning Objectives, including ACEND's Minimum Requirement for Student Learning Outcomes (SLO) and Specific Examples of Learning Objectives Activities within the SLO Assessment Plan.

In March 2018, the ACEND Board updated the 2017 Accreditation Standards; those changes will become effective July 1, 2018. Among the changes is the requirement that ACEND-required objectives (Standard 3, Required Element 3.3) must be written verbatim and be evaluated annually using an average of data from the previous three years. The revised standards are available at www.eatrightpro.org/2017Standards.

The monthly Virtual Town Hall meetings are held on the third Wednesday of the month at 3 PM Central Time. The town hall provides a time for ACEND to share updates on its standards work and for stakeholders to ask questions. Information on joining the town hall can be found at www.eatrightpro.org/FutureModel.

Please share this information with your constituents/colleagues. If you or they have questions, send them to acend@eatright.org or call 312-899-4872, so we can respond to them. Future editions of the monthly update will include these questions and an ACEND response.

Thank you.

Speaker: Sara Elnakib, RD, MPH, CHES

Description: Culture is an integral part of how we shape our behaviors towards health and wellbeing. To educate about healthy eating and disease management and prevention, nutrition professionals are tasked with meeting the needs of people from different cultures and beliefs. Most often, however, they are challenged by limited knowledge, tools and resources to offer care in a culturally competent and informed manner. With the heterogeneity of American Muslims there is a plethora of unique food practices which are guided by shared religious laws, but influenced by cultural differences. During this webinar we will explore the diversity of Muslim culture, describe some Muslim holidays, beliefs and practices that effect nutritional status of patients. We will also look at some of the challenges to weight management within the Muslim communities in the US.

Objectives:

- Identify the diversity within the Muslim population.
- Recognize about some nutritional trends in the Muslim Population.
- Understand the use of CAM in Muslim populations Identify culturally appropriate strategies useful in helping to motivate behavior change in Muslim patients

I hope you all are enjoying this time of year and below is the DHCC monthly E-Update. Please reach out with any questions, suggestions or thoughts.

Stay well, Mary.

Introduction to the new Dietetic Technicians Sub-unit

Over the past year, Academy and Dietetic Technicians in Practice DPG (DTP) leaders conducted an assessment of DTP's programming, membership satisfaction and long-term direction to determine how the needs of the DTP community can be most successfully met within the Academy. DTRs and NDTRs continue to express an interest in educational resources and networking, though changes to the DTP DPG structure are required to sustain this community.

Beginning June 1, 2018, the DTP community will join forces with the Dietetics in Health Care Communities (DHCC) DPG as the Sub-unit Dietetic Technicians. The Dietetic Technicians Sub-unit will continue to advocate for DTRs/NDTRs, provide education about scope of practice and opportunities to network while also contributing to the overall goals of DHCC.

This structural change will ultimately expand the resources provided to DTRs and NDTRs. Programming for Dietetic Technician sub-unit members will include:

- The opportunity to connect with other DTR/NDTRs as a sub-unit on niche topics.
- Content including past DTP newsletters within the DHCC website to help foster a collaborative community and resource sharing.
- A connected, collaborative community with year-round communication, specific NDTR/DTR content within the DHCC newsletter, and a dedicated sub-unit EML.

The Mega issue that the House of Delegates addressed during the Fall HOD meeting was Championing Nutrition and Dietetics Practitioners in Roles of Leadership in Public Health.

As a follow-up to this, the HOD recently hosted an Advancing Leadership in Public Health webinar. We wanted to share the webinar recording as well as the Grassroots Public Health Projects and Ideas document.

The webinar can be accessed at:

After May 31, 2018, I will no longer be the Executive Director for DHCC. As I move on to other ventures and adventures, I would like to thank each of you for having me as a part of this group for the last 20 years. I have often said that I have been extremely fortunate to have worked with such caring professionals. It has truly been an honor to get to know so many of you whether in person or via the computer or phone. Thank you for doing so much for those whom you serve each and every day. Best of luck in the future to you all.

Subject: Nutrition-Focused Physical Examination (NFPE)

Hi Donna,

It was a pleasure meeting you today and having the opportunity to speak with you. I just wanted to follow-up with an email about NFPE and it's practice in the hospital setting. The training I attended a few years ago was provided by Abbott Nutrition and it was a 4-hour session. The training consisted of powerpoint slides with very little hands on experience and the training slides used were not reflective of the diverse patient population we encounter every day. We are being trained with very little practical application and what we have learnt is not being used in many hospitals.

The transition from NFPE training to actual practice in the hospital is nonexistent in most cases. Patient physical examinations by dietitians is a change in the current hospital culture especially at local or community hospitals. The culture in teaching hospitals is unique and an exception as touching and examining patients by various disciplines is common as part of the teaching experience.

I have worked at three different hospitals since my NFPE training and I have yet to touch a patient. I was told I could not conduct the NFPE on patients as this needed to be approved by the hospital. Also, some of my colleagues were not trained on NFPE. As a preceptor for dietetic interns I was unable to provide adequate training in this area during their clinical rotation. We used the NFPE pocket guide, the review of body systems information provided by the attending physician's notes, wound care nurse/nursing notes on skin issues along with evaluating parts of the patient's body we can see without any touching such as the mouth/teeth, lips, clavicle, orbital and hands. There was no grip strength testing done.

Education and awareness to the change in the clinical dietitian's patient care practice is needed for the medical staff as well as patients who are not use to us conducting physical examinations. We definitely need a champion in the hospital such as a physician to help us as well as collaboration with nursing. Approval could be challenging for dietitians working for a contract company versus those who work directly for the hospital. I have worked in both situations and was not able to conduct the NFPE on patients because I was told the hospital has to give the approval. Unfortunately my clinical nutrition managers had other priorities so no effort was made to try and push this through which is also part of the problem. It would be interesting find out just how many dietitians are actually conducting a full NFPE on patients at their hospitals. Survey says...

So, how do we solve this problem? Please let me know if you have any questions. Take care and have a great weekend!

Respectfully,

1722. Webex

Hi Judy and Donna,

I am waiting for an update from Nicci regarding the proposals and will get back to you. Marsha and I did not discuss them when we met. We did discuss having the Board meet in the U.S. and I mentioned that we might put in a bid for a future ICD in Chicago. She said that she knows the Board will not come to the U.S. any time soon since Glenna M and Sylvia so rudely dropped the ball when they met in Arizona. They asked for a reception which was ignored, and Sylvia and her son went sightseeing without helping to arrange anything for the Board. She also thinks we wouldn't win the bid for ICD since it'll be in North America ( Canada) after South Africa and that there is a perception that Chicago is the Wild West with people shooting on the streets- they all seem to know from CNN that we hold the #1 crime city award. That being said, I think we should definitely invite the Board to Chicago and offer them HQ. We would certainly roll out the red carpet and plan activities for them, including a reception with members of the IL affiliate. The meeting could alleviate their concerns about a Congress here.

I'll give you an update on the proposals as soon as I receive it. Thanks!

Pat

The ICDA Board meeting is next week. Do you recall that ICDA has submitted two proposals for possible support? Did you and Marsha ever discuss that? What has been the outcome or is there anything you want me to relay about that?

Also they will probably discuss where the Board might meet in 2019. What do you think about my suggesting Chicago and AND headquarters? I don't know if they will agree since they might want somewhere in Asia given we met in Mexico last year but worth a try. I also think it would be good for them to see the AND operations center. Might help them think of a future vision for ICDA

Hope all is well. Nothing to report about ICDA except for the upcoming meeting, but hopefully an update will come after the meeting.

Pat, Donna

The ICDA Board meeting is next week. Do you recall that ICDA has submitted two proposals for possible support? Did you and Marsha ever discuss that? What has been the outcome or is there anything you want me to relay about that?

Also they will probably discuss where the Board might meet in 2019. What do you think about my suggesting Chicago and AND headquarters? I don't know if they will agree since they might want somewhere in Asia given we met in Mexico last year but worth a try. I also think it would be good for them to see the AND operations center. Might help them think of a future vision for ICDA

Hope all is well. Nothing to report about ICDA except for the upcoming meeting, but hopefully an update will come after the meeting.

Pat, I am trying to make my plane reservations and am having trouble getting a flight back on May 3. The only flights out leave at 6 am and 10:10 am. I don't think there is anyway that I can make a 10:10 am flight if I am speaking from 8-9 am. I am flying in and out of Augusta, GA. It looks like I may have to stay over May 3 and return on May 4. ## ON THE PULSE OF PUBLIC POLICY

Advocacy Day Focuses on Nutrition Education and Research

Academy policy leaders joined partner organizations April 24 for the Farm Bill Advocacy Day. Members met with more than 35 congressional offices to inform policymakers about the importance of nutrition education and research programs in the farm bill. Please urge your members of Congress to support nutrition programs in the farm bill.

House Agriculture Committee Advances Farm Bill

The House Agriculture Committee advanced H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018, out of committee April 18. The farm bill would make changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, the country's most effective anti-hunger program, which could weaken or eliminate coverage and benefits affecting millions of people. As the bill moves to the House floor for a vote, likely in May, the Academy asks Congress to work together on a bipartisan solution that keeps SNAP-Ed and the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program intact and fully funded, and builds on SNAP's strengths and the other nutrition programs that shore up its successes. Effective education strategies with assistance programs ensure federal investments in these programs are optimized.

Congressional Budget Update

Appropriations committees in the Senate and House will begin in May to consider the Fiscal Year 2019 appropriations bills. Each chamber is expected to bring its bills to the floor for votes in early summer. The Academy continues to advocate for a strong investment in evidence-based health and nutrition programs, joining the Children's Budget Coalition led by First Focus. The coalition advocates for children in areas of health, education, hunger and welfare, asking for increased overall investment in children's programs.

Academy Advocacy Day Focuses on Nutrition Education and Research

Academy policy leaders joined partner organizations for the Farm Bill Advocacy Day on April 24. Members met with more than 35 congressional offices to inform policymakers about the importance of nutrition education and research programs in the farm bill.

The Academy partnered with the American Society for Nutrition, Laurie M. Tisch Center for Food, Education & Policy, Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior and The Food Trust for the advocacy day.

Members who were not able to attend the advocacy day can still take action by urging their members of Congress to support nutrition programs in the farm bill.

Register for FRAC's Senior Hunger Webinar, April 26

AARP Foundation and the Food Research and Action Center will host a webinar, Senior Hunger: Concrete Ways to Act Now, to kick off senior hunger awareness month. During the presentation, you will learn information on activating concrete actions to help seniors access nutritious food. Explore how hunger harms the health of millions of older adults and how a new free online course, Screen & Intervene, is helping health care providers and allies address food insecurity among older adults.

Learn the latest news on the farm bill and how threats to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program could be undercutting our nation's response to addressing senior hunger. The webinar is on April 26 at 1 p.m. (Eastern Time). Register here.

Congressional Briefing: Food is Medicine: Improving Health Outcomes and Curbing Costs with Medically-Tailored Meals, May 9

For people living with complex illnesses, receiving medically-tailored meals can be the key to avoiding a visit to the emergency room or hospital stay.

Join the Center for Health Law & Policy Innovation of Harvard Law School, Friedman School of Nutrition Science & Policy at Tufts University and Food is Medicine Coalition, in conjunction with the House Hunger Caucus Food is Medicine Working Group, to learn more about the health care outcomes and cost implications of medically-tailored nutrition interventions.

The briefing will be on May 9 at 3:30 p.m. (Eastern Time) in the Cannon House Office Building, room 121. If you are in the Washington, D.C. area and interested in attending the briefing, RSVP here.

News from the Hill and Beyond

Next Steps for the Farm Bill in the House; Actions You Can Take in Your Backyard

The U.S. House of Representatives could bring the farm bill, H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018, to the House floor as early as May 7, when Congress returns from their week-long recess. The bill passed out of the House Agriculture Committee on April 18. It is unclear if the House will have the 215 votes necessary to pass the bill.

This is a critical time to voice your concerns with the proposed changes to nutrition programs in the farm bill. Here are specific actions you can take to speak out, and some actions only take a couple of minutes!

- Take action using the Academy's action alert. The more you can personalize the message the better.
- Call your members of Congress. Dial the U.S. Capitol switchboard at (202) 224-3121. The operator will connect you directly with the office of your request. Use the action alert as talking points.
- Meet with your members of Congress and their staff in district or state offices.
- Invite members of Congress and their staff to a site visit to learn more about your program.
- Attend a public forum or town hall. Share your thoughts and ask a question to bring attention to a nutrition-related farm bill issue.
- Engage your members of Congress through Facebook or Twitter. Use pictures when possible to make your tweet or post stand out. And remember, when sharing the importance of nutrition education and SNAP in the farm bill, please tag your Senators and Representative to bring additional visibility to the posts. C-SPAN has compiled a list of Twitter handles for members of Congress. Don't forget the hashtags, #FarmBill and #eatrightPRO. Here are a few sample tweets for organizations and individuals that were not able to physically participate on the advocacy day:

•[Your Congress member's Twitter handle], please help work to ensure nutrition education and research programs are in the #FarmBill. These programs help Americans at risk of food insecurity, hunger and chronic illnesses. #eatrightPRO

- Retweet if you agree that Congress needs to support #FarmBill programs that help Americans at risk of food insecurity, hunger and chronic illnesses. #eatrightPRO

- Today, join us in telling Congress they must act now to support nutrition education and research in the #FarmBill. #eatrightPRO

Together, our actions make a difference!

The House Farm Bill Would Make Changes to Nutrition Programs

The House farm bill, H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018, would make major changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. Between 5 million and 7 million SNAP recipients would be subject to stricter work requirements and more than 1 million low-income households could lose have their benefits reduced or lost, if the bill passes.

The House bill would also consolidate SNAP-Ed and the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program, while making additional changes that could result in disruptions, and impact program outcomes. Additionally, the bill would open up the Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Program to all forms of fruits and vegetables, including canned, dried, frozen and pureed, undermining the integrity of the program. Academy President Donna S. Martin wrote a letter to the House Agriculture Committee expressing the Academy's concerns prior to the committee markup.

For a summary of the changes proposed to the nutrition programs in the farm bill, visit the COI. Action Alerts

Action Required: Farm Bill and Treat and Reduce Obesity Act

There's still time to make your voice heard:

- Farm Bill: Congress is currently working on the 2018 farm bill, which is the primary legislation that authorizes many of our nation's food and nutrition programs. The farm bill includes nutrition assistance programs that help people access nutritious food; nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthy choices; and nutrition research that addresses the nutrition-related health concerns we face as a nation. We are asking Academy members to take action and urge Congress to support the important nutrition programs in the farm bill that contribute to the health of all, especially those most susceptible to experiencing insecurity. Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.

Take Action!

Cut and past the following message and post to your communication platforms.

(PPCs/PALs, Please Post this Message to Your Communication Channels)

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, please urge your representative to support legislation that protects and values nutrition programs in the farm bill. The U.S. House of Representatives recently released farm bill text that would make harmful cuts and changes to our nation's largest and most effective food assistance program, the Supplemental Assistance Nutrition Program. The bill would also create an uncertain future for the two nutrition education programs, the SNAP Nutrition Education and Obesity Prevention Grant Program, and the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program. The House Agriculture Committee is set to consider the bill on April 18 quickly followed by a full House vote.

Please send the new action alert message to your representative. Let them know how the changes in the farm bill would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.

From Seton Hill to Capitol Hill

Last week, students enrolled in Seton Hill University's Coordinated Program in Nutrition and Dietetics visited the Academy's office in Washington, D.C. as part of an annual public policy trip. The PIA Team shared how the Academy advocates for strong legislation and policies focused on prevention and well-being, health care and health systems and food and nutrition safety and security.

The students also had the opportunity to meet with their members of Congress to advocate for the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act, and the inclusion of nutrition research and education in the farm bill. Here's to future policy leaders in the making – way to go!

If you have been making strides in your community (attending ANDPAC events, meeting with policy makers, etc.) – let us spread the word! Send photos and a quick write-up about your recent policy accomplishments to Tenásha Ebrahimkhel. We would love to share your story and inspire others.

Telehealth Work Group, Call for Experts

Experts needed to join a new telehealth workgroup! The Academy is looking for volunteers who have an interest in telehealth, practice telehealth, practice in rural or underserved areas or who are regulatory experts to join the workgroup. The Academy is seeking input from Academy members and dietetic practice groups as we look at ways to enable RDNs to more easily provide and be paid for a robust variety of telehealth services.

If you are interested in joining the workgroup, please submit your name, credentials, a brief introduction outlining your interest and resume to Erin Zumbrun by April 30. Stay tuned for more information.

Hi Tom and Rhys,

Each month in PPWN we are running an “ANDPAC Champion Corner” where we will feature quotes from our top donors about why they donate to ANDPAC. Jeanne thought it would be a great idea to feature Donna and Pat. The quote can be 2-4 sentences and we will include a photo, if they would like.

Good afternoon,

As promised, attached are proposed talking points for your use for next Monday's Committee Chairs Forum. Feel free to "use" or "lose" based on your needs and personal styles. And let me know if you have questions once you start preparing for the call. FYI – Jeanne is working on an attachment for Mike's item about FNCE/PPW integration so everyone can see the master plan.

Warm regards,

Marsha

4. House of Delegate: Insights into Mega Issue Identification and Auditing of HOD Meetings

I know that Donna and Dianne are looking forward to some great discussion around these topics. Attached is the agenda and attachments for the Forum, including information on how to connect via WebEx and conference call line.

Charlene Rice, Coordinator for the Governance Team, already sent everyone an Outlook invitation so the event should be on your calendars. If you did not receive an invitation, please contact Charlene at crice@eatright.org. If you are unable to join us for the Forum, notes from the event will be distributed after the call.

I know that each one of you as a leader is supported by a very talented staff partner. In addition to their valuable support, please let me know if there is anything I can do assist you in your leadership journey.

Thank you for serving in your leadership role!

Hi

Good morning from Idaho. Spring has finally arrived.

Our annual meeting was a great success and we have many to thank.

I know our members, students, interns, and exhibitors enjoyed having Dr. Martin attend and speak. Bringing the Academy President was truly the candle on our birthday cake!

Dr. Martin - you made a lasting impression on all our members (young, old and in between) during your visit and with your two presentations.

We appreciate your warmth and enthusiasm for the profession.

Sharing the value of Academy membership emphasized what say so often - "we are better together" and "make new friends and keep the old."

We also appreciated the "Idaho" specific data included in Dr. Marin's Academy Update presentation (voting percentages, Foundation dollars that come back to Idaho with member names!, Grassroots Action Alerts participation, and more). These are all things that are important to us. The Public Policy Team especially appreciated the plug for Action Alerts and also the emphasis on the importance of public policy to the profession.

As Dr. Martin suggested our Meeting Planner, Jill Rice, is going to send me a copy of Dr. Martin's Academy Update PowerPoint (with notes). We will use this information throughout the year on our website, blog and Face Book page. We will also share with our Board members who were unable to attend. We have local liaisons throughout our state and there is information in the Power Point that can be shared at the local level as well. Would it be okay for this Power Point to be used at a local meeting?

We appreciate the financial support (affiliate grant) and are glad that the Academy will continue to support bringing Academy Board members to Affiliate Meetings.

Thank you,

Elaine

Hi Donna

Jill replied to me that she only has the PDF.

I would love to have your "notes" too.

Please send me your Academy Update Power Point with notes

We have plans to share your information throughout the coming year. We send our President to local meetings and student functions each year. Idaho is as you guessed geographically almost three states!

Thanks again... we appreciate all you did to make your visit to Idaho a success!

Here you go...

Donna only shared PDFs of her presentations with me, but you can still pull out individual pages and share them the same way you would a PP slide.

Hi Donna

Jill replied to me that she only has the PDF.

I would love to have your "notes" too.

Please send me your Academy Update Power Point with notes

We have plans to share your information throughout the coming year. We send our President to local meetings and student functions each year. Idaho is as you guessed geographically almost three states!

Thanks again... we appreciate all you did to make your visit to Idaho a success!

Here you go...

Donna only shared PDFs of her presentations with me, but you can still pull out individual pages and share them the same way you would a PP slide.

Dr. Martin - you made a lasting impression on all our members (young, old and in between) during your visit and with your two presentations.

We appreciate your warmth and enthusiasm for the profession.

Sharing the value of Academy membership emphasized what say so often - "we are better together" and "make new friends and keep the old."

We also appreciated the "Idaho" specific data included in Dr. Marin's Academy Update presentation (voting percentages, Foundation dollars that come back to Idaho with member names!, Grassroots Action Alerts participation, and more). These are all things that are important to us. The Public Policy Team especially appreciated the plug for Action Alerts and also the emphasis on the importance of public policy to the profession.

As Dr. Martin suggested our Meeting Planner, Jill Rice, is going to send me a copy of Dr. Martin's Academy Update PowerPoint (with notes). We will use this information throughout the year on our website, blog and Face Book page. We will also share with our Board members who were unable to attend. We have local liaisons throughout our state and there is information in the Power Point that can be shared at the local level as well. Would it be okay for this Power Point to be used at a local meeting?

We appreciate the financial support (affiliate grant) and are glad that the Academy will continue to support bringing Academy Board members to Affiliate Meetings.

Thank you,

Elaine

- I also believe that there is an opportunity for an op-ed ... as discussed below.

DRAFT Key Messages

HEALTH PROFESSIONALS

It is the position of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, School Nutrition Association (SNA), and Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior (SNEB) that comprehensive, integrated nutrition programs in preschool through high school are essential to improve the health, nutritional status, and academic performance of our nation's children.

1. By serving meals that align with the 2010 Dietary Guidelines for Americans, school nutrition programs have the opportunity to positively impact the health of our nation. In school cafeterias, classrooms and gardens, Academy members are helping to establish smart eating habits for a generation.
2. School nutrition programs provide food security for nearly 30 million at-risk children every school day. The majority of schools meals -- breakfast, lunch snacks, supper and summer meals -- are served to students who are eligible for free and reduced-price meals.
3. Nutrition and health experts recognize the importance of being well-nourished in order to be well-educated. School nutrition leaders are embracing creative ways to maximize participation in school meals so that students can optimize their academic performance.
4. Having qualified leadership in school nutrition programs is necessary to continue the national school meal programs' impact on reducing food insecurity, enhancing the academic success, and improving the health of our nation's school-aged children. RDNs and DTRs provide qualified leadership in districts large and small across the US.

CONSUMERS

1. Today's school lunch is not the lunch that you were served at school nor is it the lunch packed by your mom or today's busy parents. School meals are increasingly made from scratch in district kitchens -- packed with colorful, often fresh, produce and other nutrient-rich local foods.
2. School meals, like breakfast and lunch, are a great value for today's busy families. They save time and cost less than meals from home while providing more essential nutrients for growing children in kid-friendly sizes and combinations.
3. School nutrition programs extend far beyond the cafeteria walls to provide learning opportunities, especially for STEM subjects in classrooms, gardens and area farms. Nutrition and culinary education opportunities benefit all students and their families.
4. The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, School Nutrition Association (SNA), and Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior (SNEB) recognizes the challenges of serving meals at school, like scheduling enough time for students to eat. School nutrition leaders are committed to researching the best possible future for food at school and offering effective solutions that benefit all students and their families.

WHY UPDATED POSITION

- The updated position of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, School Nutrition Association (SNA), and Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior (SNEB) reflects the substantial changes in USDA meals pattern and regulations required by the Healthy, Hunger-Free Kids Act of 2010 (HHFKA).

- The position and practice papers also reflect a more fundamental shift in school meal programs -- from just putting food on a tray to multi-faceted, customer oriented program that reflects national and global food trends while being integrated into daily educational activities.

Hi, everyone: We've discussed this position paper and will be happy to develop a press release on it. We have a couple of questions and suggestions:

Dayle: We think quoting Donna Martin in the release is a very good idea. Have you discussed it with her? If not, we can propose the idea to her, or would you prefer to? Please let us know, thanks.

Regarding an op-ed, our thought is to bring the Academy's Washington, D.C., office into the discussion, to see if they would be interested in collaborating on an article under Donna's name that brings together the position paper and the Academy's stance on the 2018 farm bill, particularly the school nutrition provisions. The DC office has been interested in op-eds on previous pieces of legislation, and if they were looking to do one on this bill we believe it would be a good idea to combine efforts instead of potentially overlapping/competing on the same issue. And we could work with DC on media outlets that might be interested in publishing it.

Please let us know asap what you think, and we'll proceed. Thanks very much!

Hello Tom and Rhys,

The joint position paper “Comprehensive Nutrition Programs & Services in Schools” will be published in the May 2018 Journal. This is a joint position paper with Society for Nutrition and Education and Behavior and the School Nutrition Association. The joint position paper is an update of the 2010 joint position paper entitled “Comprehensive School Nutrition Services”. An Academy practice paper entitled “Comprehensive Nutrition Programs & Services in Schools” will also be published in the May Journal.

The authors are currently preparing the Key Messages for the joint position paper and will email to you by Friday, April 20 (I will be on vacation so I have asked them to email directly to you and copy me so you can begin development of a press release, if you determine one is warranted). Please see their email and request below to include Academy President Donna Martin in the messaging.

Thank you.....let me know if you have any questions.

Donna:

I am VERY much looking forward to the publication of the papers.

A couple of initial thoughts:

- IMO we should do a press release that includes both the position and practice papers since they are so closely related.
- I also believe that Donna Martin should be included in this process.
- Her term as President has been closely associated with School Nutrition ... and this is the month that she will be wrapping up her term.

April 17th is NOT enough time. I am copying Linette because I am going to need her help.

It's time to think about promoting the papers. Can you please develop some take-home messages for the position paper? I will share the messages with the Strategic Communications Team and they will determine if a press release should be developed. Please see guidelines below:

Guidelines for Key Take-Home Messages:

- Develop 3-4 key take-home messages targeted for health professionals, and another 3-4 key take-home messages targeted for the consumer pertaining to the paper,
- Messages should be short and succinct, highlighting key concepts presented in the paper.
- Since the position paper is an update from an earlier paper, include an additional sentence or two on how the updated paper differs from the previous paper.

Can you target returning these to me by next Tuesday, April 17? I realize this is a quick turnaround time so if you need more time please let me know!! Thanks very much.

DRAFT Key Messages

HEALTH PROFESSIONALS

It is the position of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, School Nutrition Association (SNA), and Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior (SNEB) that comprehensive, integrated nutrition programs in preschool through high school are essential to improve the health, nutritional status, and academic performance of our nation's children.

1. By serving meals that align with the 2010 Dietary Guidelines for Americans, school nutrition programs have the opportunity to positively impact the health of our nation. In school cafeterias, classrooms and gardens, Academy members are helping to establish smart eating habits for a generation.
2. School nutrition programs provide food security for nearly 30 million at-risk children every school day. The majority of schools meals -- breakfast, lunch snacks, supper and summer meals -- are served to students who are eligible for free and reduced-price meals.
3. Nutrition and health experts recognize the importance of being well-nourished in order to be well-educated. School nutrition leaders are embracing creative ways to maximize participation in school meals so that students can optimize their academic performance.
4. Having qualified leadership in school nutrition programs is necessary to continue the national school meal programs' impact on reducing food insecurity, enhancing the academic success, and improving the health of our nation's school-aged children. RDNs and DTRs provide qualified leadership in districts large and small across the US.

CONSUMERS

1. Today's school lunch is not the lunch that you were served at school nor is it the lunch packed by your mom or today's busy parents. School meals are increasingly made from scratch in district kitchens -- packed with colorful, often fresh, produce and other nutrient-rich local foods.
2. School meals, like breakfast and lunch, are a great value for today's busy families. They save time and cost less than meals from home while providing more essential nutrients for growing children in kid-friendly sizes and combinations.
3. School nutrition programs extend far beyond the cafeteria walls to provide learning opportunities, especially for STEM subjects in classrooms, gardens and area farms. Nutrition and culinary education opportunities benefit all students and their families.
4. The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, School Nutrition Association (SNA), and Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior (SNEB) recognizes the challenges of serving meals at school, like scheduling enough time for students to eat. School nutrition leaders are committed to researching the best possible future for food at school and offering effective solutions that benefit all students and their families.

WHY UPDATED POSITION

- The updated position of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, School Nutrition Association (SNA), and Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior (SNEB) reflects the substantial changes in USDA meals pattern and regulations required by the Healthy, Hunger-Free Kids Act of 2010 (HHFKA).
- The position and practice papers also reflect a more fundamental shift in school meal programs -- from just putting food on a tray to multi-faceted, customer oriented program that reflects national and global food trends while being integrated into daily educational activities.

Hi, everyone: We've discussed this position paper and will be happy to develop a press release on it. We have a couple of questions and suggestions:

Dayle: We think quoting Donna Martin in the release is a very good idea. Have you discussed it with her? If not, we can propose the idea to her, or would you prefer to? Please let us know, thanks.

Regarding an op-ed, our thought is to bring the Academy's Washington, D.C., office into the discussion, to see if they would be interested in collaborating on an article under Donna's name that brings together the position paper and the Academy's stance on the 2018 farm bill, particularly the school nutrition provisions. The DC office has been interested in op-eds on previous pieces of legislation, and if they were looking to do one on this bill we believe it would be a good idea to combine efforts instead of potentially overlapping/competing on the same issue. And we could work with DC on media outlets that might be interested in publishing it.

Please let us know asap what you think, and we'll proceed. Thanks very much!

Donna and Jeanne:

For over two years, I have been working as lead author on the updated School Nutrition Services Joint POSITION paper and the brand-new PRACTICE paper.

- The proofs are done and last minute questions have been answered.
- They are now scheduled for the May Journal.

Below is a message thread that I initiated about the key messages, Academy press release and potential op-ed. To summarize:

- I have DRAFTED key messages with help from Practice Paper co-author Linette Dodson. These are pasted directed below.
- IMO any press release about the papers should include Donna Martin, for obvious reasons. I would be honored to be included as lead author on both papers. It would be nice to include practice paper co-author Linette Dodson who is incoming Chair-Elect of the SNS DPG.
- I also believe that there is an opportunity for an op-ed ... as discussed below.

I am copying everyone who has been involved to date. I would be happy to answer any questions you have. Thanks for considering this out-of-the-box promotion for an update position paper.

HEALTH PROFESSIONALS

It is the position of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, School Nutrition Association (SNA), and Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior (SNEB) that comprehensive, integrated nutrition programs in preschool through high school are essential to improve the health, nutritional status, and academic performance of our nation's children.

1. By serving meals that align with the 2010 Dietary Guidelines for Americans, school nutrition programs have the opportunity to positively impact the health of our nation. In school cafeterias, classrooms and gardens, Academy members are helping to establish smart eating habits for a generation.
2. School nutrition programs provide food security for nearly 30 million at-risk children every school day. The majority of schools meals -- breakfast, lunch snacks, supper and summer meals -- are served to students who are eligible for free and reduced-price meals.
3. Nutrition and health experts recognize the importance of being well-nourished in order to be well-educated. School nutrition leaders are embracing creative ways to maximize participation in school meals so that students can optimize their academic performance.
4. Having qualified leadership in school nutrition programs is necessary to continue the national school meal programs' impact on reducing food insecurity, enhancing the academic success, and improving the health of our nation's school-aged children. RDNs and DTRs provide qualified leadership in districts large and small across the US.

CONSUMERS

1. Today's school lunch is not the lunch that you were served at school nor is it the lunch packed by your mom or today's busy parents. School meals are increasingly made from scratch in district kitchens -- packed with colorful, often fresh, produce and other nutrient-rich local foods.
2. School meals, like breakfast and lunch, are a great value for today's busy families. They save time and cost less than meals from home while providing more essential nutrients for growing children in kid-friendly sizes and combinations.
3. School nutrition programs extend far beyond the cafeteria walls to provide learning opportunities, especially for STEM subjects in classrooms, gardens and area farms. Nutrition and culinary education opportunities benefit all students and their families.
4. The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, School Nutrition Association (SNA), and Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior (SNEB) recognizes the challenges of serving meals at school, like scheduling enough time for students to eat. School nutrition leaders are committed to researching the best possible future for food at school and offering effective solutions that benefit all students and their families.

WHY UPDATED POSITION

- The updated position of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, School Nutrition Association (SNA), and Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior (SNEB) reflects the substantial changes in USDA meals pattern and regulations required by the Healthy, Hunger-Free Kids Act of 2010 (HHFKA).
- The position and practice papers also reflect a more fundamental shift in school meal programs -- from just putting food on a tray to multi-faceted, customer oriented program that reflects national and global food trends while being integrated into daily educational activities.

Hi, everyone: We've discussed this position paper and will be happy to develop a press release on it. We have a couple of questions and suggestions:

Dayle: We think quoting Donna Martin in the release is a very good idea. Have you discussed it with her? If not, we can propose the idea to her, or would you prefer to? Please let us know, thanks.

Regarding an op-ed, our thought is to bring the Academy's Washington, D.C., office into the discussion, to see if they would be interested in collaborating on an article under Donna's name that brings together the position paper and the Academy's stance on the 2018 farm bill, particularly the school nutrition provisions. The DC office has been interested in op-eds on previous pieces of legislation, and if they were looking to do one on this bill we believe it would be a good idea to combine efforts instead of potentially overlapping/competing on the same issue. And we could work with DC on media outlets that might be interested in publishing it.

Please let us know asap what you think, and we'll proceed. Thanks very much!

Hello Tom and Rhys,

The joint position paper “Comprehensive Nutrition Programs & Services in Schools” will be published in the May 2018 Journal. This is a joint position paper with Society for Nutrition and Education and Behavior and the School Nutrition Association. The joint position paper is an update of the 2010 joint position paper entitled “Comprehensive School Nutrition Services”. An Academy practice paper entitled “Comprehensive Nutrition Programs & Services in Schools” will also be published in the May Journal.

The authors are currently preparing the Key Messages for the joint position paper and will email to you by Friday, April 20 (I will be on vacation so I have asked them to email directly to you and copy me so you can begin development of a press release, if you determine one is warranted).

Please see their email and request below to include Academy President Donna Martin in the messaging.

Thank you.....let me know if you have any questions.

- I have also been wondering if it might be an opportunity for an OP-ED with the authors and Donna.

Thanks Dayle, for your input and quick reply. I will share your thought about a press release that includes both papers with the Strategic Communications Team. Also good idea about including Donna Martin in the process. Let me know your thoughts, when you submit the take-home messages, on how we could involve Donna. I will look into seeing how we could involve her as well and see if it would be possible.

Look forward to receiving when you and Linette are able to submit!! Thank you!

Donna:

I am VERY much looking forward to the publication of the papers.

A couple of initial thoughts:

- IMO we should do a press release that includes both the position and practice papers since they are so closely related.
- I also believe that Donna Martin should be included in this process.
- Her term as President has been closely associated with School Nutrition ... and this is the month that she will be wrapping up her term.

April 17th is NOT enough time. I am copying Linette because I am going to need her help.

Hi Dayle,

Hope you're doing well! Looking forward to seeing the papers in the Journal!!

It's time to think about promoting the papers. Can you please develop some take-home messages for the position paper? I will share the messages with the Strategic Communications Team and they will determine if a press release should be developed. Please see guidelines below:

Guidelines for Key Take-Home Messages:

- Develop 3-4 key take-home messages targeted for health professionals, and another 3-4 key take-home messages targeted for the consumer pertaining to the paper,
- Messages should be short and succinct, highlighting key concepts presented in the paper.
- Since the position paper is an update from an earlier paper, include an additional sentence or two on how the updated paper differs from the previous paper.

Can you target returning these to me by next Tuesday, April 17? I realize this is a quick turnaround time so if you need more time please let me know!! Thanks very much.

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, please urge your representative to support legislation that protects and values nutrition programs in the farm bill. The U.S. House of Representatives recently released farm bill text that would make harmful cuts and changes to our nation's largest and most effective food assistance program, the Supplemental Assistance Nutrition Program. The bill would also create an uncertain future for the two nutrition education programs, the SNAP Nutrition Education and Obesity Prevention Grant Program, and the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program. The House Agriculture Committee is set to consider the bill on April 18 quickly followed by a full House vote.

Please send the new action alert message to your representative. Let them know how the changes in the farm bill would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Follow-up to Advancing Leadership in Public Health Webinar:

The HOD is asking that you please review this information and complete this survey (found here) if you are interested in leading or participating in a project.

In addition, can also view this webinar recording for more information. After watching the webinar, please complete this brief survey by April 27th, 2018. The HOD appreciates your feedback and will use your input to help plan future events.

Maryland Department of Aging Request for Proposal:

The Maryland Department of Aging is working to transform their Senior Nutrition Program by using the epidemic of older adult malnutrition as a catalyst to introduce new evidence based practices, cost-cutting measures, meal packages, and service delivery methods to forge new health care linkages and expand service to an increased number of older adults in the community. The department would like to contract with a dietitian to achieve the following objectives:

- Improve quality within the statewide delivery system by establishing new medically tailored meal packages and meal delivery mechanisms for patients transitioning from hospital to home;
- Strengthen program efficiencies by reducing average statewide meal cost and increasing home delivered meal service; and
- Establish a new evidence based framework for a malnutrition education program.

International Malnutrition Member Interest Group (MIG):

At FNCE this past year, there were several people who were interested in international malnutrition, but didn't know quite how to get involved. A handful of RDs currently working in the international arena met up at one point and talked about their experiences of going at it alone, and each felt like they were needing to fend for themselves in the international nutrition realm. They decided to band together and get a group in the works to help be a 'landing place' for those who are already working specifically to fight malnutrition in developing countries, as well as those who would like to get into this field but have no idea how to.

There have been some email talks over the past few months about starting a Member Interest Group (MIG) about this topic. If you are interested in joining this movement, they would love to have you join and get you in on the email loop with the MIG formation. If you are interested, please send an email to Jen Brewer at jenb@mycookkitchen.com and she will provide you with more details.

ON THE PULSE OF PUBLIC POLICY

House Releases Farm Bill Text: Markup Expected April 18

The House Agriculture Committee has released H.R. 2, its version of the farm bill, and is scheduled to mark up the bill in committee on April 18. The bill would make changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and would consolidate and make additional changes to SNAP-Ed and the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program. The changes would likely create disruptions; and trusted, effective partners may lose their ability to participate in SNAP-Ed. The Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Program would be opened to canned, dried, frozen and pureed products, undermining the integrity of the program. .

CBO Estimates Costs of Farm Bill

The Congressional Budget Office estimates that, under the House's farm bill, the number of SNAP participants will continue to fall over next 10 years, but the overall cost of the program will remain relatively constant due to projected increases in food costs. CBO also prepared an estimate of the overall cost of the farm bill. While the bill would be near budget neutral, adding $458 million to the federal deficit over a decade, the bill would shift funding within the nutrition title, with conservation programs facing the largest cutbacks. Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi (Calif.) sent a letter to House Democrats urging them to oppose several bills, including the farm bill, over changes to SNAP.

Academy Supports FDA's Efforts to Define Food Safety Risk Factors

The Academy submitted comments to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration on plans to conduct onsite surveys assessing food safety risk factors in settings including schools, health care and retail. The comments focused on uncertainties regarding time and temperature controls, timing and duration of survey visits, and the appropriate balance between glove use and handwashing. The Academy also encouraged the FDA to consider cross-contamination of food allergens as a food safety issue, since protections to limit foodborne bacteria also tend to limit allergy risks, and cross-contaminated food is not allergy-safe for a growing proportion of the population. This issue was not apparently covered in the FDA's survey plans.

Academy Opposes Balanced Budget Amendment Vote in Congress

The Academy joined more than 250 national health organizations in sending a letter to Congress opposing H.J. Res 2, the Balanced Budget Amendment of 2018, which would have led to drastic cuts to spending on domestic health and nutrition programs. The vote failed April 12 in the House of Representatives, 233-184. The letter demonstrated ways the measure would harm the U.S. economy, especially after the recently passed tax cuts. While the Academy is concerned with rising deficits, this proposed measure would cause more harm to the economy and to vital nutrition services.

Thanks so much, Donna.

FYI- I have your presentation from Tom. It looks great!

As the HLT worked through the schedule, the starting time of the meeting has shifted slightly. After a brief introduction from Dianne Polly, you'll be kicking our meeting off at 11:30 am CT.

Please plan to log on to WebEx around 11:10 am CT to ensure technology is working properly—then you can mute and do whatever you want until we begin. Dianne will do the quick introduction and then I'll unmute you. I have your script so can advance your slides.

At 11:10 am CT click Join meeting to initiate the WebEx for the Spring HOD meeting. We will not be using the phone line for the WebEx. You will use VoIP (streaming/integrated sound) meaning the sound comes through your computer and you'll use a headset with a microphone to speak. In case you need it, I have attached a WebEx connection tips document.

Question: Would you like to do a test of the technology prior to the day of the event? If so, just let me know and we can set up a time.

Please don't hesitate to reach out.

Thank you again,

Description: Culture is an integral part of how we shape our behaviors towards health and wellbeing. To educate about healthy eating and disease management and prevention, nutrition professionals are tasked with meeting the needs of people from different cultures and beliefs. Most often, however, they are challenged by limited knowledge, tools and resources to offer care in a culturally competent and informed manner. With the heterogeneity of American Muslims there is a plethora of unique food practices which are guided by shared religious laws, but influenced by cultural differences. During this webinar we will explore the diversity of Muslim culture, describe some Muslim holidays, beliefs and practices that effect nutritional status of patients. We will also look at some of the challenges to weight management within the Muslim communities in the US.

Objectives:

- Identify the diversity within the Muslim population.
- Recognize about some nutritional trends in the Muslim Population.
- Understand the use of CAM in Muslim populations Identify culturally appropriate strategies useful in helping to motivate behavior change in Muslim patients

Hi,

I received word this morning from Hannah Phelps Proctor, committee staff partner to the Student Advisory Committee, that one of their members turned in her resignation. Carina Chiodo, who also serves on the ACEND board, needed to resign due to a family illness that was causing her difficulties in keeping her commitments. I'm sure you share my concern for her and her family. Since it is so close to the end of her term (May 31), Hannah does not see a need to replace her. The committee just has one final wrap-up call left. But I thought you would like to know this information.

Hi Susan-

Thank you for your email. Congratulations on your 53rd year of membership with the Academy!

You were correct to reach out to me regarding the FNCE registration and housing questions. Each year we receive a list from each department with the approved early housing and registration group who are allowed to book into the system prior to us opening the housing publicly on May 1. The group you reference, 50 year members, is included on that list by the membership team but only includes the names of individuals receiving 50-year membership this actual year at FNCE.

That being said, is there a certain hotel that you are looking to reserve a room for the meeting? We don't anticipate the quick sell out on the first public day for housing like some cities as the headquarters and surrounding hotels have very large blocks. Is there a certain hotel you were looking at?

Thanks,

Diane

Hi Diane,

Donna Martin said that you were the person who sent out early room registrations for FNCE members a few years back. Since I'm in the 50+ category, we were able to be included in the "early registration group. Are you still the person who handles these requests?

I'm coming up on 53 years this year and appreciate being in the early group to register.

Will you please include me again this year or point me to the right person?

Many thanks.

I attended this past year at FNCE and found it to be very beneficial. Or better yet, could Academy committee chairs become permanent members of the HOD?

1. Dianne could certainly address how the HOD determines the Mega issues.
2. I would love to hear how PPW is being integrated into FNCE.
3. I also think it would be excellent for Chris Weithman to talk about how the sessions for FNCE get selected, since so many of them don't get selected. How to increase the chances that your proposal will get selected.
4. I think it would be a better idea for Wendy Phillips to talk about everything that is going on with licensure issues right now.
5. I always love the idea of them talking about their biggest accomplishment this year.

I will look forward to hearing the date for this call and an open to whatever we decide to do.

Good morning,

Time for a quick update on the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum. Let me just start by saying it's been like herding cats. After multiple reminders, we finally got 14 committee chairs to complete the survey. However, we had to do another round of outreach to 8 of the 14 as they did not indicate the times they were available for the call. I don't get it, but the goal now is to have them complete that part of the survey by tomorrow so we can nail down a date/time.

We've received several suggestions for topics, some of which are offers to speak to a topic by a specific committee chair:

1. FNCE/PPW Integration; Affiliate public policy leader survey (From Mike Glasgow, LPPC)
2. Updates on policy areas and participation in action alerts; feedback on ongoing progress with ACEND transition to the masters curriculum for entry level RDN's; General trends committee chairs are hearing about in the various specialty areas that impact FNCE programming in future years (From Chris Weithman, Committee for Lifelong Learning)

3. The Diversity committee recently proposed an additional National Award around Diversity. It was submitted to the Awards committee. We would be willing to discuss where the idea for the award came from and why we proposed it. I don't think the Award committee will have had time to review the proposal by the time the forums are in place. (From Joseph Quinlan, Diversity Committee)

4. Communication strategies to help members recognize all of the work being done on their behalf. And really, the work we do benefits non-member RDNs and NDTRs too. (From Wendy Phillips, Consumer Protection and Licensure Subcommittee)

5. 1) How Mega Issues and/or topics the HOD discusses get determined 2) Academy Committee structure and liaisons - how it's determined which committees have liaisons or a representative from/on another committee as crossover; for example I know of committees that have a CDR liaison, or perhaps a member of QMC is a liaison member on NIC...in my past history this structure has changed over time and I'm curious as to why or how this gets determined 3) How FNCE sessions get selected - in the past there have been opportunities for the DPGs to submit specifically for DPG Spotlight sessions, but is there also opportunity for Academy Committees to be put into a specific consideration "bucket" instead of put into the entire FNCE proposal mix? There is great working coming out of all of the Academy Committees, so it may be nice to have some special consideration for FNCE sessions (From Sherri Jones, Quality Management)

I'll confirm a date/time with you both later this week. In the meantime, you can be thinking about whether you want to include any of the above topics on the agenda for the forum. As a reminder, Dianne had previously tossed out the following ideas:

Update on what happening at the national level in regards to strategic plan projects, (maybe even an update on national wellness projects), industry relations, public policy activities. Another random brainstorm idea, let them volunteer to give the entire group an update on their most significant committee event/action so far this year. (time limit of course)

Have a good day and I'll be back in touch.

Marsha and Donna,

In addition to the days and times you know about (HLT calls, meetings, BOD calls, meetings, LPPC) I am not available at on April 11-14, and April 18-19th. Most other days I could change things around. Time and day of week is up to you. My only other non changeable time would be April 16 and May 21 at 4:30 p.m. (My work board meetings.)

Good evening,

While we are all sitting in cold temperatures, let's take a break and turn our thoughts toward spring (which will actually be here before we know it). As a reminder, in our work to support the Chairs of the Academy Committees, our plan includes 2 opportunities for them to "meet" with both of you in a structured, open forum space. These telephone forums are designed to strengthen communication amongst Academy leaders, provide an opportunity for them to ask you questions around specific topics, and offer a networking opportunity for these committee leaders. We conducted the first open forum in September and focused the conversation on the Academy's new Strategic Plan and "Helping One Another Succeed." Knowing everyone has busy lives, now would be a good time to start planning the second event.

Based on our previous conversations, you tossed out the idea of conducting a Doodle Poll to identify a good date/time for this forum rather than us just selecting one. I'm open to that plan and would just need from you some options so I can create and push out the Poll. Doing something in April or May might be good timing, recognizing we'll want to navigate around the HOD meeting and BOD meeting. We will also need to identify 1-2 topics for discussion. If you'd like, we could solicit input from the Committee Chairs. To get your wheels turning, last spring we provided an update on the Second Century Strategy and discussed potential implications for committee work/opportunities for collaboration (at that time the BOD had approved the vision/mission/principles). For the second topic we talked about effective communication between committees and the President/Speaker/BOD – what worked well and what could be improved.

So give it some thought and I look forward to your input on how you'd like to proceed. If you can let me know by January 29 I can get the ball rolling. I know both of you, as well as the Committee Chairs, enjoy the opportunity for interaction.

Warm regards,

Marsha

I really like all of these ideas and I think it would be great way to get the committee members to participate in these calls more. We might get them to be on the call then.

1. Dianne could certainly address how the HOD determines the Mega issues.
  2. I would love to hear how PPW is being integrated into FNCE.
  3. I also think it would be excellent for Chris Weithman to talk about how the sessions for FNCE get selected, since so many of them don't get selected. How to increase the chances that your proposal will get selected.
  4. I think it would be a better idea for Wendy Phillips to talk about everything that is going on with licensure issues right now.
  5. I always love the idea of them talking about their biggest accomplishment this year.

Good morning,

Time for a quick update on the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum. Let me just start by saying it's been like herding cats. After multiple reminders, we finally got 14 committee chairs to complete the survey. However, we had to do another round of outreach to 8 of the 14 as they did not indicate the times they were available for the call. I don't get it, but the goal now is to have them complete that part of the survey by tomorrow so we can nail down a date/time.

We've received several suggestions for topics, some of which are offers to speak to a topic by a specific committee chair:

1. FNCE/PPW Integration; Affiliate public policy leader survey (From Mike Glasgow, LPPC)
2. Updates on policy areas and participation in action alerts; feedback on ongoing progress with ACEND transition to the masters curriculum for entry level RDN's; General trends committee chairs are hearing about in the various specialty areas that impact FNCE programming in future years (From Chris Weithman, Committee for Lifelong Learning)
3. The Diversity committee recently proposed an additional National Award around Diversity. It was submitted to the Awards committee. We would be willing to discuss where the idea for the award came from and why we proposed it. I don't think the Award committee will have had time to review the proposal by the time the forums are in place. (From Joseph Quinlan, Diversity Committee)

4. Communication strategies to help members recognize all of the work being done on their behalf. And really, the work we do benefits non-member RDNs and NDTRs too. (From Wendy Phillips, Consumer Protection and Licensure Subcommittee)

5. 1) How Mega Issues and/or topics the HOD discusses get determined 2) Academy Committee structure and liaisons - how it's determined which committees have liaisons or a representative from/on another committee as crossover; for example I know of committees that have a CDR liaison, or perhaps a member of QMC is a liaison member on NIC...in my past history this structure has changed over time and I'm curious as to why or how this gets determined 3) How FNCE sessions get selected - in the past there have been opportunities for the DPGs to submit specifically for DPG Spotlight sessions, but is there also opportunity for Academy Committees to be put into a specific consideration "bucket" instead of put into the entire FNCE proposal mix? There is great working coming out of all of the Academy Committees, so it may be nice to have some special consideration for FNCE sessions (From Sherri Jones, Quality Management)

I'll confirm a date/time with you both later this week. In the meantime, you can be thinking about whether you want to include any of the above topics on the agenda for the forum. As a reminder, Dianne had previously tossed out the following ideas:

Update on what happening at the national level in regards to strategic plan projects, (maybe even an update on national wellness projects), industry relations, public policy activities. Another random brainstorm idea, let them volunteer to give the entire group an update on their most significant committee event/action so far this year. (time limit of course)

Have a good day and I'll be back in touch.

Good morning,

I hope you are both doing well. I wanted to take a moment to circle back around on this topic. As an FYI, last Friday we shared the following announcement with the Committee Chairs:

The survey offers them the following options for the forum:

After the survey closes I'll confirm with you the date/time as well as share any suggested topics. So be on the lookout for a message from me the week of February 12.

Marsha and Donna,

In addition to the days and times you know about (HLT calls, meetings, BOD calls, meetings, LPPC) I am not available at on April 11-14, and April 18-19th. Most other days I could change things around. Time and day of week is up to you. My only other non changeable time would be April 16 and May 21 at 4:30 p.m. (My work board meetings.)

Subject: Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum - input needed by January 29

Good evening,

While we are all sitting in cold temperatures, let's take a break and turn our thoughts toward spring (which will actually be here before we know it). As a reminder, in our work to support the Chairs of the Academy Committees, our plan includes 2 opportunities for them to "meet" with both of you in a structured, open forum space. These telephone forums are designed to strengthen communication amongst Academy leaders, provide an opportunity for them to ask you questions around specific topics, and offer a networking opportunity for these committee leaders. We conducted the first open forum in September and focused the conversation on the Academy's new Strategic Plan and "Helping One Another Succeed." Knowing everyone has busy lives, now would be a good time to start planning the second event.

Based on our previous conversations, you tossed out the idea of conducting a Doodle Poll to identify a good date/time for this forum rather than us just selecting one. I'm open to that plan and would just need from you some options so I can create and push out the Poll. Doing something in April or May might be good timing, recognizing we'll want to navigate around the HOD meeting and BOD meeting. We will also need to identify 1-2 topics for discussion. If you'd like, we could solicit input from the Committee Chairs. To get your wheels turning, last spring we provided an update on the Second Century Strategy and discussed potential implications for committee work/opportunities for collaboration (at that time the BOD had approved the vision/mission/principles). For the second topic we talked about effective communication between committees and the President/Speaker/BOD – what worked well and what could be improved.

So give it some thought and I look forward to your input on how you'd like to proceed. If you can let me know by January 29 I can get the ball rolling. I know both of you, as well as the Committee Chairs, enjoy the opportunity for interaction.

Warm regards,

Marsha

Hi ladies,

In reviewing availability for the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum, the following individuals who suggested a topic should be in attendance:

1. Christine Weithman: FNCE programming and FNCE session selection
2. Mike Glasgow: FNCE/PPW Integration
3. Wendy Phillips: Licensure (my 2 cents: I think the discussion needs to be through the lens of how work in this area may touch work of other committees and/or generate discussion about what other committees are doing related to this topic).
4. Joe Quinlan: new proposed National Award around Diversity (did not seem to rise to the top of your list)
5. Sherri Jones: she had multiple questions, but perhaps is not one to actually present/lead a discussion topic.

And a new question from Sherri Jones that perhaps Dianne wants to address along with the mega-issues question: Question: Will there be continued opportunity for Academy Committee Chairs to attend the HOD meetings as an auditor? I attended this past year at FNCE and found it to be very beneficial. Or better yet, could Academy committee chairs become permanent members of the HOD?

Overall, the hope, as you know it, is to have an interactive conversation rather than just presentations. So perhaps narrowing down to 4 topics would be a good plan.

Thanks and looking forward to further input so I can help develop and support the agenda.

We'll send out calendar invitations to everyone this week, including Mary and Marcy so they can get exposed to this activity.

As noted before, the group generated a great list of topics for discussion. Considering we only have 1 hour, now comes the hard part. Which ones would you like to include on the agenda? I'm happy to reach out to any of the committee chairs to invite them to introduce/address any of the items. So please let me know by the end of this week so I can work on the agenda.

Good morning,

I hope you are both doing well. I wanted to take a moment to circle back around on this topic. As an FYI, last Friday we shared the following announcement with the Committee Chairs:

<image006.png>

<image007.jpg>

After the survey closes I'll confirm with you the date/time as well as share any suggested topics. So be on the lookout for a message from me the week of February 12.

Thank you,

Marsha

Good evening,

While we are all sitting in cold temperatures, let's take a break and turn our thoughts toward spring (which will actually be here before we know it). As a reminder, in our work to support the Chairs of the Academy Committees, our plan includes 2 opportunities for them to "meet" with both of you in a structured, open forum space. These telephone forums are designed to strengthen communication amongst Academy leaders, provide an opportunity for them to ask you questions around specific topics, and offer a networking opportunity for these committee leaders. We conducted the first open forum in September and focused the conversation on the Academy's new Strategic Plan and "Helping One Another Succeed." Knowing everyone has busy lives, now would be a good time to start planning the second event.

Based on our previous conversations, you tossed out the idea of conducting a Doodle Poll to identify a good date/time for this forum rather than us just selecting one. I'm open to that plan and would just need from you some options so I can create and push out the Poll. Doing something in April or May might be good timing, recognizing we'll want to navigate around the HOD meeting and BOD meeting. We will also need to identify 1-2 topics for discussion. If you'd like, we could solicit input from the Committee Chairs. To get your wheels turning, last spring we provided an update on the Second Century Strategy and discussed potential implications for committee work/opportunities for collaboration (at that time the BOD had approved the vision/mission/principles). For the second topic we talked about effective communication between committees and the President/Speaker/BOD – what worked well and what could be improved.

So give it some thought and I look forward to your input on how you'd like to proceed. If you can let me know by January 29 I can get the ball rolling. I know both of you, as well as the Committee Chairs, enjoy the opportunity for interaction.

Warm regards,

Good evening,

The Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum will be here before you know it! I plan to send out the agenda and any related materials on Monday, April 23. Before doing so, I want to give you both the chance to look at the agenda and confirm that it meets your intent for the meeting. Based on our email conversation, I reached out to relevant committee staff partners and committee chairs to confirm the topics and timing as reflected in the agenda. Dianne – we can confirm any attachments for your piece. Overall, I think we have the makings of a great, interactive discussion. With your approval, I'll send out the agenda and also prepare talking points for you.

Thanks and hope your travels crisscrossing the U.S. are going well!

Warm regards,

Marsha, Thanks for generating this list. I think we need to do 1,2,3 and HOD/mega issues/auditing the HOD. I feel like we could generate some discussions around all four of those topics that would be beneficial to all. Just my 2 cents.

Hi ladies,

In reviewing availability for the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum, the following individuals who suggested a topic should be in attendance:

1. Christine Weithman: FNCE programming and FNCE session selection
2. Mike Glasgow: FNCE/PPW Integration
3. Wendy Phillips: Licensure (my 2 cents: I think the discussion needs to be through the lens of how work in this area may touch work of other committees and/or generate discussion about what other committees are doing related to this topic).

4. Joe Quinlan: new proposed National Award around Diversity (did not seem to rise to the top of your list)

5. Sherri Jones: she had multiple questions, but perhaps is not one to actually present/lead a discussion topic.

And a new question from Sherri Jones that perhaps Dianne wants to address along with the mega-issues question: Question: Will there be continued opportunity for Academy Committee Chairs to attend the HOD meetings as an auditor? I attended this past year at FNCE and found it to be very beneficial. Or better yet, could Academy committee chairs become permanent members of the HOD?

Overall, the hope, as you know it, is to have an interactive conversation rather than just presentations. So perhaps narrowing down to 4 topics would be a good plan.

Thanks and looking forward to further input so I can help develop and support the agenda.

Great Plan, Donna. I really like the licensure update idea. It is still the item that is generating the most communiques that I have been privy to. I will of course talk about mega issue selection if there is time. I think it will be a great webinar!

Marsha, If you can get a clear idea of how many of the people who said they would like to present, are still available for that date and time, that might help us narrow it down. Good morning,

I hope you both had a good weekend and were able to spend some time at home after your travels. We finally have found a date/time for the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum: April 30, 12:00 pm – 1:00 pm Central/1:00 pm – 2:00 pm Eastern. We'll send out calendar invitations to everyone this week, including Mary and Marcy so they can get exposed to this activity.

As noted before, the group generated a great list of topics for discussion. Considering we only have 1 hour, now comes the hard part. Which ones would you like to include on the agenda? I'm happy to reach out to any of the committee chairs to invite them to introduce/address any of the items. So please let me know by the end of this week so I can work on the agenda.

Thanks,

1. Dianne could certainly address how the HOD determines the Mega issues.
  2. I would love to hear how PPW is being integrated into FNCE.
  3. I also think it would be excellent for Chris Weithman to talk about how the sessions for FNCE get selected, since so many of them don't get selected. How to increase the chances that your proposal will get selected.
  4. I think it would be a better idea for Wendy Phillips to talk about everything that is going on with licensure issues right now.
  5. I always love the idea of them talking about their biggest accomplishment this year.

Good morning,

Time for a quick update on the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum. Let me just start by saying it's been like herding cats. After multiple reminders, we finally got 14 committee chairs to complete the survey. However, we had to do another round of outreach to 8 of the 14 as they did not indicate the times they were available for the call. I don't get it, but the goal now is to have them complete that part of the survey by tomorrow so we can nail down a date/time.

We've received several suggestions for topics, some of which are offers to speak to a topic by a specific committee chair:

1. FNCE/PPW Integration; Affiliate public policy leader survey (From Mike Glasgow, LPPC)
2. Updates on policy areas and participation in action alerts; feedback on ongoing progress with ACEND transition to the masters curriculum for entry level RDN's; General trends committee chairs are hearing about in the various specialty areas that impact FNCE programming in future years (From Chris Weithman, Committee for Lifelong Learning)
3. The Diversity committee recently proposed an additional National Award around Diversity. It was submitted to the Awards committee. We would be willing to discuss where the idea for the award came from and why we proposed it. I don't think the Award committee will have had time to review the proposal by the time the forums are in place. (From Joseph Quinlan, Diversity Committee)
4. Communication strategies to help members recognize all of the work being done on their behalf. And really, the work we do benefits non-member RDNs and NDTRs too. (From Wendy Phillips, Consumer Protection and Licensure Subcommittee)

5. 1) How Mega Issues and/or topics the HOD discusses get determined 2) Academy Committee structure and liaisons - how it's determined which committees have liaisons or a representative from/on another committee as crossover; for example I know of committees that have a CDR liaison, or perhaps a member of QMC is a liaison member on NIC...in my past history this structure has changed over time and I'm curious as to why or how this gets determined 3) How FNCE sessions get selected - in the past there have been opportunities for the DPGs to submit specifically for DPG Spotlight sessions, but is there also opportunity for Academy Committees to be put into a specific consideration "bucket" instead of put into the entire FNCE proposal mix? There is great working coming out of all of the Academy Committees, so it may be nice to have some special consideration for FNCE sessions (From Sherri Jones, Quality Management)

I'll confirm a date/time with you both later this week. In the meantime, you can be thinking about whether you want to include any of the above topics on the agenda for the forum. As a reminder, Dianne had previously tossed out the following ideas:

Update on what happening at the national level in regards to strategic plan projects, (maybe even an update on national wellness projects), industry relations, public policy activities. Another random brainstorm idea, let them volunteer to give the entire group an update on their most significant committee event/action so far this year. (time limit of course)

Have a good day and I'll be back in touch.

Before We Hit the Hill, Join the Farm Bill Twitter Chat

The Hunger and Environmental Nutrition Dietetic Practice Group is hosting a Twitter chat with the Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior on the farm bill, in preparation for the upcoming advocacy day.

The Twitter chat will generate discussion about nutrition education and research programs in the farm bill. Please join in and promote this to your networks so we can have a great conversation with RDNs and the public about the benefits of nutrition education and research programs in the farm bill.

Join the conversation with @HENDPG and @SNEBOnline by using the hashtags, #FarmBill and #RDchat on April 18 at 3 p.m. (Eastern Time).

Kudos to Courtney Puidk, MS RD LDN, the HEN policy advocacy leader for organizing the Twitter chat!

Still Time To Take Action to Support Nutrition Programs in the Farm Bill

It's time to voice our support for nutrition programs in the farm bill. The U.S. House Agriculture Committee will consider H.R. 2, Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018 on April 18. Here are specific actions you can take to speak out, and some actions only take a couple of minutes!

- Take action using the Academy's action alert. The more you can personalize the message the better.
- Call your members of Congress. Dial the U.S. Capitol switchboard at (202) 224-3121. The operator will connect you directly with the office of your request. Use the action alert as talking points.
- Submit an op-ed to your local paper. Email Erin Zumbrun for templates.
- Participate in the farm bill Twitter chat on nutrition education and research. The chat is hosted by the HEN DPG and the Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior on April 18.
- Engage your members of Congress through Facebook or Twitter. Use pictures when possible to make your tweet or post stand out.
- Meet with your members of Congress and their staff in district or state offices.
- Invite members of Congress and their staff to a site visit to learn more about your program.
- Attend a public forum or town hall. Share your thoughts and ask a question to bring attention to a nutrition-related farm bill issue.

Together, our actions make a difference!

Farm Bill Social Media Images

Following are images that can be shared on Twitter or Facebook. Just right-click and save! When sharing the importance of nutrition education and SNAP in the farm bill, please tag your U.S. Senators and Representative to bring additional visibility to the posts. C-SPAN has compiled a list of Twitter handles for members of Congress. And don't forget the hashtags, #FarmBill and #eatrightPRO. To retweet the farm bill images or to see more images, visit the Academy's Twitter account.

Farm Bill Advocacy Day Webinar

On April 13, the Academy experienced some technical difficulties during the farm bill webinar presentation. If you were able to view the webinar during the allotted time and would like to receive your CPEU credit, please reach out to Nate Stritzinger. For those who were not able to attend the live presentation, a recording will be made available on the COlon April 20. We apologize for any inconvenience.

ANDPAC Student Representative Position Applications Deadline Extended to April 18

Do you know a student who has an interest in the link between nutrition policy and the profession? The Academy invites students to apply for the student representative position on the ANDPAC Board of Directors.

The student should be an active Academy member with strong leadership skills and a demonstrated interest in advancing the Academy's public policy and legislative priorities. The representative will serve a one-year term beginning June 1. Nominees can submit their applications with a completed application form, letter of interest, resume, and letter of recommendation from a faculty member to ANDPAC@eatright.org. Applications are due by April 18.

PPCs and PALs, share this message on your communication channels!

Nutrition Funding Increase Distributions

There have been many questions floating around about when Older Americans Act programs will receive the money from the new Fiscal Year 2018 funding program increases: $59 million overall for OAA nutrition programs, including $40 million for congregate meals programs and $19 million for home-delivered meals programs. In response, on April 19 at 1 p.m. (Eastern Time), the National Association of Nutrition and Aging Services Programs is hosting a teleconference featuring general guidance on the distribution of this funding.

Edwin Walker, deputy assistant secretary at HHS Administration for Community Living, and Bob Blancato, NANASP executive director, will discuss the process for allocating the new FY 2018 funding increases for Older Americans Act nutrition programs.

Phone lines will be in a listen only mode. Please submit any questions you have in advance to Pam Carlson. Call-in information will be emailed to all registrants 24 hours prior to the event. Register here.

If you hear anything from your state office on aging or Area Agency on Aging related to the dissemination of this funding, please email mponder@nanasp.org.

New Funding Opportunity: No Wrong Door System Business Case Development

The Administration for Community Living is releasing a new funding opportunity to help states measure and quantify the impact of their No Wrong Door systems. Funds will specifically be used to identify and evaluate data that demonstrates how person-centered counseling and evidence-informed interventions, such as care transitions, nursing home diversion programs and the Veteran-Directed Home and Community Based Services program, empower individuals to access quality long-term services and supports in ways that meet their needs and delay or prevent the use of more costly services.

Additional project goals include working collaboratively with ACL and its partners to develop a methodology and toolkit for calculating a return on investment for NWD systems. Grantees will be expected to share key data elements with ACL to test and calculate ROI at a national level and produce a business case model that demonstrates the impact of NWD systems.

Grants up to $600,000 each budget year will be awarded to up to nine states for a 24 month project period. An informational call and webinar for interested applicants will be held on April 25 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time). Register for the webinar.

For additional information about this funding opportunity, visit the No Wrong Door Resources center. A recording and transcript of the webinar will be posted later this month here.

Reception for Academy Member Running for Congress, April 24

On April 24, ANDPAC will be hosting an evening reception at the Academy's Washington, D.C. office, supporting one of our own, Felicia Stoler, DCN, MS, RDN, FACSM, FAND. Stoler recently announced her candidacy to represent New Jersey's 4th District. The event will be donation-based and all contributions will go directly towards the campaign. RSVP by April 20.

News from the Hill and Beyond

House Expected to Markup Farm Bill April 18

The House of Representatives Agriculture Committee released its version of the farm bill, H.R. 2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act of 2018 and is scheduled to markup the bill in committee on April 18. The bill would make changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, our nation's most effective anti-hunger program. These changes could weaken or eliminate coverage and benefits impacting millions of people.

The bill would also consolidate and make additional changes to the two nutrition education programs in the farm bill, SNAP-Ed and the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program. The changes would likely create disruptions and trusted, effective partners may lose their ability to participate in SNAP-Ed. Additionally, the Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Program would be opened up to all forms of fruits and vegetables including canned, dried, frozen and pureed undermining the integrity of the program. For some children this is their only opportunity to be exposed to fresh fruits and vegetables, and serves as a good educational opportunity.

CBO Estimates Number of SNAP Participants Will Continue to Fall

In other farm bill-related news, the Congressional Budget Office estimates that the number of SNAP participants will continue to fall over the next 10 years, but the overall cost of the program will remain relatively constant due to projected increases of food costs. CBO also prepared an estimate of the cost of H.R. 2.

While the bill would be near budget neutral, adding $458 million to the federal deficit over a decade, most notably the bill would shift around funding within the nutrition title and conservation programs would face the largest cutbacks. Also notable, House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi, sent a dear colleague letter to House democratic colleagues urging them to oppose several bills, including the farm bill because of the changes to SNAP.

Action Alerts

Action Required: Farm Bill and Treat and Reduce Obesity Act

There's still time to make your voice heard:

- Farm Bill: Congress is currently working on the 2018 farm bill, which is the primary legislation that authorizes many of our nation's food and nutrition programs. The farm bill includes nutrition assistance programs that help people access nutritious food; nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthy choices; and nutrition research that addresses the nutrition-related health concerns we face as a nation. We are asking Academy members to take action and urge Congress to support the important nutrition programs in the farm bill that contribute to the health of all, especially those most susceptible to experiencing insecurity. Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.

Take Action!

Cut and past the following message and post to your communication platforms.

(PPCs/PALs, Please Post this Message to Your Communication Channels)

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, please urge your representative to support legislation that protects and values nutrition programs in the farm bill. The U.S. House of Representatives recently released farm bill text that would make harmful cuts and changes to our nation's largest and most effective food assistance program, the Supplemental Assistance Nutrition Program. The bill would also create an uncertain future for the two nutrition education programs, the SNAP Nutrition Education and Obesity Prevention Grant Program, and the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program. The House Agriculture Committee is set to consider the bill on April 18 quickly followed by a full House vote.

Please send the new action alert message to your representative. Let them know how the changes in the farm bill would impact you, the people you serve and your community. The voice of every member is critical as these vital decisions are made regarding nutrition. We encourage you to take action today!

Academy Advocates for Nutrition Issues with Florida Congresswoman Wasserman Schultz

On behalf of ANDPAC, Academy Past- President Lucille Beseler, MS, RDN, LDN, CDE, and Darlene Moppert, MS, RDN, LDN, attended "Taste of South Florida," a two-day event last weekend in Miami organized by the campaign of Rep. Debbie Wasserman Schultz (FL-23).

"It was a small group of people with half of them being her staff. We got to spend a great deal of time with her and her staff and talk about nutrition and the Academy's issues," noted Past-President Beseler who has had a long standing relationship with the Congresswoman. Academy staff will follow up with her office on legislation Rep. Wasserman Schultz indicated she would be willing to sign onto including the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act and the Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act.

If you have been making strides in your community (attending ANDPAC events, meeting with policy makers, etc.) – let us spread the word! Send photos and a quick write-up about your recent policy accomplishments to Tenásha Ebrahimkhel. We would love to share your story and inspire others.

ANDPAC Corner

Words from the ANDPAC Chairs

"I have always encouraged my colleagues to communicate with those outside of dietetics about the great work we do with patients and clients. I caution against being 'the phantom of the medical record' (i.e. charting without face-to-face dialogue). ANDPAC gives us a vehicle for communicating directly with lawmakers and their staff to educate them on the impact of good nutrition and our role as a member of the healthcare team in providing optimal nutritional care. ANDPAC is nutrition policy advocacy in action!"

Dietary Guidelines for Americans 2020-2025, Call for Experts

Experts needed! The Academy will be seeking input from Academy members and DPGs over the next two years as we make recommendations on the upcoming Dietary Guidelines 2020-2025.

“Prospective members of the DGAC should be knowledgeable of current scientific research in human nutrition and chronic disease and be respected and published experts in their fields. The prospective members also should be familiar with the purpose, communication, and application of the Guidelines and have demonstrated interest in the public's health and well-being through research and/or educational endeavors. Expertise will be sought in specific specialty areas that may include, but are not limited to, cardiovascular disease; type 2 diabetes, overweight and obesity; osteoporosis; cancer; pediatrics; gerontology; maternal/gestational nutrition; epidemiology; general medicine; energy balance, which includes physical activity; nutrient bioavailability; nutrition biochemistry and physiology; food processing science, safety and technology; public health; nutrition education and behavior change; and/or nutrition-related systematic review methodology.”

Telehealth Work Group, Call for Experts

Experts needed to join a new telehealth workgroup! The Academy is looking for volunteers who have an interest in telehealth, practice telehealth, practice in rural or underserved areas or who are regulatory experts to join the workgroup. The Academy is seeking input from Academy members and dietetic practice groups as we look at ways to enable RDNs to more easily provide and be paid for a robust variety of telehealth services.

If you are interested in joining the workgroup, please submit your name, credentials, a brief introduction outlining your interest and resume to Erin Zumbrun by April 30. Stay tuned for more information.

Turn Frustration into Fulfillment: Public Policy Leads to Professional Growth, Webinar April 18

Weight Management DPG policy team experts will inspire you to take action by outlining how and why public policy matters for the growth of our profession. Grassroots advocacy is the foundation of real change. Are you looking for small ways to help propel nutrition policy forward? Many registered dietitian nutritionists are scared away from engaging in public policy because they fear that they are not the content expert, or that it's best left for someone else. Others don't want to 'get involved in politics.' However, most RDNs are interested in making more money, protecting clients from others encroaching on our scope of practice and increasing coverage for nutrition services.

All Academy members are invited to attend the webinar on April 18 at 1 p.m. (Eastern Time) and one CPEU is available for those who participate in the live event. Please note, the recording and self-study CPEUs are only accessible to WM DPG members following the event. Register here.
Reimbursement Representative Webinar, April 19

The Governance Team will host a reimbursement representative webinar on Credentialing with Insurers and Negotiating Your Contract on April 19 from noon to 1 p.m. (Central Time). Register for the webinar and learn more.

National Farm to Cafeteria Conference, April 25-27

The National Farm to School Network is hosting the 9th National Farm to Cafeteria Conference in Cincinnati, Ohio from April 25 to 27. The event will bring more than 1,000 stakeholders from across the farm to cafeteria movement to help advance community health, build economic opportunities for farmers and producers and ensure long-term sustainability for local food efforts nationwide. Hi Donna!

I met you briefly at the FACS 100 gala (my silver sparkly dress probably blinded you forever), and I saw you briefly at the GAND meeting yesterday :) A student in UGA's Journalism department has been working for Cal this year, and she helped me film a short video showcasing students enrolled in my MNT class. This project is inspiring because it highlights how the meaning of health is different for current dietetics students and future RDNs, but the project itself is also one of my favorite teaching tools I use to engage students in/outside of the classroom. Do you think there is a media person at the AND who might like to view this first and see if it could be used to showcase students? It is a student-directed project, so it's not like the caliber of this video from the AND (but the AND video did inspire how we made ours).

Cal just uploaded the link to the FACS youtube channel, but it hasn't been shared yet. I wanted to run it by you first to see if you have an interest. If not, that's OK! We can showcase it through FACS (or maybe NDEP as a teaching idea to engage college students).

Thank you for your thoughts :)

Cal asked me to please say 'Hi'!

Hi Diane,

Donna Martin said that you were the person who sent out early room registrations for FNCE members a few years back. Since I'm in the 50+ category, we were able to be included in the "early registration group. Are you still the person who handles these requests?

I'm coming up on 53 years this year and appreciate being in the early group to register.

Will you please include me again this year or point me to the right person?

Many thanks.

Hi Donna,

Hope all is well and you are enjoying your travels!

I was hoping you might have a suggestion regarding how to get feedback on the question we posed to Pepin a couple of months ago. Is he the right person to contact, or would there be someone else to reach out to regarding these concerns?

My fellow RDN also reached out to someone at the Academy (Paul?) and he was going to have someone in Marketing reply back regarding their current efforts to support RDN's as the nutrition expert. We continue to see a significant increase in other practitioners in our area who are not licensed to provide nutrition services taking on this role despite licensure in our state.

Thank you very much for any guidance you can provide, and hope to see you again in the near future. And THANK YOU for your excellent response to the WSJ Op-Ed on behalf of AND.

Hi Pepin,

I am following up from my email on Feb 5. My colleagues and I would very much like guidance in this area. We have reached out to several people at the Academy and received some information. But, it would be very helpful if a comprehensive list of how to handle these situations could be published as I know others are dealing with the same issues.

Please provide guidance as requested below.

Thank you,

Pepin,

I, along with other licensed and RDNs in IL, would like some guidance on issues related to licensure. I came across your response to an older article that appeared in Forbes regarding licensure so I am hoping you are the right person to speak to. In that article you responded that "licensure laws are drafted to ensure that anyone. . . can provide general non-medical nutrition information." However, it is unclear how these are defined. It would be helpful if you could please outline what is considered general non-medical versus medical information.

We are continually coming across consumers on social media referring others to non-qualified professionals for nutrition counseling. Based on the comment above, is this considered acceptable? We are concerned that trained dietitians are becoming relics with the overly vocal non-trained "nutritionists" feeding into the fad frenzy, potentially spreading misinformation and taking potential business away from qualified dietitians.

We would appreciate your guidance on:

-What is defined as medical nutrition information? What is in and out of scope? What type of education materials are allowed to be provided? For example, are meal plans acceptable as long as it isn't for management of a disease?

-Many personal trainers are getting certificates in nutrition (IL Dept of Prof Regulation does recognize some CN but not ones from the fitness org) and are counseling their clients on all of their nutrition needs...when are they going outside their scope?

-When is a chiropractor providing nutritional services going out of their scope and reportable to IL Dept of Prof Regulation (e.g.: <https://olympiachiroandpt.com/services/nutritional-counseling/> ) see Elmhurst unlicensed

-Is the American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM) Fitness Nutrition Specialization the equivalent to a Certified Nutritionist and what do we do if we come across those stating this (see Andrea Metcalf example). This ad was in Better Homes and Garden touting her as a nutrition expert and she is providing food recommendations for heart disease. Is that outside of scope? Also her LinkedIn account says she is a Certified Nutritionist from ACSM, but they confirmed that this is not a credential they offer.

There was also a recent article in the WSJ complaining that seemingly untrained people should be able to give dietary advice. Will you or someone from AND be responding to this article?
<https://www.wsj.com/articles/why-do-you-need-a-college-degree-to-give-diet-advice-1517439964>

Please also see the attached Elmhurst unlicensed document with others that are providing questionable nutrition services. I contacted the IL Dept of Prof Regulation and they said that I could file a complaint. But I want to make sure I am in the right before I file and understand clearly if they are outside their scope.

Our issue is that we are highly trained and we are losing business to non-qualified professionals. The public is confused and we fear that these non-trained “nutritionists” are more vocal and that there will be no room for dietitians in the nutrition arena in the near future.

Lastly, is there a group within the Academy through which this information can be shared so dietitians can be better educated and stand up for ourselves with merit? Also, are there any grassroots efforts or guidelines on reporting individuals that are working outside their scope in licensed states? And if they provide services over the internet, how is that monitored with licensure since they are covering all states?

Thank you for your time. If it is easier to talk, please contact me at 630-308-806

I was hoping you might have a suggestion regarding how to get feedback on the question we posed to Pepin a couple of months ago. Is he the right person to contact, or would there be someone else to reach out to regarding these concerns?

My fellow RDN also reached out to someone at the Academy (Paul?) and he was going to have someone in Marketing reply back regarding their current efforts to support RDN's as the nutrition expert. Hi Donna!

I met you briefly at the FACS 100 gala (my silver sparkly dress probably blinded you forever), and I saw you briefly at the GAND meeting yesterday :) A student in UGA's Journalism department has been working for Cal this year, and she helped me film a short video showcasing students enrolled in my MNT class. This project is inspiring because it highlights how the meaning of health is different for current dietetics students and future RDNs, but the project itself is also one of my favorite teaching tools I use to engage students in/outside of the classroom. Do you think there is a media person at the AND who might like to view this first and see if it could be used to showcase students? It is a student-directed project, so it's not like the caliber of this video from the AND (but the AND video did inspire how we made ours).

Cal just uploaded the link to the FACS youtube channel, but it hasn't been shared yet. I wanted to run it by you first to see if you have an interest. If not, that's OK! We can showcase it through FACS (or maybe NDEP as a teaching idea to engage college students).

Thank you for your thoughts :)

Cal asked me to please say 'Hi'!

Hi Donna and Doris!

Linked here is the article:

or

It is first in the queue on the FACS home page at the moment. We mention the Academy, your lovely quote, and that the video appeared in Eat Right Weekly and in the SmartBrief.

Thank you both so much for the positive press!

Hi Donna!

I met you briefly at the FACS 100 gala (my silver sparkly dress probably blinded you forever), and I saw you briefly at the GAND meeting yesterday :) A student in UGA's Journalism department has been working for Cal this year, and she helped me film a short video showcasing students enrolled in my MNT class. This project is inspiring because it highlights how the meaning of health is different for current dietetics students and future RDNs, but the project itself is also one of my favorite teaching tools I use to engage students in/outside of the classroom. Do you think there is a media person at the AND who might like to view this first and see if it could be used to showcase students? It is a student-directed project, so it's not like the caliber of this video from the AND (but the AND video did inspire how we made ours).

Cal just uploaded the link to the FACS youtube channel, but it hasn't been shared yet. I wanted to run it by you first to see if you have an interest. If not, that's OK! We can showcase it through FACS (or maybe NDEP as a teaching idea to engage college students).

Thank you for your thoughts :)

Thanks Mary Pat! His TED talk on the chef-driven work to feed huge numbers of people in PR is incredible.

I am thrilled that he could fit us into his crazy schedule.

Love the clothes story- great metaphor for putting your efforts where they make the biggest difference.

Talking to members about our global initiatives and the potential for so many more creates palpable excitement—it's fabulous to see heads nod and eyes light up.

Cost: $25 Members, $35 Non-Members

Webinar presented by: Julia Cassidy, MS, RDN, CEDRD-S

Synopsis:

This presentation will identify what exposure and response prevention is and how it can be used in relation to treating eating disorders as well as other food fear based challenges. I will review how this evidence-based practice can be an effective way to strategically apply nutrition interventions by helping to manage the patient’s sensitivity, reactive resistance, sustain the fragile therapeutic alliance, and facilitate the progression towards treatment goals. There are 5 main interventions that will be identified and how they are applied to help the patient decrease their anxiety around the feared food. The primary goal during exposure and response exposure sessions is for the individual to remain connected with the fear foods as they are in the process of healing their relationship with food.

Objectives:

1. After this presentation, the attendees will be able to explain what exposure and response prevention is and how it is applicable to eating disorders treatment.
2. After this presentation, the attendees will be able to utilize the 5 interventions of ERP and the different interventions that correspond with each phase.
3. After this presentation, the attendees will be able to summarize how ERP can be used with the different diagnosis of eating disorders.

Description

The RDN uses the Nutrition Care Process (NCP) and terminology to document a patient contact consistently using a standardized system. Some integrative dietitians may wonder whether the model and terms can be used to document assessments, problems and interventions used in IFN. This webinar will provide an overview of the NCP, discuss the relationship between the IFN radial and the NCP terms and demonstrate how the NCP can be customized to fit your IFN practice. As the NCP and terminology is a system under constant refinement, the session will also discuss ways that DIFM members can participate in this evolution so that future editions may be even more inclusive of IFN terms.

Learning Objectives:

The attendee will be able to...

1. Summarize the advantages of using the NCP model and terminology in IFN care
2. Customize the NCP model and terminology to provide care that fits within the principles of IFN models
3. Develop PES statements and interventions using the NCP terms that fit with an IFN assessment

Nicole, I am very opposed to this. They have plenty of opportunity to get the other forms at breakfast, lunch and supper. It definitely undermines the integrity of the program. The best part of the program is that they get to see fresh fruits and vegetables in their natural states.

Hi all,

I'd love to get your thoughts on the draft of the House farm bill that proposes to open the Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Program up to all forms of fruits and vegetables including canned, dried, frozen, or pureed. Our farm bill report recommends maintaining funding and the integrity of the program. Would you characterize the proposal to open up FFVP to all forms of food purchased as undermining the integrity of the program? Would you be ok with this proposed change or oppose/have concerns with this change?

As an FYI, the American Heart Association is opposed to this and states that it would undermine the integrity of the program. Their position is also based on the fact that the program provides disadvantaged children with much-needed education and exposure to fresh fruits and vegetables that they may not get elsewhere.

Thank you, Mary!

We will add Jose Andres to the FNCE speakers slide, and replace the National Nutrition Month slide with one on Preceptor Month.

Also, we have made some small edits to slide #14, the “59 member benefits” slide, to more clearly indicate that people in the audience who can’t read the benefits on the screen can find the infographic (and more) on eatrightPRO.

We will ask Joan and Dante to upload the PPT to the BOD portal and will send you, Donna, Lucille and Terri a link to download it. We’re planning for that to happen today.

Thanks again, talk to you soon.

Hi Tom, thanks so much for this change.

One other thing-we are no longer in NNM, tho’ futureoffood.org is a super great site to highlight. I am mentioning the diverse social media posts that people did for RDN day, and also focusing on National Preceptor Month which is now rather than NNM which was in March. For next year we may want to consider having one or two slides that are updated as the various milestones come and go.

Also, can you add the third FNCE keynote speaker to the FNCE slide in the deck? I do believe he is confirmed but have held back mentioning him just in case he is not.

Again, thanks much!

Thank you, Mary!

We will add Jose Andres to the FNCE speakers slide, and replace the National Nutrition Month slide with one on Preceptor Month.

Also, we have made some small edits to slide #14, the "59 member benefits" slide, to more clearly indicate that people in the audience who can't read the benefits on the screen can find the infographic (and more) on eatrightPRO.

We will ask Joan and Dante to upload the PPT to the BOD portal and will send you, Donna, Lucille and Terri a link to download it. We're planning for that to happen today.

Thanks again, talk to you soon.

Hi Tom, thanks so much for this change.

One other thing-we are no longer in NNM, tho' futureoffood.org is a super great site to highlight. I am mentioning the diverse social media posts that people did for RDN day, and also focusing on National Preceptor Month which is now rather than NNM which was in March. For next year we may want to consider having one or two slides that are updated as the various milestones come and go.

Also, can you add the third FNCE keynote speaker to the FNCE slide in the deck? I do believe he is confirmed but have held back mentioning him just in case he is not.

Again, thanks much!

Nicole, I am very opposed to this. They have plenty of opportunity to get the other forms at breakfast, lunch and supper. It definitely undermines the integrity of the program. The best part of the program is that they get to see fresh fruits and vegetables in their natural states.

Hi all,

I'd love to get your thoughts on the draft of the House farm bill that proposes to open the Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Program up to all forms of fruits and vegetables including canned, dried, frozen, or pureed. Our farm bill report recommends maintaining funding and the integrity of the program. Would you characterize the proposal to open up FFVP to all forms of food purchased as undermining the integrity of the program? Would you be ok with this proposed change or oppose/have concerns with this change?

As an FYI, the American Heart Association is opposed to this and states that it would undermine the integrity of the program. Their position is also based on the fact that the program provides disadvantaged children with much-needed education and exposure to fresh fruits and vegetables that they may not get elsewhere.

Good Morning, fine folks.

I'll take a first stab at it with my previous experience as a school meals administrator in the ND Department of Public Instruction, inhabitant of a rural area of the country that is FAR from major food distribution hubs, and advocate for the most vulnerable children in our state, those who live in "Indian Country" on one of our state's 5 tribal reservations. I also would remind us of the intent of the program when introduced by its champion, Senator Harkin.

I have concerns that this undermines the integrity of the program; the first word of the program is "Fresh"; it's difficult and expensive to get fresh produce to schools, homes – most anywhere here in our state. This program helps make sure that happens.

Sincerely,

Karen

Unfortunately, this means that I won't be able to attend the May Board meeting. I realize May was going to be my final month on the Board and I was very much looking forward to thanking everyone for their hard work and commitment as well as their open-armed welcoming of me over the past three years. The time really has flown by.

Also, as you move forward, please know that if you ever require any ad-hoc HR advice, I'd be more than happy to provide help and assistance. I am literally only an email or phone call away. It will NOT be a bother so please feel free to call upon me.

I wish the Academy and all of you as leaders only the BEST in everything you take on. You are truly doing noble work that benefits not only today's society but sets a nutrition framework that has the ability to impact generation after generation. More personally for each of you, I'd like to share that old Irish blessing:

May the road rise to meet you,
May the wind be ever at your back.
May the sun shine warm upon your face,
And the rains fall soft upon your fields.
And until we meet again, may God hold you in the palm of his hand.

Hi Tom, thanks so much for this change.

One other thing-we are no longer in NNM, tho' futureoffood.org is a super great site to highlight. I am mentioning the diverse social media posts that people did for RDN day, and also focusing on National Preceptor Month which is now rather than NNM which was in March. For next year we may want to consider having one or two slides that are updated as the various milestones come and go.

Also, can you add the third FNCE keynote speaker to the FNCE slide in the deck? I do believe he is confirmed but have held back mentioning him just in case he is not.

Again, thanks much!

Mary Russell

Thanks so much, Donna.

FYI- I have your presentation from Tom. It looks great!

As the HLT worked through the schedule, the starting time of the meeting has shifted slightly. After a brief introduction from Dianne Polly, you'll be kicking our meeting off at 11:30 am CT.

Please plan to log on to WebEx around 11:10 am CT to ensure technology is working properly—then you can mute and do whatever you want until we begin. Dianne will do the quick introduction and then I'll unmute you. I have your script so can advance your slides.

At 11:10 am CT click Join meeting to initiate the WebEx for the Spring HOD meeting. We will not be using the phone line for the WebEx. You will use VoIP (streaming/integrated sound) meaning the sound comes through your computer and you'll use a headset with a microphone to speak. In case you need it, I have attached a WebEx connection tips document.

Question: Would you like to do a test of the technology prior to the day of the event? If so, just let me know and we can set up a time.

Please don't hesitate to reach out.

Thank you again,

Anna

Additionally, we wanted to share that this week the HOD hosted an all-member webinar as a follow-up to the Championing Nutrition and Dietetics Practitioners in Roles of Leadership in Public Health mega issue. Some of the leaders, who led groups during the fall 2017 meeting, presented the ideas and projects that were generated during the dialogue. The short webinar closed with a call to action for our members to consider involvement in a grassroots project. You can view the recorded session here.

Please do not hesitate to reach out with any questions.

Speaker Message 22 Getting Ready for the HOD Meeting!

Pre-Meeting Activity to Test Your Technology

We highly recommend you test the device that you will use for the meeting. See this discussion post for testing instructions as well as days and times we are conducting the testing sessions. The sessions start at the top of the hour listed and they will run for about 15 minutes total.

Technology for the Meeting

WebEx for Large Group Presentations and Report Outs

- On Saturday, April 21 at 11:15 am CT, click Join meeting to initiate the WebEx for the Spring HOD meeting. We will not be using the phone line for the WebEx (large group presentations and report outs). You will use VoIP (streaming/integrated sound). This means you will click Join meeting and it will connect via your device only. You will hear the presentation through the speakers on your device (or headset).
- Everyone will be muted and please do not unmute yourself! Leave the WebEx open and running the entire meeting. You can minimize WebEx, but DO NOT close out of the session.
- Everyone should review the WebEx Participant Connection Tips to become familiar with WebEx and how to connect via your device (this also includes troubleshooting tips). We also suggest that you have this document available for the day of the meeting.

Teleconference for Small Groups

- Closer to the meeting, we will release the seating chart; on this chart each table will be assigned a conference call line and conference code that will be used for the small group discussions. When the HLT facilitator instructs you to move into your small groups you will use a telephone to call into your small groups.

- Remember, DO NOT log out of WebEx and be sure the WebEx remains muted on your computer.

Google Document for Small Groups NEW!

- This year everyone will be able to view the HOD workbook via Google document for their table. Similar to the conference call line, a link will be provided to your table's document on the seating chart. The table facilitator and scribe will have permission to edit the document, but you will be able to view it.
- Prior to the meeting, you will click the link on the seating chart and the Google Document will open up. You can minimize this web page during the WebEx portion and then maximize the web page with the Google Document when you move to your small groups.

Pre-Meeting Readings

- Early next week, we will release a few documents to help you prepare for the discussion and we encourage you to have these available during the meeting as well. These will be quick reads, but will provide some background for the meeting and set the stage for the discussion. Remember, all materials will be posted in the Spring 2018 Meeting Materials folder on the platform.

Advancing Leadership in Public Health Webinar Recording and Follow-Up

- We had a great webinar last week to get members excited about advancing leadership in public health and taking action at the grassroots level. Over 60 members joined the webinar and the recording link was sent out to those who signed up but were unable to attend.

- Thanks to our presenters:

- Dianne Polly
- Karen Beathard
- Sandy Parker
- Julie Schwartz
- Carolyn Wait

- This webinar recording link and calls to action are also noted on slide 21 of the HOD Update Presentation.

- Please share the Advancing Leadership in Public Health webinar recording with your members.

- Here is a message that could be used for members.

- As a follow-up to the Championing Nutrition and Dietetics Practitioners in Roles of Leadership in Public Health mega issue, the HOD hosted the Advancing Leadership in Public Health webinar. We wanted to share the webinar recording as well as the Grassroots Public Health Projects and Ideas document. Review this information and then complete this survey if you are interested in leading or participating in a project. Learn more about the mega issue.

I think it will be fine the way I sent it and I just have to change that one slide link. Thanks for offering.

Lucille, You are so right. Some states go all out and others don't even make your hotel reservations or let you know anything about how to get to the meeting from the airport. I was just in Indiana and the hotel I stayed out was not where the meeting was, so if Brenda Richardson had not reached out to me I would have had to take a cab to the meeting from the hotel.

Good morning Ms. Beseler,

My name is Kelsey Wilson, Guest Relations for OkAND, and I will be the who will be picking up and taking you to the airport during your time in Oklahoma. I am excited to meet you and to hear your presentation. I just wanted to confirm your flight time of arrival, airline and airline number.

I have you arriving in Tulsa on April 19th at 9:20pm on American Airlines flight number 1464. Is this still the correct information?

I also wanted to let you know that there may be another guest speaker who will be riding back to the hotel with us, the other guest speakers flight arrives around the same time as yours.

Please let me know if there is anything else that I can do to make your travels easier!

Kelsey Wilson

Joan, Tell Amy they need to do some Robert's Rules of order training for President-elects. I have been to 2 board meetings in states now and neither one of them voted on their motions. They just moved and seconded and then counted it as passed! Yikes!

So sorry for the inconsistency in the affiliate communication plans. I am sharing examples with Amy Biedenharn for inclusion in a tip sheet for the affiliate training materials to help make the Board representation experience better for everyone.

Safe travels and good luck at your many meetings!

Pat, Thanks for getting Matthew to send this email back to Leah. Actually, she was very cordial to me in PA and was interested in helping us increase our membership. She was bothered by the fact that a majority of the build up dietitians are not members. I had quite a long conversation with her. She has tweeted a few nice tweets about me and the Academy. She loves our idea of "did you know" information getting out to members and nonmembers to help inform and recruit. We can talk more on our next President's call. Just leaving Indiana where they cannot ever remember having an Academy President come speak to them. Hopefully, we are starting a good revolution. Finished stop 5 of 11 on the spring madness tour. Remind me to tell you on our call about a conversation Brenda Richardson had with a former Academy President about why she won't attend FNCE.

So far I have not gotten any negative questions about the AND or the CEO salary. Talk to you soon!

RESPONSE:

Hello, Leah:

Your email to Pat Babjak, Donna Martin and Liz Spittler was forwarded to me for reply. I appreciate your alerting us to the posts on your Facebook page regarding the value of Academy membership and the benefits we offer. We are always interested in hearing how the Academy can better serve its members.

To that end, the Academy frequently conducts thorough, statistically representative, professional surveys of thousands of members and non-members alike, to gauge practitioners' needs and learn how well the Academy is responding to them. The most recent 2016 Needs Satisfaction Survey shows that – from a list of 59 member benefits – the availability of CPE through the Journal is the second-most popular benefit of membership.

Access to the online Journal is rated #26, and the print Food & Nutrition Magazine is rated #17. The ability to join DPGs is rated #3. Advocating for the profession among legislators and policy makers is ranked #24 as a reason for being a member. Of those who choose not to join or renew, the cost of membership is cited as a primary reason.

Regarding the Journal: As is the case with virtually all membership organizations that produce a professional, peer-reviewed journal, it is not economically feasible to separate online-versus-hard copy subscriptions, or offer opt-in selections, since the costs of both versions are connected and are greatly defrayed by the membership dues allocation.

I hope this information is helpful to you. Please let me know if you have any questions or comments.

Sincerely,

Matthew Novotny

I would encourage you to check out the post on the Buildup Dietitians Facebook page regarding whether or not people are members and if not, why not. I am actually surprised at the number of comments and responses.

I had no idea so many following the page were not members. The most common reason cited:

Cost of Dues, several also mentioned that they don't think the Academy does enough to promote/protect/lobby for the profession.

While there were those who commented saying that they were members these were far fewer. Most common reason for being members: participating in DPG's/State association, Advocacy/Lobbying for profession and a few mentioned liking Food and Nutrition Magazine.

There are actually some good suggestions here that might be worth considering for your board retreat:

1. Can there be an "opt-in" for the journal or for an electronic version? Several mentioned they either saw no value in the journal/it wasn't pertinent to their practice or just would prefer the option of having it available strictly electronically.
2. Can the NCM be available to members without additional cost? (since I don't access this I don't know much about it).
3. Can membership include one DPG for a practice area?
4. Can there be more discounts for members?

Several people mentioned annoyance w/ the "N" addition to Registered Dietitian, the Integrative and Function Med DPG/emphasis on integrative med, ethics/sponsor relationships, unhelpful/outdated website and that EAL was not helpful.

I feel like there are actually some really good suggestions here.

Hi Donna

Thanks so much for your kind words of support. I agree that I think we are making progress and moving in the right direction; we have had similar reactions from the regional NDEP meetings this spring.

We do not have specific requirements that programs teach the history of the profession. We do expect on professional practice that include having an understanding of the governance of the profession, scope of practice, code of ethics etc and participating in professional organizations. I will add history of the profession to the list of things that the committee will consider when they make future revisions to the competencies.

Thanks for sharing - Have a great week

Mary

Mary, I hope things are going well for you. I have not had any questions as I have been going to states about the requirement for RDN's to have a masters degree. I think we are making serious progress. When I do talk to educators they all speak so highly of you (as I do). Kudos to you.

I did get a question from Judy Dodd (former President) when I was in Pennsylvania. She wanted to know if we had competencies that required us to teach the history of the profession. She obviously feels very strong about that and said she taught it, but could not find it anywhere in the competencies or standards.

If you could respond to her I would really appreciate it.

See you in May!

Pat, Thanks for getting Matthew to send this email back to Leah. Actually, she was very cordial to me in PA and was interested in helping us increase our membership. She was bothered by the fact that a majority of the build up dietitians are not members. I had quite a long conversation with her. She has tweeted a few nice tweets about me and the Academy. She loves our idea of "did you know" information getting out to members and nonmembers to help inform and recruit. We can talk more on our next President's call. Just leaving Indiana where they cannot ever remember having an Academy President come speak to them. Hopefully, we are starting a good revolution. Finished stop 5 of 11 on the spring madness tour. Remind me to tell you on our call about a conversation Brenda Richardson had with a former Academy President about why she won't attend FNCE.

So far I have not gotten any negative questions about the AND or the CEO salary. Talk to you soon!

RESPONSE:

Hello, Leah:

Your email to Pat Babjak, Donna Martin and Liz Spittler was forwarded to me for reply. I appreciate your alerting us to the posts on your Facebook page regarding the value of Academy membership and the benefits we offer. We are always interested in hearing how the Academy can better serve its members.

To that end, the Academy frequently conducts thorough, statistically representative, professional surveys of thousands of members and non-members alike, to gauge practitioners' needs and learn how well the Academy is responding to them. The most recent 2016 Needs Satisfaction Survey shows that – from a list of 59 member benefits – the availability of CPE through the Journal is the second-most popular benefit of membership.

Access to the online Journal is rated #26, and the print Food & Nutrition Magazine is rated #17. The ability to join DPGs is rated #3. Advocating for the profession among legislators and policy makers is ranked #24 as a reason for being a member. Of those who choose not to join or renew, the cost of membership is cited as a primary reason.

Regarding the Journal: As is the case with virtually all membership organizations that produce a professional, peer-reviewed journal, it is not economically feasible to separate online-versus-hard copy subscriptions, or offer opt-in selections, since the costs of both versions are connected and are greatly defrayed by the membership dues allocation.

I hope this information is helpful to you. Please let me know if you have any questions or comments.

Sincerely,

Matthew Novotny

I would encourage you to check out the post on the Buildup Dietitians Facebook page regarding whether or not people are members and if not, why not. I am actually surprised at the number of comments and responses.

I had no idea so many following the page were not members. The most common reason cited:

Cost of Dues, several also mentioned that they don't think the Academy does enough to promote/protect/lobby for the profession.

While there were those who commented saying that they were members these were far fewer. Most common reason for being members: participating in DPG's/State association, Advocacy/Lobbying for profession and a few mentioned liking Food and Nutrition Magazine.

There are actually some good suggestions here that might be worth considering for your board retreat:

1. Can there be an "opt-in" for the journal or for an electronic version? Several mentioned they either saw no value in the journal/it wasn't pertinent to their practice or just would prefer the option of having it available strictly electronically.

2. Can the NCM be available to members without additional cost? (since I don't access this I don't know much about it).
3. Can membership include one DPG for a practice area?
4. Can there be more discounts for members?

Several people mentioned annoyance w/ the "N" addition to Registered Dietitian, the Integrative and Function Med DPG/emphasis on integrative med, ethics/sponsor relationships, unhelpful/outdated website and that EAL was not helpful.

I feel like there are actually some really good suggestions here.

Diane, I feel like I have not talked to you in forever. I hope your back is continuing to improve and the sweet sweet husband of your is doing well too!

A newly graduated Dietetic Intern in Pennsylvania gave me a suggestion I said I would pass along to you. She asked if we could give newly graduated or registered dietitians a discount to come to their first FNCE since they were all so deep in debt. Her rationale was that it might get them hooked and they would keep coming, but that it was hard to afford straight out of school.

Just passing it along. I did tell her about the graduated dues program.

Hope FNCE planning is going well. I sure am talking it up in the states.

Just headed home from stop 5 of 11 on the spring madness tour. What was I thinking?

I do find interesting speakers in the states and do try and work with them to apply for FNCE. Your staff has been helpful with several of them.

Miss you and your staff. See you in May!

Mary, I hope things are going well for you. I have not had any questions as I have been going to states about the requirement for RDN's to have a masters degree. I think we are making serious progress. When I do talk to educators they all speak so highly of you (as I do). Kudos to you.

I did get a question from Judy Dodd (former President) when I was in Pennsylvania. She wanted to know if we had competencies that required us to teach the history of the profession. She obviously feels very strong about that and said she taught it, but could not find it anywhere in the competencies or standards.

If you could respond to her I would really appreciate it.

See you in May!

The

department would like to contract with a dietitian to achieve the following objectives:

- Improve quality within the statewide delivery system by establishing new medically tailored meal packages and meal delivery mechanisms for patients transitioning from hospital to home;
- Strengthen program efficiencies by reducing average statewide meal cost and increasing home delivered meal service; and
- Establish a new evidence based framework for a malnutrition education program.

International Malnutrition Member Interest Group (MIG):

At FNCE this past year, there were several people who were interested in international malnutrition, but didn't know quite how to get involved. A handful of RDs currently working in the international arena met up at one point and talked about their experiences of going at it alone, and each felt like they were needing to fend for themselves in the international nutrition realm. They decided to band together and get a group in the works to help be a 'landing place' for those who are already working specifically to fight malnutrition in developing countries, as well as those who would like to get into this field but have no idea how to.

There have been some email talks over the past few months about starting a Member Interest Group (MIG) about this topic. If you are interested in joining this movement, they would love to have you join and get you in on the email loop with the MIG formation. If you are interested, please send an email to Jen Brewer at jenb@mycookkitchen.com and she will provide you with more details.

WOW!! We must get him on the Board next year. I'll do a better job describing what he can bring to the table. His wife Livileen could also do that for us so we need to get her on the Board. She also has her own exceptional contacts and I'm sure could have her husband assist us. I've nominated her. Thanks much for sharing . I'm copying Donna so we help each other at the Nominating Committee meeting. If we get Livileen and she wins and the Foundation asks him to serve we have it made!

Farm Bill Advocacy Day Webinar, April 13

In preparation for the Farm Bill Advocacy Day on April 24, the Academy will host a webinar to highlight the nutrition education and nutrition research programs in the farm bill. If you cannot join us on Capitol Hill, we will discuss opportunities to engage in advocacy efforts in your own backyard during the webinar presentation.

Step 1: Today, April 10, is the last day to register for the advocacy day in Washington, D.C. The event is free and open to all members and the public.

Step 2: Register for the farm bill advocacy webinar on April 13 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time) to prepare for the advocacy day. Contact Tenásha Ebrahimkhel for more information.

Actions to Support Nutrition Programs in the Farm Bill

It's time to voice our support for nutrition programs in the farm bill. The U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Agriculture may release its version of the farm bill this week and could consider the bill on April 18. Here are specific actions you can take to speak out, and some actions only take a couple of minutes!

- Take action using the Academy's action alert. The more you can personalize the message the better.
- Call your members of Congress. Dial the U.S. Capitol switchboard at (202) 224-3121. The operator will connect you directly with the office of your request. Use the action alert as talking points.
- Engage your members of Congress through Facebook or Twitter. Use pictures when possible to make your tweet or post stand out.
- Submit an op-ed to your local paper. Email Erin Zumbrun for templates.
- Meet with your members of Congress and their staff in district or state offices.
- Invite members of Congress and their staff to a site visit to learn more about your program.
- Attend a public forum or town hall. Share your thoughts and ask a question to bring attention to a nutrition-related farm bill issue.

Together, our actions make a difference!

Farm Bill Social Media Images

Following are images that can be shared on Twitter or Facebook. Just right-click and save! When sharing the importance of nutrition education and SNAP in the farm bill, please tag your U.S. Senators and Representative to bring additional visibility to the posts. C-SPAN has compiled a list of Twitter handles for members of Congress. And don't forget the hashtags, #FarmBill and #eatrightPRO. To retweet the farm bill images or to see more images, visit the Academy's Twitter account.

ANDPAC Student Representative Position Applications Deadline Extended to April 18

Do you know a student who has an interest in the link between nutrition policy and the profession? The Academy invites students to apply for the student representative position on the ANDPAC Board of Directors.

The student should be an active Academy member with strong leadership skills and a demonstrated interest in advancing the Academy's public policy and legislative priorities. The representative will serve a one-year term beginning June 1. Nominees can submit their applications with a completed application form, letter of interest, resume, and letter of recommendation from a faculty member to ANDPAC@eatright.org. Applications are due by April 18.

PPCs, share this message on your communication channels!

Join the Conversation with NIH's All of Us Research Program, Webinar April 17

The National Institutes of Health's All of Us Research Program is gearing up for its national launch this spring. This project aims to gather data from one million or more people living in the U.S. to accelerate research and improve health. All of Us Director Eric Dishman and Chief Engagement Officer Dr. Dara Richardson-Heron are hosting a webinar and will share an overview of the program, data access and future scientific prospects and how to connect patient registries, biobanks and other health databases with All of Us.

The webinar is on April 17 from 3:30 to 5 p.m. (Eastern Time). RSVP here or send an email to Abby Lore. WebEx information will be sent to you prior to the webinar.

Turn Frustration into Fulfillment: Public Policy Leads to Professional Growth, Webinar April 18

Weight Management DPG policy team experts will inspire you to take action by outlining how and why public policy matters for the growth of our profession. Grassroots advocacy is the foundation of real change. Are you looking for small ways to help propel nutrition policy forward? Many registered dietitian nutritionists are scared away from engaging in public policy because they fear that they are not the content expert, or that it's best left for someone else. Others don't want to 'get involved in politics.' However, most RDNs are interested in making more money, protecting clients from others encroaching on our scope of practice and increasing coverage for nutrition services.

All Academy members are invited to attend the webinar on April 18 at 1 p.m. (Eastern Time) and one CPEU is available for those who participate in the live event. Please note, the recording and self-study CPEUs are only accessible to WM DPG members following the event. Register here.

Reception for Academy Member Running for Congress, April 24

On April 24, ANDPAC will be hosting an evening reception at the Academy's Washington, D.C. office, supporting one of our own, Felicia Stoler, DCN, MS, RDN, FACSM, FAND. Stoler recently announced her candidacy to represent New Jersey's 4th District. The event will be donation-based and all contributions will go directly towards the campaign. RSVP by April 20.

News from the Hill and Beyond

CMS Issues Final Rule to Making Major Modifications to Affordable Care Act Regulations

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services issued the final rule, "Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act; HHS Notice of Benefit and Payment Parameters for 2019," on April 9, making major modifications to how essential health benefits are defined by states and other coverage requirements for individual insurance plans sold on Healthcare.gov and state-run marketplaces. The Academy continues to review the regulation to assess any impact on members and coverage of nutrition care services.

Congress Is Back in Washington, House Expected to Release Farm Bill Text Soon

Members of Congress are now back in Washington, D.C. after a two-week recess. The U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Agriculture is expected to release its version of the farm bill later this week or early next week and begin consideration of the bill on April 18. The bill is likely to move quickly to the House floor for a vote by the full chamber. This expected quick turnaround comes after the committee originally expected to release the text of the farm bill in March, but was delayed when the chair and ranking chair of the committee were at an impasse over proposed changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. The Senate continues to work on its version of the bill with intentions to markup its bill this spring. Academy staff continue to engage with Congress regarding nutrition programs within the farm bill and encourages Academy members to tell Congress to support SNAP and nutrition education in the farm bill.

Additional complications driven by the U.S.-China trade dispute, which includes agriculture products, could also affect the farm bill. U.S. Department of Agriculture Secretary Sonny Perdue has stated that depending on the outcome of the tariff standoff, Congress may have to take extraordinary measures in the farm bill.

New Directors Named at Federal Health Agencies

Dr. Robert Redfield has been appointed as the director for the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, replacing Acting Director Dr. Anne Schuchat. Dr. Schuchat's new role at the CDC will be acting principal deputy director.

At the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation, Adam Boehler has been selected as the new permanent director. The Academy will send letters of introductions to the new directors. The Academy looks forward to continuing working with CDC and CMMI to improve the health and nutrition of the nation.

Study Finds Benefits of Medically-Tailored Meals

A new study by the Academy's partner, Community Servings, show that medically-tailored meals, designed by registered dietitian nutritionists to meet a patient's specific medical needs, can help to reduce emergency room visits and reduce overall health care spending. The study was done in partnership with the Commonwealth Care Alliance, and showed the impact of providing both home-delivered meals and medically tailored meals.

Action Alerts

Action Required: Farm Bill and Treat and Reduce Obesity Act

There's still time to make your voice heard:

- Farm Bill: Congress is currently working on the 2018 farm bill, which is the primary legislation that authorizes many of our nation's food and nutrition programs. The farm bill includes nutrition assistance programs that help people access nutritious food; nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthy choices; and nutrition research that addresses the nutrition-related health concerns we face as a nation. We are asking Academy members to take action and urge Congress to support the important nutrition programs in the farm bill that contribute to the health of all, especially those most susceptible to experiencing insecurity. Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

- As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, please urge your policymakers to support legislation that protects and values nutrition programs in the farm bill. It is important for members of Congress to hear from their constituency. As vital decisions are made regarding health care in the upcoming weeks, the voice of every member is critical. Take action today!

Update on TROA Action Alert

Academy members were encouraged to take action on TROA ( H.R.1953/ S. 830) by asking members of Congress to support the U.S. House of Representative and Senate bills. A validated microsimulation model published in a whitepaper predicts that increasing Medicare beneficiaries' utilization of clinically effective obesity treatments under TROA could save between $19 and $21 billion over the next 10 years. This new evidence could help the bills get scored by Congressional Budget Office and attached as a rider given its potential for cost-savings. The TROA action alert was open 39 days with a total average of 3.53% of states taking action. Congrats South Dakota—your state had the highest average (14.62%)!

ANDPAC Gears Up for Midterm Elections

In March, in advance of the mid-term elections, ANDPAC supported 19 bipartisan members of Congress who align with the Academy's mission, vision and public policy priorities. The Academy continues its conversations with the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Agriculture and the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry about elevating and strengthening nutrition education, research and assistance programs in the farm bill. ANDPAC also has made possible one-on-one dialogue about appropriations funding for health and nutrition programs in the federal budget, as well as measures to reduce obesity and chronic disease through legislation the Academy has championed such as the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act ( H.R.1953/ S. 830) and the Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act ( H.R.3124/ S.1299).

I would encourage you to check out the post on the Buildup Dietitians Facebook page regarding whether or not people are members and if not, why not. I am actually surprised at the number of comments and responses.

I had no idea so many following the page were not members. The most common reason cited: Cost of Dues, several also mentioned that they don't think the Academy does enough to promote/protect/lobby for the profession.

While there were those who commented saying that they were members these were far fewer. Most common reason for being members: participating in DPG's/State association, Advocacy/Lobbying for profession and a few mentioned liking Food and Nutrition Magazine.

There are actually some good suggestions here that might be worth considering for your board retreat:

1. Can there be an "opt-in" for the journal or for an electronic version? Several mentioned they either saw no value in the journal/it wasn't pertinent to their practice or just would prefer the option of having it available strictly electronically.
2. Can the NCM be available to members without additional cost? (since I don't access this I don't know much about it).
3. Can membership include one DPG for a practice area?
4. Can there be more discounts for members?

Several people mentioned annoyance w/ the "N" addition to Registered Dietitian, the Integrative and Function Med DPG/emphasis on integrative med, ethics/sponsor relationships, unhelpful/outdated website and that EAL was not helpful.

I feel like there are actually some really good suggestions here.

DON'T MISS OUT on the FINAL NDEP SPRING MEETING FOR 2018!

Registration for the NDEP Central Region Spring Meeting closes on Thursday, April 12th. April weather is lovely and selection/matching is complete, so join us in St. Louis for the FINAL 2018 NDEP Spring Meeting. This is an exciting and informative conference for both educators and preceptors. In addition to the ever popular NDEP updates and networking opportunities, this year's meeting has some very unique and relevant presentation topics:

- Allison Steiber, PhD, RDN, will present on "Introducing the Eatright PRO Simulation Series: PEDRO".

Dr. Steiber will be introducing the new Eatright PRO Simulation Series: PEDRO. She will describe the development and structure of the first Eatright PRO Simulation, review the ACEND competencies achieved through the use of the PEDRO simulation, demonstrate the use of PEDRO and its user guides, and discuss ways in which to incorporate PEDRO into dietetic education.

- Amy Knoblock-Hahn, PhD, RD will present on "Development of a Sustainable, Resilient, and Healthy Food and Water Systems for Dietetics Education (SRHFWS)".

Dr. Knoblock-Hahn will introduce the new toolkit from the Academy Foundation, which is free to educators, that you can use to help provide SRHFWS education in your programs. She will identify and describe the four foundational components of sustainable, resilient, and healthy food and water systems (SRHFWS), describe perceived gaps in entry level RDN competencies in SRHFWS and explain ways to apply student activities from each of seven different components of the food system to meet SRHFWS competencies as required by ACEND.

- Dena French, EdD, RDN, LD will present on "Failure to Fail in Dietetics Education".

Dr. French will present her recent research. Failure to fail occurs when educators pass students who are unsuitable for future professional practice. Literature suggests the phenomenon exists in various professional training programs, yet this was the first known research focused solely on dietetics education. After this presentation, you will be able to describe the issue of failure to fail, including contributing factors and implications for dietetics practice and examine personal, programmatic, and institutional policies and practices that may influence failure to fail.

There will also be several terrific Best Practice sessions on (1) Service Learning Experiences; (2) Using Music and Popular Songs for Learning; (3) Updating the Internship Process with Technology and Innovation; and (4) Neehr Perfect, a web-based clinical simulation program.

To keep the meeting reasonably priced the heartland is the place to be. The centrally-located Clayton Plaza Hotel has double rooms at $125/night, FREE airport shuttle, FREE full hot breakfast for hotel guests, FREE WIFI in rooms and conference area, FREE gym and heated pool, and there is FREE garage parking to all conference attendees. ## Description

The RDN uses the Nutrition Care Process (NCP) and terminology to document a patient contact consistently using a standardized system. Some integrative dietitians may wonder whether the model and terms can be used to document assessments, problems and interventions used in IFN. This webinar will provide an overview of the NCP, discuss the relationship between the IFN radial and the NCP terms and demonstrate how the NCP can be customized to fit your IFN practice. As the NCP and terminology is a system under constant refinement, the session will also discuss ways that DIFM members can participate in this evolution so that future editions may be even more inclusive of IFN terms.

Learning Objectives:

The attendee will be able to...

1. Summarize the advantages of using the NCP model and terminology in IFN care
2. Customize the NCP model and terminology to provide care that fits within the principles of IFN models
3. Develop PES statements and interventions using the NCP terms that fit with an IFN assessment

Description

The RDN uses the Nutrition Care Process (NCP) and terminology to document a patient contact consistently using a standardized system. Some integrative dietitians may wonder whether the model and terms can be used to document assessments, problems and interventions used in IFN. This webinar will provide an overview of the NCP, discuss the relationship between the IFN radial and the NCP terms and demonstrate how the NCP can be customized to fit your IFN practice. As the NCP and terminology is a system under constant refinement, the session will also discuss ways that DIFM members can participate in this evolution so that future editions may be even more inclusive of IFN terms.

Learning Objectives:

The attendee will be able to...

1. Summarize the advantages of using the NCP model and terminology in IFN care
2. Customize the NCP model and terminology to provide care that fits within the principles of IFN models
3. Develop PES statements and interventions using the NCP terms that fit with an IFN assessment

Learning Codes: 1010, 3005/ 3010, 5390, 5420

CPE Level: 1, 2

Subject: Heads Up Re: March 27 SmartBrief

Today SmartBrief sent a sponsored mailing to subscribers on the early introduction of peanuts to infants. Due to a production error by SmartBrief, the mailing incorrectly included the Academy's logo, potentially implying the Academy's endorsement of the content. In fact, the Academy does not endorse this or any other sponsored content in SmartBrief.

The Academy has communicated the serious nature of this error to SmartBrief, reiterating the Academy's longstanding position of not endorsing – or appearing to endorse – specific brands, products or services. We have been assured by SmartBrief that this situation will not occur again.

In addition, SmartBrief included the LEAP Study in this sponsored content. The Learning Early about Peanut Allergy (LEAP) trial and study was funded by the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases with minority funding from the National Peanut Board as well as others, and wrongly associates the Academy with this study and content by including the Academy's logo. Again, the Academy does not endorse or align its positions with this study or the content within this advertising mailing.

The Academy's social media team is monitoring member response and engagement on social media and will respond via social on a case-by-case basis with the following: The message about early introduction of peanuts to infants was sent in error by SmartBrief because it included the Academy's logo. We are working with SmartBrief to ensure this does not happen again and emphasize that we do not endorse this or any sponsored content in SmartBrief.

The Academy builds and maintains its reputation by scrupulous attention to facts, science and integrity.

Best regards,
Pat

Spotlight on Early Introduction of Peanuts to Infants

Peanut allergy prevention has been in the news frequently over the past three years with the completion of the groundbreaking LEAP study. The National Institutes of Health recently published an addendum to the guidelines for the prevention of peanut allergy in the US. What's new about these guidelines is that they recommend the early introduction of peanut protein in infants between 4-6 months of age depending on risk (low, medium or high) to prevent peanut allergy. They also provide ways to simply introduce peanut to babies and recommendations for how frequently infants who are at-risk for peanut allergy should eat peanut foods.

Introducing peanuts to an infant? Keep it simple.

Introducing peanut foods to infants can seem like a scary step to some parents. But when you have the facts and some simple tools, it becomes a manageable and exciting part of a baby's early eating experiences. What's more, research has shown that introducing peanut foods early can reduce the risk of developing peanut allergies by up to 86% for specific groups. In addition to consulting a pediatrician, in this article, learn about ways to safely and easily introduce peanut into infant diets. Read more here.

Children whose mothers took fish oil supplements daily after the 20th week of pregnancy and during the first three to four months of breastfeeding were 30% less likely to develop egg allergies, while those whose mothers received probiotic supplementation from 36 weeks to 38 weeks' gestation had a 22% lower likelihood of developing eczema, UK researchers reported in PLOS Medicine. The findings also showed that lack of maternal peanut, egg and dairy intake didn't significantly affect childhood allergy or eczema risk.

Study: Food allergy prevalence increasing among US youths

More US children are developing food allergies, with the rates of allergies to peanuts, tree nuts and shellfish rising by 21%, 18% and 7%, respectively, since 2010, while the number of those with fin fish and sesame allergies have also increased, according to a study presented at the American College of Allergy, Asthma and Immunology annual meeting. The findings, based on 2015 to 2016 survey data involving more than 53,000 households across the US, also showed a two times increased peanut allergy risk and a significantly higher odds of tree nut allergy among black children, compared with whites.

Few pediatricians adhere to new peanut introduction guidelines

Researchers found that only 11% of pediatricians scored a 4 on a 0 to 4 scale in adhering to guidelines recommending early peanut introduction among infants with a high risk of developing peanut allergy, compared with 38% who scored 1 or less. The findings, presented at the American College of Allergy, Asthma & Immunology annual meeting and published in the Annals of Allergy, Asthma & Immunology, also showed a significantly higher guidance adherence among those whose patients had food allergies.

That does make me feel better. My husband and son in law are going today to the tournament. I think I am the designated babysitter this weekend so probably will not go. We have two badges and my children fight over them. Babysitting suits me just fine. I have been enough that it is time to turn over the reins to them. The best seat is in front of the TV.

Hi Donna:

I hope this finds you well. The upcoming HOD virtual spring meeting is Saturday, April 21. The House Leadership Team is hoping, if your schedule allows, that you could give about a five minute overview during the meeting (live via WebEx) as a way to build excitement and a quick “here is the top thing happening right now”. We are still working on the timing but it is looking like you would speak at about 12:15 pm CT after Dianne kicks off the meeting. Please let me know if you are available.

In addition, we've been working with our Marketing team create a visually pleasing document with top updates that delegates can easily share with members. I've been communicating with the Strategic Communications team as well, and they are happy to help draft the content for your review. While we recognize this is a condensed version of what is being presented by the BOD members at the various meetings, delegates have requested the information in this way so they can share it in their communications with constituents.

Please let me know your thoughts and I am happy to set up a call and discuss further.

That does make me feel better. My husband and son in law are going today to the tournament. I think I am the designated babysitter this weekend so probably will not go. We have two badges and my children fight over them. Babysitting suits me just fine. I have been enough that it is time to turn over the reins to them. The best seat is in front of the TV.

Tom, I told Anna what I thought we ought to focus on was all the things the Academy is doing to support our membership, including our non-members, and why they need to be members. I think we ought to talk about our Malnutrition efforts, Letter to Trump, PEDRO, Public Policy (including PPW in DC next year), evidenced based continuing education, number of media events and the Licensure threat. Hope this helps. If you can do it in a script style format with the slides that would be wonderful as that will allow me to talk and get more information into the 5 minutes. Even though I am a southerner I can talk fast.

Hi, Donna: Anna Shlachter told us she has spoken with you about speaking to the HOD's virtual spring meeting. We'll be glad to help put together your 5-minute presentation Anna has requested. We thought we could use information from the Academy Update speech, or, of course, anything else you would like to talk about. There is time for about 3-4 PPT slides.

Could you please let us know in the next day or so if there are specific area(s) you would like to cover or points you'd like to be sure to make to the HOD, and we will draft the presentation and send it to you. We'd be happy to discuss it by phone if you prefer, any time that is good for you.

Tom, I told Anna what I thought we ought to focus on was all the things the Academy is doing to support our membership, including our non-members, and why they need to be members. I think we ought to talk about our Malnutrition efforts, Letter to Trump, PEDRO, Public Policy (including PPW in DC next year), evidenced based continuing education, number of media events and the Licensure threat. Hope this helps. If you can do it in a script style format with the slides that would be wonderful as that will allow me to talk and get more information into the 5 minutes. Hi, Donna: Anna Shlachter told us she has spoken with you about speaking to the HOD's virtual spring meeting. We'll be glad to help put together your 5-minute presentation Anna has requested. We thought we could use information from the Academy Update speech, or, of course, anything else you would like to talk about. There is time for about 3-4 PPT slides.

Could you please let us know in the next day or so if there are specific area(s) you would like to cover or points you'd like to be sure to make to the HOD, and we will draft the presentation and send it to you. We'd be happy to discuss it by phone if you prefer, any time that is good for you.

Hi Donna:

I hope this finds you well. The upcoming HOD virtual spring meeting is Saturday, April 21. The House Leadership Team is hoping, if your schedule allows, that you could give about a five minute overview during the meeting (live via WebEx) as a way to build excitement and a quick “here is the top thing happening right now”. We are still working on the timing but it is looking like you would speak at about 12:15 pm CT after Dianne kicks off the meeting. Please let me know if you are available.

In addition, we’ve been working with our Marketing team create a visually pleasing document with top updates that delegates can easily share with members. Previously she worked at the national School Nutrition Association. She has held several elected and appointed leadership positions with the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics. Samia has a Master's in Public Health from the University of Minnesota and two undergraduate degrees in Agricultural Journalism and Dietetics from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

International Malnutrition Member Interest Group (MIG):

At FNCE this past year, there were several people who were interested in international malnutrition, but didn't know quite how to get involved. A handful of RDs currently working in the international arena met up at one point and talked about their experiences of going at it alone, and each felt like they were needing to fend for themselves in the international nutrition realm. They decided to band together and get a group in the works to help be a 'landing place' for those who are already working specifically to fight malnutrition in developing countries, as well as those who would like to get into this field but have no idea how to.

There have been some email talks over the past few months about starting a Member Interest Group (MIG) about this topic. If you are interested in joining this movement, they would love to have you join and get you in on the email loop with the MIG formation. If you are interested, please send an email to Jen Brewer at jenb@mycookkitchen.com and she will provide you with more details.

Malnutrition Quality Improvement Initiative (MQii):

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and Avalere Health are enrolling participants for the 2018 MQii Learning Collaborative, and invite you to join us in advancing malnutrition care across our nation. This collaborative brings together leading hospitals and health systems across the U.S. to support acceleration and dissemination of malnutrition best practices for hospitalized patients. Learning Collaborative participants undertake a data-driven, patient-centered, malnutrition quality improvement project at their respective hospitals using a best practices Toolkit, and can use clinically meaningful measures to track and monitor improvement.

If you are interested in learning more about how your organization can participate in the MQii Learning Collaborative, please email: MalnutritionQuality@avalere.com

PHCNPG Student Mentor Program:

PHCNPG's Mentoring Program seeks to connect members with the aim to promote growth in specialty practice areas, general career and personal growth. We are currently in need of more mentors to meet the demand of mentees!

We are looking for mentors from a wide variety of backgrounds to mentor students and other young professionals. If interested, please complete the online application.

The Mentor Program follows the same timeline as the DPG membership year and begins and ends in June each year. At the end of your term (June) you will have the option to continue your mentor/mentee relationship through the next membership year. If you have questions or feedback please email Kayla Fitzgerald, Membership Committee Chair, at phcnpgmembers@gmail.com or Gabby Headrick, Student Committee Chair, at phcnpgstudents@gmail.com.

Farm Bill Advocacy Day, April 24

Have you registered to attend the farm bill advocacy day? It's not too late to join the Academy on April 24 for an advocacy day which will focus on nutrition education and nutrition research in the farm bill. The Academy is partnering with the American Society for Nutrition, the Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior, the Food Trust and the Tisch Center for Food for the farm bill advocacy day.

Step 1: Register today for the advocacy day in Washington, D.C. The event is free and open to all members and the public.

Step 2: Register for the Advocacy for Nutrition Education and Research in the Farm Bill Webinar on April 13 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time) to prepare for the advocacy day.

If you cannot join us on Capitol Hill, we will share opportunities to engage in advocacy efforts in your own backyard during the webinar. Contact Tenásha Ebrahimkhel for more information.
Show Support for Nutrition Programs in the Farm Bill by Submitting Op-ed

Now is a critical time to raise your voice in support of nutrition programs in the farm bill. The Academy has developed op-ed templates on the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and nutrition education programs to get you started. Publishing an op-ed is a great way to get the attention of your members of Congress. The op-ed should ideally come from the president or public policy coordinator, but each affiliate can identify who will submit the op-ed(s) on behalf of the affiliate.

Please submit your op-ed to the newspaper by April 25. Contact Erin Zumbun for the templates.
Farm Bill Social Media Images

Following are images that can be shared on Twitter or Facebook. Just right-click and save! When sharing the importance of nutrition education and SNAP in the farm bill, please tag your U.S. Senators and Representative to bring additional visibility to the posts. C-SPAN has compiled a list of Twitter handles for members of Congress. And don't forget the hashtags, #FarmBill and #eatrightPRO. To retweet the farm bill images or to see more images, visit the Academy's Twitter account.

Reception for Academy Member Running for Congress, April 24

Following the Farm Bill Advocacy Day on April 24, join us at the Academy's Washington, D.C. office for an evening reception supporting one of our own, Felicia Stoler, DCN, MS, RDN, FACSM, FAND. Stoler recently announced her candidacy to represent New Jersey's 4th District. The event will be donation-based and all contributions will go directly towards the campaign. RSVP by April

National Public Health Week, April 2-8

The Academy is celebrating National Public Health Week, an initiative of the American Public Health Association, April 2-8. This week recognizes the contributions of public health and highlights issues that are important to improving the nation's health. Academy members are invited to join the National Public Health Week Twitter Chat on April 4 from 2-3 p.m. (Eastern Time). Learn more about the Twitter chat here.

Reimbursement Representative Webinar, April 19

The Governance Team will host a Reimbursement Representative Webinar on Credentialing with Insurers and Negotiating Your Contract on April 19 from noon to 1 p.m. (Central Time). Register for the webinar and learn more.

Telehealth Work Group, Call for Experts

Experts needed to join a new telehealth workgroup! The Academy is looking for volunteers who have an interest in telehealth, practice telehealth, practice in rural or underserved areas or who are regulatory experts to join the workgroup. The Academy is seeking input from Academy members and dietetic practice groups as we look at ways to enable RDNs to more easily provide and be paid for a robust variety of telehealth services.

If you are interested in joining the workgroup, please submit your name, credentials and resume to Erin Zumbrun by April 30. Stay tuned for more information.

News from the Hill and Beyond

Academy Proposes New Topics, Scientific Questions for 2020 Dietary Guidelines

The Academy submitted recommendations in response to the U.S. Departments of Health and Human Services and Agriculture call for public comments on topics and supporting scientific questions to inform the development of the 2020-2025 Dietary Guidelines for Americans. Academy members and DPGs offered additional scientific questions and refinement of existing questions for consideration. In addition, the Academy recommended adding four new topics to the agencies' list of proposals: sodium, effective implementation of the Guidelines, oral health and sustainability. The final topics and scientific questions will be examined by an external, scientific advisory committee once the committee is appointed.

Some Farm Bill Programs Expire September 30

The last farm bill, passed by Congress in 2014, provided mandatory funding for numerous food and nutrition programs. While some of these programs are assumed to continue after the 2014 farm bill expires September 30, others have a more uncertain future. A notable nutrition program without assured mandatory funding is the Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive. FINI is a grant program that provides financial incentives for SNAP participants to purchase fruits and vegetables.

The Congressional Research Service published a report of the 39 farm bill programs that receive mandatory funding that do not have assured funding beyond Fiscal Year 2018, and will require new budgetary authority to continue.

Academy Joins Campaign to Increase CDC Funding

The Academy has partnered with the American Public Health Association and other organizations on a new campaign to increase funding for the Centers of Disease Control and Prevention 22 percent by Fiscal Year 2022. The CDC's Division of Nutrition, Physical Activity, and Obesity supports nutrition programs that improve dietary quality, support healthy child development and reduce chronic disease.

Action Alerts

Action Required: Farm Bill and Treat and Reduce Obesity Act

There's still time to make your voice heard:

- Farm Bill: Congress is currently working on the 2018 farm bill, which is the primary legislation that authorizes many of our nation's food and nutrition programs. The farm bill includes nutrition assistance programs that help people access nutritious food; nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthy choices; and nutrition research that addresses the nutrition-related health concerns we face as a nation. We are asking Academy members to take action and urge Congress to support the important nutrition programs in the farm bill that contribute to the health of all, especially those most susceptible to experiencing insecurity. Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.

OAND Public Policy Day Was a Success

The Ohio Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics held a Public Policy Day with 79 participants on March 21. The policy day was an opportunity for participants to establish relationships with their legislators. Attendees met with state senators, representatives and legislative aides. Great job, OAND!

If you have been making strides in your community (attending ANDPAC events, meeting with policy makers, etc.) – let us spread the word! Send photos and a quick write-up about your recent policy accomplishments to Tenásha Ebrahimkhel. We would love to share your story and inspire others.

ANDPAC Corner

ANDPAC Works to Advance Academy's Public Policy Priorities

It is a common myth that the Academy's political action committee ANDPAC was, and still is, only focused on one issue - Medicare coverage for medical nutrition therapy. ANDPAC is not a "single issue" political action committee. It exists to advance all of the public policy priorities of the Academy. ANDPAC is the only political action committee broadly focused on food, nutrition and health.

Greetings from ACEND,

The Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics (ACEND®) is writing to keep you informed of our standards development work. A copy of the April Standards Update is posted on the ACEND webpage: Monthly Standards Update. In this issue there is an overview of formative and summative assessment; the first demonstration program accredited under the Future Education Model Accreditation Standards for Graduate Degree Programs is also announced. There is a call for applications for the second cohort of demonstration programs.

Last month, the ACEND Board updated the 2017 Accreditation Standards; those changes will become effective July 1, 2018. Among the changes is the requirement that ACEND-required objectives (Standard 3, Required Element 3.3) must be written verbatim and be evaluated annually using an average of data from the previous three years. The revised standards are available at www.eatrightpro.org/2017Standards.

The monthly Virtual Town Hall meetings are held on the third Wednesday of the month at 3 PM Central Time. The town hall provides a time for ACEND to share updates on its standards work and for stakeholders to ask questions. Information on joining the town hall can be found at www.eatrightpro.org/FutureModel.

Please share this information with your constituents/colleagues. If you or they have questions, send them to acend@eatright.org or call 312-899-4872, so we can respond to them. Future editions of the monthly update will include these questions and an ACEND response.

Thank you.

Donna and Lucille,

Hello, I hope you're having a great day so far. Just a little update about Nutrition Trends Forum. There will be a farm tour on Friday, May 4, from about 1:15 p.m. until 4:30 p.m.

The farm is located west of downtown at 4250 W Chicago Avenue. <http://www.metro-farms.com>. We are arranging travel to and from the hotel.

Will the two of you be able to attend?

Here is some additional information about the tour: Metropolitan Farms is a commercial aquaponics farm offering tours of our 10,000 square foot greenhouse which was formerly a dairy packaging plant. During tours, visitors learn about aquaponics and sustainable urban closed-loop food production, hear the founder recount his journey building the farm, and even sample some of the extensive crop on display. Our warm greenhouse is open year round and produces locally sourced tilapia, salad greens, and artisanal culinary herbs. We showcase our products while educating visitors about sustainable urban aquaponic farming practices, local markets, composting, water recycling, science and biology, urban agriculture, and more.

Thanks,

Tom, I told Anna what I thought we ought to focus on was all the things the Academy is doing to support our membership, including our non-members, and why they need to be members. I think we ought to talk about our Malnutrition efforts, Letter to Trump, PEDRO, Public Policy (including PPW in DC next year), evidenced based continuing education, number of media events and the Licensure threat. Hope this helps. If you can do it in a script style format with the slides that would be wonderful as that will allow me to talk and get more information into the 5 minutes. Even though I am a southerner I can talk fast.

We thought we could use information from the Academy Update speech, or, of course, anything else you would like to talk about. There is time for about 3-4 PPT slides.

Could you please let us know in the next day or so if there are specific area(s) you would like to cover or points you'd like to be sure to make to the HOD, and we will draft the presentation and send it to you. We'd be happy to discuss it by phone if you prefer, any time that is good for you.

Hi Donna:

I hope this finds you well. The upcoming HOD virtual spring meeting is Saturday, April 21. The House Leadership Team is hoping, if your schedule allows, that you could give about a five minute overview during the meeting (live via WebEx) as a way to build excitement and a quick “here is the top thing happening right now”. We are still working on the timing but it is looking like you would speak at about 12:15 pm CT after Dianne kicks off the meeting. Please let me know if you are available.

In addition, we’ve been working with our Marketing team create a visually pleasing document with top updates that delegates can easily share with members. I’ve been communicating with the Strategic Communications team as well, and they are happy to help draft the content for your review. While we recognize this is a condensed version of what is being presented by the BOD members at the various meetings, delegates have requested the information in this way so they can share it in their communications with constituents.

Please let me know your thoughts and I am happy to set up a call and discuss further.

Donna and Lucille,

Hello, I hope you're having a great day so far. Just a little update about Nutrition Trends Forum. There will be a farm tour on Friday, May 4, from about 1:15 p.m. until 4:30 p.m.

The farm is located west of downtown at 4250 W Chicago Avenue. <http://www.metro-farms.com>. We are arranging travel to and from the hotel.

Will the two of you be able to attend?

Here is some additional information about the tour: Metropolitan Farms is a commercial aquaponics farm offering tours of our 10,000 square foot greenhouse which was formerly a dairy packaging plant. During tours, visitors learn about aquaponics and sustainable urban closed-loop food production, hear the founder recount his journey building the farm, and even sample some of the extensive crop on display. Our warm greenhouse is open year round and produces locally sourced tilapia, salad greens, and artisanal culinary herbs. We showcase our products while educating visitors about sustainable urban aquaponic farming practices, local markets, composting, water recycling, science and biology, urban agriculture, and more.

Thanks,

Hi, Donna: Attached for your review is our draft of three bullet points and a call to action that Anna Shlachter requested for the document to be distributed to the HOD. Anna asked that the bullets reflect short, top updates that have occurred since the last HOD meeting. Can you please let us know if this text is OK, or if you would like us to make edits. Of course we're glad to do so. Anna has asked that we get the final text to her by a week from tomorrow (April 6).

Also, we are working on a draft of your 5-minute speech to the HOD, and plan to send it to you for review next week.

Thank you very much, talk to you soon!

Tom, I told Anna what I thought we ought to focus on was all the things the Academy is doing to support our membership, including our non-members, and why they need to be members. I think we ought to talk about our Malnutrition efforts, Letter to Trump, PEDRO, Public Policy (including PPW in DC next year), evidenced based continuing education, number of media events and the Licensure threat. Hope this helps. If you can do it in a script style format with the slides that would be wonderful as that will allow me to talk and get more information into the 5 minutes. Even though I am a southerner I can talk fast.

Hi, Donna: Anna Shlachter told us she has spoken with you about speaking to the HOD's virtual spring meeting. We'll be glad to help put together your 5-minute presentation Anna has requested. We thought we could use information from the Academy Update speech, or, of course, anything else you would like to talk about. There is time for about 3-4 PPT slides.

Could you please let us know in the next day or so if there are specific area(s) you would like to cover or points you'd like to be sure to make to the HOD, and we will draft the presentation and send it to you. We'd be happy to discuss it by phone if you prefer, any time that is good for you.

Thank you very much!

Subject: HOD Spring Meeting Update and Invitation

Hi Donna:

I hope this finds you well. The upcoming HOD virtual spring meeting is Saturday, April 21. The House Leadership Team is hoping, if your schedule allows, that you could give about a five minute overview during the meeting (live via WebEx) as a way to build excitement and a quick “here is the top thing happening right now”. We are still working on the timing but it is looking like you would speak at about 12:15 pm CT after Dianne kicks off the meeting. Please let me know if you are available.

In addition, we’ve been working with our Marketing team create a visually pleasing document with top updates that delegates can easily share with members. I’ve been communicating with the Strategic Communications team as well, and they are happy to help draft the content for your review. While we recognize this is a condensed version of what is being presented by the BOD members at the various meetings, delegates have requested the information in this way so they can share it in their communications with constituents.

Please let me know your thoughts and I am happy to set up a call and discuss further.

Hi Doris,

That is so kind of you to include the video in Eat Right Weekly and to your student members! If it ever makes it as a Facebook post, would you please let me know? It would be great for us to share it from there in our various (yet smaller!) media outlets. I started doing this project in 2014. Our FACS communications director, Cal Powell, published a news article after my first class poster, and this might give you a little back story if you need it.

<http://www.fcs.uga.edu/news/story/fdn-class-project-serves-as-icebreaker-and-eye-opener>

Please let me know if you have questions or need anything from me.

I'm beyond thrilled that you're willing to share this project.

Thank you again!

Emma

This project is inspiring because it highlights how the meaning of health is different for current dietetics students and future RDNs, but the project itself is also one of my favorite teaching tools I use to engage students in/outside of the classroom. Do you think there is a media person at the AND who might like to view this first and see if it could be used to showcase students? Cal just uploaded the link to the FACS youtube channel, but it hasn't been shared yet. I wanted to run it by you first to see if you have an interest. If not, that's OK! We can showcase it through FACS (or maybe NDEP as a teaching idea to engage college students).

Speaker Message 21 All-Member Public Health Webinar

April 4 Webinar: Advancing Leadership in Public Health

As a follow-up to the fall 2017 House of Delegates meeting and the Championing Nutrition and Dietetics Practitioners in Roles of Leadership in Public Health mega issue, the HOD is hosting an informational webinar on April 4 at 3:00 pm CT to discuss potential grassroots projects and ideas for members to lead and/or participate in to advance roles of leadership in public health.

- Join and listen to fellow delegates share their ideas, and see if you may be interested in participating in a project. Also, please make sure to share this information with your constituents. This session will also be recorded so you can share it with members after the webinar.

HOD Update Presentations and Materials

We have created a presentation with supporting materials that can be used during your delegate updates/presentations to your members.

Spring HOD Meeting Update

•Surveys

Thanks to the delegates who completed the culture assessment survey. The next survey (for current delegates) is slated to launch on Monday, April 2. Please watch for a discussion post announcing the second survey. Remember these surveys are considered part of the spring pre-meeting work.

Technology for the Spring HOD Meeting

•WebEx (Entire Meeting)

On the day of the meeting, click Join meeting to initiate the WebEx. We will not be using the phone line for the WebEx. You will use VoIP (streaming/integrated sound). This means when you click join meeting, it will connect via your computer only. You will hear the presentation through the speakers on your device (or headset). Everyone will be muted.

•Teleconference for Small Groups

Closer to the meeting each table will be assigned a conference call line that will be used for the small group discussions. When you call into your small groups, DO NOT log out of WebEx and ensure WebEx remains muted at all times. Additional technology details and testing information will be released over the next couple of weeks.

Health Care Payment is Changing and We Need Your Input!

Registered dietitian nutritionists are needed to participate in the Academy's 2018 Coding Survey, your opportunity to play a role in shaping the policies that determine coverage and coding policies for MNT services. The Nutrition Services Payment Committee seeks RDNs who provide outpatient MNT services to participate in an online survey. The survey data, which will remain confidential and will be analyzed only in aggregate form, will help the Academy assess coding practices and payment patterns for nutrition services. All RDNs who complete the survey will be entered into a drawing to receive one of the following items: a Microsoft Surface Pro, an Apple watch, a one-year subscription to Netflix, and valuable gift certificates. Click here to begin.

Academy Practice Paper “Nutrition Intervention and Human Immunodeficiency Virus Infection”

The NEW Academy Practice Paper “Nutrition Intervention and Human Immunodeficiency Virus Infection” was published in the March 2018 Journal of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics.

Starwood Hotels Confirmation

Hi Donna,

We looked at using points for the Vancouver trip but with it being high travel season (Alaska cruises), the comp seats are very limited. The flights that are available require an extra night's stay and several stops, increasing the chance of missing a connection. In addition, there are no comp seats on the flights to/from Augusta, so those would have to be purchased. The good news is that we found a Delta flight for only $853 with 2 stops traveling June 6-9 (see attached), it's just a $100 difference from Mary's and Pat's Chicago flights. I think your time and comfort are a priority; does the attached itinerary work for you?

Thank you!

Hi, Donna: Attached for your review is our draft of three bullet points and a call to action that Anna Shlachter requested for the document to be distributed to the HOD. Anna asked that the bullets reflect short, top updates that have occurred since the last HOD meeting. Can you please let us know if this text is OK, or if you would like us to make edits. Of course we're glad to do so. Anna has asked that we get the final text to her by a week from tomorrow (April 6).

Also, we are working on a draft of your 5-minute speech to the HOD, and plan to send it to you for review next week.

Thank you very much, talk to you soon!

Tom, I told Anna what I thought we ought to focus on was all the things the Academy is doing to support our membership, including our non-members, and why they need to be members. I think we ought to talk about our Malnutrition efforts, Letter to Trump, PEDRO, Public Policy (including PPW in DC next year), evidenced based continuing education, number of media events and the Licensure threat. Hope this helps. If you can do it in a script style format with the slides that would be wonderful as that will allow me to talk and get more information into the 5 minutes. Even though I am a southerner I can talk fast.

Hi, Donna: Anna Shlachter told us she has spoken with you about speaking to the HOD's virtual spring meeting. We'll be glad to help put together your 5-minute presentation Anna has requested. We thought we could use information from the Academy Update speech, or, of course, anything else you would like to talk about. There is time for about 3-4 PPT slides.

Could you please let us know in the next day or so if there are specific area(s) you would like to cover or points you'd like to be sure to make to the HOD, and we will draft the presentation and send it to you. We'd be happy to discuss it by phone if you prefer, any time that is good for you.

Thank you very much!

Hi Donna:

I hope this finds you well. The upcoming HOD virtual spring meeting is Saturday, April 21. The House Leadership Team is hoping, if your schedule allows, that you could give about a five minute overview during the meeting (live via WebEx) as a way to build excitement and a quick “here is the top thing happening right now”. We are still working on the timing but it is looking like you would speak at about 12:15 pm CT after Dianne kicks off the meeting. Please let me know if you are available.

In addition, we’ve been working with our Marketing team create a visually pleasing document with top updates that delegates can easily share with members. I’ve been communicating with the Strategic Communications team as well, and they are happy to help draft the content for your review. While we recognize this is a condensed version of what is being presented by the BOD members at the various meetings, delegates have requested the information in this way so they can share it in their communications with constituents.

Please let me know your thoughts and I am happy to set up a call and discuss further.

Subject: HOD Spring Meeting Update and Invitation

Hi Donna:

I hope this finds you well. The upcoming HOD virtual spring meeting is Saturday, April 21. The House Leadership Team is hoping, if your schedule allows, that you could give about a five minute overview during the meeting (live via WebEx) as a way to build excitement and a quick “here is the top thing happening right now”. We are still working on the timing but it is looking like you would speak at about 12:15 pm CT after Dianne kicks off the meeting. Please let me know if you are available.

In addition, we’ve been working with our Marketing team create a visually pleasing document with top updates that delegates can easily share with members. I’ve been communicating with the Strategic Communications team as well, and they are happy to help draft the content for your review. While we recognize this is a condensed version of what is being presented by the BOD members at the various meetings, delegates have requested the information in this way so they can share it in their communications with constituents.

Please let me know your thoughts and I am happy to set up a call and discuss further.

Anna

Hi Donna,

I wanted to give you an update because I know we're all anxious to get this wrapped up. I have a delta flight on hold for you, but the award travel options were extremely limited so the trip I'm holding is less than ideal (late night flights). That's held until Friday so it gives me some time to explore other airlines to find something better.

I'll report back when I have something more concrete, but I wanted you to know that I'm on it!

The Academy has communicated the serious nature of this error to SmartBrief, reiterating the Academy's longstanding position of not endorsing – or appearing to endorse – specific brands, products or services. We have been assured by SmartBrief that this situation will not occur again.

In addition, SmartBrief included the LEAP Study in this sponsored content. The Learning Early about Peanut Allergy (LEAP) trial and study was funded by the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases with minority funding from the National Peanut Board as well as others, and wrongly associates the Academy with this study and content by including the Academy's logo. Again, the Academy does not endorse or align its positions with this study or the content within this advertising mailing.

The Academy's social media team is monitoring member response and engagement on social media and will respond via social on a case-by-case basis with the following: *The message about early introduction of peanuts to infants was sent in error by SmartBrief because it included the Academy's logo. ## Spotlight on Early Introduction of Peanuts to Infants

Peanut allergy prevention has been in the news frequently over the past three years with the completion of the groundbreaking LEAP study. The National Institutes of Health recently published an addendum to the guidelines for the prevention of peanut allergy in the US. What's new about these guidelines is that they recommend the early introduction of peanut protein in infants between 4-6 months of age depending on risk (low, medium or high) to prevent peanut allergy. They also provide ways to simply introduce peanut to babies and recommendations for how frequently infants who are at-risk for peanut allergy should eat peanut foods.

Children whose mothers took fish oil supplements daily after the 20th week of pregnancy and during the first three to four months of breastfeeding were 30% less likely to develop egg allergies, while those whose mothers received probiotic supplementation from 36 weeks to 38 weeks' gestation had a 22% lower likelihood of developing eczema, UK researchers reported in PLOS Medicine. The findings also showed that lack of maternal peanut, egg and dairy intake didn't significantly affect childhood allergy or eczema risk.

More US children are developing food allergies, with the rates of allergies to peanuts, tree nuts and shellfish rising by 21%, 18% and 7%, respectively, since 2010, while the number of those with fin fish and sesame allergies have also increased, according to a study presented at the American College of Allergy, Asthma and Immunology annual meeting. The findings, based on 2015 to 2016 survey data involving more than 53,000 households across the US, also showed a two times increased peanut allergy risk and a significantly higher odds of tree nut allergy among black children, compared with whites.

I was surprised to see that you elevated a response to this delegate to my attention since we have several templates that address this issue. I have responded however, please see the response below. I recommend that it come from Speaker Dianne Polly, since the letter was addressed to her from the delegate. I recommend you keep this response on file since these questions come to us regularly.

HOD RESPONSE

Dear Michelle:

Thank you for your March 27 email. As has been the case for many years, the Academy is engaged in a myriad of activities, and offers members numerous resources, to assist you in increasing compensation for the great work you do to help people become and stay healthy.

A large amount of information on all the Academy is doing to advocate for members – and to support you in our goal of achieving recognition, respect and remuneration – is available on the Academy’s website at <https://www.eatrightpro.org/practice/career-development/career-toolbox/academy-member-compensation>. In particular, I encourage you to review the Perceived Value, Income and Negotiation section.

The Academy is committed to helping members increase compensation, while respecting legal and ethical restraints governing businesses and professions. The Academy is not a labor union and cannot negotiate a practitioner’s salary. Under antitrust laws, professionals cannot engage in concerted action to lead to rise in prices; many actions therefore can be viewed under the law as an indirect way of price fixing.

Of course there are things the Academy can do, and we are doing them. For example: One of the Academy’s highest priorities has been to expand public and private payer coverage for MNT and other services provided by RDNs. As you know, our successes include achievements such as obtaining Medicare provider status and the Medicare Part B MNT benefit. As health care delivery and payment systems evolve, we have been at the table with key stakeholders to advocate for inclusion of RDNs and nutrition services in alternative payment models. And the Academy will not stop until there is widespread, universal coverage and fair and equitable payment for nutrition services.

I hope this information is helpful to you. Best wishes in your career and thank you for your dedication to our Academy and to the nutrition and dietetics profession.

Sincerely,

Dianne K. Polly, JD, RDN, LDN, FAND

Hi Pat:

This issue comes to life again—attached is a letter came to the HOD inbox. I am not sure if she sent it to others as well. Her ultimate request is: “I would request that you consider the development of a task force/working group on compensation that is charged with both systematically studying and then developing real, tenable ways in which RDN salaries can be improved.”

How would you suggest we respond?

Thanks for your input.

Hi Donna,

I wanted to give you an update because I know we're all anxious to get this wrapped up. I have a delta flight on hold for you, but the award travel options were extremely limited so the trip I'm holding is less than ideal (late night flights). That's held until Friday so it gives me some time to explore other airlines to find something better.

I'll report back when I have something more concrete, but I wanted you to know that I'm on it!

I am pleased to share that starting in January 2018, the Academy will be working with SmartBrief, the nation's leading digital media publisher, to provide Academy members with the most relevant food and nutrition news from major media outlets, regional newspapers, trade publications and blogs.

Nutrition and Dietetics SmartBrief will be delivered daily to Academy members' email boxes. Members will be able to opt-out and non-member professionals will be able to subscribe. members in upcoming issues of Eat Right Weekly, postings on eatrightPRO and via social media channels.

SmartBrief also provides digital media services for the American Association for Family Physicians, American Nurses Association, Society of Critical Care Medicine, the Association of Bariatric Endoscopy, American Physical Therapy Association and many more associations, industries and businesses.

We are always looking for ways to keep our members informed about the news that matters to most to them and I hope you are as excited as we are about Nutrition and Dietetics SmartBrief.

Subject: Heads Up Re: March 27 SmartBrief

Today SmartBrief sent a sponsored mailing to subscribers on the early introduction of peanuts to infants. Due to a production error by SmartBrief, the mailing incorrectly included the Academy's logo, potentially implying the Academy's endorsement of the content. In fact, the Academy does not endorse this or any other sponsored content in SmartBrief.

The Academy has communicated the serious nature of this error to SmartBrief, reiterating the Academy's longstanding position of not endorsing – or appearing to endorse – specific brands, products or services. We have been assured by SmartBrief that this situation will not occur again.

In addition, SmartBrief included the LEAP Study in this sponsored content. The Learning Early about Peanut Allergy (LEAP) trial and study was funded by the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases with minority funding from the National Peanut Board as well as others, and wrongly associates the Academy with this study and content by including the Academy's logo. Again, the Academy does not endorse or align its positions with this study or the content within this advertising mailing.

The Academy's social media team is monitoring member response and engagement on social media and will respond via social on a case-by-case basis with the following: The message about early introduction of peanuts to infants was sent in error by SmartBrief because it included the Academy's logo. We are working with SmartBrief to ensure this does not happen again and emphasize that we do not endorse this or any sponsored content in SmartBrief.

The Academy builds and maintains its reputation by scrupulous attention to facts, science and integrity.

Spotlight on Early Introduction of Peanuts to Infants

Peanut allergy prevention has been in the news frequently over the past three years with the completion of the groundbreaking LEAP study. The National Institutes of Health recently published an addendum to the guidelines for the prevention of peanut allergy in the US. What's new about these guidelines is that they recommend the early introduction of peanut protein in infants between 4-6 months of age depending on risk (low, medium or high) to prevent peanut allergy. They also provide ways to simply introduce peanut to babies and recommendations for how frequently infants who are at-risk for peanut allergy should eat peanut foods.

DON'T MISS OUT on the LAST NDEP SPRING MEETING FOR 2018!

Registration for the NDEP Central Region Spring Meeting closes on Thursday, April 12th. April weather is lovely and selection/matching is complete, so join us in St. Louis for the FINAL 2018 NDEP Spring Meeting. This is an exciting and informative conference for both educators and preceptors. In addition to the ever popular NDEP updates and networking opportunities, this year's meeting has some very unique and relevant presentation topics:

- Allison Steiber, PhD, RDN, will present on "Simulation Opportunities in DPD/DI/ISPP Programs".

Dr. Steiber will be introducing the new Eatright PRO Simulation Series: PEDRO. She will describe the development and structure of the first Eatright PRO Simulation, review the ACEND competencies achieved through the use of the PEDRO simulation, demonstrate the use of PEDRO and its user guides, and discuss ways in which to incorporate PEDRO into dietetic education.

- Amy Knoblock-Hahn, PhD, RD will present on "Development of a Sustainable, Resilient, and Healthy Food and Water Systems for Dietetics Education (SRHFWS)".

Dr. Knoblock-Hahn will introduce the new toolkit from the Academy Foundation, which is free to educators, that you can use to help provide SRHFWS education in your programs. She will identify and describe the four foundational components of sustainable, resilient, and healthy food and water systems (SRHFWS), describe perceived gaps in entry level RDN competencies in SRHFWS and explain ways to apply student activities from each of seven different components of the food system to meet SRHFWS competencies as required by ACEND.

- Dena French, EdD, RDN, LD will present on "Failure to Fail in Dietetics Education".

Dr. French will present her recent research. Failure to fail occurs when educators pass students who are unsuitable for future professional practice. Literature suggests the phenomenon exists in various professional training programs, yet this was the first known research focused solely on dietetics education. After this presentation, you will be able to describe the issue of failure to fail, including contributing factors and implications for dietetics practice and examine personal, programmatic, and institutional policies and practices that may influence failure to fail.

There will also be several terrific Best Practice sessions on (1) Service Learning Experiences; (2) Using Music and Popular Songs for Learning; (3) Updating the Internship Process with Technology and Innovation; and (4) Neehr Perfect, a web-based clinical simulation program.

To keep the meeting reasonably priced the heartland is the place to be. The centrally-located Clayton Plaza Hotel has double rooms at $125/night, FREE airport shuttle, FREE full hot breakfast for hotel guests, FREE WIFI in rooms and conference area, FREE gym and heated pool, and there is FREE garage parking to all conference attendees. Plus the metro station is a 4 block walk and there's lots of neighborhood restaurants and shopping!

Due to a production error by SmartBrief, the mailing incorrectly included the Academy's logo, potentially implying the Academy's endorsement of the content. The Academy has communicated the serious nature of this error to SmartBrief, reiterating the Academy's longstanding position of not endorsing – or appearing to endorse – specific brands, products or services. We have been assured by SmartBrief that this situation will not occur again.

In addition, SmartBrief included the LEAP Study in this sponsored content. The Learning Early about Peanut Allergy (LEAP) trial and study was funded by the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases with minority funding from the National Peanut Board as well as others, and wrongly associates the Academy with this study and content by including the Academy's logo. Again, the Academy does not endorse or align its positions with this study or the content within this advertising mailing.

Spotlight on Early Introduction of Peanuts to Infants

Peanut allergy prevention has been in the news frequently over the past three years with the completion of the groundbreaking LEAP study. The National Institutes of Health recently published an addendum to the guidelines for the prevention of peanut allergy in the US. What's new about these guidelines is that they recommend the early introduction of peanut protein in infants between 4-6 months of age depending on risk (low, medium or high) to prevent peanut allergy. They also provide ways to simply introduce peanut to babies and recommendations for how frequently infants who are at-risk for peanut allergy should eat peanut foods.

Peanut allergy prevention has been in the news frequently over the past three years with the completion of the groundbreaking LEAP study. The National Institutes of Health recently published an addendum to the guidelines for the prevention of peanut allergy in the US. What's new about these guidelines is that they recommend the early introduction of peanut protein in infants between 4-6 months of age depending on risk (low, medium or high) to prevent peanut allergy. They also provide ways to simply introduce peanut to babies and recommendations for how frequently infants who are at-risk for peanut allergy should eat peanut foods.

Peanut allergy prevention has been in the news frequently over the past three years with the completion of the groundbreaking LEAP study. The National Institutes of Health recently published an addendum to the guidelines for the prevention of peanut allergy in the US. What's new about these guidelines is that they recommend the early introduction of peanut protein in infants between 4-6 months of age depending on risk (low, medium or high) to prevent peanut allergy. They also provide ways to simply introduce peanut to babies and recommendations for how frequently infants who are at-risk for peanut allergy should eat peanut foods.

Children whose mothers took fish oil supplements daily after the 20th week of pregnancy and during the first three to four months of breastfeeding were 30% less likely to develop egg allergies, while those whose mothers received probiotic supplementation from 36 weeks to 38 weeks' gestation had a 22% lower likelihood of developing eczema, UK researchers reported in PLOS Medicine. The findings also showed that lack of maternal peanut, egg and dairy intake didn't significantly affect childhood allergy or eczema risk.

More US children are developing food allergies, with the rates of allergies to peanuts, tree nuts and shellfish rising by 21%, 18% and 7%, respectively, since 2010, while the number of those with fin fish and sesame allergies have also increased, according to a study presented at the American College of Allergy, Asthma and Immunology annual meeting. The findings, based on 2015 to 2016 survey data involving more than 53,000 households across the US, also showed a two times increased peanut allergy risk and a significantly higher odds of tree nut allergy among black children, compared with whites.

Few pediatricians adhere to new peanut introduction guidelines

Researchers found that only 11% of pediatricians scored a 4 on a 0 to 4 scale in adhering to guidelines recommending early peanut introduction among infants with a high risk of developing peanut allergy, compared with 38% who scored 1 or less. The findings, presented at the American College of Allergy, Asthma & Immunology annual meeting and published in the Annals of Allergy, Asthma & Immunology, also showed a significantly higher guidance adherence among those whose patients had food allergies.

Join Us - Farm Bill Advocacy Day, April 24

Have you registered to attend the farm bill advocacy day? It's not too late to join the Academy on April 24 for an advocacy day which will focus on nutrition education and nutrition research in the farm bill. The Academy is partnering with the American Society for Nutrition, the Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior, the Food Trust and the Laurie M. Tisch Center for Food, Education & Policy, Teachers College Columbia University for the farm bill advocacy day.

Step 1: Register today for the advocacy day in Washington, D.C. The event is free and open to all members and the public.

Step 2: Register for the Advocacy for Nutrition Education and Research in the Farm Bill Webinar on April 13 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time) to prepare for the advocacy day.

If you cannot join us on Capitol Hill, we will share opportunities to engage in advocacy efforts in your own backyard during the webinar. Contact Tenásha Ebrahimkhel for more information.

ANDPAC Student Representative Position

Do you know a student who has an interest in the link between nutrition policy and the profession? The Academy invites students to apply for the student representative position on the ANDPAC Board of Directors.

The student should be an active Academy member with strong leadership skills and a demonstrated interest in advancing the Academy's public policy and legislative priorities. The representative will serve a one-year term beginning June 1. Nominees can submit their applications with a completed application form, letter of interest, resume, and letter of recommendation from a faculty member to ANDPAC@eatright.org by April 11.

News from the Hill and Beyond

President Signs Spending Bill Which Includes Nutrition and Health Program Funding Increases

President Donald Trump signed the $1.3 trillion spending bill that funds the federal government through September 30, 2018. The 2018 federal omnibus appropriations bill will increase funding for the U.S. Departments of Health and Human Services and Agriculture where many nutrition and health programs are administered. The bill avoids a government shutdown that would have started on March 24.

Investments in public health infrastructure and nutrition programs are critical to Americans' health and well-being and have been the focus of the Academy's advocacy efforts with Congress. The Academy's priorities fared well in the year-end spending bill and the Academy was pleased to see many nutrition and health programs receive increases in funding. The bill provides $88.1 billion for HHS and $23.2 billion in discretionary funding for USDA.

Farm Bill Expected to be on House Floor after Recess

The U.S. House of Representatives Agriculture Committee Chairman Mike Conaway (Texas) announced that he intends to move the farm bill to the House floor with or without bipartisan support sometime after Congress returns from recess. The House rescheduled the release of its version of the 2018 farm bill from earlier this month after ranking member Collin Peterson (Minn.) paused negotiations with chairman over the process and possible legislative proposals that would make changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. Academy members are asked to encourage their members of Congress during recess to support important nutrition programs in the farm bill that contribute to everyone's health, especially people who are most susceptible to food insecurity.

Request for Comments: Evaluation of Chronic Disease Self-Management Programs in US-Affiliated Pacific Islands

The CDC plans to evaluate the first ever implementation of Stanford University's Chronic Disease Self-Management Program (CDSMP) in the US Affiliated Pacific Islands (USAPIs) to understand how CDSMP is being implemented, barriers and facilitators to implementation, to monitor fidelity/adaptations to the curriculum, and to understand the self-reported effects of the program on program participants. There is a lack of evidence-based chronic disease prevention and management programs in the USAPIs. The data collected for this evaluation will help the CDC assess the effect of CDSMP on health outcomes in the USAPIs and to understand whether the CDSMP curriculum needs to be adapted to meet the cultural needs of the USAPIs and if it is feasible to expand the CDSMP program in the USAPIs.

Information about The CDSMP can be found here. It includes self management programs for diabetes, HIV, etc.

International Malnutrition Member Interest Group (MIG):

At FNCE this past year, there were several people who were interested in international malnutrition, but didn't know quite how to get involved. A handful of RDs currently working in the international arena met up at one point and talked about their experiences of going at it alone, and each felt like they were needing to fend for themselves in the international nutrition realm. They decided to band together and get a group in the works to help be a 'landing place' for those who are already working specifically to fight malnutrition in developing countries, as well as those who would like to get into this field but have no idea how to.

There have been some email talks over the past few months about starting a Member Interest Group (MIG) about this topic. If you are interested in joining this movement, they would love to have you join and get you in on the email loop with the MIG formation. If you are interested, please send an email to Jen Brewer at jenb@mycookkitchen.com and she will provide you with more details.

Malnutrition Quality Improvement Initiative (MQii):

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and Avalere Health are enrolling participants for the 2018 MQii Learning Collaborative, and invite you to join us in advancing malnutrition care across our nation. This collaborative brings together leading hospitals and health systems across the U.S. to support acceleration and dissemination of malnutrition best practices for hospitalized patients. Learning Collaborative participants undertake a data-driven, patient-centered, malnutrition quality improvement project at their respective hospitals using a best practices Toolkit, and can use clinically meaningful measures to track and monitor improvement.

If you are interested in learning more about how your organization can participate in the MQii Learning Collaborative, please email: MalnutritionQuality@avalere.com

PHCNPG Student Mentor Program:

PHCNPG's Mentoring Program seeks to connect members with the aim to promote growth in specialty practice areas, general career and personal growth. We are currently in need of more mentors to meet the demand of mentees!

We are looking for mentors from a wide variety of backgrounds to mentor students and other young professionals. If interested, please complete the online application.

The Mentor Program follows the same timeline as the DPG membership year and begins and ends in June each year. At the end of your term (June) you will have the option to continue your mentor/mentee relationship through the next membership year. If you have questions or feedback please email Kayla Fitzgerald, Membership Committee Chair, at phcnpgmembers@gmail.com or Gabby Headrick, Student Committee Chair, at phcnpgstudents@gmail.com.

We thought we could use information from the Academy Update speech, or, of course, anything else you would like to talk about. There is time for about 3-4 PPT slides.

Could you please let us know in the next day or so if there are specific area(s) you would like to cover or points you'd like to be sure to make to the HOD, and we will draft the presentation and send it to you. We'd be happy to discuss it by phone if you prefer, any time that is good for you.

Hi Donna:

I hope this finds you well. The upcoming HOD virtual spring meeting is Saturday, April 21. The House Leadership Team is hoping, if your schedule allows, that you could give about a five minute overview during the meeting (live via WebEx) as a way to build excitement and a quick “here is the top thing happening right now”. We are still working on the timing but it is looking like you would speak at about 12:15 pm CT after Dianne kicks off the meeting. Please let me know if you are available.

In addition, we’ve been working with our Marketing team create a visually pleasing document with top updates that delegates can easily share with members. I’ve been communicating with the Strategic Communications team as well, and they are happy to help draft the content for your review. While we recognize this is a condensed version of what is being presented by the BOD members at the various meetings, delegates have requested the information in this way so they can share it in their communications with constituents.

Please let me know your thoughts and I am happy to set up a call and discuss further.

Hi, Donna: Anna Shlachter told us she has spoken with you about speaking to the HOD's virtual spring meeting. We'll be glad to help put together your 5-minute presentation Anna has requested. We thought we could use information from the Academy Update speech, or, of course, anything else you would like to talk about. There is time for about 3-4 PPT slides.

Could you please let us know in the next day or so if there are specific area(s) you would like to cover or points you'd like to be sure to make to the HOD, and we will draft the presentation and send it to you. We'd be happy to discuss it by phone if you prefer, any time that is good for you.

Thank you very much!

Hi Donna:

I hope this finds you well. The upcoming HOD virtual spring meeting is Saturday, April 21. The House Leadership Team is hoping, if your schedule allows, that you could give about a five minute overview during the meeting (live via WebEx) as a way to build excitement and a quick “here is the top thing happening right now”. We are still working on the timing but it is looking like you would speak at about 12:15 pm CT after Dianne kicks off the meeting. Please let me know if you are available.

In addition, we’ve been working with our Marketing team create a visually pleasing document with top updates that delegates can easily share with members. I’ve been communicating with the Strategic Communications team as well, and they are happy to help draft the content for your review. While we recognize this is a condensed version of what is being presented by the BOD members at the various meetings, delegates have requested the information in this way so they can share it in their communications with constituents.

Please let me know your thoughts and I am happy to set up a call and discuss further.

Dear Fellow NDEP Member,

We as dietetics educators are constantly striving to balance professional trends and changes within our healthcare system with accreditation standards and the demands of our respective colleges and universities. The 2017 standards emphasize critical thinking and communication skills and interprofessional practice, which necessitates a closer look at our curriculum ideological views and pedagogical techniques. I am requesting your participation in an online survey. Your responses will provide valuable insights into how dietetics educators view these relevant aspects of teaching and learning. In order to participate, you must meet the following criteria: be currently employed part- or full-time as an Adjunct/Instructor/Lecturer; Assistant professor; Associate professor; or Professor in a Coordinated Program in Dietetics (CPD) or an undergraduate and/or graduate Didactic Program in Dietetics (DPD).

After reading the informed consent, you may either proceed with the survey or exit the browser. The estimated time for survey completion is 20 minutes. Participation is completely voluntary; you may decline to participate at any point during the survey by simply exiting the browser. Your responses will be completely anonymous. You have the opportunity to provide your contact information for a follow-up interview and to be enrolled in a random drawing for (2) twenty-five dollar gift cards to Amazon. If you elect to provide your contact information, this will be recorded separately and not be linked in any way to the survey data to protect anonymity. There are no known risks of participation.

You may click on the survey link below to begin:

Anna, I can make it work out. I don't get in until 12:30 am the night before as I will be returning from my Idaho Affiliate meeting. I have company at my house for an annual golf tournament that my husband and family play in so I was not planning on attending the HOD meeting. I am missing two days of the tournament to go to Idaho and it is a very sacred weekend at my house. If you can get Doris and her team to draft some comments for me, I will stay home and do the interview and then leave to go to the golf course for lunch after I speak. Let me know if that will work?

Just a quick note to share some news. Dr. Mir from the University of Puerto Rico contacted the Membership Team earlier this week with a question. During our interaction she commented on the President's Page in the March 2018 issue of the Journal. Dr. Mir and her students were touched that you mentioned them in the article and they appreciated the hospitality and kindness shown to them at FNCE in Chicago. She hopes to attend FNCE in Washington DC along with another group of students.

I thought her kind words might be a good start to the weekend.

Researchers examine effect of calorie restriction on metabolism

A study in Cell Metabolism revealed that nonobese adults who achieved about 15% calorie restriction over two years had an average weight loss of 8.7 kg, compared with the control group who gained 1.8 kg. Researchers analyzed 44 adults and also found that calorie restriction resulted in lower than expected energy expenditure and a significant reduction in the production of reactive oxygen species and in thyroid axis activity.

RDN: Eating environment is important to child development

A child's eating environment, including mealtime and sleep schedules, can affect physical, cognitive and emotional development, said registered dietitian nutritionist Elisa Ross. More US infants have low birth weight, CDC reports

The rate of US singleton babies with low birth weight rose from 6.24% in 2014 to 6.34% in 2015 and 6.44% in 2016, following a steady decline between 2006 and 2014, due to higher rates of infants with moderately low birth weight from 2014 to 2016, according to a CDC study in the agency's National Center for Health Statistics Data Brief. Researchers also found that low and moderately low birth weight prevalence increased across all races from 2014 to 2016, and blacks had a more than two times higher low birth weight rate between 2006 and 2016, compared with whites.

Study links higher exercise levels to lower risk of death

A study linked higher levels of exercise with a reduced risk of death, and it did not matter how long people exercised at a given time, researchers reported in the Journal of the American Heart Association. People who appeared to benefit most got from 7.5 to 12.5 hours of moderate exercise weekly.

Senate Passes Omnibus Bill Which Includes Nutrition and Health Program Funding Increases, Legislation Heads to President's Desk

On March 23, the U.S. Senate passed the $1.3 trillion spending bill that funds the federal government through September 30. The 2018 federal omnibus appropriations bill would increase funding for the U.S. Departments of Health and Human Services and Agriculture where many nutrition and health programs are administered.

The president was expected to sign the bill to avoid a government shutdown beginning on March 24, but the morning of March 23 President Trump tweeted that he is considering a veto of the legislation.

Hi Amy:

I totally agree that we don't need it. (I even questioned why it was needed in the DIFM but that's me.)

I am very much in favor of a diversity liaison - having been involved with the Diversity Committee from day 1 - and at that time, even had to defend having it at the HOD. A key delegate made a motion to do away with it.

Thank you for all you do for us. And if you need to appoint someone as the liaison, do think of me. I won't disappoint you.

Blessings,
Bea

Hello:

The reason I asked/questioned the Diversity Committee of the DIFM MIG is that we have a Diversity Committee already. I was involved with its formation years back.

My interest is that as MIGs, do we still need a subgroup as a Diversity Committee? DIFM as such?

But CADN, FADAN, NOMIN, AIND, etc. are already diverse in their membership and agenda as well as their interests. Surely, a Diversity Committee say in FADAN would be members who are not Filipino in heritage, birth, education, etc?

Would it not be better to have a member of the Diversity Committee know what's going on in the MIGs?

I am just questioning the need...

Thanks for listening.

1985. Nutrition and Health Program Funding Increases in Omnibus Bill Passed by U.S. House of Representatives

Nutrition and Health Program Funding Increases in Omnibus Bill Passed by U.S. House of Representatives

On March 22, the U.S. House of Representatives passed the 2018 federal omnibus appropriations bill which would increase funding for the U.S. Departments of Health and Human Services and Agriculture where many nutrition and health programs are administered. The Senate is expected to vote on the bill March 23. Congress must pass a spending bill by March 23 to avert a government shutdown.

Investments in public health infrastructure and nutrition programs are critical to Americans' health and well-being and have been the target of the Academy's advocacy efforts with Congress. The Academy's priorities fared well in the year-end spending bill and the Academy was pleased to see many nutrition and health programs receive increases in funding. The bill would provide $88.1 billion for HHS and $23.2 billion in discretionary funding for USDA.

These increases were possible in large part because of the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2018, an act which Congress passed in February to increase the federal caps on discretionary spending.

The Academy applauds Congress for investing in the critical programs and services that provide access to food and nutrition services, and will continue to advocate for nutrition and public health programs where registered dietitian nutritionists are contributing to the improved health people across the nation.

The Policy Initiatives and Advocacy Team will share an update when it passes the Senate. The Academy thanks you for your advocacy efforts in supporting funding for nutrition and health programs. Meeting with your members of Congress on Capitol Hill and in the district throughout the year and sharing how important these programs are to the people you serve has demonstrated to Congress the value of these investments.

Key Takeaways

- For our public health, diabetes and SCAN members, critical public health and wellness initiatives that work to address diseases such as heart disease, stroke and diabetes would see an increase in allocations from the Center for Disease Control and Prevention.

- For our nutrition educators, there would be an increase in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program Education funding.
- For our members working with older adults, congregate and home delivered meals would have an increase in funding.
- For our school meals directors, there would be an increase in funding for the purchase of food service equipment.
- For our researchers, the National Institute of Health and the National Institute of Food and Agriculture and Agricultural Research Service each would receive increased funding.

To see more key provisions for nutrition services and programs in the bill, please visit the News Center.

Hi, Nancy,

We appreciate you reaching out to follow up on the School Foodservice Equipment Modernization video. The Strategic Communications team, along with the D.C. team, have been working behind the scenes discussing how we can increase the ROI on this great project and use edited clips for various Academy channels and upcoming events.

At this time, we are working internally to create new engagement with this important piece. Feel free to reach out to me if you have more specific questions.

We look forward to seeing you in May for a great weekend of training!

Best,

mackenzie

Hello all,

I have not received an update on the status of the revision for the School Food Service Equipment Modernization video used at a Congressional briefing on 12/13/17. If the revision has not occurred at this point in time, I am offering the following suggestion.

The Voice Over is my voice in the only room available at that on-site school visit December 5th just days before the video was to be shown at the briefing.

I will be in Chicago for Spokesperson training May 4-6. If desired, I would be more than willing to redo the Voice Over in a sound proof room in May to help complete this project.

Please let me know if you would like my assistance.

Sincerely,

Hi Nancy,

Thank you for your feedback. To clarify, the Strategic Communications team only received the link to the video rough cut this morning and we turned around comments as quickly as we could.

Regarding my feedback in particular, I want you first to know that I greatly appreciate the hard work that goes into video production and I would not devalue the effort on this particular project. However, when it comes to the objective evaluation of media that represents the Academy, our top priority is the optimal reflection of the organization. I am truly sorry that you are offended as that is not my intent, but all elements of Academy videos must be up to professional standards and I would be remiss if I did not flag appropriately.

Thank you, Jeanne, for ensuring the edits are made. Let me know if there is anything you or the video editor would like to talk through.

Hello all,

I am disappointed to just open and see these comments from Strategic Communications.

Liz, I did the VO and I am sorry you feel it is amateurish. The hired video team and I did the best job we could do in a limited school sound environment on a one day shoot with little time.

The Illinois based Videographer and I were put in a position to work very late into the nights, and this past weekend to produce a video in the past 5 days. There were plenty of obstacles in this project caused by numerous delays and lack of timely communication. If desired, I can address your other comments in an evaluation of this project.

This is not the final video, but unfortunately your edits, while much appreciated and noteworthy, come in very late in the process. This video was to be used tomorrow morning.

At this point, I think the Academy Leadership should determine the best course of action for its use tomorrow; and then please let me know.

Sincerely,

Hi, Nancy,

We appreciate you reaching out to follow up on the School Foodservice Equipment Modernization video. The Strategic Communications team, along with the D.C. team, have been working behind the scenes discussing how we can increase the ROI on this great project and use edited clips for various Academy channels and upcoming events.

At this time, we are working internally to create new engagement with this important piece. Feel free to reach out to me if you have more specific questions.

We look forward to seeing you in May for a great weekend of training!

Best,

mackenzie

Hello all,

I have not received an update on the status of the revision for the School Food Service Equipment Modernization video used at a Congressional briefing on 12/13/17. If the revision has not occurred at this point in time, I am offering the following suggestion.

The Voice Over is my voice in the only room available at that on-site school visit December 5th just days before the video was to be shown at the briefing.

I will be in Chicago for Spokesperson training May 4-6. If desired, I would be more than willing to redo the Voice Over in a sound proof room in May to help complete this project.

Please let me know if you would like my assistance.

Sincerely,

Hi Nancy,

Thank you for your feedback. To clarify, the Strategic Communications team only received the link to the video rough cut this morning and we turned around comments as quickly as we could.

Regarding my feedback in particular, I want you first to know that I greatly appreciate the hard work that goes into video production and I would not devalue the effort on this particular project. However, when it comes to the objective evaluation of media that represents the Academy, our top priority is the optimal reflection of the organization. I am truly sorry that you are offended as that is not my intent, but all elements of Academy videos must be up to professional standards and I would be remiss if I did not flag appropriately.

Thank you, Jeanne, for ensuring the edits are made. Let me know if there is anything you or the video editor would like to talk through.

Hello all,

I am disappointed to just open and see these comments from Strategic Communications.

Liz, I did the VO and I am sorry you feel it is amateurish. The hired video team and I did the best job we could do in a limited school sound environment on a one day shoot with little time.

The Illinois based Videographer and I were put in a position to work very late into the nights, and this past weekend to produce a video in the past 5 days. There were plenty of obstacles in this project caused by numerous delays and lack of timely communication. If desired, I can address your other comments in an evaluation of this project.

This is not the final video, but unfortunately your edits, while much appreciated and noteworthy, come in very late in the process. This video was to be used tomorrow morning.

At this point, I think the Academy Leadership should determine the best course of action for it's use tomorrow; and then please let me know.

Sincerely,

- Donna's chyron: The organization name is Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics (never &)

Dear Donna,

You "spoke" with my colleague Evilee Ebb, a few weeks ago, and referred her to Mary Beth Whalen, who thought it made most sense if you and I spoke. As the Founder of ChopChop Family, I would love to introduce you to our programs as I believe our organizations, specifically eatright, are well aligned.

ChopChop Family is the not-for-profit publisher of three ad-free publications. Our mission is to inspire and teach families to cook and eat real food together, and through that lens, teach life skills. Published in English and Spanish, our magazines offer practical cooking advice, ethnically diverse recipes, and cost-saving tips, as well as games and puzzles. Each year, over three million families nationwide receive ChopChop, Sprout, and Seasoned.

- ChopChop: The Fun Cooking Magazine for Families is endorsed by the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP), and used by schools, SNAP-Ed, health centers, hospitals, Indian reservations and youth organizations nationwide. We also won the James Beard Publication of the Year and four Parents' Choice awards.
- ChopChop Sprout focuses on the nutritional needs of low-income pregnant and postpartum women and their children who participate in WIC. It is endorsed by the National WIC Association (NWA).
- Seasoned: Real Food for Healthy Living is used by senior centers, Area Agencies on Aging (AAA), Councils on Aging (COA), AARP state offices, and SNAP-Ed programs. It is not yet available in Spanish.

I would love to introduce you to ChopChop and to explore ways we might work together. Would you be available in the next two weeks for a 15 minute call?

Thank you kindly for your consideration! I look forward to talking!

Warmly, Sally

URGENT!! Request for Comments: Input for Initial Stage of 2020-2025 DGA Process

The USDA and HHS recently announced a change to the Dietary Guidelines for Americans (DGA) process. The agencies indicated topics and questions newly grouped by life stage. Please review this Excel spreadsheet (or in PDF Format) to see some of the initial topics and questions posed by the USDA and HHS. You can also check out the USDA's website for additional information.

In order to gain information, the Academy is seeking answers to the following questions:

1. Whether the topics chosen are appropriate and why they should or should not be included;
2. Whether the scientific questions for each topic are appropriate and should be included;
3. Whether there are any additional scientific questions for any of the topics that should be included; and
4. Whether any additional new topics should be included and why, and if so, what scientific questions should be included for that topic.

There is a very short turn around for this informationinput - please return all comments to Judy Klavens-Giunta at ( klavensgi@gmail.com) NO LATER THAN Sunday, March 25th at 10 am EST.

Request for Comments: Evaluation of Chronic Disease Self-Management Programs in US-Affiliated Pacific Islands

The CDC plans to evaluate the first ever implementation of Stanford University's Chronic Disease

Self-Management Program (CDSMP) in the US Affiliated Pacific Islands (USAPIs) to understand how CDSMP is being implemented, barriers and facilitators to implementation, to monitor fidelity/adaptations to the curriculum, and to understand the self-reported effects of the program on program participants. There is a lack of evidence-based chronic disease prevention and management programs in the USAPIs. The data collected for this evaluation will help the CDC assess the effect of CDSMP on health outcomes in the USAPIs and to understand whether the CDSMP curriculum needs to be adapted to meet the cultural needs of the USAPIs and if it is feasible to expand the CDSMP program in the USAPIs.

Information about The CDSMP can be found here. It includes self management programs for diabetes, HIV, etc.

Questions/Comments Requested:

1. Evaluate whether the proposed collection of information is necessary and has practical utility for the proper performance of the functions of the agency;
2. Evaluate the accuracy of the agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection and validity of methodology of information;
3. Enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and
4. Minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, using various mechanical and technology based techniques
5. Assess information collection costs.

International Malnutrition Member Interest Group (MIG):

At FNCE this past year, there were several people who were interested in international malnutrition, but didn't know quite how to get involved. A handful of RDs currently working in the international arena met up at one point and talked about their experiences of going at it alone, and each felt like they were needing to fend for themselves in the international nutrition realm. They decided to band together and get a group in the works to help be a 'landing place' for those who are already working specifically to fight malnutrition in developing countries, as well as those who would like to get into this field but have no idea how to.

There have been some email talks over the past few months about starting a Member Interest Group (MIG) about this topic. If you are interested in joining this movement, they would love to have you join and get you in on the email loop with the MIG formation. If you are interested, please send an email to Jen Brewer at jenb@mycookkitchen.com and she will provide you with more details.

Malnutrition Quality Improvement Initiative (MQii):

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics and Avalere Health are enrolling participants for the 2018 MQii Learning Collaborative, and invite you to join us in advancing malnutrition care across our nation. This collaborative brings together leading hospitals and health systems across the U.S. to support acceleration and dissemination of malnutrition best practices for hospitalized patients. Learning Collaborative participants undertake a data-driven, patient-centered, malnutrition quality improvement project at their respective hospitals using a best practices Toolkit, and can use clinically meaningful measures to track and monitor improvement.

If you are interested in learning more about how your organization can participate in the MQii Learning Collaborative, please email: MalnutritionQuality@avalere.com

PHCNPG Student Mentor Program:

PHCNPG's Mentoring Program seeks to connect members with the aim to promote growth in specialty practice areas, general career and personal growth. We are currently in need of more mentors to meet the demand of mentees!

We are looking for mentors from a wide variety of backgrounds to mentor students and other young professionals. If interested, please complete the online application.

The Mentor Program follows the same timeline as the DPG membership year and begins and ends in June each year. At the end of your term (June) you will have the option to continue your mentor/mentee relationship through the next membership year. If you have questions or feedback please email Kayla Fitzgerald, Membership Committee Chair, at phcnpgmembers@gmail.com or Gabby Headrick, Student Committee Chair, at phcnpgstudents@gmail.com.

Dear Food Forum Members:

We are in the initial planning stages for the Food Forum's August 1-2, 2018 public workshop tentatively titled "Sustainable Diets, Food, and Nutrition."

The workshop will review the current and emerging knowledge on the concept of sustainable diets within the field of food and nutrition. Broadly, the workshop agenda will explore sustainable diets and relevant impacts for cross-sector partnerships, policy, and research. Workshop presenters may also discuss how sustainable diets could impact dietary patterns, the food system, and population and public health. The workshop could also address research gaps, advances in knowledge, and innovation.

The planning committee for the workshop will include ~6-8 individuals (Food Forum members and non-members) with expertise in:

- dietetics/nutrition science
- food and nutrition policy
- sustainability and food systems
- agriculture and food production
- epidemiology/population health
- public health

At this time, we would like to solicit nominations for individuals to serve on this workshop planning committee. Please send me the names and affiliations of individuals with relevant expertise no later than next Tuesday, March 27.

Please feel free to share this with your colleagues.

Hello:

The reason I asked/questioned the Diversity Committee of the DIFM MIG is that we have a Diversity Committee already. I was involved with its formation years back.

My interest is that as MIGs, do we still need a subgroup as a Diversity Committee? DIFM as such?

But CADN, FADAN, NOMIN, AIND, etc. are already diverse in their membership and agenda as well as their interests. Surely, a Diversity Committee say in FADAN would be members who are not Filipino in heritage, birth, education, etc?

Would it not be better to have a member of the Diversity Committee know what's going on in the MIGs?

I am just questioning the need...

Thanks for listening.

Hi All-

Thank you for the great questions!

Yes, the Academy has a Diversity Committee. The Diversity Committee has been an integral part of many diversity initiatives including the development of the Academy's Diversity Strategic Plan and works on a variety of programs to enhance the diversity of the Academy. It is my understanding that DIFM has a Diversity Committee of their own as well, which helps that group pursue their diversity initiatives. This is separate from the Academy's Diversity Committee.

Hi Amy:

I attended the webinar just now. Mary Purdy, I could hear well and understood but the other one, just barely.

Any chance of getting the information from the chair of the diversity group in the DPG? Also, why have a diversity group in the DIFM MIG? Who are in it?

Don't we have a Diversity Committee anymore?

We used to have a Diversity Committee in the Academy. If it's gone, since when?

Reason, I am asking is that any DPG or MIG can have a Diversity Committee?

And the then diversity committee used to include many non-white, non-female members. I remember it starting the year Susan Finn was Prez elect.

And the first Diversity Committee had all non-white members and one male RD. When I questioned it, Sue Finn added a white female to the committee.

Again, reason I am asking is if the DIFM can have a Diversity Committee, then why not the others? As for the MIGs, many are made up of diverse members.

I believe in togetherness and in the past, we may very well need it. Now, with the MIGs, perhaps not?

Thanks,
Bea

Hi Amy:

I attended the webinar just now. Mary Purdy, I could hear well and understood but the other one, just barely.

Any chance of getting the information from the chair of the diversity group in the DPG? Also, why have a diversity group in the DIFM MIG? Who are in it?

Don't we have a Diversity Committee anymore?

We used to have a Diversity Committee in the Academy. If it's gone, since when?

Reason, I am asking is that any DPG or MIG can have a Diversity Committee?

And the then diversity committee used to include many non-white, non-female members. I remember it starting the year Susan Finn was Prez elect.

And the first Diversity Committee had all non-white members and one male RD. When I questioned it, Sue Finn added a white female to the committee.

Again, reason I am asking is if the DIFM can have a Diversity Committee, then why not the others? As for the MIGs, many are made up of diverse members.

I believe in togetherness and in the past, we may very well need it. Now, with the MIGs, perhaps not?

Thanks,
Bea

Donna - I also want you to know I am sharing your article with Director Mark Killian (Department of Agriculture, State of Arizona) as well as the top national leaders from Farm Bureau and other Ag-related organizations Ashlee and I met during our attendance at the December 2017 Arizona Agribusiness Roundtable. Keep you posted!

I apologize for my delay! Thanks for the introduction Glenna and thank you, Donna, for connecting me with Emily. I second Glenna's compliment on your recent article in the February edition of the Journal.

I heard you speak at both the National Dairy Council meeting in Arizona last year and again at our AZAND annual meeting and I was so inspired by your school nutrition programs which integrate local produce. I frequently refer to your work when working with my interns and students. There is actually a current NDEP thread in which DI Directors have also shared some interesting rotations they do in their programs- this is quite timely!

I will follow up with Emily and if it is okay with you, I may be reaching out to you for some additional insight down the line.

Dear President Martin (Donna);

Your February 2018 article in the Journal of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, President's Page - "Academy Members and Agriculture: A Winning Combination" was excellent! A very important topic ... as we continue to bridge between the profession of nutrition and the field of agriculture/ food production.

In December 2017, Ashlee Linares-Gaffer, MS, RDN (University of Arizona Assistant Professor of Practice, ISPP Dietetic Internship Director) and I were invited to attend the Arizona Agribusiness Roundtable. Director Mark Killian of the Arizona Department of Agriculture talked with us regarding the importance of including Ag-related classes/experiences in our DPD/ISPP programs so a stronger bond and greater communication between agriculture and nutrition could be enhanced. Ashlee is in a strategic role with UofA to help facilitate this, but would be glad to know other educators/DPD directors/ISPP Internship Directors, who might be taking steps in this director. With your recent journal article, I thought you could help.

So let me introduce Ashlee Linares-Gaffer, MS, RDN to you, with the hopes the two of you can discuss potential networking opportunities and ag-related resources in our profession.

Jeanne, Thanks so much for including these facts and figures for my presentation in Arizona. As is so typical of these presentations they did want me to do a powerpoint and a formal presentation. Thank heavens this one was easy for me to get together. I am including it in this email. I used some of your information, but will take the rest of the information you provided to be used in the question and answer part. Looking forward to seeing you there. I will only be there Tuesday night and leave at lunchtime to head to Pennsylvania for my next state affiliate talk.

If you can take a look and let me know if there are addition items you would like to include or points that need to be clarified. I believe that you said that you don't need slides, but if you do need them let me know. If you want us to dig a little deeper on the child nutrition programs we can do that as well. But hopefully these facts coupled with your direct knowledge and experience will serve you well!

ON THE PULSE OF PUBLIC POLICY

House Delays Release of Farm Bill

The House Agriculture Committee rescheduled the release of its version of the 2018 farm bill. After trying to come to an agreement, ranking member Collin Peterson (Minn.) paused negotiations with chairman Mike Conaway (Texas) over the process and possible legislative proposals that would make changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. This snag is likely to push the release of the text until after Congress returns from its upcoming two-week recess. Academy members are urged to encourage Congress to support important nutrition programs in the farm bill that contribute to everyone's health, especially people who are most susceptible to food insecurity.

Thanks to Members: Congressional Support for TROA Gains Momentum

The Treat and Reduce Obesity Act (S. 830/H.R. 1953) continues to gain support in Congress, including three new cosponsors in the past week, thanks to Academy members who participated in the February 27 advocacy day and who followed up with members of Congress. These advocacy efforts continue to highlight the need for improved patient access to - and coverage of - obesity treatment services. Please ask your members of Congress to support passage of TROA.

Academy Works to Improve Access to Continuous Glucose Monitors

Thanks to the advocacy efforts of the Diabetes Care and Education dietetic practice group, the Academy is collaborating with our partners in the Diabetes Advocacy Alliance to address Medicare beneficiaries' barriers to accessing continuous glucose monitors. Betty Krauss, RDN, CDE, will represent the Academy on a new task force that will provide suggestions to the Congressional Diabetes Caucus on legislative and regulatory solutions.

House Leaders Launch Bipartisan Health Care Innovation Caucus

A new bipartisan Health Care Innovation Caucus in the House of Representatives plans to advance a legislative agenda that encourages innovative policy ideas to improve the quality of care and lower costs for consumers. The caucus is led by Reps. Ami Bera, (Calif.), Mike Kelly (Pa.), Ron Kind (Wisc.) and Markwayne Mullin (Okla.). The Academy and our members will provide policy suggestions to improve access to evidence-based nutrition that improve the health care system.

New Report: County Health Rankings

The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation has released its 2018 County Health Rankings. This year's report shows an increase in babies born at low birth weights and highlights the impact of health disparities and social determinants of health. The rankings are determined from more than 30 factors, including access to nutrition and physical activity.

Leaders of the PAC

Members' generous contributions to the Academy's political action committee ANDPAC make it possible for the Academy to lead conversations on health and nutrition policy on Capitol Hill. Recently the Policy Initiatives and Advocacy Team and state affiliate public policy leaders met with U.S. Sens. Ben Cardin (Md.) and Rob Portman (Ohio), and Reps. Don Beyer (Va.), Earl Blumenauer (Ore.), Brett Guthrie (Ky.), Frank Lucas (Okla.), Roger Marshall (Kan.) and Nancy Pelosi (Calif.). Congressional support continues to grow for the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act and Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act; negotiations are moving forward on the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and the SNAP-Ed program in the farm bill. The impact of immigration on food systems and federal-level feeding assistance programs is another hot topic the Academy continues to discuss and closely monitor with members of Congress.

Join Us - Farm Bill Advocacy Day, April 24

Your participation is needed! Join the Academy on April 24 for an advocacy day which will focus on nutrition education and nutrition research in the farm bill. The Academy is partnering with the American Society for Nutrition, the Society for Nutrition Education and Behavior, the Food Trust, and the Laurie M. Tisch Center for Food, Education & Policy, Teachers College Columbia University for the farm bill advocacy day.

Step 1: Register today for the advocacy day in Washington, D.C. The event is free and open to all members and the public.

Step 2: Register for the Advocacy for Nutrition Education and Research in the Farm Bill Webinar on April 13 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time) to prepare for the advocacy day.

If you cannot join us on Capitol Hill, we will share opportunities to engage in advocacy efforts in your own backyard during the webinar. Contact Tenášha Ebrahimkhel for more information.

Mark Your Calendar for the Next Farm Bill Monthly Call, March 27

On March 27 at 2 p.m. (Eastern Time), the PIA staff is hosting a call to discuss the latest news from Capitol Hill and share how you can get involved with our advocacy efforts. If you have not already done so, RSVP to Nicole Burda, director, legislative and government affairs, if you would like to join the monthly calls and stay informed.

Leader of the PAC

Members' generous contributions to ANDPAC, the Academy's political action committee, make it possible for the Academy to lead conversations on health and nutrition policy on Capitol Hill. The Policy Initiatives and Advocacy Team and state affiliate public policy leaders recently met face-to-face with U.S. Senators Ben Cardin (Md.) and Rob Portman (Ohio), and House of Representatives Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi (Calif.) and Reps. Roger Marshall (Kan.), Earl Blumenauer (Ore.), Don Beyer (Va.), Brett Guthrie (Ky.) and Frank Lucas (Okla.). Support for the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act and Preventing Diabetes in Medicare Act continues to grow and negotiations around the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and the SNAP-Ed program in the farm bill are moving forward. The impact of immigration on food systems and federal-level feeding assistance programs is another hot topic the Academy is continuing to discuss and closely monitor with members of Congress.

National Nutrition Month "Go Further with Food" Aligns with Farm Bill Policy Initiatives

Every five years, Congress considers a new farm bill, which is the primary legislation that authorizes agriculture and food policy in the United States. The farm bill guides the U.S. and global food supply and improves food security for millions of people, and it is an opportunity for the federal government to cut food waste across the supply chain and in consumers' homes. The Food Date Labeling Act, which was introduced as a standalone bill and could be included in the farm bill, would establish a uniform national system for date labeling and simplify regulatory compliance, and as a result reduce consumer confusion and cut food waste across the supply chain and in consumers' homes. The Academy's farm bill recommendations include empowering consumers to choose healthful foods and reduce food waste and supporting producers and retailers to meet the demand to create a healthful and safe food system and reduce food waste.

Check out Further with Food's resource center and learn more about the opportunities to reduce food waste in the 2018 farm bill.

March Madness with Food Safety

Just like in basketball, the best defense against foodborne illness is a good offense. No matter where you are watching basketball games this month, practice these food safety rules and keep the fouls on the court. No matter who you picked for your tournament bracket, the Partnership for Food Safety Education thinks Clean, Separate, Cook and Chill make an unstoppable team! Join the Partnership for a webinar tomorrow, March 21, to learn about the long-term health effects of foodborne illness.

Also check out the FDA's food safety tips for your March Madness Parties.

Promoting Healthy Weight 2.0 Colloquium Series, March 23

Join the University of Tennessee for the Promoting Healthy Weight colloquium in Knoxville or by webinar on March 23. This is the ninth colloquium of the biannual Promoting Healthy Weight 2.0 series. The Spring 2018 colloquium will focus on "Breaking Down Silos through Interprofessional Collaborations." Continuing education credits have been approved for Registered Dietitians, Certified Health Education Specialists, and Registered Nurses. Learn more about the colloquium here and register by March 20.

News from the Hill and Beyond

U.S. House of Representatives Delays Release of Farm Bill

The U.S. House of Representatives Agriculture Committee was expected to release their version of the farm bill last week and a markup of the bill had been tentatively scheduled for March 20. After trying to come to an agreement, House Agriculture Ranking Member Collin Peterson has paused negotiations with Chairman Mike Conaway out of concern with both the process and possible legislative proposals that would make changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. This snag in the process is likely to push the release of the text until after Congress returns from their upcoming two-week recess.

We encourage Academy members to take action and urge Congress to support the important nutrition programs in the farm bill that contribute to the health of all, especially those most susceptible to experiencing food insecurity.

Congress Edging Close to Deadline for Government Funding

While we expected to see the Fiscal Year 2018 omnibus text released by the early morning of March 20, the text has been delayed as Congressional leaders resolve outstanding policy issues. As a reminder, Congress must pass a bill to fund the government after the current continuing resolution runs out at midnight on March 23. The Academy will update our News Center once the text is released.

Action Alerts

Action Required: Farm Bill and Treat and Reduce Obesity Act

There are two action alerts, described in detail below, that require members' participation. It is the final week to take action on the TROA Action Alert. There's still time to make your voice heard:

- Farm Bill: Congress is currently working on the 2018 farm bill, which is the primary legislation that authorizes many of our nation's food and nutrition programs. The farm bill includes nutrition assistance programs that help people access nutritious food; nutrition education programs that empower people to make lasting, healthy choices; and nutrition research that addresses the nutrition-related health concerns we face as a nation. We are asking Academy members to take action and urge Congress to support the important nutrition programs in the farm bill that contribute to the health of all, especially those most susceptible to experiencing insecurity. Learn more about the Academy's farm bill priorities here.
- Treat and Reduce Obesity Act, H.R. 1953/S.830: According to IHS Markit's whitepaper, a newly validated microsimulation model predicts that increasing Medicare beneficiaries' utilization of these clinically effective obesity treatments could save Medicare $19 to $21 billion over the next 10 years. Also, the CDC has estimated that one-third of U.S. adults have obesity. These stunning statistics are another reminder of the importance of intervention and counseling from RDNs. There are several ways you can get involved. Congress will be going into recess at the end of the month. But before they go, the Academy encourages you to contact your Senators and Representative today and ask them to support the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act, a bill which will help address the obesity epidemic by providing better treatment options from health professional such as RDNs.

Take Action!

(PPCs/PALs, Please Post this Message to Your Communication Channels)

Important Congressional Issues Require Your Action!

- As a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, please urge your policymakers to support legislation that protects and values nutrition programs in the farm bill and nutrition services in areas of prevention and treatment, including treatment and reduction of obesity and diabetes prevention. It is important for members of Congress to hear from their constituency. As vital decisions are made regarding health care in the upcoming weeks, the voice of every member is critical. Take action today!

Academy Member Raises Awareness of SNAP in Baltimore Sun Op-ed

The Baltimore Sun published an op-ed written by Academy Member Caroline Meehen, RDN on how SNAP benefits are vital to low-income communities. Great job Caroline for highlighting the importance of these programs in the farm bill!

WAND's Successful Advocacy Day

The Wisconsin Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics joined forces with the School Nutrition Association of Wisconsin at the state capitol for a legislative advocacy day on March 7. The full-day event allowed members to network with other industry professionals and learn about advocacy and lobbying. State Senator Lena Taylor and Representative Joan Ballweg welcomed the group to the Capitol. During the meetings, members talked about their profession as well as current state legislative issues that included lobbying in support of RDN certification, the Dietitians Affiliated Credentialing Board and School Breakfast Program funding. The group met with 71 legislative offices, over half the legislature!

CAND's PPW Makes Impact on California State Capitol

With about 200 members in attendance, the California Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Public Policy Workshop made quite an impression in the California State Capitol in Sacramento on March 12. The members heard a presentation on how to establish relationships with legislators and staff by Gustavo Medina, the former legislative director for Assembly Member Susan Eggman and the current assistant director of government relations with one of California's largest health care unions, the Service Employees International Union – United Healthcare West. CAND presented its Legislator of the Year Award to Senator Michael McQuire for his work on expanding access to school meals for underserved children. CAND's top-notch lobbyists, Jim Gross and Missy Johnson, updated the group on health care bills in California and the status of the single-payer health care bill.

One highlights of the day was the introduction of SCR 104, a resolution by State Senator Robert Hertzberg declaring March as National Nutrition Month. Three California RDNs were present on the Senate Floor for the introduction of the bill.

For the first time, the policy workshop was preceded by a farm tour sponsored by CAND and the California Dairy Council.

If you have been making strides in your community (attending ANDPAC events, meeting with policy makers, etc.) – let us spread the word! Send photos and a quick write-up about your recent policy accomplishments to Tenášha Ebrahimkhel. We would love to share your story and inspire others.

AIDS United Advocacy Day, March 26-27

AIDS United is celebrating its 25th anniversary of AIDSWatch, an advocacy day that brings together hundreds of people living with HIV and their allies to Capitol Hill to educate members of Congress about the important issues at stake for people living with HIV/AIDS. AIDSWatch is implemented as a partnership between AIDS United, the Treatment Access Expansion Project and the US People Living With HIV Caucus. Join other HIV advocates at AIDSWatch to urge Congress to create policies and programs that ensure that HIV prevention, care, treatment and support services are widely available.

AIDSWatch will be held on March 26 and 27 in Washington D.C. Register to attend AIDSWatch today. Contact Stefanie Rinehart for additional information.

Workshop on Diseases with Special Nutritional Requirements

Attached are a few facts and figures that might help you with the NFVA panel discussion on April 4th. If you can take a look and let me know if there are addition items you would like to include or points that need to be clarified. I believe that you said that you don't need slides, but if you do need them let me know. If you want us to dig a little deeper on the child nutrition programs we can do that as well. But hopefully these facts coupled with your direct knowledge and experience will serve you well!

Good afternoon,

It's hard to believe that for many of you as Committee Chairs, you are entering the "home stretch." Thank you to everyone for responding to the survey to help us identify the date/time and potential topics for discussion for the Spring Committee Chairs Forum. Based on your responses, the final Committee Chairs Forum, hosted by Academy President Donna Martin and Speaker of the House of Delegates Dianne Polly, will be held on Monday, April 30, 12:00 pm - 1:00 pm Central Time. An Outlook calendar invitation will be sent in the coming days to reserve the space on your calendar. The agenda for the forum will be distributed approximately 1 week in advance of the event. For those of you unable to join the live event, notes from the forum will be shared afterwards. If you have any questions, please let me know.

Thanks for sharing your time and passion with the Academy!

Dear Food Forum Members:

We are in the initial planning stages for the Food Forum's August 1-2, 2018 public workshop tentatively titled "Sustainable Diets, Food, and Nutrition."

The workshop will review the current and emerging knowledge on the concept of sustainable diets within the field of food and nutrition. Broadly, the workshop agenda will explore sustainable diets and relevant impacts for cross-sector partnerships, policy, and research. Workshop presenters may also discuss how sustainable diets could impact dietary patterns, the food system, and population and public health. The workshop could also address research gaps, advances in knowledge, and innovation.

The planning committee for the workshop will include ~6-8 individuals (Food Forum members and non-members) with expertise in:

- dietetics/nutrition science
- food and nutrition policy
- sustainability and food systems

- agriculture and food production
- epidemiology/population health
- public health

At this time, we would like to solicit nominations for individuals to serve on this workshop planning committee. Please send me the names and affiliations of individuals with relevant expertise no later than next Tuesday, March 27.

Please feel free to share this with your colleagues.

Thank you,

Good morning,

I hope you both had a good weekend and were able to spend some time at home after your travels. We finally have found a date/time for the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum: April 30, 12:00 pm – 1:00 pm Central/1:00 pm – 2:00 pm Eastern. We'll send out calendar invitations to everyone this week, including Mary and Marcy so they can get exposed to this activity.

As noted before, the group generated a great list of topics for discussion. Considering we only have 1 hour, now comes the hard part. Which ones would you like to include on the agenda? I'm happy to reach out to any of the committee chairs to invite them to introduce/address any of the items. So please let me know by the end of this week so I can work on the agenda.

Thanks,

I really like all of these ideas and I think it would be great way to get the committee members to participate in these calls more. We might get them to be on the call then.

1. Dianne could certainly address how the HOD determines the Mega issues.
  2. I would love to hear how PPW is being integrated into FNCE.
  3. I also think it would be excellent for Chris Weithman to talk about how the sessions for FNCE get selected, since so many of them don't get selected. How to increase the chances that your proposal will get selected.
  4. I think it would be a better idea for Wendy Phillips to talk about everything that is going on with licensure issues right now.
  5. I always love the idea of them talking about their biggest accomplishment this year.

Subject: RE: Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum - input needed by January 29

Good morning,

Time for a quick update on the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum. Let me just start by saying it's been like herding cats. After multiple reminders, we finally got 14 committee chairs to complete the survey. However, we had to do another round of outreach to 8 of the 14 as they did not indicate the times they were available for the call. I don't get it, but the goal now is to have them complete that part of the survey by tomorrow so we can nail down a date/time.

We've received several suggestions for topics, some of which are offers to speak to a topic by a specific committee chair:

1. FNCE/PPW Integration; Affiliate public policy leader survey (From Mike Glasgow, LPPC)
2. Updates on policy areas and participation in action alerts; feedback on ongoing progress with ACEND transition to the masters curriculum for entry level RDN's; General trends committee chairs are hearing about in the various specialty areas that impact FNCE programming in future years (From Chris Weithman, Committee for Lifelong Learning)
3. The Diversity committee recently proposed an additional National Award around Diversity. It was submitted to the Awards committee. We would be willing to discuss where the idea for the award came from and why we proposed it. I don't think the Award committee will have had time to review the proposal by the time the forums are in place. (From Joseph Quinlan, Diversity)

Committee)

4. Communication strategies to help members recognize all of the work being done on their behalf. And really, the work we do benefits non-member RDNs and NDTRs too. (From Wendy Phillips, Consumer Protection and Licensure Subcommittee)

5. 1) How Mega Issues and/or topics the HOD discusses get determined 2) Academy Committee structure and liaisons - how it's determined which committees have liaisons or a representative from/on another committee as crossover; for example I know of committees that have a CDR liaison, or perhaps a member of QMC is a liaison member on NIC...in my past history this structure has changed over time and I'm curious as to why or how this gets determined 3) How FNCE sessions get selected - in the past there have been opportunities for the DPGs to submit specifically for DPG Spotlight sessions, but is there also opportunity for Academy Committees to be put into a specific consideration "bucket" instead of put into the entire FNCE proposal mix? There is great working coming out of all of the Academy Committees, so it may be nice to have some special consideration for FNCE sessions (From Sherri Jones, Quality Management)

I'll confirm a date/time with you both later this week. In the meantime, you can be thinking about whether you want to include any of the above topics on the agenda for the forum. As a reminder, Dianne had previously tossed out the following ideas:

Update on what happening at the national level in regards to strategic plan projects, (maybe even an update on national wellness projects), industry relations, public policy activities. Another random brainstorm idea, let them volunteer to give the entire group an update on their most significant committee event/action so far this year. (time limit of course)

Have a good day and I'll be back in touch.

Subject: Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum - input needed by January 29

Good evening,

While we are all sitting in cold temperatures, let's take a break and turn our thoughts toward spring (which will actually be here before we know it). As a reminder, in our work to support the Chairs of the Academy Committees, our plan includes 2 opportunities for them to "meet" with both of you in a structured, open forum space. These telephone forums are designed to strengthen communication amongst Academy leaders, provide an opportunity for them to ask you questions around specific topics, and offer a networking opportunity for these committee leaders. We conducted the first open forum in September and focused the conversation on the Academy's new Strategic Plan and "Helping One Another Succeed." Knowing everyone has busy lives, now would be a good time to start planning the second event.

Based on our previous conversations, you tossed out the idea of conducting a Doodle Poll to identify a good date/time for this forum rather than us just selecting one. I'm open to that plan and would just need from you some options so I can create and push out the Poll. Doing something in April or May might be good timing, recognizing we'll want to navigate around the HOD meeting and BOD meeting. We will also need to identify 1-2 topics for discussion. If you'd like, we could solicit input from the Committee Chairs. To get your wheels turning, last spring we provided an update on the Second Century Strategy and discussed potential implications for committee work/opportunities for collaboration (at that time the BOD had approved the vision/mission/principles). For the second topic we talked about effective communication between committees and the President/Speaker/BOD – what worked well and what could be improved.

So give it some thought and I look forward to your input on how you'd like to proceed. If you can let me know by January 29 I can get the ball rolling. I know both of you, as well as the Committee Chairs, enjoy the opportunity for interaction.

Warm regards,

Marsha

Subject: Food Forum: Nominations for August Workshop Planning Committee

Dear Food Forum Members:

We are in the initial planning stages for the Food Forum's August 1-2, 2018 public workshop tentatively titled "Sustainable Diets, Food, and Nutrition."

The workshop will review the current and emerging knowledge on the concept of sustainable diets within the field of food and nutrition. Broadly, the workshop agenda will explore sustainable diets and relevant impacts for cross-sector partnerships, policy, and research. Workshop presenters may also discuss how sustainable diets could impact dietary patterns, the food system, and population and public health. The workshop could also address research gaps, advances in knowledge, and innovation.

The planning committee for the workshop will include ~6-8 individuals (Food Forum members and non-members) with expertise in:

- dietetics/nutrition science
- food and nutrition policy
- sustainability and food systems
- agriculture and food production
- epidemiology/population health
- public health

At this time, we would like to solicit nominations for individuals to serve on this workshop planning committee. Please send me the names and affiliations of individuals with relevant expertise no later than next Tuesday, March 27.

Please feel free to share this with your colleagues.

Thank you,

Heather

Good morning,

I hope you both had a good weekend and were able to spend some time at home after your travels. We finally have found a date/time for the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum: April 30, 12:00 pm – 1:00 pm Central/1:00 pm – 2:00 pm Eastern. We'll send out calendar invitations to everyone this week, including Mary and Marcy so they can get exposed to this activity.

As noted before, the group generated a great list of topics for discussion. Considering we only have 1 hour, now comes the hard part. Which ones would you like to include on the agenda? I'm happy to reach out to any of the committee chairs to invite them to introduce/address any of the items. So please let me know by the end of this week so I can work on the agenda.

Thanks,

Marsha and Dianne,

I really like all of these ideas and I think it would be great way to get the committee members to participate in these calls more. We might get them to be on the call then.

1. Dianne could certainly address how the HOD determines the Mega issues.
  2. I would love to hear how PPW is being integrated into FNCE.
  3. I also think it would be excellent for Chris Weithman to talk about how the sessions for FNCE get selected, since so many of them don't get selected. How to increase the chances that your proposal will get selected.
  4. I think it would be a better idea for Wendy Phillips to talk about everything that is going on with licensure issues right now.
  5. I always love the idea of them talking about their biggest accomplishment this year.

Subject: RE: Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum - input needed by January 29

Good morning,

Time for a quick update on the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum. Let me just start by saying it's been like herding cats. After multiple reminders, we finally got 14 committee chairs to complete the survey. However, we had to do another round of outreach to 8 of the 14 as they did not indicate the times they were available for the call. I don't get it, but the goal now is to have them complete that part of the survey by tomorrow so we can nail down a date/time.

We've received several suggestions for topics, some of which are offers to speak to a topic by a specific committee chair:

1. FNCE/PPW Integration; Affiliate public policy leader survey (From Mike Glasgow, LPPC)
2. Updates on policy areas and participation in action alerts; feedback on ongoing progress with ACEND transition to the masters curriculum for entry level RDN's; General trends committee chairs are hearing about in the various specialty areas that impact FNCE programming in future years (From Chris Weithman, Committee for Lifelong Learning)
3. The Diversity committee recently proposed an additional National Award around Diversity. It was submitted to the Awards committee. We would be willing to discuss where the idea for the award came from and why we proposed it. I don't think the Award committee will have had time to review the proposal by the time the forums are in place. (From Joseph Quinlan, Diversity Committee)
4. Communication strategies to help members recognize all of the work being done on their behalf. And really, the work we do benefits non-member RDNs and NDTRs too. (From Wendy Phillips, Consumer Protection and Licensure Subcommittee)
5. 1) How Mega Issues and/or topics the HOD discusses get determined 2) Academy Committee structure and liaisons - how it's determined which committees have liaisons or a representative from/on another committee as crossover; for example I know of committees that have a CDR liaison, or perhaps a member of QMC is a liaison member on NIC...in my past history this structure has changed over time and I'm curious as to why or how this gets determined 3) How FNCE sessions get selected - in the past there have been opportunities for the DPGs to submit specifically for DPG Spotlight sessions, but is there also opportunity for Academy Committees to be put into a specific consideration "bucket" instead of put into the entire FNCE proposal mix? There is great working coming out of all of the Academy Committees, so it may be nice to have some special consideration for FNCE sessions (From Sherri Jones, Quality Management)

I'll confirm a date/time with you both later this week. In the meantime, you can be thinking about whether you want to include any of the above topics on the agenda for the forum. As a reminder, Dianne had previously tossed out the following ideas:

Update on what happening at the national level in regards to strategic plan projects, (maybe even an update on national wellness projects), industry relations, public policy activities. Another random brainstorm idea, let them volunteer to give the entire group an update on their most significant committee event/action so far this year. (time limit of course)

Have a good day and I'll be back in touch.

Most other days I could change things around. Time and day of week is up to you. My only other non changeable time would be April 16 and May 21 at 4:30 p.m. (My work board meetings.)

1. Dianne could certainly address how the HOD determines the Mega issues.
2. I would love to hear how PPW is being integrated into FNCE.
3. I also think it would be excellent for Chris Weithman to talk about how the sessions for FNCE get selected, since so many of them don't get selected. How to increase the chances that your proposal will get selected.
4. I think it would be a better idea for Wendy Phillips to talk about everything that is going on with licensure issues right now.
5. I always love the idea of them talking about their biggest accomplishment this year.

I will look forward to hearing the date for this call and an open to whatever we decide to do.

Good morning,

Time for a quick update on the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum. Let me just start by saying it's been like herding cats. After multiple reminders, we finally got 14 committee chairs to complete the survey. However, we had to do another round of outreach to 8 of the 14 as they did not indicate the times they were available for the call. I don't get it, but the goal now is to have them complete that part of the survey by tomorrow so we can nail down a date/time.

We've received several suggestions for topics, some of which are offers to speak to a topic by a specific committee chair:

1. FNCE/PPW Integration; Affiliate public policy leader survey (From Mike Glasgow, LPPC)
2. Updates on policy areas and participation in action alerts; feedback on ongoing progress with ACEND transition to the masters curriculum for entry level RDN's; General trends committee chairs are hearing about in the various specialty areas that impact FNCE programming in future years (From Chris Weithman, Committee for Lifelong Learning)

3. The Diversity committee recently proposed an additional National Award around Diversity. It was submitted to the Awards committee. We would be willing to discuss where the idea for the award came from and why we proposed it. I don't think the Award committee will have had time to review the proposal by the time the forums are in place. (From Joseph Quinlan, Diversity Committee)

4. Communication strategies to help members recognize all of the work being done on their behalf. And really, the work we do benefits non-member RDNs and NDTRs too. (From Wendy Phillips, Consumer Protection and Licensure Subcommittee)

5. 1) How Mega Issues and/or topics the HOD discusses get determined 2) Academy Committee structure and liaisons - how it's determined which committees have liaisons or a representative from/on another committee as crossover; for example I know of committees that have a CDR liaison, or perhaps a member of QMC is a liaison member on NIC...in my past history this structure has changed over time and I'm curious as to why or how this gets determined 3) How FNCE sessions get selected - in the past there have been opportunities for the DPGs to submit specifically for DPG Spotlight sessions, but is there also opportunity for Academy Committees to be put into a specific consideration "bucket" instead of put into the entire FNCE proposal mix? There is great working coming out of all of the Academy Committees, so it may be nice to have some special consideration for FNCE sessions (From Sherri Jones, Quality Management)

I'll confirm a date/time with you both later this week. In the meantime, you can be thinking about whether you want to include any of the above topics on the agenda for the forum. As a reminder, Dianne had previously tossed out the following ideas:

Update on what happening at the national level in regards to strategic plan projects, (maybe even an update on national wellness projects), industry relations, public policy activities. Another random brainstorm idea, let them volunteer to give the entire group an update on their most significant committee event/action so far this year. (time limit of course)

Have a good day and I'll be back in touch.

Marsha and Donna,

In addition to the days and times you know about (HLT calls, meetings, BOD calls, meetings, LPCC) I am not available at on April 11-14, and April 18-19th. Most other days I could change things around. Time and day of week is up to you. My only other non changeable time would be April 16 and May 21 at 4:30 p.m. (My work board meetings.)

Good evening,

While we are all sitting in cold temperatures, let's take a break and turn our thoughts toward spring (which will actually be here before we know it). As a reminder, in our work to support the Chairs of the Academy Committees, our plan includes 2 opportunities for them to "meet" with both of you in a structured, open forum space. These telephone forums are designed to strengthen communication amongst Academy leaders, provide an opportunity for them to ask you questions around specific topics, and offer a networking opportunity for these committee leaders. We conducted the first open forum in September and focused the conversation on the Academy's new Strategic Plan and "Helping One Another Succeed." Knowing everyone has busy lives, now would be a good time to start planning the second event.

Based on our previous conversations, you tossed out the idea of conducting a Doodle Poll to identify a good date/time for this forum rather than us just selecting one. I'm open to that plan and would just need from you some options so I can create and push out the Poll. Doing something in April or May might be good timing, recognizing we'll want to navigate around the HOD meeting and BOD meeting. We will also need to identify 1-2 topics for discussion. If you'd like, we could solicit input from the Committee Chairs. To get your wheels turning, last spring we provided an update on the Second Century Strategy and discussed potential implications for committee work/opportunities for collaboration (at that time the BOD had approved the vision/mission/principles). For the second topic we talked about effective communication between committees and the President/Speaker/BOD – what worked well and what could be improved.

So give it some thought and I look forward to your input on how you'd like to proceed. If you can let me know by January 29 I can get the ball rolling. I know both of you, as well as the Committee Chairs, enjoy the opportunity for interaction.

Warm regards,

Marsha

Hi Donna,

Last year we had the opportunity to nominate Academy members to serve on several clinical subcommittees being formed to develop episode-based cost measures suitable for potential use in Medicare's new Quality Payment Program. The role of the each subcommittee was to work with other stakeholders and experts to provide direction and thoughtful input to help the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) develop episode-based cost measures, which are a requirement of the Medicare Access and CHIP Reauthorization Act of 2015 (MACRA). We were successful in that both of our nominees were selected to serve.

CMS has now announced a second wave of clinical subcommittees and we'd like to nominate the following Academy members who were recommended either by members of the E-team or relevant DPGs:

1. Renal Disease Management: Jessie Pavlinac, MS, RD, CSR, LD
2. Oncologic Disease Management: Anne Voss, PhD, RDN, LD
3. GI Disease Management: Medical and Surgical: Carol Rees Parrish, MS, RD

We feel all of these individuals possess the requisite knowledge, experience and credentials to be viable nominees. We recognize these processes are quite competitive and, even if these individuals are not selected, feel it is critically important to take advantage of this opportunity to provide visibility for our profession and the vital role we play in patient care.

Attached is further information about this work by CMS. The deadline for submitting nominations is midnight tomorrow, so I'd like your approval to proceed with the nominations by tomorrow afternoon so we can complete the process. I know you are in the midst of "March Madness," so hopefully you will have a few minutes to review this information and respond. As is always the case with CMS, the turnaround time from the initial announcement to submissions was quite tight.

Thanks and please let me know if you have any questions or would like more information.

Hi ladies,

In reviewing availability for the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum, the following individuals who suggested a topic should be in attendance:

1. Christine Weithman: FNCE programming and FNCE session selection
2. Mike Glasgow: FNCE/PPW Integration
3. Wendy Phillips: Licensure (my 2 cents: I think the discussion needs to be through the lens of how work in this area may touch work of other committees and/or generate discussion about what other committees are doing related to this topic).
4. Joe Quinlan: new proposed National Award around Diversity (did not seem to rise to the top of your list)
5. Sherri Jones: she had multiple questions, but perhaps is not one to actually present/lead a discussion topic.

And a new question from Sherri Jones that perhaps Dianne wants to address along with the mega-issues question: Question: Will there be continued opportunity for Academy Committee Chairs to attend the HOD meetings as an auditor? I attended this past year at FNCE and found it to be very beneficial. Or better yet, could Academy committee chairs become permanent members of the HOD?

Overall, the hope, as you know it, is to have an interactive conversation rather than just presentations. So perhaps narrowing down to 4 topics would be a good plan.

Thanks and looking forward to further input so I can help develop and support the agenda.

We finally have found a date/time for the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum: April 30, 12:00 pm – 1:00 pm Central/1:00 pm – 2:00 pm Eastern. We'll send out calendar invitations to everyone this week, including Mary and Marcy so they can get exposed to this activity.

As noted before, the group generated a great list of topics for discussion. Considering we only have 1 hour, now comes the hard part. Which ones would you like to include on the agenda? I'm happy to reach out to any of the committee chairs to invite them to introduce/address any of the items. So please let me know by the end of this week so I can work on the agenda.

Good morning,

I hope you are both doing well. I wanted to take a moment to circle back around on this topic. As an FYI, last Friday we shared the following announcement with the Committee Chairs:

The survey offers them the following options for the forum:

After the survey closes I'll confirm with you the date/time as well as share any suggested topics. So be on the lookout for a message from me the week of February 12.

Thank you,

Good evening,

While we are all sitting in cold temperatures, let's take a break and turn our thoughts toward spring (which will actually be here before we know it). As a reminder, in our work to support the Chairs of the Academy Committees, our plan includes 2 opportunities for them to "meet" with both of you in a structured, open forum space. These telephone forums are designed to strengthen communication amongst Academy leaders, provide an opportunity for them to ask you questions around specific topics, and offer a networking opportunity for these committee leaders. We conducted the first open forum in September and focused the conversation on the Academy's new Strategic Plan and "Helping One Another Succeed." Knowing everyone has busy lives, now would be a good time to start planning the second event.

Based on our previous conversations, you tossed out the idea of conducting a Doodle Poll to identify a good date/time for this forum rather than us just selecting one. I'm open to that plan and would just need from you some options so I can create and push out the Poll. Doing something in April or May might be good timing, recognizing we'll want to navigate around the HOD meeting and BOD meeting. We will also need to identify 1-2 topics for discussion. If you'd like, we could solicit input from the Committee Chairs. To get your wheels turning, last spring we provided an update on the Second Century Strategy and discussed potential implications for committee work/opportunities for collaboration (at that time the BOD had approved the vision/mission/principles). For the second topic we talked about effective communication between committees and the President/Speaker/BOD – what worked well and what could be improved.

So give it some thought and I look forward to your input on how you'd like to proceed. If you can let me know by January 29 I can get the ball rolling. I know both of you, as well as the Committee Chairs, enjoy the opportunity for interaction.

Warm regards,

Marsha

Hi Donna,

Last year we had the opportunity to nominate Academy members to serve on several clinical subcommittees being formed to develop episode-based cost measures suitable for potential use in Medicare's new Quality Payment Program. The role of the each subcommittee was to work with other stakeholders and experts to provide direction and thoughtful input to help the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) develop episode-based cost measures, which are a requirement of the Medicare Access and CHIP Reauthorization Act of 2015 (MACRA). We were successful in that both of our nominees were selected to serve.

CMS has now announced a second wave of clinical subcommittees and we'd like to nominate the following Academy members who were recommended either by members of the E-team or relevant DPGs:

1. Renal Disease Management: Jessie Pavlinac, MS, RD, CSR, LD
2. Oncologic Disease Management: Anne Voss, PhD, RDN, LD
3. GI Disease Management: Medical and Surgical: Carol Rees Parrish, MS, RD

We feel all of these individuals possess the requisite knowledge, experience and credentials to be viable nominees. We recognize these processes are quite competitive and, even if these individuals are not selected, feel it is critically important to take advantage of this opportunity to provide visibility for our profession and the vital role we play in patient care.

Attached is further information about this work by CMS. The deadline for submitting nominations is midnight tomorrow, so I'd like your approval to proceed with the nominations by tomorrow afternoon so we can complete the process. I know you are in the midst of "March Madness," so hopefully you will have a few minutes to review this information and respond. As is always the case with CMS, the turnaround time from the initial announcement to submissions was quite tight.

Thanks and please let me know if you have any questions or would like more information.

Warm regards,

Marsha

Hi ladies,

In reviewing availability for the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum, the following individuals who suggested a topic should be in attendance:

1. Christine Weithman: FNCE programming and FNCE session selection
2. Mike Glasgow: FNCE/PPW Integration
3. Wendy Phillips: Licensure (my 2 cents: I think the discussion needs to be through the lens of how work in this area may touch work of other committees and/or generate discussion about what other committees are doing related to this topic).
4. Joe Quinlan: new proposed National Award around Diversity (did not seem to rise to the top of your list)
5. Sherri Jones: she had multiple questions, but perhaps is not one to actually present/lead a discussion topic.

And a new question from Sherri Jones that perhaps Dianne wants to address along with the mega-issues question: Question: Will there be continued opportunity for Academy Committee Chairs to attend the HOD meetings as an auditor? I attended this past year at FNCE and found it to be very beneficial. Or better yet, could Academy committee chairs become permanent members of the HOD?

Overall, the hope, as you know it, is to have an interactive conversation rather than just presentations. So perhaps narrowing down to 4 topics would be a good plan.

Thanks and looking forward to further input so I can help develop and support the agenda.

Great Plan, Donna. I really like the licensure update idea. It is still the item that is generating the most communique that I have been privy to. I will of course talk about mega issue selection if there is time. I think it will be a great webinar!

I hope you both had a good weekend and were able to spend some time at home after your travels. We finally have found a date/time for the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum: April 30, 12:00 pm – 1:00 pm Central/1:00 pm – 2:00 pm Eastern. We'll send out calendar invitations to everyone this week, including Mary and Marcy so they can get exposed to this activity.

As noted before, the group generated a great list of topics for discussion. Considering we only have 1 hour, now comes the hard part. Which ones would you like to include on the agenda? I'm happy to reach out to any of the committee chairs to invite them to introduce/address any of the items. So please let me know by the end of this week so I can work on the agenda.

Thanks,

  2. I would love to hear how PPW is being integrated into FNCE.
  3. I also think it would be excellent for Chris Weithman to talk about how the sessions for FNCE get selected, since so many of them don't get selected. How to increase the chances that your proposal will get selected.
  4. I think it would be a better idea for Wendy Phillips to talk about everything that is going on with licensure issues right now.

Good morning,

Time for a quick update on the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum. Let me just start by saying it's been like herding cats. After multiple reminders, we finally got 14 committee chairs to complete the survey. However, we had to do another round of outreach to 8 of the 14 as they did not indicate the times they were available for the call. I don't get it, but the goal now is to have them complete that part of the survey by tomorrow so we can nail down a date/time.

We've received several suggestions for topics, some of which are offers to speak to a topic by a specific committee chair:

1. FNCE/PPW Integration; Affiliate public policy leader survey (From Mike Glasgow, LPPC)
2. Updates on policy areas and participation in action alerts; feedback on ongoing progress with ACEND transition to the masters curriculum for entry level RDN's; General trends committee chairs are hearing about in the various specialty areas that impact FNCE programming in future years (From Chris Weithman, Committee for Lifelong Learning)
3. The Diversity committee recently proposed an additional National Award around Diversity. It was submitted to the Awards committee. We would be willing to discuss where the idea for the award came from and why we proposed it. I don't think the Award committee will have had time to review the proposal by the time the forums are in place. (From Joseph Quinlan, Diversity Committee)
4. Communication strategies to help members recognize all of the work being done on their behalf. And really, the work we do benefits non-member RDNs and NDTRs too. (From Wendy Phillips, Consumer Protection and Licensure Subcommittee)
5. 1) How Mega Issues and/or topics the HOD discusses get determined 2) Academy Committee structure and liaisons - how it's determined which committees have liaisons or a representative from/on another committee as crossover; for example I know of committees that have a CDR liaison, or perhaps a member of QMC is a liaison member on NIC...in my past history this structure has changed over time and I'm curious as to why or how this gets determined 3) How FNCE sessions get selected - in the past there have been opportunities for the DPGs to submit specifically for DPG Spotlight sessions, but is there also opportunity for Academy Committees to be put into a specific consideration "bucket" instead of put into the entire FNCE proposal mix? There is great working coming out of all of the Academy Committees, so it may be nice to have some special consideration for FNCE sessions (From Sherri Jones, Quality Management)

I'll confirm a date/time with you both later this week. In the meantime, you can be thinking about whether you want to include any of the above topics on the agenda for the forum. As a reminder, Dianne had previously tossed out the following ideas:

Update on what happening at the national level in regards to strategic plan projects, (maybe even an update on national wellness projects), industry relations, public policy activities. Another random brainstorm idea, let them volunteer to give the entire group an update on their most significant committee event/action so far this year. (time limit of course)

Have a good day and I'll be back in touch.

These telephone forums are designed to strengthen communication amongst Academy leaders, provide an opportunity for them to ask you questions around specific topics, and offer a networking opportunity for these committee leaders. We conducted the first open forum in September and focused the conversation on the Academy's new Strategic Plan and "Helping One Another Succeed." Knowing everyone has busy lives, now would be a good time to start planning the second event.

Based on our previous conversations, you tossed out the idea of conducting a Doodle Poll to identify a good date/time for this forum rather than us just selecting one. I'm open to that plan and would just need from you some options so I can create and push out the Poll. Doing something in April or May might be good timing, recognizing we'll want to navigate around the HOD meeting and BOD meeting. We will also need to identify 1-2 topics for discussion. If you'd like, we could solicit input from the Committee Chairs. To get your wheels turning, last spring we provided an update on the Second Century Strategy and discussed potential implications for committee work/opportunities for collaboration (at that time the BOD had approved the vision/mission/principles). For the second topic we talked about effective communication between committees and the President/Speaker/BOD – what worked well and what could be improved.

So give it some thought and I look forward to your input on how you'd like to proceed. If you can let me know by January 29 I can get the ball rolling. I know both of you, as well as the Committee Chairs, enjoy the opportunity for interaction.

Warm regards,

Marsha

2022. [MACRO WARNING] Academy nominations for CMS Clinical Care Subcommittees

Hi Donna,

Last year we had the opportunity to nominate Academy members to serve on several clinical subcommittees being formed to develop episode-based cost measures suitable for potential use in Medicare's new Quality Payment Program. The role of the each subcommittee was to work with other stakeholders and experts to provide direction and thoughtful input to help the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) develop episode-based cost measures, which are a requirement of the Medicare Access and CHIP Reauthorization Act of 2015 (MACRA). We were successful in that both of our nominees were selected to serve.

CMS has now announced a second wave of clinical subcommittees and we'd like to nominate the following Academy members who were recommended either by members of the E-team or relevant DPGs:

1. Renal Disease Management: Jessie Pavlinac, MS, RD, CSR, LD
2. Oncologic Disease Management: Anne Voss, PhD, RDN, LD
3. GI Disease Management: Medical and Surgical: Carol Rees Parrish, MS, RD

We feel all of these individuals possess the requisite knowledge, experience and credentials to be viable nominees. We recognize these processes are quite competitive and, even if these individuals are not selected, feel it is critically important to take advantage of this opportunity to provide visibility for our profession and the vital role we play in patient care.

Attached is further information about this work by CMS. The deadline for submitting nominations is midnight tomorrow, so I'd like your approval to proceed with the nominations by tomorrow afternoon so we can complete the process. I know you are in the midst of "March Madness," so hopefully you will have a few minutes to review this information and respond. As is always the case with CMS, the turnaround time from the initial announcement to submissions was quite tight.

Thanks and please let me know if you have any questions or would like more information.

Warm regards,

Marsha

Great Plan, Donna. I really like the licensure update idea. It is still the item that is generating the most communiques that I have been privy to. I will of course talk about mega issue selection if there is time. I think it will be a great webinar!

Good morning,

I hope you both had a good weekend and were able to spend some time at home after your travels. We finally have found a date/time for the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum: April 30, 12:00 pm – 1:00 pm Central/1:00 pm – 2:00 pm Eastern. We'll send out calendar invitations to everyone this week, including Mary and Marcy so they can get exposed to this activity.

As noted before, the group generated a great list of topics for discussion. Considering we only have 1 hour, now comes the hard part. Which ones would you like to include on the agenda? I'm happy to reach out to any of the committee chairs to invite them to introduce/address any of the items. So please let me know by the end of this week so I can work on the agenda.

Thanks,

Good morning,

Time for a quick update on the Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum. Let me just start by saying it's been like herding cats. After multiple reminders, we finally got 14 committee chairs to complete the survey. However, we had to do another round of outreach to 8 of the 14 as they did not indicate the times they were available for the call. I don't get it, but the goal now is to have them complete that part of the survey by tomorrow so we can nail down a date/time.

We've received several suggestions for topics, some of which are offers to speak to a topic by a specific committee chair:

1. FNCE/PPW Integration; Affiliate public policy leader survey (From Mike Glasgow, LPPC)
2. Updates on policy areas and participation in action alerts; feedback on ongoing progress with ACEND transition to the masters curriculum for entry level RDN's; General trends committee chairs are hearing about in the various specialty areas that impact FNCE programming in future years (From Chris Weithman, Committee for Lifelong Learning)
3. The Diversity committee recently proposed an additional National Award around Diversity. It was submitted to the Awards committee. We would be willing to discuss where the idea for the award came from and why we proposed it. I don't think the Award committee will have had time to review the proposal by the time the forums are in place. (From Joseph Quinlan, Diversity Committee)
4. Communication strategies to help members recognize all of the work being done on their behalf. And really, the work we do benefits non-member RDNs and NDTRs too. (From Wendy Phillips, Consumer Protection and Licensure Subcommittee)
5. 1) How Mega Issues and/or topics the HOD discusses get determined 2) Academy Committee structure and liaisons - how it's determined which committees have liaisons or a representative from/on another committee as crossover; for example I know of committees that have a CDR liaison, or perhaps a member of QMC is a liaison member on NIC...in my past history this structure has changed over time and I'm curious as to why or how this gets determined 3) How FNCE sessions get selected - in the past there have been opportunities for the DPGs to submit specifically for DPG Spotlight sessions, but is there also opportunity for Academy Committees to be put into a specific consideration "bucket" instead of put into the entire FNCE proposal mix? There is great working coming out of all of the Academy Committees, so it may be nice to have some special consideration for FNCE sessions (From Sherri Jones, Quality Management)

I'll confirm a date/time with you both later this week. In the meantime, you can be thinking about whether you want to include any of the above topics on the agenda for the forum. As a reminder, Dianne had previously tossed out the following ideas:

Update on what happening at the national level in regards to strategic plan projects, (maybe even an update on national wellness projects), industry relations, public policy activities. Another random brainstorm idea, let them volunteer to give the entire group an update on their most significant committee event/action so far this year. (time limit of course)

Have a good day and I'll be back in touch.

Marsha and Donna,

In addition to the days and times you know about (HLT calls, meetings, BOD calls, meetings, LPPC) I am not available at on April 11-14, and April 18-19th. Most other days I could change things around. Time and day of week is up to you. My only other non changeable time would be April 16 and May 21 at 4:30 p.m. (My work board meetings.)

While we are all sitting in cold temperatures, let's take a break and turn our thoughts toward spring (which will actually be here before we know it). We would be willing to discuss where the idea for the award came from and why we proposed it. I don't think the Award committee will have had time to review the proposal by the time the forums are in place. (From Joseph Quinlan, Diversity Committee)
4. Communication strategies to help members recognize all of the work being done on their behalf. And really, the work we do benefits non-member RDNs and NDTRs too. (From Wendy Phillips, Consumer Protection and Licensure Subcommittee)
5. 1) How Mega Issues and/or topics the HOD discusses get determined 2) Academy Committee structure and liaisons - how it's determined which committees have liaisons or a representative from/on another committee as crossover; for example I know of committees that have a CDR liaison, or perhaps a member of QMC is a liaison member on NIC...in my past history this structure has changed over time and I'm curious as to why or how this gets determined 3) How FNCE sessions get selected - in the past there have been opportunities for the DPGs to submit specifically for DPG Spotlight sessions, but is there also opportunity for Academy Committees to be put into a specific consideration "bucket" instead of put into the entire FNCE proposal mix? There is great working coming out of all of the Academy Committees, so it may be nice to have some special consideration for FNCE sessions (From Sherri Jones, Quality Management)

I'll confirm a date/time with you both later this week. In the meantime, you can be thinking about whether you want to include any of the above topics on the agenda for the forum. As a reminder, Dianne had previously tossed out the following ideas:

Update on what happening at the national level in regards to strategic plan projects, (maybe even an update on national wellness projects), industry relations, public policy activities. Another random brainstorm idea, let them volunteer to give the entire group an update on their most significant committee event/action so far this year. (time limit of course)

Have a good day and I'll be back in touch.

Good morning,

I hope you are both doing well. I wanted to take a moment to circle back around on this topic. As an FYI, last Friday we shared the following announcement with the Committee Chairs:

The survey offers them the following options for the forum:

After the survey closes I'll confirm with you the date/time as well as share any suggested topics. So be on the lookout for a message from me the week of February 12.

Thank you,

Marsha and Donna,

In addition to the days and times you know about (HLT calls, meetings, BOD calls, meetings, LPPC) I am not available at on April 11-14, and April 18-19th. Most other days I could change things around. Time and day of week is up to you. My only other non changeable time would be April 16 and May 21 at 4:30 p.m. (My work board meetings.)

Subject: Spring Committee Chairs Open Forum - input needed by January 29

Good evening,

While we are all sitting in cold temperatures, let's take a break and turn our thoughts toward spring (which will actually be here before we know it). As a reminder, in our work to support the Chairs of the Academy Committees, our plan includes 2 opportunities for them to "meet" with both of you in a structured, open forum space. These telephone forums are designed to strengthen communication amongst Academy leaders, provide an opportunity for them to ask you questions around specific topics, and offer a networking opportunity for these committee leaders. We conducted the first open forum in September and focused the conversation on the Academy's new Strategic Plan and "Helping One Another Succeed." Knowing everyone has busy lives, now would be a good time to start planning the second event.

Based on our previous conversations, you tossed out the idea of conducting a Doodle Poll to identify a good date/time for this forum rather than us just selecting one. I'm open to that plan and would just need from you some options so I can create and push out the Poll. Doing something in April or May might be good timing, recognizing we'll want to navigate around the HOD meeting and BOD meeting. We will also need to identify 1-2 topics for discussion. If you'd like, we could solicit input from the Committee Chairs. To get your wheels turning, last spring we provided an update on the Second Century Strategy and discussed potential implications for committee work/opportunities for collaboration (at that time the BOD had approved the vision/mission/principles). For the second topic we talked about effective communication between committees and the President/Speaker/BOD – what worked well and what could be improved.

So give it some thought and I look forward to your input on how you'd like to proceed. If you can let me know by January 29 I can get the ball rolling. I know both of you, as well as the Committee Chairs, enjoy the opportunity for interaction.

Warm regards,

Marsha

Dear Fellow NDEP Member,

We as dietetics educators are constantly striving to balance professional trends and changes within our healthcare system with accreditation standards and the demands of our respective colleges and universities. The 2017 standards emphasize critical thinking and communication skills and interprofessional practice, which necessitates a closer look at our curriculum ideological views and pedagogical techniques. I am requesting your participation in an online survey. Your responses will provide valuable insights into how dietetics educators view these relevant aspects of teaching and learning. In order to participate, you must meet the following criteria: be currently employed part- or full-time as an Adjunct/Instructor/Lecturer; Assistant professor; Associate professor; or Professor in a Coordinated Program in Dietetics (CPD) or an undergraduate and/or graduate Didactic Program in Dietetics (DPD).

After reading the informed consent, you may either proceed with the survey or exit the browser. The estimated time for survey completion is 20 minutes. Participation is completely voluntary; you may decline to participate at any point during the survey by simply exiting the browser. Your responses will be completely anonymous. You have the opportunity to provide your contact information for a follow-up interview and to be enrolled in a random drawing for (2) twenty-five dollar gift cards to Amazon. If you elect to provide your contact information, this will be recorded separately and not be linked in any way to the survey data to protect anonymity. There are no known risks of participation.

Please know according to policy the expenses of Academy representatives asked to attend meetings and events at the invitation of other organizations will be reimbursed by that organization, whenever possible.
