Ashley,

I hope you enjoyed your National Holiday.

Here is a slightly updated version of potential panel participants. We are adding David Brusick (our consultant [Redacted] will make the initial contact), and we are working to add an MD Medical Tox person (we are handling that initial contact).

We just learned this morning that we can't have you send out 'invitations' until the names have been approved by our legal group – we are hoping that will occur tomorrow at a meeting that Donna will have with the attorneys. So we need you to wait until Friday to reach out to the potential panelists (hopefully no later).

As we discussed yesterday, this will be a phone conference for most participants, although we may gather you/Donna/me and maybe the 3 sub-group leads ([Redacted], John Acquavella, [Redacted] in one room for the meeting – we will decide this later.

In terms of possible dates for the meeting, please let's expand the range to include the week of September 21st (weeks of August 17 through September 21).

Also, please note that we may be sending you some suggested wording to use regarding Monsanto's request to publicly release their names as expert panel members very shortly after the IARC Monograph is released (1:00 AM Brussels time July 15).

I think that's it for now.

Thanks & regards,

Bill

Hello Ashley,

I hope your travels went well.

Attached is a slide showing our current thinking on panelists for the Glyphosate Expert Panel we are working on forming. We have been in contact (asked if they are willing to participate) with everyone on the list except Sam Cohen; we think he will be interested based on a recent conversation he had with another Monsanto person (Dan Goldstein) at a HESI meeting.

We will need one more genotox person, and we may need another Animal bioassay person, especially if Redacted does not work out – we would appreciate any names you might come up with.

We will need you to start contacting these people for their availability very soon. Also, there has been a new request from my management to ask them if they would be OK with us releasing an announcement of the panel with panelists' names at the time of the IARC Monograph release, which we have been told will happen on July 15 – our thinking was that you could ask them when you contacted them for their availability.

I suspect you will have some questions – do you have any time tomorrow to talk? I am free 7-9 AM STL time as well as 11-1 and 2-3:30. Hopefully one of these timeslots works for you.

Thanks,

Bill
