Hi Eric,

We have tweeted it and sent it out to our press list. We will also feature it in our e newsletter which runs Monday.

Thanks!

William and Val - we expect that there will be a few stories today following publication of the IARC analysis of glyphosate and other products in the Lancet (still expected 1PM Eastern). It may make sense to hold off on publishing your piece until Monday - however that thinking could change. I will keep you posted. Obviously, the decision to post and when is completely up to you. I will continue to share our perspective.

Eric,

Have not heard anything about the embargo, so I assume it's still in place. My blogpost is poised to go up, so when you know when the embargo expires please let Will know and he will have it posted.

Jon Entine has agreed to cross post on GLP, and I've got a number of folks lined up to RT it.

Thanks!!

Val
